W. C. SMITH DEAD

Senator W. C. Smith died on the Great Western train Wednesday evening. The train left Fort Dodge about 8:30. Mr. Smith died without warning or struggle. He had been attending a Grain Growers meeting in Fort Dodge, going over on the morning train. He ate a hearty supper and was in excellent health up to the moment of his death. He was a guest at the R. M. Crawford home in Fort Dodge. At the time of his death he was visiting with the division engineer of the Great Western. The train was stopped and backed to Fort Dodge and the body taken off. The conductor at once wired Mrs. Smith. The remains will be brought to Eagle Grove this Thursday noon. Mr. Smith was a pioneer in Wright county. He was a former state senator, banker, grain buyer and farmer. He was living in retirement at his home on East Broadway. He is survived by his wife and one son, Russell Smith, and one brother, J. R. Smith, of this city, who is at present in Mississippi. The funeral will probably be held in the Methodist church on Saturday.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of Mr. Smith's death, J. W. Porter and Frank Fisher went to Fort Dodge and took charge of the remains.

W. C. SMITH BURIED SUNDAY

General Turnout from All Over This Part of State to Honor Well Known Citizen.

The funeral of the late W. C. Smith was held at the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The church was filled with friends and acquaintances of Mr. Smith and of the Smith family. The prominence of Mr. Smith made his passing of unusual interest and marks the end of another pioneer who held a firm and abiding faith in Iowa and its future.

As stated in the Eagle last week, Mr. Smith was stricken with heart failure on the Great Western train last Wednesday evening while en route home from Fort Dodge, and died almost instantly. The train was backed to the depot and the body taken off and the conductor sent a telegram to Mrs. Smith. Jno. Porter and Frank Fisher went at once to Fort Dodge and looked after the remains which were brought to Eagle Grove Thursday.

We are indebted to Rev. Muhleman for the following very complete and accurate account of Mr. Smith's life:

Harrison of Mississippi, who makes up in partisanship everything he may lack in statesmanship, took up the time of the United States senate the other day with a speech protesting against the proposed employment of Postmaster General Hays by the motion picture industry, declaring that for the movie organization to employ a prominent Republican as its chief would cause it to be "looked upon with suspicion." How do you suppose it happened that the sensitive nature of the junior senator from Mississippi failed to express itself in a similar shriek when President Wilson's son-in-law and Secretary of the Treasury resigned his office to take a similar position with the movie picture industry?

Des Moines Register: In view of the scrappy times ahead of him, it is perhaps just as well that Sheriff Robb resigned his pastorate. It might be a bit difficult to fight enemies six days in the week and preach a soul-winning sermon on Sunday.

National Republican: Any politician who can gag at the Newberry case and keep his mouth shut about election and franchise conditions in the political rotten boroughs of the South would hold his nose over a lilac and sniff ecstatically above a mound of Limberger cheese.

New York World: The passion for bureaucracy and government regulation which began under Roosevelt has now lost all sense of restraint. Outside of bolshevist Russia the American people are the most government-ridden people in the world, and every session of congress, every session of a state legislature, marks an extension of the system.

Cherokee Times: County agents in Iowa report that not more than 300,000 bushels of corn has been burned in Iowa as a result of the "burn it" campaign. The reason for this is that Iowa farmers have more than 300,000 bushels of brains in their visible supply.

Rolle Arrow: Remember: this acre of land in the corn belt is worth just as much today as it ever was. The real value is in it now that ever was there. Some of the fictitious value may have been removed, but the real value remains.

Doux City Journal: Secretary Wilson did not tell anything new when he informed Chairman Fordney, of the house ways and means committee, that a cash bonus to former soldiers would increase the burden of taxation. Now Mr. Fordney and other members of the committee to meet the situation as best they can.

served as president of the State Bank of Eagle Grove from July 1, 1890, till in 1904, covering a period of almost fifteen years. He was in charge of one of the Eagle Grove elevators for about the same period of time. He left the farm in 1893 and moved to Eagle Grove, where he has since made his home.

RELIGIOUS LIFE—Mr. Smith was baptized May 21, 1843, and was for years a member of the United Presbyterian church in South Court-right, N. Y. He united with the Methodist church of Eagle Grove in 1911 and served on the official board of this church for years, resigning only within the past year on account of failing health. He was seldom ever absent from the church services, often attending both morning and evening. As late as last Sunday morning he received the Holy Communion at the altar, where his body reposed in death. He was also a member of the Men's Bible class and never failed to take part in the discussion of the lesson. His presence will be greatly missed in the church where his council was for so many years always sought.

AS A HUSBAND AND FATHER—

He was remarkably kind. In the 31 years of his married life he never spoke an unkind word to his wife nor did he rule his children unkindly. Because of his kindly manners and the fact that he was successful in business and well read in public affairs, he was often consulted by young men who were starting in life. No one ever sought his council without receiving the best that he had to give them out of his experience and a heart filled with interest in their welfare.

THE LAST YEAR showed signs of failing health. His friends have noticed his feeble step. His eyesight has failed him so that he has not been able to recognize people on the street. This caused him some anxiety lest his friends and fellow townsmen should think that he was losing interest in them. But nobody ever spoke to him without receiving a cheerful greeting in reply. Although death always comes with a shock, his wife and son had been informed by the doctor that the end might come suddenly.

HIS DEATH came without warning on the evening of January 25th, when he was on the Chicago and Great Western train returning from Fort Dodge, where he had gone that morning to attend the Farmers Convention, and also to look after some business matters. He had reached the age of 79 years, 1 month and 3 days.

HE LEAVES to mourn his loss.

meeting of his creditors was held in the office of Referee Crowell in A gona on January 24. It is understood that Mr. Greene's debts amount to between $20,000 and $30,000 with little or no assets.

Postmistress at Wesley

Britt News-Tribune: We always supposed Scoop Sturdivant "wore the pants" in his house, but now comes Congressman Dickson and credits Mrs. Sturdivant, with being the boss (political and otherwise) and appoints her as postmistress at Wesley. Well, we are mighty glad anyhow, and hope she kicks W. out of bed at 5:30 every morning and make him get breakfast for her, she can get to work. That's what she has been doing with her since she left the farm in North Dakota and entered the printer's life. Another thing, Scoop will have to be good to his wife because she will have a good day coming now and then. "money makes the mare go" Sturdivant and family ought to travel some now.

Legion Memorial Building

Humboldt Independent: At a meeting to the American Legion Humboldt held last evening it was decided to go ahead with the plan for building the Legion Memorial building as was contemplated some time ago. They expect to begin operations as soon as is indicated by the fact that those who own buildings now on the ground have been notified to remove them in thirty days. Plans already drawn and under consideration sometime will be followed and it is expected that the contract will be in about thirty days. The building committee is composed of F. Goodrich, L. Winne and T. G. Winne. It is expected to use principally side money for the present in order not to embarrass stock subscribers.

California and Earthquakes— and Winter Weather.

Humboldt Republican: Iowa is cold, all right, but with a fair amount of clothing and a fair warm house, it is no hardship to live in Iowa—unless you are an inveterate Californian. California is the land of old people and cripples, and those who live by their wits. This is not a slam at California, for there are those who live by their wits in every country. It is a fact that people of vigorous years are better off in Iowa. California is the place to spend your declining years, and it is the place for those who can not stand the vigorous Iowa winters. But it is no place for a husky young fellow who is looking for a competence for his people of Iowa, who elected him to represent them in the Iowa senate.

The body of which he was first a member opened its session January 13, 1890. He served the people of the state in the capacity of senator for four years. *Some of those with whom he was associated in those days were Gov. Boise, Senator Co.
Gatch, who with Mr. Smith, championed the cause of temperance.
The most important measure which was passed during his term of office was the Mule Law.

CIVIC CAREER—In addition to his civil service as a senator, he served as president of the State Bank of Eagle Grove from July 1, 1890, till in 1904, covering a period
of almost fifteen years. He was in

May Lose Boys' Band

Algona has been very proud of the boys' band under the directions of Prof. J. F. Ganzow and their weekly concerts were much enjoyed during the past summer. Prof. Ganzow now states that the band may be dissolved and that he expects to resign. He says the reason is poor support on the part of parents of the members as well as the public. Some of the members have been careless regarding rehearsals, claiming their school work as the reason.

Sad Days for the Hog Man

William E. Greene, the pure bred hog man, who recently sold his hog ranch of something like a hundred acres just northeast of the Algona city limits for $555 per acre, has gone into bankruptcy and the first meeting of his creditors was held at the office of Referee Crowell in Al-

in question. Mr. Rowen served four years as state Senator from the Wright, Hamilton and Hardin county district, during which time in one session of the Legislature he succeeded in getting nine bills enacted into laws, being surpassed in number by only one senator. He has also served fourteen years as United States consul—ten years at the Falkland Islands and nearly four years at Punta Arenas, Chile. As consul, Mr. Rowen attained eminent success, giving perfect satisfaction to the people among whom he labored, as well as to the government which he served.

When Mr. Rowen finally gave up his position at Punta Arenas on account of old age, and that he might spend his declining years in quiet and retirement, he received a letter from the state department expressing the fullest satisfaction with his entire work and greatly regretting that he felt compelled to give up the position. Everyone who was acquainted with John E. Rowen knew of his great liberality, his unbounded hospitality and his readiness to help the needy and distressed. His home was always open to anyone in want and many are those who have been fed and cheered on their way in his hospitable home. He bore in mind the saying of Jesus, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto Me."

HON. WILLIAM C. SMITH.

The history of this county would not be complete without a record of the life and work of the Hon. William C. Smith. His ability as an agricultural expert has added to the material wealth of the locality and his generous benefactions have been a power for good. In private citizenship, it is comparatively easy to live upright and honorable, but the real test comes when a man is placed in such a position that by making concession to principle he will gain in power or in financial resources. When Mr. Smith became a state senator he stood this test. Elected by the people, he served the people, remaining true to the same principles that had actuated his conduct as a private citizen. William C. Smith, banker, and retired farmer of Eagle Grove, was born in Roxbury, Delaware county, New York, on December 22, 1842, his parents being Robert and Jeannette (Lyle) Smith, both of Forres, Scotland. Mr. Smith's grandfather was Alexander Smith, whose wife was a Miss Calum, and their entire lives were devoted to farming in their native country, Scotland. Their children were John, James, Robert, Christiana and Jesse. Robert Smith, a Scotch farmer also, was born in 1796, and after his marriage came to America, in 1836, traveling in a sailing vessel called the "Crookston Castle," it requiring six weeks to complete the then hazardous journey. Attracted by the scenery and rich soil of Roxbury, New York, he and his good wife located there, where he continued farming until his death, in 1867. His wife died in 1884. W. C. Smith is the fifth of a family of eight children, the others being Alexander, David L. (deceased), Mary, John R., Robert S., Thomas and Jenette. W. C. Smith and his brother, John R., are the only members of the family living in this county. Alexander lives in Jasper county, this state, and is eighty-five years old.

W. C. Smith was educated in the Roxbury Academy and the Delphi Academy, where he was a classmate of Jay Gould, the famous railroad magnate, and of John Burroughs, the New England naturalist and author, and also of Margaret Walker, who afterwards became the wife of George Westinghouse, the great inventor and manufacturer. In spite of his academic training, Mr. Smith retained his love for the freedom and independence of country life, and at the close of his school days he returned to the cultivation of the soil near Roxbury. In 1869, surrendering to the adventurous spirit which attracted so many to the West, he rented a farm north of Des Moines, Iowa, and lived there for a short time, when he tried making his home in Jasper county. This he soon gave up to become a cattle herder in Wright county, Iowa, his work taking him from one end of the county to the other as well as to the larger portion of northwestern Iowa. For twenty years he bought and sold cattle and herded cattle on the land which Eagle Grove now occupies. In this connection it is interesting to note that the man who is the owner of five thousand six hundred and forty acres of land, received during the first session of his work in Iowa the munificent salary of twenty dollars a month. Having to begin with little more of this world's goods than brawn and brain, he was content to convert this into wealth by his own hard work.

As soon as Mr. Smith was able he began to acquire land, which, while inexpensive then, later become valuable. In 1880 he bought three hundred and twenty acres of farm land in this county at six dollars and twenty-five cents per acre, which now is worth two hundred dollars, and immediately converted wild prairie into fields yielding rich harvest. It was not long before, by reason of his extensive improvements and his success in agriculture and stock raising, Mr. Smith's farm was considered one of the finest in the county. He later added two hundred acres to his holdings and began to acquire property in other states. He now has three hundred and twenty acres in the state of Minnesota, sixteen hundred acres in North Dakota, and three thousand two hundred acres in Canada. So successful had Mr. Smith become that by 1892 he was able to retire, and he then moved to Eagle Grove, where he soon became prominent in its financial enterprises. For fourteen years he was president of the State Bank of Eagle Grove. In 1902 he sold this interest in the bank and gave his entire time to land speculation.

It was while he was state senator that Mr. Smith endeared himself to his constituents, and justified by his conduct in office their faith in him. It was here that he showed those traits of character which proved him to be truly loyal to the best interests of the common people. He sought always to encourage by his vote, and otherwise, those measures which stood for the good of the people, as distinguished from the good of what is now known as "the interests." In no way can a man better show his patriotism than in this.

The marriage of W. S. Smith and Dora Fisher was solemnized on December 24, 1890. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Albert and Catherine (Crowne) Fisher, formerly of Eagle Grove. Mr. Fisher is living now in Montana, his wife having passed away. Mrs. Smith is a sister of Lon Fisher, a prominent citizen of Eagle Grove, whose biography is presented elsewhere in this volume. Mr. Fisher is manager of the Farmers Elevator Company, and is also manager of three other elevators in this county. He is well and favorably known in local business circles. The home life of Mr. and Mrs. Smith has been ideal, and the latter has been a wife well fitted for the public career of her husband. They have been the parents of three children, William, Leslie and Russell. The eldest son, William, died when sixteen years old; Leslie died in infancy; Russell is the only one living, and is attending Ames College.

Notwithstanding his very active career, Mr. Smith has never neglected his religious life, and for many years, both he and his estimable wife have been helpful in their church membership. The former is a trustee and the latter is a steward of the Methodist Episcopal church, and to its work they have made frequent and large contributions. Mr. Smith has always been affiliated with the Republican party, to which he has given both financial and moral support.

Mr. Smith is one of the citizens of Eagle Grove who can always be depended upon to give time, energy and means for the betterment of the financial and moral conditions of the county, and thus is he loyal in the truest sense of that term. As a man he has the courage of his convictions, and broad-minded and tolerant in his views. His wholesome private life, as well as his honest administration of his public duties, is a fine example of what can be done by the American boy possessing common sense, ambition, intellectual capacity, and a heart beating with humanitarian impulses.

Mr. Smith is related to the late Donald Day Smith (Lord Strathcona), who was one of the most prominent men of Canada, was high commissioner and one of the wealthiest men of Canada.

EDWIN BALLOU.

It is well to hold in grateful remembrance those sturdy ones of other years who sowed and planted and builded for future generations, for upon their work and sacrifice has modern civilization grown. One of this goodly company who helped convert the waste places of this country into beauty and usefulness is Edwin Ballou, a man of great force of character and far-sighted patriotism. Edwin Ballou was born on February 10, 1832, in Portage county, Ohio. He is the son of Barnabas and Rachel (Bowen) Ballou.

The parents of Mr. Ballou were natives of New Hampshire, having moved from there to Ohio. The Ballous, who are of French descent, belong to a very old and famous family in the United States. President Garfield's mother was a Ballou, and a direct descendant of Edwin Ballou's ancestry. Barnabas Ballou, who was a farmer, was the father of eight children, namely: Nathan, Silas, Mrs. Lavina Clark, William, Nathaniel, Mrs. Sarah Tibbits; Edwin, the subject of this sketch; and Andrew, who died while in the army.

At the time of his childhood Edwin Ballou was able to acquire only a meager education in the common schools. From his seventh until his twenty-first year he lived with his family in McComb county, Michigan, but his father died when the lad was only thirteen years of age. From that time until he reached his majority he worked in the lumber woods in Michigan. In 1853 he migrated to Cedar county, Iowa, traveling as far as Chicago by rail, and from there he drove to Iowa with his brother, Silas. He had made a previous trip to Chicago before any railroad was there. After spending two years in Cedar county he settled in Wright county, to which
