STRENGTHENING LOW-INCOME FAMILIES & NEIGHBORHOODS SERVICES FOR STATE LEGISLATURES NCSL / ANNIE E. CASEY PARTNERSHIP

The National Conference of State Legislatures / Annie E. Casey Partnership on Strengthening Families and Neighborhoods focuses on ways to help families achieve economic success and overall well-being. The partnership provides up-to-date information and services to legislatures about ways to improve outcomes for children and families by involving legislators who serve on budget and tax, economic development, education, financial services, human services, local government, transportation and workforce development committees.

We bring you the information you want. Services can take many forms--presentations or testimony before legislative committees, workshops or special briefings, research assistance, putting you in contact with legislators across the country— and at no charge to your state.

Examples of recent technical assistance include:

- Testimony on Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) outreach to a legislative interim committee in West Virginia.
- Retreat for Pennsylvania legislators, city council members and others from Philadelphia to help working families build assets and boost them into the financial mainstream.
- Presented framework on family economic success including policy approaches and system reform to legislators and legislative staff from across the country.
