La Monte Cowles, An Attorney Here Since 1886, Dies

Services Thursday for Man Long Prominent Here

LaMonte Cowles, 82, former city attorney and state senator, prominently identified with community life since coming to Burlington nearly 60 years ago to study law, died at Mercy hospital at 8:30 Tuesday night after an extended illness. Rites will be held here Thursday.

Death resulted from complications caused by the early stages of pneumonia and a heart ailment. He became ill in Chicago Jan. 15, came to Burlington and entered the hospital, but returned to his home a week later. He was re-admitted to the hospital Feb. 2, but failed to rally. Cowles, who had been ill previously, was confined to the hospital for some time last year after suffering a fractured hip in a fall near the court house Jan. 21, 1941. He had been active, however, until his last illness.

Native Iowan

A native Iowan, Cowles was born in Oskaloosa Sept. 30, 1859, the son of Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Cowles. His mother was Maria Elizabeth LaMonte. His father, a clergyman, was active in Methodist circles for half a century, coming to Iowa in 1851 from Michigan. Rev. Cowles was a leader in every community in which he lived—and like so many Methodist clergymen, moved frequently. He served as an internal revenue collector under Abraham Lincoln.

Attorney Cowles was the descendant of a long line of Americans, his ancestors having been in North America since 1636, both his parents being descendants of colonial families who had participated in the Revolutionary war. Rev. Cowles came to Burlington

Rev. Cowles came to Burlington upon retiring from the ministry, dying three years later, in 1899.

LaMonte Cowles received his BA degree from Iowa Wesleyan college in 1879, then went west where he worked as a civil engineer for railroads four years.

Liked Law

His experience as a young engineer in Colorado, Idaho, Kansas and other western states where he played an active part in building railroads failed to dim an earlier enthusiasm to study law. He came to Burlington and began to read law under the eye of Judge Power who was an astute teacher. The former engineer did so well that he was admitted to the bar three years later, in 1886.

Immediately opening a law office in Burlington, Cowles formed a partnership with C. B. Jackson who 18 months later moved to Idaho. Cowles practiced alone, although frequently employing attorneys as assistants in later years.

Republican Worker

Cowles became active in the Republican party, serving as county chairman, first district chairman and first district congressional committee chairman. He was chairman of the latter committee for 10 years and also formerly was on the state central committee. He served three terms as a city attorney, and was elected to the state senate in 1910.

On Sept. 15, 1886, he married Miss Hattie E. Kane. She died Nov. 11, 1889, leaving a daughter, Ethel. Cowles married Miss Ida M. Miller of Burlington Nov. 24, 1898. The following year, they built a home at 810 N. Fifth street and it had been the family home since.

Red Cross Benefits Must Be Approved

Red Cross benefits cannot be held without permission of the organization, R. W. Baxter, chairman of the Des Moines county chapter, said today.

Numerous such benefits are held without such permission, he pointed out. "While the chapter is appreciative of this volunteer effort, I must call public attention to the fact that such benefits using the name of the Red Cross must not be undertaken without previous clearance with the proper chapter officials," Baxter stated.

"An act of congress protecting the Red Cross name and emblem and defining their use, makes this requirement by the chapter obligatory. These legal restrictions are equally a protection to all contributors, as well as to the Red Cross chapters."

Natural Gas Use Curtailed

The war production board has ordered a curtailment in the consumption of natural gas, and mixed natural and manufactured gas.

The order does not affect companies distributing only artificial or manufactured gas.

The board announced that action was taken with reference to natural and mixed gas to assure adequate supplies of gas for war production. It was declared necessary because of increased gas requirements for both war production and civilian
