HON. GEO. W. PERKINS DEAD

Passed Away Sunday Morning In Quiet Sleep—Peaceful Close To Eventful Life—A Strong Character.

The passing away of the Hon. George W. Perkins has taken from our midst one of the strong characters who has had much to do with the making of history in Fremont and Page county, for his life has covered a residence of 39 years with the exceptions of those few spent in Des Moines while railroad commissioner. When he came to Iowa from Illinois in '71, he viewed the land around Farragut and said he wanted to own some of that land; he bought a section of it and then set about to make a home and that home has been known far and wide as one of the model homes of southwest Iowa.

George Willard Perkins was born in Derry, New Hampshire, October 23, 1832. He grew to manhood there and was educated in the schools there. In 1855 when he was 23 years of age he came west as far as Weathersfield, Illinois, with a Mr. Little who later became his father-in-law, in two years after that July 13, 1857, he was married to Miss Ellen Elvira Little, a young lady of beautiful character and refinement who was to him an ideal wife for many years afterward. They continued to reside in Illinois until 1871. After buying the land in Fremont county he built a home there and in 1872 he moved his family there and together they made the home. They converted the raw prairie into a beautiful home, planting trees and shrubs and bushes, un-him as long as they did. His life closed gently, the strong physical nature gradually giving way and his transition was almost without the flutter of an eyelash. His devoted daughter was by him when he ceased to be. No better example of filial devotion has ever been seen in Shenandoah than that of Miss Perkins to her father. Besides the daughter three sons are left to mourn their loss, Fred here in town, Dr. Charles of Springdale, Ark., and George near Farragut, all present except Dr. Perkins.

The funeral will be held this afternoon conducted by Rev. Turner and interment will be made in Rosehill.

Library Privileges Extended.

The Library Board voted to extend the library privileges to people of the near by towns, as well as to the friends in the country. This is unusually magnanimous on the part of the Shenandoah library board. It is hoped that more of the country people and those living in towns near by will avail themselves of the privileges of having plenty of good reading matter.

The librarian wishes to call attention to the books in the last shipment, written by Selma Lagerloff the gifted Swedish authoress. She was granted the Nobel prize for literature last year, the prize amounting to $40,000. She has been a teacher most of her life and now at the age of 51 finds herself famous and well to do.

"The story of Gosta Berling" is a chronicle founded on actual occurrence on a country estate in the province of Warmland in Sweder. Nine editions of the book have already been sold in Sweden.

"Invisible Links" is a collection of short stories, while her book "The Miracle of Antichrist" treats of our home. They converted the raw prairie into a beautiful home, planting trees and shrubs and bushes, until in a few years the place was looked at as a model from all over the county. Soon after their becoming settled he organized a Sunday school with the neighbors in the Dicky school house and was made superintendent. This little Sunday school received his most careful thought and preparation and it grew until a church was a possibility and the Congregational church of Farragut was the outcome. Mr. Perkins and his wife were charter members of that church and retained their membership until their death and for 20 years he was superintendent of the Sunday school, the little school from the country being transferred to the one in town. His influence for good was very strong and today is felt just as strong. As a neighbor was all that could be asked for; one instance of this generosity was in dividing his small fruit bushes such as raspberries and blackberries, many getting their start from him, his only stipulation would be that "they clean the spade."

In 1888 he was elected state senator and served the four year term in such an exemplary way and with such splendid judgment that he was made Railroad Commissioner and after serving one term of three years was reelected to another and it was toward the last of the second term that the stroke of apoplexy came which paralyzed him. He and his wife and daughter, Miss Nell, moved to Des Moines when he was made Commissioner and they remained until he finished his second term. During the first year of his illness he was confined to his bed but grew better and was able then to always get about with the aid of editions of the book have already been sold in Sweden.

"Invisible Links" is a collection of short stories, while her book, "The Miracles of Antichrist" treats of customs, characters and traditions of Sicily.

"The Adventure of Nils," a fairy story, has fairly captivated the children of Sweden and is endorsed by their schools as equal to a text book.

The Review of Reviews for February 1910 gives a full sketch of the gifted authoress and her books.

Miss Gertrude Welch Entertains.

Last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welch, on Center street, Miss Gertrude Welch most delightfully entertained a company of about twenty four of her young friends. At eight o'clock the guests began to arrive and were received at the door by the hostess and Miss Alta Boydston. The evening was spent in various amusements, both in the house and about the spacious lawn. The wrapping of the May Pole in the colors, green and white, presented a very pleasing spectacle. During the latter part of the evening, an elegant supper consisting of four courses was served. The tables, very tastefully decorated in green and white, were arranged to accommodate parties of four, the Misses Mildred Welch and June Howard serving. The guests departed at a somewhat late hour, having passed a most enjoyable evening, all pronouncing Miss Gertrude a very delightful and efficient entertainer.

He and his wife and daughter, Miss Nell, moved to Des Moines when he was made Commissioner and they remained until he finished his second term. During the first year of his illness he was confined to his bed but grew better and was able then to always get about with the aid of some one by his side. It was in 1898 that they moved here and it was ten years ago the 20th of April that Mrs. Perkins died after a lingering illness leaving him and his daughter Nellie alone in the home and from that day to the day he died she was his constant companion and ministering angel.

During all the 14 years of his illness he was ever patient and cheerful. He loved to visit with his old friends and go over the old times. His genial nature made sunshine wherever he was and at no time did he allow his affliction to darken his life. A visit with him was an hour filled with delightful conversation and on any topic of the day or on past events he could be most entertaining. He was devoted to his family and their comfort and was always his uppermost thought. During his last year he and his daughter have been making their home with Mrs. George Trotter and it was there that his last illness overtook him. Just eight days before he died he took his bed and gradually drifted from them. He wanted to go as he felt his illness had made him a care but his friends and family rejoiced that they could have

Barn Burned at Summit.

The barn belonging to Mr. Hummell at Summit was burned on Monday morning having been struck by lightning. The fire took place before daylight and none of the family knew of it until they went out to do the chore. Three horses, four sets of harness and a lot of feed and hay was burned.

Dr. Ruby Crose, of Bute Nebraska, was in town last night and this morning visiting with friends. He was on his way to Sidney to visit relatives. Dr. Crose has recently taken a claim in South Dakota near Rapid City and he will prove up on the place in the next 14 months. Dr. Crose looks well and much stronger physically than when he left here. He has a good practice in Nebraska but wants to get hold of some land. His many friends here were glad to see him.

Chicago, the loyal ladies of that city giving the eighty-third regiment a free dinner. He returned to Knox county, Illinois, and again resumed farming until he came west, as above stated. He is the father of ten children, seven of whom are now living: Wm. H., Jasper N., Kirby L., Doctor T. W., Naro, Anna, and Clara.

MORGAN, THOMAS J., farmer, P. O. Farragut; born October 9, 1848, in Clermont county, Ohio, and remained on a farm until he reached his majority, when he emigrated to Abington, Illinois. He has been engaged in farming for about five years. In 1873 he came to Farragut, Iowa, and located on and improved a farm in section 27. This he disposed of and purchased another in section 33, which he also sold and purchased the farm in Fisher township where he now resides. Was married January 28, 1878, to Miss Saronia J. Hedges, a native of Clermont county, Ohio, and one of his old schoolmates. Mr. Morgan left his home in Ohio in 1869, a penniless youth, but by his untiring industry and strict integrity, has amassed a competence.

MCCLOY, JAMES M., farmer and auctioneer, P. O. Farragut; born January 4, 1843, in Pennsylvania, near Pittsburg, and remained there until twenty years of age, when he went to Knox county, Illinois, and located at Abingdon. There he commenced working by the month and worked four years for one person. He came to Fremont county in the spring of 1869, and went to farming for himself, and has been so engaged ever since, and has bought and improved four tracts of land. Married January 1, 1870, to Miss Emily E. Maxwell, a native of Illinois. They have four children: Mary E., Archie G., Vesper, and Clarence Millard. Mr. McCloy has an extensive reputation as an auctioneer, in southwestern Iowa and northwestern Missouri.

PERKINS, GEORGE W., farmer and stock raiser, P. O. Farragut; born October 23, 1832, in Derry, Rockingham county, New Hampshire, and remained with his parents until he became of age. He then went to Massachusetts and taught school in Peabody for two years. He emigrated from there to Illinois, locating in Keewonee, Henry county, where he entered the dry-goods and grocery house of Lytle & Terry. He remained with this firm for two years, when he embarked in business for himself, forming a partnership with C. J. T. and C. F. Lytle, under the firm name of Lytle, Perkins & Co., which partnership continued for about two years, when Mr. Perkins withdrew and again went to clerking, this time for James L. Platt, and remained with him for seven years, at the expiration of which time he engaged in farming and raising hedge plants. In this business he formed a partnership with G. N. Palmer under the firm name of Palmer & Perkins, the firm existing four years. On the 1st of May, 1871, Mr. Perkins emigrated to Fremont county, Iowa, locating where he now resides. He now owns one section of land, which is finely improved. He is also a large stockfeeder, and raises a great amount of corn for that purpose. Was married July 13, 1857, to Miss Ellen E. Lytle, a native of Wethersfield, Henry county, Illinois. He is the father of four children: Fred., Charles F., George W. and Mary E. Mr. Perkins has been a member of the board of supervisors one term.

ROBBINS, WILLARD, physician and surgeon, P. O. Farragut; born December 21, 1837, in Breckinbridge county, Kentucky. When sixteen years of age he emigrated to Union county, Maine, remaining four years. He then returned to Kentucky and began to read medicine with Dr. D. A. De Farres. He soon after left the state and became a resident of Evansville, Indiana, and shortly after of Columbus, Ohio. After a term in the medical college of Columbus, he returned to Indiana and began the practice of medicine, remaining seven years, when he came to Fremont county. He is a member of Friendship lodge. A. F. and A. M. He was married February 5, 1859, to Miss Mary A. De Farres, a native of Indiana, by whom he has one child: Charles D.

ROGERS, HARRISON, merchant, P. O. Farragut; born February 17, 1841, in Duchess county, New York, and remained there until about twenty years of age, when he removed to Keewonee, Illinois, and engaged in the hardware business, remaining there some four or five years, when he emigrated to Carver, Minnesota, and resided there about two years, when he returned to Keewonee, Illinois, and remained there about two years. He then emigrated to Iowa, locating in Fremont county, in the spring of 1870, and engaged in farming. Mr. Rogers was for a time connected with the bank of Farragut as Cashier. He engaged in his present business in 1878. Was married in November, 1877, to Miss Eliza C. Cory, a native of Illinois. They have two children: James W. and William.

RUSSELL, FRANKLIN, farmer and stock-raiser, section 30, P. O. Farragut; born in Michigan February 22, 1840, and moved with his parents when quite young to Ohio, where he grew to manhood and was educated in the common schools. Moved to Illinois when seventeen years of age, and located in Fulton county. Came to Iowa in 1870, and located in Riverton township. Came to his present farm in 1874. He enlisted in the Federal army in company A, Eighty-ninth Illinois infantry, August 13, 1862. Was in the battles of Stone River and Chickamauga. Was captured at Stone River and remained a prisoner twenty-one days.

when George Carson was elected to the district bench and the firm became Smith and Harl. Two years later Spencer Smith was elected a member of the state railroad commission and retired from the firm. Shortly thereafter the firm became Burke, Harl and Tinley, with the late Finley Burke and Emmet Tinley as associates with Mr. Harl. At the time of his death Mr. Harl was the senior member of the firm of Harl and Tinley. Mr. Harl served from 1882 to 1887 as secretary of the board of education of Council Bluffs. He was a candidate for Congress before the Republican convention of the 9th Iowa district which named Judge J. R. Reed. He served as first vice-president of the league of Republican clubs of Iowa in the presidential campaign of 1888. He was an active and influential member of the Iowa State Bar Association, and its president in 1909. He was one of the trustees of the Broadway Methodist Church of Council Bluffs.

WILLIAM INSCO BUCHANAN was born in Covington, Ohio, September 10, 1853; he died in London, England, October 17, 1909. He was educated in the common schools of his native State and was engraving clerk of the Indiana House of Representatives in 1874-75. He removed to Sioux City, Iowa, in 1882, and was an organizer and manager of the Corn Palace Exposition at that place; a member of the Iowa Commission of the World's Columbian Exposition; was appointed chief of the Department of Agriculture in 1890 and of the live stock and forestry department of the World's Fair in 1891. He was Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Argentine Republic from 1894-1900. He also served as arbitrator on the special commission to fix the boundary between the Chilean and Argentine governments. As such he established the line between latitudes 23° and 26°, 52' 45" north. He was United States delegate to the second Pan-American conference in Mexico in 1902, and was at the head of the United States delegation at the third conference. He was the first United States minister to the republic of Panama. He served as high commissioner on the part of the United States to settle disputes between the United States and Venezuela, and at the time of his death was serving as an agent of the United States for the future arbitration at The Hague of one of the pending Venezuelan questions. Mr. Buchanan was a Democrat and received his appointment as minister to the Argentine Republic from President Cleveland, but maintained his position and won promotions through succeeding Republican administrations. His residence at the time of his death was Buffalo, N. Y.

GEORGE WILLARD PERKINS was born in Derry, N. H., October 23, 1832; he died at Shenandoah, Iowa, May 1, 1910. He attended the common schools of his native State, removing in 1855 to Weathersfield, Ill., and in 1871 to Fremont county, Iowa, where he acquired land and established his home. He was elected to the state senate in 1890, rendering distinguished service during a four-year term. He was a member of the committees on ways and means and on agriculture. He was appointed railroad commissioner in 1892, and after three years was elected to the same position. During his active service he suffered a stroke of apoplexy from which he never recovered.
