PELLA'S NEW RAILROAD.

The Business Men's Association Awake to the Interests of Pella. A Committee Appointed to Investigate the Railroad and the Sugar Beet Industry.

On last Monday evening the Business Men's Mutual Benefit Association met at the city hall for the purpose of taking steps toward advancing the interests of Pella and vicinity. The question of the new railroad was brought up and favorably discussed after which a committee was appointed to investigate and confer with the Iowa Central railroad company in regard to building their road through Pella. The committee consists of S. G. Van der Zyl, P. G. Gauss and Wm. Vanderlinden. The Sugar Beet Industry was taken up and will be pushed as hard as possible this year, with the possibility of getting a factory in Pella in the future. Every farmer in this community should plant sugar beets this spring, as it will be one of the grandest moves ever originated in this community. Take some beet seeds home, plant them and have them amine next fall and if they prove up to the standard there will be no trouble of putting in a factory in Pella and it will bring the farmer five times the money that raising stock or planting corn will do. This question should be a live one and especially to our farmers. Let all take hold of this matter at once and reap the benefit in the end.

Democratic Caucus.

A democratic caucus will be held at the city hall on Friday evening, March 18th, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the 1st, 3rd and 4th wards, as aldermen for the ensuing term. The 2d ward will hold their caucus in the office of N. Sterrenberg on East Franklin street on the same evening. All democrats are requested to attend.

Hendershot of Knoxville. No citizen of this community is more admiring and staunchly loyal than the deceased. He leaves a loving wife and two daughters and multitudes of warm friends upon whom his death has cast a veil of sorrow and sadness. He had just started on his career as representative and had a bright outlook ahead, but was called to part with those he loved and admired before he had completed his work. He always had kind word for all and his work among us has borne great fruits. By their fruits ye shall know them, and the name of H. M. McCully will ever remain fresh in the memory of all who knew him. The bereaved and grief stricken family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in this their darkest hour. The funeral services took place from the residence Thursday morning conducted under the auspices of the A. T. and A. M. lodge of this city of which he was a member after which the remains were followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends to Knoxville where the last sad rites were performed and the remains were laid to their last rest. Peace be to their ashes although his remains are deposited in that from which they came his spirit still remains among us.

BIG BUSSEY DEAL.

The Business of E. L. Bussey & Brothers Changes Hands.

On yesterday negotiations, which have been pending for several weeks, were consummated, whereby the business of E. L. Bussey & Bro., passed into the hands of J. W. D. Scholte and A. G. Maasdam, of Pella. It was purchased for cash, invoicing will begin the 15th, inst., and the new firm will be open for business by the 20th.

Mr. Scholte is the well-known former crockery and queensware merchant of Pella. Maasdam was also in business in that city, in the grocery and crockery line, till a year ago. Since that time he has been the efficient traveling salesman of the Kellogg-Birge Co., of Keokuk, and has made this territory. He has thus acquired an acquaintance hereabouts, which will stand the new firm in good stead. Scholte & Maasdam have abundant capital at their command, and starts out with the best of auspices for success.

It is quite a change for this town, the familiar firm of E. L. Bussey & Bro., having been at the old stand for eleven years. E. L. Bussey has made no arrangements for the future further than that his property interests here will be occupied until at least. A. C. Bussey expects to join Thomas Meislang and wife in a

At the time of his death he was secretary of the Iowa Association of Mexican War Veterans, and was one of the four surviving members living in this city. After the war Mr. Priestley engaged in the mercantile business in Northumberland for some years. In 1875 he was admitted to the bar. In 1882 he removed to Des Moines, where he has since been in the office of his son, the well known Dr. James T. Priestley. Mr. Priestley had been for years a prominent Mason.

DAVID W. JONES was born in Llandisyl, Cardiganshire, South Wales, September 21, 1821; he died at Manchester, Iowa, March 24, 1898. He was a practical machinist and manufacturer of woolen goods, having learned his father's trade before coming to this country. He crossed the Atlantic in 1843. After residing in various places he removed to Iowa, settling near Manchester, in 1857. In 1865 he erected the first and only woolen mill in that part of the State. This has become one of the chief industries of Delaware county, due to the perseverance, energy, practical knowledge and skill of its proprietor. Mr. Jones not only rose to a high and acknowledged position as a business man, but his personal characteristics made him esteemed and respected wherever he was known. Mrs. Jones, also a native of South Wales, is a sister of Mrs. Owen Bromley of Des Moines. The Manchester Press of March 31 devoted several columns to an interesting and appreciative tribute to the memory of this distinguished pioneer and most useful citizen.

HENRY MITCHELL McCULLY, representative in the 27th General Assembly, from Marion county, died at his home in Pella, March 8, 1898. He was born in Ohio, October 10, 1830, of Scotch-Holland descent. He came to Iowa in 1857. His life has been one of great activity, and much of his time has been devoted to various public duties. He served as justice of the peace of Lake Prairie township for several years; was mayor of Pella for seven terms; was a member of the board of supervisors for Marion county, and representative in the 19th and 27th General Assemblies. In all of these positions he distinguished himself by the faithful and capable discharge of every trust confided to him. He was in his seat a few weeks of the regular session of 1898, but his failing health at last constrained him to ask the House for "leave of absence for an indefinite period." Returning to his home he soon passed away.

RALPH GURLEY PHELPS, a well known lawyer of Atlantic, died March 10, 1898. Mr. Phelps was born in Monmouth, Illinois, January 26, 1846. He graduated with honors from Monmouth College in 1867. In 1868 he removed to Cass county, Iowa, and the year following settled in Atlantic where he had resided thirty years. No citizen has been more unselfishly active in promoting the welfare of the town. He was twice elected mayor. In politics Mr. Phelps was a Democrat and very influential in furthering the interests of his party. His ability as an orator, and a close and logical thinker were widely recognized. He was a man of fine literary tastes, a lover of books and learned in many directions. In Masonic circles he was especially esteemed and prominent, having served two years as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Iowa.

MRS. MINERVA C. DAY, wife of Judge James G. Day, died at her home in Des Moines March 20, 1898. Minerva C. Manly was born in Ohio April 3, 1836. In early life her parents removed to Allegheny City, and she received her education in Pittsburg. Later, she engaged in teaching in Steubenville, Ohio, and while there was united in marriage to James G. Day, December 1, 1857. The young people came immediately to Iowa and

The following communication was read by the Speaker and ordered printed in the Journal:

GUTHRIE CENTER, Iowa, March 24, 1898.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

HONORED SIR—Through you, the widow of the late H. M. McCully and his children, desire to express to the members of the present legislative body, their gratitude and appreciation of the delicate and feeling way in which you have touched, as it were, the brink of their sorrow, and stood with bared heads and saddened hearts with them, in the presence of a sorrow that is unspeakable, that is none the less sad because all mortality must at some time feel the withering touch of death.

For the tributes of sincere respect which you have paid your departed fellow member and friend, and their loved husband and father, for the expressions of sympathy and regard which, as a body, and as individual members, you have shown them, they desire to thank you in this informal way.

To the state you stand as an honorable body of lawmakers, but to the bereaved family of the one around whose draped desk, out of which the fragrance of flowers lifted the soul into the atmosphere of the better life beyond, you stand as sympathizing friends. The state may commend the wisdom of your laws, but they testify to the kindness of your hearts.

MRS. H. M. McCULLY AND CHILDREN.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.
