charged attempted the other offense. The preliminary hearing occurs at Minburn today, John Shortley appearing for West. It is said that examination will be waived on the charge of assault, but the defense will fight the other, claiming that as West had been using the team and only took it a few miles away to husk corn, there is no evidence of any purpose to steal it. They also claim that West's offense in the other case, if any, was not criminal assault.

Milwaukee Sued for $15,000.

Shortley & Harpel, as attorneys for Mrs. Isaac Warford, whose husband was killed near Bouton last summer, brought suit against the Milwaukee in the district for $15,000 damages. The petition alleges that the company was negligent, in that the bridge which caused Warford's death, was sixteen inches nearer to the truck than the rules of the company allow, and several feet nearer than it is customary to build bridges. It is alleged that Warford, in the proper performance of his duty, leaned out to look under the train, and that he would not have struck the bridge if it had been of the usual and proper width.

A Signal Tower at Grand Junction.

A signal tower is being erected at the crossing of the C. & N. W. and C. R. I. & P. railroads at Grand Junction and is so elevated that trains may be seen from a great distance as they approach, and danger of collision may be averted. In this tower are placed some twenty swing levers and rods extending along the tracks in all directions, to be worked by the man in the tower. Each lever and rod is connected with a switch, and thus the work of switching is all done in the tower. It is estimated that this job will necessitate an outlay of over $15,000.---Boone Republican.

so much larger than the estimates that the intended purchasers felt themselves unable to handle it, and so the deal has been declared off. Mr. Morgan was desirous, because of his recent prolonged sickness, of getting out of business for a while, till he could recuperate again. But the people of this town who have found him a most enterprising and public-spirited citizen, will be glad that he is still to remain with us, and will hope that he may find other means to restore his shattered health.

Death of W. F. Cardell.

Wilbur F. Cardell died last Sunday afternoon at the Des Moines sanitarium where he has been for some time past. He has been in ill health for several years, and after trying life in the west without obtaining any material relief, he returned last summer and remained a few weeks in this city before going to Des Moines. There he has been gradually sinking, and it has for some time been apparent that it was only a question of time. The deceased was for a number of years a resident of this town, though he has resided in Oklahoma for the past five or six years. He was born in Vermont in 1837, removing with his parents to Illinois in 1850. He afterwards spent three years in California and lived a number of years in Poweshiek county, before coming to Dallas county. His wife and two sons, Walter W. of this city and Albert of Stillwater, Oklahoma, survive him.

The remains were brought to this city, and the funeral occurred from the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon, Rev Kinzer conducting the services. The funeral was largely attended.

Y. M. C. A. Rally Day.

The Young Mens Christian Association proposes to celebrate the opening of its new rooms in the Balley block by indulging in a rally, the date for which is Sunday, Dec. 13th. On that occasion, it is proposed to have a day of rejoicing. There will be a morning prayer meeting at 6:30, an afternoon meeting for men at 3, and then a grand union meeting at night, probably in the opera house. All the churches will be asked to abandon their evening services, that all may join in this meeting. Efforts are mak-
