ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

Senator Gronstal placed in nomination the name of Senator Pam Jochum of Dubuque as a candidate for the office of President of the Senate for the Eighty-fifth General Assembly.

There being no further nominations, the Chair put the question to the Senate, and Senator Jochum was unanimously elected by a voice vote.

Senator Jochum was administered the oath of office by Chief Justice Mark S. Cady.

President Jochum took the chair at 10:29 a.m.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Senator Gronstal placed in nomination the name of Senator Steven J. Soddors of Marshall County as a candidate for the office of President Pro Tempore for the Senate for the Eighty-fifth General Assembly.

There being no further nominations, the Chair put the question to the Senate, and Senator Soddors was unanimously elected by a voice vote.

The Chair announced that Senator Soddors had been elected President Pro Tempore of the Eighty-fifth General Assembly.

Senator Soddors appeared, took the oath of office, and was congratulated and presented to the Senate by President Jochum.

OPENING REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

President Jochum addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

Welcome to the 85th General Assembly of the Iowa Legislature.

I am honored to serve as the President of the Senate.

As the Senate's presiding officer, I will be inspired by my predecessors, including the irreplaceable Jack Kibbie of Emmetsburg, the godfather of Iowa's community colleges.

We've all traveled our own paths to this day. I want to especially welcome the 11 new members of the Senate and their families.

Congratulations on the commitment to public service that brought you here today.

My own journey to this podium is grounded in my experiences as a lifelong resident of Dubuque.

Both my parents grew up in Dubuque. After serving in the Navy, my dad started out working on the line at a family owned business, the Dubuque Packing Company. He eventually worked his way up to becoming a company vice president.

My mother managed our household and guided six children to successful adulthood. In her "spare" time, she volunteered to prepare and serve the breakfast and lunch program at the neighborhood grade school.

My parents brought their children up to be involved in our community, and to give something back in return for all that had been given to us.

There was one other group of people who influenced me. As you may know, the Dubuque area is home to five women religious orders.

The good sisters instilled a passion for justice in me. They taught with their words and actions that all persons are created equal.

And they taught us that to fail to speak up and do what's right is to fail to do your duty as a citizen.

Democracy, equality, justice were not just words we learned in school. The sisters taught us they were ideals that we should seek to advance in our personal and public lives.

Years later, as a young mother, I encountered discrimination that brought that passion for justice to life.

At the time, "Area Residential Care," a local group that helped adults with intellectual disabilities, hoped to build a group home in an upscale Dubuque neighborhood.

One particular individual was quite vocal in his opposition to the home. He told me that he didn't like the way "they" looked. He worried the presence of people like them would lower property values.

Despite the opposition, the city council granted the building permit.

There are now some two dozen similar group homes in Dubuque. Adults with intellectual disabilities and their families are more integrated into our community than ever before. And Dubuque is more beautiful and a better place to live because of it.

That was my first experience with the discrimination that my daughter, Sarah, faces simply for being who she is. It helped convince me to run for public office.

In 1992 I became the first woman to represent the City of Dubuque in the Iowa Legislature.

I arrived in Des Moines ready to pass legislation to improve the lives of Iowa families and make our state more prosperous. I'm sure many of you walked in the Statehouse today with the same goals.

However, my ambitious plans collided with a harsh political reality.

As a Democratic member of the Iowa House, I would spend the next 14 years in the minority.

Pat Ward, our former colleague, knew how to accomplish things for Iowans even while in the minority. With patience, persistent good will, and hard work, Pat helped improve the lives of Iowans.

In the last few years, I was honored to work with her to give young people involved in the juvenile justice system a second chance.

Pat knew how to put good government ahead of good politics, and we all miss her.

Today, Iowa is one of only three states with a divided legislature. To be successful, we must all work together.

The troubling questions confronting us do not have a Democratic answer, or a Republican answer, or an urban answer, or a rural answer.

They can only have human answers for they are the questions that ask what kind of life we want to live together.

One of those troubling questions is how to ease the serious health care worries many Iowa families have.

Fortunately, on this important issue, legislators from both parties have already listened to Iowans and already worked successfully together.

Several non-partisan health care commissions made up of health care providers, insurers, business advocates, and consumers have pointed us in the right direction.

Former Democratic Governor Tom Vilsack and then-former Governor Terry Branstad co-chaired one of those commissions.

One result is that Iowa Republicans and Democrats worked together to expand Hawk-i, the Healthy and Well-Kids of Iowa insurance program.

That bipartisan effort is why Iowa's children are now among the healthiest in the nation.

And that's why Governor Branstad was absolutely right to set his sights on making Iowa the healthiest state in the nation.

Today, Iowa is well positioned to lead the nation in solving tough health care problems for families and businesses alike.

We can do it by showing the nation how to put lasting progress ahead of short-term partisanship.

This session, let's continue our bipartisan effort to improve mental health services across the state.

This session, let's keep investing in the services that allow our older citizens to stay in their own homes.

And here's the biggest opportunity for this session to make a positive difference for Iowans.

Right now, too many Iowa families risk the loss of their home and bankruptcy if a parent or spouse or child becomes ill.

Right now, our local hospitals and health care providers are burdened with roughly one billion dollars each year in uncompensated care.

Right now, that uncompensated care drives up insurance costs for every Iowa business and every family with health insurance.

We can fix this problem, and we can do it right now.

Last month, I listened Iowa's health care leaders from across the state.

The people who know Iowa health care issue best are speaking with one voice. They are urging us to expand Medicaid.

They point out that expanding Medicaid will make affordable health insurance available to all Iowans; expanding Medicaid will make Iowa's health care system financially secure; and expanding Medicaid slow rising health care costs for Iowa families and Iowa businesses.

By expanding Medicaid, we will bring health insurance to 80,000 currently uninsured Iowans and preserve health care for 70,000 Iowans currently on IowaCare.

Iowans look at the mess divided government in Washington D.C. has produced and they shake their heads.

Iowans expect better from their state legislature, and we have delivered in previous sessions.

Early in this session, let's show Iowans that rather than engaging in senseless partisanship, we will again listen to them and do what's right.

I strongly encourage you to talk with the hospitals, nursing homes, doctors and other health care providers in your districts.

I did, and I'm convinced that expanding affordable health insurance is one of the best things we can do for Iowa families and to help grow the Iowa economy.

When our children and grandchildren look back, I hope they will remember this session as a time when Iowa's common sense and Iowa's sense of community rose up to meet the challenge of our times.

At the close of the convention that drafted the United States Constitution, Ben Franklin asked this question: "Is it a rising or a setting sun?" Each generation since 1787 has answered that question. Once again, the answer rests with us.

Thank you.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Senator Dix addressed the Senate as follows:

Thank you, Madame President.

I am proud and honored to stand here today and address my fellow legislators and Iowans. Like every other hard-working citizen, those of us in the Senate wear many different hats. Those of a spouse, a parent, a farmer, a small business owner, a legislator, and a taxpayer.

Regardless of the hat, we know the recent years have presented great challenges, that require difficult decisions to be made by families across Iowa. Belts have been tightened and budgets have been cut. Much like our family budgets, the state has been living within its means with solid success. We can and will continue to do this with sound fiscal leadership and smart planning.

Our state coffers are full, full with dollars that have come from family budgets. As legislators, we must realize and appreciate this is not our money. It's not the state's money. It's yours, and yours, and yours!

Every decision we make this year must be firmly rooted in our accountability to the hard working people of Iowa who pay their own bills and the bills of government. We owe them a budget that continues to spend less than we take in and protects our state in the event of a "rainy day", while allowing them to keep more of their own money.

As we work to enact meaningful legislation this year, it is important to keep in mind that we are all Iowans, working toward a better life in the state we love. Part of that better life is a lower tax burden. Not simply a shuffling of burden, but a real reduction of their tax burden that empowers Iowans to grow small businesses, educate their children, and save for their future. We all trust and believe in the quality of the character of Iowans and know that empowering them is how we best serve them all.

Providing a top-tier education system is vital to our future growth and success as a state. As legislators we hear from Iowa's largest employers, our small business owners, the heads of our Universities, parents, from every sector of our state, they all want to make certain we do everything we can to improve Iowa's education system. To prepare Iowa students to not simply go to good schools, or the best in the Midwest, or even in our country. We need to have the best schools anywhere so Iowa graduates and Iowa employers can compete in the global marketplace.

This year, like ever year in the Iowa Legislature, we will see important legislation cross our desks, attend many meetings discussing a variety of issues, debate bills that are near and dear to our hearts as well as bills to which we have no personal connection. At the end of the day, we were all sent to Des Moines to get a job done, serve the people of Iowa who are affected by the consequences and pay the bills we incur.

We are all working to do what we think is right. We will work together to accomplish the task at-hand and help leave Iowa a better place than we found it. We owe that to future generations.

Let's make it happen!

Thank you.

REMARKS BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Senator Gronstal addressed the Senate as follows:

Thank you, Madame President.

And congratulations on the confidence that your colleagues have placed in you.

I want to welcome senators, staff, pages, our families and guests, and the public to the start of the 2013 session of the Iowa Senate.

I especially want to welcome the senators who just took the oath of office for the first time.

Some of you went through a challenging campaign to get here.

Some of us went through a challenging campaign to return here.

Now's the time to set that aside.

Elections are about giving voters a choice by highlighting our differences.

Governing is about helping citizens solve problems by finding common ground.

And, when we are at our best, that's what we do here in the Iowa Senate.

In recent years, we've kept the focus on bread-and-butter issues that matter most to Iowans: jobs, education, and health care.

As the Senate Majority Leader, I will work to continue that focus. It's the best way to expand Iowa's middle class, and it's the best way to bring long-term prosperity to our state.

I will highlight just one policy proposal today.

My top priority for the 2013 session is addressing Iowa's skill shortage.

We've all read reports showing that Iowa businesses can't find the workers they need to expand.

Let's remember that Iowa actually DOES NOT have a shortage of workers; we have a shortage of SKILLED workers.

That's why this session we should do more to help Iowa workers upgrade their skills.

I recently met with educators, business leaders, and community college students in Sioux City, Mason City, Newton, Fort Dodge, and Council Bluffs.

At one of those meetings, an Iowan told me a story that I'd like to share with you. He said that just a couple of months ago, he was working for the minimum wage, struggling to support his family.

Then, he got one of the Kibbie Grants we created last year. That made it possible for him to enroll at his local community college for a month long class in commercial driving.

He completed the class, got his CDL, and he was quickly hired for a much better job as truck driver.

That was good news for his family, for the business that hired him and for the Iowa economy as a whole.

And it was all possible because Democrats and Republicans in the Iowa Legislature found common ground.

Last year, we took one step forward. This year, we should take several more.

Adult basic education is for adults that—for whatever reason—didn't get a high school diplomat. And Iowa is one of just three states that provide almost no support to adult basic education.

Let's listen to Iowans and expand our definition of adult education.

Let's increase our investment in improving the skills of workers at all levels; everything from non-degree programs like those that help you earn a Commercial Driver's License, to one-or two-year associate degrees, to four-year and post-graduate degrees.

Why shouldn't Iowa become the best state in the nation when it comes to workforce training?

I want to be able to tell businesses: "We can help train workers so they have whatever skills you need to succeed."

This can be the common ground that unites all four caucuses and the executive branch. Investing in workers is the best way to grow our economy and help Governor Branstad reach his goal, which we share, of increasing Iowa family income by 25 percent.

Thank you.

ADOPTION OF TEMPORARY RULES AND TEMPORARY COMPENSATION
