Allerton

Dred Beavers, Editor

ALLERTON, Ia., Nov. 26.—The Public Library of Allerton is calling the attention of its local patrons, to a list of up-to-date books to rent for five cents a week, which will help to pass away their leisure moments. Some of the most outstanding books to rent include: "The Folks"; "The Lady of Godey's"; "Yonder is the Mayflower"; "Green Light"; "Under Mountain"; "Magnificent Session"; and "Greenfell of Labra". A number of new books arrived this week, among which are: "Bring Come On Forever" by Bess Peter Aldrich; "Stars Fell on Alabama" and "West of The Orient", by the Lindbergh.

Good improvement was made this week at the Rock Island station when curbing were installed along tracks near the depot, and shale placed in the pens in the stock lots.

Mrs. Marvin Robertson was elected operator at the Middle States Utilities office here, last week. She succeeded Mrs. Orlie Russell. Lois Hill is named as substitute, the office formerly occupied by Mrs. Robertson.

A new Centrifugal pump was installed at the Rock Island pumping station, last week. The machine is a power driven unit, which weighs 100 pounds and supplants an old type pump, greatly increasing the efficiency of the plant for the Rock Island company and the users of the water in his community.

As soon as machinery and material available the town of Allerton will see an improvement of the street from railroad tracks, east and will be led as far as the corner property Mrs. Elzora Ferrel. Light poles for the Iowa Southern Utilities Co., will be moved, to allow the work to be accomplished. The county plans to make changes in the approach to tracks on the west side. The city has also consented for the city to use the Wayne county machinery and equipment for the new lighting project with the town furnishing dirt and labor. The main object to be accomplished in this new project is to fill the deep mud holes which appear in our streets, during wet weather.

Mrs. J. A. Galford visited markets in Omaha, Nebr., the latter part of this week to buy additional Christmas merchandise. Mrs. H. R. Hughes left for her home at Fort Worth, Texas Saturday morning, after visiting here for a few weeks in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyer.

CORYDON MOURNS DEATH OF F. R. FRY, ESTEEMED CITIZEN

Pioneer Farmer, Banker, Insurance Officer and Legislator is Laid To Rest.

F. R. Fry, 83, a well known and highly respected citizen of Corydon passed away in his home, Thursday, November 21, at an early hour, following a stroke of paralysis, suffered the Monday previous. He had been in failing health for a year and confined to his home.

Funeral services conducted by his pastor, the Rev. P. M. Conant were held from the Methodist church, Sunday afternoon, and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends, who came to pay their last respects to a neighbor and friend. Music was furnished by a male quartette composed of Roy Barnes, Wilbur Rider, W. H. Burton and Newton Rew, with Mrs. Rolla S. Allred accompanying them on the piano. The pall bearers were: G. R. West, L. B. Davis, E. O. Moore, Josh Allison, H. V. Alexander and H. H. Booth. Burial was in the New York cemetery.

The following life story was read at the services:

Francis Rhinehart Fry was born in Mason county, W. Va., December 28, 1852 and died in Corydon, Iowa, November 21, 1935. He was a son of Samuel and Mary A. (Zerle) Fry. In 1857 he came with his parents to Wayne county, Iowa, where his father engaged in farming in Union and Washington townships. He was educated in the country schools and in Western college, at Toledo, Iowa, now merged with Coe college, at Cedar Rapids. He graduated at this institution with the class of 1872. There were ten members of this class and all were persons of note. Several became pastors of various churches, some were authors and two later served as presidents of Western college. Mr. Fry was a worthy member of this class because of his outstanding ability and later accomplishments.

Mr. Fry, after graduating from Western college at the age of 19, taught school for three years. He then refused an offer to be assistant cashier of the Cedar Rapids Savings bank, feeling that his inclination led towards farming. In 1881 he began his life work on a 120 acre farm in Washington and Union townships in Wayne county, Iowa. He brought he increased his farm to 320 acres, part bank, feeling that his inclination led towards farming. In 1881 he began his life work on a 120 acre farm in Washington and Union townships in Wayne county, Iowa. As a result of his industry and foresight he increased his farm to 520 acres, part of which came directly from the government to Mr. Fry's father, who had been the first white man ever to live on it. This land is still in the possession of the Fry family. He was a wideawake scientific farmer and kept up the fertility of the soil by the latest methods of crop rotation. He ranked as one of the leading agriculturists of the southern part of the state.

On March 8, 1872, Mr. Fry married Carrie M. Kellogg, of Jackson township, who was a daughter of Alvaro V. and Fannie Jane Kellogg. Mrs. Fry died December 23, 1891. There were seven children in the family; Frantz Bird and Samuel A., both of Corydon; Mrs. Eupha Evans of Humeston; Alba Q. of Allerton; Mrs. Arba White of San Jon, N. M.; and Mrs. Elo Draheim of Santa Monica, Calif. One daughter, Jeva M. is deceased. There are sixteen living grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

On March 9, 1895, Mr. Fry married Miss Alice S. Miller of Union township. She has been his constant and faithful companion ever since, and has given him unstinted and loving care during his last illness and death.

Besides his children, grandchildren and widow, Mr. Fry leaves to mourn their loss, his sister, Mrs. Jennie V. Burnham of Corydon, her son, Milo Burnham of Corydon and his two children; a brother-in-law, Howard M. Kellogg of Devils Lake, North Dakota, and his children; a sister-in-law and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Churchill of Jackson township and their family; a brother-in-law and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Miller of Corydon and a sister-in-law and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George King of Corydon.

Business interests other than farming engaged the wide and varied talents of Mr. Fry. He held office in three of the banks of Corydon and was president of the Wayne County Farmers Mutual Insurance Co. from 1903 until he resigned in October before his death, a period of thirty-two years. He was a large factor in shaping the policy of this company.

He was always a champion of education; for twenty years he served on the school board in the country and for a number of years on the Corydon school board.

Second Team Holds Seymour Colts To Tie

The Seymour bench warmers took to the field Wednesday afternoon of last week to whip the local second stringers by the resounding smack of 12 to 0. Displaying a good brand of football, however, the Hornets held their opponents to a touchdown a half.

Seymour could not convert the extra points. The game was played on the Seymour high football field.

The following line-up appeared for Corydon:

Cooper	Right End
Yocum	Right Guard
Cherry	Right Tackle
Coffey	Center
Ryan	Left Guard
Sharp	Left Tackle
Spellerberg	Left End
Poston	Quarter Back
Merrick	Left Half
Donald, M.	Right Half
Dodson	Full Back

Substitution: Frame for Yocum.

Friday afternoon the Hornets returned the compliment on the Corydon field, taking the Seymour lads to town, 12 to 7. The Seymour substitutes tasted first blood in the first half, pushing over a touchdown and an extra point. The Hornets came back in the second half, a fighting, and scored a touchdown. The Seymour eleven all over the gridiron. They earned two touchdowns.
