agination. Joy was present on every hand, mingled with the delicious aroma of well cooked viands and the dulcet tones of orchestras, laugh of children, giggle of the flapper and merry ho ho and ha ha of various and sundry persons not coming under the above classification. For those who desired to dance the square dances, Brick Swink and his Lucky Five made sweet music, downstairs in what in other days was the manual-training room. A great crowd was present all the evening, in fact till way past midnight and crowding one o'clock. Upstairs in the high school assembly, the round dancers gathered where they tripped about with much enthusiasm and spirit. Downeys of Brooklyn furnished the inspiration.

In one of the class rooms, the ladies of the department culinary detachmant held forth. As one entered the room, he or she was cheerfully invited, in fact urged to partake of the dainties and staples there arranged for the gratification of the inner person, priced within the range of all. Hot dogs, beans, pie, cake, ice cream, cookies and goodness knows what all. You made your selection, paid Mr. Walter Bowers and then sat down to real old fashioned enjoyment. This was also a paying venture.

In another room "Bingo" the army game of all ages was played with considerable success to all. This game is always a drawing card and many sat and played to their hearts content. Still another room yielded soft drinks for those who were thirsty. Plenty of ice made them cool. Another room or perhaps booth is the word to use, gave the experienced a chance to drop two balls into some tile and receive a doll. If you had no experience in this line it took only a short course and you were an old hand. You also could ring money with little rings, providing of course the rings remained over the coins. All who played had lots of fun.

Novelties of all kinds from little dolls to ball with tongues sticking out, horns, hats and fans also could be secured right there and now. Confetti was also scattered about with carefree abandon, much to the peculiar gratification of the youth there assembled.

The firemen before the carnival, had circulated freely about the town and country selling tickets for a dollar each. The tickets were perforated and on each segment ten cents had been printed, ten of these making of course one dollar. These were torn off and used for money.

Taking it all in all and summing it all up, the joint carnival was lots of fun for those who came and there were plenty. Financial results were good and the people got their full money's worth in the long evening of good times.

JOHN BRADLEY WAS CHRISTIAN MAN

Funeral Services Said Friday From M. E. Church.

Spent Active Lifetime in This Community. Was Power for Good.

Funeral services were said over the body of John Bradley, one of the leading citizens of the county, Friday afternoon at two o'clock in the presence of his many friends, business associates and neighbors. The large number present testified to the love and esteem in which he was held. The Rev. A. H. Barker, formerly pastor of the Methodist church here was in charge, assisted by the Rev. M. E. Nethercut, the present pastor. Interment was in the local cemetery.

Special music was given by Mrs. J. L. Ravitts and Walter Pollard, who sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Crossing the Bar", favorites of Mr. Bradley. Pallbearers, all long time friends of the deceased were, R. J. Smith, Alec Duffus, Dan Gorsuch, J. J. Farmer, George T. Jackson and Clyde Blaine.

The Rev. A. H. Barker gave an eloquent tribute in memory of Mr. Bradley. He spoke directly from the heart and in so doing was able to bring out all the qualities of this Christian man.

Following is the obituary as read at the services:

John Bradley was born April 2, 1864, near Buda, Ill. He was the fourth child of George and Ann Bradley, who came from Monmouth, England, and settled on the Illinois prairie to make a home in America.

When John was five years old the family moved to Iowa where his father bought a farm, located two miles north of Montezuma. On this farm John spent his boyhood and early manhood. He attended district school at No. 7 Scott township. Becoming desirous of further education, he attended the Academy in connection with Grinnell college and later taught for a number of years in the country schools of Poweshiek county. He took a course in the Burlington Business college and soon after, in partnership with James E. Anderson, conducted a clothing store in Montezuma, which they operated for twelve years.

Mr. Bradley never lost his love for farming and this desire led him to leave the clothing store and re-

Wars Cost in Money.
"The returned soldiers do not like to talk of the horrors they saw in the war. They did not especially wish to go, but they went as patriotic men to do all they could for their country. Since the world began war has cost each century 40,000,000 lives or one and one-half billion. The Revolutionary war cost $170,000,000, lasting eight years, and this was but a tea party. The last war cost $240,000,000 per day, or $10,000,000 per hour. It is almost inconceivable. It cost $7,000 to kill one man in the world war."

"We have reached the parting of the ways. We can live no longer as war-like nations. Christianity and war can no longer be reconciled and again, we must either give up war or civilization. I know the great American heart beats true its desire to see war banished. Jesus came into the world to make a great peace."

"The reason for our nations' great achievement is its unselfishness. A larger nation should aid a smaller one. Brotherhood is the goal for which we should strive. Through the feeling of brotherhood we can abolish war."

Montezuma Easily Trims What Cheer

What Cheer braced making a first down or so.

The second quarter opened with Long securing up a play with the aid of Peters. What Cheer worked the ball well down into the local's territory and tried a pass which was successful. They tried another and it landed in the hands of the W. C. end. He juggled the ball and it slipped into another man's hands, who did the same. However, by this time, Mr. Cox was there and the ball landed in his eager arms. He was off like the shot of a gun and raced 65 yards for the second touchdown of the game, also his second. He was crowded hard by would-be tacklers who were unable to take him. At this point of the fray, Webber was inserted in place of Butler. A smash for the extra point was stopped. Score 13 to 0.

The half ended shortly afterwards and about 300 young men amused the crowd by engaging in several football games and much foot racing over the gridiron.

At the opening of the last half, What Cheer kicked to the county seat lads and after several plays, Monte kicked and during the play, Cox was hurt, but returned to the game. The visitors made several gains around the right side for the locals and then completed a thrilling forward pass which resulted in their tally. They failed at the extra point.

The Scotch Score.
Pretty soon, Cox stood back as if for one of his long punts and then hurled the ball to the red-headed Scotchman by the name of Graham, who caught the ball well, dodged a couple, stiff-armed two more and ran the remainder of the way without trouble. The try for goal was good and the score was 20 to 0.

What Cheer kicked off and Hadley returned the ball. They lost it on downs. What Cheer could not gain and to add to their troubles Long and Peters sifted through to block the punt. The quarter ended shortly afterwards.

Pretty soon, in a frantic effort to score via the air, What Cheer unleashed an aerial attack, which in the course of play added 6 more for the revenge without malice score. Van Deventer, who had been playing a good game at half, jumped way high in the air, caught a pass not intended for him and romped to the north goal for the final score of the day. Peterson and Steele at the guards, with Carl at center, made it tough going for plays directed their way, and Webber and Butler in the backfield also did well.

turn to the farm. Here he spent a number of years before he retired to live in town.

When he was fourteen years of age he joined the Methodist church under the pastorate of Rev. L. O. Housel. From that time on the church has claimed his loyal devotion. He has been a very valued member of the Official Board for many years, and was an active member of the building committee which constructed this church building. He was also much interested in the Sunday School work and was superintendent of the Sunday School for a number of years.

He served his county as a member of the Board of Supervisors for two terms, and was a member of the state legislature for three terms. He was married on May 6th, 1896, to Lillian Aikin. His wife, two daughters, Helen and Mrs. Grace Schafbach, and one son, Harry, survive him.

Mr. Bradley had been in failing health for the last several months, but the end came to him peacefully at his home Tuesday night, November 5th.

Those from a distance in attendance at the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bradley and family, J. W. Jarnagin and Miss Emma Bradley of Des Moines; Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Dryden and daughter, Edith, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abrams of Cedar Falls; Jesse Aikin and daughter, Mrs. Gladys Williams of Stuart; John Aikin and daughters, Sadie and Mrs. Vica Evans and her daughter, Wilma, of Oskaloosa; Wm. What Happened in Wall Street.

The principal sufferers from the slump in the stock market are the business enterprises which purvey luxuries to the newly rich. One New York "beauty parlor" which charged a minimum fee of $25 for a "treatment" has already closed its doors.

Slackening of trade in things like those represents no real economic loss; quite the contrary. The $50,000 which the furrier did not get for his sables is now in the hands of gentlemen who know what to do with money.

There is just as much money in the country as there was. Payrolls are as large as ever, and growing. The businesses whose shares have declined in price are earning as much as they did before.

What has really happened is that a vast amount of money and credit has been taken out of the hands of wasters and has got into the bank accounts of men of constructive vision. Most of this money will now go into useful channels.

JOHN BRADLEY

Sincere was the regret in which the news of the sudden death of John Bradley was heard. He was without question one of the leading citizens of the county. He was the only man to serve three terms in the lower house from this county and also took part in the 40th extra assembly.

John Bradley lived as he thought. If he believed a thing wrong, he said so, and then lived his life accordingly. In other words he was a Christian, both as to thoughts and action. Sad as it is, some people profess to be Christians, so state their belief and then act, not in accordance with their professions.

known to go into details. He farmed some, was in business twelve years with J. E. Anderson, served as a member of the Board of Supervisors, was on the school board and in the legislature. He was a strong thinker, using his head and accomplished much, not given to others to do.

If ever there was a time when Iowa people should appreciate the value of Iowa land, Iowa stocks and Iowa bonds, that time is right now. The decline in the market value of stocks has been predicted, it was certain to come, and too much sympathy is not due to those who suffered in the collapse.

JOHN BRADLEY.

A good example of the self-made man who entirely through his own efforts has worked his way upward until today he is numbered among the substantial residents of Jackson township, is John Bradley. Born on the 2d of April, 1864, in Bureau county, Illinois, he is a son of George and Ann (Timbrell) Bradley, who were both born in England in the year 1831. They were there reared and married, immediately after which they came to the United States, locating in Illinois in 1857. Later they came to Iowa, where the father followed the occupation of farming for a number of years, and both passed away in this state, the mother in February, 1905, and the father in April, 1908. In their family were eight children, as follows: Elizabeth, the wife of S. R. Dryden, of Cedar Falls, Iowa; Mary, now deceased; William, residing in Jackson township; John, of this review; Emma, who is engaged in teaching school in Des Moines; Alice, who married I. N. Hill, of Montana; George, of Jackson township; and Charles, who passed away in infancy. All of this number were born in Illinois with the exception of the two youngest, who were born in Iowa.

John Bradley spent the first five years of his life in the state of his nativity, and then, in 1869, came with his parents to Iowa, the family home being established in Scott township, Poweshiek county. There he was reared to manhood and, owing to the limited financial circumstances of his parents he was early forced to make his own way in the business world. He recognized, however, the value of a good education in the attainment of success in any line of activity, and so attended Grinnell College and also took a business course in a business college at Burlington, Iowa. He was thereafter engaged in teaching school for four or five terms during the winter season, and for four years carried on agricultural pursuits in Pleasant township. In 1894 he embarked in the clothing business with James E. Anderson, under the firm style of Anderson & Bradley, and for twelve years they conducted a most successful enterprise. At the end of that period, in 1906, Mr. Bradley sold his interest in the concern to Mr. Anderson and, deciding to turn his energies into the channel of agriculture, purchased a farm of one hundred and sixty acres in Scott township. That remained his home for four years, when he sold out and purchased his present farm in the spring of 1910. This farm, consisting of one hundred and twenty acres located on section 8, Jackson township, is a well improved property, its good state of development being due in large measure to the earnest labor and unflinching industry of Mr. Bradley. He is meeting with a most creditable degree of success and is already numbered among the prosperous and progressive agriculturists of this section.

It was in 1896 that Mr. Bradley was united in marriage to Lillian Aikin, of Mahaska county, a daughter of Dr. Aikin, and by this union have been born three children, Grace, Harry and Helen.

Mr. Bradley gives his allegiance to the republican party, and, although not an office-seeker, he is serving at present at township trustee, taking a deep and active interest in the affairs of the community. He holds membership in the Methodist Episcopal church of Montezuma, and for nearly twenty years has served as steward. He was also secretary of the building committee which erected the present handsome church edifice in that town. All matters bearing upon the material and moral development of the community have his consideration and indorsement, and no measure which has to do with the betterment of his community or fellowmen fails to win his aid. Since his residence in Poweshiek county he has been accorded a high place among the respected and valued citizens of this district, for he possesses those qualities which ever command respect and confidence.

JUDGE J. P. LYMAN.

Judge J. P. Lyman, who since January, 1909, has occupied the bench of the superior court of the city of Grinnell, and who for many years previous was regarded as one of the ablest and most distinguished representatives of the bar of central Iowa, was born in Arcade, Wyoming county, New York, on the 14th of February, 1844, a son of Ralston W. and Harriet N. (Tracy) Lyman, both of whom were natives of New England. Their marriage, however, occurred in the Empire state, to which they had removed during the period of youth. On reaching manhood Ralston W. Lyman became identified with mercantile interests to which he gave his attention throughout the years of his active business life, being at different times located in the towns of Friendship, Castile, Arcade and Yorkshire, his death occurring in Arcade in 1900, when he had reached an advanced age. The mother passed away there some years prior to her husband's death.

Judge Lyman was reared at home, acquiring his education in the public schools of Arcade and in the academy of that place. The west seemed to offer better opportunities to young men than could be found in the older and more conservative east, and in 1860 he and his brother, Robert R. Lyman, made their way to Poweshiek county, Iowa, where their uncle, Alonzo Steel, had acquired some land. It was the intention of the brothers to locate upon this tract and engage in its cultivation, but J. P. Lyman did not remain on the farm with his brother after the summer had passed, coming to Grinnell in the fall and here continuing his education under Professor L. F. Parker. In 1863 he entered Iowa College, from which he was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the class of 1867. During his college course he taught school through the vacations and following his graduation continued in the profession of teach-his party awarded him with the nomination for State Representative. He was elected and served his county in that capacity during the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth sessions of the Iowa Legislature.

The state, the county and the community lost a notable citizen in the passing of Mr. Black. Many people in many lands will feel his loss in both a spiritual and a material way.

HON. JOHN BRADLEY

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare memorial resolutions commemorating the life, character and public services of the Honorable John Bradley, a former member of the General Assembly of Iowa, beg leave to submit the following:

John Bradley was born April 2, 1864, near Buda, Illinois. He was the fourth child of George and Ann Bradley, who came from Monmouth, England, and settled on the Illinois prairie to make a home in America.

When John was five years of age the family moved to Iowa where his father bought a farm located two miles north of Montezuma. On this farm John spent his boyhood and early manhood. He attended district school at No. 7 Scott township. Becoming desirous of further education, he attended the Academy in connection with Grinnell College and later taught for a number of years in the country schools of Poweshiek county. He took a course in the Burlington Business College and soon after formed a partnership with James Anderson of Montezuma under the firm name of Anderson & Bradley, and conducted a clothing store for twelve years.

Mr. Bradley never lost his love for farming and this desire led him to leave the clothing store and return to the farm. Here he spent a number of years before he retired to live in town.

Mr. Bradley was more than a farmer. He was a man of broad vision, foremost in every movement which he considered would better the community and of keen mind to recognize the progressive character of the times. His death has taken from Poweshiek county one of its outstanding farmers and representative citizens.

His was indeed a life of usefulness, the possessor of a great personality, strong physically, mentally, and possessed of wonderful persuasive powers and of more than average ability. There was hardly a worthy enterprise undertaken but that his name and influence were not taken into consideration.

Mr. Bradley was a republican and a worker for his party. He served six years as supervisor of Poweshiek county and was recognized as a man of rare judgment and honest to his trust.

In 1918 he was practically forced by his friends in Poweshiek county to become a candidate for representative and was nominated and elected, representing Poweshiek county in the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Fortieth-extra General Assemblies.

When fourteen years of age he joined the Methodist Church. He was much interested in Sunday School work and was superintendent of the Sunday School for a number of years and was also a valued member of the official board.

He was married to Lillian Aikin of Mahaska county and by this union three children were born, two daughters, Helen and Mrs. Grace Schafbach, and one son, Harry, all living.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Forty-fourth General Assembly, That in the passing of Honorable John Bradley, this assembly take this occasion to express its appreciation of his character and public services and tender to his surviving widow and children, its sincere sympathy in their sorrow, and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be instructed to send an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

W. J. MCLAIN,
H. S. BERRY,
L. B. FORSLING,

Committee.
