A LETTER FROM FRANCE.

Chagny, France, Nov. 24, 1918.

Dear Dad:
As you doubtless know, this is the only all the A. E. Fr. writes to Dad. You have asked me several times about different things. At last, the censor lid is off, so here goes. We left Hoboken, N. J., June 7th, 7 a. m. on the ship called Aeolus, a ex-German ship, along with six other convoys or rather transports with some forty thousand troops in all. Our ship was the largest with some forty-five hundred soldiers on it. It took us eleven days to cross the Atlantic. We arrived on the morning of the 18th at Brest. We marched to a rest camp about a mile and a half north of Brest where we stayed two days and from there we took a three day ride on the train to Camp Marcy. Here we were housed in barracks. There were no machine shops and it is our headquarters now. You doubtless know that Uncle Sam

PASSING OF AN OLD SOLDIER.

Hon. Hamilton Scott Laid at Rest in Oak View Cemetery.

David Hamilton Scott was born in Fleming county, Ky., on June 27, 1825, and died at his residence in Albia, Iowa, Dec. 21, 1918, aged 92 years, 5 months and 24 days.

On Oct. 16, 1845, he was married to Mary Wills with whom he lived an ideal married life for nearly seventy years. His wife preceded him to their heavenly home on June 19, 1914.

Hamilton Scott was the last member of the original twelve members who organized the Presbyterian church in Albia in 1852. He was at the time of his death and had been for many years, an elder in the church and to his efforts and to his consistent christian life is due much of the credit for building the Presbyterian church up to its present prosperous condition.

To Hamilton Scott and his wife were born eight children: seven daughters and one son, of whom five daughters are still living and were with him during his last hours.

In the summer of 1862 he enlisted in the service of his country in Co. A, 36th Iowa Infantry and was commissioned second lieutenant of that company. He served until the spring of 1863 when on account of poor health he was compelled to resign his commission and come home.

Hamilton Scott was a consistent christian and practiced in his daily life what he believed and until the infirmities of advancing age prevented him he was always in his regular seat at all the services and meetings of his church. During his life he held many positions of trust in the communities in which he lived and the duties of those different positions he always performed with honor to himself and credit to the community. But his work is done. His long and useful life is ended. Our blessed Lord and Savior, whom he loved and served while here on earth, has told him to come up higher. Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord. May a merciful God comfort us and guide us until we too are called to join the loved ones in that heavenly land, which He has prepared for those whose sins are forgiven them.

D. H. W.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon. Rev. W. E. Fisher of Ackley, delivered the funeral sermon. The body was laid to rest in Oak View cemetery.

ensor lid is off, so here goes.

We left Hoboken, N. J., June 7th, at 7 a. m. on the ship called Aeolus, an ex-German ship, along with six other convoys or rather transports with some forty thousand troops in all. Our ship was the largest with forty-five hundred soldiers on it. It took us eleven days to cross the Atlantic. We arrived on the morning of the 18th at Brest. We marched to a rest camp about a mile and a half north of Brest where we stayed two days and from there we took a three days ride on the train to Camp Marcy. Here we built a large railroad yard and machine shops and it is our headquarters now.

You doubtless know that Uncle Sam has several thousand large U. S. cars and hundreds of locomotives over here. He handles most of his own freight, runs his own trains on the freight railroads. In our outfit we have three companies, A. and C., that are made up mostly of train crews. B company is made up of men who work in the machine shops. There are a few of us clerks in the outfit and we are stationed along the division. It is our duty to keep the trains going and if they stop we find out why, etc. A part of our work is to meet all passenger trains to help the soldiers catch the right trains. Our division starts at Gievres and ends at Is Sur Tille. The latter is in an advance zone and is the base of supply for the American army and is also the largest railroad yard in the world—built by American engineers. Gievrea is also another large supply depot. In fact we handle the most important rail division in France and were the first rail outfit on the job.

Well, Dad, how goes it anyway? It wont be very long now till I can be back home and help you out. That time can't come any too soon either for me. I guess that our home is not the only one that has seen the dark side of the cloud but then that is no sign or reason that we should look at the dark side of things. We sure have a lot to be thankful for and it's up to us to do our part.

I had a dandy letter from Anna E. a few days ago—twenty pages written on both sides and every bit of it interesting.

Had a dandy long letter from Mother and two from Sis yesterday, but have not had any from you in several weeks.

Expect by this time that most of the fellows who were in training at the camps have been relieved. From the looks of things it wont be long till they start the fellows home from France. When they once start they sure will move fast but very little can be done till after peace is really declared, but that wont take long after useful life is ended. Our blessed Lord and Savior, whom he loved and served while here on earth, has told him to come up higher. Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord. May a merciful God comfort us and guide us until we too are called to join the loved ones in that heavenly land, which He has prepared for those whose sins are forgiven them.

D. H. W.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon. Rev. W. E. Fisher of Ackley, delivered the sermon and the body was laid to rest in Oak View cemetery.

The following lines were written by Alexander M. Scott, Hamilton Scott's brother and it was his request that they be read as a part of his funeral service:

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead, he is just away.

With a cheery smile and a wave of hand
He has wandered into an unknown land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be since he lingers there.
And you, O, you who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,

Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here
And loyal still as he gave the blows
Of his warrior-strength to his country's foes.

Mild and gentle as he was brave
When the sweetest love of his life he gave

To simple things, where the violets grew

Pure as the eyes they were likened to.
The touches of his hands have strayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed.

When the little brown thrush that harshly chirred

Was dear to him as the mocking bird,
And he pitied as a man in pain

A writhing honey-bee wet with rain.
Think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead, he is just away.

RAIL REPORT HIT.

In an effort to justify seizure of the cable systems after the war was virtually at an end, Postmaster General Burleson made public a tentative report submitted to him by Theodore N. Vail, head of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in his capacity as adviser to Mr. Burleson.

The report suggests unification of telephone, telegraph and cable systems, and calls for an early action to remedy what is called a bad situation.

Upon being shown the plan of Mr. Vail, Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph-Commercial Cable, said:

On Wednesday night, December 13th, Jasper Barnes died at his home in Moravia very mysteriously and the case is being investigated by the coroner of Appanoose county. Barnes was thirty-eight years old and apparently in splendid health. In the evening he was taken suddenly ill and suffered violent convulsions. A doctor was called and in reply to questioning he stated he had taken a dose of salts. The physician gave him some medicine which gave Barnes some relief and the physician left the house. In a short time after the doctor left the sick man was again taken with convulsions following which he died. It is reported that the coronor's jury has decided that death was caused by poison and that Barnes' stomach was sent to Iowa City where it will be analyzed by expert chemists.

Mystic Letter.

The largest hog ever marketed in Mystic if not in the state, was brought in by George Felkner Wednesday and sold to A. S. Harris. It weighed 1,930 pounds and had not been fed for twenty-four hours. The day previous it weighed 1,070 pounds on Mr. Felkner's scales. Mr. Harris, who has visited Kansas City and Chicago stock yards many times, says it was the biggest hog he ever saw. Many people were attracted to the stock yards Wednesday afternoon to see the monster. Mr. Harris gave 15 cents a pound for the hog, and after "docking" a few pounds gave Mr. Felkner a check for $147. The hog was three years old. Mr. Harris shipped him to Ottumwa with a car load of hogs Wednesday night.

REGULAR SESSION

learned the lessons of patriotism and of union laid down by the founders of this country and expounded by such men as Madison, Webster, and Lincoln.

In the summer of 1862, responsive to those teachings and in answer to the call of his country, in order to maintain the liberties which we prize and the rights which we undertake to maintain, he enlisted in the service of his country in Company A, 36th Iowa Infantry and was commissioned Second Lieutenant. In this capacity and with his regiment he continued to serve until on account of failing health he was compelled to resign his commission and return home the following year. His conspicuous sacrifice as well as that of his faithful wife who was left at that period with limited means and a family of seven daughters to carry on the work at the farm home in that early and privation of his community, affords that undying evidence of loyalty which assures the perpetuity of our government and makes us of this latter generation their everlasting debtors.

Among other offices of public trust to which his fellow citizens called him as an evidence of their esteem and confidence, he was elected in November, 1895, as a member of the 26th General Assembly of Iowa. He served in the regular session of that Assembly and was a member of the extra session which was convened in 1897, and made the last revision of our code.

Pioneer as he was, loyal, serving, and sacrificing, vigorous in mind and body, possessed of the highest ideals characteristic of such early settlers, he typified that Iowa citizenship which has had so much to do in placing this State in the front rank of the sisterhood of the Republic. It was, therefore, but fitting that one so endowed and thus identified should honor and be honored by his County by such election. In private life and public service he was honored and loved by all who knew him. Honest, faithful, tried and true, with a charity born of a belief in the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of all, he lived, labored and passed to his reward, leaving behind him a record worthy of pride and justly to be held in loving memory by his family and by his State.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That in his death we have lost a loyal citizen, an honorable servant of the State and one whose life is worthy of exemplification by us whose duty it is to faithfully carry on the duties which are now ours and that we hereby extend to his relatives and friends this tribute of our respect; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions in memorium be printed in the journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an engrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.
