Projects in development:

Droessler Subdivision / Spruce Creek Park (unincorporated community and County park in Jackson County) population 234 / 122 - water system – community has individual septic systems on small lots and less than required minimum separation from private wells. One public well has contamination issues. Project is in development with public meetings, determination of legal requirements to establish system that would be adjacent to the City of Bellevue city limits. Annexation was discussed and rejected. Preliminary engineering report is complete.

Elvira (unincorporated community in Clinton County) population 34 – wastewater system – community has common wastewater drain to roadside ditch. County is actively working with EIRUSS to develop project – engineering plans are complete and land acquisition process is beginning. Construction is anticipated for summer 2015.

Lake Delhi (unincorporated community in Delaware County) population 570 permanent / 1,140 seasonal - wastewater system – community has homes and businesses with wastewater systems ranging from 55 gallon drums with a discharge pipe, septic tanks, leach fields and mounds to mechanical Advantex systems. Preliminary engineering report is complete and project remains on hold due to project cost and awaiting the reconstruction of the spillway (collapsed in 2010) to reestablish the lake.

Morley (incorporated city in Jones County) population 115 - wastewater system – city has individual septic systems, small lots and high water table resulting in few approved Time of Transfer septic inspections. Preliminary engineering report is complete and project remains on hold due to project cost and unacceptable projected user rates.

Petersburg (unincorporated community in Delaware County) population 176 - wastewater system - community has three common wastewater drains serving majority of community discharging to farm fields

Other Communities assisted:

Bankston (incorporated city in Dubuque County) population 26 - wastewater and water systems in place - discussed operation issues and options

Center Junction (incorporated city in Jones County) population 111 - water system in place - City is considering discontinuing and EIRUSS taking ownership of system

Rochester (unincorporated community in Cedar County) population 167 - wastewater system - EIRUSS discussed issues and options with Cedar County Supervisors and residents.

Sunbury (unincorporated community in Cedar County) population 45 - wastewater system - EIRUSS discussed issues and options with Cedar County Supervisors.
