3 11 EXPLANATION

3 12 This bill relates to the offense of identity theft,
3 13 including providing for civil causes of action, and the rights
3 14 of financial institutions regarding violations.

3 15 The bill expands the definition of "identification
3 16 information" to include a student or military identification
3 17 number, alien or citizenship number, employer identification
3 18 number, signature or electronic signature, electronic 3 19 identifier or screen name, biometric identifier, genetic 3 20 identification information, access device, logo, symbol, or 3 21 trademark. The bill provides a definition of "financial 3 22 institution".

3 23 The bill describes the appropriate venues in which 3 24 violations may be prosecuted. The bill provides that any 3 25 property obtained by a person as a result of identity theft
3 26 that is in the possession of the person is subject to seizure
3 27 and forfeiture pursuant to Code chapter 809A. Either a
3 28 victim, or a financial institution that has indemnified a 3 29 victim, may act as an interest holder and file a claim for 3 30 forfeited property for the payment of damages suffered by the 3 31 victim due to the violation.

3 32 The bill provides that a financial institution may file a
3 33 complaint of identity theft on behalf of a victim. A peace
3 34 officer shall take a complaint in a report of identity theft
3 35 at the request of a victim and provide a copy of the report to 4 1 the victim. The peace officer may also provide copies of the 4 2 report to a law enforcement agency in another jurisdiction
4 3 with proper venue.

4 4 The bill provides that a financial institution may file a
4 5 civil action on behalf of an account holder who has suffered a
4 6 loss of money due to identity theft. The civil action filed
4 7 by or on behalf of a victim may seek certain damages described 4 8 by the bill. The bill increases the amount of statutory 4 9 damages available from $1,000 or three times the actual 4 10 damages to $5,000 or three times the actual damages, and 4 11 provides for the recovery of costs for the repair of a
4 12 victim's credit history, costs incurred for bringing an action
4 13 to satisfy an obligation of the victim, and for punitive 4 14 damages. Current law already provides for recovery of 4 15 attorney fees and court costs.

4 16 The bill provides that for the purpose of determining the 4 17 statute of limitations period for civil actions to recover
4 18 losses incurred due to identity theft, the limitations period
4 19 shall not begin to run until the victim discovers the identity
4 20 theft.
