Col. P. W. McManus Passed Away in San Diego, Cal., Aged 80

COL. PARK W. McMANUS, pioneer Scott county resident well known in business and financial circles, died last night in San Diego, Cal., where he has been spending the winters for the past seven years. He was 80 years old, and had been in failing health for some time.

Col. McManus has always been a heavy property owner in Davenport. He erected the McManus building at Second and Main streets, now owned by the Davenport Savings bank. He owned vast tracts of land in other parts of the city, notably in West Davenport.

Born in Delaware.

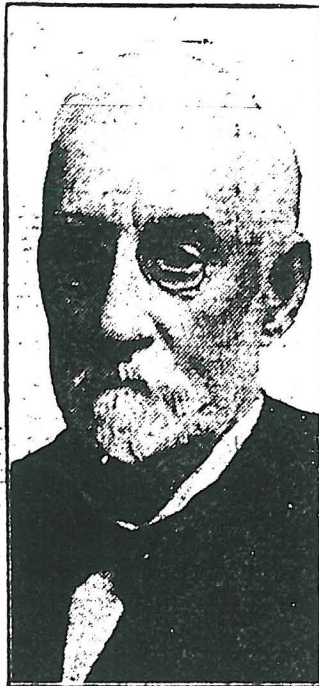

Colonel McManus, the son of James Hamilton McManus and Sarah W. McManus, was born in Newark, Dela., June 21, 1842, and with his parents came west to Davenport in 1844. His father was a prominent railroad contractor in the East, and his mother a descendant of the founders of the city of Mystic, Conn.

The journey to Davenport was made by boat, and upon their arrival here a piece of land now constituting part of the city of Davenport was purchased for agricultural purposes.

With the exception of the years during which he served under the colors, the Colonel has resided in Davenport continuously since his arrival here at the age of 2. It was his privilege and good fortune to see Davenport grow from a mere village to a modern city, and in its development he was always prominent, being ever zealous for its welfare and betterment.

His education was received in private schools of Davenport, and subsequent to his graduation therefrom he matriculated in Amherst (Mass.) college, where he became a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

Leaves College for Union Army. He would have been graduated with the class of 1863, but upon the outbreak of the civil war he was

On May 16, 1864, following the battle of Fort Darling, he was captured by the rebels and sent to Libby prison, whence he was transferred to a prison at Columbia, S. C., from which he escaped and succeeded in reaching the Union gunboat "Niupsic," at Winyaw Bay.

Promoted White Prisoner.

During his imprisonment he was promoted to the rank of Captain, and was mustered out on Feb. 1, 1865, five months after the elapse

Ruins at Covington Are Being Searched for Missing

Teacher, Trapped in the School Threw All But Three of Her Pupils Out of a Window 20 Feet from the Ground When Her Clothes Caught Fire and She Was Fatally Injured.

Covington, Ga., Nov. 29.—Search to comb the debris of the burned school house near here today for the reported missing following a fire which destroyed the building and killed three children and painfully injured 35. One child was fatally burned.

The three bodies already recovered from the ruins have not been positively identified.

School authorities early today were endeavoring to re-check the injured list in hopes of lowering the missing number.

Children Under Ten Years.

Practically all of the children, it was said, most seriously burned are under ten years of age.

"Oh, look at the pretty white dust," exclaimed one of the children in the room of Mrs. Oscar Grant, located on the second floor of building. The "dust" was smoke. It came from the direction of the door, the single egress from the room.

Mrs. Grant ran to the door. Smoke drove her back. The hall was in flames. The stairs had already crumpled.

Drop Children From Window. Inside were 40 children, none old enough to follow a fire. Mrs. Grant locked the door, calmly walked to the window and told the children to line up. The ground

Their Wedding Quiet Ceremony Tuesday in Trinity Cathedral

MARVIN CHESTER PARK.

MRS. MARVIN CHESTER PARK.

TRINITY cathedral was the scene of a quiet wedding Tuesday evening, when Miss Gladys Lorany Drury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Drury of 1821 LeClaire street, became the bride of Marvin Chester Park of South Bend, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Park of South Bend. The ceremony at 9 o'clock was performed by Very Rev. Marmaduke Barr, D. D., dean of the cathedral, in the presence of immediate relatives.

Miss Frances Drury attended her sister as bridesmaid and Louis Wareham was best man.

The bride wore her traveling dress of dark blue tricotine with hat of black panne velvet and brocade of silver, and her flowers were a corsage bouquet of roses and lilies. The top coat she donned after the ceremony was of brown velour trimmed with collar and cuffs of fur.

The bridesmaid was in burgundy velvet with hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Park left this morning by auto for Postona, O., where the groom is returning to be with the John B. Rogers Producing company.

The bride is a graduate of the grammar school and the Davenport high school in last June's class. She is a member of the Delta Upsilon sorority.

Mr. Park has won many friends since he came to the Tri-Cities. He has made his home for the past six months at the Rock Island club, and was director of the Davenport Legion play, "All Aboard," last spring. He was formerly with the Community Servus Rubber company, Rock Island, but has gone back to the Producing company in which he has made a great success of managing plays and directing home talent entertainments. Mr. Park was in the navy during the war and was stationed on a cargo vessel as physician and surgeon. He is a graduate of DePauw university, Green Castle, Ind., and is a member of the Phi Si fraternity.

The wedding comes as a great surprise to many friends of the young people who had kept their plans a secret.

Ruth Whitsell was the name of the talented young reader.

The ladies of the Fleur-de-Lis club are entertaining their husbands on Tuesday evening at dinner at the home of Mrs. Ralph Waggoner, Supt. W. C. Harding of the Washington schools has made arrangements for a get-together meeting of the managers and coaches of the high schools in the "Little Six" conference, including Washington, Burlington, Mt. Pleasant, Muscatine, Fairfield and Ottumwa. It will be held in the Hotel Ottumwa on Saturday, Dec. 9.

Excitement Over Game.
 All Washington is on the quiver over the coming football game of Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, in Columbus Junction. Great excitement prevails, as this is the closing game of the season, and Washington is favored to win.

A shadow has been cast by the death on Monday of the captain, Woodruff, of the Junction team, of his enlistment period, after having participated in 15 battles.

His marriage to Florence N. Meek took place in Davenport on March 9, 1876, Miss Meek coming from a prominent family of Lexington, Mo.

After his release from active duty in the army, Captain McManus returned to Davenport. He affiliated himself with his uncle, William McManus, in the contracting business, his uncle being the holder of important contracts to build parts of the Union Pacific railway, then under construction. He remained with his uncle for four years.

Won Military Honors.

For 13 years, Mr. McManus, who had been commissioned colonel of the Iowa National Guard, served with that military organization, being with the Second regiment for eight years. This he gave up because of business pressure.

Colonel McManus was a member of Illinois Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, a signal honor. He could have become a member of the Sons of the Revolution by reason of his ancestry, but declined to accept the honor. He was on Governor Drake's staff as colonel and on Governor Shaw's staff as a brigadier general.

Elected to Assembly.

In 1881 he was elected to the 19th general assembly, and later held the offices of treasurer and auditor of Davenport for several terms. He ran for congress in 1888 against Judge Hayes, and although not elected, cut down his adversary's vote by 3,000.

He was secretary of the Mt. Joy Fair association and held the same office with the Davenport Fair and Exposition association. He was also president of the Merchants & Mechanics Building and Loan association and was one of the founders of the Register Life as well as its secretary for a long term of years. He was also a prime factor in the street railway and other ventures contributing to the growth and betterment of the city, but never took pay for such work.

Health Compels Retirement.

Up to ten years ago, he had been active in affairs of the Republican party, never a radical, but as a careful student of the affairs of the organization. Ill health, however, compelled him to abandon his keen interest in politics, and seven years ago he commenced spending his winters in California.

The old home at the end of Third street and Telegraph road, built in 1844, is one of the town's landmarks. The family always lived there during the summers upon their return from California.

The Survivors.

Surviving are his wife and three children, Park W., Jr., of Davenport, William G. of Del Norte, Cal.; and Mrs. Florence Ficke of Davenport, wife of G. H. Ficke. One son, James N., died in 1918.

Pending receipt of word from Mrs. McManus, no funeral arrangements have been made.

CHILDREN PERISH IN SCHOOL HOUSE AT COVINGTON, GA.

Grant was next in line. Her mother threw her bodily out of the window. Burns, a fractured leg and internal injuries, were sustained by the child.

Three Children Left in Line.

Chokingly she reached back, grabbed the small form of Minnie Sue Meadows and hurled the little girl out of the window. Three more children remained in the line. The teacher's clothing caught fire and she jumped to the window and hurled herself thru the air.

Doctors say she is suffering from burns, a fractured limb and internal injuries. She was later removed to a hospital.

Only five of the total number of children dropped by Mrs. Grant escaped injuries.

Funeral Party Lends Aid.

A funeral party passing the school discovered the fire, halted the procession and rushed in the building and saved many of the children on the first floor.

Mrs. Grant on regaining consciousness told doctors "I am so happy that I saved so many of the children and so overcome with grief because I could not save those others."

An overheated stove is believed to have caused the fire.

The school house was a two story frame building situated in farming section. Authorities say the building had been condemned as a fire trap a year ago.

Mary Jane, Joseph G. and Gilbert B., all living. Three years after his wife's death he married Ann Marie Skelton, of Philadelphia, who is still living, at the advanced age of 80 years. The result of this union was 13 children, only two of whom are now living—David P. and Hannah P., now Mrs. Dalzell. Mr. McKown was a member of the Presbyterian church, and politically a Democrat, and a strong supporter of the Union during the Rebellion.

Parker W. McManus, member of the State Legislature of Iowa, was born in Newark, Delaware, June 21, 1842. His father, James McManus, was born at the same place, and married March 10, 1831, on Long Island, to Sarah Whittlesey, a native of Mystic, Conn., her grandfather having been one of the original proprietors of the town. They were the parents of three sons and four daughters. Mr. McManus, Sr., was a stone-cutter and stone-mason; he built the principal stone-works on Fort Hamilton, Long Island. He was a heavy railroad contractor in the East. He came to the West in 1843, brought his family out in 1844, and on March 10 arrived in Davenport. Upon locating here he turned his attention to farming and bought the farm where Mr. Parker McManus now resides. He was engaged in the mercantile business some time, which he closed out in 1857 and retired from active business life, having previously accumulated an estate of from $50,000 to $75,000. He was elected a member of the first State Legislature of Iowa, and obtained the charter for Iowa College, of which he was one of the founders, one of its first trustees, and its first treasurer, and was a trustee at the time of his death, in 1879. The nomination and election came to him unsought. The subject of this sketch was educated in Iowa College, and spent two years at Amherst College, Mass. He enlisted in the army in October, 1861; at the age of 19 he was elected first lieutenant of Co. B, 27th Mass. Inf., and at the battle of Roanoke Island he commanded the company. He was adjutant of the regiment when captured on May 16, 1864, at the battle of Fort Darling, or Drury's Bluff; he was at once incarcerated in Libby prison; was subsequently moved from one prison to another, as was deemed necessary by the rebels, and on Nov. 29 he escaped from Columbia, S. C., and in company with two comrades traveled 200 miles, consuming 17 days, reaching our gunboat at Wenyaw Bay on Dec. 15. He had been commissioned captain, June 4, 1864. Having served five months more than his term of enlistment, he was mustered out of service Feb. 11, 1865, and returned to Davenport. After taking a course in Pittsburg Commercial College, he spent a season farming. In 1867 he went out on the plains and operated with his uncle, William McManus, who was a contractor on the Union Pacific R. R. In 1879 he returned to this city, and has since been engaged in agricultural pursuits. He has always been a pronounced Republican, but based his action upon principle, and is not a radical partisan. In the fall of 1881 he was elected to the Iowa General Assembly, without opposition on the part of the Democracy. Mr. McManus married Flora N. Meek, March 9, 1876. She was born in Lexington, Mo. They have a family of three sons, viz.: James M., Parker W., and William G. His mother and one sister reside with him.

Fred Melchert, dealer in agricultural implements, Nos. 705, 707, 709, 711, 713 and 715 Harrison street, was born in Frederickstown, Md., Jan. 28, 1840, and was a son of John and Mary Ann Melchert, natives of Germany, and now residents of Davenport. Fred received his education in Lockhaven, Pa., and in Davenport. He enlisted from Scott County in 1861, in the United States army, and served during the whole war. He was taken prisoner at Fayetteville, Ark., and after 10 days of suffering succeeded in making his escape. He was six weeks in the Boston Mountains, and during that time suffered all pangs of hunger and fatigue. He was mustered out at Clinton, Ia., in 1865, and at once returned to Davenport. He engaged in shipping cattle until 1867, when he began traveling for Reapers & Mowers, and remained with them until 1869, when he embarked in his present business. On the 6th of November, 1866, he was married to Rebecca Jane Creswell, of Pennsylvania. They have one child, Minnie. Mr. Melchert is a member of the Masonic K. T., Nobles of Domestic Shrine. He is vice-president of the Board of Trade, also of the Board of Produce. He is a director in the Davenport Plow Company.

Rev. James G. Merrill, Pastor of the Edwards Congregational Church, was born in Montague, Mass., Aug. 20, 1840, son of Rev. James H. and Lucia W. Merrill, nee Griswold. Mr. Merrill attended Phillips Academy of Andover, and Amherst College, graduating from the latter in 1863. He graduated in theology at the Theological Seminary of Andover in 1866. He was ordained at Mound City, Kansas, in January of 1866, where he remained until called to Topeka First Congregational Church in 1869. Soon after he was appointed superintendent of missions for Kansas, for about two years. He has had charge of his church here since January, 1872. He was married Oct. 11, 1866, to Louisa W. Boutwell, daughter of George Boutwell, deceased, of Andover, Mass. To them were born four children—Lucia G., Oliver B., Mary Perley and William F.

John B. Meyer, teller of Davenport Savings Bank, was born in the city of St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 11, 1852. His parents were Francis E. and Augusta (Bade) Meyer, who had a family of four children, two living, viz.: Charles, cashier of the First National Bank, Davenport, and John B., the subject of this sketch. The family came to Buffalo, Scott Co., Iowa, in 1856, when John was but four years of age; when nine years of age the family moved to Davenport, where he attended school until 14. He then worked for different parties until the fall of 1880, when he was appointed to his present position as teller in the Davenport Savings Bank. He married Miss Anna Eckhard, May 12, 1880; she was
