A Year in Review: the Academy in Fiscal 2014

Approximately 6,000 peace officers in Iowa are currently certified, as well as 1,300 reserve officers. Jailers (some of whom are certified peace officers, while some are civilian correctional officers) and about 1,300 telecommunicators in the state are also mandated by the Iowa Administrative Code, Section 501, to be trained at various levels.

In FY 2014, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy trained 172 officers to obtain their basic peace officer certification. The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy also oversees two intermediate and three regional academies, who trained 75 additional officers to obtain their peace officer certification. 12 officers became certified peace officers through examination in FY 2014, since they had been sworn officers in another state within twelve months of their hire date in Iowa. 93 reserve officers underwent training via online learning modules.

Additionally, 1077 peace officers completed specialty, instructor, or re-certification of instructor qualifications in FY 2014. In addition to the five basic law enforcement training schools, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy also provided 13 law enforcement instructor certification schools, 40 law enforcement instructor re-certification schools, and 17 law enforcement specialty training schools. The Five Star Leadership Program, included in the specialty schools was sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and attended by 50 officers.

20 specialized law enforcement schools were conducted by ILEA for free through grants funds from the Governors Traffic and Safety Bureau and STOP Violence Against Women reaching out to 476 participants. 9 trainings were held specifically for GTSB serving 127 officers. 11 trainings were held regarding STOP Violence Against Women and served 349 attendees composed of Law Enforcement Officers, Title IX Investigators, Department of Inspections and Appeals, Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners, Advocates, and Prosecutors.

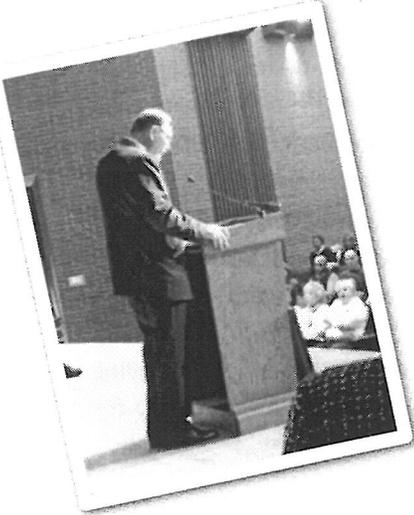

A total of 998 jailers and 167 telecommunicators obtained basic and specialty training in FY 2014. The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy hosted four basic jail training schools, and 9 specialized jail trainings in addition to 24 jail in-service schools. The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy held three basic telecommunicator training events, one advanced telecommunicator school, one communications supervisor school, and two telecommunicator in-service courses. Additionally, 23 medical related schools including First Aid, CPR, AED, and Mental Health training were provided to 534 officers throughout FY 2014.

In sum, the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy provided 183 training opportunities for law enforcement, jailers, and telecommunicators for a total of 3519 individuals receiving training. The Academy remains

PROFESSIONALISM THROUGH TRAINING

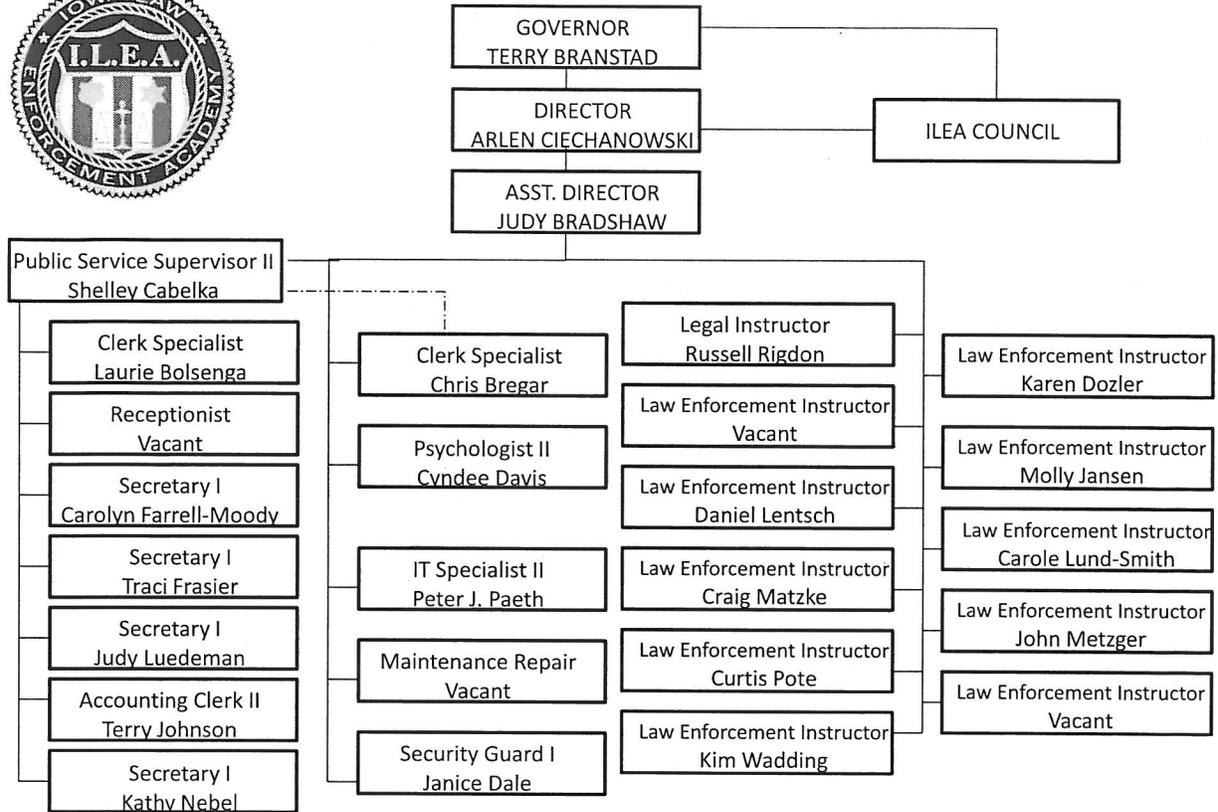

A history of the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy

The Iowa Law Enforcement Academy was created by an act of the Iowa legislature in 1967 with the purpose to improve law enforcement to professional status. The specific goals were to maximize training opportunities for law enforcement officers and to coordinate training and set standards for the law enforcement services. The Academy establishes minimum hiring standards for Iowa peace officers and grants officer's certification. The Academy has the responsibility to decertify or to suspend an officer's peace officer certification when necessary. Furthermore, the Academy is responsible for providing basic and in-service or specialty training for all county and city jailers as well as telecommunication personnel. Finally, the Academy is also tasked with establishing standards and training requirements for reserve peace officers.

After ten years of work, in 1967 the legislature passed what is now known as Iowa Code Chapter 80B, which created the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy and the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy Council. Specifically, this code sets forth that the Academy must set standards, regulate law enforcement, and grant officer certification for those persons successfully completing training, as noted above. In the first three years, the Academy was under the auspices of the Department of Public Safety. However, in 1970, the Legislature made the Academy an autonomous department and placed it under the Office of the Governor, who appoints the Director. Since its inception, the Academy has been served by five directors: John F. Callaghan, 1968-1983; Ben Yarrington, 1983-1993; Gene W. Shephard, 1993-2002; E.A. "Penny" Westfall, 2002-2011; and current Academy Director, Arlen Ciechanowski, who was appointed in 2011. The Governor's Office also appoints members of the Academy Council for four year terms. Please refer to Appendix A for a list of the FY2014 Academy Council.
