GOVERNOR W. L. HARDING

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public services of the Honorable Governor W. L. Harding, Governor of Iowa, beg leave to submit the following:

Governor W. L. Harding, age 57, Governor of Iowa from 1917 to 1921, died at his home in Des Moines, Iowa, on Monday, December 17, 1934. Although he had been ill since September, following a heart attack, suffered after a campaign address at Crawfordsville, Indiana, his death was unexpected.

Governor Harding was elected from Woodbury county to the House of Representatives where he served six years. He then became a candidate for lieutenant governor and won his post in 1912 and was re-elected in 1914. Two years later he became candidate for governor and won the post in one of the hottest campaigns in recent Iowa history.

Governor Harding, the war-time governor, was born October 3, 1877, near Sibley, Iowa, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Harding who had come to Iowa from Pennsylvania. He graduated from Morningside College and the University of South Dakota. Governor Harding received his preliminary education in public schools.

He began the practice of law in Sioux City with the firm of Oliver, Harding & Oliver and at one time was associated with James Kindig, later a supreme court justice. Governor Harding practiced law in Des Moines where he made his home after becoming governor.

He was a gifted public speaker and campaigned the country in favor of the Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterways, and has been speaker for the Republican National Committee in every campaign since 1920.

Former Governor Harding's immediate family consist of Mrs. Harding and a daughter, Barbara, a student at the State University of Iowa.

The Des Moines funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Dunn's Funeral Home. The body lay in state at the Capitol, Thursday morning before the services in Des Moines and was then taken to Sioux City for burial. Brief services were held there.

Deep regret was expressed by every one who knew Governor Harding because he was an able statesman, a congenial, loyal and sympathetic friend of the state and nation. He was one of the most forceful speakers Iowa has ever known and an able and fearless executive. When the final record of his administration is written it will rank among the greatest in the history of the state.

In the passing of the war-time Governor, Iowa has lost an honored, upright and beloved citizen.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Forty-sixth General Assembly, That the state has lost a valuable citizen and we bear unanimous witness of his upright life, his wisdom, and his honorable service to his state. In the years of his service as an official his conduct was exemplary in every respect. This is the reason that we recommend and honor him today.

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the widow of the deceased.

DON W. BURLINGTON,
JOHN W. MOORE,
MATT B. RIDDELL,

Committee.

Unanimously adopted, April 23, 1935.

Charged With Participation in Bates' Share of Ransom.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.—Arrest of James C. Mathers, Oklahoma City, and Ben Laska, Denver, attorneys for the defense in the $200,000 Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, was announced here Monday by the department of justice.

Both are charged specifically with participation in the part of the $200,000 ransom loot that went to Albert Bates, one of the actual kidnapers who is serving a life term at Alcatraz island prison.

With Father.

Mathers served as co-counsel with his father for Harvey Bailey in the Urschel trial, and Laska as attorney for Bates.

Laska is known also for defending Vern Sankey, Mrs. Fern Sankey and others in the Charles Boettcher II and Haskell Bohn kidnap cases.

"Lindbergh Law."

The men will be liable to prosecution under the so-called "Lindbergh law," and a maximum sentence of life imprisonment if convicted, the United States district attorney's office said.

It was disclosed that the federal grand jury also indicted Clara Feldman, wife of Bates; Edward Feldman, her son, and Alvin Scott, her brother-in-law, as a result of recovery of $46,000 of the ransom money in Oregon.

CAPTURED

John Stadig (left), who dived from a moving train to escape his guard, has been returned to Alcatraz, Cal., federal prison. For 10 days and nights Stadig evaded officers and was too weak to run when overtaken. He is shown with a guard after the capture Saturday.

Clouds Cloak, Darken Iowa

Fog Greets State in Morning.

Clouds draped Iowa Monday afternoon after much of the state had groped to work earlier in the day in a fog.

In the Sioux City area the fog was heaviest, being characterized there as "dense." The weather bureau calls a fog dense when visibility because of it is less than 1,000 feet.

The situation in Des Moines was made worse by the black pall of smoke which roofed the city, especially the business district. As late as 9 a. m. motorists were proceeding cautiously through the foggy streets with lights burning as at night, and traffic lights blinked dimly through the haze. They delayed an hour to some extent. A United Air Lines plane westbound, due

W. L. Harding Aided Politics With Humor

Smoothed Over Many Awkward situations in State.

By Cliff Millen, Tribune Political Writer.

Former Gov. W. L. Harding's sense of humor was a force in Iowa politics.

It smoothed over many awkward situations that threatened party harmony. On other occasions it directed public attention toward specific issues in Iowa campaigns.

As there are Cummins stories and Allison stories in Iowa politics, there will be Harding stories for years to come. He also was the source of a number of rules of political procedure.

Brookhart.

One of them was: "Never talk about a million dollars. Farmers and housewives don't know how much a million dollars is. Get it down to terms of nickels and dimes. They know what that means."

When Smith W. Brookhart, elected United States senator over the opposition of the Republican organization, was a guest at the Republican state convention Harding brought smiles and relieved the embarrassment by commenting that:

"Times must be changing. It seems that we can't handpick our candidates any more, like we do our apples."

Iowa's Navy.

At a formal occasion at Fort Snelling when seven governors were in attendance during the war Governor Harding commented on the Iowa navy. His remarks restored good nature to a gathering which was becoming restless because it looked as if speeches might take the place of dancing on the program.

"When I became governor I read in the Constitution about the duties of an officer," he said. "I found out I was commander-in-

Re-elected in 1918.

In 1918 he was re-elected, de- feating Claude R. Porter, Des Moines Democrat and later a member of the interstate com- merce commission.

Holding office during this four- year period, Harding took his place as one of Iowa's wartime governors. During his adminis- tration, Iowa ratified the prohibition and the women's suffrage amend- ments to the national Constitution, created the state board of con- servation and adopted legislation to abolish prison labor contracts and lay the foundations of the present highway system.

Returned to Law.

He retired undefeated from the governorship and returned to the practice of law, engaging also in lecturing and in the promotion of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project. He was a member of the executive committee of the association sponsoring this work for many years.

He took part in many state and national campaigns as an orator and he always was in demand as a speaker. As a regular speaker under Republican national head- quarters he spoke in many states and became closely in touch with national politics.

Presidents sent him letters of thanks for his efforts and he was widely known in national politics.

He retained an active part in politics and law until the time of his final illness. He was a member of the law firm of Harding, Ruffcorn & Jones, Des Moines, at the time of his death.

Added to List

Suggested for Service Award.

The name of K. G. Carney, chairman of the Polk county emergency relief committee, was added Monday to the list of persons nominated for the 1934 community service award.

The award, which goes to the person judged by the award jury to have performed voluntarily the most singular bit of city service during the year, is offered annually by The Moineas Tribune.

K. G. CARNEY

Man's Job.

"He has a man's job," say writers of the nominating list. D. A. McKernan, "and he spends a good many hours each day trying to solve the poor man's problem."

"He has to see that thousands of unemployed in Polk county receive food, shelter and clothing besides furnishing help on public works.

"No Compensation."

"Mr. Carney goes through his routine each day, and receives no compensation for his work. He is also one of the spark plugs in the community who sponsor clean amateur sports."

The community award jury, made up of more than 30 individuals, men and women, is expected to meet soon. The jury will not meet in course until after the deadline for receiving nominations arrives. The time expires at midnight Dec. 31.

Handed to Jury.

Letters of nomination requests that the name of the nominee withheld will not be published. They will, however, be turned over to the jury when it meets after Jan. 1.

The act of community service performed by the nominee must be an unselfish one not intended to benefit the one who performs it.

Up to Jury.

As to the manner in which the winner of the silver trophy is chosen, that is a matter for the jury to decide. The Tribune has no part in the selection.

Needless to say, both men and women are eligible to receive the cup. A man and his wife could share the award if their efforts were combined to accomplish a service deemed outstandingly beneficial to the community.

Accumulation.

The deed cited must not necessarily have been started or finished during the year for which the award is given, some jury members have decided.

An accumulation of good deeds hitherto unrecognized in public have been accepted as sufficient merit for the cup.

Hartley. In 1906 he was appointed deputy clerk under H. C. May and two years later was elected to the important office of clerk of the district courts. Such was his excellent service in this office that he was re-elected and is now serving his third term, a fact which testifies to his efficiency in office as well as his popularity throughout the county. He was admitted to the bar in October, 1912, but, owing to the fact that he is still serving as clerk, he has not yet entered the active practice of his profession.

Politically, Mr. Thatcher is a Republican and very naturally has taken an important part in the interests of his party. He is a member of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons and also of the Order of the Eastern Star. Mr. Thatcher was married in August, 1908, to Hilma Johnson, daughter of August Johnson, and to this union has been born one son, Sherwood Yale, born January 23, 1912. Mr. Thatcher's straightforward methods have given him the confidence and good will of the people of the county and he is in every way deserving of the high esteem in which he is held by all classes. He keeps well abreast of the times, being a wide reader and a clear thinker. He is now in the prime of his life and many years of usefulness are still before him.

ORLANDO B. HARDING.

A retired farmer of Sibley, Iowa, who has been identified with the history of Osceola county for more than forty years is Orlando B. Harding. He is one of the men who came to this county when it was a trackless prairie and by ability and industry won a success through his farming operations. He has not only contributed to the material advancement of his county, but during the course of an honorable career he has been an influential factor in bettering the moral, social and intellectual welfare of his community.

Orlando B. Harding was born in Pennsylvania September 20, 1847, and is the son of Curtis and Elizabeth (Sands) Harding. Curtis Harding was born and reared in Pennsylvania of English parentage and in 1868 came to central Wisconsin from the state of Pennsylvania, where he lived until his death. Curtis Harding was twice married, and by his first marriage had six children, while to the second marriage nine children were born. Five of the children by his second wife finally settled in Iowa.

Orlando B. Harding was a son of the second marriage of his father and was reared and educated in the schools of Pennsylvania. In the spring of 1868 he was married and he and his young wife came with his father and the remainder of the family to Wisconsin, where Orlando and his wife settled in the central part of the state and lived there until 1873. He then moved to Osceola county, Iowa, and settled on section 2, township 98, range 41. Here they lived for twenty-seven years and reared their family to majority. They passed through all the experiences incident to the "grasshopper" period and although there were many times when things looked very gloomy, they remained with the farm and made a success of it. In 1900 the father and mother moved to Sioux City, where they lived until 1907, when they moved to Sibley, where they are now living. Mr. Harding still owns three hundred and twenty acres of fine land in Osceola county, having sold two hundred and forty acres in 1911 at a good price.

ORLANDO B. HARDING

Orlando B. Harding was married May 17, 1868, to Emily Moyer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moyer, of Pennsylvania. To this marriage have been born seven children: E. L., who is on the father's farm in Osceola county; G. M., who is living in Idaho on a ranch; Mrs. Almira Barkhuff, of South Dakota; W. L., who is lieutenant-governor of Iowa, and is a candidate for re-election; C. E., who graduated from the University of Iowa and is now publisher and postmaster in Church's Ferry, North Dakota; Mrs. Stella Hall, whose husband is a farmer in Osceola county, and W. W., an architect of Sioux City.

W. L. Harding, one of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Harding, was born in Osceola county in 1875. After receiving a good common school education, he studied in Morningside College, later studied law in the State University of South Dakota, then located in Sioux City, Iowa, where he has been a prosperous lawyer. He has served three terms in the Legislature from Woodbury county and in the fall of 1912 was elected lieutenant-governor of the state.

Politically, O. B. Harding is a Republican and has held various township offices at the hands of his party. He and his family are loyal members of the Methodist Episcopal church and have always taken an active part in all the activities of that denomination. Mr. Harding is one of the industrious pioneers of the county, who has always been firm in his convictions, whether religious, political, intellectual or financial, and it can be said that he has always taken the right stand on every important question. He and his wife have reared a large family to lives of usefulness and have the satisfaction of knowing that their children are performing well their part in the world of today.

TOMMY TOUTY TARGET OF NEW FEDERAL HUNT

Alleged Successor to Dillinger Sought by Justice Agents

Chicago—(AP)—A report that investigators had uncovered new secrets of the underworld sent man-hunters on a new public enemy drive which made "Terrible Tommy" Touhy the most widely hunted man in America. Backtracking the trail of the late John Dillinger and his henchmen, the investigators disclosed that they were hunting Touhy as a suspect in the $427,000 Brooklyn armored car robbery of last August and that they believe he now is leader of the combined forces of the remnants of the Dillinger and Touhy gangs. Engineered Prison Break At the same time the investigators disclosed that they had information that it was Touhy and not Dillinger who engineered the Michigan City, Ind., state prison break that unleashed 10 Dillinger mobsters on the Middle West in September, 1933. The information that Touhy was behind the prison break came, the

SIEGEL APPEAL IS DUE MARCH 15

Defense Attorney Granted More Time for Brief Due Saturday

Attorney George Gorder said Tuesday he has obtained permission to file the brief of the law and the abstract of the record in the Joe Siegel case by March 15. He was sentenced to eight years. His attorneys have filed notice of appeal of his case to the supreme court of Iowa. Siegel is free on a $5,000 bond while his case is being carried to a higher court.

BITES HELD FOR VICTIM DAKOTA GUN ACCIDENT

Regret Expressed As News of Call Death Is Spread

Friends and Business Associates Laud Achievement of Civic Worker

Shocked by the sudden death of George C. Call, veteran Sioux City businessman, friends and associates Tuesday expressed deep regret at both a personal loss and a loss to the community in which he lived. Following are typical testimonials of associates and business leaders:

GEORGE F. SILKNITTER, President Stock Yards Company. "In the passing of George C. Call, Sioux City loses one of its most prominent and enterprising citizens. For a great many years he has taken a very active interest in work for the development of the Missouri river, also was an earnest worker and devoted considerable time to securing improved highways throughout the northwestern part of Iowa. These projects always were uppermost in his mind and it can be attributed to his efforts the progress that has been made up to the present time. He will be missed by his host of friends and business associates."

LAWRENCE L. DAVIDSON, President Davidson Brothers company "It seems especially tragic George C. Call should be called by death at a time when it appears his ardent work for the Missouri river improvement is about to bear fruit for the benefit of Sioux City. His services and his personality will be greatly missed by the entire community. He was a leading citizen in every respect."

J. FARLE MARTIN, President T. S. Martin Company. "The sudden death of George C. Call will come as a shock to the entire community. A tireless worker for the growth of Sioux City, an extensive owner and developer of real estate, he was a pioneer promoter of city growth, and his death takes away one of the very few pioneers of his type who still remain."

S. P. MASON, Secretary Terminal Grain Corporation. "Mr. Call has been identified with the development of Sioux City and the grain market for more than 20 years. He was president of the Terminal Grain corporation at the time of his death and was one of its founders and directors. I am grateful for the privilege of his association and friendship and in the sudden shock I can only realize a personal loss. "The broader loss to the city as a builder and contributor to the prosperity and growth of Sioux City cannot be measured." W. J. WATSON, Manager, E. and W. Clothing House. "I am greatly grieved in the loss
