Simon Miller, a trade unloaist of the old school, passed away in his home in Dubuque Saturday, death creates a vacancy on the executive council of the Iowa Federation of Labor, a position he has filled with signal honors and utmost faithfulness for several years. He was one of but fow men who ever succeeded in being elected to the legislature upon a labor ticket and platform. We believed he served at various times in three sessions of the general assembly. In that body he secured, through thoughtful deliber-ation, the esteem and confidence of many men prominent in the affairs of the state. A teamster by occupation he secured, through self effort, a full knowledge of the world's offairs and a fair education. He was a credit to his city, to the labor mayement of Iowa and to the citizenship of the state.

A fair illustration of reaction, that thing which occurs when men are goaded to the limit of eadurance, comes from Dubuquo where the city manager plan swept the city at a recent election. For years Dubuque has been a andly misgorerned city under the old ward or alderman plan. The municipal affairs were so sadly mismanaged that the votors revolted. The other extreme, the one-man government in now the result. The commission plan, that half-way medium in between, was not oven given con-sideration. The experiment in Dubuque will be watched with interest.

We cannot but recall the fact that the mayor was a great elickler for law, technical and otherwise, whon the Raker case rather than the Ellioit case, was the matter at issue Why the sudden reversal of form?

It was many years ugo that he lived among us but now that he is dead he should not be forgetten for during that period he accomplished much for the labor movement of Cedar Rapids, then in its lafancy. William D. Crenshaw passed away in St. Louis late last week. The remains were brought to Marengo for burial. "Bill" Crewnshaw, well known as the organizer of the Refull Clerk's union was, the seroad president of the Federation of Labor. At the time he assumed the duties the organization was composed of but nine unions. During his incumbancy of the office and through his activities it grew to be a strong central body composed of some 22 unloss. Many gains could be found recorded in the old record books that could be attributed to the activities and the generalship of Mr. Crenshaw. genial good follow he made many friends - - and, of course, many en-emies. He became influential in organized labor circles, because of his conservatism and good judgment. In 1906 he was elected representative and was re-elected three times thereafter, serving in the Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, and Thirty-eighth general assemblies.

Higley Company, a produce concern of extensive business. He was a member of the city council of Mason City from 1898 to 1904, and of the Mason City Park Commission. At his death he bequeathed his home to Mason City to be converted into a home for elderly women, and named it "The Julia M. Higley Home," in honor of his wife who had preceded him in death.

JOHN H. SMITH was born in the state of Delaware, February 21, 1828, and died at Ira, Jasper County, Iowa, January 9, 1915. He removed with his parents to Michigan in 1832 and to Jasper County, Iowa, in 1857. He taught school awhile and worked as a carpenter. He enlisted in Company K, Twenty-eighth Iowa Infantry, and was mustered out in 1865 as orderly sergeant. He was elected representative from Jasper County in 1885 and served in the Twenty-first General Assembly. He materially assisted in the legislation establishing the Iowa Soldiers' Home

Samuel M. McCleery was born at Somanauk, Illinois, September 26, 1852, and died at Washington, Iowa. February 12, 1918. He was brought by his people to Washington County, Iowa, in 1864, where he lived until his death. He followed the vocation of farmer and stock dealer. In 1900 he was elected a member of the board of supervisors, and was reelected, serving in all nine years. In 1908 he was elected representative and re-elected two years later, serving in the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth general assemblies.

Published by The State of Iowa Des Moines he came to Iowa. He had been successful in speculating in town lots in that city and had when he came here about $700.00 besides his wagon and span of horses. He arrived in Monona county in October of the same year and settled upon the east half of section eighteen. In December 1850 he went to Story county and through that winter was engaged in teaching school, returning to his farm in the spring or the summer of 1857 drew to a close he returned to Story county and was there married October 1st, 1857, to Eliza A. Miller, a native of Hancock county, who passed away some years ago. The following year he taught school in the same locality and in the summer of 1858 was engaged in carrying on a farm of his mother-in-law's in that county. In the spring of the succeeding year he settled on his farm here which he has made his residence ever since. He was identified with the organization of townships and taught the first school within its limits in 1861 and 1862. Probably within the county there is no better known or more highly valued citizen than was Mr. Roe, and an appreciation of the people was shown several times by placing him in prominent positions of honor and trust, and in 1869 he took his place on the Board of Supervisors of the county and had that position for about two years. In the fall of 1887 he was elected representative to the General Assembly of Iowa, where he served two terms. He was the father of seven children. He owned large land interests in the Maple Valley and late years was a well known figure at the Old Settler's Picnics in both Monona and Woodbury counties.

Be It Resolved, That the life of Ferguson F. Roe, as a citizen as a legislator, and in every other walk of life, has been such as to commend his example as an inspiration to those who follow after. His unswerving fidelity to duty, his faithfulness in every public and private trust, and his character as a citizen should inspire all with whom he came in contact to a higher ideal of life and living, and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this House of Representatives and engrossed copy thereof be sent to his family.
