TRANSIENTS

Transient are now being charged by the Salvation Army and there is no need for giving nickels, dimes and pennies, Envoy Elmer of the local Salvation Army announced Friday.

The Salvation Army will give two dollars to each needy transient, he said. A limit of two dollars placed on the number of transient so that transient will not move rather than return to Council Bluffs indefinitely. They are served at the corps headquarters at 28 North Seventh and are not running a soup kitchen, Envoy Otis said. "We are doing very good, substantial

The breakfast consists of bread and coffee with sugar. The afternoon meals consist of well-dressed soups, vegetables and what is available, Envoy Otis said. A limit is placed on the amount of food each person may receive. All may eat until satisfied.

Meals are served continuously throughout the day, he said. The first meals were served Thursday.

Envoy said. He urged the size of Council Bluffs to be kept small to avoid any "moochers" as this

BEAT CLEM KIMBALL

Mack C. Goodwin, 59, for years an active worker in the democratic party of Council Bluffs and Pottawattamie county and former state senator from this county, died of heart disease Wednesday at his home in Omaha, where he had lived for the last eight years.

He had spent more than an hour getting his car out of a downtown parking place during the hottest part of the day, and complained of illness when he reached home.

He was born in Crescent City and is survived by his widow, eight children and nine grandchildren.

Mr. Goodwin served for four years as deputy under Sheriff Hazen in the late twenties and later ran for the state senate and was elected against the late Lieut. Gov. Clem F. Kimball. He also served as democratic county chairman.

For years Mr. Goodwin had been in the automobile business, in which he was active at the time of his death.

He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Omaha. Funeral arrangements will be made later but burial has been announced for Walnut Hill cemetery.

He was a charter member of the local Eagles lodge.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Brickbats hurtled through the air and police nightsticks saw action today in a clash between bonus-seeking war veterans and officers a short while after the former service men were evicted from their shelter on Pennsylvania avenue near the capitol.

The veterans, described by Walter W. Waters, their co-leader in chief, as members of the right wing of the bonus expedition, suddenly began throwing bricks at the police.

The officers backed away while using their clubs.

Officers Pull Pistols
Several officers pulled their pistols for use if necessary, but no shots were fired.

Within a short time the veterans were stored at least temporarily.

This developed a short struggle with the government, through attorney General Mitchell, demanded the complete evacuation of all veterans from government property.

Every policeman available was ordered to the lower Pennsylvania avenue section to guard against any contingencies.

Throng to Scene
Meanwhile, thousands of persons from other neighborhoods marched to the scene, some carrying bricks and others on their route.

In the melee, Pelham Ford, superintendent of police, was struck by a brick and his badge

YUDELSON POSTS BOND IN AUTO LICENSE CASE

Morris Yudelson, used car dealer, who was arraigned before Jack DeWitt, justice of the peace, Friday on charges of misusing used dealer license plates, posted a $25 bond for hearing next Saturday.

Yudelson, who was arrested by J. Paul Bair, state automobile inspector, was accused of allowing one of his trucks to be used with "used dealer" plates affixed. H. Allan, Lake Manawa, who was driving the truck, also was arrested and received a similar continuance.

RAIN PUSHES MERCURY DOWN; MORE EXPECTED

Less than half an inch of rain fell in this vicinity Thursday night, according to the weather bureau figures, but the weather change brought a 23-degree drop in temperature overnight.

The high thermometer reading Thursday was 86. At 2 a. m. Friday the mercury had dropped to 63. By 1 p. m. Friday afternoon it stood at 69.

More rain is expected, the government meteorologist predicted. Saturday will be somewhat warmer.

Friday's total rainfall was .40 of an inch.

FUNERALS

Funeral services are planned for 2 p. m., Saturday, at the Bralley and Dorrance funeral home, Eighteenth and Cumby streets, Omaha.
