WILLIAM URE DEAD.

Linn County Pioneer Passed Away at Omaha Yesterday.

A message to The Gazette from Omaha announces the death in that city yesterday morning of William Ure one of Linn county's earliest and most respected pioneers. Mr. Ure has been a resident of Omaha for several years, removing there to be near his children. The cause of death is not stated. The remains will be brought to Linn county for interment, the funeral occurring at Fairfax Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Scotch Grove church.

Mr. Ure was one of those sturdy pioneers who helped to make Iowa the great state that it is. He was elected by the people to the state legislature and for several terms acted as a member of the board of supervisors. He had the confidence and respect of all who knew him, and his acquaintance was wide. He is survived by Mrs. Ure and five children, one son, William Ure, now in the real estate business in Omaha, and four daughters, Sadie, wife of Rev.
Johnson of Chicago; Emma, a teacher in Omaha; Mrs. Ida Nicoll of Minden, Neb. and Ella, wife of Rev. Ross of Greeley, Colo.

LAST OF A PIONEER.

Interesting Sketch of the Late William Ure.

Fifty-seven years ago, slowly un-
...ing their way westward over the
...then little known prairies of Iowa,
...was a family in search of a home.
...Meeting a surveying party they were ...told, of a good location about ten ...miles from the ford at the rapids of ...the Red Cedar river; heading for the ...place described they came to a grove
...of fine timber with good land all ...around it and there decided to stay.
...That family was Robert Ure, his wife
...and eight children, the location Scotch
...Grove, and the settlement then made
...was the first in which is now the ...township of Fairfax. Even more than ...the usual discomfort and hardships
...incidental to an isolated life this family
...had to endure. Their nearest ...neighbors were many miles off. For ...things absolutely necessary they had ...to go to one of the towns on the ...Mississippi river, even to get their ...wheat made into flour the nearest
...mill was at Cascade, in Dubuque
...county.

But more fortunate in their loca...tion than many of the early settlers,
...as the country was peopled, the lands
...which each member had secured be-
...came very valuable.

William Ure was a boy of 14 when
...the family made their home at the ...grove. Having a sound constitution,
...a well knit frame and mental quali...fications far above the average, when
...the township of Fairfax was organ...ized in 1838, he was elected to an ...important office, and later when
...county affairs were managed by a
...supervisor from each township he ...was the selection of Fairfax, and
...that body on his becoming a mem...ber at once appointed him county
...bridge commissioner. In 1871, when ...the present supervisor system was ...established, he was elected by the ...county at large one of the three mem...bers.

The Fourteenth general assembly
...appointed him one of the commis...sioners to plan, fix upon a site and com...mence building the penitentiary at
...Anamosa, and in 1875 he was elected
...to represent Linn county in the Six...teenth legislative assembly and was
...re-elected to the Seventeenth.

Honest and fearless, whatever duty
...devolved was discharged with strict
...fidelity. As county bridge commis...sioner he laid the foundation for the ...noble system of bridges we now
...possess. As supervisor he curbed the ...growing tendency to extravagance and ...kept the county free from debt. And ...when as a penitentiary commissioner
...he found that his opposition would
...be powerless to prevent what he con...sidered a bad appointment, rather
...than appear to consent he resigned
...his position and subsequent scandals
...showed how accurate was his dis...cernment. And Linn county was never ...more worthily represented in the state
...legislature than when he was a mem...ber.

William Ure was a boy of 14 when the family made their home at the grove. Having a sound constitution, a well knit frame and mental qual- ifications far above the average, when the township of Fairfax was organ- ized in 1835, he was elected to an important office, and later when county affairs were managed by a supervisor from each township he was the selection of Fairfax, and that body on his becoming a mem- ber at once appointed him county bridge commissioner. Any measure or project to better the community could always count on the help of Mr. Ure. He was active in organizing the West Side Mutual Insurance association and he was its president for eighteen years. The Prairie Valley fair owes to him much of its success and he was its first president.

When six years ago he moved to Nebraska the community lost a good citizen and the neighborhood a help- ful friend. On the 23d of May he died at Omaha and, last Wednesday his remains were brought to Fairfax. In the church hall on the old home- stead his friends had a last look on the familiar features. The immense concourse of people that came to his funeral testified to the respect and esteem in which he was held; and by the side of his parents and kin- dred in the beautiful cemetery of Fairfax, which he did so much to procure and adorn, was laid as true a gentleman as ever its portals closed upon.

Although still survive three of that band which came to Fairfax so long ago, they do not live in town, and the once prominent Ure family is now but a memory.
