amination or other evidence of fitness must be submitted to the county superintendent, and cannot be renewed from time to time upon the recommendation of the city superintendent. Neither can a certificate be issued upon an examination taken in another county or state. This is very important to the many teachers who have not been required to pass an examination every year or two in order to secure certificates.

QUOTES FROM THE "WASHINGTON GAZETTE" ABOUT THE NEW TOWN OF KEOTA

May 17, 1872. Our "cornfield" town having recovered from its late siege of mud -- a condition incident to all rich farm lands when frost goes out—is growing nicely. About 25 buildings are up for business and dwelling and most all ready for occupancy and more to be built soon. Some half dozen more dwellings have been erected and occupied on the east side of our "burg" in Washington County. This is called by some "Stringtown" and by others "Dutchertown" — named after its proprietor.

Business firms in operation and size of building:

- J. Stouder - general merchandising and farm machinery (20x48)
- Henkle, Littler & Co. - general merchandising and lumber (20x50)
- Denny & Huskins - lumber
- J. S. Kulp - drugs, books, etc. Store (18x24) dwelling above.
- Miller Bros. - groceries (18x24)
- J. H. Shawhan - general agricultural hardware
- E. Blair - grain and produce (22x62)
- Enos Ralston - boarding house, two stories (16x28)
- M. Mowery - dwelling (16x24) for family and 10 boarders
- W. Stewart - grain and livestock (23¢ for corn, 3 1/2¢ for pork)
- Finley Smock - general wagon work (18x32) two-story
- H. Millhouse - blacksmithing

One or two parties are going into the furniture business. A butcher shop and meat market soon will be established. Two doctors are here and another is coming. A cemetery will soon be laid out.

Our depot (22x24) is conveniently located and well built. It is nearly completed and we expect regular trains to pass over the road before many days.

Last Sunday was "Opening Day" for public religious services. A Sabbath School under Rev. Mr. Smock (Presbyterian) was inaugurated at 2 1/2 P.M. Mr. Smock preached at 3 1/2 and Rev. Mr. Kendrick preached at 5 p.m. Services well attended. Mr. Smock has prepared a room above his wagon shop (21x32) to be used for religious exercises, town hall and etc. until better accommodations can be had.

June 21, 1872. Since last report, Robert Adair has finished a business house 20x48 and has a stock of drugs.

- Jerome Palmer - furniture store
- Mr. Charlton - meat market
- Hon. J. F. Wilson is Postmaster
- J. T. Webber, Esq. - ticket and freight agent. From him we learn -- 60 car loads of livestock and 40 car loads of grain have been shipped from this place.

November 1, 1872. Newspaper. We are soon to have a live 28 column newspaper, Republican in politics. The paper is to be called "The Keota Enterprise". Its editor and publisher, Mr. Wm. M. Cross.

QUOTES FROM THE "WASHINGTON COUNTY PRESS" ABOUT THE NEW TOWN OF KEOTA

March 20, 1872. The site of the new town of Keota is pleasant. The eastern part is quite level, but the western is rolling. The improvements are going up in a cornfield and meadow.

April 10, 1872. We hear that Keota is already a lively business place. Twenty to 30 teams may be counted at one time almost any day. One house, it is reported, sold $100 worth of goods in one day last week.

June 5, 1872. Uncle Sam established a Post Office in Keota on Saturday in Jas. Huskin's lumber office. Our western mail will henceforth go by rail vice (instead of) hack.

July 31, 1872. The feeling among Keota business men is excellent; they are not jealous, but social and honorable, and don't feel for each other's jugulars, and no stabbing in the back.

HOW KEOTA GOT ITS WILSON PARK IN 1876

From The Keota Eagle, August 26, 1948.

Renewing a series of articles on early local history, the publishers of The Eagle have dug out of the early files the story of how Keota's city park, officially named Wilson Park for its donor, was acquired.

The Eagle for June 24, 1876, printed a brief news item stating that the Hon. J. F. Wilson, Keota's first and incumbent postmaster, had made the town council a proposition to donate a tract of ground conditionally as a city park. The tract was Block No. 9, Smock's Addition, in the south part of the corporation, which at that time was not known by lots and streets. The early editor commented: "The block is 350 x 450 feet and is the most handsome piece of ground ever staked off in Keota." The editor urged acceptance. The town council appointed a committee to look over the ground and make a recommendation at the next council meeting three months later.

The Eagle of September 23, 1876, reported the outcome as follows:

"Wilson Park, Sunnyside, Keota. At a meeting of the Town Council of Keota, held on the 21st day of June, 1876, Hon. J. F. Wilson proposed to cede to the town, Block 9 in Smock's Addition, to be used as a Public Park. E. Moses, J. W. Tallman and W. P. Davis were appointed a committee to examine said premises and report at the next meeting of the Council at the regular meeting on the 12th day of September. Said committee brought in a favorable report and recommended that the property be accepted, which was done. J. F. Wilson had made the Council a deed for the block. They pay $30.00 per annum to J. F. Wilson and Jane Wilson during their natural lives, or the life of either of them." The town was also to fence the tract and plant with shade trees on or before May 1, 1877, and keep and maintain for a Public Park for all time to come. Mayor Spangler, F. M. Smock, E. Moses, M. A. Hulse, J. W. Tallman and W. P. Davis were appointed a committee to procure the trees and plant same. The following resolution was unanimously passed by the Council the same date of acceptance; Resolved by the Town Council of the Town of Keota that as a token of respect for Hon. J. F. Wilson and wife for their donation of land to the city for the purpose of a Park that the Council procure two evergreen trees and cause same to be planted at the right and left sides of the main entrance to said park, thereby holding in grateful remembrance the generous donors.

The cost to the town of acceptance of the gift can be calculated from the following data: Mrs. Jane Wilson died in March 1880, and her husband died in June 1898, both being buried in the Keota cemetery in a double lot at the brow of the main hill, being even today still enclosed within the only decorative iron fence in the entire cemetery. The longest span of life for either of them under the annuity provision was 21 years and the town therefore may be assumed to have paid $630.00 for the original gift.

As our readers well know, the park consists of two "city" blocks of about equal size, one just next to the south corporation line and separated by a full street, used as a park drive, from the other block to the north. Most of the trees are in the south block, which used to have a circular cinder track for racing and a band stand. The north block has always been the ball diamond and is bordered on three sides by trees; also on the west by the entrance drive. The water tower is in the northwest corner.

The name "Wilson Park" has been official since the revision of the town ordinances by E. C. Gilbert in 1930 and possibly much longer.

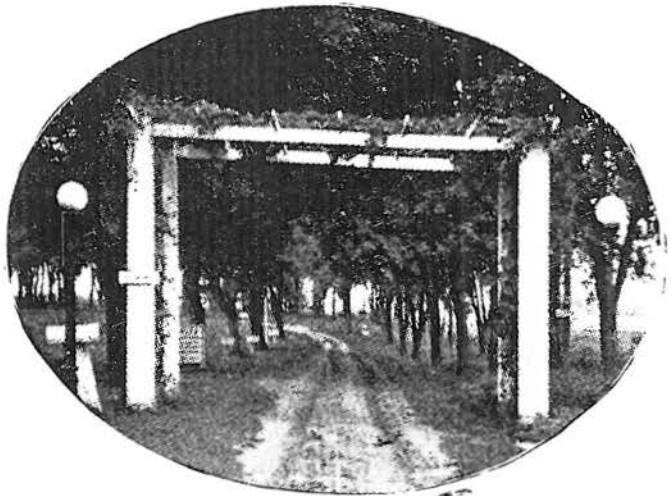

August 21, 1896. There is a fine bicycle track, substantial grandstand and everything is kept in fine condition, and this enterprise is certainly a credit to the town.

July 14, 1910. We have resurrected the name "Centennial Park." Mr. J. F. Wilson gave the park to Keota in 1876 which was the Centennial year and Mr. Wilson named the park "Centennial Park."

June 11, 1914. The improvement Society is having a nice fountain put in Wilson park. Fountain was bought from John Berend who is now doing the concrete work. It will be octagon in shape; 25 ft. in diameter with steps east and west and curb all around it. There will be room for some flowers. It will be ready for chautauqua.

June 29, 1899. No one in Keota was aware that the United States land patent had never been issued for the ground on which this town (Keota) now stands. The original owner was Melville Canrure who obtained a certificate of possession from the government in 1854, but neglected to secure a patent. J. F. Graham noted the fact when fixing some papers for mill property -- wrote to Washington, D.C., and secured patent bearing (supposed) signature of President Pierce.

Watches of the early days were wound by keys, and a man's financial standing was frequently determined by the size of his watch—the larger the watch, the more prosperous the owner.
