She was buried at Dumont, the first funeral in the new town.

OLD BLACK HAWK.—Hon. Zimri Street-er died at his home near Cedar Falls last Thursday evening. He would have been 79 next month. Mr. Streeter represented this county two terms in the lower House of Legislature at which time he was given the title of "Old Black Hawk." His readiness to crack a joke and his power to see the humorous in almost everything, which made him a universal favorite while serving the Iowa House, he retained to his death. Many an Iowan who reads the announcement of his death will recall some joke of "Old Black Hawk." He was a Republican of the most stalwart stripe, an honored citizen and friend.

Waterloo wants a line of railroad from its city to Des Moines and its capitalists are considerably "waked up" in the matter. If the route is a feasible one it will be pushed through, for there is no such word as fail in the vocabulary of Waterloo.

Blount; beautiful Dresden gold and wood set from groom to bride.

courts. As the expenses will be heavy, and many of those who have sued can ill afford to pay them, making the defense, there is an effort made to have the State make an appropriation of a few thousand dollars to these expenses. In Minnesota it was made an appropriation of three dollars to help the citizens in that State make a proper defense and there has been that those suits have been prosecuted in that State up to this we think the result would be the same in this State if an appropriation was made. The result of these suits now extends farther than the parties in suits now in the courts, as it is that in this county alone, there are hundred drive wells owned by persons who have not made a settlement with the owners of this patent, and if these suits pending should be decided against the parties making the defense, then the owners will commence to collect on all these wells.

The attorneys for the defense are confident of success in these cases and can only get their evidence before the courts in proper shape.

There will be petitions circulated out this county asking our Senators and Representatives to make an appropriation as above stated. ARTHUR THOMAS

Death of Hon. Zimri Streeter.

In our last issue it was stated that "Old Blackhawk", as Hon. Zimri Streeter was familiarly called, was at the point of death. He died at the residence of his son-in-law, Thomas Dobson, in East Waterloo township, on Wednesday last.

Zimri Streeter was born in Granville, Washington county, New York, Feb. 7, 1801. He resided there for many years and, on March 25th, 1824, was married to Miss Lucinda Dean who survives him. In June, 1835, they moved to Will county, Illinois, where they remained until 1853 when they came to this county. In 1857 he was elected to the legislature from this district, and served very acceptably for four years. He also was sergeant-at-arms for one term. He was subsequently appointed by the governor as commissioner from this military district to take the votes of the soldiers. In whatever position of honor and trust he was placed he discharged the duties faithfully and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

In politics he was a Whig until the formation of the Republican party, since which time he has been a staunch and true Republican. At the last State election, though in feeble health, he was brought to the polls in this city and voted the straight Republican ticket, declaring that it was one of the happiest events of his life. His crowning happiness, however, was when he learned that the Republican ticket was again successful in his native State.

He has been a member of the Congregational church since he was 18 years of age and has always lived a consistent life. Four years ago he had his right arm amputated on account of a cancer on his right hand which had troubled him for four years previous. During the seven years preceding his death he lived with his son-in-law, Thomas Dobson, and every thing was done to make his declining years comfortable.

Mr. Streeter had twelve children of whom nine are still living. He also had 51 grand-children and 11 great-grand-children. His wife, who survives him, is 78 years of age and enjoys good health.

Such in brief are a few of the principal events in the history of "Old Blackhawk." The men who were with him in the legislature and those who knew him at his own home, will ever retain a warm place in their hearts for the memory of Hon. Zimri Streeter.

NEWSPAPER: THE CEDAR FALLS GAZETTE
PUBLISHED: CEDAR FALLS, BLACK HAWK COUNTY, IOWA
ISSUE DATE: FRIDAY, 16 JANUARY 1880
CITATION: PAGE 3 (COLUMN 7)

TITLE: DEATH OF HON. ZIMRI STREETER

At the residence of his son-in-law, Thomas Dobson, about two miles east of Cedar Falls, on the 7th day of January, 1880, died the Hon. Zimri Streeter, in the 79th year of his age, leaving a wife and a large number of descendants to mourn his death.

Mr. Streeter was born February 7, 1801, at Granville, Washington County, New York, where he grew to manhood and was married March 25th, 1824, to Miss Lucinda Dean. They moved first to Champlain, Clinton county, New York, and lived there four years. Thence, they removed to Whitehall, Washington County, and afterwards to Warsaw. In June, 1835, they came to Will county, Illinois, and in May 1852, to Black Hawk County, where they have since resided.

He was elected representative from this district to the State legislature in 1857, and re-elected in 1859, serving one term, also, as sergeant-at-arms. He was afterwards appointed commissioner to take the votes of the soldiers for this military district, filling all the responsible positions in which he was called to act, to the acceptance and satisfaction of the public.

Formerly a Whig in politics, he at length supported James G. Birney for President, on the Abolition ticket, and afterwards Van Buren on the Free Soil ticket. He next voted for Fremont, and has been an earnest supporter of the Republican party since its formation, making extreme effort to the last to cast his vote for principles, deemed essential to the prosperity of the people.

At 18 years of age he united with the Congregational Church, and maintained his membership therein and a consistent life; - dying in the Christian faith, peacefully and joyfully, anticipating the "rest which remains for the people of God."

For several years he suffered greatly from a cancer, which totally destroyed his right hand; and on account of which, about four years ago, his arm was amputated above the elbow. Since then he has enjoyed good health; having naturally a robust and vigorous constitution. During these years he has resided with his son-in-law, Mr. Dobson, and has received every attention for his comfort and enjoyment.

Mr. Streeter had twelve children; ten of whom reached maturity, and nine of whom survive him. He also had fifty-one grandchildren, and fifteen great-grandchildren. His wife, a wise and faithful friend and counselor during all these years, still remains, in the enjoyment of good health, at the advanced age of 78 years.

The funeral services were held at Mr. Dobson's house, on the 9th inst., at 10 o'clock A.M., Rev. C. Gibbs officiating. There was a large attendance of the neighbors and relatives of the deceased, several of whom came from a distance to express their sympathy and respect. The remains were followed to the cemetery, near Curlis Ford's, where they were deposited – "earth to earth and dust to dust."

Leaving an unusually extensive acquaintance behind him, there are few of them who will not hear with regret of his decease, and who will not cherish a remembrance of him as of a friend departed.

They had no price to set on their manhood; but they won names which are synonyms for stern integrity.

While many other good and true men were for years earnest and faithful co-workers in this historic struggle, it was C. F. Clarkson whose brain devised the plan which discomfited a powerful combination which was, by most men, regarded as too strong to be successfully resisted. The magnitude of the victory can be measured by millions of dollars saved to western farmers in the forced reduction of more than 100 per cent from the syndicate price fixed upon fence wire. During his long and useful life Father Clarkson did his adopted State much valuable service in various capacities, but he regarded that above briefly noted, as his greatest achievement, as will history, when it is faithfully written. B. F. GUE.

ZIMRI STREETER—"OLD BLACK HAWK."

BY PETER MELENDY.

One of the unique characters among the pioneer lawmakers of Iowa, thirty years ago, was Zimri Streeter, "Old Black Hawk," as he was familiarly called by his colleagues in the General Assemblies of 1858-60. He was born February 7th, 1801, at Granville, Washington County, N. Y., where his boyhood years were spent on a farm. In 1824 he married Lucinda Dean, and in 1852 removed to Iowa, settling on a quarter section of prairie on the banks of the Cedar River, midway between Waterloo and Cedar Falls, which he had entered as government land. He built a good log cabin, into which they settled down and made their home for many years. He was a man of excellent judgment and sturdy integrity, always held in highest esteem by his neighbors. They believed in him, trusted him, and elected him to represent them in many responsible positions. He was honorable and straightforward in all the relations of life, a man of courage and convictions, with ability to maintain his views upon all occasions. He was never a demagogue or policy man, and despised everything that savored of insincerity or deception. He was a typical Iowa farmer, simple in his habits, plain of speech, positive in opinions, but tolerant with those who differed with him. He was staunch in his friendships, genial in manners and a hater of all shams.

In 1857 he was nominated by the Republicans of Black Hawk County for Representative in the Legislature, and elected by a large majority.

He went to Des Moines without any "axes to grind," and had no special measures to urge upon the Legislature. He was always in his seat, attentive to business, and invariably acted upon his own judgment. He had no vain ambition to see his name in print as the author of bills presented, but he took especial delight in showing up and defeating extravagant and selfish schemes. He held it to be the highest duty of a member, to closely examine every proposition presented to the Legislature, and unless it was clearly right and necessary, it had better be defeated. It is probable that no member of the House of 1858 and 1860 defeated so many visionary, vicious or useless bills as "Old Black Hawk." With great genialty, he possessed sound judgment, an unusual allowance of common sense, and saw at a glance through the various "schemes" that come before legislative bodies. A two minute speech, pointed with a touch of his irresistible humor and sarcasm, generally "did the business" for a measure that he thought ought to be defeated. Few people, aside from his colleagues, have ever known how valuable were the services he rendered the State during his four year's term in the Iowa Legislature.

A newspaper correspondent of that day thus describes him: "That old-looking man down there next to the wall, on the speaker's right, is Hon. Zimri Streeter, or "Old Black Hawk," the wag of the House. He is fifty-nine years of age, but hardly seems so old. He is a man who probably never enjoyed many advantages of education in his early days and doubtless has seen much of pioneer life. He understands human nature pretty thoroughly and is a man of mature experience, varied and extensive general information. He always comes squarely up to the work, and the call of the yeas and nays has no terror for him.

"He is a substantial, honest, patriotic old man—one whom it is safe to tie to every time. It is quite amusing to hear him speak. When he arises and says 'Mr. Speaker,' every member turns to hear 'the gentleman from Black Hawk.' He seldom speaks more than three or four minutes, and generally closes his remarks by the time the members get fairly fixed for hearing him. He makes a brief statement of his position, and concludes with some original witticism or humorous illustration, then drops into his chair, leaving the House convulsed with laughter. The members always expect to laugh when he rises to speak, and they never fail to have the opportunity; they see fun sticking out of his eyes.

"'Old Black Hawk' is a kind and generous man whenever he discovers merit or honesty of purpose in any member's course, but he is a regular terror to all excessively 'smart young men,' who come down to the Capitol with the idea that they 'know it all.' During the session of 1858 there were several members who justly deserved the severe sarcasm which he always had in store for the egotistic and pompous."

A bill was once under discussion relating to exemptions from sales under execution, which he deemed sheer demagoguery. "Mr. Speaker," said Uncle Zimri, "I hope our benevolent friends will not tinker up the law so as to prevent a feller from paying his debts if he wants to."

"He was one whose wit
Without wounding could hit,
And green be the turf that's above him."

At a meeting held by the citizens of Cedar Falls to celebrate the advent of the Dubuque & Sioux City railroad into that place in 1861, "Old Black Hawk" was called upon to respond to the following toast:

"Cedar Falls—from the stage coach to the locomotive."

Mr. Streeter said: "I have been accused of making short speeches. I do not claim any credit for it—for there is always a good reason for it. I remember well when in 1852 I moved my family from Illinois to this place with an ox-team. There was then a track most of the way—when it was dry ; but when it was a little moist—down it went out of sight! When I got here I inquired how often the mail came. I was told there was a man at Quasqueton who brought it through once a week ; in bad weather, not so often ; in very bad weather, not at all. He rode a blind horse, in order, I suppose, that when he came to a bad slough, the animal might 'go it blind.' A few years later the mail was carried in a buggy—afterwards in a two-horse rig. Finally it came in style on a four-horse stage coach. Now, I understand, though I do not pretend to know much about railroads, that the rails are laid upon the track ; then you carried the rails on your back to help the coach out of the mud."

In 1864 Mr. Streeter was appointed by the Governor as one of the Commissioners to take the vote of Iowa soldiers in the field.

During his long and useful life he was often chosen to positions of honor and trust by the people of Black Hawk county, and always served them with ability and fidelity. He died on the 7th of January, 1880, at the age of 79, respected and esteemed by all who knew him.

three years as school director. Previous to the war he was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist church and a strong anti-slavery man. He occasionally lectured on temperance, slavery and politics, his first political speech being made for Abraham Lincoln. He is now a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and a strong adherent to the principles of the Republican party. Henry Waterfield, father of William Waterfield, was born in Leicester, England, December 22, 1768. In his youth he worked with his father dressing and laying stone, and subsequently went to London and worked at the candle-maker's trade. He came to America in 1796, landing in New York, July 8. From there he went to New Brunswick, New Jersey, where he married Ann Guy, a widow. He soon after moved to Belvidere, New Jersey, and in 1819 to Hackettstown, Warren County, where his wife died; and in 1825 he married Mary Hasen, a native of Morris County, New Jersey, her father a native of Canada and her mother of Germany. Both died in New Jersey aged over eighty years. Henry Waterfield died April 29, 1849, aged eighty-three years, and his wife December 30, 1855, aged sixty-six years. They had three children—Jacob H., William and Catharine.

ZIMRI STREETER was born February 7, 1801, at Granville, Washington County, New York. He was married at his birthplace March 25, 1824, to Lucinda Dean, and in 1825 moved to Champlain County, New York. He removed to Whitehall, New York, in 1828, and from there to Warsaw, New York, in 1831. In 1835 he left Warsaw for Illinois, locating in Bachelor's Grove, where he remained till he came to Cedar Falls, Black Hawk County, Iowa, in the year 1852. Mr. Streeter went South in 1864 to get the soldiers' votes. He represented Black Hawk County in the State Legislature at Des Moines for two terms, serving in 1858 and 1860. He died in 1870. Mrs. Streeter was born in Lancaster, New Hampshire, September 24, 1801, she being the eldest of nine children, six boys and three girls. She removed with her parents to Granville, New York, in 1812 where she lived till her marriage. To Mr. and Mrs. Streeter were born twelve children—Lovina, born March 15, 1825; James W., October 26, 1826; Mary A., October 12, 1828; Cornelia R., January 12, 1831; Edward P., May 8, 1833; Sarah J., May 6, 1835; Lucinda C., May 16, 1837; Seth D., April 23, 1839; Lucy C., July 26, 1840; Zimri, October 8, 1842; Julia M., June 15, 1845; Silas D., August 29, 1847, nine of whom are still living.

JOHN WILSON was born near Springfield, Sangamon County, Illinois, December 25, 1823, a son of Seth and Sarah (Hussy) Wilson. He was reared in Tazewell County, Illinois, and in 1845 came to Iowa and lived six years in Monroe County, moving to Black Hawk County in 1851. He settled on a tract of wild land in Union Township, which he has improved, and which is now his pleasant home. He was married in Tazewell County in February, 1842, to Rhoda A. Finney, who was born near Cincinnati, Ohio, July 30, 1824, a daughter of John and Margaret (Cullum) Finney. Mrs. Wilson died April 6, 1884. Their family consisted of ten children, three of whom are deceased, and seven are living—Seth, born November 14, 1842, is living in Butler County, Iowa; John A., born September 3, 1844, is living in Washington Township; James P., born March 9, 1846, lives in La Porte; Sarah M., born March 14, 1848, is Original data: 1860 U.S. census, population schedule. NARA microfilm publication M653, 1,438 rolls. Washington, D.C.: National Archives and Records Administration, n.d.

Description:
 This database is an index to individuals enumerated in the 1860 United States Federal Census, the Eighth Census of the United States. Census takers recorded many details including each person's name, age as of the census day, sex, color; birthplace, occupation of males over age fifteen, and more. No relationships were shown between members of a household. Additionally, the names of those listed on the population schedule are linked to actual images of the 1860 Federal Census.
