Nathan Ubell

DR. NATHAN UDELL

Is another of the old citizens of this county that merits especial mention. He came to Appanoose county in an early day and settled at Unionville, which at that time was the only town of any importance in the county. Udell township was named for him. He practiced medicine in the county for many years, having removed to Centerville when it became the county seat. In 1854 he was elected state senator, beating Thomas G. Manson just two to one. In 1859 he was again elected, this time defeating Thomas Wentworth, and in '63 he was for the third time elected senator, his opponent being Jno. A. Pierson. Some years ago he gave up the practice of medicine and went to live with his son, John H., at Concordia, Kansas, and later went to Denver, where he lived a number of years. About a year and a half ago he returned to Centerville, where at the age of 83 he is one of the county pension examiners and enjoys a fair degree of health.

Doctor Nathan Udell was one of the earliest settlers of Appanoose county and during his active life was one of the most prominent men in the southern part of the state. He was state senator three terms in the early history of the state and helped to frame the first laws of the state. In more recent years he has lived with his son in Denver, but has frequently visited Centerville. He was here last summer on a visit and was then very frail. To many of his old friends he said that he expected that that would be his last visit to Centerville until he was brought back here to his last resting place beside his beloved wife who preceeded him in death several years ago. So it proved to be. He went from here to Ottumwa and Blakesburg where he visited his sons, and then returned to Denver. His grand- sons, Nathan, Jr., and Chester will accompany the remains here for burial. His son, Addison Udell, of Ottumwa, arrived in the city at noon today to attend the funeral. His son, Dr. C. N. Udell, of Blakesburg, arrived over the Central this afternoon.

Nathan Udell was born February 18, 1817, in Susquehanna county, Pa. and was at the time of his death 86 years and 16 days of age. His father moved to Jefferson, Ashtubula county, Ohio, when he was only six or eight months old where he received a common school education with moderate opportunity, at an academy in that town. He made his own living by anything he could find to do, clerking in stores, teaching school, etc.; and studied medicine with Dr. F. Rea, of Washington, Guernsey county, Ohio. He was married to Elizabeth Payne, of Washington county, Ohio, June 30, 1840, and moved to Unionville, this county, in 1841 and resided there eleven years. He was elect-company the remains here for burial. His son, Addison Udell, of Ottumwa, arrived in the city at noon today to attend the funeral. His son, Dr. C. N. Udell, of Blakesburg, arrived over the Central this afternoon.

Nathan Udell was born February 18, 1817, in Susquehanna county, Pa., and was at the time of his death 86 years and 16 days of age. His father moved to Jefferson, Ashtabula county, Ohio, when he was only six or eight months old where he received a common school education with moderate opportunity, at an academy in that town. He made his own living by anything he could find to do, clerking in stores, teaching school, etc., and studied medicine with Dr. F. Bea, of Washington, Guernsey county, Ohio. He was married to Elizabeth Payne, of Washington county, Ohio, June 30, 1840, and moved to Unionville, this county, in 1849 and practiced medicine there eleven years. He was elected to the state senate in the fall of 1854, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Amos Haines. The senatorial district then comprised Davis, Appanoose, Wayne and Decatur counties. He was re-elected in 1859 and 1863, the senatorial district the last period being Appanoose and Davis counties.

Doctor Udell received a diploma in 1855 from the medical college at Keokuk, where the Iowa State university was then located. He moved from Unionville to Centerville in 1860 and continued the practice of medicine for many years until his health demanded that he retire from active work. He was one of Centerville's best citizens, always identified with the best interests of the city. The news of his death will cause much sorrow in the hearts of his old friends here and elsewhere.

Doctor Udell had three sons born all of whom are living, they being Addison Udell, of Ottumwa; Doctor C. N. Udell, of Blakesburg, and J. H. Udell, of Denver. He had two daughters, both of whom are living at Wichita, Kansas, Mrs. Margaret Swearingen and Mrs. Koss, Harris.

The driving horse owned by Age Taylor, of the Singer Sewing Machine company, which was supposed to have been stolen, was found yesterday in the northeast part of the city, running loose, and showing evidences of having been ridden hard. Mr. Taylor thinks some one took it out of the barn to ride out into the country and there turned it loose and it started back home, like the Robley horse. Such an act is almost equal to theft and the guilty party should be severely punished if discovered.

Dr. Nathan Udell Who Died Recently in Denver, Well Known in Iowa.

Dr. Nathan Udell, who passed away recently in Denver and whose funeral was held Tuesday in Centerville, was the father of A. S. Udell of this city, and Dr. C. N. Udell of Blakesburg. In speaking of the death of Dr. Udell a Denver paper says:

Dr. Nathan Udell, aged 85 years and at one time a personal friend of President James A. Garfield, died Friday night at the home of his son, James H. Udell, 1043 High street. His body will be shipped to Centerville, Ia., for interment.

Dr. Udell has resided in Denver for eleven years, but did not practice medicine here. He came to Denver from Concordia, Kansas, and was formerly a resident of Centerville, Ia., from which place he was sent to congress shortly after the war. He served three terms in the Iowa legislature from his district, and has not since taken an active part in politics. He leaves five children, twelve grandchildren and one great grandchild. His children are: Dr. C. N. Udell, Blakesburg, Ia., A. S. Udell, Ottumwa, Ia.; Mrs. Alice Swearingen and Mrs. Ida Harris of Wichita, Kan., and John H. Udell of Denver. The great grandchild is little Wilma Faust of Los Angeles, Cal.

rush the regiment mounted the enemy's earthworks and fired its first volley into the ranks of the terrified and panic stricken enemy. The day was won, and the "unconditional surrender" came the next day. Twombly was promoted to lieutenant for his heroic conduct on the bloody field of Donelson, having carried the colors in the terrible Battle of Shiloh. At Corinth he was severely wounded and again at Jonesboro, in August, 1864. In June he was promoted to adjutant of the regiment and in November he became captain of Company K and in 1865 was acting Inspector-General in the Fifteenth Army Corps. He was in Sherman's "march to the sea" and was at the final surrender of the Confederate army under General Joseph E. Johnston, which substantially ended the war. He was at the "Grand Review" of the Union armies at Washington, D. C., on the 24th of May, 1865, and was mustered out on the 12th of July, 1865. In 1880 he was elected treasurer of Van Buren County and at the close of his second term was nominated by the Republican State Convention for State Treasurer and elected, serving by reëlections, three terms, to 1891.

NATHAN UDELL was born in Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania, February 18, 1817. He was educated for a physician and removed to Appanoose County, Iowa, in 1849, where he practiced his profession. He was elected to the Senate of the Fifth General Assembly in 1854. He was again a member of the Senate in the Eighth and Ninth General Assemblies, serving in the regular and extra sessions. During the Civil War he was surgeon of the Seventh Infantry for several months. In 1863 Dr. Udell was for the third time elected to the Senate, serving in the Tenth and Eleventh General Assemblies. He died in Denver on the 11th of April, 1903.

THOMAS UPDEGRAFF was born in Tioga County, Pennsylvania, on the 3d of April, 1834. He received an academic education, removed to Iowa, locating in Clayton County, where he was appointed clerk of the District Court in 1856, holding the position for four years. He studied law, was admitted to the bar and entered upon the practice of his profession at McGregor in 1861. In 1877 he was elected on the Republican ticket Representative in the House of the Seventeenth General Assembly, serving one term. In 1878 he was nominated for Representative in Congress in the Fourth District and elected. In 1880 he was reëlected, serving four years. In 1882 he was again the candidate of the Republican party but was defeated by L. H. Weller, fusion candidate. In 1892 Mr. Updegraff was again elected to Congress and reëlected in 1894 and 1896.

rather stout and not above the medium in height, as I recollect him. His integrity was unquestioned and his character without a blemish. He was a man of kindly ways and accommodating disposition.

Madison M. Walden was the seventh Lieutenant-Governor of Iowa, in 1870 and 1871, but before the expiration of his term, he was nominated and elected to Congress from his district, and served in the Forty-Second Congress. Before that he had represented Appanoose County in the House of the Eleventh General Assembly, in 1866; in the State Senate of the Twelfth General Assembly, in 1868, and as Lieutenant-Governor was the presiding officer of that body in the Thirteenth General Assembly, in 1870.

My acquaintance with him began while we were members of the Eleventh General Assembly. He represented Appanoose County in the House, and I, Wapello County in the Senate. We were appointed a joint committee on the part of the House and Senate to visit the Iowa Hospital for the Insane at Mt. Pleasant, and report its condition to the Legislature. We were several days together on this mission, and became quite closely acquainted. He was a pleasant companion. He had light hair, eyes and complexion. Ordinarily he was quiet, undemonstrative and unaggressive, but he lacked neither courage nor patriotism, for he was a valiant soldier, and served throughout the war, first as captain in the Sixth Regiment of Iowa Infantry, and later as captain in the Eighth Regiment of Iowa Cavalry. While serving in the latter position, he with a number of his comrades, was taken prisoner at the Battle of Newman, Georgia, and confined in the loathsome prison of Andersonville, the horrible character of which, and the sufferings of the men, he vividly described in an article which appeared in the Iowa State Register of March 6, 1865, which I have before me and which well illustrates the vigor of his pen.

Later in life, in 1890, he was again elected to the Legislature from Appanoose County, and soon after the close of this service he received an appointment in the Treasury Department at Washington, where he died in 1892.

He, as well as his father and mother, were natives of Adams County, Ohio. He was born in 1836. In 1852 the family removed to Lee County, Iowa. Governor Walden was a refined and educated gentleman. He was a graduate of Denmark Academy, attended the Wesleyan University at Mt. Pleasant, and finally graduated from the Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio. After the close of the war he became the proprietor and editor of the Centerville Citizen, and made it a newspaper of great influence. This connection continued until 1874, when he sold the paper to other parties. He was an able editor, a useful legislator, an efficient public servant, a worthy and highly honored citizen, who did much in shaping the early affairs of Appanoose County and the State.

I cannot leave Appanoose County without saying a word of Dr. Nathan Udell, one of the first settlers, and perhaps, the first physician of the County, for he came there in 1849. He was beloved by the early settlers. He was not only a good doctor, but a kindly and humane one, who, through the long years, and until the infirmities of age prevented, never failed to respond to the call of the sick, despite wind and weather, and whether the patient was able to pay or not. He was born in Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania, in 1817. There he was reared and educated, and after thoroughly fitting himself for the medical profession, came to Centerville in the year before stated.

He was a man of broad views and wide observation. He took an early part in the public affairs of the County and of the State. He became prominent in this respect, as well as in his profession. In the fall of 1853 he was elected to the State Senate, representing Appanoose, Wayne and Decatur Counties, and served in the Fifth General Assembly, which convened at Iowa City, December 4, 1854. In the fall of 1859 he was again elected to the State Senate, representing Appanoose County, and served in the Eighth General Assembly, which convened at Des Moines on January 8, 1860, and in the extra session which convened on the Fifteenth of May, 1861. He also served in the Senate of the Ninth General Assembly, which convened on the Thirteenth of January, 1862, and in the extra session which convened September 3, 1862. During the Civil War he was appointed and served as Surgeon of the Seventh Regiment of Iowa Infantry for some time. At the close of this service he was again nominated and elected to the State Senate, and served in the Tenth and Eleventh General Assemblies. I came to know him well and greatly admired him for his many good qualities. He was altogether one of the most reasonable and lovable men I have ever known. His entire legislative service was highly useful to the State as an influential factor in shaping its early laws and institutions. He lived a long and beneficent life, dying in 1903, in the seventy-seventh year of his age.

George D. Porter strongly impressed me as a man of ability the first time I saw him, some forty-five years ago. He had come from Moulton, where he lived, to attend our court at Ottumwa. He argued some case to the court with so much clearness and force that it attracted my attention, and I set him down as a man of decided ability, and so he was regarded by his legal brethren generally.

He was the son of a Presbyterian minister, and was born in Pennsylvania. He moved with the family, when a mere lad, to Central Iowa. He was a thoroughly self-made man and made his way unaided from the time he was sixteen years of age. He taught school for a time, studied law with Judge Dunn, of Richmond, Mo., was admitted to the bar, and in 1870 came to Moulton, Iowa. He removed from there to Centerville in 1878. He practiced law in Appanoose and adjoining counties, and took rank as a lawyer of extraordinary ability in that part of the State up to the time of his death, which occurred in 1899.
