

and unswerving in lending his whole self in the interests of what he believed to be fair, right and just.

His life has been an inspiration and living example to those who have courage to do something worth while in this life, even though they find themselves handicapped to do very largely for themselves what otherwise might be more easily accomplished by the assistance of friends of influence and means.

On the night of April 3d, at Long Beach, California, the All Wise Creator summoned Horace Boies into that great beyond. But the good that he has accomplished through a life of conscientious effort, of kindly deeds and high minded purpose to do right has left a heritage with his family and the people of this state which will live on for the years to come.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the House of the Fortieth General Assembly of Iowa, that in the death of Governor Horace Boies, the state and community where he lived, have suffered the loss of an influential and honorable citizen; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the chief clerk be directed to send an engrossed copy thereof to his family.

Chairman.

HON. ELWOOD MACEY

Elwood Macey was born in Indiana in 1836 and came to Iowa in 1861, located in Springdale, Cedar county in 1872 where he farmed under the usual primitive conditions.

Was elected to the House of Representatives in the fall of 1876 and served among those who set precedents instead of following them.

If there is one reason more than any other why Iowa stands preeminent among the sisterhood of states it is not her matchless soil and climate, but is to be found in the character of those who served her in official capacity during those the formative days of her history.

Later he moved to Mt. Vernon and took his part in the affairs of that city, was elected mayor twice and retired from the office with the satisfaction to be derived from a sense of duty well done.

He passed this life at his home in Mt. Vernon on February 20, 1923. He leaves two daughters to mourn his loss and is followed to the great beyond with the good wishes and respect of the entire community.

In this the time of retrospection clear,
 We backward look for those whom we have known,
 Who walked with us one half the bitter year,
 Then turned to walk alone.
 Beseeching grace on those who've passed us by,
 May our bereavement seem their sweet relief.
 May God himself send solace from on high
 To grant their Spirits peace.
