Already Pledged.

WORKERS SEEK VICTORY AT CHECK-UP TONIGHT

With an audit Friday morning showing $4,723.58 needed to reach the Waterloo Community Fund's $88,600 goal for 1937, fund campaigners Friday afternoon were making a desperate attempt to procure pledges totaling this amount and put the fund over the top at the “victory dinner” tonight in Black's tearoom.

Checking of figures reduced the total pledges of $85,017.25 reported Thursday to $83,876.42.

Assurances from leaders of the various campaign groups indicated that all but about $2,000 of the amount is “in sight.”

For the remainder the workers were struggling Friday afternoon.

“Up to Citizens Now.”

“It's up to the citizens now,”
said Horace Van Metre, general campaign chairman.

“The different form of the campaign this year resulted in an earlier report of most of the large gifts and groups of gifts than has been the case in other years.

“Virtually all of the big firms have made their final reports. We are looking to those who have not reached their quotas, and to the general sales army, for the difference.

“If everyone responds as the cause deserves, we shall have a victory report tonight.”

JAS. J. RAINBOW DIES; LONGTIME PUBLIC OFFICIAL

Former State Senator; Black Hawk County Auditor for 16 Years.

James J. Rainbow, 81, who served Black Hawk county as auditor for 16 years and later was state senator from Black Hawk and Grundy counties, died at 5:30 a. m. Friday in his home at 312 Baltimore street.

He had suffered a paralytic stroke Nov. 11, a short time after recovering from an attack of pneumonia. The stroke paralyzed the left side of the body and his speech organs. For a year or omre past he had been in failing health, but was able to be about and greet his friends.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p. m. Sunday from First Presbye-rian church. Dr. Thomas R. Niven, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the family lot in Fairview cemetery.

Casket bearers will be W. D. Strayer, Frank Cisma, Russell De-Gon, F. W. Childs, L. E. Larson and Bailey Barnes.

The body was taken to the O'Keefe & Towne funeral home.

Auditor 1902-1918.

The former county official came to Black Hawk in 1888, shortly after his marriage on March 29 to Ida O. Knapp in Pettawattamie county, Iowa.

First elected auditor in 1902, he was renamed in seven subsequent elections. While serving his last term in that office, he was elected state senator from the Thirty-eighth district in 1918 and served four years. He served as deputy city as-sessor in Waterloo from 1923 to 1929.

brothers, John Rainbow of Cedar Falls, Ia., and Robert Rainbow of Macedonia, Ia., have died in recent years.

Longtime Odd Fellow.

Mr. Rainbow was a member of First Presbyterian church, I. O. O. F., and the Masonic order and was formerly an Elk.

He has been a member of Black Hawk lodge, No. 72, of the Odd Fellow order for more than 50 years, holding all local offices.

As a Mason, he had been member of Waterloo lodge, No. 105, for 32 years and was also affiliated with Tabernacle chapter, No. 52, R. A. M., and Ascalon commandery No. 25, Knights Templars.

Acquaintance Wide.

Mr. Rainbow probably knew more people and could call them by name than any other man in Black Hawk county. This acquaint-ance came thru his long and varied public career and his genial and friendly disposition.

As a public officer he was cour-teous and accommodating, sincere and faithful to the trust the peo-ple imposed in him. He was in-terested and generous in his help in all charitable organizations. He was tender and winsome in his contacts with children.

'Phone Pioneers in Waterloo Join in Radio Session

Thirty-nine members of the Telephone Pioneers club of the chapter of Iowa met at 6:30 p. m. dinner Thursday in Black's tea-room and listened to talks by Frank D. Harmon, Waterloo, dis-trict plant, superintendent, and Harry D. Wagner, local wire chief.

Auditor 1902-1918.

The former county official came to Black Hawk in 1888, shortly after his marriage on March 29 to Ida O. Knapp in Pottawattamie county, Iowa.

First elected auditor in 1902, he was renamed in seven subsequent elections. While serving his last term in that office, he was elected state senator from the Thirty-eighth district in 1918 and served four years. He served as deputy city assessor in Waterloo from 1923 to 1929.

While serving as auditor, Rainbow delivered ballots for elections to precincts thruout the county. He had continued that work under his successors.

He served as assessor of Mt. Vernon township for several years.

Teacher and Farmer.

After coming to Black Hawk county, Rainbow combined teaching with farming. He and his wife spent 14 years on their farm in Mt. Vernon township one mile south of the county farm. In recent years Mr. and Mrs. Rainbow had lived at 312 Baltimore street.

Mr. Rainbow was born April 24, 1855, in Lima, N. Y. His parents, James and Eliza Rainbow, were natives of England. The following year the family moved to Iowa City, Ia., and after 12 years moved to a farm in Iowa county; eight years later they moved to Pottawattamie county.

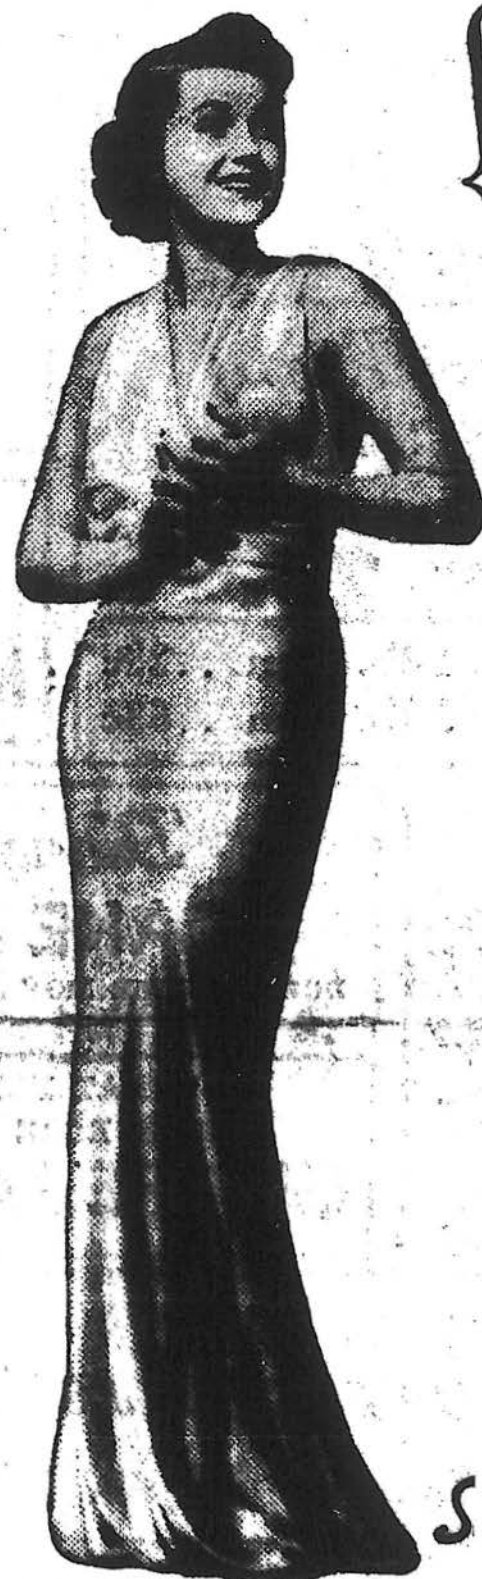

Widow, Daughter, Son.

Mr. Rainbow attended school in Iowa City until he was 12 years old. When he was 23 he studied at a college in Malvern, Ia. Later he attended normal school in Iowa City and was graduated from the commercial school there in 1881. He taught school for several years in Pottawattamie county before his marriage.

Surviving besides the widow is an only daughter, Mrs. Ernest Sage, who lives two miles north of Waterloo. A son died in infancy.

Other survivors include two grandchildren; one brother, William Rainbow, Macedonia, Ia.; three sisters, Mrs. Louise Moss of Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Elizabeth Senior of Council Bluffs, Ia., and Mrs. William Casson of Neola, Ia. Two other
