HISTORY OF
BOONE COUNTY
IOWA

VOLUME II

CHICAGO
PIONEER PUBLISHING COMPANY
1914

Anna L., who died in infancy; and Mrs. Ida O. Johnson, who was born September 20, 1875, and was married in Boone county in 1897, her death occurring in July of the following year. The two eldest children were born in Illinois and the younger members of the family in Boone county. All, however, were reared in this county and attended the country schools of the community in which they made their home.

John William Isaacson has always been a resident of Boone county and was reared in the usual manner of farm lads, early becoming familiar with the duties and labors that fall to the lot of the agriculturist. After attaining his majority he continued to engage in farming, but in 1899 left the farm and removed to Madrid, where for some time he was engaged in the hardware business. He owns good business property in the city, including the brick blocks in which the hardware business of A. Yocum is conducted. He is also the owner of a well improved one hundred and twenty acre farm in Colfax township and good residence property in Madrid.

Mr. Isaacson is pleasantly situated in his home life. He was married in this county in 1906 to Miss Anna Matilda Alsin, who was born in Fairfield, Jefferson county, Iowa, and came to Boone county in childhood. Here she was reared to womanhood and has since made her home. Her father, P. A. Alsin, was one of the pioneer settlers of Garden township.

In his political views Mr. Isaacson is a republican and is thoroughly informed concerning party questions and issues, but does not seek nor desire office, preferring to concentrate his energies upon his business affairs. He is today surrounded by most of the comforts of life as the result of his careful management and intelligently directed business activity. He forms his plans carefully, is determined in their execution, and as the years have gone by he has won that success which is the legitimate reward of earnest, persistent effort.

W. D. MILLER.

W. D. Miller is actively identified with journalistic interests in Boone county as editor and publisher of the Ogden Reporter, which he purchased in February, 1914. His birth occurred in New Market, Shenandoah county, Virginia, on the 4th of September, 1878, his parents being John and Elizabeth (Louderback) Miller, who were likewise natives of that state. The father, a harness maker by trade, followed that occupation in Virginia throughout his active business career. His demise occurred in January, 1901, and his widow now resides in Washington, D. C.

W. D. Miller was reared and educated in the place of his nativity and when nineteen years of age made his way westward to Illinois, remaining in that state for two years. In 1901 he came to Iowa, locating in Eldora, Hardin county, where he learned telegraphy in the service of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company. In 1903 he came to Ogden, Boone county, and here remained in the employ of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway as agent for three years. On the expiration of that period he removed to California and later to Oklahoma, where he resided until 1907, when he returned to Ogden, having here remained continuously since. On February 1, 1914, he purchased the Ogden Reporter and is now devoting his attention to his duties as editor and publisher. The sheet has a large subscription and advertising patronage and its columns are devoted to the dissemination of local and general news, while its editorial policy is such as has won for it enthusiastic support.

On the 25th of December, 1907, Mr. Miller was united in marriage to Miss Anna Belle Clark, a daughter of Dr. Orson and Emma (Sylvester) Clark and a sister of S. Parker Clark, a sketch of whom appears on another page of this work. Her father also receives extended mention in another part of this volume. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have one child, Virginia, who is three years of age.

In his political views Mr. Miller is a progressive, staunchly advocating the principles set forth by Theodore Roosevelt at the time of the birth of the party. His religious faith is that of the Congregational church, while fraternally he is identified with the Masons. He is a man well liked and highly esteemed, and his efforts contribute substantially to the upbuilding and promotion of the interests of his community.

JAMES M. WHITE.

James M. White, who died in Ogden in July, 1901, was long and actively identified with industrial interests as a carpenter of that place, and enjoyed an enviable reputation as a substantial and respected citizen. His birth occurred in Pennsylvania on the 29th of December, 1849, his parents being Lewis and Elva White, who were likewise natives of the Keystone state. The father, an agriculturalist by occupation, removed to Illinois in an early day and there followed farming during the remainder of his life.

James M. White was reared and educated in Illinois and in early life learned the carpenter's trade, working at that occupation in the Prairie state for some time. After coming to Boone county, Iowa, he engaged in farming for four years, but on the expiration of that period took up his abode in Ogden and again began work at his trade. During the remainder of his life he engaged in carpentering and in that connection won a gratifying measure of success, for he was a skilled and reliable workman. He died in July, 1901, when in the fifty-second year of his age, and his demise came as a great blow not only to his immediate family, but also to an extensive circle of friends.

In December, 1870, Mr. White was joined in wedlock to Miss Mary Morehead a daughter of Samuel and Mary A. (Hollis) Morehead, both of whom were natives of Pennsylvania. The father removed to Illinois in an early day and carried on agricultural pursuits in that state until called to his final rest on the 24th of September, 1894. The demise of the mother occurred September 22, 1874. Unto Mr. and Mrs. White were born ten children, as follows: Lewis E., who is a resident of Perry, Iowa; Charles J., living in Ogden; May, who is the wife of Isaac Dixon, of Ames, Iowa; Eva, who gave her hand in marriage to Henry Jones, an agriculturist of Boone county; Belle, the wife of Frank Morgan, who follows farming in Boone county; Arthur, a barber of Ogden; Sylva, who died in 1903; John W., living in Ogden; Ray-
