

disbursements from the state aviation fund for such purposes.” The Code of Iowa requires every airman, aircraft, aeronautics instructor, landing area and air school to be registered annually with the commission.

The commission’s responsibilities are briefly as follows:

- A. Facilitate the construction and maintenance of: New airports; hard surfacing of runways; airport lighting systems; radio navigational aids; meteorological instrumentation for airports.
- B. Airport Zoning Requirements and Regulation: Prevention of airport hazards.
- C. Registration and Certification: All aircraft in the state; all pilots, mechanics, aviation instructors and air schools; airports; all aircraft dealers.
- D. Safety and Education: Pilot recertification courses; College and high school aviation curriculum courses; Pilot seminars and clinics; Dissemination of safety information to aircraft owners and pilots on a regular basis.
- E. Intervention: Public hearings on behalf of the state, municipality or citizen thereof. Represent the state before the Civil Aeronautics Board in Commercial Air Carrier cases, the Federal Aviation Administration in connection with the National Airport Systems Plan and federal grants to the state under the Airport/Airways Development Act of 1970.
- F. Services: Engineering and planning; Approval of plans and specifications as required by the Code of Iowa; Maintaining a library of audio-visual aids; Technical advisory publications; Counseling municipalities on airport development; Formulate contractual agreements; Technical services and investigations.

Since 1955 the commission has completed 579 airport projects in 116 Iowa communities from which one dollar of Aeronautics Commission funds has generated approximately five dollars of local and federal funds. The airport development program of the commission has increased the number of municipally owned airports from 46 in 1948 to 124 in 1973, an increase in the number of airports having hard-surfaced runways from 7 in 1948 to 87 in 1973. There are 124 airports which have runway lights operated during the hours of darkness, ranking Iowa fifth in the U.S. in this category. In fiscal 1973 an all-time high was attained in airman and aircraft registrations with 8,824 and 2,652 respectively.

In November 1972 the Iowa State Airport System Plan was completed for the commission. This plan, a requirement of the F.A.A., will become a part of the National Airport System Plan. This extensive study was prepared for the commission by the Engineering Research Institute, Iowa State University, and recommends airport development and improvement projects through the next 20 years totaling $224,509,000 for General Aviation airports $83,569,000, for Air Carrier airports $140,940,000. This expenditure includes the needs for New Airports, New Hard-surfaced Runways, Runway Lengthening, Runway Over-lays and Strengthening, Tax-way and Ramp construction, and Terminal Building construction.
