Bert Simpson Married Tuesday to a Girl from Postville

Bert Simpson was married yesterday afternoon, November 29, to Miss Rada Ammon, of Postville, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Swathoff, pastor of the Community church, of Postville. Following this a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to the bridal party, which was composed of only the near relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left that afternoon for a short honeymoon trip to different points, including Des Moines and Oskaloosa, where they will visit different relatives, and then be at home about December 20, on the Simpson farm near Osage, which the groom operates in partnership with his father, M. J. Simpson.

Mrs. Simpson is a young lady that Osage people will be glad to welcome to their community. She is a graduate of Upper Iowa university, and has taught for the past couple of years. Her husband was graduated from the Orchard schools several years ago, and has since then helped run the home place. He is a good farmer, and an all-around good fellow, and he and his bride are extended the best of wishes by their many friends.

ISAAC PATTERSON HAS PASSED AWAY

WAS IDENTIFIED WITH MITCHELL COUNTY SINCE 1855—DIED LAST FRIDAY

St. Ansgar: Another of the prominent citizens of this section has passed to his reward. This time it is Hon Isaac Patterson, who died at 8:50 last Friday evening, November 25, 1921. He had reached a far greater age than is allotted to most men—more than 86 years, having been born Nov. 7, 1835. Mr. Patterson's birthplace was Sharon, in Trumbell county, Ohio. Here he spent his early childhood. When he was eight years of age, the family moved to Fond du Lac, Wis., where they resided until 1855, when they came to Mitchell county, settling at the town of Mitchell. Thus he was identified with the history of our county for nearly two-thirds of a century, and for many years was one of the most prominent men in the county.

In 1861, almost at the very beginning of the civil war, he enlisted in the Third Iowa Regiment as a private, but he steadily rose, and came out of the army as a captain. In 1868 he purchased the farm one mile east of St. Ansgar, which has since been his home, and lived on it for more than half a century. On October 19, 1869, he was married to Miss Jennie Atherton, daughter of T. M. Atherton, editor of the Mitchell County Press, at Osage, and they lived a happy married life for almost 45 years. She died in August 1914. During the last few years his niece, Mrs. Levi Gifford, has very devotedly cared for him.

Mr. Patterson was a very active man. He was not only one the best farmers of the county, but always took a keen interest in the public affairs in his community, the state and the nation. He voted the republican ticket from the formation of the party until his death. At the election in the fall of 1870 he was elected to the state legislature, and served until 1882. In 1886 he was appointed postmaster for St.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ENJOY FINE PARTY

FUN, FEASTING AND FROLIC WAS THE PROGRAM OF THE EVENING

From all reports, the party and jollification given by the Knights Templar Monday night was the as fine an affair as has been enjoyed here.

It began at supper time in the Masonic lodge rooms, where the banquet table was spread. This table in itself was worthy of comment. The main one—or "ones"—were arranged in the shape of a cross, with the order's officers seated at their respective points. Other tables were around the big one. The decorations were very tasty, and the supper was declared a culinary triumph for Mrs. Lezotte and her assistants. Misses Whitley and Cutler had charge of the service, and that went off to perfection in every detail.

After the party the floral decorations were presented to various sick people.

George Sawyer did as good a job with the "feast of reason" that followed, as Mrs. Lezotte had done with the supper, and the guests heard a good program of after-dinner talks.

As much fun as the supper was, it proved when the guests were removed to the Masonic ball room to have been but a dry preamble to the frolic that

In 1906 he was appointed postmaster for St. Ansgar, a position which he held for nine years.

In 1904 he suffered a stroke of paralysis and after that his health was always frail. Two years ago he had the misfortune to fall and break his hip, and though that completely healed, in spite of his advanced years, from that time he was practically helpless and was tenderly cared for by his niece, Mrs. Levi Gifford.

He leaves surviving him two brothers, Nathan N. Patterson, of Zumbrota, Minn., and John Patterson, of Bradentown, Fla.

The funeral was held from the residence yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. A. Buell, and burial was in the family lot in the Osage cemetery.

HISTORY OF MITCHELL COUNTY. 1883

age of twenty-two; Mary A. is the wife of W. B. Frazer, of Livingston Co., N. Y.; John resides at home. The latter, with his parents, belongs to the M. E. Church. Mr. Gammons is a republican in politics, and is an ardent supporter of the principles of the party. While in the General Assembly, Mr. Gammons served on several important committees.

The eighteenth General Assembly convened at Des Moines in January, 1880. The senatorial district embraced the counties of Mitchell, Floyd and Butler, and was represented by Wilberforce P. Gaylord, of Floyd county. Isaac Patterson served the representative district, of which Mitchell county formed a part.

Hon. Isaac Patterson has been a resident of this county since 1856. He has a splendid home, on a farm of 200 acres, a mile and a half from the town of St. Ansgar, situated on what is known as the Patterson corners. He was born in Trumbull Co., Ohio, Nov. 7, 1836. In 1845 he removed to Wisconsin, where he remained eleven years, then removed to Iowa. He was married Oct. 19, 1869, to Jennie S. Atherton, a daughter of T. M. Atherton, editor of the Mitchell County Press, of Osage. Mr. Patterson enlisted in the 3d Iowa Volunteer Infantry, serving until the close of the war as first lieutenant. In politics Mr. Patterson is an ardent republican. He is highly esteemed and is one of the enterprising men of the county. Mr. Patterson has 1,000 acres of good farm land in Mitchell county.

The nineteenth General Assembly convened at Des Moines in January, 1882. The former senator, W. P. Gaylord, had died, and A. M. Whaley, of Aplington, Butler county, had been elected to succeed him in the Senate. In the House Henry F. Tucker served the representative district.

In 1883 the campaign for members of the General Assembly opened early and was exciting. The senatorial district had been changed so as to embrace the counties of Mitchell, Howard and Worth. The republicans nominated J. H. Sweney, of Osage, as their candidate for the Senate, and the democrats and anti-monopolists chose Cyrus Foreman as their standard bearer. The representative district embraced Mitchell and Floyd counties. The republican candidate for representative was C. C. Vanderpoel and the democratic, J. F. English.

The republican candidates were successful. Thus in the twentieth General Assembly Mitchell county will be represented by Hon. C. C. Vanderpoel in the House, and Hon. J. H. Sweney in the Senate.

COUNTY JUDGE.

This was the principal office of the county in early days. The county judge had charge of all the matters now attended to by the board of supervisors, and much of the work which now devolves upon the circuit court and county auditor.

At the time the county was organized, in August, 1854, the first judge was elected—Dr. A. H. Moore. In August, 1855, he was re-elected and served until January, 1858.

In October, 1857, Arad Hitchcock was elected county judge to succeed Dr. Moore, and served for two years. Hon. Arad Hitchcock was born at Westfield, Orleans Co., Vt., Oct. 21, 1811. He was the son of Caleb and Nancy (Eaton) Hitchcock, who had a family of nine children, five
