

Standard Form For Members of the Legislature

Name of Representative Salby, James T. Senator _____
Represented Adair County, Iowa

1. Birthday and place 17 Nov 1856 Olin, Jones County, Iowa

2. Marriage (s) date place
Emma E. Eastday 16 Aug 1879 Olin, Iowa

3. Significant events for example:
A. Business President of the First State Bank of Adair County at Olin, Iowa 1905-1924
B. Civic responsibilities Mason, Eastern Star
C. Profession Farmer, lumber and grain business; Banker

4. Church membership Methodist

5. Sessions served 33rd General Assembly 1909

6. Public Offices
A. Local Township clerk; Olin town councilman 7 years
B. State _____
C. National _____

7. Death 24 Oct 1926 Creton, Iowa; buried Grace Land Cemetery, Creton, Iowa

8. Children Myrtle E. (Mrs. J. L. Hiley); Pearl G. (Mrs. Brown);
Harry A.

9. Names of parents _____

Halby, James E.

10. Education _____

11. Degrees _____

12. Other applicable information _____

Republican

- He taught school for 4 winters and farmed during the summers.
- After marriage, he farmed in Crawford County for a number of years.
- After he left farming he engaged in the mercantile business at Ohio, Iowa.
- He moved to Orient in Adair County, Iowa in 1896 where he engaged in the brick business until 1909.
- He entered the banking business at Superior, Nebraska in 1910 and then he moved to Creston, Iowa.

association was trying to affect the senatorial campaigns in Indiana is "poppycock," Joseph Myers, Jr., declared today at the resumption here of the senate inquiry into that campaign.

Myers represented that association in Indiana during the first six months of this year and Clyde A. Walb, chairman of the Indiana republican state committee, testified last week at Chicago that "the propaganda" put out by the association was designed to defeat Senators Watson and Robinson, republicans, because of their vote against the world court.

"Do you know anything about an $8,000,000 fund for world peace alleged to have been subscribed by millionaires?" Senators Reed, chairman, asked.

"I know nothing of any such fund," Myers replied.

Walb previously had told Senator Reed that he had heard such a fund was subscribed at a New York meeting and that Myers might be able to tell about it.

"You say that any statement that your organization tried to defeat Senators is untrue?" the senator proceeded.

"I do," Myers returned. "It is an effort to draw a red herring across the trail in Indiana politics."

"Then you were not trying to defeat Senators Watson and Robinson?"

"No. But personally, I would like to see them defeated. I do not think they are the calibre of men to represent any great commonwealth in the United States senate."

Senator Reed announced that he was informed that Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft, vice chairman of the Indiana state republican committee, was ill at St. Louis and could not give her testimony at this time. The chairman called Frank J. Prince a newspaper correspondent of Indianapolis to testify that Mrs. Wheatcraft gave an interview to him and to W. A. S. Douglass western correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, in which she said she had organized "a poison squad" among the women of the state to aid Senator Watson in his primary campaign.

Before questioning Prince, Sena-the coming year was successful in comment of F. Edson White, president of Armour and company; William Diesing of Omaha, vice president of the Cudahy Packing company, and John W. O'Leary, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Among the convention activities are a reception in honor of Charles G. Dawes, vice president.

J. T. DALBY DIED HERE YESTERDAY

Former Orient Business Man's Death Due to Heart Trouble.

J. T. Dalby, widely known throughout southwestern Iowa as a banker and lumberman, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. G. Wiley, 1101 West Adams street, yesterday morning at 10:20. Mr. Dalby's death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Dalby was 69 years old. He would have celebrated his seventieth birthday next month. For the past year he has been in poor health. He is survived by his wife and three children, Mrs. D. G. Wiley, of Creston; Mrs. Pearl Brown, of Long Beach, Calif., and Harry A. Dalby, of Hopkins, Mo. His wife and all of his children were with him at the time of his death.

Mr. Dalby came to Creston several years ago from Orient where he conducted a lumber business and was president of a bank. About three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Dalby went to California, and had recently returned from there to Creston.

Mr. Dalby was a member of all branches of Masonry and was a member of the Eastern Star as well.

Funeral services are to be held tomorrow afternoon at the First Methodist church here. The services will be conducted by Rev. C. W. Graham, assisted by the members of the Masonic lodge, who will conduct services at the grave. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

Emphatic denial of the charge made by George Putman of the Capital-Journal, Salem, that the company had received $100,000 from the Portland Electric by killed near noon when he was riding was driven by a Mr. Du Chien, Wis., the injured a broken arm, bruises and his condition to be critical. Mrs. injured a fractured leg, bruises. Her baby, carrying in her arms. The injured were fatal at Manchester formerly lived at collision happened of primary roads 13 Hudson's machine with a high rate of speed. Both cars went in Three men riding were not injured.

Charles City, Ia., Mrs. John Marker killed and Mr. Hemingway, also of injured when struck by a Milwaukee train at Floyd crossing yesterday. Mr. Marker's head crushed. Marker's daughter, not so badly injured taken to a hospital.

A split freight have obstructed the crossing.

Clear Lake, Ia., M. Cain, 55, Livingsmith, was found pavement a mile Lake this morning, crushed, while waterment indicated he by a passing car, sprung a leak and ing him to die. Sheriff and his deputies are search for the driver.

Cherokee, Ia., O. G. Holley, 58, single, day when his struck by an Illinois passenger train. He was the accident by automobile registry.

Independence, Ia., Rev. Ralph Engelbert of a Swedish Lutheran Albert Lea, Minn., ed up.

There's a socialist and a half, as Berger expresses it, in the present congress. Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York City was elected on the socialist ticket but Berger denies that he's Simon-pure.

La Guardia is as independent as they make 'em, but he always called himself a republican until 1924, when, because he wouldn't stand hitched, his party organization refused him a renomination for congress.

Thereupon he ran as a socialist and was elected.

This year, however, the republicans of his district, profiting by the lesson of 1924, nominated him. Nominally he's a socialist now, but, if re-elected, he'll be, nominally, a republican again.

That will leave Berger alone in his glory.

Berger has a mighty good time in congress and more influence than might be expected of a one or one-and-a-half man party.

The house of representatives likes to hear him talk. He's entertaining. He's remarkably well informed, too, and can speak effectively for any proposition that his socialistic convictions permit him to believe in. He sorely razzes the so-called progressive wing of the republican party because he considers most progressives not really very progressive. Naturally this delights the regulars.

The result is Berger can get the floor whenever he wants it and he always has a good audience, for, as soon as he begins talking, the representatives' chamber fills up to enjoy the entertainment.

He's only a moderately frequent speaker and he never speaks long at a time but he's one of the representatives who has something to say. One may not agree with him but one has an earful when Berger gets through.

All in all, Berger's very popular with his fellow representatives—the progressives excepted—which is quite a bit to say, considering that they twice refused to seat him after he'd been elected, on account of his socialistic views.

Being in so hopeless a congressional minority, one might suppose Berger's job would be something of a spicure. But he's one of the busiest men in congress. He receives twice as much mail as any of his colleagues and droves of visitors.

The explanation's simple. Other congressional districts apiece, Berger represents all the socialists in the Central Iowa. Mr. Leno's wife passed away Sept. 12, 1916. Three of the children died in infancy and three lived to the ages of 14, 23, and 37. Mr. Leno was a faithful and devoted husband and father.

JAMES T. DALBY

James T. Dalby was born November 17, 1859 at Olin, and died October 24, 1926, at Creston, Iowa, aged 69 years, 11 months and seven days.

He was married at Olin on August 16, 1879, to Emma E. Easterly, who survives him. To this union three children were born, Mrs. E. Myrtle Wiley of Creston, Harry A. Dalby of Hopkins, Mo. and Mrs. Pearl G. Brown of Long Beach, Calif. He is also survived by five brothers, two sisters and seven grand children.

After his marriage he was engaged in farming in Crawford county for a number of years and upon leaving the farm entered the mercantile business at Olin. He removed to Orient, in 1896, where he was engaged in the lumber business until 1909. He was also president of the First State Bank of Adair county, at Orient from 1905 until 1924. He entered the banking business at Superior, Neb., in 1910 and upon his retirement from active business he moved to Creston where he remained until 1924. Since that time he has resided in Long Beach, Calif., where he contracted the illness which resulted in his death.

Mr. Dalby represented Adair county in the Iowa legislature of 1909.

He was a member of the United Brethren church at Olin, and the men's Bible class of the Methodist church at Long Beach, Calif.

He was affiliated with Cyprus Lodge A. F. & A. M., Orient, Iowa; A. G. A. B. Chapter Royal Arch Masons and Bethany Commandery at Creston, Des Moines Consistory No. 3 and Vesta Chapter O. E. S. of Creston.

He was a faithful husband, a wonderful father, a true friend and loyal citizen.

Nevinville School Notes

Because of the state teachers' meeting in Des Moines, the Parent-Teachers' association meeting planned for November 5 has been postponed until Nov. 12. At that time the following program will be given: Address of welcome, President Good Clayton's room; music by a ladies' quartet; address Rev. Mr. Condoe frauding her...

Mrs. F. Dalton...
Alice from Creston...
Bolton's Saturday...
Mrs. Fennell...
visiting her son...
family.

Mildred Hazen and Ramsbottom took supper with Hazen Saturday evening.

Pete Hower's new living plant installed in their house.

The Ladies Aid will meet Mrs. Hugh Bateson Tuesday 25.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. ... visiting at the ... near Lorimer, Saturday.

Dorothy Bolton and ... with relatives in Creston.

Artie Huffman and ... Lela and Leta were absent Creston Friday.

Hugh Stephens and family at the 8th Creston ...

Jennie Hill is having ... painted.

Mr. and Mrs. ... lunch at the ... home Sunday.

Dorcas and Nellie ... entertained at the Olin home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. ... children, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Ferrill and ... spent Tuesday evening at the Hazen home.

Mrs. Chas. Parker was visiting her ... of Winner and family ... home.

The moon completed around the earth ... than 27 days.

