DEATH OF A. D. ANDERSON.

A Brief Sketch of His Life and Eventful Career.

Alexander D. Anderson, whose death has been expected daily for a considerable time past, finally breathed his last at his room at the Key City House, at half past six o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. Anderson was born in Delaware, in 1815, being a descendant of the earliest Swedish settlers of that State. His parents removed to Philadelphia when he was yet an infant; and there he obtained a good education, and learned the business of lithographing. He came to Dubuque in 1837, and having in early life studied surveying, obtained employment as a clerk in the office of the Surveyor General, and soon became himself a practical surveyor. He surveyed much of the public lands in this State and Wisconsin and Minnesota. He filled for a term the office of Register of Public Lands. He was a member, about 1854, of the Legislature of Iowa from this county. He was a member of the Board of Supervisors of this county for some years, and chairman of that Board. He was for some years Clerk of the Supreme Court of the State. In all these positions, and more especially as Clerk of the Supreme Court, a position peculiarly fitted for his disposition, he gave excellent satisfaction. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his death. One of his children is Mr. Albert Anderson, of Dyersville, the other Mrs. Crane, formerly of Cascade, but now of Kansas. The funeral will take place from the Episcopal church, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Death of Major Grosvenor.

The death of Mr. E. F. Grosvenor, whose obituary notice appears in another part of this paper, occurred about 9 o'clock Sunday evening. Mr. G. was born on the first of December, 1837, in Utica, N. Y. Child Found.

The Lost Child, Hannah Ryan, found in the Maquoketa.
On August 30th, Hannah Ryan, daughter of Mrs. Ryan, of Ozark, disappeared from the residence of her parents, and one of the operatives of the dam at about five o'clock p. m. Her appearance at home a few days later was instituted, but failed to locate the little wanderer. Tracked for miles below the dam, the woods were thoroughly searched, but the little one was not seen. On Monday some 150 persons were engaged in searching the heavy timbered woods along the village of Ozark and the river. The distress of the child was indescribable, and conjectures prevailed; among them it had been kidnapped. On Tuesday morning, Mr. John Reddin, of the Ozark (father of the child), offered him a reward of one hundred dollars ($100) for the child dead or alive. The search continued until Tuesday evening, when the body of the little unfortunate was found on the west bank of the river, about fifty yards below the dam. The child had evidently attempted to jump out on the apron of the dam, but had slipped with a slippery moss, and had fallen into a deep pool of water that sweep in under the dam, and which ever since the child's death has been known as the "Hannah Ryan hole." The body was much decomposed, and was buried in a tomb on Tuesday night.

OBITUARY.

Death of Hon. Alexander D. Anderson.

Brief Sketch of His Life and Last Moments.

[Dubuque Herald.]
A not unexpected event occurred at 6:35 o'clock on Monday morning, but an event that has placed the entire community in mourning, for the loss of a great and good man, whose years have been filled with usefulness and honor, both to himself and the community in which he lived. One by one the early settlers of Dubuque county are crossing the "shining river," but all leave traces behind them which will ever live in the hearts of those who revere the memory of the founders of the city and state.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

Alexander D. Anderson was born on a beautiful farm situated upon the traditional Brandywine, in the state of Delaware, on Christmas day, in the year 1814, which would make him 63 years of age at the time of his death. When he was but a few months old, Mr. Anderson's parents moved to Philadelphia, where he was educated receiving the advantages of the best schools at that day in that city. In youth he was an apt scholar, and exhibited extraordinary powers of intellect, especially in the intricate study of mathematics. A short time previous to attaining his majority, he entered the lithograph establishment of P. S. Duval, then the most noted artist of the times, who had the contract for supplying the patent office and the United States senate with maps and lithographic drawings, up to 1860. Young Anderson exhibited a rare talent in the art of designing, and became one of the most accomplished workmen in the establishment. For some cause or another he abandoned lithography and engaged in the saddlery business, but did not remain in that trade long. In 1836 he married Miss Maria Matilda Dunsell, one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies in the city of Philadelphia. In 1837 he bade good bye to the scenes of his boyhood, and Philadelphia, determined to try his fortune in the great far west, which, at that time, was the Eldorado of the nation. Glowing accounts of the Galena and Dubuque lead mines influenced his steps hither, and in the fall of that year he entered the small hamlet of Dubuque, bent upon identifying himself, with the growth of his future home. He was soon known here as an energetic and educated gentleman, and was welcomed in that early day as a man of genius and ability.

He at once engaged in the profession of a surveyor, and being an accomplished draughtsman, he became popular for the plats, maps, and records that he made of his many surveys. Our official county records attest the scientific character of his work. From year to year he received the favor of the people, as his acquaintance was extended, until he was selected, more than 20 years ago, as the last custodian of the archives of the last Register and Receiver of the respective offices of the Dubuque land district, in which capacity he became eminent at the seat of government for the accurate and efficient manner in which he discharged his duties. At the time he received the appointment more than four-fifths of the people in the district signed his recommendation, which was significant of the esteem in which he was then held by the community. In 1852 he was elected to represent the Dubuque State Legislature. Collection compiled by volunteers with Mr. Richard Bonson, his colleague. He soon became a leading member of that body, and

His death was a great loss to the community, and his memory will be long and justly honored.

Old Settlers.

The Snowden Brothers.

GEORGE SNOWDEN.
Mr. GEORGE SNOWDEN, was born in the county of Monaghan, (near Ballyby), Ireland, in the year 1813, and came to America in 1835, and temporarily located in Philadelphia, and after a brief residence in that city, came west to Iowa, and settled in Dubuque, in 1835, and was engaged in mining and smelting for some three years with Messrs. Disney, McLellan & O'Farrell; after which he returned to Philadelphia, and while there was married to Eliza Boyd; then returned to Iowa, and purchased a farm in Richland township, Jones county, and engaged in farming, and remained in that township ten or twelve years, after which in connection with his brother Robert, he purchased a tract of land of 588 acres, on Johns Creek, in Whitewater township, and resided there until 1876, when he sold it to Mr. Richard Patterson. Having acquired a comfortable competency he retired to a small farm in Monticello township, on the military road, and is taking life easy and comfortable.

States in 1837, landed at New York and from thence to Philadelphia, and was there engaged in the machine shops for a time and afterwards engaged in the dairy business. In 1860 came to this state and settled in Whitewater township, Dubuque county, on the farm he now resides upon.
Mr. Snowden is an industrious and well to do farmer, and has prospered and is the owner of 360 acres of well tilled land.
The Snowden Brothers are good citizens and first-class men.

But more recently he was elected one of the supervisors of the county, and chairman, and then as before and since, he discharged his public duties so faithfully that no reproach is left on his character or reputation. During his official career he resided at Dubuque. A few years ago he removed to Cascade, where he acted in the capacity of Justice of the Peace, the people of the township insisting upon his accepting the office.
He purchased a farm near Cascade upon which he resided until quite recently, for the purpose of again becoming a resident of the city he helped to foster, and which he lived to see grow into eminence and beauty. Six weeks ago he moved with his wife to this city, and took rooms at the Key City House, with his old friend Mr. Bucknam. For a long time previous to his late illness, he had been ailing with the disease that had caused his death - softening of the brain, caused, no doubt, by his constant mental work. His malady occasionally threw him into epileptic fits, and he suffered until his mind became exhausted, and his body prostrate upon the death bed. For two weeks he has been slowly but surely passing away, notwithstanding the best medical aid in the state, and the constant care of kind friends, exerted their utmost to save him. During his last moments he was surrounded by his wife, son and daughter, Mrs. Crane, of Ottawa, Kansas, the two latter the only surviving members of a family of five children.

Mr. Anderson was a man of positive character and correct principles, a true friend to honest men, a christian gentleman, a liberal hearted citizen, and very highly respected, not only by his many warm personal friends, but by his acquaintances among the public generally. Truly we can say, a great and good man has gone to his long home.
His funeral took place from the Episcopal Church, at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.
