ahead to fuel the 90-foot-tall, Gemini-Titan 2 rocket this morning. Except for brief meetings with project officials, Gemini 11 pilots Charles Conrad Jr. and spacemaker-to-be Richard F. Gordon Jr. planned only a casual review of their flight plan while relaxing in crew quarters here.

"We've endeavored to lay this flight plan out so we have a chance of doing everything," Navy Lt. Cmdr. Gordon said, "and we think we've got that chance. I couldn't ask for a better flight."

Goals of their planned 71-hour mission include a rapid rendezvous with the Agena target satellite on Gemini 11's first orbit using the Agena's main engine to scoot them to a record altitude of 863 miles, flying in formation with the Agena while tied to it by a 100-foot cord, and performing an automatic "hands-off" re-entry.

Gordon, 38, rookie astronaut, plans two ventures outside Gemini 11 — a 107-minute stroll during Gemini 11's second day aloft and a 140-minute "space station" the third day, when the spaceman pops the upper half of his body outside the spaceship to photograph stars.

Navy Cmdr. Conrad, veteran of the eight-day Gemini 5 flight slightly more than a year ago, and Gordon are to blast off at 10:25 a.m. Friday, 97 minutes after their Atlas-Agena target rocket roars skyward at 8:48 a.m.

Rendezvous on Gemini 11's first orbit "is really the extreme of the gamut of rendezvous," said Charles W. Mathews, Gemini program manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Manned Spacecraft Center. "In other words, this is about as short as you can do a rendezvous."

"The biggest thing," Conrad said, "is not that it's a first-orbit rendezvous but the fact that we're going to do it on our own. It's the first crack at doing it with our own information and no help from the ground."

Because of the short time to rendezvous, the astronauts have to rely mostly on equipment aboard the spacecraft.

Major Lund Died Today At Age of 90

Viet Cong Reds Fail to Block Saigon Channel

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong made another unsuccessful attempt to block the main shipping channel to Saigon today, exploding a mine near a U.S. Navy minesweeper. It went off harmlessly 40 yards away.

U.S. officials sought to determine whether Communist saboteurs or a short circuit caused a million-dollar fire that destroyed an American military warehouse and damaged another near Saigon before dawn.

Grenade attacks, assassinations and other violence were on the rise as the Communists increased their terrorist attempt to disrupt the national election Sunday.

U.S. military authorities said there were only small, scattered actions in the ground war, but Vietnamese headquarters said two battalions of government infantrymen battled off two battalions of Viet Cong and killed 30 Reds. There was no letup in the U.S. air offensive against North Viet Nam. American fighter-bombers flew 122 multiple missions against the Communist North Wednesday, striking oil depots, bridges, missile sites and transportation lines.

In the South, U.S. B52s bombed an area 40 miles north of Saigon where the Viet Cong Phu Loi battalion was believed based. The veteran enemy unit engaged the U.S. 1st Infantry Division in a bloody battle last month.

Other American pilots flew 379 single-plane sorties in the South Wednesday, and the U.S. command said they destroyed or damaged more than 300 suspected Communist structures, hideouts and sampans. South Vietnamese airmen flew 317 sorties.
