Ira L. Welch In Memoriam

IRA L. WELCH was born in Cortland county, New York, December 18, 1828. While he was still of tender years the family moved to Ohio. At Seville in Medina county that state and at Oberlin college he received his general education. Failing health for a time interrupted his pursuit of a liberal education. As strength was restored he began the study of medicine subsequently pursuing courses at Charity Hospital Medical College and Wooster University in Cleveland, of which latter institution he was a graduate. Miss Susan E. Dix became his wife on the 19 of April, 1854, and still survives him. Three children blessed the union, a son, George W., now living in Des Moines, and two daughters, Frankie M., wife of Fred H. Taft, of Santa Monica, California, and S. Charlena, all well known in Humboldt county and all now at the parental home. The doctor's brother George Welch, also well known in this community, and for many years in the past our county surveyor, is now at the home and was with his brother during the last weeks of his illness. His brother David, of Washington, D. C., was also here for a time some weeks ago. In 1868 Dr. Welch came to Humboldt county and soon became widely known and sought in the practice of his profession. In the early days his professional ride took him through the counties of Wright, Kossuth and Pocahontas, hardly less than Humboldt, and many were the arduous pilgrimages of mercy and beneficence to which he cheerfully responded in the spirit so vividly depicted by Ian McLaren in his admirable character, Dr. William McClure, of whom it is a matter of common remark that Dr. Welch was a faithful prototype. In the line of his profession he ever kept abreast of progress and his success was recognized by constantly increasing demand for his services. He was a member of the Fort Dodge Medical Society and had served as its president, a member of the Iowa State Medical Society and of the American Medical Association, and he attended the meetings of these professional associations whenever consistent with his other duties. The loyalty, faith in and affectionate attachment for him on the part of those whose family physician he has been, however, speak more potently for his professional service than ought that can be said or written. Since the early pioneer days Dr. Welch has been prominent, not only in the practice of his profession, but in all the political, educational, moral and social work of the community. He has been a potent influence and force in all directions looking to the upbuilding of the educational, religious and other public institutions of Humboldt county, and in moulding its progress, character and attainments. In politics he has been continuously allied with the Republican party at whose behests he has often been called upon to fill offices of trust, honor and responsibility. From 1874 to 1878 he was county treasurer; he was a member of the twenty first general assembly from the district of Humboldt and Wright. At the time of his death he was president of the Humboldt school board of which he had been a devoted member since 1890. In the building of our public school edifice in which we so justly take pride he gave unstintingly of his time and personal service as, in the early days, he did to the building, establishment and maintenance of Humboldt College. He was also one of the incorporators of the Peoples Bank, for many years one of its directors, and the past year its Vice President. He was a Royal Arch Mason with membership in Delta Chapter No. 51 of Fort Dodge and Cavalry Commandery No. 24, for many years Worshipful Master of the Eastern Star Lodge No. 195 in Humboldt, also a member and had been Worthy Patron of O. E. S. Chapter No. 147. He was liberal in his religious views and although not distinctively a churchman in the common acceptance of that term, he was a charter member of Unity church and a liberal contributor to the building and support of this and other churches of the county. He believed that one's religion is manifested in his life, and certainly in few lives is a higher or better practical religion manifested than in his. He lived always consistently and persistently a religion of broad, charitable, benevolent, humanitarian principles; service rendering and character building; a champion of truth, right and justice; an enemy of wrong and oppression in all forms; full of public spirit and an ardent love of humanity. Some three years ago Dr. Welch suffered much from a diseased bone in the left leg which, in March, 1900, necessitated the amputation of that member. He recovered a good degree of health which he enjoyed for upward of two years thereafter, but sooner or later came the night in which no man can work and so on Sunday, the 25 of January, 1903, at eventide, after some three months illness, came the last hour of this grandly noble life which will be so widely and deeply missed; so fondly and devotedly cherished. The burial was from Unity church Tuesday afternoon with the rites of the Masonic order, Rev. Hodgkin in charge of the accompanying services assisted by the other clergymen of the town. No funeral within our memory has been so largely attended by people and staff at the State Historical Society of Iowa Library, Des Moines, Iowa. Ira Welch was in town for a short time this week.

RURAL MAIL ROUTE. Humboldt is to have a mail route. The news will doubtless overwhelm our readers, but such word has been received at the Humboldt postoffice, and the REPUBLICAN feels like congratulating everything on this end of Uncle Sam's postal line. The new route is to be in operation the first of March. It will start from the Humboldt postoffice, run out past the College, west from the Spayde milk farm, continue west over the river, and turn south at the Cobb farm, travel the winding road past Chamberlains and on to the John Stanton place, and then run west directly to Unique. From Unique the road will double back a mile, then go a mile north and pass around section six, then south to section twenty, Corinth, east one mile, south one mile, east two miles, north three miles, and then east to Humboldt. This route will take in considerable of the run now covered by the Gilmore route and will restore to Humboldt what our neighbors on the west secured while we were asleep. Readers of the REPUBLICAN will doubtless remember that we stated at the time of the location of the Gilmore route, that it was a mistake and could not stand for any great length of time. At the same time the Gilmore people made ridiculous claims, declaring that the people on the route wanted their mail to come from Gilmore. Now that the truth is known and the route changed as it should be, we hope the Gilmoreites will accept the matter as Humboldt accepted it, and abide by the result. The new route covers just about twenty-five miles, and according to government statement will start March 2. It will prove a great benefit to its patrons, and will give the delivery of all Des Moines morning papers the day they are printed. It will also give to its patrons the very best mail facilities obtainable from Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and the south. Chicago evening papers will reach the rural patrons the morning after they are printed, and a letter mailed, in Chicago one evening at six o'clock will reach the patrons of the rural route the next day.

COLLEGE NOTES. "All is well on the Potomac." The class in Second Physics is finishing the book. Next term they will take up the study of Chemistry. The fourth term begins February 3. The Minneapolis Business Room has been "Straight on Cash" for nearly two weeks. Three banks are running in the business rooms now. A class in "History of Education" will be organized next term. The members of the Academic, Scientific, and Teachers' Courses are busy these days preparing their term orations. Our car load of coal came just in time to prevent the "famine." The Gen Literary Society will give a program in College Chapel next Friday evening. The Mock Trial was held in the College Chapel last Friday evening. Mr. S. A. Nelson appeared for the plaintiff, Miss Iaham, and O. P. Jorda appeared for the defendant. Mr. Hirt and Judge Claude Coyle presided. The case was conducted in a highly commendable manner, and the two attorneys showed great ability and considerable tact in conducting the case. The jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff. The Misses Belcher and Thomas visited at the College last Tuesday afternoon. We acknowledge a pleasant visit from Messrs. Adams and Strachn of Weaver. Mr. Strachn expects to enter his son in the business department of the University of Iowa.

the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, of which he has a vivid recollection. He was a delegate to the state convention that first nominated William Larrabee for governor. In 1885 he was elected mayor of Dayton and served one year. He is a member of the Masonic order, but of no other secret society. Though Mr. Waterbury is not a member of any church and his religious views are in harmony with the Unitarians, he is one of the trustees of the Grace M. E. church in Dayton and assisted in its erection. Mr.

Waterbury was married in 1886 to E. Frances LeValley of Knox county, Illinois. Mrs. Waterbury died in the spring of 1895, leaving two girls, now six and eight years of age. Mr. Waterbury's parents were John Waterbury, Jr., and Electa Mallory Waterbury. The father was a farmer and stock raiser in comfortable circumstances near Polo, Illinois. He was the oldest of six sons of John Waterbury, coming with them from Delaware county, New York, in 1836. He served in the War of the Rebellion in the Seventh Illinois Cavalry as battalion commissary sergeant and musician. He was a staunch abolitionist and republican, who died in 1871. His wife was a native of Sullivan county, New York, and was born in 1830. She was married to John Waterbury, Jr., in 1849, and is now married a second time to Arah Leonard. Daniel Waterbury, a great-grandfather of Charles D. Waterbury, served in the Revolutionary War, and the great-grandfather of Daniel Waterbury came to America from Wales, settling in Stamford, Connecticut, in 1646.

WELCH, IRA L., M. D. the oldest medical practitioner in Humboldt county, was born in Cortland county, New York, on December 18, 1828. His father, Cornelius Welch, was a German of more than ordinary ability. It is said that his opinions and advice were given with an earnest sincerity and conscientious judgment rarely, if ever, wrong. He identified himself with the whig party. He was a great admirer of Henry Clay, but had much sympathy for the Free Soil movement, and at the organization of the republican party he espoused its cause and worked for its success until his death. Dr. Welch was one of a family of twelve children, eight of whom attained adult age. Three of the sons enlisted as volunteers in the late war; one of these, the youngest son in the family, was mortally wounded at Gettysburg. Another son is now a citizen of Baraboo, Wisconsin, and has represented his district in both houses of the legislature. Another son died suddenly from heart disease, contracted in the army, soon after the war closed.

Dr. Welch came with his father's family from Cortland county, New York, to Cleveland, Ohio, when about three years of age. He was educated in Seville Academy at Seville, Ohio, and at Oberlin College, in the same state. He entered upon his duties at these institutions of learning with a zealous hope of obtaining a liberal education, but after two years of immoderate application, he was obliged to abandon his plans on account of failing health. With returning health he began the study of medicine and later took a course of lectures in Charity Hospital Medical College at Cleveland, Ohio. He subsequently took a course of lectures in the University of Wooster, and in 1879 graduated from that institution. He has been in constant practice since 1867. He was married to Miss Susan E. Dix on April 19, 1854, in Seville, Ohio. They have three children: Frank M., George W. and Sarah Charlena, wife of Fred H. Taft of California, all now living. The doctor is not actively identified with any church, but his sympathies are largely with liberal Christianity. He is a member and ex-president of the Fort Dodge Medical Society, member and ex-president of the Boone Valley Medical Society, member of the Iowa State Medical Society and the American Medical Association. He gives as much of his time to the meetings of these societies as his professional duties will permit. He was for several years Worshipful Master of the Masonic lodge at Humboldt, and also a member of Delta Chapter No. 51, Royal Arch Masons, at Fort Dodge and of Cavalry Commandery, No. 24, as well. His interests have been identified with Humboldt county since 1868. He served as county treasurer for four years following January 1, 1874, and was a member of the house of representatives representing the district then composed of Humboldt and Wright counties in the Twenty-first General Assembly. In politics he is a republican who firmly adheres to the doctrine of protection, reciprocity and sound money, yet considerate and reasonable in his attitude toward those holding different views.

By close attention to business and the conscientious discharge of his duties as a physician, the doctor has earned a professional reputation that is not confined to Humboldt county. His time, energies and best thought have always been devoted to his practice and the interests of his patients. He is noted for his generosity, and it is said his practice would be much more remunerative if his collections were made in accordance with strict business principles, but to force an account seems to be entirely without the good doctor's province.

On account of a painful and progressive disease of the bones of the leg below the knee he has been laid up and totally disabled since about the middle of November, 1899. During the latter part of the winter the knee joint became involved to the extent of confining him to the bed much of the time and rendering surgical interference necessary. As a last resort he suffered the amputation of his left leg about six inches above the knee on March 26, 1900, since which time his general health has improved so that at the present time, May 21, 1900, his condition gives fair promise of complete recovery to health.

ZINK, TOWNSEND MURPHY, is a prominent lawyer of Le Mars. He is a son of James Zink and Clarissa Murphy Zink. Mr. Zink was born December 28, 1858, near Clear Creek, Highland county, Ohio. He had the usual education of that pioneer period and location until 1867, when at the age of nine he removed with his parents to a farm seven miles southeast of Newton, Jasper county. Here he passed his boyhood and young manhood, acquiring a good general education and beginning the study of law at home from books prescribed in the course at the State University. He entered the law department of the University of Iowa City, in 1882, graduating June 19, 1883. He at once located at Le Mars, August 7 following and began the practice of his profession. Always a close student, applying himself constantly and consuming very little time in amusement or recreation, he was Humboldt High School, will take up a course in civil engineering at Ames College.

IRA L. WELCH, M. D.,

The oldest practitioner of medicine in Humboldt county, was born December 18, 1828, in Cortland County, N. Y. His parents, Cornelius and Sally (Lucas) Welch, were prosperous farmers. His father was a Whig, and an ardent admirer of Henry Clay. In 1831 the family moved to Ohio, settling first in Cleveland, later in Wayne county, and finally in Medina county. Here the mother died in 1864 and the father in 1876.

The subject of this sketch was the second son in a family of twelve children, eight of whom reached adult age, and four now survive, one sister and three brothers. Three of the brothers took part in the civil war, one of whom was mortally wounded in the battle of Gettysburg. Dr. Welch was educated at Seville (Ohio) Academy, and at Oberlin College. He started upon a regular course of study at the last named institution, but was obliged to abandon it after two years, on account of ill health. Later he began the study of medicine. He took a course of lectures at Charity Medical hospital, and after a number of years' practice, entered the medical department of Wooster university, at Cleveland, Ohio, and was graduated in 1879. From that time he was in constant practice until 1899, when he was confined to his bed by disease of the bone of the left leg, and in March, 1900 underwent the amputation of that member. He recovered and is now in good health. He is not a member of any church, his religious views tending toward liberal Christianity. He is a member of the Eastern Star Lodge No. 195 A. F. and A. M., Humboldt, Iowa; Delta Chapter No. 51, Ft. Dodge, Iowa; Cavalry Commandery No. 24 Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and of O. E. S. Humboldt Chapter No. 147.

In politics he is, and always has been a Republican. He was treasurer of Humboldt County from 1874 to 1878, and is now serving his eleventh year as member of the Humboldt school board. He was a member of the Twenty-First General Assembly of Iowa, sent from Wright and Humboldt counties.

April 19, 1854, he married Miss Susan E. Dix, at Seville, Ohio. They have three children all of whom are living, Frances M., now Mrs. Fred H. Taft, Santa Monica, Cal.; George W., mail clerk on the C. & N. W. railroad; and Sarah C., who is unmarried and resides with her parents.

Dr. Welch came to Humboldt in 1868. He has at all times striven to keep abreast of the times in his profession, and is a successful physician. By a close and conscientious attention to the wants of his patients he has secured a reputation and practice of which he may justly feel proud. He is very comfortably situated in Humboldt and has the respect and esteem of all who know him.

WILLIAM B. WEST,

The recorder of Humboldt county, was born May 1, 1871, in Dakota City, Iowa. His father, Arthur B. West was born March 24, 1839, in New York. In 1861 he enlisted in the Thirteenth Illinois Infantry. He was wounded in a battle near Chattanooga, Tenn., and at the siege of Vicksburg escaped death in a peculiar manner. He had raised his haversack till it covered the back of his neck, when it was struck by a bullet, but not penetrated. In 1865 he moved to Dakota City and October 24 of that year he married Ella A. Benton of New York. Two children were born to them, Edgar, who died in infancy, and William. Mr. West was at one time sheriff of Humboldt county, elected by the Republican party. He took a prominent part in the town affairs of Dakota City and was highly respected. He died February 20, 1891.

The subject of this sketch received his early education in the public schools of Humboldt. At the age of eighteen he began the study of telegraphy. Later he was operator and agent for the M. & St. L. R. R. at Humboldt, holding the position for five years. In politics he is a Republican and in
