Iowa Flooded; Hail Fell Here

EASTERN PART OF STATE SUFFERED DAMAGE FROM THE DRENCHING RAIN STORM

Hail stones ranging in size from that of a pea to large hickory nuts practically covered the earth here Sunday afternoon, followed by a drenching rain storm that flooded things during the few minutes that it fell.

It is hardly thought that the hail did any particular damage, unless it may have been to the buds on the fruit trees.

People who were caught out on the road in various directions during the storm had thrilling experiences. East of here on the Lincoln, near Tama, the detour on the mud road became almost impassable within a short time, while people on their way home from Des Moines reported water rushing over the paving near Ankeny a foot in depth.

Railroads in the eastern part of the state, near Cedar Rapids, were operating under the handicap of washed out track and bridges today.

During the heavy rainstorm yesterday, which approached the proportions of a cloudburst in several places, in that part of the state, 300 feet of track on the Northwestern between Luzerne and Blairstown and 100 feet on the Rock Island near Shellsburg were washed out. A concrete bridge near Shellsburg also went out. Many fields were flooded.

Several creeks were reported out of banks in Benton and Linn counties. More than an inch of rain fell during the 24 hours.

GRADE PROGRAM SPLENDID SUCCESS

LITTLE PEOPLE PUT ON FINE ENTERTAINMENT BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

The grade school program at the N. H. S. Auditorium Friday evening was a splendid success. The little folks were all experts at their parts, sang exceptionally well and performed admirably in every way.

The first Operetta "The Florist Window" was given by the grade pupils of the North and West buildings. Ten florists, fourteen green bugs, ten red roses, fourteen bees, ten daffodils, one little mustard flower, six columbines, seven pansies and ten violets made up the large list of flowers. These eighty-three children were not only delighted to appear on the program but gave a splendid account of themselves.

The second Operetta, "Spring Crow" was given by the pupils from the Central grade building. Jack Frost and all his frost elves were banished by

GEORGE C. WHITE DIED SUDDENLY AT MASON CITY HOME

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR FORMER PROMINENT NEVADA MAN TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Funeral services for George C. White, 61, former Nevada attorney, who died very suddenly at his home in Mason City Saturday night, will be held at the Bishop Funeral Home here Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, after which interment will be in the Nevada cemetery. Heart trouble was the cause of the very sudden death of Mr. White.

He was found dead at his home by a roomer, but an hour or so after he had eaten a heavy dinner at 7:00 Saturday evening.

Mrs. White, who had been spending the week with friends in Nevada, was on a bus on her way home at the time.

According to word reaching here Mr. White had been out of the city on business during the day, but had returned home about four o'clock. Later he joined a friend down town and they had enjoyed their dinner at a tea room, after which they had parted and Mr. White had returned to his home for the evening, to await the coming of Mrs. White who was on her way home on a bus.

It was about nine o'clock, that a young lady who roomed at the White residence went home and upon entering the house, found Mr. White lying dead upon a couch.

It was impossible to communicate with the wife who was on her way home, but Mrs. Conner of this city and a cousin, Dr. Mark Jones of Boone, were at once communicated with.

Mrs. Conner went up Sunday morning to be with Mrs. White and Dr. Jones hastened to Mason City immediately upon receipt of the news of the death of Mr. White and has been assisting in the funeral arrangements.

Mr. White was a man of wide acquaintance not only in Nevada and Mason City, but over the state, where he had been known for his political activities.

Mr. White was a native of Illinois, but came out to Story county probably thirty years ago and his home had been in or near Nevada until about two years ago, when he formed business connections at Mason City and moved there to practice law.

When he first came out to Nevada from Bloomington, Ill., he went upon a farm in Richland township, where he lived for a number of years. Later he was admitted to the practice of law and also served Story county as representative in the Thirty-second general assembly. He had also served in other public matters of distinction.

COUNTY MEDICS ELECTED OFFICERS

Another Held On Liquor Charge

"BUD" FRY PICKED UP HERE LAST NIGHT—WILL BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

Arthur "Bud" Fry, 27, of Iowa Center, is in jail here today under charges of violations of the liquor laws of the state. Fry was picked up on the streets here last night by Sheriff Nebbergall, being wanted in connection with the activities of the Borts-Valley bootlegging and moonshining outfit.

The officers are still checking up on the transactions of that outfit and both Dave Borts and Joe Valley are facing three larceny charges and two separate liquor violation charges. Their bonds have been fixed at $3,500 each.

When the matter, if finally run down the officers are confident that they will have some others on charges of liquor violations in connection with this case.

It is said that Fry has already signed a written confession in which he acknowledges connection with the activities of the Iowa Center moonshining and bootlegging concern. He will be arraigned before Justice Dana today, according to County Attorney Smitie, who was called over this morning to look after the case.

Washington, May 9—(INS)—Charles Nungessen, French aviator flying from Paris to New York, passed Portsmouth, N. H., at 4:30 p. m. today, according to a message to the navy department from the Portsmouth navy yard.

"French plane seen off Isle of Shoals at 3:03," said the brief message. The Isle of Shoals, off Portsmouth, is about 225 miles by air line from New York City.

Italian Flier Forced Down
South Norwalk, Conn., May 9 (INS)—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian round-the-world flier, today was forced down in Long Island Sound off Tokeneke in his new plane, the Santa Maria II, by a heavy fog. The plane barely averted crashing into a ledge near the shore.

Commander de Pinedo came ashore in a rowboat and announced the plane was not damaged and that he would continue his flight as soon as possible. He said a fog bank had forced him to descend and that he intended to alight on the land but the rolling Terrain instead.

Increased Need of Flood Sufferers

PUBLIC HAS NO COMPREHENSION OF THE DIRE STRAITS OF THOSE PEOPLE

Funds are still trickling in to the officers of the local Red Cross to be added to the rescue fund for the Mississippi valley flood sufferers.

The Red Cross flood relief fund reached $10,120,783 today, according to reports from headquarters.

Officials said additional money would be needed to care properly for Mississippi valley refugees and the drive will be pressed vigorously.

People who desire to add their donations to this appealing cause should either hand them to Mrs. F. S. Smith, chairman, Miss Edith Boynton treasurer, or to Rus Holloway at the White Way grocery.

There is encouragment in some of the communications received from the flooded Mississippi valley regions, coupled with their optimism and appreciation of benefits received in the past.

From the Jackson county, Arkansas chapter, comes a letter which says in part:

"If there is any one thing Arkansas, and all the South, has to be thankful for, it is the Red Cross.

"To one who has not lived behind a levee, it is quite impossible to describe the situation.

"I think we were badly "shot to pieces" from our four hard years of vicissitudes. The January flood which was not half as bad as this, which is as bad as is conceivable all over this county, seemed a sort of climax. But we felt that the National Red Cross had already done so much for us, and as a community, we do not wish to get the habit of "leaning".

"But now, alas, we shall hardly be able to see through our own difficulties.

"We do appreciate your generous and prompt offer to help us. But unless absolutely necessary, we shall not ask any outside aid from Red Cross. The biggest thing to us would have been a trained worker. But even that seemed selfish and unnecessary in view of the storms and cyclones in Fort Smith and other places. Then,

WHITE FUNERAL TUESDAY DREW MANY FRIENDS

LARGE BISHOP FUNERAL HOME UNABLE TO ACCOMODATE THE PEOPLE.

The funeral of George C. White, 61, former Nevada man, who died so suddenly at his home at Mason City Saturday evening, was held at the Bishop Funeral home, Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, after which the body was laid to rest in the family lot in the Nevada cemetery.

Brief services had been held at the family home in Mason City Tuesday morning, after which the funeral party, consisting of Mrs. White and a number of friends, accompanied the body to this city.

The spacious funeral home was filled to overflowing and many oldtime friends of Mr. and Mrs. White were unable to gain admission. The services were in charge of Dr. Dibble, pastor of the Congregational church at Mason City, of which Mr. and Mrs. White had become members after moving to that city. Charles H. Hall of this city, many years connected with Mr. White in the law business, sang a solo. The casket and nearby spaces were banked with floral offerings from Nevada and Mason City as well as from the various organizations and fraternal societies with which he was affiliated.

Mr. White was a native of Illinois, born in McLean county, December 6, 1865. His father William H. White and the mother Martha Ann Donovan, were farmers and the son George Clinton made his home upon the farm and assisted in the work.

He received his preliminary education in the schools of McLean county, making sufficient advancement in his studies to enable him to secure a certificate to teach. He taught for two years and finally became a student in the normal school at Normal, Ill., where he studied two years.

Mrs. Morse Died Monday Night

FUNERAL AT BOARDMAN HOME SUNDAY AT 3:00—INTERMENT HERE

Mrs. C. M. Morse, 76, former resident of this city, died at her home Los Angeles, Calif., Monday night from the effects of a cancer and of complications, from which she had been a sufferer for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held at home of her daughter, Mrs. F. Boardman, corner Fifth and Ave. H, Sunday afternoon at 3:00, at which interment will be in the Nevada cemetery.

The body is expected to arrive Sunday morning at 7:20 over Northwestern accompanied by Mrs. Morse the daughters, Mrs. Boardman and Mrs. Gamble of this city and sister, Mrs. Wright of Wisconsin, of whom have been with her during the past weeks.

Mrs. Morse who lived in Nevada Maxwell for many years and had wide acquaintance, leaves her husband, four daughters, Mrs. M. Gamble and Mrs. F. M. Boardman of this city, Mrs. C. F. Ashford and B. F. Burch of Los Angeles and son Marcellus Morse Jr., also of Los Angeles, besides numerous other relatives, including several grandchildren.

RED CROSS EXTENDS ARMS TO EMBRACE TORNADO VICTIMS

GOOD VICTIMS AND REFUGEES

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Baton Rouge, La., May 11—The sustaining arms of the American Red Cross, steeled by a four weeks' hand
and hand struggle with the devastating Mississippi floods, were extended today to the wind swept regions of five states spread from Illinois to Texas.
Under plans suggested by Secretary
Commerce Hoover, and approved
Red Cross field officers, the two most areas of death and suffering will be administered through a single relief organization. The existing flood relief machinery will be expanded to care for the new hundreds awaiting relief from tornadoes in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Texas.
While the new tornado relief machine centered at Memphis was getting under way, flood rescue forces in west central Louisiana redoubled their efforts today to curb the disaster in the seven threatened parishes.

making sufficient advancement in his studies to enable him to secure a certificate to teach. He taught for two years and finally became a student at the normal school at Normal, Ill., where he studied two years.
He was united in marriage to Miss Ida May Chalfant, of the same county, June 18, 1900. She was a daughter of William and Margaret Duff Chalfant, the father being a prominent farmer of the county.

In 1893 Mr. and Mrs. White came out to Story county, where he purchased a farm in Richland township and there they lived and prospered for twelve years. During the later years upon the farm he decided to read law and after long and hard study at home he matriculated at Drake University in 1907, graduating from the law department in 1909 with the degree of L. L. B. Later he entered the law department of Yale University, where he spent a year and finished with the degree of L. L. M. in 1910.

Shortly after finishing his law
course he was for a year associate counsel with Clifford Thorne, of this state in his extended railway rate investigations, which gave Mr. White a deep insight into law of that nature.

He continued in his practice of law
in Nevada from that time until about two years ago, when he decided to locate in a wider field and associated himself with Dunn & Dunn, in practice at Mason City. He disposed of the family home in this city and with Mrs. White moved to Mason City.

During his practice here Mr. White was very active in political affairs and was elected by the republicans of Story county to serve in the house of representatives in the Thirty-second general assembly and the special session which followed.

He was active during his public service and was recognized as one of the strong men of the house. His acquaintance over the state became general and valuable and in later years
during the days of the "Bull Moose" progressive move of the party, he was the choice of that party as their candidate for governor.

Matters of interest to the agriculturalist and pertaining to co-operative marketing were made a deep study by him and along those lines he had decided opinions.

SAID TO BE LAST WORD IN TEL- PHONE SERVICE NOW IN USE IN COUNTRY

The new switchboard equipment now installed in the local exchange,
the Story County Independent Telephone company's office, promises to give the people of Nevada something in telephone service which is not surpassed anywhere in the world, according to F. M. Boardman, manager. This equipment, known as the Kellogg Service switchboard was purchased after long study of various installations throughout the country and was selected because of the fine service similar installations are giving everywhere.
It is said that nothing finer in any way of telephone service is to be had in any community regardless of the size of the city or the money invested.

In considering their requirements
The Story County Independent Telephone company considered two things
—first the necessity for the fastest and most accurate service available and second the requirement of reasonable cost to the subscriber for such service. Their study convinced them that the Kellogg Service board met both requirements.

The new board presents a number of unique features. All incoming calls are distributed over the face of the switchboard each call lights a number of lamps so that any operator can answer it. This feature eliminates the annoyance of waiting for an operator who has several calls to answer
while other operators might be idle.
The calls answered by each operator
are recorded on the chief operator's desk and as each operator has an equal share of the work, subscribers are assured of prompt answering and speed
in connections with their parties.

Operators are automatically connected with subscribers on plugging in and automatically disconnected as soon as the called party is rung, eliminating two time-consuming operations and insuring privacy to the party talking.

Machine ringing keeps the called party's bell ringing at intervals until he answers or the calling party hangs up. At the same time a reverter to the calling party is carried back to the calling party assuring him that the operator
has completed her duties.

This, according to a report from the New Orleans district engineers office, will mark the beginning of the final fight for the east bank levees at New Orleans and other danger points on the Mississippi side. It also will begin the real fight to hold the whole line of main levees north of Baton Rouge. Official predictions based upon preliminary surveys of the unprecedented river conditions are that New Orleans will experience no disaster. The river stage there today is 20.3 feet, a drop one-tenth of a foot since Sunday and six-tenths during the last week.

He was a thirty-second degree Mason and a member of Za-Ga-Zig Temple of the Mystic Shrine of Des Moines. He was also a Modern Woodmen and possibly belonged to other lodges and clubs.

Mr. White came of English lineage on the paternal side, the ancestors having arrived on the western shores of the Atlantic during the colonial period. His great grandfather, Nathaniel White, served in the Revolutionary war. The father William H. White was born in Tippicanoe county, Indiana in 1835 and came west with his family in 1850, locating in Illinois, living in McLean county until his death in 1907. The mother, Martha Ann Donavan, was born in Springfield, Ohio, in 1840 and survived her husband five years.

After the Whites moved to Nevada they established their home at the corner of Fifth and Lincoln. There they lived and entertained their friends, until they gave up their home that the Kellogg Service board met both requirements.

ceptably as a member of the school board, being one of the active factors in the erection of the new school building. In every relation of life he has attempted to perform his duty, and as he is a man of genial manner and generous disposition, he has gained many friends who have the most implicit confidence in his integrity and ability.

GEORGE CLINTON WHITE.

George C. White, recently established in the practice of law at Nevada, Iowa, is a native of Illinois, born in McLean county, December 6, 1865. He comes of English lineage on the paternal side, the progenitors of the family in America having arrived on the western shores of the Atlantic during the colonial period. His great grandfather, Nathaniel White, served in the Revolutionary war from New York. The father of our subject, William H. White, was born in Tippecanoe county, Indiana, in 1835 and removed with his parents to Illinois in 1850. He was one of the successful farmers of that state, where he died in 1905, at the age of seventy years. Politically he gave his support to the republican party. The mother of our subject, who was Martha Ann Donovan before her marriage, was born in Springfield, Ohio, in 1840, and survived her husband five years, passing away in July, 1910. She removed with her parents to Washington county, Iowa, in 1849. Our subject has one sister, Anna, who was born in McLean county, Illinois, in 1869, and is now the wife of E. W. Sutherland, a lawyer of Bloomington, Illinois.

George C. White was reared under the favoring influences of a peaceable home, and as he grew up he assisted his father to the extent of his strength and ability in the work of the fields. He received his preliminary education in the district schools, advancing sufficiently to secure a certificate as a school teacher. He taught for two years and for a time was a student at the normal school at Normal, Illinois, but agricultural pursuits held out greater inducements than the schoolroom, and accordingly, in 1893, he began farming on land of his own in Story county, continuing for twelve years. In 1905 he took charge of the Farmers Elevator at Nevada, which he conducted most successfully for one year. Having decided to adopt a professional career, he matriculated at Drake University in 1907 and was graduated from the law department with a degree of LL.B. in 1909. Desiring to proceed still further with his studies, he entered the law department of Yale University and was graduated from that celebrated institution with a degree of LL.M., in 1910. Soon after leaving the university he began practice in Nevada and as he has many friends in Story county and his ability in practical lines of business has been thoroughly demonstrated, there is little doubt as to his success in his chosen profession.

On the 18th of June, 1890, Mr. White was united in marriage to Miss Ida May Chalfant, who was born in McLean county, Illinois, May 2, 1865. She is the daughter of William and Margaret (Duff) Chalfant, the father being a well known farmer of the county. Mr. White is a member of the Story County Bar Association, and also of Lodge No. 99, A. F. & A. M., the Knights of Pythias and the Modern Woodmen of America. Ever since arriving at manhood he has given his support to the republican party, believing that its principles are best adapted to promote the interests of the country. He has been an earnest supporter of the party in Story county and served in the thirty-second and thirty-third general assemblies of Iowa, showing an ability which greatly pleased his constituents. He is now fairly started on his professional career, and it requires no prophet to foretell that his efforts will be exercised in behalf of the political, intellectual and moral advancement of the region with which he has for many years been intimately identified.

STEPHEN L. LOUGHRAN.

Stephen L. Loughran is one of the well known business men of Ames, being proprietor of the Loughran Machine company, and an old resident of Story county. He was born in Des Moines, Iowa, on the 27th of August, 1866, a son of Edmund and Sarah A. (Bryer) Loughran, also residents of Ames. The father was born in Armagh, County Armagh, Ireland, on the 30th of June, 1832, and was educated in the schools of Armagh, where he lived until he had reached his fifteenth year, when he emigrated to the United States. Upon his arrival here he went to Hampshire county, West Virginia, but after remaining there for a few months he removed to Wheeling, that state, and engaged in the machinery business there until 1855, at which time he went to New York city and after a year's residence in the metropolis he accepted a position in the employ of Cox, Richardson & Boynton, stove and furnace manufacturers, in Westchester county, New York. He did not long retain that position but in 1857 started westward, Des Moines, Iowa, being his destination, and there he engaged in the manufacturing business. On the 2d of January, 1864, he responded to the call of the nation's chief and enlisted in the First Iowa Battery. The most important battle in which he participated was that of Atlanta on the 22d of July, 1864, and he was also on the field at Resaca, Georgia. On the 5th of July, 1865, he was mustered out at Davenport, Iowa, and returned to Des Moines, where he engaged in business until 1874. In the latter year he bought one hundred and sixty acres of land in Jasper county, Iowa, upon which he settled, and for ten years followed the occupation of farming. At the end of that period he came to Ames and bought out the business of Shields & Cook, who handled farm implements, continuing in this for eighteen years. In 1902 he withdrew from active business and is now living retired in Ames.
