PREFACE.

The Seventh General Assembly of the State of Iowa, about the first day of February, 1858, passed the following Joint Resolution:

"Resolved, the Senate concurring, that WM. SMITH, of Linn county, W. T. BARKER, of Dubuque county, and CHARLES BEN DARWIN, of Des Moines county, be and are hereby appointed Commissioners to draft and report to the Judiciary Committee of the two houses a Code of Civil and Criminal procedure; and also to report such changes as may seem necessary to harmonize existing laws and adapt them to the new constitution; and said Commissioners to Revise and Codify the General Laws of the State so far as practicable, and report the same in the several parts through the Judiciary Committees to the legislature as speedily as practicable; and that after the same shall have been enacted as laws by the General Assembly, that said Commissioners shall arrange and index all of the General Laws into one volume, to be published by order of the General Assembly; said volume to contain all General Laws in force in the State."

The gentlemen named in the above resolution entered at once upon their appointed labors, but soon becoming better advised of the magnitude of the undertaking, they reported to the Legislature the impossibility of completing the work during the session. It resulted that on the 11th day of March, 1858, the following Act was passed:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the Commissioners appointed by the Legislature to conform the Laws of the State to the Constitution and perform other duties, are hereby directed to prepare a Code of Civil and Criminal procedure, and Revise and Codify the Laws of the State and have their report ready for publication by the first day of September, 1858.

SEC. 2. Immediately after the filing of their report by said Commissioners, the Secretary of State shall procure to be printed 500 copies of said report, and one month previous to the next session of the General Assembly whether the same be an extra or regular one, shall mail to each member thereof one copy of such printed report and shall retain the residue for the use of the General Assembly."

To the Eighth Session in January, 1860, this Commission presented a Code of Civil Practice, designed as a substitute for Part Third of the Code of 1851. It became law with a few changes and constitutes that portion of this book known as PART THIRD. The Commission also presented at same session a Code of Criminal Practice, designed to supersede and stand for all of Titles 24 and 25 of the Code of 1851, except the Chapter 187, concerning the government of the Penitentiary, which subject was not included in the new Criminal Code. The act with little change became law, and constitutes the Code of Criminal Practice found herein.
The Commission to whom the Seventh General Assembly of the State of Iowa, assigned the duty, among other things, to "Revise and Codify the Laws of the State," herewith tender their report thereon:

There occurred to us in the outset of this branch of the work, a question as to the extent of our duty—namely, whether it intended a mere revision, such as would be met by a compilation and arrangement in proper order of the existing laws, without change, or a codification which would imply not only the former, but also a creation of new law, such as we might deem demanded by our conditions as a people. We concluded that the first, the mere revision, was intended.

And such a revision do we now present. We will give the reasons which led us to this conclusion. 1. We were attendant during the last session when this branch of the work was discussed and expressed in the act defining our duty, and we well remember such to have been the accepted understanding of its intention. 2. This conclusion comports with our view of the actual wants of the State.

To codify the law, is to state in a system, not only the law in force by statute, but also that announced in decisions, as well as that not yet so announced, but remaining thus far the grand fund of common law, out of which new decisions are daily made. Such codification would be very desirable, but is not to be attained without the painful labor of many minds working in concert for many years. This was accomplished, as to part of the law under the inspiration of the great Napoleon, in the Code which bears his name, and which will live when Marengo and Austerlitz are forgotten. The attempt to codify all the law, is being seriously urged in England, and has been actually entered upon in New York by a commission appointed for the term of seven years. The systems called Codes, as of Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia, North Carolina, Iowa, &c., are not codifications, in the sense in which the word is here used, except to a very limited extent. These are revisions of the statute law, with a further announcement of a few provisions of general law which have heretofore been expressed only in decisions. Codification aims to leave no law unexpressed in statute, to the end that the law may be read and known of all men, and the ex post facto result of judge-made law, may thus be averted.

There is a part of the law of every State, which is peculiar to such State. It may exist elsewhere, but has not, for that reason, been adopted—but, on the contrary, has been adopted, because such State, elected to enact it as adapted to its condition. Such is called political, police, or administrative law. There is, also, much other law which is not enacted, but is appropriated, as the occasion arises, from that fountain of municipal justice, which we call the common law, and which has not been by such State expressly enacted. Our Code and its cognates, include only the former kind of law, with a few of the principles which have heretofore been of the other kind.

We think that this State is not ready for a codification of the former kind of law—its resources have not been yet sufficiently developed—its population has not yet become sufficiently compact. The wants met by such a kind of legislation are yet fluctuating, and though rapidly developing, they are yet unfixed.

This assertion might be predicated, a priori, upon a knowledge of the uneven diffusion of our population, and upon its steady and rapid growth, and the assumption is verified by the modifications suggested and made at each session of the General Assembly. We think that as these men, who come biennially from each neighborhood in the State, yet fail in that kind of legislation, to make such laws as remain long acceptable to the whole, we, but three men, without remarkable opportunities of observation, should more signally fail to recommend a system of this kind of law which would be wisely so adapted. The day for such a work will be when Iowa shall have much more fully expressed her legislative will in her statutes, and such statutes will form the basis of such a codification, which should be but their revision. It is true regarding such law as we are speaking of, that it should grow, or to speak less poetically, but more logically, it should be suggested by a well defined existing public want, and be exactly shaped to respond to it. To the codification of the other kind of law, the same objection does not obtain. For it is that kind of law which does not owe its fitness to the accidents of time and place, but rests on relations and rights, which are not qualified by the census, the population or depopulation of a state, or the rise or fall of a sovereignty. The objection to its codification is the enormous labor and time required, and the fact that it is being attempted by older and better qualified States, whose labors or experience may, in the future, be a guide to us, in this comparatively untried field. Such reasons deterred us from embarking in the endeavor of codification.
Codification, in such department of law, to a limited extent, after the manner in which the same was very sparingly attempted in the Code of Iowa, of 1851, we deem not only practicable, but highly desirable. The subject of promissory notes,—bills of exchange,—bailment,—agency,—co-partnership,—insurance,—contracts,—landlord and tenant,—suretyship,—husband and wife,—infants,—guardian and ward,—administration,—guaranty, is such, as without extraordinary labor, might be codified. Such codification would consist in a statement in one statute of that law which is now only to be found scattered through the decisions reported in many thousand volumes. It would dispose of the evil of conflicting decisions—compact the law into portable and cheap and easily obtainable shape, and avert the thousand evils of non-statute law.

But, we have not attempted even this kind of codification, because, had we deemed our powers sufficiently ample, our time has been all occupied, either in imperative private affairs, or in the preparation of the reports presented.

The method of arrangement chosen in this revision, is not the alphabetical one, which might have been chosen, had no method been imposed by the Code of 1851; but that method is so good, and so well understood, that a change would neither be sustained by reason, nor by the approval of the people. The method or classification of the Code has very illustrious prototypes, and among the States there are several Codes which use the same method, as for example, those of Virginia, Alabama, Delaware, etc.

This revision which we offer you, does not need to be enacted, as it is the law as it exists already. We add nothing to the law—subtract nothing therefrom—make no change of word or phrase—merely of the arrangement of the existing law. We simply put into one chapter what we think belongs to one chapter. We indicate what act and section thereof, each section comes from—the book where it was formerly found, and when it was passed and took effect.

The old sections of the Code, and of the subsequent acts, are intended to be indicated by the old numbers, and the whole work is intended to be sectioned from one upwards, after the manner of the Code of 1851. Whether it is all the law depends upon the fidelity of the revision, and any one disputing its rectitude, in any instance, may go for himself in that instance to the sources whence it is drawn, and may also obtain the decision of the courts thereon.

Any revision making changes, even of words, and so needing to be enacted, would also need to be printed, and would take a very long session to get itself enacted by so slow paced a body as a legislature; and so it has occurred, that this kind of revision is a very frequent and popular one. Sometimes such revision has been made purely as a private enterprise, and at other times under the direction of the State, in which latter case, the work of revision has been committed to one or more men, and then approved by a simple order that it be published, or otherwise. Among such revisions are those of Florida, Georgia, California, New Hampshire, 1853,—Connecticut, 1854,—Arkansas, 1858,—Minnesota, 1859,—Michigan, 1857,—Illinois, etc.

If verbal changes are needed in the laws included in this revision, they are not worth the expense which would attend the making of them in the revision. If these are to be made, let them be all stated in one amendatory act, and after its passage, incorporated into the proper place in the revision.

But the truth is, taking the Code of 1851 as a basis of law and classification, it is much more easy and cheap to provide a fair revision, than if nothing had been done by the State towards methodizing its laws. We would recommend that the laws of this session be also incorporated with the revision, as soon as the same shall adjourn, and that such completed revision, containing all the laws of Iowa, shall be ordered to be printed and bound in one volume.

During the last days of the Session, Acts were passed providing that Mr. Darwin revise the General Laws of that Session into the Revision about to be published, and also place under each chapter a synopsis of prior laws upon the subject of such chapter, giving also references to decisions of the Supreme Court, made thereon, and furnishing notes and references to the Code of Civil Practice, from States having similar Codes.

As to the execution of the work, this may be said. The Laws have been carefully compared with the Archives, by Dr. Robert I. Thomas, (the gentleman who has acted as Clerk of the Commission and of the Revisor, and to whom I am indebted for many and varied services; the endeavor has been to publish them just as they are therein found; no attempt has been made to correct any thing which seemed a mistake, except in a perfectly clear case of mere punctuational or grammatical error. To have done otherwise would have been to make and not merely to publish the law. The references to the decisions of the Supreme Court of this State, are in most cases mere references. Sometimes on a specially important subject the substance of the decision has been given. But they will be generally found mere intimations of the subject of the decision, rather than statements of its substance. More than this could not be done within the limits of the work as predetermined by the law. In this matter I have received great aid from Dillon's Digest; indeed, nearly all the unpublished decisions found cited herein are taken therefrom. The haste with which the work needed to be done would not have allowed me to give such decisions at all had they not been attainable in that work.

With regard to the decisions illustrating the Civil Code, the substance has been given in all cases, for as the books containing the same are not easily found in Iowa, to have given references would have been of little value. Nor have the selections been confined to the "highest courts." But others of recognized authority have also been given. In this matter I have received great guidance from Howard's and from Voorhis' New York Codes; also from Monell, Van Santvoords, and Whittaker, and from Stanton's Kentucky Code.

The plan of the book, with the method of its chapters and sections, was pointed out by the act before mentioned, and has been followed.

The sections of the New Codes as in the original acts are not given, because it could subserve no valuable purpose, and would in those cases, which cases are numerous, where the old sections of the Code are retained, have cumbered the first line with figures.

It is due to myself to say, that what has been done since the last session of the Legislature, has been done under the pressure of very great and necessary haste, which fact will, I hope, be taken into account by those who may criticise its many imperfections.

CHARLES BEN DARWIN.

ARTICLE 1.

[Section 103 is superseded by section 15, of the 159th chapter of the laws of the seventh general assembly, which makes county judge elective at the general election of 1859, and every two years thereafter; see section 473.]

Sec. 240. (104.) The county judge is required to keep his office at the county seat, and it is to be kept open for business at all usual times, and he is the keeper of the county seal.

Sec. 241. (105.) The county judge is hereby invested with the usual powers and jurisdiction of county commissioners* and of a judge of probate, and with such other powers and jurisdiction as are conferred by this statute; and his official style may be either "county judge" or "judge of" (such a county, naming it).

Sec. 242. [106. Thus modified by sec. 312.]FIFTH—To keep a book to be known as the “minute book,” in which shall be recorded all orders and decisions made by him, except those relating to probate affairs.

SIXTH—To keep also separate books for the probate business.

Sec. 243. (107.) As the judge issues warrants from time to time, he is required to deliver to the treasurer a memorandum of the number, date, amount, and drawee’s name, of each.

Sec. 244. (108.) Deeds for the conveyance of lands, and other contracts made by the county which are to be formally executed, shall be in the name of the county, executed by the county judge in his official capacity, and acknowledged by him, and have the county seal affixed;†

counsellor in any business which has or may come before him in his capacity as a county judge.

Sec. 246. (110.) He has authority to administer oaths and take the acknowledgment of instruments, whenever the same is required or permitted by law, and in the performance of such acts the county seal shall be his seal of office.

Sec. 247. (111.) In case of a vacancy in the office of county judge, and in case of the absence, inability, or interest, of that officer, the prosecuting* attorney of the county shall supply his place; and when a party in direct interest makes his affidavit to the fact of the interest of the judge, it will be his duty to vacate his seat for the time being, and to cause the prosecuting attorney to be notified to attend, and the judge's refusal so to do will be good cause for an appeal, which may be taken either before the matter is heard, or after. When the same causes the prosecuting attorney can not act, the county clerk shall fill the place of the judge, and the affidavit must apply to both judge and attorney. When, for any of the above causes, the judge, or the attorney in his proper order, does not act, the record of the proceeding must shew the fact and the cause.

Sec. 248. (112.) The judge is required to procure for his county (where it has not been done) a copy of the original field notes of the original survey of his county by the United States, and cause a map of the county to be constructed in accordance therewith on a scale of not less than one inch to a mile, and laid off into congressional townships and sections, to be kept open in the office of the judge, and the field notes to be deposited in the same.

Sec. 249. (113.) The said judge is further required to cause a plat of each congressional township in his county to be constructed on a scale of not less than two and a half inches to a mile, and divided into sections and quarter sections and subdivisions as subsequent occasion may require, and cause the letter S, or some other suitable letter to be marked on each division and subdivision which appears to be sold according to the returns transmitted by the auditor of state as obtained from the land offices.

Sec. 250. (114.) The county judge may submit to the people of his county at any regular election or at a special one called for that purpose, the question whether money may be borrowed to aid in the erection of public buildings; whether the county will construct, or aid to construct, any road or bridge which may call for an extraordinary expenditure; whether stock shall be permitted to run at large, or at what time it shall be prohibited; and the question of any other local or police regulation not inconsistent with the laws of the state. [No contract made by any county judge for the use of or for the erection of county buildings, where the expenditure exceeds two thousand dollars, shall be legal unless it is first submitted to a vote of the people of his county as provided in sections one hundred and thirteen (113) and one hundred and fourteen (114).] And when the warrants of a county are at a depreciated value, he may in like manner submit the question whether a tax of a higher rate than that provided by law shall be levied, and in all cases when an additional tax is laid in pursuance of a vote of the people of any county for the special purpose of repaying borrowed money, or of constructing or aiding to construct any road or bridge, such special tax shall be paid in money and in no other manner.

SEC. 251. (115.) The mode of submitting such questions to the people shall be the following: the whole question, including the sum desired to be raised, or the amount of tax desired to be levied, or the rate per annum, and the whole regulation including the time of its taking effect or having operation, if it be of a nature to be set forth, and the penalty for its violation if there be one, is to be published at least four weeks in some newspaper printed in the county. If there be no such newspaper the publication is to be made by being posted up in at least one of the most public places in each township in the county, and in all such cases in at least five among the most public places in the county including the above, and one of them in all cases at the door of the court house, during at least thirty days prior to the time of taking the vote. All such notices shall name the time when such question will be voted upon, and the form in which the question shall be taken, and a copy of the question submitted shall be posted up at each place of voting during the day of the election.

SEC. 252. (116.) When a question so submitted involves the borrowing or the expenditure of money, the proposition of the question must be accompanied by a provision to lay a tax for the payment thereof, in addition to the usual taxes, as directed in the following section, and no vote adopting the question proposed will be of effect unless it adopt the tax also.

SEC. 253. (117.) The rate of the tax shall in no case be more than one per cent. on the county valuation in one year. When the object is to borrow money for the erection of public buildings as above provided, the rate shall be such as to pay the debt in a period not exceeding ten years. When the object is to construct, or to aid in constructing, any road or bridge, the annual rate shall be not less than one mill on a dollar of the valuation, and any of the above taxes becoming delinquent shall draw the same interest with the ordinary taxes.

SEC. 254. (118.) When it is supposed that the levy of one year will not pay the entire amount, the proposition and the vote must be to continue the proposed rate from year to year, until the amount is paid.

SEC. 255. (119.) The county judge, on being satisfied that the requirements have been substantially complied with and that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of the proposition submitted, shall cause the proposition and the result of the vote to be entered at large in the minute book and a notice of its adoption to be published for the same time and in the same manner as above provided for publishing the preliminary notice; and from the time of entering the result of the vote in relation to borrowing or expending money, and from the completion of the notice of its adoption in the case of a local or police regulation, the vote and the entry thereof on the county records shall have the force and effect of an act of the general assembly.

SEC. 256. (120.) Propositions thus adopted, and local regulations thus established, may be rescinded in like manner and upon like notice by a subsequent vote taken thereon, but neither contracts made under them, nor the taxes appointed for carrying them into effect, can be rescinded.

* Board of supervisors, sec. 312.
When put. SEC. 257. (121.) The judge* shall submit the question of the adoption or recision of such a measure when petitioned therefor by one fourth of the voters of the county.

Record evidence. SEC. 258. (122.) The record of the adoption or recision of any such measure shall be presumptive evidence that all the proceedings necessary to give the vote validity have been regularly conducted.

Excess of tax. SEC. 259. (123.) In case the amount produced by the rate of tax proposed and levied exceeds the amount sought for the specific object, it shall not therefore be held invalid, but the excess shall go into the ordinary county funds.

Money appropriated. SEC. 260. (124.) Money so raised for such purposes is specially appropriated and constitutes a fund distinct from all others in the hands of the treasurer, until the obligation assumed is discharged.

As a County Court.

Always open. SEC. 261. (125.) The county court shall be considered in law as always open, but for the transaction of business requiring notice, the judge shall hold regular sessions on the first Monday of each month except April and August, and on the Tuesday following the first Monday of those months.

Sessions. SEC. 262. (126.) When the district court is to sit in a county on any of the days appointed in the preceding section for the session of the county court, the latter shall be held on the Monday preceding, and when the county judge is required by law to perform any duty which takes him from his county on one of the appointed days, the session of the county court shall be held on the following Thursday, or such day as the judge may appoint.

What heard in session. SEC. 263. (127.) Matters requiring a notice shall be heard in session only, but the judge may continue any business from a session to an intermediate day; and any matter may be heard out of session (the judge assenting) if all parties consent in writing, or if the record show that they are present and assenting. Other matters than those requiring notice, and orders of an intermediate nature not affecting the merits of matters requiring notice, may be heard and acted upon at any time.

Books. SEC. 264. (128.) The "minute book," and records of probate business, constitute the records of the county court.

Powers of court. SEC. 265. (129.) The county court* has authority to provide for the erection and reparation of court houses, jails, and other necessary buildings within and for the use of the county, and such authority in relation to roads, ferries, the poor and bastardy,† as is given in the chapters relating to those subjects, and has such other powers as are or may be given it by law. It shall determine the amount of tax to be levied for county purposes, according to the provisions of law in force at the time, and cause the same to be collected.

Trials SEC. 266. (130.) All questions in the county court shall be tried by the court, except when it is otherwise provided.

Appeals. SEC. 267. (131.) An appeal is allowed (except when otherwise expressed) from all decrees and decisions of the county court on the merits of any matter affecting the rights or interests of individuals as distinguished from the public, including an intermediate order involving the merits, and necessarily affecting the decree or decision. The appeal shall be taken within thirty days from the day on which the decision was made, and shall be taken by claiming the appeal and filing in the county office a bond with one or more sureties and a penal sum to be approved by the county judge or clerk, which approval shall be endorsed thereon, and with a condition in substance as follows; that the appellant will prosecute the appeal with effect; that if the appeal be dismissed or the judgment below affirmed, he will comply with the judgment and the orders made by the court below, and that he will pay all costs and sums of money which may be adjudged against him in the court appealed to, and will comply with the orders of that court. But the appeal shall be taken to the next term of the district court in the county if there be ten days between the day when the judgment was rendered by the county court and the day of the sitting of the district court, and the matter shall stand for hearing at that time if required by the appellee, subject to the ordinary rules of practice.

SEC. 268. (132.) Within twenty days from the day of the appeal, Transcript, and within five days in the case mentioned in the last paragraph of the preceding section, the county clerk is required to file a transcript of the proceedings in the matter in which the appeal is taken, authenticated by the county seal, with the clerk of the district court, who shall enter the same among the causes pending in that court.

SEC. 269. (133.) If more than one person be concerned in the matter of the decision from which the appeal is taken, any number of them may take the appeal as above provided; but, if the nature of the case admit of it, the decision may be carried into effect as it regards those who do not join in the appeal bond.

SEC. 270. (134.) If the party entitled to an appeal fails, without fault on his part, to claim or perfect or prosecute his appeal, he may apply to the district court, which, upon being satisfied of the above matter and that the case requires revision, may authorize an appeal to be taken upon such terms as it deems reasonable and may take such order as may be requisite to give it effect. But no appeal shall be thus allowed without due notice to those adversely interested nor after one year from the act complained of.

SEC. 271. (135.) In all cases in which the county court is empowered to render judgment for a sum of money, or for costs, that court may issue execution against the personal property of the party; but when it is desired to issue execution against real property, or to make the judgment a lien upon it, a transcript of all the proceedings and of the judgment, shall be filed in the office of the district court, and an abstract of the judgment entered on the judgment docket, and from the time it is so filed and entered the judgment shall become as a judgment of the district court, and be a lien on the real property of the party in all respects as a judgment of the district court, and execution may issue from that court as on its own judgments.

SEC. 272. (136.) Transcripts of the records of, and copies of the papers pertaining to, the county court, may be certified and signed by either the clerk or the judge.

SEC. 273. (137.) A trial by jury in the county court is not given unless the party desiring it demand a jury, and it can be demanded in those cases only in which such trial is expressly given. When there is a jury it shall consist of six persons and the number of challenges shall be the same as in the court of a justice of the peace; and in the cases of insane persons and apprentices, provided for in the chapters relating to them, if they have no property by which to pay costs when adjudged against them the jurors shall be paid by the county.

Sec. 275.  (139.) The probate records shall be kept in books separate from those of the other business of the county court.

Sec. 276.  (140.) It is hereby directed that the business pending in either the probate court or the court of the board of commissioners in any county when this statute takes effect be, in its further progress, conformed to the provisions of this statute as far as practicable; but no proceeding or matter shall become void for want of such conformity if it be conducted legally according to the pre-existing statutes.

“You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will diligently inquire, and true presentment make, when, how, and by what means the person whose body lies here dead came to his death, according to your knowledge and the evidence given you: So help you God.”

SEC. 400. (190.) The coroner may issue subpœnas within his county for witnesses, returnable forthwith, or at such time and place as he shall therein direct, and witnesses shall be allowed the same fees as in cases before a justice of the peace, and the coroner has the same authority to enforce the attendance of witnesses, and to punish them and jurors for contempt in disobeying his process as a justice of the peace has when his process issues in behalf of the state.

SEC. 401. (191.) An oath shall be administered to the witnesses in substance as follows:

“You do solemnly swear that the testimony which you shall give to this inquest, concerning the death of the person here lying dead, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth: So help you God.”

SEC. 402. (192.) The testimony shall be reduced to writing under the coroner’s order, and subscribed by the witnesses.

SEC. 403. (193.) The jurors having inpected the body, heard the testimony, and made all needful inquiries, shall return to the coroner their inquisition in writing, under their hands in substance as follows, and stating the matters in the following form suggested, as far as found:

STATE OF IOWA, County,
An inquisition held at _______ in _______ county, on the _______ day of _______ A. D. _______ before _______ coroner of the said county, upon the body of _______ (or a person unknown) there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed. The said jurors upon their oaths do say (here state when, how, by what person, means, weapon, or accident, he came to his death, and whether feloniously.) In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands, the day and year aforesaid;

[which shall be attested by the coroner.]

SEC. 404. (194.) If the inquisition find that a crime has been committed on the deceased, and name the person whom the jury believe has committed it, the inquest shall not be made public until after the arrest directed in the next section.

SEC. 405. (195.) If the person charged be present, the coroner may order his arrest by an officer or any other person present, and shall then make a warrant requiring the officer or other person to take him before a justice of the peace.

SEC. 406. (196.) If the person charged be not present, and the coroner believes he can be taken, the coroner may issue a warrant to the sheriff and constables of the county, requiring them to arrest the person and take him before a justice of the peace.

SEC. 407. (197.) The warrant of a coroner in the above cases shall be of equal authority with that of a justice of the peace, and when the person charged is brought before the justice he shall be dealt with as a person held under a complaint in the usual form.
SEC. 408. (198.) The warrant of the coroner shall recite substantially the transactions before him and the verdict of the jury of inquest leading to the arrest, and such warrant shall be a sufficient foundation for the proceeding of the justice instead of a complaint.

SEC. 409. (199.) The coroner shall then return to the district court the inquisition, the written evidence, and a list of the witnesses who testify material matter.

SEC. 410. (200.) The coroner shall cause the body of a deceased person which he is called to view, to be delivered to his friends if any there be, but if not he shall cause him to be decently buried, and the expense to be paid from any property found with the body, or, if there be none, from the county treasury by certifying an account of the expenses, which being presented to the county judge,* shall be allowed by him if deemed reasonable and paid as other claims on the county.

SEC. 411. (201.) When there is no coroner, and in case of his absence or inability to act, any justice of the peace of the same county is authorized to perform the duties of coroner in relation to dead bodies, and in such case he may cause the person charged to be brought before himself, by his warrant, and may proceed with him as a justice of the peace.

SEC. 412. (202.) In the above inquisition by a coroner, when he or the jury deem it requisite, he may summon one or more physicians or surgeons to make a scientific examination, and may allow in such case a reasonable compensation instead of witness fees.

SEC. 498. (263.) If the ballots for any officer are found to exceed the number of the voters in the poll lists, that fact shall be certified with the number of the excess in the return, and if it be found that the vote of the township where the error occurred would change the result in relation to a county officer if the person elected were deprived of so many votes, then the election shall be set aside as to him and a new election ordered; but if the error occur in relation to a township officer the trustees may order a new election or not, in their discretion. If the error be in relation to a district or state officer the error and the number of the excess are to be certified to the canvassers, and if it be found that the error would affect the result as above a new vote shall be ordered in the county where the error happened and the canvass be suspended until such new vote is taken and returned. When there is a tie vote and such an excess there shall be a new election as above directed.

SEC. 499. (264.) If, at any stage of the canvass, a ballot not stating for what office the person therein named is voted for is found in the box when officers of different kinds are to be elected, it is to be rejected.

CHAPTER 37.

CONTESTING ELECTIONS.

[Code—Chapter 30.]

Contesting the Election of County Officers.

SEC. 569. (339.) The election of any person declared duly elected by whom, to a county office may be contested by any elector of the county:

1. For mal-conduct, fraud, or corruption, on the part of the judges of election in any township, or of any of the boards of canvassers, or on the part of any member of either of those boards;

2. When the incumbent was not eligible to the office at the time of the election;

3. When the incumbent has been duly convicted of an infamous crime before the election, and the judgment has not been reversed, annulled, or set aside, nor the incumbent pardoned, at the time of the election;

4. When the incumbent has given or offered any elector, or any judge, clerk, or canvasser of the election, any bribe or reward in money, property, or thing of value, for the purpose of procuring his election;

5. When illegal votes have been received, or legal votes rejected, at the polls, sufficient to change the result;

6. For any error or mistake in any of the boards of canvassers in counting the votes, or in declaring the result of the election, if the error or mistake would affect the result;

7. For any other cause (though not enumerated above) which shows that another was the person legally elected.

SEC. 570. (310.) The term “incumbent,” in this chapter, means the person whom the canvassers declare elected.

SEC. 571. (341.) The matter contained in the first ground of contest above named shall not be held sufficient to set aside an election, unless the mal-conduct, fraud, or corruption, be such as to procure or cause the incumbent to be declared duly elected when he has not received the highest number of legal votes.

SEC. 572. (342.) When the misconduct complained of is on the same part of the judges of election in a township, it shall not be held sufficient to set aside the election, unless the rejection of the vote of that township would change the result as to that office.

SEC. 573. (343.) The court for the trial of contested county elections shall be thus constituted: The county judge shall be the presiding officer, and the contestant and incumbent may each name a person who shall be associated with him. But when the county judge is one of the parties the prosecuting attorney shall preside.

SEC. 574. (344.) The county clerk shall be the clerk of this court, and keep all papers, and record the proceedings in the election book, in manner similar to the record of the proceedings of the district court. But when the person who holds the offices of clerk of the district court and of county clerk is one of the parties in either of those capacities, the county judge shall appoint a suitable person as clerk for the time being, whose appointment shall be recorded.

SEC. 575. (345.) The contestant shall file in the county office, within twenty days after the day when the votes are canvassed, a written statement of his intention to contest the election, setting forth the name of the contestant and that he is an elector of the county, the name of the incumbent, the office contested, the time of the election, and the particular causes of contest; which statement shall be verified by the affidavit of the contestant, or some other elector of the county, that the causes set forth are true as he verily believes; but before the county judge, or in case of his interest the prosecuting attorney, is required to take jurisdiction of the contest, the contestant must file with such judge or attorney a bond, with security to be approved by said judge or attorney, and conditioned to pay all costs in case the election be confirmed, or the statement be dismissed, or the prosecution fails.

Sec. 576. (346.) When the reception of illegal, or the rejection of legal votes, is alleged as a cause of contest, the names of the persons who so voted, or whose votes were rejected, with the township where they voted or offered to vote, shall be set forth in the statement.

Sec. 577. (347.) The judge shall then issue a precept containing a copy of the statement, with a requisition that the incumbent file in the county office a written nomination of one of the judges of the election within five days after service of the statement upon him.

Sec. 578. (348.) If either the contestant or the incumbent fail to nominate, the county judge shall appoint for him.

Sec. 579. (349.) As soon as the judges are nominated, the county judge shall fix a day for the trial not more than thirty, nor less than twenty, days from the notice contemplated in this section, which notice, addressed to the usual officers of the law, shall contain the names of the contestant and the incumbent, and of the judges named by each party, a brief statement of the causes of contest, and the day set for trial.

Sec. 580. (350.) The notice shall be served on the incumbent within five days, and on the two nominated judges within fifteen days, from the day it is issued.

Sec. 581. (351.) The testimony may be oral or by depositions, and depositions may be taken on four days notice in the same manner, and for the same causes, as in an action in the district court.

Sec. 582. (352.) The county judge and clerk, as well when interested as otherwise, may issue subpoenas for witnesses under the county seal.

Sec. 583. (353.) The trial shall proceed at the time appointed unless postponed for good cause shown by affidavit, the terms of which postponement are in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 584. (354.) The proceedings shall be under the control and direction of the court, but shall be assimilated to the proceedings in an action as far as practicable.

Sec. 585. (355.) The statement shall not be dismissed for want of form if the particular causes of contest are alleged with such certainty as will sufficiently advise the incumbent of the real ground of contest. If any part of the causes are held insufficient they may be amended, but the incumbent will be entitled to an adjournment if he state on oath that he has matter of answer to the amended causes for the preparation of which he needs further time. Such adjournment shall be upon such terms as the court deem reasonable; but if all the causes are held insufficient and an amendment is asked, the adjournment shall be granted on motion and at the cost of the contestant.

Sec. 586. (356.) The style and form of process, the officers by whom served, and the manner of service of process and papers, and the fees of officers and witnesses, shall be the same as in the district court so far as the nature to the case permits. The command to a witness may be, to appear at —— on —— to testify in relation to a contested election wherein A. B. is contestant and C. D. is incumbent.

SEC. 587. (357.) The trial of contested county elections shall take place at the county seat, unless adjourned to some other place within the county by the concurrence of the court and the parties, which may be done before the commencement of the trial.

SEC. 588. (358.) This court shall have all the powers incident to the district court which may be necessary to the right hearing, conduct, and determination, of the matter; to compel the attendance of witnesses, to swear them and direct their examination, to punish for contempt in its presence, to adjourn from day to day, and to make any order concerning intermediate costs and enforce it by attachment.

SEC. 589. (359.) The court or the county judge may direct the sheriff, attendance of the sheriff or a constable when deemed necessary.

SEC. 590. (360.) It shall be lawful to require any person called as a witness, who voted at such election, to answer touching his qualifications as a voter; and if he was not a qualified voter in the county where he voted, then to require him to answer for whom he voted; and if the witness answer such questions, no part of his testimony on that trial shall be used against him in any criminal action.

SEC 591. (361.) The court shall be governed, in the trial and determination of contested elections, by the usual rules of law and evidence so far as applicable, except as herein otherwise expressed, and may dismiss the proceedings if all the causes of contest are insufficient and not amended, or for want of prosecution.

SEC. 592. (362.) The court shall pronounce judgment whether the incumbent or any other person was duly elected, and the person so declared elected will be entitled to his certificate upon qualification. If the judgment be against the incumbent and he has already received the certificate, the judgment annuls it. If the court find that no person was duly elected, the judgment shall be that the election be set aside.

SEC. 593. (363.) The nominated judges shall be entitled to receive two dollars a day for the time occupied by the trial.

SEC. 594. (364.) The contestant and the incumbent are liable to the officers and witnesses for the costs made by them respectively. But if the election be confirmed, or the statement be dismissed, or the prosecution fail, judgment shall be rendered against the contestant for costs; and if the judgment be against the incumbent, or the election be set aside, it shall be against him for costs also.

SEC. 595. (365.) The county judge is authorized to issue execution for costs to run against personal property, and a transcript filed and recorded in the office of the district court, as provided in relation to transcripts from the county court, shall have the same effect as there provided, and execution may issue thereon against real or personal estate.

SEC. 596. (366.) The county judge shall have authority to carry into effect any order of the court, after the adjournment thereof, by attachment or otherwise.

SEC. 597. (367.) If notice of contesting the election of an officer is filed before the certificate of election is delivered to him, it shall be withheld until the determination of the contest.

Contesting the Election of certain State Officers.

SEC. 598. (368.) The election of any person declared duly elected to the office of secretary, treasurer, or auditor of state, attorney general register of the state land office, commissioner of the Des Moines improvement, judge of the supreme court, or any other state officer except that of governor or lieutenant governor, or of the office of district judge or district attorney, may be contested by an eligible person, who received votes for the office contested, for any of the causes before contemplated.*

The sheriffs in these cases shall return their doings to the officer or person who issues the precept. When convenient, the service of any of the above papers may be made by the clerk of this court. The time for the trial shall not be set beyond the last Monday of January following the election.†

SEC. 603. (373.) The secretary of state, the several clerks of the supreme and district courts, and any county judge, under their respective seals of office, and either of the judges of the supreme or district courts under their hands, may issue subpoenas for witnesses to attend this court; and disobedience to such process may be treated as a contempt as if it had been issued by the court itself. This section does not diminish the power of any officer to summon witnesses before him to give his testimony by deposition.

SEC. 604. (374.) Process and papers may be issued to, and served by, the sheriff of any county.

SEC. 605. (375.) The trial shall take place at the seat of government unless in a case such as provided for in relation to county elections.

SEC. 729. (19.) Any person elected or appointed an assessor as herein provided, shall take and subscribe on his bond, an oath as required by the constitution of the State of Iowa, and in substance the same as the condition of his bond.

SEC. 730. (20.) The assessor shall be allowed two dollars for each day he shall have been faithfully employed in discharging the duties of his office, to be paid out of the county treasury.

The several assessors in each county shall meet at the office of the clerk of the county board of supervisors of their county, on the second Monday in January of each year, and classify the several descriptions of property to be assessed for the purpose of equalizing such assessment.

SEC. 732. (22.) On or before the second Monday of January in each year, the board of supervisors shall furnish each assessor in their county with suitable books in duplicate, properly ruled and headed, in which to enter the following items:

He shall also be furnished with a suitable plat of his township on which to check the several parcels of land, and each town or city lot by him assessed, to avoid omissions or double assessments.

SEC. 734. (24.) It shall be the duty of the assessor to list each and every person in his township, and to assess all the property, personal and real therein, and any person who shall refuse to assist in making out a list of his property, or of any property which he is required by law to assist in listing, or refuse to make the oath or affirmation required by this act, shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars to be recovered in the name of the county for the use of the common schools therein; and where any person refuses to make out a list of his property, which by law he is required to do, the assessor shall assess such person according to the best information he can get, as to the amount of taxable property which such person has.

SEC. 735. (25.) The assessor is authorized, and he is hereby required to administer an oath or affirmation to each person assessed, to the effect that he has given in a full, true and correct inventory of all the taxable property owned by him, and all property held by him as agent, guardian or otherwise, and which he is required by law to list to the best of his knowledge and belief and in case any one refuses to make such oath or affirmation, the assessor shall note the fact in the column of remarks opposite such person's name; and should it afterwards appear that such person so refusing has not given a full list of his property, or that under his control, and which he was by law required to list, any property so omitted shall be entered on the book at double its ordinary assessable value, and taxed accordingly.

SEC. 736. (26.) Each assessor shall, on or before the third Monday in May in each year, return one of the assessment books of his township to the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors, with the several columns of numbers and values correctly footed up, and the amount of personal property of each person carried forward into a column under the head of total personal property, and the other book he shall on or before the second Monday in April of each year, deliver to the township clerk of his township, to be used by the trustees of the township as the township tax-book, for the levy of taxes for township revenue and road purposes.

SEC. 737. (27.) When the name of the owner of any real estate is unknown, and the assessor finds it impracticable to obtain the same, it shall be proper and lawful to assess such real estate without connecting therewith any name, but inscribing at the head of the page the words "owners unknown," and such property, whether lands or town lots, shall be listed as near as practicable in the order of the numbers thereof, and in assessing such real property, no one description shall comprise more than one town lot, or more than the sixteenth part of a section or other smallest sub-division of the land, according to the government surveys, except in cases where the boundaries are so irregular that it can not be described in the usual manner, in accordance with such surveys.

SEC. 738. (28.) If any assessor shall fail or neglect to perform any of the duties required of him by this act, at the time and in the manner specified, he shall be liable to a fine of not less than twenty nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action brought in the district court by the board of supervisors, the judgment shall be against him and his bondsmen, and the proceeds of such fines to go to the school fund of the county.

SEC. 739. (29.) The board of supervisors of each county, shall constitute a board for the equalization of the assessment, and have power to equalize the assessments of the several persons and townships of the county, substantially in the same manner as is required of the state board of equalization to equalize among the several counties of the state so far as applicable, at their regular meetings in June and next succeeding the general election in each and every year; and at such meetings they shall add to said assessment any taxable property in the county not included in the assessment as returned by the assessors, placing the same in the list of the proper township, and shall assess the value thereof.

SEC. 740. (30.) Any person who may feel aggrieved at anything in the assessment of his property, may appear before the board of equalization either in person or by agent, at the times mentioned in the preceding section, and have the same corrected in such manner as to said board shall seem just and equitable.

Sec. 741. (31.) Each clerk of the county board of supervisors shall on or before the first day of July in each year, make out and transmit to the auditor of state by mail or otherwise, an abstract of the real property in his county in which he shall set forth:

1. The number of acres of land in his county, and the aggregate value of the same, exclusive of town lots, returned by the assessors, as corrected by the county board of equalization at their first meeting.

2. The aggregate value of real property in each town in the county, returned by the assessor as corrected at their first meeting by the county board of equalization.

3. The aggregate value of personal property in his county.

Sec. 742. (32.) The census board constitutes the state board of equalization, and shall meet at the seat of government on the first Monday of August in each year, in which real property is assessed, and shall take an oath faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of their office. The auditor of state shall be ex-officio clerk of the board, and shall lay before it the abstracts transmitted to him by the county clerk as required by this act, and then the board shall proceed to equalize the valuation of real property among the several counties and towns in the state, in the following manner:

1. They shall add to the aggregate valuation of real property of each county, which they shall believe to be valued below its proper valuation, such per centum in each case as will raise the same to its proper valuation.

2. They shall deduct from the aggregate valuation of real property of each county, which they shall believe to be valued above its proper valuation, such per centum in each case as will reduce the same to its proper valuation.

Sec. 743. (33.) Said board shall keep a full record of their proceedings and shall finish their equalization on or before the third Monday of August, immediately after which the auditor of state shall transmit to each clerk of the board of supervisors a statement of the per centum to be added to, or deducted from, the valuation of real property in his county. The clerk of the county board of supervisors shall add to, or deduct from, the valuation of each tract or parcel of real property in his county, the required per centum on the same, and if the result shall in any case show a fraction of a dollar, such fraction, if less than fifty cents, shall be rejected, and if fifty cents or over, shall be counted as one dollar. And in each year the said board shall determine the rate of state tax to be levied and collected which shall not exceed two mills on the dollar, and the auditor of state shall notify the several county clerks of such rate at the time hereinbefore mentioned.

Sec. 744. (34.) If any clerk of the county board of supervisors shall neglect or refuse to transmit to the auditor of state, the abstract of the assessment of the real property in the county, or to add or deduct the per centum fixed by the state board of equalization, as required by this act, such county clerk shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor for which he shall be prosecuted by indictment in the district court, and if found guilty, shall be fined in any sum, not more than one thousand dollars, and shall also be liable to an action on his official bond to any injured person.

of each county a suitable book properly ruled and headed, with distinct columns in which to enter the names of tax-payers, descriptions of lands, number of acres and value, number of town lots and value, and value of personal property, and each description of tax, a column for polls, and one for payments, into which book the clerk shall after the equalization in June, as hereinbefore provided, and before the first Monday of November, transcribe from the assessment books of the several townships the names of tax-payers, with the description of property; but in cases where the owner is unknown no one description shall contain more than one town lot, or more than the sixteenth part of a section, or other smallest sub-division of the land according to the government surveys, except in cases where the boundaries are so irregular that it can not be described in the usual manner in accordance with said surveys.

SEC. 746. (36.) At the regular meeting in June in each and every year the board of supervisors shall levy the requisite taxes for the current year, in accordance with law, and shall record the same in the proper book, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county board of supervisors, as soon as practicable, to complete the tax list by carrying out in a column by itself the amount of each different tax, and after adding up each column he shall carry forward the several amounts, showing a summary of the total amount of each distinct tax.

SEC. 747. (37.) The clerk of the county board of supervisors, may correct any clerical or other error in the assessment or tax book, and when any such correction affecting the amount of tax, is made after the books shall have passed into the hands of the treasurer, he shall charge the treasurer with all sums added to the several taxes, and credit him with all the deductions therefrom and report the same to the supervisors.

SEC. 748. (38.) An entry shall be made upon the tax list showing what it is, and for what county and year it is, and the clerk of the county board of supervisors under the direction of the board of supervisors, shall attach thereto a warrant under his hand and the official seal of said board in general terms, requiring the treasurer to collect the taxes therein levied according to law, and no informality in the above requirements, shall render any proceedings for the collection of taxes illegal. The clerk of the county board of supervisors shall cause the tax book to be delivered to the treasurer of the county by the first Monday of November, and his receipt taken therefor, and such list or book shall be full and sufficient authority for the collector to collect taxes therein contained. But if the list be delivered to the treasurer after the time above specified, the proceedings shall nevertheless be deemed regular so far as affecting the validity of taxes, or sales of land under this act. At the time of the delivery of said book to the treasurer, the clerk shall make to the auditor of state, a certified statement, showing, the aggregate valuation of lands, town property and personal property in the county each to itself, and also the aggregate amount of each separate tax as shown by said tax book.

SEC. 749. (39.) If any clerk of the county board of supervisors shall fail or neglect to perform any of the duties required of him by this act, he shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action brought in the district court, by the board of supervisors, or by the party injured thereby the judgment entered shall be against him and his bondsmen, and the proceeds of such fine to go to the school fund.

SEC. 750. (40.) The treasurer on receiving the tax book for each year, shall enter upon the same in separate columns, opposite each parcel of real property or person’s name, on which, or against whom any tax remains unpaid for either of the preceding years, the year or years for which such delinquent tax so remains due and unpaid.

Sec. 751. (41.) The treasurer after making the above entry shall proceed to collect the taxes, and the list and warrant shall be his authority and justification against any illegality in the proceeding, prior to receiving the list; and he is required to attend at his office from the second Monday in November to the first day of February following; and he is also authorized and required to collect so far as practicable the taxes remaining unpaid on the tax books of previous years.

Sec. 752. (42.) It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to assess any real property subject to taxation, which may have been omitted by the assessors or the county clerk, and to collect taxes thereon, and in such cases he is required to note opposite the tract or lot assessed, the words “by treasurer.”

Sec. 753. (43.) In all cases where real property subject to taxation, shall not have been assessed by the township assessor, or other proper officer, it is hereby made the duty of the owner thereof, by himself or his agent, to have the same properly assessed by the treasurer, and to pay the taxes thereon; and no failure of the owner to have such property assessed, or to have the errors in the assessment corrected; and no irregularity, error or omission in the assessment of such property, shall affect in any manner the legality of any taxes levied thereon, nor affect any right or title to such real property which would have accrued, to any party claiming or holding under and by virtue of a deed executed by the treasurer as provided for by this act, had the assessment of such property been in all respects regular and valid—and in cases where the assessment of any real property subject to taxation shall have been omitted, the assessment thereof may be made by the county treasurer at any time before the sale of the property, and the taxes levied thereon; and in case it shall appear that the tax for which the property was sold was erroneous or irregular, the error or irregularity may be corrected as provided in section fifty-four of this act.

Sec. 754. (44.) Auditor’s warrants shall be received by the county treasurer in full payment of state taxes, and county warrants shall be receivable at the treasury of the proper county for the ordinary county tax, but money only shall be receivable for the school tax. Road taxes may be discharged, and road certificates of work done, received as provided by law.

Sec. 755. (45.) When a state or county warrant is received by the treasurer, he shall indorse on the face of it the amount for which it was received, and the date of reception, and from that date the warrant shall be regarded as canceled, and can not be reissued, but when the warrant amounts to more than is to be paid by the person presenting it, the treasurer shall give him a certificate of the remainder due him as directed in chapter of the code relating to the treasurer.

Sec. 756. (46.) No demand of taxes shall be necessary, but it is the duty of every person subject to taxation to attend at the office of the treasurer (unless otherwise provided) at some time during the time mentioned in a previous section of this act, and pay his or her taxes, and if any one neglects to pay them before the first day of February following the levy of the tax, the treasurer is directed to make the same by distress and sale of his or her personal property, excepting such as is exempt from taxation, and the tax list alone shall be sufficient warrant for such distress.*

Sale by treasurer.

SEC. 757. (47.) When the treasurer distrains goods, he may keep them at the expense of the owner, and shall give notice of the time and place of their sale within five days after the taking, in the manner constables are required to give notice of the sale of personal property under execution, and the time of sale shall not be more than twenty days from the day of the taking; but he may adjourn the sale from time to time not exceeding five days, and shall adjourn at least once when there are no bidders, and in case of adjournment, he shall put up a notice thereof at the place of sale. Any surplus remaining above the taxes, charges of keeping and fees for sale, shall be returned to the owner, and the treasurer shall on demand, render an account in writing of the sale and charges.

Duty to assist treasurer.

SEC. 758. (48.) If the treasurer be resisted or impeded in the execution of his office, he may require any suitable person to assist him therein, and if such person refuse the aid, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding ten dollars, to be recovered by civil action in the name and to the use of the county, and the person resisting shall be liable as in the case of resisting the sheriff in the execution of civil process.

Taxes, lien when delinquent.

SEC. 759. (49.) On the first day of February, the unpaid taxes of whatever description, for the preceding year, shall become delinquent, and shall draw interest as hereinafter provided; and taxes upon real property are hereby made a perpetual lien thereupon against all persons except the United States and this state; and taxes due from any person upon personal property shall be a lien upon any real property owned by such person, or to which he may acquire a title. The treasurer shall in no case sell real property for delinquent tax, when personal property not exempt from taxation belonging to the individual can be found in the county, unless the owner shall in writing designate what piece of real property he prefers having sold rather than the personal property; and the sale of real property so designated shall be made at the regular annual sale of real estate as hereinafter provided.

Penalty for non-payment when due.

SEC. 760. (50.) The treasurer shall continue to receive taxes after they have become delinquent, until collected by distress and sale; but if they are not paid before the first day of March, he shall collect as a penalty for non-payment, from each tax-payer so delinquent, one per cent. of the amount of his tax additional, and if not paid before the first day of April, he shall collect another one per cent. additional, and so for each full month which shall expire before the tax shall have been paid. The treasurer shall in all cases make out and deliver to the tax payer a receipt for taxes paid, stating the time of payment, the description of the land, the amount of each kind of tax, the interest on each, and costs, if any, giving a separate receipt for each year; and shall make the proper entries of such payments in the books of his office, and such receipt shall be in full, for his taxes that year: provided, that it shall be the duty of the county treasurer, to receive the full amount of any county, state, or school tax whenever the same is tendered and give a separate receipt therefor.

* Section (46) is substantially section 492 of code of 1851, which was amended by section 1 of chapter 162 of fifth session, which seems not repealed and reads thus: And the county treasurer is hereby authorized to appoint one or more deputies to aid and assist in collecting the taxes thus to be made by distress and sale.
separate fund or tax to itself, in each of which accounts he shall charge him with the amounts in his hands at opening of such account, whether it be delinquent taxes, notes, cash or other assets belonging to such fund or tax, the amount of each respective tax, for each year when the tax book is received by him, and all additions to each tax or fund, whether by additional assessments, interest on delinquent taxes, amount received for peddlers' license, or other items which are additions to the respective funds or taxes, and shall, on the first day of each month, ascertain the amount of delinquent and unpaid taxes of all classes on said day, and charge the treasurer in said account with one per cent. on the amount thereof, to be collected by him as provided in section fifty-two* of this act. In these several accounts he shall credit the treasurer, by the proper vouchers, for money disbursed belonging to each, by double and erroneous assessments, and unavailable taxes. The term double and erroneous assessments includes all improper, incorrect and illegal assessments, the correction or remission of which, causes a diminution of the respective tax; and unavailable taxes, includes such as have been properly and legally assessed, but which there is no prospect of collecting.

SEC. 762. (52.) In all cases where any person shall pay any tax, interest or costs, or any portion thereof that shall thereafter be found to be erroneous or illegal, whether the same be owing to erroneous or improper assessment, to the improper or irregular levying of the tax, to clerical or other errors or irregularities, the board of supervisors shall direct the treasurer to refund the same to the tax payer—and in case any real property subject to taxation shall be sold for the payment of such erroneous tax, interest or costs as above mentioned, the error or irregularity in the tax may at any time be corrected as above provided, and shall not affect the validity of the sale or the right or title conveyed by the treasurer's deed; but the title so conveyed shall be deemed legal and valid provided that the property was subject to taxation for any of the purposes for which any portion of the taxes for which the land was sold, was levied, and that the taxes were not paid before the sale, and that the property had not been redeemed from sale.

SEC. 763. (53.) On the first Monday of October in the year 1860 and in each year thereafter, the county treasurer is required to offer at public sale at the court house, or, if there be no court house, at the office of the county treasurer, all lands, town lots or other real property, on which taxes of any description for the preceding year or years, shall have been delinquent and remain due and unpaid, and such sale shall be made for and in payment of the total amount of taxes, interest and costs due and unpaid on such real property.

SEC. 764. (54.) The county treasurer is required to give notice of the sale, by publishing an advertisement thereof in some newspaper printed in his county, if any such there be, and if there be no such paper printed in his county, then in the newspaper in this state nearest the county seat, and by posting up a copy of said notice on the door of the court house in said county, at least four weeks before the day of sale, which publication is required to be made once in each week for three successive weeks, the last of which publications is required to be at least three weeks prior to the day of sale. It is required that such advertisement shall state the time and place of sale, and contain a description of the several parcels of real property to be sold as the same are recorded on the tax list, the amount of taxes for each year, and amount of interests and costs against each tract, and the names of owners when known, or persons, if any, to whom taxed. The treasurer is directed to charge and collect, in addition to the taxes and interest, the sum of twenty cents on each tract of real property advertised for sale when the same is included in one line of single column width of the paper in which the publication is made, but if the description occupies more than one line of such single column width, then the sum shall be thirty cents for each description, which sum shall go into the county treasury. The cost of the publication shall be paid out of the county treasury: provided, that if the publisher of such newspaper shall be unable, or unwilling, to publish the said notice accurately and properly, and at said rate of twenty cents for each tract of real property, the treasurer may select some other newspaper having the means and ability to make such publication at the price above specified in a satisfactory manner, having due regard to the circulation of such paper.

SEC. 765. (55.) The county treasurer shall attend at the court house in his county, or at his own office as herein before provided on the day of sale, and then and there, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, proceed to offer for sale, separately, each tract or parcel of real property advertised for sale, on which the taxes and costs shall not have been paid.

SEC. 766. (56.) The person who offers to pay the amount of taxes due on any parcel of land for the smallest portion of the same is to be considered the purchaser, and when such portion constitutes a half or more of the parcel, it shall be taken from the east side thereof, dividing it by a line running north and south, except that town or city lots are to be divided in such case lengthwise by a line parallel with the proper lines of the lots. If the portion taken be less than one half of the tract, it is to be taken from the south-east corner in a square form, as nearly as the form of the land will conveniently permit.—The preceding provisions of this section are subject to the following qualifications: the homestead is liable to be sold for no tax save that which is due on itself exclusively, and the above directions concerning the division of a tract of land shall be modified so as to meet this requirement, and to that end the quantity of land bid may be obtained by drawing the division line in any direction or form so as to avoid the homestead; and when the homestead constitutes part of the tract sold and is not yet ascertained, the court may, at the suggestion of either party, cause a proceeding to be had similar to that required in relation to mechanic's liens, for the ascertainment of the homestead, and in all cases of such sales it may take the requisite order and proceedings to ascertain the land sold, or to set it apart from the homestead.

SEC. 767. (57.) The treasurer shall continue the sale from day to day as long as there are bidders, or until the taxes are all paid.

SEC. 768. (58.) The person purchasing any tract of land or town lot, or any part thereof, shall forthwith pay to the treasurer the amount of taxes and costs charged on said tract or lot, and on failure to do so the said land or lot shall at once again be offered for sale, in the same manner as if no such sale had been made. Such payment may be made in the same funds receivable by law in ordinary payments of taxes.

SEC. 769. (59.) Any person owning or claiming lands or town lots advertised for sale as aforesaid, may pay the taxes and interest due thereon to the county treasurer, at any time before the sale thereof; but in such case, such person shall pay the costs of advertising, and all other costs which may have accrued up to the time of such payment.

SEC. 770. (60.) In all advertisements for the sale of real property for taxes, and in entries required to be made by the clerk of the board of supervisors, treasurer, or other officer, letters and figures may be used.
as they have been heretofore, to denote townships, ranges, sections, parts of sections, lots, blocks, dates and the amounts of taxes, interest and costs. And no irregularity, or informality, in the advertisements shall affect in any manner the legality of the sale, or the title to any real property conveyed by the treasurer's deed under this act; but in all cases the provisions of this act shall be deemed sufficient notice to owners of the sale of their property.

Sec. 771. (61.) The treasurer shall obtain a copy of said advertisement, together with a certificate of the due publication thereof, from the printer or publisher of the newspaper in which the same shall have been published, and shall file the same in the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors and such certificate shall be substantially in the following form.

C. D.,

Clerk of the board of supervisors of county, Iowa.

Sec. 772. (62.) The clerk of the board of supervisors is required to attend all sales of real property for taxes made by the treasurer, and make a record thereof in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, therein describing the several parcels of real property on which the taxes and costs were paid by the purchaser, as they are described in the list or advertisement on file in his office, stating, in separate columns, the amount, as obtained from the treasurer's tax list, of each kind of tax, interest and costs for each tract or lot, how much and what part of each tract or lot was sold, to whom sold, and date of sale. The treasurer shall also keep a book of sales in which, at the time of sale, he shall make the same records which the clerk is required to make by the provisions of this section. He shall also note in the tax list, opposite the description of the property sold, the fact and date of such sale.

Sec. 773. (63.) When all the parcels of real property advertised for sale shall have been offered for sale as provided for in this act, and a portion thereof shall remain unsold for the want of bidders, it shall be the duty of the treasurer to adjourn the sale to some day not exceeding two months from the time of adjournment; due notice of which day shall be given at the time of adjournment, and also by keeping a notice thereof posted in a conspicuous place in the treasurer's office. On the day fixed for the re-opening of the sale, the same proceedings shall be had as provided for by this act in relation to the sales commencing on the first Monday of October. And further adjournments shall be made from time to time, not to exceed two months, as provided in this section, and the sales shall thus be continued until the next regular annual sale, or until all the taxes shall have been paid.

SEC. 774. (6.) If any treasurer or clerk shall fail to attend any sale of lands as required by this act, either in person or by a competent deputy, he shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars, to be recovered by an action in the district court by the board of supervisors; the judgment shall be against the treasurer and his bondsmen, and the proceeds go to the school fund. And if such officer, or deputy shall sell or assist in selling any real property, knowing the same to be not subject to taxation, or that the taxes for which the same is sold have been paid, or shall, knowingly and willfully sell, or assist in selling any real property for payment of taxes to defraud the owner of such real property or shall knowingly and willfully execute not exceeding one year, or to both fine and imprisonment, and to pay the injured party all damages sustained by any such wrongful act; and all such sales shall be void.

SEC. 775. (65.) If any county treasurer or clerk shall be hereafter, either directly or indirectly, concerned in the purchase of any real property sold for the payment of taxes, he shall be liable to a penalty of not more than one thousand dollars, to be recovered in an action in the district court brought by the board of supervisors; the judgment shall be against such treasurer or clerk, as the case may be, and his bondsmen, and the proceeds shall go to the school fund, and all such sales shall be void.

SEC. 776. (66.) If from neglect of officers to make returns, or from any other good cause, real property can not be duly advertised and offered for sale on the first Monday of October, it shall be the duty of the treasurer to make the sale on the first Monday of the next succeed-provided in this act.

SEC. 777. (67.) The county treasurer shall make out, sign and deliver to the purchaser of any real property, sold for the payment of taxes as aforesaid, a certificate of purchase, describing the property on which the taxes and costs were paid by the purchaser, as the same was each tract or lot was sold, and stating the amount of each kind of tax, interest and costs for each tract or lot, for which the same was sold, as described in the record of sales, and that payment had been made therefor. If any person shall become the purchaser of more than one parcel of property, he may have the whole included in one certificate. For each certificate so delivered the purchaser shall pay a fee of fifteen cents to the clerk of the board of supervisors and thirty-five cents to the county treasurer.

SEC. 778. (68.) Such certificate of purchase shall be assignable by indorsement, and an assignment thereof shall vest in the assignee or his legal representative, all the right and title of the original purchaser.

SEC. 779. (69.) Real property sold under the provisions of this act, may be redeemed at any time before the expiration of three years from the date of the sale, by the payment in specie, to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the proper county, to be held by him subject to the order of the purchaser of the amount for which the same was sold and thirty per cent. on the same with ten per cent. interest per annum on the whole amount from the day of sale, and the amount of all taxes accruing after such sale, with ten per cent. interest per annum on such subsequent taxes, unless such subsequent taxes have been paid by the person for whose benefit the redemption is made; which fact may be shown by the treasurer's receipt: provided, that if real property of any minor married woman or lunatic be sold for taxes, the same may be redeemed at any time within one year after such disability be removed, upon the terms specified in this section, which redemption may be made by the guardian or legal representatives.

Sec. 780. (70.) The clerk of the board of supervisors shall, upon application of any party to redeem any real property sold under the provisions of this act, and being satisfied that such party has a right to redeem the same, and upon the payment of the proper amount, issue to substantially as contained in the certificate of sale, the date of the redemption, the amount paid, and by whom redeemed; and he shall make the proper entries in the book of sales in his office and shall immecertificate of redemption shall then be presented to the treasurer, who shall countersign the same and make the proper entries in the books of his office, and no certificate of redemption shall be held as evidence of such redemption without such signature of the treasurer.

Sec. 781. (71.) Immediately after the expiration of the term of three years from the date of the sale of any land for taxes under the provisions of this act, the treasurer then in office shall make out a deed for each lot or parcel of land sold, and remaining unredeemed, and deliver the same to the purchaser upon the return of the certificate of purchase.

Sec. 782. (72.) The treasurer is required to demand twenty-five cents for each deed made by him on such sales, but any number of parcels of land bought by one person may be included in one deed, as may be desired by the purchaser.

Sec. 783. (73.) Deeds executed by the treasurer shall be substantially in the following form:

Deed is prima facie evidence of:

Sec. 784 (74.) The deed shall be signed by the treasurer in his official capacity, and acknowledged by him before some officer authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds; and when substantially thus executed and recorded in the proper record of titles to real estate, shall vest in the purchaser all the right, title, interest and estate of the former owner in and to the land conveyed, and also all the right, title, interest and claim of the state and county thereto, and shall be prima facie evidence in all courts of this state, in all controversies, and suits in relation to the rights of the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, to the land thereby conveyed, of the following facts:

1. That the real property conveyed was subject to taxation for the year or years stated in the deed.
2. That the taxes were not paid at any time before the sale.
3. That the real property conveyed had not been redeemed from the sale at the date of the deed, and shall be conclusive evidence of the following facts:
   1. That the property had been listed and assessed at the time and in the manner required by law.
   2. That the taxes were levied according to law.
3. That the property was advertised for sale in the manner and for the length of time required by law.
4. That the property was sold for taxes as stated in the deed.
5. That the grantee named in the deed was the purchaser.
6. That the sale was conducted in the manner required by law.
7. That all the pre-requisites of the law were complied with by all the officers who had, or whose duty it was to have had, any part or action in any transaction relating to or affecting the title conveyed, or purporting to be conveyed by the deed, from the listing and valuation of the property up to the execution of the deed, both inclusive, and that all things whatsoever, required by law to make a good and valid sale, and to vest the title in the purchaser were done, except in regard to the three points named in this section, wherein the deed shall be prima facie evidence only.

And in all controversies and suits involving the title to real property claimed and held under and by virtue of a deed executed substantially as aforesaid by the treasurer, the person claiming title adverse to the title conveyed by such deed, shall be required to prove, in order to defeat the said title, either that the said real property was not subject to taxation for the year or years named in the deed—that the taxes had been paid before the sale, or that the property had been redeemed from the sale according to the provisions of this act, and that such redemption was had or made for the use and benefit of persons having the right of redemption under the laws of this state, but no person shall be permitted to question the title acquired by a treasurer's deed without first shewing that he or she, or the person under whom he or she claims title, had title to the property at the time of the sale, or that the title was obtained from the United States, or this state, after the sale, and that all taxes due upon the property have been paid by such person, or the person under whom he or she claims title as aforesaid: provided, that in any case where a person had paid his taxes and through mistake in the entry made in the treasurer's books or in the receipt, the land upon which the taxes were paid was afterwards sold the treasurer's deed shall not convey the title: provided further, that in all cases where the owner of lands sold for taxes shall resist the validity of such tax title such owner may show and prove fraud committed by the officer selling the same or in the purchaser to defeat the same and if fraud is so established such sale and title shall be void.

SEC. 785. (75.) When by mistake or wrongful act of the treasurer, land has been sold on which no tax was due at the time, or whenever land is sold in consequence of error in describing such land in the tax receipt, the county is to hold the purchaser harmless by paying him the amount of principal and interest and costs to which he would have been entitled had the land been rightfully sold, and the treasurer and his sureties will be liable to the county for the amount of his official bond, or the purchaser, or his assignee may recover directly of the treasurer in an action brought to recover the same in any court having jurisdiction of the amount, and judgment shall be against him and his bondsmen: provided always, that the treasurer or his sureties shall be liable only for his own or his deputies acts.

SEC. 786. (76.) In all suits and controversies involving the question of title to real property held under and by virtue of a treasurer's deed, all acts of assessors, treasurers, clerks of boards of supervisors and other offices de facto shall be deemed and construed to be of the same validity as acts of officers de jure.
SEC. 787. (77.) No sale of real property for taxes shall be considered invalid on account of the same having been charged in any other name than that of the rightful owner, if the said property be in other respects sufficiently described.

SEC. 788. (78.) The books and records belonging to the offices of the clerk of the board of supervisors and the county treasurer, or copies thereof, properly certified, shall be deemed sufficient evidence to prove the sale of any real property for taxes, the redemption thereof or the payment of taxes thereon.

SEC. 789. (79.) Whenever it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the county treasurer, either before the execution of a deed for real property sold for taxes, or if the deed be returned by the purchaser, that any tract or lot was sold which was not subject to taxation, or upon which the taxes had been paid previous to the sale, he shall make an entry opposite such tract or lot on the record of sales, that the same was erroneously sold, and such entry shall be evidence of the fact therein stated. And in such cases the purchase money shall be refunded to the purchaser as provided by this act.

SEC. 790. (80.) No action for the recovery of real property sold for the non-payment of taxes shall lie, unless the same be brought within five years after the date of the sale thereof for taxes as aforesaid, (anything in the statute of limitations to the contrary notwithstanding:) provided, that where the owner or owners of such real property sold as aforesaid, shall at the time of such sale, be minor or minors, or insane, five years after such disability is removed shall be allowed such person or persons, their heirs or legal representatives, to bring their suit or action for recovery of the real property so sold.

SEC. 791. (81.) A tax for state purposes shall be levied upon peddlers of watches, jewelry and clocks, dry goods, fancy articles, notions, patent medicines or other merchandise not manufactured in this state; for a license to peddle throughout the state for one year as follows: upon each peddler of watches or jewelry, or either of them, thirty dollars; upon each peddler of clocks, fifty dollars; upon each peddler of dry goods, fancy articles, notions, or patent medicines, as follows: upon each peddler thereof, ten dollars; upon each peddler who pursues his occupation with a vehicle drawn by one animal, twenty-five dollars; if drawn by two and less than four animals, fifty dollars; if drawn by four or more animals, seventy-five dollars.

SEC. 792. (82.) Such license may be obtained from the clerk of the board of supervisors of any county, upon paying the proper tax to the treasurer thereof, and license may issue for a less period than one year, for the proportionate amount of tax, and all such license shall state the date of the expiration of the same, and any person so peddling without a license, or after the expiration of his license, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and the person actually peddling is liable, whether he be the owner of the goods or not.*

TITLE VII.

CHAPTER 46.

OF ROADS AND HIGHWAYS.

ARTICLE 1.

SECTION 819. (514.) The county court has the general supervision over the highways in the county with power to establish and change them as herein provided and to see that the laws in relation to them are carried into effect.

SEC. 820. (515.) County and state roads hereafter established must be sixty-six feet in width, unless otherwise specially directed, but the court may for good reasons fix a different width not less than thirty-three feet.

SEC. 821. (516.) A county road may within the limits aforesaid be increased or diminished in width or it may be altered in direction or discontinued, by pursuing substantially the steps herein prescribed for opening a new road.

SEC. 822. (517.) Bridges are parts of the public highways and must not be less than sixteen feet in breadth.

SEC. 823. (518.) The county court may prohibit any person from riding or driving faster than a walk across any bridge maintained at the public charge and whose entire length is twenty-five feet or upwards, under the penalty of one dollar for each offense. Notices thereof must be conspicuously posted at each end of such bridge. The penalty may be recovered by civil action before any justice of the peace in the name and for the use of the county.

Manner of establishing County Roads.

SEC. 824. (519.) Previous to the presentation of a petition for the establishment of a county road four weeks' notice thereof must be given by being posted up at the court house door and in three public places in each township through which it is to pass and in the neighborhood of the proposed road.

SEC. 825. (520.) Such notice must state the principal points through which it will pass if any such are contemplated, and state the time at which application will be made to the county court for the appointment of a commissioner to examine and report upon the same.

SEC. 826. (521.) Security must be given to the satisfaction of the court conditioned that all the expenses growing out of the application will be paid by the obligors in case the contemplated road is not finally established.

* Read sections 312-11-13, and 317, and chapter 22, articles 12, and 13, and then throughout this chapter read the words "court" and "judge," either "board of supervisors" or "clerk of the board of supervisors," as the sense or the powers to be conferred on the clerk may require.
SEC. 827. (522.) If the road is less than five miles in length the security given shall be for the absolute payment of such expenses.

SEC. 828. (523.) The court at the time of the application specified in the notices aforesaid (which must be on some of its regular days of session) or at some other time to be then fixed, shall proceed to the consideration of the case, and if satisfied that the above mentioned prerequisites have been complied with shall appoint some suitable and disinterested inhabitant of the county a commissioner to examine into the expediency of the proposed road and to report accordingly.

SEC. 829. (524.) The time for the commencement of such examination shall be fixed by the court, and should the commissioner for any cause fail to commence on the day, the court may fix another for that purpose.

SEC. 830. (525.) The commissioner is not confined to the precise matter of the petition but may inquire and determine whether that or any road in the vicinity answering the same purpose and in substance the same be required, but such road must not be laid out through any burying ground which is by law exempt from execution.

SEC. 831. (526.) In forming his judgment he must take into consideration both the public and private convenience and inconvenience and also the expense of the proposed road.

SEC. 832. (527.) After a general examination, if he should not be in favor of establishing the proposed road he will so report and no further proceedings shall be had thereon.

SEC. 833. (528.) If he deems such establishment expedient he may proceed at once to lay out the road as hereinafter directed and may report accordingly if the circumstances of the case are such as to enable him to do so without pursuing the course pointed out in the next section.

SEC. 834. (529.) But if the precise location of the road can not be otherwise given he must call to his aid a competent surveyor and the necessary assistants and cause the line of the road to be accurately surveyed and plainly marked out.

SEC. 835. (530.) The commissioner, surveyor and assistants must be sworn by some officer authorized to administer oaths, to the faithful and impartial discharge of their several duties, except that where the county surveyor is employed he need not be sworn.*

SEC. 836. (531.) Mile posts must be set up at the end of every mile and the distance marked thereon, and stakes must be set at each change of direction on which shall be marked the bearing of the new course. Stakes must also be set at the crossing of fences and streams, and at intervals in the prairie not exceeding a quarter of a mile each;
in the timber the course must be indicated by trees suitably blazed.

SEC. 837. (532.) Bearing trees must when convenient be established at each angle and mile post, and the position of the road relative to the corners of sections, the junction of streams, or any other natural or artificial monument or conspicuous object, must as far as convenient be stated in the field notes and shown on the plat.

SEC. 838. (533.) A correct plat of the road together with a copy of the field notes of the surveyor (if one has been employed) must be filed as a part of the commissioner's report.

SEC. 839. (534.) The commissioner shall receive one dollar and fifty cents a day for his services, and the surveyor and assistants such compensation as is agreed upon, being the lowest price for which competent persons can be employed and not exceeding three dollars a day for the surveyor and one dollar and twenty-five cents for the assistants.

SEC. 840. (535.) Upon the filing of the report in favor of the proposed road the court must appoint a day when the master will be acted upon, which shall not be less than sixty nor more than ninety days distant.

SEC. 841. (536.) Within thirty days after the appointment of the day all claims for damages in consequence of the establishment of the road must be made if at all, but where a sufficient excuse for not filing such claim within the time aforesaid is shown by affidavit the claim may be considered if made at any time before final action upon the road, and the time for such final action may thereupon be postponed to a future day if necessary.

SEC. 842. (537.) Such claims must be in writing and filed in the county office.

SEC. 843. (538.) Upon the filing of such claim the court must appoint three suitable and disinterested voters of the county as appraisers to view the ground on a day fixed by the court and report upon the amount of damages sustained by the claimant after deducting therefrom the benefit he will receive from said road.

SEC. 844. (539.) The court shall cause notice of their appointment to be given to each of these appraisers, fixing the hour at which they are to meet at the office of the clerk of the court or of some justice of the peace therein named.

SEC. 845. (540.) If the appraisers are not all present within one hour of the time thus fixed the court or the justice, as the case may be, may fill the vacancy by the appointment of others.

SEC. 846. (541.) The number being completed they must be sworn to discharge their duty faithfully and impartially.

SEC. 847. (542.) They must file their report before the day appointed as aforesaid for final action upon the establishment of the road.

SEC. 848. (543.) Should the report not be filed in time or should any other good cause for delay exist, the court may postpone the time for final action on the subject and may if expedient appoint other appraisers.

SEC. 849. (544.) The appraisers shall each receive one dollar and fifty cents a day for the time actually employed in the performance of their duties.

SEC. 850. (545.) Should no damages be awarded to the applicant the whole of the costs growing out of the application for damages shall be paid by him.

SEC. 851. (546.) When the time for final action in relation to the road arrives, whether application for damages has been made or not, the court may hear testimony and receive petitions for and against the establishment of such road. It may establish or reject the road absolutely or it may make such establishment conditional upon the payment in whole or in part of the damages awarded or the expenses incurred in relation thereto, as the public good may seem to require.

SEC. 852. (547.) In the latter case, if the condition is not performed by the time appointed the subject shall come up for a rehearing and new action thereon.

SEC. 853. (548.) If money is thus advanced to secure the opening of a road a memorandum thereof must be made in the record and the person so advancing it shall receive from the clerk a certificate of such fact. The road shall not thereafter be discontinued without refunding to him or his legal representatives the amount so advanced, without interest.

SEC. 854. (549.) When damages have been paid by the county or by an individual for injury to land in consequence of the establishment of a road the amount must be refunded whenever the road is discontinued, and the claim for such refunding is a lien upon the land for the taking of which damages were given, which may if necessary be sold to liquidate such claim.

SEC. 855. (550.) After the road has been finally established the plat and field notes must be recorded by the clerk, and the supervisor of roads shall be directed to have the same opened and worked according to law.

SEC. 856. (551.) A reasonable time must be allowed to enable the owners of land to erect the necessary fences adjoining the new road.

SEC. 857. (552.) Where crops have been sowed or planted before the road is finally established the opening thereof shall be delayed until the crop is harvested.

SEC. 858. (553.) Roads may be established without the appointment of a commissioner, provided the written consent of all the proprietors of the land to be used for that purpose be first filed and recorded.

SEC. 859. (554.) If a survey be necessary to give the road a precise location the expense thereof shall be borne by the county if the road be more than three miles in length.

SEC. 860. (555.) The rights of married women and the interests of minors and insane persons are in such cases and for such purposes under the control of their husbands or guardians.

SEC. 861. (556.) The establishment of a road either along or across a county line may be effected by the concurrent action of the respective county courts in the mode above prescribed, the commissioners in such cases must act in concert and the road will not be deemed established in either county until it is so in both.

[(557) to (612) inclusive are either expressly repealed or impliedly superseded by "an act providing for the election of supervisors and defining their duties," passed Jan. 22, 1853, took effect Feb. 2, 1853, laws of fourth general assembly, chapter 48, page 79, or by "an act to provide for the making and repairing of public highways, and prescribing the duties of township officers in certain cases," which superseded the former, or by "an act defining the mode of laying out, establishing, changing and vacating state roads.

ARTICLE 2.

An act defining the mode of laying out, establishing, changing and vacating State Roads.

[Passed March 23, 1858, took effect July 4, 1868, Laws of Seventh General Assembly, Chapter 189, page 290]

SECTION 862. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That all state roads, shall hereafter be established by petition to the county court, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 863. (2.) All petitions for any state road shall specify the place of beginning, the intermediate points, if any, and the place of termination of said roads.

SEC. 864. (3.) On application by petition, signed by at least twenty freeholders of each county, through which it is proposed to establish any state road, the county court of each of said counties shall appoint one disinterested freeholder of his county as commissioner to view and survey said road.

Sec. 865. (4.) Previous to granting an order on any petition presented as aforesaid, one of the parties in each county through which such road may pass, shall execute a bond with two or more responsible freeholders in said county, as securities to the satisfaction of the county court, payable to the state of Iowa, and conditioned for the payment of all expenses which may accrue in the location of said road, in case the same shall not be established a public highway.

Sec. 866. (5.) On the filing of a petition and bond, agreeable to the provisions of this act, which shall be at the same term of court in all the counties interested in the location of the road, the county court of each county, shall issue an order directing the commissioner by them appointed, to meet the commissioners of the other counties or county (as the case may be,) at the place of the beginning of said road, on the first Wednesday of the month then next ensuing, and the commissioners when met as before directed, shall employ a competent surveyor, chain-carriers and a marker, and other assistants, if necessary, and proceed to discharge the duties of their appointments, respectively: provided, that each commissioner, surveyor and chain-carrier, shall before entering on the duties of his appointment, take an oath or affirmation to discharge his duties faithfully, and according to law.

Sec. 867. (6.) Each state road shall be laid out from the place of beginning to the place of termination on the most practicable route, always having regard to suitable ground, improvements already existing, section lines and intermediate points, if any, and all state roads that shall hereafter be established, agreeable to the provisions of this act shall be opened and considered public highways, sixty-six feet wide: provided, that no road shall be laid out through any garden, orchard or ornamental grounds, contiguous to a dwelling house, or so as to cause the removal of any dwelling house or other building without the consent of the owner.

Sec. 868. (7.) The commissioner appointed to lay out and establish any state road, shall cause the same to be correctly surveyed and marked, through the whole distance, and at each angle of the same, and note the courses and distances thereof, and at the crossing of each road or stream, and at the end of each mile, shall mark the number thereof, on a tree or monument erected by them for that purpose. And the commissioners and surveyor of each ward, shall make a certified return of the survey and plat of the whole length of said road, specifying in said return the distance the same may have been laid out in each county, and whether in their opinion the public convenience requires the establishment of said road or any part thereof. One complete copy of which return shall be signed by a majority of the commissioners and surveyor, and immediately deposited in the office of the county judge of each county in which any part of said road shall be laid out, and the judge of the said county shall file the same in his office.

Sec. 869. (8.) In case the commissioners report in favor of the establishment of such road, the county court of the respective counties shall, at their next regular term after the filing of said report, cause a notice thereof to be published in one or more newspapers published in the county, or having a general circulation therein for six consecutive weeks before the term at which the matter will be heard, notifying all the parties interested in the establishment of the same, that the respective county court of the said counties, will hear the parties in favor of, or against the establishment of said road, and the application for damages of any person on account of the location of said road through his or their lands; provided further, that written notices, posted in one or more of the most public places near the line of said road, in each township through which the road may pass, and one such on the door of the court house of said county shall be given in all cases of publication under this act where no newspaper is established within the county.

Sec. 870. (9.) If any person or persons shall consider themselves aggrieved by the location of said road through his or their lands, such person or persons shall file with the county judge of the proper county, a petition in writing, setting forth the premises on which they claim damages before the term of court designated in the publication of the notice provided in the preceding section, and said judge shall appoint a jury of three disinterested freeholders of the county, whose duty it shall be, after having taken an oath or affirmation, to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties imposed upon them by this act, to proceed to view the said road the entire distance, the same may have been located through the premises of the complainant or complainants, and of minors, idiots, lunatics or insane persons, and to assess the compensation to be paid in money for the property sought to be appropriated, without regard to the benefits resulting from the location of said road, and they shall report to the next regular term of said court, their doings in the premises, setting forth the amount of damages by them adjudged due to each person or company, and the description of such person or company's land so damaged.

Sec. 871. (10.) If the county court shall be satisfied the amount so assessed and determined by the jury aforesaid be just and equitable, and that said road or any part thereof, will in their opinion, be of sufficient importance to the public to cause the damages to be paid by the county, they shall order the same to be paid the petitioner, from the county treasury, but if in their opinion the said road is not of sufficient importance to the public to justify the payment of the same by the county, they may refuse to establish the same a public highway, unless the damages and expenses are paid by the petitioners. But if there be no application of damages or the damages are paid by the county or petitioners, then and in either case, the court shall establish the same a public highway, and record the same in the proper record.

Sec. 872. (11.) The following persons required to render services under this act shall receive compensation for each day they shall necessarily be employed, as follows, to wit: commissioners, two dollars per day, the surveyor three dollars, and chain-carriers, markers and other assistants, one dollar and fifty cents each, to be charged as costs and expenses, and such costs and expenses when so adjudged, shall be paid by the several counties in proportion to the length of time occupied on such road in each county.

Sec. 873. (12.) An appeal from the final decision of the county court on any petition for damages sustained by the location of any state road, as provided by this act, shall be allowed to the district court of the county in which the land lies; but notice must be given of such appeal within twenty days after said decision was made, and no appeal shall be allowed until the appellant shall have filed a bond, with sufficient security, approved by the county judge, for the payment of all costs occasioned by such appeal, in case he does not obtain a better or more favorable judgment in said court than he obtained of the county court, and the county judge shall, within ten days from the time such appeal was taken, deliver to said court a full transcript of all proceedings had before the county court, and on the receipt of such transcript, the court or clerk shall notify four of the petitioners whose names appear first upon the petition asking said road, that can be found in the county, and such notices may be served in the same manner as notices of appeal in other cases, and in such suits the appellant shall be plaintiff, and if the county court has ordered the damages to be paid from the county treasury, then the county shall be defendant, if not then the four petitioners above mentioned shall be defendants, and the final decision of said court shall be certified to the county judge, and by him recorded, which decision shall be final except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 874. (13.) In all cases of appeal from the final decision of the county court, as provided in the twelfth section of this act, the appellant or appellants shall pay all costs that may accrue in consequence of said appeal, unless the judgment in the district court shall exceed in amount the award rendered by the jury appointed by the county court.

SEC. 875. (14.) If upon the reception of the decision obtained in the district court, the county court shall not deem such road of sufficient importance to cause the expenses incurred and damages assessed in the district court, to be paid by the county, he may refuse to establish the same unless the parties interested in the location of said road, shall pay or cause to be paid, before the opening of said road, to the satisfaction of the county court, in case said road is established a highway, all expenses incurred and damages assessed: provided however, it shall be lawful for the county court, if in their opinion a part only of said road will be of public utility, to record and establish such useful part, and reject the residue, in case it be capable of division.

SEC. 876. (15.) In case such expense and damages are paid or secured to be paid as aforesaid, or the county court order the same to be paid out of the county treasury, then, and in either case, he shall enter an order that said road be established a public highway.

SEC. 877. (16.) For their services required by the twelfth and thirteenth sections of this act, the officers and other persons required to perform services shall each be entitled to the same fees as they are entitled to by law for like services in other cases, to be taxed in the bill of costs in court.

SEC. 878. (17.) It shall be lawful for the county court of any county in this state, on notice given in one or more newspapers in general circulation in the county, for four consecutive weeks, and on petition being presented to the county court signed by at least twelve freeholders of the county, for lessening or reducing the width of any state road, which now is or hereafter may be laid out and established, if the county court shall deem just and proper so to do, to reduce the width of such road or part thereof, to any width not less than thirty-three feet, and shall make a record of the same: provided, that the county court shall, previous to making an order lessening or reducing the width of any state road as provided by this section, appoint three disinterested citizens of the county, to view and report to them under oath or affirmation, and at the expense of the petitioners as to the utility or inutility of such proposed change, and also the width which in their opinion is necessary.

manner as provided by law in case of county roads, and may be discon­tinued by the concurrent action of the county courts of the several counties in which the same may be situated.

"An Act to provide for the making and repairing of public highways and prescrib­ing the duties of township officers in certain cases."

SEC. 880. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the township trustees of the several townships of this state shall meet on the first Monday of October, A. D., 1858, and every subsequent year thereafter, and divide their respective townships into such number of road districts as they may deem necessary for the public good.

SEC. 881. (2.) There shall be elected at the general election in the fall of 1858, and annually thereafter, one supervisor for each road dis­trict within the several townships of this state, who shall hold his office for one year, and until his successor is elected and qualified. Said super­visor must reside in the district for which he was elected, and in the election of said supervisor no elector shall vote for more than one super­visor, and none other than the one residing in the district where such elector resides, but no person shall be required to serve as supervisor who is exempt by this act from performing labor on the highway.

SEC. 882. (3.) Said election shall be conducted as other elections, and it shall be the duty of the township clerk to notify said supervisor elect, within five days after said election, and said supervisor elect, thus notified, shall appear before the township clerk within ten days there­after, and give bond and take the oath of office as required by the con­stitution of the state of Iowa.

SEC. 883. (4.) Any supervisor elect, after having been notified as required in section three of this act, who shall fail to appear before said township clerk (unless prevented by sickness) within the specified time, and give bond and take the oath of office as required by this act, shall forfeit and pay the sum of five dollars, and in case of his failing or re­fusing to pay the same, it shall be the duty of his successor in office to collect the said amount by suit or otherwise, and apply the same to the repairing of roads in his district.

SEC. 884. (5.) Each supervisor so elected shall be required to give bond in such sum and with such security as the township clerk may deem requisite, conditioned that he will faithfully and impartially per­form all the duties devolving upon him, and appropriate all moneys that may come into his hands by virtue of his office according to law, which bond shall be kept by the township clerk among the papers of his office. And in the event of a vacancy occurring in any road district within his township, it shall be the duty of the township clerk to fill such vacancy by appointment as soon as notified of the same.

SEC. 885. (6.) Each supervisor shall require all the able-bodied male residents of his district between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five to perform two days' labor upon the public highway between the first day of April and the first day of July of each year as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 886. (7.) The supervisor shall be required to give at least three days' notice previous to the day or days designated to work the roads to all persons in his district subject to work, as required in section six of this act, what day he will superintend the work on the roads.

SEC.  887. (8.) Each person made liable to perform labor on the public highway by section six of this act, who shall fail or neglect to attend either in person or by satisfactory substitute at the time and place appointed with the designated tool, implement or team, having had three days' notice thereof, or having attended, shall spend his time in idleness, or disobey the supervisor, or [fail to*] furnish to said supervisor within five days thereafter some satisfactory excuse for not so attending, shall forfeit and pay to said supervisor the sum of one dollar and twenty-five cents for each day's delinquency, and in case of a failure to pay such forfeit within ten days, it is hereby made the duty of such supervisor to recover the same by action of debt in the name of the supervisor, before any justice of the peace in the proper township, which money when collected shall be immediately expended on the public highway.

SEC.  888. (9.) The supervisor shall perform the same amount of labor as is required of an able-bodied man, for which he shall be allowed the sum of one dollar and fifty cents per day, including the time necessarily spent in notifying the hands and making out his returns, which sum shall be paid out of the road fund after deducting his two days' work required by section six of this act, and road tax for that year: provided, that where there is no money in the hands of the clerk with which to pay the said supervisor, he shall be entitled to receive a certificate from the township clerk for the amount of labor performed, after deducting as above required, which certificate shall be received in payment of his own road tax for any succeeding year.

ARTICLE 1.

SECTION 1030. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That no town or city shall hereinafter be incorporated in the state of Iowa, in any other manner than as herein provided. None of the provisions of this act shall apply to cities or towns already incorporated in this state, otherwise than as herein provided, save and except section sixty one of this act.

SEC. 1031. (2.) When the inhabitants of a part of any county not embraced within the limits of any city, or incorporated town, shall desire to be organized into an incorporated town, they may apply by petition in writing signed by not less than thirty of the qualified voters, residents of the territory to be embraced in the proposed incorporated town, to the county court of the proper county, which petition shall describe the territory proposed to be embraced in such incorporated town, and have annexed thereto an accurate map or plat thereof, shall state the name proposed for such incorporated town, and shall also name the person or persons authorized to act in behalf of the petitioners in prosecuting said petition.

SEC. 1032. (3.) Where any such petition shall be presented to the county court, the same shall be filed in the office of the county judge, to be there kept subject to the inspection of any person or persons interested, until the time appointed for the hearing thereof; the said judge shall at or before the time of such filing, fix and communicate to such petitioners, or their agents, a time and place for the hearing of such petition, which time shall not be less than fifty days after the time of such filing, and thereupon the petitioners or their agents shall cause a notice to be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the county, (if one is published in the county) not less than four consecutive weeks, and a copy of said notice to be posted at some public places within the limits of the said proposed incorporated town, not less than four weeks previous to the time of such hearing, which notice shall contain the substance of said petition, and state the time and place for hearing thereof.

SEC. 1033. (4.) character or extent of said proposed incorporated town materially changed, without appointing another time for hearing, and requiring new notice to be given as above provided.

Sec. 1034. (5.) If the court or jury, after hearing such petition, shall be satisfied that at least fifty qualified voters actually reside within the limits described in the petition, and that said petition has been signed by a majority of the voters within said limits, that said limits have been accurately described and an accurate plat or map thereof made and filed, that the name proposed for said town is proper and sufficient to distinguish it from others in the state, and it shall moreover be deemed right and proper in the judgment of the court or jury, that said petition should be granted, the court shall make and indorse on said petition an order to the effect that the incorporated town as named and described in the petition, may be organized, which order the court shall sign and deliver, together with the plat or map, to the recorder of the county, whose duty it shall be to record the same as soon as practicable in the proper book of records, and to file and preserve in his office the original papers, having certified thereon that the same have been properly recorded, and it shall also be the duty of said recorder to make out and certify two transcripts of said record, one of which he shall forward to the secretary of state, and the other he shall deliver to the agent or agents of said petitioners, with a certificate thereon, that a similar transcript has been forwarded to the secretary of state as above provided.

Sec. 1035. (6.) So soon as said record shall be made and said transcripts certified and forwarded and delivered, the inhabitants within the limits described in the petition, shall be deemed an incorporated town, to be organized and governed under the provisions of this act, in like manner as if specially named therein, and so soon as said incorporated town shall be actually organized, by an election of its officers as hereinafter provided, notice of its existence as such shall be taken in all judicial proceedings in the state.

Sec. 1036. (7.) Two months shall elapse from the time such transcripts are forwarded and delivered, before notice shall be given for an election of officers in any such town, and any person interested may at any time within said two months, make complaint in writing, in the nature of an application for an injunction, to the district court of the county, or to the judge thereof in vacation, having given at least five days' notice thereof, and furnished a copy of the complaint to the agent or agents of the petitioners, for the purpose of having the organization of such proposed town prevented. It shall be the duty of such judge or court to hear such complaint in a summary manner, receiving such answers, affidavits and proofs as may be deemed pertinent, and if it shall appear that the proposed town does not contain the requisite number of inhabitants, or that a majority of them have not signed the petition, or that the limits of said town are unreasonably large, or small, or are not properly and sufficiently described, then the said court or judge shall order that the record of said town shall be annulled, and it shall be the duty of the county recorder to indorse on the record the order so made, and to certify and transmit to the secretary of state a copy thereof, but such proceeding shall in no manner bar a subsequent petition to the county court.

Sec. 1037. (8.) Unless the agent or agents of the petitioners shall, within two months after the transcript shall be delivered as above provided, be notified of a complaint having been made to the district court, or judge thereof, then at the end of said two months, or after the dis-mission of said complaint, the said agent or agents shall give public notice by posting the same at three or more of the most public places within the limits of said town, of the time and place of holding the first election for officers of said town, which election shall be conducted and the officers elected and qualified in the manner prescribed by law in like cases, the clerk and other officers of the township in which said proposed town is situated presiding at said election in the same manner as at township elections, and making the same returns: provided, the officers so elected shall continue in office only until the time of the regular election of said officers, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Sec. 1038. (9.) When the inhabitants of a part of any county contiguous and adjoining to any city or town, shall desire to be annexed to such city or town, they may apply by petition in writing to the county court of the proper county, signed by the inhabitants so applying, to be in number not less than a majority of the electors, which petition shall describe the territory proposed to be annexed, and be accompanied by an accurate map or plat thereof, and shall name the person or persons in prosecuting said petition.

Sec. 1039. (10.) When any such petition shall be presented to the county court, the same shall be filed, and like proceedings shall be had for a hearing thereon as is prescribed by the third, fourth, and fifth sections of this act, and should the said petition be granted, the judge shall indorse on said petition an order to the effect that the territory described in the petition may be annexed to, and become a part of the city or town named in said petition, and the petition, together with the map or plat, shall be delivered to the clerk or recorder of such city or town.

Sec. 1040. (11.) No further action shall be taken on such order for proceedings in the space of two months, and within that time any person interested, may in like manner as provided in the seventh section of this act, institute a proceeding to have the proposed annexation prevented, and if it shall appear to the court or judge hearing such proceeding, that a majority of the electors aforesaid actually residing within the limits described in such petition, have not signed the same, or that the territory proposed to be annexed is unreasonably large, or that said territory is not properly described, he shall make an order to restrain any further action under the order of the county court, and annulling the same, but such proceeding shall not bar any subsequent petition to the county court.

Sec. 1041. (12.) When any complaint shall be made as before provided, to prevent an annexation of territory, notice thereof shall be given as well to the proper authorities of such city or town as to the agent or agents of the petitioners, and if no such notice shall be given within two months after the delivery of the order to the clerk or recorder of said city or town, then at the end of said two months and within one year, and in case of any such complaint, and after the dismissal of said complaints, and within one year thereafter, the proper authority of such city or town shall provide by ordinance or resolution for the submission to the electors at the next annual election of municipal officers, of the question whether such annexation shall be made, and if a majority of the electors of such city or town voting at such election, shall vote in favor of such annexation, then on the return of such vote to the proper authority of such city or town, a resolution or ordinance shall be adopted or passed declaring that the territory described in the petition has been annexed to, and is a part of such city or town, and it shall be the duty of the clerk or recorder of the said city or town to make out two copies of the petition, plat, order of the county court, abstract of

CORPORATIONS FOR PECUNIARY PROFIT.

[Code—Chapter 43.]

ARTICLE 1.

Who incorporated.

SECTION 1150. (673.) Any number of persons may associate themselves and become incorporated for the transaction of any lawful business including the establishment of ferries, the construction of canals, railways, bridges, or other works of internal improvement; but such incorporation confers no power or privilege not possessed by natural persons except as hereinafter provided.

Powers assumed.

SEC. 1151. (674.) Among the powers of such body corporate are the following:

1. To have perpetual succession;
2. To sue and be sued by its corporate name;
3. To have a common seal which it may alter at pleasure;
4. To render the interests of the stockholders transferable;
5. To exempt the private property of its members from liability for corporate debts except as herein otherwise declared;
6. To make contracts, acquire and transfer property, possessing the same powers in such respects as private individuals now enjoy;
7. To establish by-laws and make all rules and regulations deemed expedient for the management of their affairs, in accordance with law and not incompatible with an honest purpose.

Pre-requisites.

SEC. 1152. (675.) Previous to commencing any business except that of their own organization they must adopt articles of incorporation which must be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county where the principal place of business is to be, in a book kept therefor.

Same.

SEC. 1153. (676.) Corporations for the construction of any work of internal improvement must, in addition, also file a copy of such arti-cies in the office of secretary of state and have the same recorded by him in a book kept for such purposes. Such articles of incorporation must fix the highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation is at any one time to be subject, which must in no case except in that of the risks of insurance companies exceed two-thirds of its capital stock.

SEC. 1154. (677.) A notice must also be published for four weeks in succession in some newspaper as convenient as practicable to the principal place of business.

SEC. 1155. (678.) Such notice must contain:
1. The name of the corporation and its principal place of transacting business;
2. The general nature of the business to be transacted;
3. The amount of capital and stock authorized, and the times and conditions on which it is to be paid in;
4. The time of the commencement and termination of the corporation;
5. By what officers or persons the affairs of the company are to be conducted and the times at which they will be elected;
6. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation is at any time to subject itself;
7. Whether private property is to be exempt from the corporate debts.

SEC. 1156. (679.) The corporation may commence business as soon as the articles are filed in the office of the recorder of deeds, and their doings shall be valid if the publication in a newspaper is made and the copy filed in the office of secretary of state, when such filing is necessary, within three months from such filing in the recorder's office.

SEC. 1157. (680.) No change in any of the above matters shall be valid unless recorded and published as the original articles are required to be.

SEC. 1158. (681.) Corporations for the construction of any work of internal improvement may be formed to endure fifty years; those formed for other purposes can not exceed twenty years in duration; but in either case they may be renewed from time to time for periods not greater respectively than was at first permissible, provided three-fourths of the votes cast at any regular election for that purpose be in favor of such renewal, and provided also that those thus wishing a renewal will purchase the stock of those opposed to the renewal at its fair current value.*

SEC. 1159. (682.) The corporation can not be dissolved prior to the period fixed upon in the articles of incorporation except by unanimous consent, unless a different rule has been adopted in their articles.

SEC. 1160. (683.) The same period of newspaper publication must precede any such premature dissolution of a corporation as is required at its creation.

SEC. 1161. (684.) A copy of the by-laws of the corporation with the names of all its officers appended thereto must be posted in the principal place of business and be subject to public inspection.

SEC. 1162. (685.) A statement of the amount of the capital stock subscribed, the amount of capital actually paid in, and the amount of indebtedness of the company in a general way, must also be kept posted up in like manner, which statement must be corrected as often as any material change takes place in relation to any part of the subject matter of such statement.

SEC. 1163. (686.) Intentional fraud in failing to comply substantially with the articles of incorporation or in deceiving the public or individuals in relation to their means or their liabilities shall subject those guilty thereof to fine and imprisonment or both at the discretion of the court. Any person who has sustained injury from such fraud may also recover damages therefor against those guilty of participating in such fraud.

SEC. 1164. (687.) The diversion of the funds of the corporation to other objects than those mentioned in their articles and in the notices published as aforesaid (provided any person be thereby injured,) and the payment of dividends which leave insufficient funds to meet the liabilities of the corporation, shall be deemed such frauds as will subject those therein concerned to the penalties of the preceding section, and such dividends or their equivalent in the hands of individual stockholders shall be subject to said liabilities.

SEC. 1165. (688.) Dividends by insurance companies, made in good faith before their knowledge of the happening of actual losses, are not intended to be prevented or punished by the provisions of the preceding section.

SEC. 1166. (689.) Dividends by insurance companies, made in good faith before their knowledge of the happening of actual losses, are not intended to be prevented or punished by the provisions of the preceding section.

SEC. 1167. (690.) Either such failure or the practice of fraud in the manner hereinbefore mentioned shall cause a forfeiture of all the privileges hereby conferred, and the courts may proceed to wind up the business of the corporation by an information in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 1168. (691.) The intentional keeping of false books or accounts by any corporation whereby any one is injured is a misdemeanor on the part of those concerned therein, and any person shall be presumed to be concerned therein whose duty it was to see that the books and accounts were correctly kept.

SEC. 1169. (692.) The transfer of shares is not valid except as between the parties thereto until it is regularly entered on the books of the company so far as to show the name of the persons by and to whom transferred, the numbers or other designation of the shares, and the date of the transfer; but such transfer shall not in any way exempt the person or persons making such transfer from any liability or liabilities of said corporation which were created prior to such transfer. The books of the company must be so kept as to show intelligibly the original stockholders, their respective interests, the amount which has been paid in on their shares, and all transfers thereof; and such books, or a correct copy thereof so far as the items mentioned in this section are concerned, shall be subject to the inspection of any person desiring the same.

SEC. 1170. (693.) Any corporation organized or attempted to be organized in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall cease to exist by the non-user of its franchises for two years at any one time, but such body shall not forfeit its franchises by reason of its omission to elect officers or to hold meetings at any time prescribed by the by-laws.

* Section (689) is modified so as not to apply to railroad corporations. See section 1338. provided such act be done within two years of the time appointed therefor.

SEC. 1171. (694.) Corporations whose charters expire by their own limitation or by the voluntary act of the stockholders may nevertheless continue to act for the purpose of winding up their concerns, but for no other purpose.

SEC. 1172. (695.) Nothing herein contained exempts the stockholders of any corporation from individual liability to the amount of the unpaid installments on the stock owned by them or transferred by them for the purpose of defrauding creditors, and an execution against the company may to that extent be levied upon such private property of any individual.

SEC. 1173. (696.) In none of the cases contemplated in this chapter can the private property of the stockholders be levied upon for the payment of corporate debts while corporate property can be found with which to satisfy the same, but it will be sufficient proof that no property can be found if an execution has issued on a judgment against the corporation and a demand thereon made of some one of the last acting officers of the body for property on which to levy, and if he neglects to point out any such property.

SEC. 1174. (697.) The defendant in any stage of a cause may point out corporate property subject to levy, and upon his satisfying the court of the existence of such property by affidavit or otherwise the cause may be continued or execution against the defendant stayed until the property can be levied upon and sold, and the court may subsequently render judgment and order execution for any balance which there may be after disposing of the corporate property, according to the stage of the cause; but if a demand of property has been made as contemplated in the preceding section the costs of such proceedings shall in any event be paid by the company or by the defendant.

SEC. 1175. (698.) When the private property of a stockholder is taken for a corporate debt he may maintain an action against the corporation for indemnity and against any of the other stockholders for contribution.

SEC. 1176. (699.) For the purpose of repairs, rebuilding, or enlarging, or to meet contingencies, or for the purpose of a sinking fund, the corporation may establish a fund which they may loan and in relation to which they may take the proper securities.

SEC. 1177. (700.) When the franchise of a corporation has been levied upon under an execution and sold the corporators shall not have power to dissolve the corporation so as to destroy the franchise, and if they neglect to keep up an organization sufficient to enable the business to proceed the purchaser thereupon becomes vested with all the powers of the corporation requisite therefor; and when it becomes impracticable for an individual to conduct them and in cases where doubts or difficulties not herein provided for arise, the purchaser may apply by petition to the district court which is hereby vested with authority to make any orders requisite for carrying into effect the intent of this chapter in this respect.

SEC. 1178. (701.) In any proceedings by or against a corporation or against a stockholder to charge his private property or the dividends received by him the court is invested with power to compel the officers to produce the books of the corporation on the motion of either party upon a proper cause being shown for that purpose.

SEC. 1179. (702.) A single individual may entitle himself to all individuals.
the advantages of this chapter provided he complies substantially with all its requirements, omitting those which from the nature of the case are inapplicable.

Sec. 1180. (703.) Persons acting as a corporation under the provisions of this chapter will be presumed to be legally incorporated until the contrary is shown; and no such franchise shall be declared actually null or forfeited except in a regular proceeding brought for that purpose.

Sec. 1181. (704.) No body of men acting as a corporation under the provisions of this chapter shall be permitted to set up the want of a legal organization as a defense to an action against them as a corporation, nor shall any person sued on a contract made with such a corporation or sued for an injury to its property or a wrong done to its interests be permitted to set up a want of such legal organization in his defense.

Sec. 1182. (705.) Corporations regularly organized under the general law heretofore in force, by adapting their articles of association to the provisions of this chapter and by making the required publication of the change as well as of their intention to act under the foregoing provisions, will be entitled to all the advantages and subjected to all the liabilities above provided for, but the change in their articles of association must be made in accordance with those articles or by the unanimous consent of the stockholders.

Sec. 1183. (706.) Mutual insurance companies organized under the provisions of this chapter may render their premium notes a lien upon the whole or any part of the real estate upon which the property insured is situate, whether such real estate is or is not exempt from other liabilities as a homestead, but such lien will not attach until the premium note stating the property on which it is a lien is filed for record and treated in the same manner as though it were a mortgage from the maker thereof to the company except that it need not be acknowledged.

Sec. 1184. (707.) Nothing herein contained is intended to affect the interests of companies already organized farther than is above expressed.

TITLE XI.

OF WORKS OF INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT.

CHAPTER 54.

"LICENSES FOR WORKS OF INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT."

[Code—Chapter 45.]*

1. ARTICLE 1.

FERRY.

Section 1200. (712.) The several county courts have power to grant such ferry licenses as may be needed within their respective counties, for a period not less than three nor more than ten years.

Sec. 1201. (713.) The court may prescribe the rates of ferriage as well as the hours of the day or night during which the ferry must be attended, both of which may from time to time be changed at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 1202. (714.) In granting a ferry license the court has power to make the privilege granted exclusive for a distance not exceeding one mile in either direction from said ferry, in which case no person shall keep a public ferry within the prescribed distance unless after twenty days notice to the person who has obtained such privilege it is made to appear to the court that the public good requires both ferries and a new license is issued for the second ferry accordingly. The notice herein required must be served personally on the owner or on the person in charge of the ferry boat.

Sec. 1203. (715.) In granting a ferry license preference must be given to the keeper of a previous ferry at the same point, and if it be a new ferry preference shall be given to the owner of the land, but if there is none such, or if after giving the same notice as is required by the last section he fails to make application for such license, or if in the opinion of the court he is an improper person to receive the same, it may be conferred on any other proper applicant.

Sec. 1204. (716.) Where the opposite shores of the stream are in different counties a license from either is sufficient, and the court which first exercises jurisdiction by granting a license retains that jurisdiction during the life-time of such license.

Sec. 1205. (717.) Where but one side of a river is within this state the county court possesses the same powers so far as the shore of this state is concerned as though the river lay wholly within the jurisdiction of this state.

* For the word "court" or "judge" throughout this chapter when the same is italicized read "board of supervisors." See section 312, and chapter 22, article 13.
SEC. 1206. (718.) Before a license can be granted notice of the intended application therefor must be posted up in at least three public places on each side of the river (if both sides of the river are within this state) in the township and neighborhood in which the ferry is proposed to be kept, at least twenty days next prior to the making of such application.

SEC. 1207. (719.) The court upon being satisfied that the above requirements have been complied with, that a ferry is needed at such place, and that the applicant is a suitable person to keep it, must grant the license, which however shall not issue until the applicant files a bond with sureties to be approved by the court in a penalty not less than one hundred dollars with a condition that he will keep the ferry in proper condition for ferrying and attend the same at all times fixed by the court for running the same, that he will neither demand nor take any illegal tolls and that he will perform all other duties which are or may be enjoined on him by law, which bond shall be filed in the county office.

SEC. 1208. (720.) The license together with the rates of toll established must be entered upon the records of the county court, and the certificate of license shall contain the rates of toll allowed.

SEC. 1209. (721.) Every ferryman must transport the public expresses of the United States and of this state and also the United States mail at any hour of the day or night.

SEC. 1210. (722.) He must keep a list of the rates of toll allowed posted up on his boat, or on the door of his ferry house, or at some other conspicuous place near the ferry.

SEC. 1211. (723.) The failure to have such list posted up as above said justifies any person in refusing the payment of tolls, and where such failure is habitual the proprietor of the ferry is liable to pay twenty-five dollars in a suit brought on his bond, and the proceeds shall be paid into the county treasury.

SEC. 1212. (724.) When it is made to appear to the county court after ten days notice to the person licensed that such person fails substantially to perform his duties according to law the court may revoke his license.

SEC. 1213. (725.) Existing licenses and charters are not to be affected by the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 1214. (726.) The county court is also authorized to grant licenses for the erection of toll bridges across any stream or other obstruction which justifies the establishment of such bridge and which calls for an expenditure greater than can be met without serious inconvenience by the revenues of the county, but the navigation of no navigable river must be thereby materially obstructed. And in all cases of granting a license to build such bridge preference shall be given to the owner of the land on which said bridge is proposed to be located, provided he be in other respects a competent person to erect such bridge.

SEC. 1215. (727.) Subject to the provisions of the last section bridges may be thus authorized to be constructed across navigable streams provided they do not prove substantially a nuisance.

SEC. 1216. (728.) Where the extremities of the bridge lie in different counties a license must be procured from each of such counties, and if different rates of toll are fixed by the different county courts each has power to fix the rates of travel which is going from its own county. A similar principle shall be observed where only one of the extremities of the bridge is within this state.

* These provisions as to bridges of any sort, are qualified as to those over navigable rivers by laws of seventh general assembly, chapter 93, page 183,—article 3 hereof.

Duration.
SEC. 1217. (729.) Such licenses may be granted to continue for any period not exceeding fifty years, and the rate of toll may be fixed in the first instance in such a manner as to be unalterable within any stipulated period not exceeding ten years; after that time the rate of toll will be under the control of the county court in the same manner as is provided in the case of ferries.

Exclusive.
SEC. 1218. (730.) The court is also authorized to stipulate in the license to the effect that no other toll bridge or ferry shall be permitted across the same obstruction within any distance not exceeding two miles of such bridge and for a period not exceeding ten years; any violation of the terms of such stipulation is a nuisance and he who causes it is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Notice.
SEC. 1219. (731.) Before granting a license to build a toll bridge the court must be satisfied that the same general notice has been given as is required in the case of an application for a ferry.

Rates of toll.
SEC. 1220. (732.) The rates of toll must be conspicuously posted up at each extremity of the bridge under the same penalty as is provided in the case of ferries.

Regulations.
SEC. 1221. (733.) Any proprietor of a toll bridge established and kept up according to law may make and enforce a regulation prohibiting any person, under a penalty not exceeding two dollars, from traveling across such bridge faster than on a walk, but such regulation must be conspicuously posted up at each end of the bridge; and suit may be brought for the penalty before a justice of the peace in the name of the proprietor and for his benefit.

Hours.
SEC. 1222. (734.) All toll bridges must be so regulated as to allow persons to pass at any hour of the night or day, but the county court may in its discretion in fixing the rates of toll permit a greater amount to be collected during certain hours of the night time.

Other Licenses.

Road licenses.
SEC. 1223. (735.) The county court may also grant licenses for the construction of any canal or railroad or any macadamized or plank road, or any other improvement of a similar character or any telegraph line, to keep the same up for a period not exceeding fifty years and to use for this purpose any portion of the public highway or other property public or private if necessary: provided, such use shall not obstruct the highway; and where a road thus authorized is of such a character as to admit of its being used for the same purposes as an ordinary highway the court in its discretion may discontinue a highway thus rendered unnecessary.

Rates of toll.
SEC. 1224. (736.) The court in its discretion may at the time of granting the license fix the maximum rates of toll to be charged on any such work and may render the same unalterable for a period not exceeding twenty years from the time tolls are begun to be charged thereon, after the expiration of which time the rate of tolls shall be under the direction of the county court in the same manner as those of ferries and bridges.

Tolls
SEC. 1225. (737.) The time for the commencement of taking tolls as contemplated in the preceding section must be notified to the court and entered on its records before any such tolls are collectable.
SEC. 1226. (738.) The rates of toll established as above contemplated must be conspicuously posted up at every gate or other place where tolls are required to be paid, under the same penalty as is herebefore fixed in the case of ferries.

SEC. 1227. (739.) From the decision of the county court in refusing or granting any of the licenses authorized in this chapter an appeal lies to the people of the county as hereinafter regulated at any time within thirty days after the making of such decision, which appeal may be taken by any white male citizen of the county.

SEC. 1228. (740.) The county court may also in the first instance question, growing out of an application for any of the licenses authorized herein, to be submitted at once to the popular vote of the county.

SEC. 1229. (741.) Neither the appeal nor the vote contemplated by the preceding two sections shall be allowed until money is deposited or security given sufficient to indemnify the county against the payment of any of the expenses growing out of the taking of such vote or appeal.

SEC. 1230. (742.) Where the license has been granted, and the publication appeal above authorized is for the purpose of setting aside such grant, the license as granted must be published in the ordinary manner provided for publishing questions thus to be submitted to vote.

SEC. 1231. (743.) If the appeal be from the order refusing the same, the appellant shall draw up and cause to be thus published, a license such as he desires to have submitted.

SEC. 1232. (744.) If, where a license has been granted, the appellant is dissatisfied with the terms thereof he must cause to be published both the license granted and that which he desires to obtain.

SEC. 1233. (745.) The county court must make the necessary arrangements for carrying the above regulations in relation to taking a vote of the people into full effect, and it shall grant or withhold the license in accordance with the result of such vote.

SEC. 1234. (746.) In none of the above cases shall the license issue until a bond be filed such as is required in the case of ferry licenses and in such increased penalty as the court directs.

SEC. 1235. (747.) The county court, as a consideration or bonus for any of the licenses herein contemplated, may require the licensee to pay money or do acts for the purpose of promoting the public convenience in connection with the subject of his license, but for no other purpose.

SEC. 1236. (748.) The taking illegal toll by the grantees of any unlawful toll, of the licenses herein contemplated subjects the offender to the penalty of twenty-five dollars for every such offense to be recovered by suit on the bond of such licensee by the person who paid the illegal toll and for his own benefit, or he may bring suit in the name of the county in which latter case he is a competent witness but the proceeds shall go into the county treasury.

SEC. 1237. (749.) A failure in other respects to comply substantially with the terms fixed by the court in accordance with the above provision works a forfeiture of any of the licenses herein authorized and also subjects the party guilty of such failure to damages for all the injury resulting therefrom, for which he is also liable on his bond.

SEC. 1238. (750.) Any person who refuses to pay the regular tolls established and posted up in accordance with the provisions of this chapter or who shall run through or pass around their toll gates with a view of avoiding the payment of just tolls or dues forfeits the sum of five dollars for every such offense, which together with costs of suit may be recovered by the person entitled to such toll by civil action before the proper justice of the peace; but nothing herein contained shall prevent a person from fording a stream across which a toll bridge has been constructed.

SEC. 1239. (751.) The proprietor of any canal, road, bridge, or ferry authorized by this act may establish rules for the regulation of passengers, travelers, teams, and freight passing or traveling thereon and may enforce those rules by penalties not exceeding five dollars for any one offense; which penalties may be recovered by civil action before a justice of the peace in the name of the proprietor aforesaid, but such rules must be published by being conspicuously posted up before they can be thus enforced.

SEC. 1240. (752.) Any of the franchises contemplated in this chapter is subject to execution, and shall be sold as real property and be subject to the same rights and consequences except that the purchaser may take immediate possession of the property.

SEC. 1241. (753.) The sale of any such franchise carries with it all the material, implements, and works of whatever kind necessary for or ordinarily used in the exercise of such franchise.

SEC. 1242. (754.) In the sale of such franchise he who will satisfy the execution and costs thereon and take the franchise for the shortest period of time to receive during that time all the tolls to which the defendant in execution was entitled, keeping the same in ordinary reasonable repair, is the highest bidder.

SEC. 1243. (755.) The officer's deed transfers to the purchaser all the privileges and immunities of the corporation necessary for demanding and receiving tolls during the time therein specified, and the officer must immediately after the sale deliver to the purchaser possession of the toll houses and gates of the defendant, and the purchaser may thereupon demand and receive all tolls accruing during the time limited by the terms of the purchase in the same manner and under the same regulations as the defendant might.

SEC. 1244. (756.) In case of destruction or extraordinary injury happening to the works thus temporarily in possession of the purchaser without any fault or negligence on his part he shall not be compelled to repair the injury, provided he will abandon his interest in the franchise so held by him and yield possession thereof to the owner without delay.

SEC. 1245. (757.) Nothing in this chapter contained shall be so construed as to prevent any person, incorporated city, town, or village from establishing a free ferry at any point where a license to keep a ferry has been granted under the provisions of this chapter, provided that where said free ferry is established said person or company shall pay a reasonable compensation to the persons owning said ferry for all boats, ropes, and other material, if the same be fit for use, and when said free ferry is established at a point at or near where a license has been granted to an individual, such individual shall be exonerated from any further obligation in relation to the ferry. Bond and security shall be given in like manner by the person or company establishing the free ferry as required in this chapter.

SEC. 1246. (758.) Nothing in this chapter shall be so construed as to prevent owners of mills from crossing themselves or customers free of charge, nor so as to prevent footmen from passing through toll gates on incorporated roads free of charge.
ARTICLE 2.

An Act granting the Right of Way for the construction of Bridges in Iowa.
[Passed January 24, 1855, took effect July 1, 1855; Laws of Fifth General Assembly, Chapter 99, page 106.]

SECTION 1247. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That there is hereby granted the right of way of sixty feet of road to any person or persons who are now building, or may hereafter build, any bridge or bridges across any of the streams in this state.

SEC. 1248. (2.) The right of way to extend to the nearest accessible point of the road for which the said bridge or bridges were built to accommodate.

SEC. 1249. (3.) The damage shall be assessed in a reasonable time after the notice is served, by either party requiring the same, but in the case when the land so taken, belongs to minors, the notice shall be served by the person building the bridge.

SEC. 1250. (4.) The damage shall be assessed in accordance with section thirty-eight of the code of Iowa: provided, always, that the party building the bridge shall pay the costs of assessing the damage.

SEC. 1251. (5.) That nothing herein shall be so construed as to prevent the parties from settling the damage by agreement.

ARTICLE 3.

SEC. 1254. (3.) Sec. 1258. (7.) Said decree shall fully authorize the construction of said bridge, the power being herein conferred on said court, and shall be equal in force and obligation to bridge charters heretofore granted by the legislature.

Sec. 1259. (8.) Said court shall have full power and authority to require of the petitioner a bond to be executed to the county in which the proceeding is had, in such penalty as the court may fix, conditioned to the payment of any damage that any person may sustain by reason of the construction of said bridge, which bond shall be filed in the office of the recorder of the county, and any person damaged as aforesaid, shall be privileged to institute suit on the same unless such person shall have made himself a party to the original petition, and no damage shall have been decreed, or unless said damage was sustained before the notice was given as aforesaid, and the person damaged failed to make himself a party to the original petition.

Sec. 1260. (9.) Where the extremities of said bridge lie in different counties, the proceeding may be commenced in either county, but the same notice shall be given in both counties, stating where and when the proceeding will be heard.

SEC. 1263. (12.) All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this law are hereby repealed.

SECTION 1264. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That any person owning lands on one or both sides, of a stream or water course, and being desirous of building a mill, or erecting other machinery, to be propelled by water power, on said stream, and of erecting a dam thereon, may have a writ, ad quod damnum, to be issued by the district court of the proper county, to be proceeded on as hereafter provided.

SEC. 1265. (2.) An applicant for said writ shall file his petition in the office of the clerk of the district court of the proper county, which petition shall set forth the locality with sufficient certainty, and also the names of the owners of lands to be affected by said dam, and he shall give ten days' notice of his said petition, by serving a copy thereof on each of said person, or on his or their agents, if to be found, and make proof of such service by affidavit, to be filed with his said petition.

SEC. 1266. (3.) The clerk of said court shall thereupon issue said writ, directed to the sheriff of said county, in which the lands proposed to be affected may lie, commanding him to summon twelve good and lawful men of his county, to meet on a day certain upon the lands in said writ named, and ten days' notice shall be given by the sheriff to the owners or agents as aforesaid, of the execution of said writ.

SEC. 1267. (4.) The jury so summoned shall be sworn by the sheriff, impartially, and to the best of their skill and judgment, to view the lands in said writ described, and the lands both above and below said proposed dam, and ascertain and appraise the damages, as by said writ directed, to each of the proprietors of said land proposed to be affected by said dam, and also to ascertain whether the dwelling house, out house, orchard, or garden, of such proprietor shall be overflowed, or otherwise injuriously affected, which inquisition shall be signed by the jurors aforesaid, and returned with the writ aforesaid, to the court whence it issued.

SEC. 1268. (5.) When said inquest shall have been filed, the clerk of said court shall issue a scire facias to the parties in said inquisition mentioned, to appear at the next term of the district court, and show cause, if any they have, why leave should not be granted to build said dam, which notice shall be served and proved as before directed.

SEC. 1269. (6.) If on such inquest it shall appear to said district court that neither the dwelling house, out house, garden or orchard, of any proprietor, will be overflowed, or injuriously affected, and if said court shall judge it reasonable, and for the public benefit, license shall be granted to erect the same, on the applicants paying to the proper parties the damages decreed by said court, from the inquisition aforesaid, and if the applicant shall not within one year thereafter begin to build said dam, and finish and have in operation said mill or machinery within three years thereafter, and afterwards keep it in good repair, for the accommodation of the public, or in case said dam or mill or machinery be destroyed, he shall not begin to repair or rebuild it in one year, and finish it in three years, then the said license shall be forfeited.
Sec. 1270. (7.) Sec. 1276. (13.) Nothing contained in the last section shall be so construed as to bar the owner of such bank or banks, or land lying contiguous thereto, from recovering the amount of any injury which he may actually sustain by the erection or repair of such embankments or other works.

ARTICLE 1.

SECTION 1278. (759.) When any corporation or other person designs to construct a canal or a railroad, or a turnpike, graded, macadamized, or plank road, or a bridge, as a work of public utility although for private profit, it may take such reasonable amount of private real property as may be requisite for a right of way not exceeding one hundred feet in width upon paying therefor such sum as may be assessed, in the manner herein provided.

SEC. 1279. (760.) The company shall file its petition in the district court in the county where the land lies setting forth in substance:

- The name of the owner;
- The parcel of land a portion of which is wanted;
- The object for which it is wanted;
- A prayer that a suitable portion of land may be decreed to the petitioner and may be set apart to them by metes and bounds.

SEC. 1280. (761.) The owners of distinct parcels of real estate may be made defendants to one petition.
SEC. 1281. (762.) A service upon the owner must be made as in civil actions except as herein qualified:
Service upon and notice to an agent entrusted with the supervision of a non-resident's land will be sufficient; a service by publication in a newspaper may be made the prescribed length of time before the return term; and when the owner of a tract of land is unknown the court, upon being satisfied that diligent and unsuccessful efforts have been made to ascertain the ownership, may either before or after a publication authorize proceedings against him by the description of the unknown owner of that tract of land, (describing it).

SEC. 1282. (763.) When the requisite service has been made if no sufficient cause to the contrary is shown the court shall issue a writ of inquiry of damages to the sheriff commanding him to summon a jury to inquire into and assess the damages. The jurors are required to possess the ordinary qualifications of jurors and to be persons not interested in the same or a similar question.

SEC. 1283. (764.) Twelve jurors shall be summoned unless the parties otherwise agree in writing, and each party will have the right of challenge both for cause and peremptorily as in the district court.

SEC. 1284. (765.) Or, if the parties assent, the jury may be thus constituted; the sheriff may set down in writing the names of eighteen jurors and the parties shall alternately strike off one, beginning with the defendant, until but six remain who shall be competent to act and be summoned accordingly.

SEC. 1285. (766.) If a juror summoned fail to attend his place may be supplied by one summoned to attend forthwith.

SEC. 1286. (767.) The jury shall be sworn to examine impartially and report truly upon the subject submitted to their consideration, and the sheriff is authorized to administer such oath.

SEC. 1287. (768.) The jury shall then proceed to examine the ground and may hear testimony, but no argument of counsel, and shall set apart by metes and bounds a quantity of land convenient and suitable for the purpose intended and assess the damage occasioned to the owner thereby.

SEC. 1288. (769.) In estimating the damages no deduction shall be made for any benefit that may be supposed to result from the contemplated work.

SEC. 1289. (770.) When the petitioning body desires earlier action than is contemplated in the preceding provisions and is proceeding against one person only it may file its petition in the office of the district court and cause a service as before provided, and seven days after service is effected the clerk may in vacation issue a writ of inquiry of damages to the sheriff as before directed and the sheriff shall then proceed as above provided and make his return as hereinafter directed.

SEC. 1290. (771.) Before proceeding with the jury the sheriff is directed to give the defendant if he is known and resides in the county, and if not then to his agent if he have one known or to his tenant, three days' notice of the time and place of the meeting of the jury.

SEC. 1291. (772.) The report of the jury shall be reduced to writing, signed by each of the jurors, and delivered to the sheriff and be by him returned together with the writ and his doings thereon to the district court without delay.

SEC. 1292. (773.) Upon the return of the inquest and writ the owner of the land may file objections to the proceedings and show cause why they should be set aside, and the court may direct issues other than those upon the facts found by the jury to be made up and tried as in other civil actions, and if good cause be shown may set aside the proceedings.

Sec. 1293. (774.) The damages assessed by the jury shall be paid Damages.

the land reported by the jury, and such decree shall have the same effect and be enforced in the same manner as an ordinary decree for the con-being commenced it cease for two years to be prosecuted, or if after being completed it ceases for two years to be used for its original purpose, the restored to him upon his refunding the purchase money without interest.

Sec. 1296. (777.) The costs of the foregoing proceedings shall be Costs

Such corporation may also take, remove, and use for the construction and repair of said road and its appurtenances, any earth, gravel, stone, timber, or other materials, on or from the land so taken: provided, that the land so taken otherwise than by the consent of the owners, shall not exceed one hundred feet in width, except for wood and water stations, unless where greater width is necessary for excavation, embankment, or depositing waste earth.

The company shall in all cases pay the costs of the first assessment.

SEC. 1318. (5.) The freeholders so appointed shall be the commissioners to assess all damages to the owners of real estate in said county, and said corporation may at any time after their appointment, upon the refusal of any owner or guardian of any owner of lands in said county, to grant the right of way as aforesaid, by giving the said owner or guardian five days notice thereof in writing, either by personal service or by leaving a copy thereof at his or her dwelling, with some member of the family over fourteen years of age, have the damages assessed in the manner hereinbefore prescribed.

SEC. 1319. (6.) In case of the death, absence, or neglect, or refusal of any of said freeholders to act as commissioners as aforesaid, the sheriff shall summon other freeholders to complete the panel, and said commissioners shall proceed as directed in the preceding section. Said commissioners shall receive two dollars per day each for their services.

SEC. 1320. (7.) If, upon the location of said railroad, it shall be found to run through the land of any non-resident owner, the said corporation may give four weeks' notice to such proprietor, if known, and if not known, by a description of such real estate, by publication in some newspaper published in the county where such lands may lie, (if there be any, and if not, in one nearest thereto,) that said railroad has been located through his or her lands, and if such owner shall not within thirty days thereafter apply to said sheriff to have the damages assessed in the mode prescribed in the preceding section, said company may proceed as herein set forth, to have the damages assessed, subject to the same right of appeal as in case of resident owners, and upon the payment of the damages assessed to the sheriff for such owner, the corporation shall acquire all rights and privileges mentioned in the fifth section of this act.

SEC. 1321. (8.) Any railroad corporation may raise or lower any turnpike, plank road, or other way, for the purpose of having their railroad pass over or under the same; and in such cases said corporation shall put such turnpike, plank road, or other way, as soon as may be, in as good repair and condition as before such alteration.
SEC. 1322. (9.) If the proprietors of said plank road or turnpike, or the trustees or city council having jurisdiction of such ways respectively, require further alterations or amendments of such turnpike, road, or way, and give notice thereof in writing to the agent or secretary of such railroad corporation, and if the parties cannot agree respecting the same, either of the parties may apply to the county judge, who, after reasonable notice to the adverse party, shall make determination respecting such proposed alterations or amendments, and shall award costs in favor of the prevailing party.

SEC. 1323. (10.) If such railroad corporation shall unnecessarily neglect to make such alterations and amendments thus determined upon by the county judge, the said turnpike corporation, or aggrieved city or township, shall be entitled to their damages for such neglect.

SEC. 1324. (11.) Every railroad corporation whilst employed in raising or lowering any turnpike or other way, or in making any other alteration by means of which the same may be obstructed, shall provide and keep in good order suitable temporary ways, to enable travelers to avoid or pass such obstructions.

SEC. 1325. (12.) Any railroad corporation may construct and carry their railroad across, over, or under railroad, canal, stream, or water course, when it may be necessary in the construction of the same; and in such cases said corporation shall so construct their railroad crossings as not unnecessarily to impede the travel, transport, or navigation upon the railroad, canal, or stream so crossed: said corporation shall be liable for the damages occasioned to any corporation or party injured by reason of said crossing.

SEC. 1326. (13.) Every railroad corporation shall maintain and keep in good repair all bridges, with their abutments, which such corporation shall construct for the purpose of enabling their road to pass over or under any turnpike, road, canal, water course, or other way.

SEC. 1327. (14.) Every railroad corporation shall be liable for all damages sustained by any person in consequence of any neglect of the provisions of this act, or of any other neglect of any of their agents, or by any mismanagement of their engineers, by the persons sustaining such damages.

SEC. 1328. (15.) Any railroad corporation shall be authorized to pass over, occupy, and enjoy, without payment of damages, any of the school, university, and saline or other lands of this state, provided no more of such lands shall be taken than is required for the necessary use and convenience of such corporation.

SEC. 1329. (16.) When any person owns land on both sides of any railroad, the corporation owning such railroad shall, when required so to do, make and keep in good repair one causeway or other adequate means of crossing the same.

SEC. 1330. (17.) Any company organizing under this act shall, as soon as convenient after its organization, establish a principal office at some point on the line of its road, and change the same at pleasure, giving public notice in some newspaper of such establishment or change, and all process against said company shall be served on the president or secretary, or by leaving a copy at the principal office of the corporation.

Every company organized under this act shall be required to erect at all points where their road shall cross any public road, at a sufficient elevation from such public road to admit of free passage of vehicles of every kind, a sign with large and distinct letters placed thereon, to give notice of proximity of the railroad, and warn persons of the necessity of looking out for the cars; and every company To give warning, neglecting or refusing to erect such sign, shall be liable in damages for all injuries occurring to persons or property from such neglect or refusal.

[Code—Chapter 48.]

Sec. 1354. (786.) For the purposes of this chapter the word Definitions.
"court" means "board of supervisors;" the word judge also means "board of supervisors;" the word "clerk" means clerk of said board, unless it be otherwise expressed, and both the word "court" and "judge," may mean "clerk of said board," when the nature of the duty, the time of its necessary discharge or the rules to be made by the board of supervisors, shall so provide; and the word "directors" means directors of the poor house in counties where there is one.*

Sec. 1355. (787.) The father, mother, children, grandfather if of who to support, severely relieve or maintain such poor person in such manner as may be approved by the trustees of the township where such poor person may be or by the directors, but these officers shall have no control unless the poor person has applied for aid.

Sec. 1356. (788.) The word "father" in the preceding section Father. includes the putative father of an illegitimate child, and the question of

* See sections 312-21; 325; 330; 328. But does not the limited scope of the title of this last act confine the second section to roads and highways?
There is little use in attempting to be more definite than I am in this section, as the board of supervisors will have to work this chapter in the harness of a set of rules which they will establish.
his being the father may be tried in any action or proceeding to recover for or to compel the support of an illegitimate child. But there shall be no obligation to proceed against the putative father before proceeding against the mother.

SEC. 1357. (789.) Upon the failure of such relative so to relieve or maintain a poor person who has made application for relief the township trustees or the directors may apply to the court of the county where such poor person resides for an order to compel the same.

SEC. 1358. (790.) At least fourteen days written notice of the application shall be given by summons which shall be served as original process in an action may be served and in any county by any officer thereof or by any other person.

SEC. 1359. (791.) The court shall make no order affecting a person not served but may notify him at any stage of the proceedings.

SEC. 1360. (792.) The court may proceed in a summary manner to hear the allegations and proofs of the parties and order any one or more of the relatives of such poor person who appear to be able, to relieve and maintain him charging them as far as practicable in the order above named and for that purpose making new parties to the proceedings when necessary.

SEC. 1361. (793.) Such order may be for the entire or partial support of the poor person and it may be for support either by money or by taking the poor person to the relative's house, or the order may assign the poor person for a certain time to one and for another period to another relative as may be adjudged just and convenient, taking into view the means of the several relatives.

SEC. 1362. (794.) If the court order the relief in any other manner than in money it shall fix a just weekly value upon it.

SEC. 1363. (795.) The order may be specific in point of time or it may be indefinite until the further order of the court and may be varied from time to time when the circumstances require it on the application of the trustees of the poor person, or of any relative affected by it, upon fourteen days notice being given.

SEC. 1364. (796.) When money is ordered to be paid it shall be paid to such officer as the court may direct.

SEC. 1365. (797.) If any person fails to render the support ordered, on the affidavit of one of the proper trustees or directors showing that fact the court may order execution for the amount due rating any support ordered in kind as before assessed. In such proceeding the county is plaintiff and the person sought to be charged defendant.

SEC. 1366. (798.) An appeal may be taken from such judgment as provided in the chapter relating to the county judge.

SEC. 1367. (799.) Whenever a father, or a mother being a widow or living separate from her husband, abandons their children, or a husband his wife, leaving them chargeable or likely to become chargeable upon the public for their support the trustees of the township where such wife or children may be, or the directors, upon application being made to them may apply to the court of any county in which any estate of such father, mother, or husband may be for a warrant to seize the same, and upon due proof of the above facts the court may issue its warrant authorizing the trustees or directors to take into their possession the goods, chattels, effects, things in action, and the lands of the person absconding.

SEC. 1368. (800.) By virtue of such warrant the trustees or directors may take the property wherever the same may be found in the same county and shall be vested with all the right and title to the personal property and to the rents of the real property which the person absconding had at the time of his departure.

Sec. 1369. (801.) All sales and transfers of any such property real or personal and leases made by the person after the issuing of the warrant shall be absolutely void.

Sec. 1370. (802.) The said trustees or directors shall immediately make an inventory of the property so seized by them and return the same together with the proceedings to the court, there to be filed.

Sec. 1371. (803.) The court upon inquiring into the facts and circumstances of the case may discharge the order of seizure, but if it be not discharged the court shall have power to direct from time to time what part of the personal property shall be sold and how, and how much of the proceeds of such sale and of the rents and profits of the real estate shall be applied to the maintenance of the children or wife of the person so absconding.

Sec. 1372. (804.) If the party against whom such warrant issued return and support the wife or children so abandoned or give security to the county satisfactory to the judge that such wife or children shall not become chargeable to the county the warrant shall be discharged by an order of the court, and the property taken and remaining restored.

Sec. 1373. (805.) The defendant may demand a jury in the trial contemplated on the question of his ability and of his obligation to support a poor relative; and also on the questions of abandonment and of liability to become a public charge as provided above, which demand may be made upon the inquiry contemplated above, and such inquiry shall take place on the request of the defendant unless it be ordered on the motion of the court itself with notice to the defendant.

Sec. 1374. (806.) Any county having expended any money for the relief of a poor person under the provisions of this chapter may recover the same from any of his kindred mentioned in the second section of this chapter, by an action brought in any court having jurisdiction within two years from the payment of such expenses.

Sec. 1375. (807.) A more distant relative who may have been compelled to aid a poor person may recover from any one or more of the nearer relatives, and one so compelled to aid may recover contribution from others of the same degree.

Article 2.

Legal Settlements.

Section 1376. (808.) Legal settlements may be acquired in the counties as follows:

1. Any white person having attained the age of majority and residing in this state one year without being warned as hereafter provided gains a settlement in such county;

2. A married woman follows and has the settlement of her husband if he have any within the state, and if she had a settlement at the time of marriage it is not lost by the marriage;

3. A married woman abandoned by her husband and having obtained authority to act as a single person may acquire a settlement as if she were unmarried;

4. Legitimate children follow and have the settlement of their father if he have one, but if he has none then that of their mother;

5. Illegitimate minor children follow and have the settlement of their mother, or if she have none then that of the putative father;
6. A minor whose parent has no settlement in this state, and a married woman living apart from her husband and having no settlement and whose husband has no settlement in this state, residing one year in any county gains a settlement in such county;

7. A minor bound as an apprentice or servant immediately upon such binding, if done in good faith, gains a settlement where his master has one.

Sec. 1377. (809.) A settlement once acquired continues until it is lost by acquiring a new one.

Sec. 1378. (810.) The provisions of the preceding sections apply to cases of settlements begun to be acquired or lost as well before as after the provisions of this chapter go into effect.

Sec. 1379. (811.) A person coming from another state and not having become a citizen of nor having a settlement in this state, falling into want and applying for relief, may be sent to the state whence he came at the expense of the county under a warrant of the county court, otherwise he is to be relieved in the county where he applies.

Sec. 1380. (812.) Persons coming from other states or counties who are, or of whom it is apprehended that they will become, county charges may be prevented from obtaining a settlement in a county by warning them to depart, and thereafter they shall not acquire a settlement except by the requisite residence for one year uninterrupted by another warning.

Sec. 1381. (813.) Such warning shall be in writing and may be served upon the order of the trustees of the township or of the directors or of the court or judge. The service may be made by any person and the person making it shall make a return of his doings thereon to the officer issuing the order, and if not made by a sworn officer it must be verified by affidavit.

Sec. 1382. (814.) When a poor person applying for relief in one county has a settlement in another he may be removed to the county of his settlement, if he be able to be removed, upon the order of the judge of the county where he applied for relief and delivered to any trustee of a township in the county where his settlement is or to a director, giving written notice of the fact to the county judge or clerk; or the judge of the county where the poor person applied for relief may in his discretion cause the judge of the county where the poor person has a settlement to be notified of his being a county charge in the first county, and thereafter it will become the duty of the judge of the county of the settlement to order the removal of the poor person if he is able to be removed, and if not able then to provide for his relief.

Sec. 1383. (815.) The county where the settlement is shall be liable to the county rendering relief for all reasonable charges and expenses incurred in the relief and care of a poor person if notice of relief being rendered is given to the county of the settlement within a reasonable time after the county of the settlement is ascertained; and for the charges of removal and expenses of support incurred after notice given, in all cases.

Sec. 1384. (816.) When an order of removal is made the county to which the removal is made may appeal from the order to the district court of the county where the order is made, by the judge of the county to which the removal is made causing a notice of such appeal signed and sealed by him to be filed in the office of the other county within thirty days after the service of the notice of the order. No other proceeding than the above shall be necessary to effect the appeal and the notice of appeal and a transcript of whatever other proceedings or papers there may be relative to the matter shall be filed in the office of the district court, and the cause may be entitled as of the county issuing the order as plaintiff against the county appealing as defendant and appellant.

SEC. 1385. (817.) The cause may be tried as other actions, but there need be no pleading, the only issue being whether the poor person had a settlement in the county to which he was removed at the time of such order of removal.

SEC. 1386. (818.) Upon the application of the county appellant the district court may in its discretion change the venue of such cause to some convenient disinterested county.

ARTICLE 3.

Relief of the Poor where there is no Poor-House.

SECTION 1387. (819.) The trustees in each township in counties where there is no poor-house have the oversight and care of all poor persons in their township so long as they remain a county charge and shall see that they are properly relieved and taken care of.

SEC. 1388. (820.) The poor must make application for relief to the trustees of the township where they may be, and if the trustees are satisfied that the applicant is in such a state of want as requires relief at the public expense, they may for the time being afford such relief as the necessities of the person may require and shall report the case forthwith to the judge, who is authorized to deny further relief to such person if he find cause.

SEC. 1389. (821.) All claims and bills for the care and support of the poor shall be certified to be correct by the proper trustees and presented to the judge, and if he is satisfied that they are reasonable and proper they are to be paid out of the county treasury.

SEC. 1390. (822.) The court may in its discretion allow and pay to poor persons who may become chargeable as paupers and who are of mature years and sound mind and who will probably be benefitted thereby such sums or such annual allowance as will not exceed the charge of their maintainance in the ordinary mode.

SEC. 1391. (823.) If any poor person on application to the trustees is refused the required relief he may apply to the county judge, who on examination into the matter may direct the trustees to afford relief or the judge may direct specific relief.

SEC. 1392. (824.) A person who is a resident of but having no sett lement in this state falling into want and making application in one county but having his usual residence in another, may at his request be removed to such other county by the overseers where he applied, and he shall then be at the charge of such other county.

SEC. 1393. (825.) The judge is invested with authority to enter into contract, when he considers the same expedient, with the lowest bidder through proposals opened and examined at a regular session of the county court, for the support of all the poor at the time being of the county for one year only at a time and to make all requisite orders to that effect.

SEC. 1394. (826.) When such a contract is made the judge shall from time to time appoint some person to examine and report upon the manner the poor are kept and treated, which shall be done without notice to the person contracting for their support, and if upon due notice and inquiry the judge find that the poor are not reasonably and properly supported, treated, or cared for, he has power at a regular session to set aside the contract making proper allowances for the time it has been in operation.

SEC. 1395. (827.) Such contractor and every contractor under the overseers of a township may employ a poor person in any work for which his age, health, and strength is competent, but this shall be subject to the supervision and orders of the trustees, and in the last resort of the county judge.

ARTICLE 4.

Relief of the Poor where there is a Poor-House.

SECTION 1396. (828.) The county court of each county is hereby authorized to order the erection and establishment of a poor-house in such county whenever that measure is deemed advisable, and also the purchase of such land as may be deemed necessary for the use of the same, and the judge is invested with full authority to make the requisite contracts and to carry such order into effect, provided the cost of said poor-house and land shall be first estimated by said court and approved by a vote of the people at some regular election.

SEC. 1397. (829.) The expense of such erection and purchase shall be defrayed by a tax levied on the general assessment roll for that express purpose, which shall constitute a separate and special fund to be collected and paid over in manner as other taxes are, but to be paid in money only.

SEC. 1398. (830.) When a poor-house is established the court has discretionary authority to appoint directors or not, and when it deems it expedient so to do, may appoint one or three in accordance with the provisions of the following sections; and until the court so appoint directors the judge is invested with all the authority and powers in relation to the poor and the poor-house which are given to the directors when they have been appointed.

SEC. 1399. (831.) The directors when so appointed are to take charge of and manage the affairs of the poor and of the poor-house, and shall be a body corporate under the name of "The directors (or director) of the poor-house of —— county" (naming the county).

SEC. 1400. (832.) They are required to take an oath faithfully to discharge the duties of their office previous to acting therein. They continue in office one year and until their successors are appointed and qualified. They shall keep a record of their doings. And if a vacancy occur in their body the judge may fill it by appointment to continue until the end of the year.

SEC. 1401. (833.) They may make all contracts and purchases requisite for the poor-house, and may prescribe rules or regulations for the management and good government of the same and for the introducing sobriety, morality, and industry among its occupants.

SEC. 1402. (834.) The directors may appoint a steward of the poor-house who shall be governed in all respects by the rules and regulations of the board and may be removed by them at pleasure, and who shall receive such compensation, perform such duties, and give such security for their faithful performance as the board may appoint.

SEC. 1403. (835.) The steward shall receive into the poor-house any person producing an order as hereafter provided and enter in a book to be kept for that purpose the name and age and the date of the reception of such person.
SEC. 1404. (836.) He may require of persons admitted to the poor-house to perform such reasonable and moderate labor as may be suited to their ages and bodily strength, the proceeds of which shall be appropriated to the use of the poor-house in such manner as the directors may determine.

SEC. 1405. (837.) No person shall be admitted to the poor-house unless upon the written order of a township trustee, a director, or the county judge, and relief is to be furnished in the poor-house only, when the person is able to be taken there, unless the judge order otherwise.

SEC. 1406. (838.) When a trustee furnishes relief out of the poor-house to any person or gives an order of admission thereto such trustee is required to notify one of the directors forthwith of the fact with the sex, age, health, and property of the poor person, and the date when relief was first furnished, and the directors have authority to countermand such order or supply and to make any other provision in relation to him.

SEC. 1407. (839.) The directors are empowered to bind out such poor children of the poor-house as they believe are likely to remain a permanent charge on the public, males until twenty-one and females until the age of eighteen unless sooner married, on such terms and conditions as prescribed in the chapter concerning master and apprentices. And they may bind for shorter periods on such conditions as they may adopt.

SEC. 1408. (840.) When any inmate of the poor-house becomes able to support himself the directors may order his discharge.

SEC. 1409. (841.) When a poor person applying for relief is in a condition that will not admit of his removal to the poor-house the directors may provide for his relief out of the county treasury until his condition will admit of his removal.

SEC. 1410. (842.) The directors shall cause the poor-house to be visited at least once a month by one of their body who shall carefully examine the condition of the inmates and the manner in which they are fed and clothed and otherwise provided for and treated, ascertain what labor they are required to perform, inspect the books and accounts of the steward, and look into all matters pertaining to the poor-house and its inmates and report to the board. When there is no board of directors the county judge may perform the above duty or appoint a person therefor who shall report to him.

SEC. 1411. (843.) The directors shall annually report to the county court the state of the poor-house with a full account of their contracts, disbursements, and proceedings.

SEC. 1412. (844.) CHAPTER 61.

FENCES.

ARTICLE 1.

Partition fences. SECTION 1526. (895.) The respective owners of lands inclosed with fences shall keep up and maintain partition fences between their own and the next adjoining inclosure so long as they improve them in equal shares unless otherwise agreed between them.

Neglect. SEC. 1527. (896.) If any party neglect to repair or rebuild a partition fence or a portion thereof which he ought to maintain the aggrieved party may complain to the fence viewers, who after due notice to each party shall examine the same and if they determine the fence is insufficient shall signify it in writing to the delinquent occupant of the land and direct him to repair or rebuild the same within such time as they judge reasonable.

Penalty. SEC. 1528. (897.) If such fence be not repaired or rebuilt accordingly the complainant may repair or rebuild it, and the same being adjudged sufficient by the fence viewers and the value thereof with their fees being ascertained by them and certified under their hands, the complainant may demand of the owner of the land where the fence was deficient the sum so ascertained, and in case of neglect to pay the same for one month after, demand may recover it with one per cent. a month by action.

Dispute. SEC. 1529. (898.) When a controversy arises between the respective owners about the obligation to erect or maintain partition fences either party may apply to the fence viewers, who after due notice to each party may inquire into the matter and assign to each his share thereof and direct the time within which each shall erect or repair his share, in the manner provided above.
Sec. 1530. (899.) If a party neglect to erect or maintain the part of fence assigned him by the fence viewers it may be erected and maintained by the aggrieved party in the manner before provided, and he shall be entitled to double the value thereof to be recovered as directed above.

Sec. 1531. (900.) All partition fences shall be kept in good repair when kept throughout the year unless the owners on both sides otherwise agree.

Sec. 1532. (901.) No person, not wishing his land inclosed and not occupying nor using it otherwise than in common, shall be compelled to contribute to erect or maintain any fence dividing between him and an adjacent owner, but when he incloses or uses his land otherwise than in common he shall contribute to the partition fences as in this chapter is provided.

Sec. 1533. (902.) When lands owned in severalty have been inclosed in common without a partition fence and one of the owners is desirous to occupy his in severalty and the other refuses or neglects to divide the line where the fence should be built or to build a sufficient fence on his part of the line when divided, the party desiring it may have the same divided and assigned by the fence viewers who may in writing assign a reasonable time, having regard to the season of the year, for making the fence, and if either party neglect to comply with the decision of the viewers the other after making his own part may make the other part and recover as directed above.

Sec. 1534. (903.) In the case mentioned in the preceding section, when one of the owners desires to throw his field open and leave it uninclosed he shall first give the other party six months' notice of such intention, or such shorter notice as may be directed by the fence viewers on notice to the other party.

Sec. 1535. (904.) When land which has lain uninclosed is inclosed, the owner thereof shall pay for one-half of each partition fence between his land and the adjoining lands, the value to be ascertained by the fence viewers, and if he neglect for thirty days after notice and demand to pay the same, the other party may recover as before provided; or he may at his election rebuild and make half the fence, and if he neglect so to do for two months after making such election he shall be liable as before provided.

Sec. 1536. (905.) When a division of fence between the owners of improved lands may have been made, either by fence viewers or by agreement in writing and recorded in the office of the clerk of the township where the lands are, the owners and their heirs and assigns shall be bound thereby and shall support them accordingly, but if any desire to lay his lands in common and not improve them adjoining the fence divided as above the proceedings shall be as directed in the case where lands owned in severalty have been inclosed in common without a partition fence.

Sec. 1537. (906.) In the provisions of this chapter the term "owner" shall apply to the occupant or tenant when the owner does not reside in the county, but these proceedings will not bind the owner unless notified. The "fence viewers" means the fence viewers of the township in which the division line in controversy is, and if that line is between two townships and both parties live in the same, then it means the viewers of that township, but if the parties live in different townships one viewer at least shall be taken from that of the party complained against.

Sec. 1538. (907.) When a person has made a fence or other improvement on another's land...
ment on an inclosure which on afterward making division lines is found to be on land of another, and the same has occurred through mistake, such first person may enter upon the land of the other and remove his fence or other improvement and material within six months after such line has been run, upon his first paying or offering to pay the other party for any damage to the soil which may be occasioned thereby, and when the parties can not agree as to the damage the fence viewers may determine them as in other cases.

SEC. 1539. (908.) But such fence or other improvement (except substantial buildings) shall not be removed if they were made or taken from the land on which they lie, until the party pays the owner the value of the timber to be ascertained by the fence viewers, nor shall a fence be removed at a time when the removal will throw open or expose the crop of the other party, but it shall be removed in a reasonable time after the crop is secured although the above six months have passed.

SEC. 1540. (909.) When any question arises between parties, other than those above stated, concerning their rights in fences, or their duties in relation to building or supporting or removing them, such question may be determined by the fence viewers upon the principles of this chapter.

SEC. 1541. (910.) A person building a fence may lay the same upon the line between him and the adjacent owner so that the fence may be partly on one side and partly on the other, and the owner shall have the same right to remove it as if it were wholly on his own land.

SEC. 1542. (911.) The foregoing provisions concerning partition fences shall apply to a fence standing wholly upon one side of the division line.

SEC. 1543. (912.) The foregoing provisions of this chapter do not bar any other legal proceedings for the determination of the title to land or the dividing line between contending owners, nor do they preclude agreements by the parties.

whole number of such directors shall be convened, they shall organize by taking an oath, diligently, faithfully, and impartially to perform the duties imposed upon them by this act, a certificate of which oath, signed by each director, shall be filed and preserved in the office of the secretary of state, and by electing some one of their number as president, who shall preside at the meetings of the board and sign its official documents; and thereafter the directory of the state bank shall be composed of one director, appointed by each branch of said bank, two-thirds of whom shall be a quorum; and other branches may be organized under such directory as is herein provided.

Sec. 1643. (3.) The directors shall, when they deem it necessary, elect a vice president, whose duties shall be prescribed by the by-laws. They shall appoint a secretary, who shall keep a fair and true record of the proceedings of the bank. They shall keep an office in Iowa City, which together with their books, papers, records, and accounts of every description, shall at all times be open to the inspection of any committee of the general assembly, or either branch thereof, and of any commissioner or commissioners specially appointed for that purpose by the general assembly, or either branch thereof, or by the governor of the state. They shall procure and furnish each branch with notes for circulation, and decide on the amount to be furnished from time to time to each, within the limits and agreeably to the rules and restrictions prescribed by this act. They may prescribe rules for the settlement of balances between branches, revise their by-laws and regulations concerning charges for making collections, and cause both to be made uniform, or as nearly so as may be expedient. They shall have power by themselves, or by a committee of one or more members of their own body, or by a special agent appointed by them for that purpose, whenever, and as often as they shall think proper, to visit any branch, inspect its books, records and accounts, and all the evidences of debt due to and securities held by such branch, examine and ascertain the amount of money and other property held by such branch; examine on oath the president, vice president, and directors, and cashier, and all other officers, agents, clerks, or servants of the branch, touching its condition, means and liabilities, they shall have power to require any branch to reduce its circulation or other liabilities within such limits as they shall, after full inquiry into its condition, deem necessary to secure from loss either the dealers with such branch, or the other branches of the State Bank of Iowa. They shall, as soon after the first Monday of every month as practicable, publish in some newspaper printed at Iowa City, a consolidated abstract of the monthly reports of all the branches, showing their assets, liabilities, and condition, which statement shall be recorded in a book or books to be kept for that purpose. They may appoint an executive committee of not less than three, of whom the vice president shall be one, to act in behalf of the bank in all such cases as shall be prescribed by the by-laws of said bank, not inconsistent with this act.

Sec. 1644. (4.) The president, vice president, secretary, and all other officers or agents of the bank, shall each receive such compensation for their services as said bank shall allow, which shall be assessed upon the several branches of the State Bank of Iowa, in the ratio of their capital stock. The bank may also allow the executive committee such compensation as it may deem just and reasonable, to be paid by the several branches in the same manner; and the expenses of procuring plates and printing notes of circulation, shall be paid by the several branches in the ratio of the notes of circulation received by each.
SEC. 1645. (5.) Each director of the bank, appointed by the branches, shall continue in office until the first Monday in February next after his appointment, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. Vacancies in the board shall be filled by the branch by which the appointment vacated was made. In voting, each member shall be entitled to two votes, and to one additional vote for every fifty thousand dollars of the amount of capital stock paid into the branch represented by him over one hundred thousand dollars, at the time of such voting. The president and vice president of the bank shall hold their offices for one year, and until their successors are appointed; but they may be removed by a resolution of the board. They and all other officers and agents of the bank shall take an oath faithfully, diligently, and impartially, to fulfill the duties of their appointments, and not knowingly violate any of the provisions of this act. They shall be required to give bond in such sum, and with such securities, as the bank shall prescribe, and all vacancies in said appointment shall be filled by the bank.

SEC. 1646. (6.) All notes designed for circulation by the branches shall be furnished by the State Bank of Iowa; but no notes shall be delivered to any branch until they are numbered and countersigned by some person authorized by the State Bank of Iowa to countersign the same as register, and a full record of such numbering and countersigning made in a book provided for that purpose; and all such notes shall have stamped or printed on their face the words, “Registered by the State Bank of Iowa.” All notes so worn, defaced, or mutilated, as to be unfit for circulation, shall be returned by the branch by which they were issued, to the bank, and an equal amount of new notes received therefor; and all such notes so returned by a branch shall be burned to ashes in the presence of the president or vice president, and at least two of the directors of said bank.

SEC. 1647. (7.) Before the bank shall deliver to any branch notes for circulation, it shall require such branch to pay over or deposit to the credit of said bank, as said bank shall order, either in money or United States stocks, or interest paying state stocks at their current value in the city of New York, but in no instance above their par value, an amount equal to twelve and one-half per cent, on the amount of the notes for circulation, which shall be delivered to such branch. And so from time to time as any branch, by the paying of an additional amount of its capital stock, or by not having received the amount of notes for circulation to which it was previously entitled, shall receive an additional amount of notes for circulation; such branch shall deposit with the bank twelve and one-half per cent. on the amount of notes so received; and the stocks and money so deposited shall be denominated the “safety fund,” and shall be invested as hereinafter provided, and held by the bank as the property of said branch, in trust for the benefit of the several branches of the state bank of Iowa, and as a fund for the redemption of the notes of circulation of any one or more of said branches that may fail to redeem its notes, to be applied to that purpose in the manner pointed out in this act.

SEC. 1648. (8.) All money so deposited or paid to the bank on account of the safety fund by any branch, shall be under the direction of said bank, invested either in interest-paying stocks of states or of the United States. Each branch shall be entitled to receive the interest accruing on the stocks in which its portion of the safety fund shall have been invested, and in case of the insolvency of any branch, the stocks in which the money of such branch shall have been invested as aforesaid, if the proceeds of such stock shall be sufficient to redeem its outstanding notes of circulation, shall as far as practicable be first converted into money and applied to that purpose, before any part of the safety fund belonging to other branches, shall be so applied.

Sec. 1649. (9.) The state bank of Iowa shall not furnish to any branch, circulating notes to an amount bearing a greater proportion to the capital stock of said branch actually paid in and at the time remaining undiminished by losses, or withdrawal, than the proportion hereinafter specified, that is to say: on the first hundred thousand dollars, or any lesser amount of its capital, not more than twice the amount of such capital, on the second hundred thousand dollars, or part thereof, not more than one and three-quarters the amount of such capital, over one hundred thousand; on the third hundred thousand dollars, or part thereof, not more than one and a half times the amount of such capital, over two hundred thousand; nor shall said bank furnish to any branch circulating notes of any other denomination than of one dollar, two dollars, five dollars, ten dollars, twenty dollars, fifty dollars and one hundred dollars. Of the notes furnished to any branch not more than ten per cent. of the amount shall be in notes of one dollar each, not more than ten per cent. in notes of two dollars each, and not more than twenty-five per cent. shall be in notes of all denominations under five dollars, and not more than fifty per cent. in notes of all denominations under ten dollars.

Sec. 1650. (10.) If any branch of the state bank of Iowa shall refuse to pay its notes of circulation, or any of them, in gold or silver coin, the lawful currency of the United States, on which payment shall be lawfully demanded at its banking house or customary place of doing business, during the usual banking hours, such branch shall be deemed to have committed an act of insolvency, and thereby upon all its property, credits, securities, liens and assets of every description shall forthwith vest in and be the property, credits, securities, liens and assets of the state bank of Iowa, for the uses and purposes declared in this act. And the said branch shall only be allowed to make payment of any such lawful demand in silver coin where the sum so demanded does not exceed the amount for which silver coin is a legal tender according to the laws of the United States, and when payment shall be demanded on more than one of its notes at the same time, the aggregate amount of such notes so presented for payment to the amount of one hundred dollars shall be considered but one demand.

Sec. 1651. (11.) The state bank of Iowa, on receiving information that any branch has committed such act of insolvency, shall forthwith appoint a committee of one or more of its directors, or others, who shall make immediate inquiry into the truth of such information, and report thereon to the bank; and if the bank shall be satisfied from the report of the committee, that such branch has suspended the payment of its notes in gold and silver as provided in section ten, (10) it shall forthwith appoint a suitable receiver, or receivers, who shall take immediate possession of the books, records, money, choses in action and property of such branch, of every description, and hold the same for the joint use of the other branches of the state bank of Iowa, and the creditors of the failing branch, and the state bank of Iowa shall immediately provide money and place the same in such solvent branch or branches, as may be most convenient for the purpose of redeeming the notes of such failing branch, and shall give public notice thereof in some newspaper printed in the place where such failing branch is located, also in some newspaper of general circulation published in Iowa City.

Sec. 1652. (12.) Each solvent branch shall contribute in the ratio of the circulation to which it is entitled, to the sum necessary for redeeming the notes of the failing branch, as provided in the preceding section, on the requisition of the state bank of Iowa, and may be remunerated for such contribution from the safety fund, as soon as money sufficient can be raised from that fund, by a sale or hypothecation of the stock, funds, or other securities belonging thereto.

Sec. 1653. (13.) The receiver or receivers appointed as provided in the eleventh section, shall be required to give bond in such sum, and such securities as the state bank of Iowa, or executive committee, shall judge sufficient, and under the direction of said bank, shall proceed to settle up the affairs of such branch, and convert its assets into money; the money so made shall be applied:

1. To reimburse all moneys which shall have been advanced by the several branches, for the redemption of the notes and bills of the insolvent branch, and which may not have been previously reimbursed from the safety fund.

2. To reimburse all moneys advanced from the safety fund, other than moneys derived from that portion of the safety fund furnished by the failing branch.

3. To the payment and discharge of all the remaining liabilities of such branch: and

4. The residue shall be divided among the stockholders of the failing branch, in proportion to the stock by them respectively held.

Sec. 1654. (14.) If any branch against which the state bank of Iowa shall have instituted proceedings on account of any supposed act of insolvency as prescribed by the eleventh section of this act, shall deny having committed such act of insolvency, such branch may apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for a writ of injunction to said state bank of Iowa, to suspend all further proceedings against such branch as an insolvent bank; and such court, after citing said state bank of Iowa to appear and show cause why such writ should not be granted, and after the finding of a jury that such branch has at all times continued, and still continues to redeem in gold and silver coin, its notes of circulation, shall make an order enjoining the state bank of Iowa from all further proceedings against such branch on account of the supposed act of insolvency on which such proceedings were instituted, and upon all the property and assets of such branch shall be restored to its directors.

Sec. 1655. (15.) If the state bank of Iowa shall, in any case, fail to proceed in the manner prescribed in the foregoing sections of this act, in providing for the payment of the outstanding notes of circulation, and in closing the affairs of any branch that has committed an act of insolvency, the holder of any of its notes of circulation, or other creditor of such branch, may, in case payment of such notes of circulation or other claim has been refused when lawfully demanded, and remains unpaid, apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for its writ, commanding the state bank of Iowa so to proceed; and it shall be the duty of such court, after citing such bank to appear and show cause why such writ should not issue, and upon the finding of a jury that such act of insolvency has been committed, to issue their writ commanding said bank forthwith to proceed in the manner pointed out in the preceding sections of this act, to provide for the payment of the outstanding notes of such branch, close up its affairs, and make application of its assets.

Sec. 1656. (16.) That if any branch shall neglect or refuse to comply with any order of the state bank of Iowa, requiring such branch to reduce its circulation or other liabilities, or provide a larger amount of specie or other means, or to pay in its stock, or to do, or to cause to be done any other matter or thing which said bank may deem necessary for the security of such branch, or any other branch or branches, said bank or any director thereof, acting for said bank, may apply to any judge of the supreme court or district court, or any judge of a superior court, or to any judge of any other court not inferior to the district court, by petition, in which the state bank of Iowa shall be made petitioner, and the branch implicated defendant, setting forth the substance of such order, or orders, and such neglect or refusal on the part of the branch, its officers or agents, to comply therewith; and if the president, vice president, or any director of the bank, shall make affidavit of the truth of the facts therein stated, it shall be the duty of such judge to allow an injunction, and to enjoin such branch, its officers and agents, and all others in its employment, or connected therewith, from doing, or suffering, or permitting to be done, any business whatever as a bank, and from intermeddling with, or in any manner disposing of, the books, papers, moneys, choses in action, assets, or property of the branch, until the further order of the supreme court as soon as an injunction is allowed.

Sec. 1657. (17.) Upon the allowance of such injunction, the property, credits, securities, liens and assets of every description, of such branch, shall forthwith vest in the state bank of Iowa, who shall appoint a receiver to take possession of the same as provided in the eleventh section of this act. A certificate of appointment of such receiver, by the judge, or court, or clerk thereof, making the same, shall be sufficient authority to him to take possession of the books, property and rights of every description of such branch, and shall be full authority to the sheriff of the county where the branch is located, to take and give full possession of such books, property, and rights, with the aid of the county, if required; and said bank receiver shall be governed by the provisions of this act as provided in cases of suspension; and upon the dissolution of such injunction, or a discontinuance of such suit by the bank, all the rights and property of such branch shall be restored to and vest in such branch.

Sec. 1658. (18.) Natural persons, not less in number than five, may associate and form branches of the state bank of Iowa, for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking, each at such place in this state as shall be designated in the certificate hereinafter required to be made, subject to the contingencies, restrictions, conditions and liabilities pre-cried in this act.

Sec. 1659. (19.) Persons associating to form a branch shall, under their hands and seals, make a certificate, which shall specify, 1. The name assumed by such branch, and by which it shall be known in its dealings, in which name shall be included the name of the city, village or town in which its banking operations shall be carried on. 2. The amount of the capital stock of such branch, and the number of shares into which the same is divided. 3. SEC. 1670. (21.) No branch shall be permitted to commence or carry on the business of banking under this act, unless its capital stock shall be at least $30,000, nor shall the capital stock of any such branch ever be increased to exceed $300,000.

Sec. 1856. (11.) Any person having a lien under or by virtue of this act may bring suit to enforce the same, and to obtain the benefits thereof, in the district court of the county wherein the property on which the lien is attached is situated, without regard to its amount.

SEC. 1863. (18.) When the debtor has been served with notice according to law, or appears to the action, the judgment, if for the plaintiff, shall be against such debtor as in ordinary cases, with the addition, that if no sufficient property of the debtor can be found to satisfy such judgment and costs of suit, then the residue thereof be levied as provided in the next preceding section.

SEC. 1868. (23.) Such satisfaction being acknowledged and certified, shall be filed with the clerk of the district court, who shall thereupon enter satisfaction of such lien upon the record or the margin thereof; in the same manner as the satisfaction of a mortgage is entered and shall be allowed the same fee therefor as is allowed for entering the satisfaction of a mortgage, to be paid by the creditor at the same time the service is performed.

SEC. 1869. (24.) If any creditor fail, refuse or neglect to acknowledge satisfaction as aforesaid, within ten days after payment, and neglect as aforesaid, he shall be liable to any person injured, to the amount of such injury, and for costs of suit.

to him the account, as provided for in said section two, or the statement longing to the other.

As provided for in section three, and in all other respects shall comply with the provisions of this act, he shall have the benefit of this act, the same as if he had given such notice, to the extent, and only to the extent, that such owner or proprietor can safely with his engagements and liabilities then existing, withhold any amount by him owing to his contractor for such sub contractor.

SEC. 1871. (26.) All persons furnishing things or doing work provided for by this act, shall be considered sub-contractors, except such as have therefor contracts directly with the owner, proprietor, his agent or trustee.

shall make and severally sign a certificate, which shall contain,
1. The name or firm under which such partnership is to be conducted.
2. The general nature of the business intended to be transacted.
3. The names of all the general and special partners interested there-court in whose office it shall be filed, under his official seal, shall be filed contributed by each of the special partners to the common stock, have been actually and in good faith paid in cash.

SEC. 1881. (8.) No such partnership shall be deemed to have been formal until a certificate shall have been made, acknowledged, filed and recorded, nor until an affidavit shall have been filed, as above directed, and if any false statement be made in such certificate or affidavit, all the persons interested in such partnership, shall be liable for all the engage-

SEC. 1889. (16.) If it shall appear, that, by the payment of interest or profits to any special partner, the original capital has been reduced, the partner receiving the same, shall be bound to restore the amount necessary to make good his share of capital, with interest.

The repairs, and rebuilding of walls in common, are to be made at the expense of all who have a right to the same, and in proportion to the interest of each therein: nevertheless, every co-proprietor of a wall in common, may be exonerated from contributing to the repairs or building, by giving up his right in common.

SEC. 1918. (5.) Every co-proprietor may build against a wall held in common, and cause beams or joists to be placed therein, and any person building such a wall, shall, on being requested by his co-proprietor, make the necessary flues, and leave the necessary bearings for the joists or beams, at such height, and distance apart, as shall be specified by his co-proprietor.

SEC. 1919. (6.) Every co-proprietor is at liberty to increase the height of the wall held in common; but he alone is to be at the expense of raising it, and of repairing, and keeping in repair, that part of the wall, above the part so held in common.

SEC. 1920. (7.) If the wall so held in common, can not support the wall to be raised upon it, he who wishes to have it made higher, is bound to re-build it anew entirely, and at his own expense, and the additional thickness of the wall must be placed entirely on his own land.

SEC. 1921. (8.) The person who did not contribute to the heightening of the wall held in common, may cause the raised part to become common, by paying one-half of the appraised value of such raising, and half of the value of the grounds occupied by the additional thickness of the wall, if any ground was so occupied.

SEC. 1922. (9.) Every proprietor joining a wall, has, in like manner, the right of making it a wall in common, in whole or in part, by repaying to the owner of the wall one-half of its value, or the one-half of the part which he wishes to hold in common, and one-half of the value of the ground on which it is built, if the person who has built the wall, has laid the foundation entirely upon his own ground.

SEC. 1923. (10.) Neither of two neighbors can make any cavity within the body of the wall held by them in common; nor can either affix to it any work, without the consent of the other, or without having, on his refusal, caused the necessary precautions to be used, so that the new work be not an injury to the rights of the other, to be ascertained by persons skilled in building.

SEC. 1924. (11.) No dispute between neighbors, as to the amount to be paid by one or the other, by reason of any of the matters treated of in this act, shall delay the execution of the provisions of the same; provided, that the party on whom the claim is made, shall enter into bond, with security, to the satisfaction of the clerk of the district court of the proper county, conditioned that he shall pay to the claimant whatever may be found to be his due, on the settlement of the matter between them, either in a court of justice, or elsewhere; and the said clerk of the district court is hereby required to indorse his approval on said bond, when the same is approved by him, and retain the same in his custody, until demanded by the opposite party.

SEC. 1925. (12.) This act is not to prevent adjoining proprietors from entering into special agreement about walls on the lines between them; but no evidence of such agreement shall be competent, unless it be in writing, signed by the parties thereto, or their lawfully authorized agents, and whenever such proprietor is a minor, the guardian of his estate shall have full authority to act for, and bind him, in all matters relating to walls in common.

SECTION 1962. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the following are hereby declared to be and remain perpetual funds for common school purposes, the interest of which only, can be appropriated.

1. The five per cent. upon the net proceeds of the public lands in the state of Iowa.

2. The proceeds of the sales of the five hundred thousand acres of land, which were granted to the state of Iowa, under the eighth section of the act of congress, passed September the 4th, A. D., 1841, entitled *Section 1959 is thus amended by section first of laws of eighth general assembly, chapter 58, passed March 26, and took effect April 7, 1860. See special laws of eighth session, page 146.

“an act to appropriate the proceeds of all sales of public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights.”
3. The proceeds of all sales of intestate estates which escheat to the state by reason of their being no heir.

SEC. 1963. (2.) The following are declared to be and remain temporary funds for common school purposes, to be received and appropriated annually in the same manner as the annual interest of the perpetual fund.
1. All forfeitures of ten per cent, which by the laws of this state, are authorized to be made for the benefit of the school fund.
2. The proceeds of all fines collected in the state for violations of the penal laws.
3. The proceeds of all fines collected for the non-performance of military duty.
4. The proceeds of the sales of lost goods and estrays.

SEC. 1964. (3.) The five per centum of the net proceeds of all sales of the public lands in the state, is hereby made payable to the state treasurer, whose duty it shall be to apportion the same among the several organized counties in this state, taking into consideration the amount of the permanent school fund already in possession of said counties, so that each county may hold an amount of school fund proportionate to its population.

SEC. 1965. (4.) Those portions of the permanent school fund enumerated in the second and fourth sub-divisions of section one of this act, are hereby made payable to the county treasurer of the county in which the lands sold are situated, and the proceeds of sub-division third of section one of this act are made payable to the treasurer of the county where said escheated estates are.

SEC. 1966. (5.) The temporary funds enumerated in section two of this act are hereby made payable to the county treasurer of the several counties in which they are incurred or arise respectively, which shall be accounted for to the board of supervisors of said county who shall apportion the same among the several school districts of said county, as provided by law.

SEC. 1967. (6.) On the first Monday of March annually, the state auditor shall appoin the interest of the permanent school fund among the several organized counties of this state, in proportion to the number of persons between five and twenty-one years of age in each, and in order to enable him to make such apportionment, it is hereby made the duty of the secretary of the board of education to report to said auditor on the first Monday of February, annually, the number of such persons in each organized county as shown by the reports from the several county superintendents.

SEC. 1968. (7.) The clerk of the district shall annually, on the first Monday of February make out and transmit to the state auditor, a report of the amount of interest then in the hands of the treasurer of said county, and also the amount remaining unpaid, if any.

SEC. 1969. (8.) The state auditor shall keep the school fund accounts in books provided for that purpose, separate and distinct from the revenue books, and immediately after making the apportionment required by section six of this act, shall notify the clerk of the district court of each county of the sum to which his county is entitled by said apportionment, and in those cases where the counties have less of such interest than they are entitled to by the apportionment, he shall by such notice authorize the treasurer of each of such counties to transfer the amount of such deficiency from the state revenue in his hands to such interest fund, and said notice shall be filed by the treasurer, and be his proper voucher to the state for the amount of state revenue so transferred. And in those cases where the counties have an excess of such interest over the amount apportioned to each, and such notice shall authorize the county treasurer to transfer such excess from the interest fund to the state revenue, and such notice shall be filed and be his proper voucher for such amount of the interest fund, and such excess so transferred shall be paid into the state treasury as revenue.

SEC. 1970. (9.) The board of supervisors may, at such time as they deem best, authorize the township trustees of any organized township, where the sixteenth section, or land selected in lieu thereof, has not been sold, to lay out the same, or cause it to be done, in such tracts as in their judgment will be for the best interests of the school fund, conforming as far as the interests of said fund will permit, to the legal subdivisions of the United States surveys, and they shall appraise each tract at what they believe to be its true value, and certify to the said board of supervisors the divisions and appraisements made by them; said division and appraisement shall be approved or disapproved by said board at their first meeting after such report, and in case they disapprove the same, they may at once order another division and appraisement should they deem it best. In all cases where the board of supervisors approve of any division and appraisement of school lands, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court to make and keep a record of such division, appraisement and approval.

SEC. 1971. (10.) Whenever the board of supervisors shall deem it best to offer for sale the sixteenth section, or lands selected in lieu thereof, or any portion of the same, or any part of the 500,000 acre grant, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court to give at least forty days notice by written or printed notices posted in five public places in the county, two of which shall be in the township in which the land to be sold is situated; and shall also publish a notice of said sale for four weeks preceding the same in a newspaper, should one be published in the county; if there is none published in said county, then in some newspaper authorized by the board of supervisors; and shall describe the land to be sold, and state the time and place of sale, then at such time and place, or at such other time and place as the sale may be adjourned to, he shall offer to the highest bidder, subject to the provisions of this act, and shall sell upon the following terms, viz.: either for cash, or one-third of the purchase money to be paid at the time of purchase, and the balance on a credit not exceeding ten years, with interest on the same at the rate of ten per cent. per annum; said interest to be paid at the office of the county treasurer of said county, on the first day of January in each and every year; but in no case shall the land so offered be sold for less than its appraised value—nor shall any member of the board of supervisors, the clerk of the district court, any township trustee, or any person who was engaged in the division and appraisement of said land be directly or indirectly interested in the purchase thereof, and any sale made, where such parties or any of them are so interested, shall be void and of no effect.

SEC. 1972. (11.) If any purchaser shall pay the whole amount of the purchase money at the time of the purchase, the clerk of the district court shall forthwith issue a certificate of purchase, setting forth that fact which shall be transmitted to the state land office, and entitle the purchaser to a patent which shall be issued by the governor.

SEC. 1973. (12.) In case the lands are purchased upon a partial credit, as heretofore provided, the contract shall at once be reduced to writing, signed by the parties, and recorded in the office of the recorder, after which it shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court, and during the continuance of such contract, it shall be lawful for such purchaser, his heir or assignee, at any time to pay the principal and interest due upon such contract, and receive a certificate of purchase, as mentioned in the preceding section.

SEC. 1974. (13.) When in the judgment of the board of supervisors, any school lands which they are about to offer for sale, are of such a character that a sale upon partial credit would be unsafe or incompatible with the interest of the school fund, and especially in the case of timbered lands, the board of supervisors may, in their discretion, exact the whole of the purchase money in advance; or if they sell such land upon a partial credit, as heretofore prescribed, it shall be their duty to require good collateral security for the payment of the purchase money upon which credit is given.

SEC. 1975. (14.) Whenever any purchaser of any school lands sold under the provisions of this act, upon a partial credit, or any person to whom a portion of the school fund has been loaned, fails to pay the interest upon the amount due the school fund from him on the first day of January, and such payment is not made within six months thereafter, then, and in that case, the entire amount both of principal and interest owing to the school fund from such person, shall be deemed to have become due, and the clerk of the district court shall report the name of the delinquent, together with the sum total due from such delinquent to the district attorney of his judicial district, who shall immediately comnence suit for the collection of the amount thus reported. The provisions of this section, in so far as they provide for the principal owing for the purchase of school lands, or for money borrowed from the school fund, becoming due and being collected at an earlier day than that stipulated in the contract, upon failure to pay the interest, are hereby decclared to be a part of every contract made under and by virtue of this act, whether expressed in such contract or not.

SEC. 1976. (15.) All school lands, the sale of which are provided for under this act, shall be subject to taxation from and after the execution and delivery of the contract to the purchaser.

SEC. 1977. (16.) All contracts relative to the sale of school lands provided for in this act, shall be subject to such laws as now are, or may hereafter be in force in this state, relative to the prevention or punishment of waste.

Sec. 2070. (49.) General Provisions.

Sec. 2075. (54.) In townships comprising but one sub-district, three members of the district board of directors shall be elected in manner as provided in section nine of this act for the election of one member. The persons elected, together with the township clerk, shall constitute the township board, with like powers and duties as herein provided for the board of other townships.

And should any defect be discovered therein while this board is not in session, which is evidently the result of oversight, and which in his opinion is detrimental to the efficiency of the law, he may supply such defect by a regulation having the force of law, until the matter can be acted on by this board. In such cases he must report the fact and the reasons thereof to the board at its next meeting. He may also make regulations fixing the powers and duties of any subordinate officer or board, when those duties are not sufficiently defined herein, making a like report thereof as is above required.

SEC. 2086. (65.) If adequate provision has not been made by the township district for school-house purposes, or the payment of debts in any sub-district, the sub-director may, and shall, at the written request of one-fourth of the electors in his sub-district, call a meeting of the electors of his sub-district: said meeting to be held on the second Monday in July,* and to be organized as at the regular meeting in March.

Where there are two or more grantors having different surnames there must be as many distinct entries among the grantors as there are different names, being alphabetically arranged in regard to each of such names. The same rule shall be followed in case of several grantees.

1. The title of the court or person before whom the acknowledgment was taken;
2. That the person making the acknowledgment was personally known to at least one of the judges of the court or to the officer taking the acknowledgment to be the identical person whose name is affixed to the.
deed as grantor, or that such identity was proved by at least one credible witness (naming him);

3. That such person acknowledged the instrument to be his voluntary act and deed.

Sec. 2228. (1220.) If the grantor die before acknowledging the deed, or if for any other reason his attendance can not be procured in order to make the acknowledgment, or if having appeared he refuses to acknowledge it, proof of the due execution and delivery of the deed may be made by any competent testimony.

Sec. 2229. (1221.) Such proof may be made before the same court or officers as are authorized to take acknowledgment as aforesaid.

Sec. 2230. (1222.) The certificate indorsed by them upon the deeds thus proved must state:

1. The title of the court or officer taking the proof;

2. That it was satisfactorily proved that the grantor was dead, or that for some other reason his attendance could not be procured in order to make the acknowledgment, or that having appeared he refused to acknowledge the deed;

3. The names of the witnesses by whom the proof was made and that it was proved by them that the instrument was executed by the person whose name is thereunto subscribed as a party.

Sec. 2231. (1223.) The certificate of proof or acknowledgment as aforesaid may be given under seal or otherwise, according to the mode by which the courts or officers granting the same usually authenticate their most solemn and formal official acts.

Sec. 2233. (1225.) Any court or officer having power to take the proof above contemplated may issue the necessary subpoenas, and compel the attendance of witnesses residing within the county by attachment if necessary.

Sec. 2234. (1226.) No instrument containing a power to convey or in any manner affect real estate, certified and recorded as above prescribed, can be revoked by any act of the parties by whom it was executed until the instrument containing such revocation is acknowledged and deposited for record and entered on the entry book in the same office in which the instrument conferring the power is recorded.

Sec. 2235. (1227.) Every instrument in writing affecting real estate, which is acknowledged or proved, and certified as hereinbefore directed, may be read in evidence without farther proof.

Sec. 2236. (1228.) The record of such instrument or a duly authenticated copy thereof is competent evidence whenever by the party's own oath or otherwise the original is shown to be lost, or not belonging to the party wishing to use the same nor within his control. And in such case it is no objection to the record that no official seal is appended to the recorded acknowledgment thereof, if, when the acknowledgment purports to have been taken by an officer having an official seal, there be a statement in the certificate of acknowledgment that the same is made under his hand and seal of office and the record show by a scroll or otherwise that there was such a seal, which will be presumptive evidence that the official seal was attached to the original certificate.

ARTICLE 1.

Sec. 2964. (1233.) Where an occupant of land has color of title thereto, and in good faith has made any valuable improvement thereon, and is afterwards in the proper action found not to be the rightful owner thereof, no execution shall issue to put the plaintiff in possession, after the filing of the petition hereinafter mentioned, of the property, after the filing of the petition hereinafter mentioned, until the provisions of this chapter have been complied with.
SEC. 2265. (1234.) Such petition must set forth the grounds on which the defendant seeks relief, stating with other things as accurately as practicable the value of the improvements upon the lands as well as the value of the lands aside from the improvements.

SEC. 2266. (1235.) All issues joined thereon must be tried as in ordinary cases, and if the value of the land or of the improvements is in controversy such value must be ascertained on the trial.

SEC. 2267. (1236.) The plaintiff in the main action may thereupon pay the appraised value of the improvements and take the property.

SEC. 2268. (1237) and (1238) [repealed and substituted by article 2 hereof.]

SEC. 2269. (1210.) Any person has also such color of title who has occupied a tract of land by himself or by those under whom he claims for the term of five years, or who has thus occupied the land for a less term than five years if he or those under whom he claims have at any time during such occupancy [with the knowledge and consent, express or implied, of the real owner, made any valuable improvement thereon, or where he, or those under whom he claims, have, at any time during such occupancy] paid the ordinary county taxes thereon for any one year and if two years afterwards elapses without a repayment or proffer of repayment of the same by the owner of the land, provided such occupancy is continued up to the time at which the suit is brought by which the recovery of the land is obtained as above contemplated: [provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to give tenants color of title against their landlords.]

SEC. 2270. (1241.) In the cases above provided for, if the occupying claimant has committed any injury to the land by cutting timber or otherwise the plaintiff may set the same off against any claim for improvements made by such claimant.

SEC. 2271. (1242.) It is a sufficient cause of challenge to any juror selected to appraise the value of the land or the improvements, that he is interested in a like question.

SEC. 2272. (1243.) The plaintiff is entitled to an execution to put himself in possession of his property in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, but not otherwise.

SEC. 2273. (1244.) The regulations contained in this chapter are intended to be retrospective.

CHAPTER 98.

THE HOMESTEAD.

Section 2277. (1245.) Where there is no special declaration of the statute to the contrary, the homestead of every head of a family is exempt from judicial sale.

Sec. 2278. (1246.) A widow or widower, though without children, shall be deemed the head of a family while continuing to occupy the house used as such at the time of the death of the husband or wife.

Sec. 2279. (1247.) A conveyance by such owner is of no validity unless the husband and wife (if the owner is married) concur in and sign such conveyance.

Sec. 2280. (1248.) But the homestead is liable for taxes accruing exclusively thereon, and the whole or a sufficient portion thereof may be sold to pay the same. It is also subject to mechanic's liens in the cases provided by law.

Sec. 2281. (1249.) It may also be sold on execution for debts contracted prior to the passage of this law or prior to the purchase of such homestead (except where otherwise declared,) or for those created by written contract executed by the persons having the power to convey and expressly stipulating that the homestead is liable therefor. But it shall not in such cases be sold except to supply the deficiency remaining after exhausting the other property of the debtor which is liable to execution.

Sec. 2282. (1250.) The homestead must embrace the house used as a home by the owner thereof, and if he has two or more houses thus used by him at different times and places he may select which he will retain as his homestead.

Sec. 2283. (1251.) It may contain one or more lots or tracts of land with the buildings thereon and other appurtenances, subject to the limitations contained in the next section, but must in no case embrace different lots and tracts unless they are contiguous, or unless they are habitually and in good faith used as part of the same homestead.

Sec. 2284. (1252.) If within a town plat it must not exceed one half an acre in extent, and if not within a town plat it must not embrace in the aggregate more than forty acres. But if when thus limited in either case its value is less than five hundred dollars it may be enlarged till its value reaches that amount.

Sec. 2285. (1253.) It must not embrace more than one dwelling house nor any other buildings except such as are properly appurtenant to the homestead as such, but a shop or other building situated thereon and really used and occupied by the owner in the prosecution of his own ordinary business and not exceeding three hundred dollars in value may be deemed appurtenant to such homestead.

Sec. 2286. (1254.) The owner may select his own homestead and cause it to be marked out, platted, and recorded as provided in the next section. If he neglect this the privilege of doing the same devolves upon his wife. A failure in this respect by both does not leave the homestead liable, but the officer having an execution against the property of such a defendant may cause the homestead to be marked off, platted, and recorded, and may add the expenses thence arising to the amount embraced in his execution.
SEC. 2287. (1255.) The homestead shall be marked off by fixed and visible monuments, and in giving the description thereof the direction and distance of the starting point from some corner of the dwelling house shall be stated. The description and plat shall then be recorded by the recorder of deeds in a book to be called the “homestead book,” which shall be provided with a proper index.

May be changed. SEC. 2288. (1256.) The owner may from time to time at his pleasure change the limits of his homestead by changing the metes and bounds as well as the record of the plat and description, or he may change the homestead entirely; but such changes shall not prejudice conveyances or liens made or created previously thereto.

Liability of new. SEC. 2289. (1257.) The new homestead, to the extent in value of the old, is exempt from execution in all cases where the old or former homestead would have been exempt, but in no other, nor in any greater degree.

How disagreement settled. SEC. 2290. (1258.) Where a disagreement takes place between the owner and any person adversely interested as to whether any land or buildings are properly a part of the homestead, the sheriff shall at the request of either party summon nine disinterested persons having the qualification of jurors. The parties then, commencing with the owner of the homestead, shall in turn strike off one juror each and shall continue to do so until only three of the number remain. These shall then proceed as referees to examine and ascertain all the facts of the case and shall report the same with their opinion thereon to the next term of the district court.

Same. SEC. 2291. (1259.) If either party fail to strike off jurors in the manner directed in the last section the sheriff may strike off such jurors.

Same. SEC. 2292. (1260.) The court may also in its discretion refer the whole matter or any part of it back to the same referees, or to others to be selected in the same manner or as the parties otherwise agree, giving them directions as to the report that is required of them.

Decision of court. SEC. 2293. (1261.) When the court is sufficiently possessed of the facts of the case it shall make its decision, and may, if expedient, direct the homestead to be marked off anew or a new plat and description to be made and recorded, and may take any farther step in the premises which in its discretion it may deem proper for attaining the objects of this statute. It shall also award costs as nearly as may be in accordance with the practice observed in other cases.

Change of circumstances. SEC. 2294. (1262.) The extent or appurtenances of the homestead, as thus established, are liable to be called in question in like manner whenever a change in value or circumstances will justify such new proceeding.

Death. SEC. 2295. (1263.) Upon the death of either husband or wife the survivor may continue to possess and occupy the whole homestead until it is otherwise disposed of according to law.

Descent. SEC. 2296. (1264.) If there is no such survivor, the homestead descends to the issue of either husband or wife according to the general rules of descent unless otherwise directed by will, and is to be held by such issue exempt from any antecedent debts of their parents or their own.

When to be sold. SEC. 2297. (1265.) If there is no such survivor or issue, the homestead is liable to be sold for the payment of any debts to which it might at that time be subjected if it had never been held as a homestead.

Device of. SEC. 2298. (1266.) Subject to the rights of the surviving husband.
or wife as declared by law, the homestead may be devised like other real estate of the testator.

Sec. 2302. (1270.) A landlord shall have a lien for his rent upon all crops grown upon the demised premises, and upon any other personal property of the tenant which has been used on the premises during the term and not exempt from execution, for the period of one year after a year's rent, or the rent of a shorter period claimed, falls due; but such lien shall not in any case continue more than six months after the expiration of the term.

Sec. 2303. (1271.) The lien may be effected by the commencement of the landlord's lien.
of an action within the period above prescribed, for the rent due, in which action the landlord will be entitled to a writ of attachment upon filing with the proper clerk or the justice an affidavit that the action is commenced to recover rent accrued within one year previous thereto upon premises described in the affidavit.

CHAPTER 100.

THE ESTATES OF DECEDEENTS.

ARTICLE 1.

Section 2304. (1272.) The county court has power to take probate of wills, to grant administration of the estates of all persons who at the time of their death were residents of the county, or who die non-residents of the state having property to be administered upon within the county, or where such property is afterwards brought into the county, and it has jurisdiction in all matters relating to the settlement of such estates.*

Sec. 2305. (1273.) It may also appoint guardians for minors and others requiring guardians, residing within the county, in cases prescribed by law, and may exercise a general supervision over their property, persons, and interests.

First county. Sec. 2306. (1274.) When a case is originally within the jurisdiction of the courts of either of two or more counties, that court which first takes cognizance thereof by the commencement of proceedings can retain the same throughout.

May revoke. Sec. 2307. (1275.) Any process or authority emanating from the court in probate matters may for good cause be revoked and a new one issued.

Bonds approved. Sec. 2308. (1276.) No bond relating to probate matters, required by law to be given and filed in the county office, shall be deemed sufficient until examined by the judge and his approval is indorsed thereon.

* This section is amended by article 2 hereof.
Wills.

SEC. 2309. (1277.) Any person of full age and sound mind may dispose, by will, of all his property except what is sufficient to pay his debts, or what is allowed as a homestead, or otherwise given by law as privileged property to his wife and family.

SEC. 2310. (1278.) Property to be subsequently acquired may also be devised when the intention is clear and explicit.

SEC. 2311. (1279.) Personal property to the value of three hundred dollars may be bequeathed by a verbal will if witnessed by two competent witnesses.

SEC. 2312. (1280.) A soldier in actual service, or a mariner at sea, may dispose of all his personal estate by a will so made and witnessed.

SEC. 2313. (1281.) All other wills, to be valid, must be in writing witnessed by two competent witnesses, and signed by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his express direction.

SEC. 2314. (1282.) No subscribing witness to any will can derive any benefit therefrom unless there be two disinterested and competent witnesses to the same.

SEC. 2315. (1283.) But if, without a will, he would be entitled to any portion of the testator's estate, he may still receive such portion to the extent in value of the amount devised.

SEC. 2316. (1284.) Posthumous children unprovided for by the father's will shall inherit the same interest as though no will had been made.

SEC. 2317. (1285.) The amount thus allowed to a posthumous child, as well as that of any other claim which it becomes necessary to satisfy in disregard of or in opposition to the contemplation of the will, must be taken ratably from the interests of heirs, devisees, and legatees.

SEC. 2318. (1286.) The word "devisee" as used in this title shall when applicable be construed to embrace "legatees," and the word "devised" shall in like cases be understood as comprising the force of the word "bequeathed."

SEC. 2319. (1287.) If a devisee die before the testator, his heirs shall inherit the amount so devised to him unless from the terms of the will a contrary intent is manifest.

SEC. 2320. (1288.) Wills can be revoked, in whole or in part, only by being canceled or destroyed by the act or direction of the testator with the intention of so revoking them or by the execution of subsequent wills.

SEC. 2321. (1289.) When done by cancelation the revocation requires to be witnessed in the same manner as the making of a new will.

SEC. 2322. (1290.) Wills duly sealed up and indorsed may be deposited with the clerk of the court, whose duty it is to file and preserve the same until the death of the testator, unless they themselves sooner demand them.

SEC. 2323. (1291.) Any person having the custody of a will shall, at the first stated term of the court after being informed of the death of the testator, bring the same into open court when it shall be publicly read.

SEC. 2324. (1292.) If he fail to do so after receiving reasonable notice he may be brought in by rule and attachment and committed to jail until he complies, and shall be further liable to any person aggrieved for all the damages sustained by such failure.

Sec. 2325. (1293.) After being thus produced and read, a day shall be fixed by the court for proving the same, which may be postponed from time to time at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 2326. (1294.) Such notice thereof as the court directs shall be immediately given to all persons interested in the matter.

Sec. 2327. (1295.) After being proved and allowed by the county court, the will together with the certificate hereinafter required shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose.

Sec. 2328. (1296.) Wills proved and allowed in any other state or country shall be allowed and recorded in any county in this state in which it may be desired to use them, upon the production of a copy thereof to the proper county court duly authenticated by the attestation of the clerk of the court in which such will was proved, together with the certificate of the judge or presiding officer that such attestation is in due form of law. If there be no clerk such attestation may be made by the judge or presiding officer, and in all cases if the clerk or officer making such attestation have a seal of office such seal shall be annexed to the attestation.

Sec. 2329. (1297.) Wills shall not be carried into effect unless thus allowed, and such allowance is conclusive as to the due execution of the will unless set aside by an original or appellate proceeding in the district court.

Sec. 2330. (1298.) When proved and recorded, the court shall direct the will or an authenticated copy thereof to be placed in the hands of the executor therein named or otherwise duly appointed.

Sec. 2331. (1299.) If no executors are named therein or if the executors named fail to qualify and act, it shall be retained on file until an executor is appointed and qualified in the manner herein prescribed.

Sec. 2332. (1300.) Wills, when proved and allowed, shall have a certificate thereof indorsed or annexed thereto signed by the clerk and attested by the seal of the court; and every will so certified, or the record thereof, or a transcript of such record duly authenticated, may be read in evidence in all courts within this state without further proof.

Executors.

Sec. 2333. (1301.) The word "executor," as used in this title, is intended to be applied to the persons who administer upon the estate of one deceased, whether appointed by the will or otherwise.

Sec. 2334. (1302.) They may in each case consist of one or more, and if not designated by will they may be appointed by the proper county court as hereinafter directed.

Sec. 2335. (1303.) If a person appointed executor refuse to accept the trust, or if when duly notified of his appointment he neglects to appear within thirty days and give bond as hereinafter prescribed, a vacancy will be deemed to have occurred.

Sec. 2336. (1304.) A married woman may act as executor independently of her husband. Her marriage subsequent to the appointment does not render it invalid.

Sec. 2337. (1305.) If a minor under eighteen years of age is appointed an executor, there is a temporary vacancy as to him until he becomes of that age.

Sec. 2338. (1306.) The court for good cause may remove an executor.
Sec. 2339. (1307.) In case of vacancy the court may appoint a substitute, or it may allow the other executor (if there is another) to proceed by himself in administering the estate.

Sec. 2340. (1308.) The substitution of other executors shall occasion no delay in the administration of the estate. The periods hereinafter mentioned within which acts are to be performed after the appointment of executors, shall all, unless otherwise declared, be reckoned from the issuing of the commission to the first general executor.

Sec. 2341. (1309.) If administration of the estate of a deceased non-resident has been granted in accordance with the laws of the state or country where he resided at the time of his death, the person to whom it has been committed may upon his application and upon qualifying himself in the same manner as is required of other executors, be appointed an executor to administer upon the property of the deceased in this state unless another executor has previously been appointed in this state.

Sec. 2342. (1310.) The original letters testamentary or of administration or other authority conferring his power upon such executor, or an attested copy thereof together with a copy of the will if there be one attested as hereinbefore directed, must be filed in the office of the judge of the proper county court before such appointment can be made.

Sec. 2343. (1311.) In other cases where an executor is not appointed by will administration shall be granted:

1. To the wife of the deceased;
2. To his next of kin;
3. To his creditors;
4. To any other person whom the court may select.

Sec. 2344. (1312.) The court may unite individuals belonging to the same or different classes as executors whenever it deems such a course expedient.

Sec. 2345. (1313.) To each of the above classes in succession a period of twenty days (commencing with the burial of the deceased) is allowed, within which to apply for administration upon the estate.

Sec. 2346. (1314.) The court must appoint no person an executor who is manifestly unsuitable for the discharge of the trust, nor who is a minor except as herein otherwise provided.

Sec. 2347. (1315.) If the persons of each class as above ordered respectively fail to apply for such administration within the twenty days above allotted to his class, without sufficient cause being shown for such failure; or if for any reason all those who apply are improper persons to receive the appointment, the right of administration descends to the next following class.

Sec. 2348. (1316.) Every executor, except as is herein otherwise declared, before entering upon the discharge of his duty must give bond in such penalty as the judge of the court approves, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties imposed on him by law according to the best of his abilities.

Sec. 2349. (1317.) He must also take and subscribe an oath the same in substance as the condition of the bond aforesaid, which oath and bond must be filed with the judge of the court.

Sec. 2350. (1318.) New bonds may be required by the court to be given, and in a new penalty and with new sureties, whenever the same is deemed expedient.

Sec. 2351. (1319.) After the filing of the bond and oath aforesaid, the court shall issue a commission under its seal giving the executor the powers authorized by law.
Special executor. SEC. 2352. (1320.) When for any cause there is a necessary delay in granting such commission, the court in its discretion may appoint one or more special executors to collect and preserve the property of the deceased, who shall qualify as above required.

Appeals. SEC. 2353. (1321.) No appeal from the decision appointing such special executors shall prevent their proceeding in the discharge of their duties.

Inventory. SEC. 2354. (1322.) Such special executors shall make and file an inventory of the property of the deceased in the same manner in all respects as is required of general executors, and shall preserve said property from injury.

Duties, &c. SEC. 2355. (1323.) For this purpose they may do all needful acts under the direction of the court, but shall take no steps in relation to the allowance of claims against the estate.

Sec. 2356. (1324.) Upon the granting of full administration the powers of the special executors shall cease and all the business shall be transferred to the general executor.

Sec. 2357. (1325.) Administration shall not be originally granted after the lapse of five years from the death of the decedent, or from the time his death was known in case he died out of the state.

Sec. 2358. (1326.) The preceding provisions are in some respects subject to be changed and modified by the will of a testator. Thus, when the interests of creditors will not be thereby prejudiced, he may prescribe the entire manner in which his estate shall be administered upon, he may exempt the executor from the necessity of giving bond, may constitute him in substance his attorney in fact for the settlement of the estate, may direct that no material and immediate change be made in conducting his business affairs in consequence of his death, and may prescribe the manner in which his affairs shall be conducted until his estate is finally settled, or until his minor children become of age.

Sec. 2359. (1327.) The county court in its discretion may also authorize the executor to continue the prosecution of any business in which the deceased was engaged at the time of his death, in order to wind up his affairs with greater advantage to the interest of the estate, but such permission does not exempt the executor from the necessity of returning a full inventory and appraisement of the effects of the deceased as accurately as practicable in the manner prescribed in other cases, and as may be farther directed by the court.

Sec. 2360. (1328.) Within thirty days after their appointment, unless for good cause an extension of that time is specially given by the court, the executors shall make and return into the court an inventory of all the personal effects of the deceased of every description which have come within their knowledge, embracing all book accounts which do not appear by the books or papers of the deceased to have been settled.

What not assets. SEC. 2361. (1329.) When the deceased leaves a widow, no property which in her hands as the head of a family would be exempt from execution shall be deemed assets or administered upon as such, but the same, after being inventoried without appraisement, shall remain with her and the family until disposed of according to law.

Life Insurance. SEC. 2362. (1330.) The avails of any life insurance are not subject to the debts of the deceased except by special contract or arrangement, but shall in other respects be disposed of like other property left by the deceased.

Sec. 2363. (1331.) All personal property (except as aforesaid) found in the county must be appraised by appraisers, who shall be appointed by the court and shall each receive one dollar per day for his services.

Sec. 2364. (1332.) If any portion of such property be in another county, the same appraisers may serve or others may be appointed by the court or by a disinterested justice of the peace of such county, whose duties and compensation shall be as aforesaid.

Sec. 2365. (1333.) A supplemental inventory must be made out in like manner whenever the existence of other property is discovered.

Sec. 2366. (1334.) The court may summon before it any person suspected of having taken wrongful possession of any of the effects of the deceased, or of having had such effects under his control, and may subject him to an examination under oath, and if upon such examination it appear to the court that such suspected person has the wrongful possession of any property or effects of the deceased, the court shall order such property or effects to be delivered to the executor of the estate.

Sec. 2367. (1335.) If he disobey such order or summons, or refuse to answer the interrogatories propounded, he may be committed to the jail of the county until a compliance be yielded.

Sec. 2368. (1336.) The executor, with the approbation of the court, may compound with any debtor of the estate who may be thought unable to pay his whole debt, or in order to avoid doubtful litigation.

Sec. 2369. (1337.) The interest of a deceased mortgagee shall be included among his personal assets, and upon its being paid off satisfaction shall be entered by the executor.

The Disposition to be made of the Property of the Deceased.

Sec. 2370. (1338.) Upon the death of a sole surviving parent leaving a minor child, the court may make such order and allowance for its temporary support as may be suitable and proper.

Sec. 2371. (1339.) When a person by his will makes such a disposition of his effects as to prejudice the rights of creditors, the will may still be sustained by the giving of security to the satisfaction of the court for the payment of the claims of the creditors to the extent of the value of the property thus devised.

Sec. 2372. (1340.) When no different direction is given in the will, the debts due the estate shall as far as practicable be collected and the debts owing by the estate paid off therewith, to the extent of the means thus obtained.

Sec. 2373. (1341.) The court, on the application of the executor, shall from time to time direct the sale of such portions of the personal effects as are of a perishable nature or which from any cause would otherwise be likely to depreciate in value, and also such portions as are necessary to pay off the debts and charges upon the estate, in addition to the means above provided.

Sec. 2374. (1342.) If the personal effects are found inadequate to satisfy such charges, a sufficient portion of the real estate may be ordered to be sold for that purpose.

Sec. 2375. (1343.) Application for that purpose can be made only after a full statement of all the claims against the estate, and after rendering a full account of the disposition made of the personal estate.
Notice. SEC. 2376. (1344.) Before any order to that effect can be made, such notice as the court may prescribe must be given to all the persons interested in such real estate.

Real estate divided. SEC. 2377. (1345.) If convenient, the real estate must be divided into parcels and each appraised in the manner above provided for personal property, and the appraisement filed in like manner.

Exception. SEC. 2378. (1346.) When a part can not be sold without material prejudice to the general interests of the estate, the court may order the sale of the whole, or of such part as can be sold advantageously.

Private sale. SEC. 2379. (1347.) Property may be permitted to be sold at private sale whenever the court is satisfied that the interests of the estate will be thereby promoted.

Public sale. SEC. 2380. (1348.) In other cases sales must be made at public auction after giving the same notice as would have been necessary for the sale of such property on execution.

Direction. SEC. 2381. (1349.) No property can be sold at private sale for less than the appraisement price without the express approbation of the judge of the county court.

Credit. SEC. 2382. (1350.) Property may be ordered to be sold on a partial credit of not more than twelve months.

Sale prevented. SEC. 2383. (1351.) Any heir or other person interested in the estate, who may wish to prevent a sale of the whole or any part thereof, may accomplish that purpose by giving bond to the satisfaction of the court, conditioned that he will pay all demands against the estate to the extent of the value of the property thus kept from sale as soon as called upon by the county court for that purpose.

Same. SEC. 2384. (1352.) If the conditions of such bond are broken the property is still liable for those debts unless it has passed into the hands of a bona fide purchaser, and the executors may take possession thereof and sell the same under the direction of the court, or they may prosecute the bond, or both at once if the court so direct.

Conveyances. SEC. 2385. (1353.) If the conditions of the bond are complied with the property passes by devise, distribution, or descent in the same manner as though there had been no debts against the estate.

Presumption. SEC. 2386. (1354.) Where real estate is sold, conveyances thereof executed by the executors pass to the purchaser all the interest of the decedent therein. But such conveyance shall not be valid until approved by the judge of the county court.

Limitation. SEC. 2387. (1355.) Such approval shall be entered of record. A brief memorandum thereof must be indorsed upon the deed with the signature and seal affixed thereto, and the deed so indorsed shall be presumptive evidence of the validity of the sale and of the regularity of all the proceedings connected therewith.

SEC. 2388. (1356.) No action for the recovery of any real estate sold by an executor can be sustained by any person claiming under the deceased, unless brought within five years next after the sale.

Filing Claims against an Estate.

Executor's notice. SEC. 2389. (1357.) Within thirty days after the receipt of their commission, the executors shall publish a notice of their appointment in such manner as the court directs, either by posting up or by publication in a newspaper.

SEC. 2390. (1358.) This notice need be given only by the executors first appointed and qualified.
SEC. 2391. (1359.) Claims against the estate must be clearly stated, sworn to, and filed. Ten days notice of the hearing, indorsed on a copy of the claim, must be served upon one of the executors in the manner required for commencing actions in the district court.

SEC. 2392. (1360.) The same rules of evidence, including those in relation to the calling and examination of the party as a witness, shall be observed as in cases pending in the district court.

SEC. 2393. (1361.) The executor may, with the approbation of the court, admit claims with the correctness of which he is satisfied, but not until the claimant has sworn to their correctness. The like rule shall be observed in relation to payments or set-offs to any demands due the estate.

SEC. 2394. (1362.) All claims not established in the district court must be submitted to and passed upon by the county court; and no claim except such as the executors may admit can be allowed, unless sustained by such testimony as would be sufficient on a trial in the district court.

SEC. 2395. (1363.) Claims for a mere money demand where no lien is to be enforced shall not, except with the approbation of the court, be prosecuted originally in the district court.

SEC. 2396. (1364.) Demands though not yet due may be presented, proved, and allowed as other claims.

SEC. 2397. (1365.) Contingent liabilities must also be presented and proved, or the court or executor shall be under no obligation to make any provision for satisfying them when they may afterwards accrue.

SEC. 2398. (1366.) Claims against an estate and set-offs thereto may in the discretion of the court be proved up before one or more referees to be agreed upon between the parties or approved by the court, and their decision being entered upon the record becomes a decision of the court.

SEC. 2399. (1367.) Unsatisfied judgments rendered prior to the death of the decedent shall be entered in the catalogue of claims, and so much thereof allowed as the plaintiff will show by his own oath or otherwise is still unpaid. But they possess no preference over other claims except the liens allowed by law in their favor.

SEC. 2400. (1368.) Suits pending at the time of such death may be prosecuted to judgment and then placed in the catalogue of established claims. But no lien is created by such judgment.

SEC. 2401. (1369.) If either of the executors is interested in favor of a claim against the estate he shall not serve in any matter connected with that case. And if all the executors are thus interested the court shall appoint some competent person a temporary executor in relation to such claims.

The Payment of Claims against the Estate.

SEC. 2402. (1370.) As soon as the executors are possessed of sufficient means over and above the expenses of administration they shall pay off the charges of the last sickness and funeral of the deceased.

SEC. 2403. (1371.) They shall in the next place pay any allowance which may be made by the court for the maintenance of the widow and minor children, previous to the time when a sufficient amount for such maintenance can be paid to them out of their shares of the estate, which amount so advanced shall afterwards be deducted from their respective portions.
Order of payment.

SEC. 2404. (1372.) Other demands against the estate are payable in the following order:

1. Debts entitled to a preference under the laws of the United States;
2. Public rates and taxes;
3. Claims filed within six months after the notice given by the executors of their appointment;
4. All other debts;
5. Legacies.

Limitation.

SEC. 2405. (1373.) All claims of the fourth of the above classes not filed and proved within one year and a half of the giving of the notice aforesaid are forever barred, unless the claim is pending in the district or supreme court or unless peculiar circumstances entitle the claimant to equitable relief.

When to pay.

SEC. 2406. (1374.) After the expiration of the time for filing the claims of the third of the above classes, the executors shall proceed to pay of all claims against the estate in the order above stated as fast as the means of so doing come into their hands.

SEC. 2407. (1375.) Claims of the fourth class may be paid off at any time after the expiration of six months aforesaid without any regard to those claims not filed at the time of such payment. And even legacies may be paid off at any time after the expiration of one year from the date of the notice of appointment of the executor: provided, sufficient be left on hand to satisfy all the claims filed at the date of such payment, the claims of the fourth class as well as the legacies being, within the limits above fixed, preferred to the unfiled claims whether the estate be solvent or not.

SEC. 2408. (1376.) No payment can be made to a claimant in any one class until those of a previous class are satisfied.

SEC. 2409. (1377.) Demands not yet due shall be paid off if the holders will consent to such a rebate of interest as the court thinks reasonable. Otherwise the money to which such claimant would be entitled shall be safely invested until his debt becomes due.

SEC. 2410. (1378.) Within their respective classes, debts shall be paid off in the order in which they have been proved up subject to the provisions of the following section; but the court shall permit them to be proved up in the order in which they are filed.

Dividend.

SEC. 2411. (1379.) If there are not likely to be means sufficient in all to pay off the whole of the debts of any one class, the court shall from time to time strike a dividend of the means on hand among all the creditors of that class, and the executors shall pay the several amounts accordingly.

Incumbrances.

SEC. 2412. (1380.) The executors may with the approbation of the court use funds belonging to the estate to pay off incumbrances upon lands owned by the deceased, or to purchase lands claimed or contracted for by him prior to his death.

Specific legacies.

SEC. 2413. (1381.) Specific legacies of property may be turned over to the rightful claimant at any time upon his giving unquestionable real estate security to restore the property or refund the amount at which it was appraised if wanted for the payment of debts.

SEC. 2414. (1382.) Legacies payable in money may be paid on like terms whenever the executors possess the means which can be thus used without prejudice to the interest of any claim already filed.

SEC. 2415. (1383.) After the expiration of the one year and a half allowed for filing claims as above provided, such legacies may be paid off without requiring the security provided for in the preceding two sections, if the means are still retained to pay off all the claims proved or pending as hereinbefore contemplated.

SEC. 2416. (1384.) If the testator has not prescribed the order in which legacies are to be paid off, and if no security is given as above provided in order to expedite their time of payment, they may be paid off in the order in which they were contained in the will, where the estate is sufficient to pay all.

SEC. 2417. (1385.) Or, when not incompatible with the manifest intention of the testator, the court may direct all payments of money to legatees to be made ratably.

SEC. 2418. (1386.) Such must be the mode pursued when there is danger that the estate will prove insufficient to pay off all the legacies, unless security be given to refund as above provided.

SEC. 2419. (1387.) If the executors fail to make payment of any kind in accordance with the order of the court, they and their sureties may be summoned to appear before the court at a time to be specified in the summons not less than ten days from the time of service, to show cause why they have so failed as aforesaid.

SEC. 2420. (1388.) If no sufficient cause be shown the court shall render judgment on the bond of the executors for the amount of money directed to be paid together with costs, and shall issue execution accordingly.

SEC. 2421. (1389.) When any of the obligors in the bond is not served with such summons, a similar course may be pursued to that authorized in parallel cases in the district court and with like consequences.

The Distribution of Personal Property.

SEC. 2422. (1390.) The personal property of the deceased not necessary for the payment of debts nor otherwise disposed of as hereinbefore provided, shall be distributed to the same persons and in the same proportions as though it were real estate.

SEC. 2423. (1391.) The distributive shares shall be paid over as fast as the executor can properly do so.

SEC. 2424. (1392.) The property itself shall be distributed in kind whenever that can be done satisfactorily and equitably. In other cases the court may direct the property to be sold and the proceeds to be distributed.

SEC. 2425. (1393.) When the circumstances of the family require it the court, in addition to what is hereinbefore set apart for their use, may direct a partial distribution of the money or effects on hand at any time after filing the inventory, upon the execution of security like that required of legatees in like cases.

The Distribution of Real Property.

SEC. (1394.) [Repealed and substituted by section 2477.]

SEC. 2426. (1395.) Such share shall be so set off as to include the ordinary dwelling house and the land given by law to the husband as a homestead, or so much thereof as will be equal to the share allotted to her by the last section unless she prefers a different arrangement. But no different arrangement shall be permitted where it would have the effect of prejudicing the rights of creditors.

SEC. 2427. (1396.) The share thus allotted to her may be set off by the mutual consent of all the parties interested when such consent can be obtained, or it may be set off by referees appointed by the court.
Application. SEC. 2428. (1397.) The application for such admeasurement by referees may be made at any time after twenty days and within ten years after the death of the husband, and must specify the particular tracts of land in which she claims her dower, and ask the appointment of referees.

must have been general and notorious or else in writing.

Sec. 2443. (1417.) Under such circumstances, if the recognition of same relationship has been mutual the father may inherit from his illegitimately child.

Sec. 2444. (1418.) But in thus inheriting from an illegitimate child in such the rule above established must be inverted so that the mother and her same right of inheritance in regard to an illegitimate child that the mother has in regard to one that is legitimate.

Sec. 2445. (1419.) Property given by an intestate, by way of advancement to an heir shall be considered part of the estate so far as of the value of an article and shall be so regarded either for or against the executor.

Sec. 2452. (1427.) He shall derive no profit from the sale of propgerty for a price higher than the appraisement, nor is he chargeable with any loss occurring without any fault of his own.

required to do so by the court, may be removed and shall be liable on his bond for all the damage caused by such failure.

Sec. 2457. (1432.) Mistakes in settlements may be corrected at any time before final settlement and discharge of the executor, and even after that time on showing such grounds for relief in equity as will justify the interference of the district court.

Sec. 2458. (1433.) If judgment is rendered against an executor for costs in any suit prosecuted or defended by him in that capacity, execution shall be awarded against him as for his own debt if it appear to the court that such suit was prosecuted or defended without reasonable cause. Sec. 2461. (1436.) It is not necessary to make any other than the executor party defendant to such proceedings in the first instance, but the court in its discretion may direct other persons interested to be made parties and may cause them to be notified thereof in such manner as they may deem expedient. Heirs and devisees may on their own motion at any time be made defendants.

Sec. 2465. (1440.) In an action against the heirs and devisees, where the judgment is to be against them in proportion to the respective amounts received by them from the estate, costs awarded against them shall be in like proportion.

Sec. 2466. (1441.) In such cases any one may tender the amount due from him to the plaintiff, which shall have the same effect so far as he is concerned as though he was the sole defendant.

Sec. 2467. (1442.) One of several executors may receive and receipt for money. Such receipt shall be given by him in his own name only, and he must individually account for all the money thus received and receipted for by himself; and this shall not charge his co-executor except so far as it can be shown to have come into his hands.

Sec. 2468. (1443.) When the judge of any county court has reason to believe that any property within his county should by law escheat to the state, he must forthwith inform the superintendent of public in-appointed for that purpose in some county in the state.

SEC. 2469. (1444.) The executor must thereupon give such notice Notice,

TITLE XVII.

OF THE DOMESTIC RELATIONS.

CHAPTER 101.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

[Code—Chapter 84.]

SECTION 2499. (1447.) The personal property of the wife does not vest at once in the husband, but if left under his control it will, in favor of third persons acting in good faith and without knowledge of the real ownership, be presumed to have been transferred to him, except as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 2500. (1448.) If the wife has such property which she leaves under his control she must, in order to avoid the entire surrender of her estate.
interest therein, file for record with the recorder of deeds a notice, stating the amount in value of such property and that she has a claim therefor out of the estate of her husband, and if during her life time he dies or becomes insolvent she shall be deemed a preferred creditor of the estate to that amount without interest and may hold and control the same in her own right; but this preference shall not prejudice the interests of those creditors who became such after the property was thus placed under the husband's control and before the filing of the notice aforesaid, unless they had knowledge of her right in that respect.

Proof.

SEC. 2501. (1449.) The provisions of the preceding section shall not prevent the necessity of proof on the part of the wife of the actual amount of property thus in good faith placed by her under the control of her husband, but the notice aforesaid will after the lapse of five years from the time of the recording thereof be presumptive evidence of the facts therein stated in this respect.

Specific articles.

SEC. 2502. (1450.) Specific articles of personal property may be owned by the wife exempt from the husband's debts, although left under his control, if during his lifetime and prior to its being disposed of by him or levied upon for his debts notice of her ownership is filed for record with the recorder of deeds of the county. But such notice shall not exempt her property from liability for his debts contracted after it was left under his control and before the filing of the notice aforesaid except as against those having knowledge of her rights.

Record.

SEC. 2503. (1451.) The notices aforesaid must be recorded in the book kept for recording mortgages and conveyances of personal property and indexed in like manner.

Stock, etc.

SEC. 2504. (1452.) In the case of bank stock, written securities, things in action, or other property which does not ordinarily pass by mere delivery or by oral contract without an indorsement, assignment, or other written evidence of such transfer, knowledge of the ownership of the wife will be presumed without the recording required by the preceding two sections, unless such property has been conveyed to the wife by the husband.

Debts.

SEC. 2505. (1453.) Except as herein otherwise declared, the husband is not liable for the separate debts of the wife, nor is the property of the wife nor the rent nor income thereof liable for the debts of the husband. But the separate debts of the wife as herein contemplated are only those growing out of the contracts mentioned in the next section.

Her contracts.

SEC. 2506. (1454.) Contracts made by a wife in relation to her separate property or those purporting to bind herself only, do not bind the husband.

Expenses common.

SEC. 2507. (1455.) The expenses of the family, the education of the children, and such other obligations as come within the equity of this provision, are chargeable upon the property of both husband and wife or of either of them, and in relation thereto they may be sued jointly or the husband separately.

Abandoned.

SEC. 2508. (1456.) Married women abandoned by their husbands may obtain authority from the district court of the county in which they reside to act and to transact business as though unmarried.

Petition.

SEC. 2509. (1457.) The petition for that purpose must be sworn to, filed, and served as in ordinary civil actions, and issues may be joined and tried in like manner.

Decree.

SEC. 2510. (1458.) If the fact of abandonment be established either by the default of the defendant or by proof, that fact shall be entered of record and the court shall make a decree giving the power sought.
SEC. 2511. (1459.) The court may also under such circumstances authorize the wife to sue or defend in any or all cases in place of her husband, to sell or otherwise dispose of so much of the husband's property as is necessary for the maintenance of the family, and to collect debts due the husband. Deeds made and receipts and discharges executed and delivered by the wife in accordance with the power so given are valid.

SEC. 2512. (1460.) The court may in its discretion modify or revoke its orders and decrees herein authorized.

SEC. 2513. (1461.) The husband has the same rights in relation to the wife and her property as is above given to the wife, and he may have the same proceedings in like cases.

SEC. 2514. (1462.) The husband can not remove the wife nor their children from their homestead without the consent of the wife, and if he abandons her she is entitled to the custody of their minor children, unless the district court upon application for that purpose shall for good cause otherwise direct.

Decisions. A married woman sued on her promissory note, answered coverture at time of making same and now, and the answer was held good defense, 5 Iowa, 427; a wife can not be sued during coverture at law, only on the contracts mentioned in sections 1454 and 1455, Code, and petition should state such contract, 5 Iowa, 428; the liability at law of a married woman on her contracts made during marriage, is not a personal liability, only one affecting her property, 5 Iowa, 428; an abandoned wife, self dependent, may sue and be sued as sole woman, 4 Iowa, 321; property of wife, 4 G., 231; the right of the widow in property left with her as the head of a family, 6 Iowa, 44, 137; her portion must be fixed by administration, 6 Iowa, 137; 1 ibid., 225; effect of becoming administrator, de son tort. CHAPTER 102.

MARRIAGE.

Section 2515. (1463.) Marriage is a civil contract requiring the consent of parties capable of entering into other contracts, except as herein otherwise declared.

Sec. 2516. (1464.) A marriage between a male person of sixteen years of age is valid, and a female of fourteen years of age is valid, but if either party has not attained the age thus fixed the marriage is a nullity or not at the option of such party made known at any time before he or she is six months older than the age thus fixed.

Sec. 2517. (1465.) Previous to any marriage within this state, a license for that purpose must be obtained from the judge of the county court of the county wherein the marriage is to be solemnized, agreeable to the provisions of this chapter.
SEC. 2518. (1466.) Such license must not in any case be granted where either party is under the age necessary to render the marriage absolutely valid, nor shall it be granted where either party is a minor without the previous consent of the parent or guardian of such minor, nor where the condition of either party is such as to disqualify him for making any other civil contract.

SEC. 2519. (1467.) Unless the judge of the county court is acquainted with the age and condition of the parties for the marriage of whom the license is applied for, he must take the testimony of competent and disinterested witnesses on the subject.

SEC. 2520. (1468.) He must cause due entry of the application for the issuing of the license to be made on the records of the county court, stating that he was acquainted with the parties and knew them to be of competent age and condition, or that the requisite proof of such facts was made to him by one or more witnesses (stating their names.)

SEC. 2521. (1469.) If either party is a minor the consent of the parent or guardian must be filed in the county office, after being admitted by the said parent or guardian or proved to be genuine, and a memorandum of such facts must be also entered on the records of the county court.

SEC. 2522. (1470.) If the judge of the county court grants a license contrary to the provisions of the preceding sections he is guilty of a misdemeanor, and if a marriage is solemnized without such license being procured the parties so married, and all persons aiding in such marriage, are likewise guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2523. (1471.) The license shall not be issued until the amount of one dollar has been paid into the county treasury and the receipt therefor filed with the judge of the county court.

SEC. 2524. (1472.) Marriages must be solemnized either:
1. By a justice of the peace, or judge of the county court of the county, or the mayor of the city, wherein the marriage takes place;
2. By some judge of the supreme or district court of this state;
3. By some officiating minister of the gospel, ordained or licensed according to the usages of his denomination.

SEC. 2525. (1473.) After the marriage has been solemnized, the officiating minister or magistrate shall on request give each of the parties a certificate thereof.

SEC. 2526. (1474.) Marriages solemnized (with the consent of parties) in any other manner than is herein prescribed are valid, but the parties themselves and all other persons aiding or abetting shall forfeit to the school fund the sum of fifty dollars each.

SEC. 2527. (1475.) The person solemnizing marriage shall forfeit a like amount unless within ninety days after the ceremony he make return thereof to the county court.

SEC. 2528. (1476.) The clerk of the county court shall keep a register containing the names of the parties, the date of the marriage, and the name of the person by whom the marriage was solemnized, which (or a certified transcript therefrom) is receivable in all courts and places as evidence of the marriage and the date thereof.

SEC. 2529. (1477.) The preceding provisions, so far as they relate to the manner of solemnizing marriages, are not applicable to marriages among the members of any particular denomination having, as such, any peculiar mode of performing that ceremony.

SEC. 2530. (1478.) But where any mode is thus pursued which dispenses with the services of a clergyman or magistrate, the husband is... responsible for the return directed to be made to the county court and is liable to the above named penalty if the return is not made.

Sec. 2531. (1479.) Illegitimate children become legitimate by the subsequent marriage of their parents.

SEC. 2541. (1489.) No contract can be thus disaffirmed in cases where, on account of the minor's own misrepresentations as to his majority or from his having engaged in business as an adult, the other party had good reason to believe the minor capable of contracting.

ARTICLE 1.

Natural guardians.

Section 2543. (1491.) The father is the natural guardian of the persons of his minor children. If he dies or is incapable of acting the mother becomes the guardian.

Guardian appointed.

Sec. 2544. (1492.) The natural and actual guardian of any minor child may by will appoint another guardian for such minor. If, without such will, both parents be dead or disqualified to act as guardian the county court may appoint one.

Of property.

Sec. 2545. (1493.) Although the parents are living and of sound mind, yet if the minor has property not derived from either of them a guardian must be appointed by the county court to manage such property.

Same.

Sec. 2546. (1494.) The father, or in case of his death, absence, or incapacity, the mother may be appointed the guardian to take charge of the property of his minor child, if deemed by the court a suitable person for that purpose.

Choosing guardian.

Sec. 2547. (1495.) If the minor be over the age of fourteen years and of sound intellect he may select his own guardian, subject to the appointment of the court.

Bond and oath.

Sec. 2548. (1496) Guardians appointed to take charge of the property of a minor must give bond with surety to be approved by the court, in a penalty double the value of the personal estate and of the rents and profits of the real estate of the minor, conditioned for the faithful discharge of their duties as such guardians according to law. They must also take an oath of the same tenor as the condition of the bond.

Inventory.

Sec. 2549. (1497.) Within forty days after their appointment they must make out an inventory of all the property of the minor, which shall be appraised in the same manner as the property of a deceased person. The inventory must be filed in the office of the county judge.

Powers.

Sec. 2550. (1498.) Guardians of the persons of minors have the same power and control over them that parents would have if living.

What guardians must do.

Sec. 2551. (1499.) Guardians of the property of minors must prosecute and defend for their wards. They must also in other respects manage their interests, under the direction of the court. They may thus lease their lands or loan their money during their minority, and may do all other acts which the court may deem for the benefit of the wards.

Real estate.

Sec. 2552. (1500.) When not in violation of the terms of a will by which a minor holds his real property, it may, under the discretion of the county court, be sold or mortgaged on the application of the guardian, either when such sale or mortgage is necessary for the minor's support or education, or where his interest will be thereby promoted by reason of the unproductiveness of the property or of its being exposed to waste or of any other peculiar circumstances.

Sec. 2553. (1501.) The petition for that purpose must state the grounds of the application, must be verified by oath, and a copy thereof with a notice of the time at which such application will be made to the court must be served personally upon the minor, at least ten days prior to the term fixed for such application.

Sec. 2554. (1502.) The court in its discretion may direct a postponement of the matter, and may order such farther publication through the newspapers or otherwise as it may deem expedient.

Sec. 2555. (1503.) It may also direct a reference for the purpose of ascertaining the propriety of ordering the sale or mortgage as applied for.

Sec. 2556. (1504.) Before any such sale or mortgage can be executed the guardian must give security to the satisfaction of the court, the penalty of which shall be at least double the value of the property to be sold or of the money to be raised by the mortgage, conditioned that he will faithfully perform his duty in that respect and account for and apply all moneys received by him under the direction of the court.

Sec. 2557. (1505.) When the application for the sale of property is resisted the court may in its discretion award costs to the prevailing party, and may when satisfied that there was no reasonable ground for making the application direct the costs to be paid by the guardian from his own funds.

Sec. 2558. (1506.) Deeds may be made by the guardian in his own name, but they must be returned to the court and the sale or mortgage be approved before the same are valid.

Sec. 2559. (1507.) The same rule that is prescribed in the sale of real property by executors shall be observed in relation to the evidence necessary to show the regularity and validity of the sales above contemplated.

Sec. 2560. (1508.) No person can question the validity of such sale after the lapse of five years from the time it was made.

Sec. 2561. (1509.) A failure to comply with any order of the court in relation to guardianship shall be deemed a breach of the condition of the guardian's bond, which may accordingly be put in suit by any one aggrieved thereby, for which purpose the court may appoint another guardian of the minor if necessary. The court may also commit him to jail until he complies with such order.

Sec. 2562. (1510.) Guardians of the property of minors must account on oath annually, or oftener if required by the court. It may also direct them to give new or supplemental security, or may remove them for good cause shown which cause must be entered on the records.

Sec. 2563. (1511.) Where a new guardian is appointed the court may order the effects of the minor which are in the hands of his predecessor to be delivered up to such new guardian.

Sec. 2564. (1512.) The foreign guardian of any non-resident minor may be appointed the guardian of such minor by the court of the county wherein he has any property, for the purpose of selling or otherwise controlling that and all other property of such minor within this state.

Sec. 2565. (1513.) Such appointment may be made upon his filing in the office of the judge of the county wherein there is any such prop-
GUARDIANSHIP OF MINORS. [TITLE 17.]

Section 2566. (1514.) Upon the filing of an authenticated copy of the bond and the inventory rendered by the guardian in the foreign state, if the court is satisfied with the sufficiency of the amount of the security it may dispense with the filing of an additional bond.

Section 2567. (1515.) Guardians shall receive such compensation as the court may from time to time allow. The amount allowed and the service for which the allowance was made must be entered upon the records of the court.

ARTICLE 2.

An Act requiring Guardians to account for the Property of Minors.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, that all guardians of minors, hereby are required to appear at least once in each year before the county judge, and render an account of all moneys or other property in their possession, together with all the interest which may have accrued on moneys loaned, belonging to the minor or minors.

Section 2569. (2.) In case the said guardian shall fail to appear before the county judge within the time above specified, he shall forfeit and pay into the county treasury the sum of fifty dollars as in other actions of misdemeanor.

ARTICLE 3.

An Act to amend the Law in relation to Executors, &c.

[Passed Jan. 24, 1853, took effect July 1, 1853; Laws of Fourth General Assembly, Chapter 86, page 344.]

Section 2571. (2.) When there is no newspaper published in such county, then said notice may be published in the newspaper published nearest to the county seat of the county in which said order is made, which publication may be proved as required in like cases in the district court.

Section 2572. (3.) Service made as above shall be as effectual as if personally served, and trials and proceedings may be prosecuted or commenced, had and maintained in all respects as if such notice or notices, order or orders had been personally served.

Upon complaint by the minor or by any other person made to the judge of the county court, stating under oath that the master is ill-treating his apprentice or is in any other manner palpably failing in the discharge of his duty in regard to him, and stating the particulars with reasonable certainty, the court shall summon the master to appear and answer such complaint.

Judgment.

SEC. 2584. (1527.) Appeals.

SEC. 2585. (1528.) From any judgment in such cases, either the minor or the master may appeal to the district court in the same manner as is provided for in ordinary cases.

SEC. 2587. (1530.) If the apprentice, bound as aforesaid, refuses to serve according to the terms of the indenture, upon complaint made in the manner aforesaid, the judge shall issue a warrant to cause the apprentice to be brought forthwith before him and shall also cause notice of the proceedings to be given to the parent, guardian, or officer, by whose act or consent the minor was bound as an apprentice, if to be found in the county.

SEC. 2594. (1537.) Upon complaint being made to the district court of the proper county, verified by affidavit, that the father or mother of a minor child is, from habitual intemperance and vicious and brutal conduct, or from vicious, brutal and criminal conduct towards said minor child, an unsuitable person to retain the guardianship and control the education of such child, the court may if it find the allegations in the complaint manifestly true, appoint a proper guardian for the child, and may if expedient also direct that such child be bound as an apprentice to some suitable person until he attains his majority. But nothing herein shall be so construed as to take such minor child if the mother be a proper guardian.

SEC. 2595. (1538.) The same proceedings may take place and a like order be made where the mother, who has for any cause become the guardian of her minor child, is in like manner found to be manifestly an improper person to retain such guardianship.

SEC. 2596. (1539.) The complainant in such cases must be sworn to his complaint and file it in the office of the judge, and a copy thereof, with a notice thereon indorsed stating the time when the matter will be brought before the district court for adjudication, must be served personally on the parent from whom the guardianship is sought to be taken at least ten days before the time so fixed for the adjudication.

SEC. 2597. (1540.) Issues joined shall be tried in the same manner as in ordinary civil actions.

SEC. 2598. (1541.) Preference shall be given to such cases over the ordinary business of the court, but trials actually commenced need not be suspended for that purpose.

SEC. 2599. (1542.) The master shall send the said minor child, after the same be six years old, to school at least four months in each year if there be a school within the district, and in all cases and at all times the master shall clothe the minor child in a comfortable and becoming manner.

ADOPTION OF CHILDREN.

An Act to authorize and regulate the Adoption of Children.
[Passed March 10, 1838, in force March 24, 1838; Laws of Seventh Session, Chapter 67, page 102.]

SECTION 2600. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, Any person may adopt a child.
manner hereinafter set forth, to adopt as his own, the minor child of another, conferring thereby upon such child all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities which would pertain to the child, if born to the person adopting in lawful wedlock.

SEC. 2601. (2.) In order thereto, the consent of both parents, if living and not divorced or separated, and if divorced or separated, or if unmarried, the consent of the parent lawfully having the care, and providing for the wants of the child, or if either parent is dead, then the consent of the survivor; or if both parents be dead, or the child shall have been and remain abandoned by them, then the consent of the mayor of the city in which the child is living, or if not in a city, then of the county judge of the county where the child is living, shall be given to such adoption, by an instrument in writing, signed by the parties or party consenting, and stating the names of the parent, if known the name of the child, if known, the name of the person adopting such child, and the residence of all if known, and declaring the name by which such child is hereafter to be called and known, and stating also that such child is given to the person adopting, for the purpose of adoption as his own child.

SEC. 2602. (3.) Such instrument in writing shall be also signed by the person adopting, and shall be acknowledged by all the parties thereto in the same manner as deeds affecting real estate are required to be acknowledged: provided, that when both parents of the child execute the same, the mother shall be examined apart from her husband, by the officer taking the same, and he shall certify whether or not she executed the same freely and without compulsion or undue influence of her husband, and if not the instrument shall not be valid; and when duly acknowledged, the same shall be recorded in the county where the person adopting resides in the office, and with the record of deeds of real estate, and shall be indexed with the name of the parent by adoption as grantor, and the child as grantee in its original name if stated in the instrument.

SEC. 2604. (5.) In case of maltreatment committed or allowed by the adopted parent, or palpable neglect of duty on his part, toward such child, the custody thereof may be taken from him and entrusted to another at his expense if so ordered by the court, and the same proceedings may be had therefor so far as applicable as are authorized by law in such a case in the relation of master and apprentice, or the court may, on showing of the facts, require from the adopted parent, bond with security, in a sum to be fixed by him, the county being the obligee, and for the benefit of the child, conditioned for the proper treatment and performance of duty toward the child, on the part of the parent: provided, that no action of the court or judge in the premises shall affect or diminish the acquired right of inheritance on the part of the child, to the extent of such right in a natural child of lawful birth.
PART THIRD:

OF THE COURTS, AND THE PROCEDURE THEREIN.

CODE OF CIVIL PRACTICE AT LAW AND IN EQUITY.

TITLE.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, as follows:

This Act shall be known as the Code of Civil Practice.

CHAPTER 108.

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

SECTION 2605. Remedies in civil cases in the courts of this state, are divided into two classes—1st, Actions; 2d, Special Proceedings.

SEC. 2606. A civil action is a common proceeding in a court of justice, by one party against another, for the enforcement or protection of a private right, or the redress or prevention of a private wrong. It may also be brought, in certain cases, for the recovery of a penalty or a forfeiture.

* This Code of civil practice stands in the place of the "PART THIRD" of the Code of 1851, but it is not divided into titles as that was.

† With this Code of civil practice, the commissioners also presented a report in regard to which they say:

"Some notes showing the spirit in which the act is wrought out,—the object sought to be attained—the codes consulted and laid under contribution—the history and illustration of some sections thereof, and the opinions of distinguished legal men on other leading sections, as well as our reasons in recommendation thereof, will be found placed after the act."

That report or rationale, which extends over about 175 pages, will be found to contain much which may be of value in getting a correct conception of the Code of civil practice. It is not supposed that such report will be imperative on the construction of the act, but such reports have always been consulted as suggestive.

† This chapter is taken from Kentucky, which state agrees with us in maintaining a limited dissimilarity between proceedings, asking legal and those asking equitable relief. The reformed practice of New York, which is used now in several states, ignores the distinction of ordinary and equitable, and demands all sorts of rights by one mode, which is a simple statement of the facts entitled thereto. The departure of this Code from that system is based upon a supposed requirement of the constitution not conceded by the Code commissioners, but deferred to because so fixed in the legal mind of Iowa. See Report on Civil Code, and also note, page 450.
Special proceedings.

SEC. 2607. Every other remedy in a civil case is a special proceeding.

The proceeding supplementary to an execution is a special proceeding, per Willard, J., in Davis v. Turner, 4 P. R., 190, 192; and the proceeding to assess damages upon laying out a blank road, under chapter 210, of the laws of 1847, is most undoubtedly what under the Code is denominated a special proceeding, per Mason, J., ex parte Ransom, 3 Code Rep., 148. Cited and approved, 1 Kerman, 277.

The proceeding upon a bond taken to suspend the sale of personal property under an execution, can not be considered an action but more properly comes within that class of remedies denominated special or summary proceedings, and no written pleadings are allowable. Watson v. Gabbey, 18 B. M., 662.

Forms abolished.

SEC. 2608. The forms of all actions and suits heretofore existing are abolished; and hereafter, there shall be but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights, and the redress or prevention of private wrongs, which shall be called a civil action.*

* As the report of the commissioners on civil practice is difficult of obtainment, I here insert a part of it on the subject of this section—the abolition of forms and actions.

In the earliest practice of law, common sense presided, and the plaintiff stated the facts which he considered entitled him to the remedy which he demanded. These facts were sworn to, and of course could with no propriety include legal conclusions.

The chancellor, to whom was presented this statement, who in such affairs, represented the king, issued a writ to the defendant, ordering him to do the thing demanded, or if he did not, to state in some court his reason for refusal.

There was then no division of tribunals into legal and equitable, and the only question was this—has the plaintiff rights which should be adjudged to him?

The chancellor had not long issued such writs before he and his clerks began to give names to them—as debt, covenant, detinue, replevin, &c., up to the number of sixty or more names. And soon they came to confound names with things, and then when a demand of justice arose, the facts of which had not been before presented, and so could not be classed under any of the names which had been given to writs, they said there is no remedy by any writ. That meant, we can not confer the right on any court of law to try this case, by issuing to such court a power to try the same, because we find no precedent for it—we have not done so before. For it was also true, that this writ was an authority to the court to which sent, to try the cause recited in it, if the defendant did not do the duty required. Now, it was very evident that the state was established to do justice, and if the chancellor could not furnish an order to the defendant to do justice, or to a court to make him do it, the remedy must be demanded of the king himself. So parties who stated a new class of facts, and so could not obtain the original writ, went to the king himself, and demanded justice. This was nothing new to the king because he had been accustomed a little before this time to have justice done without the intervention of any writs, by trying causes in his own hall. But as the chancellor had been substituted for him in issuing the writ, the king in all such cases now came to send the parties to the chancellor, with the understanding that the chancellor should, instead of submitting it to any other court by a writ, try it himself; and this was the origin of chancery, for this last tribunal was so called. To overcome this difficulty, and provide for justice in the regular courts, a statute was passed, which was intended to allow the chancellor, in all new cases, to make a writ, resembling as near as might be, the writs before issued in similar cases; but he was so wedded to the letter that he failed to see its purpose; besides he was, probably, desirous of preserving his new jurisdiction as a trier of causes, and so he only made another writ or two, which, whilst these very much enlarged the jurisdiction of common law courts yet left it possible for many cases to arise which could not be included within any writ, and so could get into no common law court. The result was as had before been, that new cases arose which had to go before the chancellor, and thus increase the business and consequence of this tribunal; the new tribunal called chancery.

Now it so happened that this chancellor was the keeper of the king's conscience, and therefore a priest; and because a priest, he was chiefly, and indeed largely conversant with the Roman law; and by that law, which at that time was the most excellent in equity, and good conscience, and morality, and logic, a different mode of procedure was established from that which existed in England by the common law, and so he, the chancellor, in the causes tried before him, introduced the forms of the Roman law. This law was much less fettered with technicality than the common
The code does not change the law which determines what facts shall constitute a cause of action, though, by reducing all forms of action to one, it changes the question, whether the facts show a cause of action in trespass, trover, assumpsit, or any other particular form, into the question whether the petition shows a right of action in any form—by showing a right in the plaintiff, and an injury to that right by the defendant, which is to be determined by the general rules of law, respecting rights and wrongs, as established by long usage in particular actions. Hill, for Wintersmith v. Barrett, etc. 14 B. M., 85.

Now, these courts had fees and honors attached to them; the officers whereof began to struggle, each with the other, for a more extended and more lucrative jurisdiction, so that between 13 Richard II, and Henry VI, during eighty years, there raged between them a hot contest for power.

The people also took a part in this struggle on the side of law, and for a time it seems to have been feared that chancery would swallow up the dearest rights of our race. Year after year the commons petitioned parliament to prevent the issuance of the subpoena of chancery, protesting that they had a right to the trial by jury and by battle, and denouncing the introduction of a foreign law of procedure. Officers serving the subpoena were in cases treated with great indignities, being compelled, sometimes, to eat it. The law courts countenanced disobedience to equitable process by granting the habeas corpus to relieve those restrained for disobedience thereto. In process of time, much that had been clear law jurisdiction, was usurped by the chancellor, and became also equitable jurisdiction, and soon much that had become of chancery jurisdiction, ceased to be of law jurisdiction; and while there was a large ground common to both, each slowly began to demark its jurisdiction, and in the reigns of Elizabeth and James, the separation of equity from law was complete.

The court of chancery had not then the jurisdiction it has now, but one less settled, and much more extended, being tempered largely by conscience and honesty rather than by precedent—a jurisdiction which has now become as fixed as that of law, and is as much observant of precedent.

Now the chief differences of procedure in these two tribunals were, that in law, pleadings were narrowed down till it was supposed that only one fact was in dispute. The reasons given for this demand was, that juries were of ignorant men, and could not well understand any but the plainest affirmative and negative, and that as they might be prejudiced for rendering a wrong verdict, it was unjust to subject them to that risk, by accumulating points of dispute. In equity the pleadings were at first of the same form, but soon the number of pleadings were abridged, so that many issues might be found in the same case, and an answer followed by a merely formal reply denying it, completed the mutual altercation.

At first, in both courts, proof was taken the same way and oral—but deposition testimony came to be taken and used, though not exclusively, in chancery, many years before it was allowed to be used at law, so that men went into chancery to obtain written testimony, which they could not get at law. Again the party could not make his adversary testify at law, and could in chancery, and so instead of the simple mode of putting his adversary on the witness stand, the party needed to go into chancery, and file a bill against him asking answers to questions therein propounded, and if the party wanting the testimony was a defendant in some other suit, perhaps asking also, that such suit be stopped till he get such answer—having got which, he could come back to the law court and announce himself ready for trial. The modes of trial were also dissimilar. At law, what was called an issue of fact, though it was very seldom purely fact, and very seldom simply one fact, was tried by various modes, from the duel to the jury. But the jury of early times was not the institution now so called. It was of various numbers as 6, 8, 12, 13, 16, 24, &c. It did not require unanimity. It might decide on belief. It decided on its own knowledge. Indeed it possessed, for years, the function of the judge and the witness; and we know comparatively little about its real powers.

In chancery the chancellor might try the cause himself—he had no jury as part of his court—it was urged against his having one, that if he had, he might usurp all jurisdiction, by inventing new writs and making them returnable to himself, and it was also said that the chancellor could not try any facts, which he disproved by his constant practice. Perhaps this saying grew out of the circumstance that then, as now, equitable cases were chiefly cases wherein there were few facts in dispute, and the fact that some issues must be tried by juries. But he did, when he pleased, ordinary—equitable.

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

SEC. 2609. In such action the party complaining is known as the plaintiff, and the adverse party as the defendant.

SEC. 2610. The proceedings in a civil action may be of two kinds; 1, ordinary—2 equitable.

SEC. 2611. The plaintiff may prosecute his action by equitable proceedings, in all cases where courts of equity, before the adoption of this send facts disputed out to the law courts to be tried, and when the finding was sent back to him, he might, save in some cases, ignore it, and send it back to another jury, or find another way, just as pleased himself.

The principle of decision in a common law court, was largely based on the idea of compensation by damages. This would grow out of the fact, that early, the remedies were simple; and yet an action at law was not so much confined to damages, as some cursory readers have supposed, for in early times there were a class of writs whose office was to prevent injustice being done, and we will quote a little in this regard from a learned English writer. Finlason, pp. 10, 11, 12, 13, says:

In the 'Mirror of Justice' the chancery is spoken of as the seat and source of the common law jurisdiction; and in Bretton, equity is spoken of as an attribute of legal justice. Nor can there be any ground to think that in ancient times there was any such separation between the two jurisdictions, in so far as legal rights were concerned, as that a court of law could not grant all the remedy and relief for an injury thereto as the court of chancery. The most ancient forms of our writs are all, except in the case of debt, directed to enforce the doing or not doing of acts of equity, and to control the execution of them. Thus they commanded the defendant that he 'render an account,' or that he 'keep his covenant,' with the plaintiff, or that he render to the plaintiff his goods, or the money due to him from the bond pleaded at law: in the next reign, we find several cases in which the writ was to the sheriff, commanding him to do right, as to replevy the plaintiff his cattle, or to cause justice to be done to him. And it was only in cases in which from the very nature of the grievance it could only admit of pecuniary compensation, as debt or deceit, that damages in money formed the sole claim.

In process of time, however, it is very easy to see how, the courts of law ceased to exercise the power of compelling to do, or forbear doing, any acts in respect to real or personal property, except so far as to enforce delivery of goods or premises, and payment of money or pecuniary compensation, although in the real actions, in actions of detinue, replevin and ejectment—to this day remaining—and in some old writs whose office was to prevent injustice being done, and we will quote a little in this regard from a learned English writer. Finlason, pp. 10, 11, 12, 13, says:

The struggle which ensued in the succeeding reigns between the courts of law and equity, was not whether courts of law could do equity, but whether courts of equity could overrule law. In the reign of Henry VI, we find a decree in chancery for canceling a bond pleaded at law: in the next reign, we find several cases in which the question was whether, as the party had no remedy at law, he could have any in chancery. In the reign of Henry VIII, Sir T. Moore's vast abilities were devoted to the establishment in chancery of an equitable jurisdiction, the need of which was apparent to control law, since law had ceased to embrace the elements of equity, as it had done in the reign of Henry III. And in the reigns of Elizabeth and James, the victory was finally determined in favor of the court of chancery; and law having lost equity, equity triumphed over law. At that time, of course the separation of equity from law was complete; and the court of chancery and equity combined to create the chancery and equity. This was the end of the perversion of pleading and common law procedure. The same spirit which produced one evil, produced the other.

As originally the only demand for chancery was based on the fact that the law had made no provision for the case, so in proportion as the law did make such provision, it in reason ceased to be a chancery and became a law remedy, but yet such case in practice was not always then abandoned as chancery.
code, had jurisdiction; and must so proceed in all cases where such jurisdiction was exclusive.

SEC. 2612. In all other cases, except in this code otherwise provided, the plaintiff must prosecute his action by ordinary proceedings.

SEC. 2613. An error of the plaintiff as to the kind of proceedings adopted shall not cause the abatement or dismissal of the action, but

We repeat, there never was any necessity for chancery in the reason of things, but only in imperfect legal forms. If the first party who, applying to the chancellor for a writ to the law courts, was refused, had not been refused, and thus compelled to go to the king, there never would have been any chancery. And if all cases had been retained by the chancellor to try himself, instead of being sent to a court, there would have been no law. But there would then have been the simple administration of justice without baptising it as law or as equity.

Now it resulted from this division of justice into two distinct departments, that there was a court of law, and a court of equity—but no court of justice. A man may have had never so clear rights to relief, but if he asked the wrong court he was turned out with costs. And, perhaps, the court itself might not be very clear. And although by the hypothesis, of the essential difference of jurisdiction which supposed a chancellor unable to determine law, yet he had often to determine law, to see whether the complainant had a cause which was good at law, before he would concede a remedy as of discovery, and in other causes, had to decide that a remedy did exist at law as a reason for a refusal of one in equity.

Then again it occurred that remedies were slow to be introduced at law, because they could be obtained at chancery. Would any one believe that for hundreds of years it would have remained the law, that if a party litigant wanted the testimony of his adversary, he could not swear him, but must write a bill in a distinct and expensive court, and bring him thereto, and get an answer which he might be very obstinate and tedious in giving, and then might answer evasively, while there was really no practical way of extracting promptly the truth, and that all the while the case in which the testimony was to be used, must stand still. Would any one believe this of our practical race, if not undeniable history? And, indeed, would this have been true, if a class of men whose interest it was to keep it so, had not presided over such stupidity, and vindicated it by an embellishment in some learned nonsense. And so it further happened, that one court was often incompetent to administer even that part of justice with which it was commissioned, so that often to get one court to act, a party had to go to another for help, and having got the required help, bring it back to be used in the former. So, too, it was often true, that if a defendant urged one class of reasons in a law court, they could not be regarded by that court, and he would have to be defeated there, and then go into the other court to have that decision arrested by an execution, and to have the injustice done by defeat, vacated by another trial. So that no man was sure of justice in one court. He could have law in one and equity in another, and, perhaps, fall between, and get justice in neither.

Now, while chancery was erected to cure the insufficiency of law, instead of the more practical mode of making statutes to do so, the same folly was apparent in the criminal department. When that was insufficient, a similar appeal was made to the star chamber, and thus established the star chamber—a chancery court of criminal law.

This, however, as it touched men in a more tender point—punishment—was abolished by statute 16, Car. 1, while the chancery, just as much an excrescence of a barbarous age, continued till it has been but lately abolished by many of the states, and in great part by England.

Now, while it proved true that the formula of equity procedure were variant from law formula, so much so that different men were needed or supposed to be needed for judges and practitioners of it; it is also true that this evil of many-formed practice, was not thus confined. Not only were the great remedies of law and equity to be demanded by dissimilar forms, but the same was true in one action at law as differentiated from another. These writs gave names to actions, and a peculiar writ belonged to each, so that if a plaintiff sued out the wrong writ he was defeated with costs. His facts might entitle him to a remedy which a court of law could give, and yet he could not prove them, unless they were of that class of facts which had heretofore been attached to the name of his writ or action; and then some of these distinctions were so acutely drawn by the scholastic subtlety of that age, that the lawyers and judges disagreed as to the proper form of the remedy. This was not the only evil which grew up. In the early and logical age of pleading, the plaintiff stated his facts, and then the defendant denied, particularly, one of these, or admitting it, stated merely a change into the proper proceedings, by an amendment in the pleadings, and a transfer of the action to the proper docket.

Where the court has no jurisdiction of the subject-matter of the plaintiff's petition, his suit may be dismissed; but if the court has jurisdiction, either by ordinary or equitable proceeding, an error in the form of bringing the suit does not authorize a dismissal of the action, but merely a transfer of it to the proper docket. Landesdale v. Mitchell, 14 B. M., 349.

ted some other fact, which altering the case, avoided the effect of such admitted fact: that is, if the disagreement was on facts and not on law; and this was done that each party and the court might know before hand what was the true point in dispute. But very soon it came to pass that the defendant might make a general denial of all, instead of a special one of some of the material allegations of the petition, and then the plaintiff did not know what ground of defense on trial—for he might then prove any fact disproving any fact which the plaintiff needed to prove to make his case. This would not have been so bad, but soon this privilege of ambuscade was so far extended to the defendant that under this general denial, which got the name of general issue, the defendant might prove, not only any negative fact, but many affirmative ones. And under some of these technical denial, a defendant might prove almost anything which showed that at the time of suit he was not liable. The result now was that such pleading had abandoned its office, and no longer served to apprise any body of what was in controversy. But this abandonment of fact pleading was not confined to the defendant. The plaintiff also came to invent a mode of ambuscade; and abandoning facts, acquired a right of stating a number of legal conclusions, under the name of common counts, which were as ample in uncertainty, and as devoid of fact statement, as was the general issue itself. This, too, occurred in the most frequent actions. And so it became true that in most suits, the plaintiff had a right so to state his cause, as that any one of many causes of action, could be proved under it, to which the defendant might reply in legal conclusion mode of general issue, and thus no one could tell, from the pleadings, what the plaintiff wanted, nor what the defendant had to say against it.

One would think, that this was ambuscade enough, but it remains to be told that the plaintiff might unite many of these ambuscade counts in one suit for one thing, and that the defendant might also state one special defense in many ways; and, after, A. D. 1700, many defenses, each in many ways, and all this with no regard to their truth. Add, also, that many downright falsehoods, such as that of "force and arms," and "finding and losing," &c, were necessary to be stated at the expense of being defeated by the omission of those lies, and you have an idea of the perversion which had fallen upon the beautiful system of good sense, which pleading, at first, really was.

Pleading had now under these principles made a departure from its original purpose, so great as to lead men to look in its face and ask by what reason or what sound logic it came recommended.

In England, and in this country, numerous surface changes were made, many years ago, but the judges seemed so averse to all change, that almost every reform was defeated by judicial legislation. Indeed, it may as well here be said, that this absurdity had been introduced by the judges. The good sense of the legislature would never have enacted it, and so the less the wonder that the judges opposed its removal. In 1828, Lord Brougham made the first strong and elaborate attack upon this bastile of absurdities. From that speech, I will quote the following. He says: "The precedents of the ancient pleaders, and the other rules recognized in their times, furnish the most valuable materials for this reform; and, indeed, it is chiefly from the science as they left it, that the principles I am about to state are drawn. The first great rule of pleading should be, to induce and compel the litigant parties to disclose fully and distinctly the real nature of their respective contentions, whether claim or defense, as early as possible. The second is, that no needless impediment should be thrown in the way of either party, in any stage of discussion within the court, whether plea, replication, or rejoinder, whereby he may be hindered to prove his case in point of fact, or of law. In the third place, all needless repetitions, and generally all prolixity should, as well as mere reasoning, which neither proves or denies any proposition of fact or of law, be prevented; and all repugnant or inconsistent pleas should be disallowed, as well as all departure from the substance as it stands, and from the general issue of the petition, his suit may be dismissed; but if the court has jurisdiction, either by ordinary or equitable proceeding, an error in the form of bringing the suit does not authorize a dismissal of the action, but merely a transfer of it to the proper docket. Landesdale v. Mitchell, 14 B. M., 349.
In a proceeding by ordinary petition, where the proceeding at law is the appropriate remedy, it is not proper to transfer the case to the equity docket, unless the equitable matter presented as a defense be valid, and one which the party has a right to insist upon. Jones v. Letcher, 13 B. M., 555.

Where an answer is filed to an ordinary petition, and which answer contains an equitable defense, no judgment for the plaintiff can be rendered.
until some disposition has been made of the answer; and the issues that may arise upon it, which are exclusively equitable in their character, are to be tried in the manner such issues were tried before the adoption of the code. They should be transferred to the equity docket. Boosy v. Maitingly, 14 B. M., 91.

If a party, in his petition in equity, fails to show that he is entitled to the restored pleading to its ancient simplicity, and swept away in one forgotten mass, all the irrational technicalities which had for so many years disgraced the bench and bar.

Of these acts we can only have space to say, that through them a man may be sued, whether in or out of the kingdom, by service of process. That the mode of service is natural, simple and prompt. That the facts are to be stated—that all technical forms and fictions are abolished, and the sufficiency of a pleading is determined by the sufficiency of its statement of facts—that there is established the power of adding or striking out parties, so that non or mis-joinder of parties may not be fatal—the right of joinder of any sort of causes of action, except in replevin and ejectment—the allowance of stated causes—the sufficiency of a mere statement of facts in slander, and libel, without statement of colloquium or innuendo—general averment of performance in actions on contracts with conditions precedent—a need of statement of specific ground of demurrer—to use of formal commencement or conclusion in pleadings—special pleas—special pleas of facts—abolition of distinction between debt and damages—facile production of documents in law courts—simple action to try title to land—such a power of amendment, in the language of the act, "as may be necessary for the purpose of determining in the existing suit the real question in controversy between the parties." Power of common law courts to issue injunctions in law cases—to issue a mandamus to compel the performance of a duty—the allowance of equitable defenses to be put in in law courts to law cases, and the ability of the law court to try the same—the allowance of an oral examination of witnesses in chancery, and an abolition of all technicalities in chancery pleadings, and power to add new facts by simple amendment, and a cheap mode of appeal.

This is a statement of only a few of the provisions of these two acts, and these with the act allowing parties to become witnesses in their own cases mark, to-day, the advance of English reform.

In this country, the state of New York, in 1847, appointed a commission of law reform, the result of which was a series of reports which in civil law, became the law of that state, and in criminal and civil law became, in substance, the law of nearly every state, including Iowa, which has made any change for the last ten years, and has been, to the smaller detail, since adopted in some fifteen states and territories of the Union. The central ideas of the New York act, are a simple mode of notice—an abolition of all technical forms of action and pleading—one plain mode of asking for relief by a simple and concise statement of the facts entitling thereto, and without any regard to whether the facts are such as demand a legal, or such as demand an equitable remedy—and a power to confer just such remedy as the facts may justify, whether such remedy is that formerly called legal or equitable—a liberal joinder of parties, and ample power to avoid by amendment any mistake in the number of them—a union under a new classification in one petition, of many causes of action, and in an answer of any number of defenses, or of other causes of action which are related to the plaintiff's cause—a mode of securing a true statement of facts by swearing to the pleadings, not for the purpose of making them evidence, but only to secure an issue of truth unincumbered by falsehoods, and thus to save time and costs—a short mode of pleading, stopping with the answer, and letting the law supply the replication, so as to save time, and the possibility of legal irregularity—a mode of taking all testimony, orally, when it can be so obtained—the fact that the demurrer shall state its reasons—the introduction of the motion to correct all defects of form, and to secure exact statements, which motion must itself indicate the fault sought to be corrected—letting the court try cases as a jury—allowing an examination of the defendant after judgment to discover his means—the power of amendment so that justice may be at once done, if possible. These are some of the reforms recommended by the commission of New York, which have left little to do, and have been since largely appropriated by all legal reformers.

This system was introduced even down to its detail, into Ohio, in 1853—into Missouri in 1850—into California in 1851—into Minnesota in 1851—into Wisconsin in 1857—into Oregon, in law, in 1854—into Indiana, with a slight departure in detail, in 1852—into Kentucky, with a departure precluding equity cases from being united with law cases, in 1851. It was recommended in a Code prepared by commissioners for the District of Columbia in 1857. It was introduced into Iowa, in spirit, into the first edition, and the sufficiency of a mere statement of facts in slander.

specific relief asked for, and shows a right to any relief, even in a court of law, a demurrer to the petition should not be sustained to the whole claim, but the case transferred to the common docket. Foster v. Watson, etc., 16 B. M., 387.

Though a suit may be, in form, a suit at law, yet if the parties try it as a case in equity, and it be decided as an equity case, and it be a proper case for equity decision, and there be no objection, the court of appeals will so consider and decide it. Bates v. Calver, 17 B. M., 167.

reforms based, more or less, upon these reports—while Maryland in 1856, introduced an act, which is mainly a literal copy of the provisions of the English act of 1852.

We have said this system was introduced into Iowa in 1851. It forms the main features of the “Part Third” of our Code of that year. There were some misfortunes attendant upon its introduction here. 1st. There was no attendant report to tell us of its origin—to point out its aims, or to guide to sources of illustration. It hence followed that many, of both the bar and bench, not acquainted with the latest legal thought, deemed the Code a startling innovation, and without example as a departure from precedent. 2d. That while borrowed almost entirely from New York, except some parts which we think clearly improvements, even on the New York system, yet the terms of the parent act were so far departed from as to make it difficult even to the most well versed in both acts, and almost impossible for others to apply the judicial illustration which the New York act has secured, to the illumination of our own. Besides, this act had not then attained its present extended popularity, nor won its way to the general acceptance of so many states and territories.

Then, in the older cities of the state, among the old men, the oldest and best lawyers, who were worked gray in the profession, there was a strong cleaving to the friendly old forms in the use of which they did, or were supposed to excel. It was hard for such men to forego a superiority, well and laboriously earned, and to be compelled to begin again by the side of the youth just immersing into the legal arena, with whose sweat, and blood, and scars, these veterans were so gallantly man­tled. For these men had not learned then, what they have since—that the new system was the old system shorn only of its nonsense, and that no lesson learned in the logic or philosophy of the old, but applied as well to the new.

Then, too, were the mechanical men, who never went below the surface to find the real in the illustrative and breathed in lifeless forms. There was also the fearfully conservative man, who thought that his long buried ancestors knew much better, not knowing his surroundings, what was best for him amid such surroundings, than he possibly could—and among them all, and rather for the reasons we have given, it turned out that the Code was not welcomed as warmly as it had the right to be.

Thus it was that ill-digested, hasty, unelaborated, obiter dicta, made with a poverty of inquiry deeply to be deplored amid the majesty of such an occasion, were announced, bearing upon its applicability to chancery, and as to what was in the total absence of all clear thinking, called its blending of law and equity. In Clausen v. Loefranze, 4 Green, 224, it was said that chancery was not included in the reform of the Code, and that we must go to England and English books and others, to learn what our law of pleading on that subject was.

And it can not be denied that while we have had no decision, expressly deciding that the Code does not apply to chancery, we have had none deciding that it does as well and as amply apply to pleading in chancery as in law, and while we know, as a fact, that it was so intended by the very distinguished lawyer, Judge Mason, who framed the pleading part of it, yet it seemed to be successfully insisted by its opponents that it only in some very undefined measure, so applies, and in many decisions a want of such applicability, in the same undefined way, seems assumed. The question was never made and discussed with an elaboration befitting its dignity and its value to the state, whether the Code did constitute the sole criterion of equity as well as law practice, or rather, of all practice. Its negative seems to have been rather assumed by an easier process. Nor was the question ever clearly decided whether or not the Constitution required pleadings stating facts, when the demand was for equitable relief, to be framed in a mode, and judged by a criterion different from what obtained as to pleadings which stated facts entitling to a legal remedy. Nor whether a statement of facts entitling to a legal remedy could be stated in the same petition with one entitling to an equitable remedy. But these seem to have been denied rather by implication, than by open avowal. Some vague reference has been constantly made to the Constitution, and because it uses the words “equity” and “law,” it has been assumed that in demanding equitable rights, you must use a mode, which has hitherto been used in demanding them, and could not change the same—an argument, which, if applied to law, would also prevent any change in the mode of An error as to the kind of proceedings should not cause the abatement or dismissal of the action, but it should be changed into the proper proceeding, by amendment, and transferred to the proper docket. A demurrer is not applicable to the question, whether the proceeding should have been at law or in equity. Trustees of Lebanon v. Forrest, 15 B. M., 172.

The defendant in an action to recover the possession of land, may rely upon an equitable defense, such as a claim to hold the land under executory contract; in such case, the party may have the cause transferred to the equity docket; if that be not done, the issue made upon such defense is not to be disregarded, but must be disposed of according to the principles which may be involved, either equitable or legal. Petty v. Maber, 15 B. M., 604.

asking for a legal remedy, and perpetuate the formal actions of debt, covenant, divinie, trespass, &c., as much as the formal character of a pleading wherein an equitable relief was demanded.

The fallacy lies in the fact, that these words have a substantive and an adjective meaning: they are used in the constitution to secure substantive rights. Inasmuch as all rights were included as legal or equitable, and both were needed to make the sum of justice, it was deemed best to use both lest it might be thought that while a man's right to sue for damages was secured to him by the constitution, his right to ask for a specific performance of a contract was not. But the adjective right, the mode of asking was not emblazoned in the constitution, because it was, and is, a thing of no consequence—this would change with the wants and intelligence of the race.

What was the use of the right of making a man swear to his answer, if you could make him swear in the case? What was the use of the bill of discovery, if you could put the man on the stand, and obtain the discovery by a shorter and more sensible, and more efficient mode? The advocates of the Code never dreamed that it confounded law and equity, because it provided a common mode of asking for relief in any more than that it confounded the substantive things, covenant and debt, because it provided a common mode of asking for relief in each of them; namely, the simple statement of the facts entitling to remedy. In equity, as at law, there was much not substantive, not essential to the obtaining and enjoyment of substantive equitable rights. The forms at law and at equity, too, were cumbrous, and often absurd; each needed change—and the aim was to preserve the substantive rights, and abolish the unnecessary and stupid formula of demanding them. And as the right to have a judgment for $100 on statement and proof of the facts entitling you thereto, which facts are legal, as heretofore classed, and which right is in no manner impaired, by the abrogation of the forms of debt or assumpsit, or covenant; so the right to have a judgment that a contractor shall perform to you an agreement, on the simple statement of the facts entitling you to that remedy; which facts are equitable, as heretofore classed; will just as surely follow, although the form of the petition and answer, and replication and proof and trial is no longer as it was, but is as in law. Rights substantive are emblazoned in the constitution—rights adjective, or modes of asking for relief, are accidental—have been always flexible—never have been, in many particulars, well defined, are as obnoxious to the censure of useless pedantry and red tape circumlocution, as the forms at law.

In its acceptance, as to procedure, asking law remedies, our Code was more fortunate; and yet the writer hereof, who has been compelled to make some considerable acquaintance with the same system as accepted in other states, with much diligence would suggest, that even at law, it has not secured that prompt justice, which it was meant to do; too many technical constructions have been applied to it, and it has been interpreted too much in the light of the very forms and precedents which it was designed to abate and ignore. We know that human language can not be put into a Code which will not need construction; the only hope of the reformer is to avoid this, as much as may be possible, and that such construction may be made by a mind imbued with the genius of the act, so that each extension of it to a new case may be in harmony with its main purpose. But we are led to think, that our new Code has not been thus construed, for the reason that although ample learning from the old cases adorns each decision of a point of practice, yet the multitude of decisions on the parent code in New York, or the sister codes in the states where used, which may be supposed more capable of furnishing sound illustration, seem to have been entirely overlooked. Since our Code came into force, a similar code has been in force in Kentucky, and in that state there have been five volumes of reports. The same has been true of Missouri, and in that state there have been twelve volumes of reports—in Ohio, in which there have been eight—in Indiana, in which there have been eight—in California, in which there have been eleven. All these reports are replete with learning on this system.

In New York, we find eighteen volumes of Howard and eight of Abbott's, con-
SEC. 2614. The error mentioned in the last section may be corrected by the plaintiff, without motion, at any time before the defendant has answered; or, afterwards, on motion, in court.

SEC. 2615. The defendant shall be entitled to have the correction made, in the following cases:—Where the action has been commenced by equitable proceedings, the defendant, by motion made, at the time of filing his answer, may have them changed into ordinary proceedings when it appears that by the provisions of section 2612, the plaintiff should have adopted ordinary proceedings, and in addition that his answer presents a defense on which he is entitled to trial by jury.

A prayer in an answer to transfer the action to the one or the other side of the court, is not equivalent to a motion to transfer. Duvall, J., Lander v. Nunn, Miss. opinion, September, 1857. Cited from Ky. Code by Stanton.

SEC. 2616. Where the action has been commenced by ordinary proceedings, the defendant, by motion made, at, or before, the time of filing his answer, may have them changed into equitable proceedings following decisions which have been made on the Code, and then through eighteen volumes of the court of last resort, we find scattered many decisions on the Code. Now, although our Code of practice is in its central ideas, the same as the New York code, and these codes we have yet to find in all our nine printed volumes of decisions made since it came into force, the first intimation that the reasoning of any other of these states had been consulted, or that there was a code anywhere else, the decisions on which could be of the remotest use to the bar or the bench in determining the meaning of ours.

We say this not in any spirit of finding fault with our supreme tribunal, the very eminent ability of whose distinguished judges we would regard ourselves as very assuming, should we even endeavor to commend. In this, the state herself is not without blame, for she does not own the books on this subject, which should be at the disposal of her court.

But we mention these things as our solution of the difficulties attendant upon an early, and favorable, and correct recognition of a code, which, although assuming to be its reformers, we hold to be a work of marked excellence, and only unsuccessful because it did not tell us its origin, and because in its scientific conciseness, it did not address itself more to detail, and in its compact generalization, it did not more closely follow the terms of the act, from which its spirit was borrowed.

These things being thus, the Code being in many applications doubtful, and in some having clearly failed to secure its purpose, the general assembly imposed upon us the duty, among other things, of making a Code of civil practice.

In the preparation of this act, all the reports made by former commissioners, engaged in the same duty, have been consulted. The codes of all the states we have before mentioned, have been before us, as well as all the reported decisions on the same—the English practice acts of 1852, and 1854, and the last expressions of English reform in chancery—the codes of Louisiana and France, which, by the way, in the inception of this reform movement, contributed much to the system, as well as all the works on the new practice in the states and in England, and the latest English works on evidence. * * *

We preserve and appropriate most of the reforms of the code, and some of them we push further. We can not consent to return again to the dead mummifications of the past, and we know that neither the people, nor the bar, nor the bench would allow it.

We offer no invention of our own—all we recommend has been tried. Some sections have been wholly suggested by decisions of the states where the new system is in force, some phrases in the sections got from those states, have been slightly changed on the same suggestion, and some have been wrought out into further detail. It were a prouder office to create an act, but it is a safer one to imitate. We have copied the very words, where we found no good adverse reason, thinking, that thus we might better avail ourselves of the construction of sister states—this copying literally, where practicable, has been done in other states, and we will soon have a body of practice in the Union, which will make the new system as well understood as the old, while it will be free from its follies and technicalities. But let no man think this appropriation and adaptation to our use, has been without patient, protracted, and painful labor. To New York, and England, and Kentucky, we are most largely indebted for our act, but every state which has adopted the new system has contributed something—Report on Civil Code.
Trial of equitable issue.

Case where money is sought to be enjoined.

Error waived.

SEC. 2617. Where the action has been properly commenced by ordinary proceedings, either party shall have the right, by motion, to have any issue, which before the adoption of this code was exclusively cognizable in equity, tried in the manner hereinafter prescribed in cases of equitable proceedings; and if all the issues are such as, before the adoption of this code, were cognizable in equity, though none were exclusively so, the defendant shall be entitled to have them all tried as in cases of equitable proceedings.

Where the answer of a defendant to an ordinary petition sets up an equitable defense, the trial of the issue should be as in case of equitable proceedings, and if the equitable defense be adjudged insufficient, and there be a legal issue, that should be referred to a jury, unless a jury be waived in some of the modes pointed out by the code. Smith v. Moberly, 15 B. M., 78.

SEC. 2618. If the plaintiff’s claim is for money due by contract, and the defendant puts in a defense of exclusively equitable cognizance, upon the plaintiff filing an affidavit that he verily believes that he will succeed in the action, and that the collection of his claim after judgment will be endangered by the delay arising from such defense being put in, the court shall require the defendant to give security for the payment of any judgment the plaintiff may obtain in the action, and upon his failure to give such security, shall order the defendant to pay into court an amount sufficient to discharge the plaintiff’s claim and his probable costs; upon which order execution may be issued as upon a judgment, and the amount collected upon execution shall be brought into court and await the decision of the action, and be paid to the plaintiff or defendant, according to such decision. But no such security shall be required if the trial of the equitable defense takes place during the term at which it is put in, nor until all defenses to the action, other than those of equitable cognizance, are tried or disposed of in favor of the plaintiff.

SEC. 2619. An error as to the kind of proceedings adopted in the action, is waived by failure to move for its correction at the time and in the manner prescribed in this chapter; and all errors in the decisions of the court, on any of the motions named in this chapter, are waived, unless excepted to at the time; which may be done by the clerk noting at the end of such decision words of the following import: “To which decision the plaintiff (or defendant) excepts.”

The code requires that when the petition is in equity, when it should have been at law, and at law when it should have been in equity, it is to be reached by motion, and if not so moved, the error is waived. Trustees of Lebanon v. Forrest, etc., 15 B. M., 172.

SEC. 2620. The provisions of this code concerning the prosecution of a civil action, apply to both kinds of proceedings, whether ordinary or equitable, unless the contrary appears.*

* We purpose here more at length remarking on its central idea. Uniformity in the proceedings of law and equity, with a possible uniformity throughout, but a right of dissimilarity in the mode of proof, trial, and appeal.

We provide, see section 2999, that, as a main rule, in an equitable case, the proof be in writing, that the judge may try the same—and that all the testimony on appeal goes to the supreme court. Then as the exception, in consent, default, divorce, mortgage cases, and so forth, we provide that the proof may be as in law case—jury, or judge, may try, and find, and state finding of facts, that the court shall from such
SEC. 2621. Judgment obtained in an action by ordinary proceedings, shall not be annulled or modified by any order in an action by equitable proceedings, except for a defense which has arisen or been discovered since the judgment was rendered. But such judgment does not prevent the recovery of any claim, though such claim might have facts, find the law, which last finding is that on which is taken the appeal. The former is substantially the Kentucky mode, the latter is that of our Code of 1851, and its retention in this limited manner we urge.

Its allowance in consent cases will not be opposed. Default, if there is notice means consent—if no notice the plaintiff can have no advantage, for the defendant has a liberal time for new trial on showing good cause.

In divorce cases, a jury has been in our judicial history always allowable to either party, who demanded it.

In mortgage the facts are nearly allied in character to law, and commonly no defense is made. The experience of courts has put them on the law docket under our code in many districts.

Perhaps to say this is to say enough to remove objection to its retention thus far. We will add, however, that the last mode is believed by two of this commission to be the most rational mode—the only mode consistent with real scientific legal growth; to be fully approved by experience wherever fairly tested; to be very necessary to a chancery reform; to be now commended by more legal ability all over the Anglo-Saxon world, than any other, as a mode of chancery practice; to be in conflict with no provision of our constitution, old or new; to be the most important, by far, of all the principles recommended herein, and to be only the law as it has stood on the code, perhaps doubtfully expressed, for years. But the desire of unanimity in our report, and a conviction that something must be conceded to the opponents of this form of chancery practice, until experience shall dissipate their opposition, has induced us to cordially unite in the double methods proposed, hoping thus to gradually disclose the excellencies as to the short mode, and thus correct misconceptions and prepare the way for its becoming, in a future day, the sole mode, if duly approved.

We provision, if a statement of facts is made which the party thinks entitles him to a legal remedy, and placed on the legal docket, and found to entitle only to an equitable remedy, that then the defendant may have the case transferred to the equitable docket, and vice versa. Certainly none can object to this. While a distinct court had sole charge of all adjudication of facts entitling to equitable remedies, with a distinct judge, and differently named and trained legal advisers, and a totally different method of determining the issues, there were, whatever good objections might exist to those two systems of courts, and judges, and procedure, fewer objections against ejecting a case brought in the wrong court. But since we have gone the length of abolishing the duality of these courts, and of the judges, and since, long ago, by the best equity lawyers, the petition in equity was defined, as we define petition in all cases, there remains no reason for dismissing a case, which must come back before the same court—the same judge—the same lawyers, and in the same phraseology, indeed the very same petition, with only the change of additional costs and delay.

If a party, defendant, declines making the objection, he has the right to do so, and thus waive his privilege to have the case tried as a chancery case, that is to say, he may decline the right to have a judge pass on the issues, and may consent that a jury do so in the choice of either party—he may decline having the testimony taken in writing, so as to have the testimony taken up in full, to be tried again, by the supreme court. Both these privileges have, in the chancery practice of this state, been always waivable—so here is nothing new.

But lest the objection to this short mode even in its guarded use, may be so formidable as to render its acceptance doubtful, we will proceed to discuss the objections made against its use.

And lest some may also object that we provide for uniformity even in the pleadings at law and equity, we will include that question in the argument. And, although we do distinctly recognize in this act the distinction between law and equity, and do not allow an equitable cause to be united in the same petition with a legal one, nor an equitable defense to be united with a legal one, nor used as a defense to a legal cause, save under the condition of being transferred to an equity docket, if the other party so desire; yet we will put this argument a little further than need be, and attempt to show that not only should the uniformity we recommend in pleadings be allowed, and the further uniformity in proof, and trial, and appeal, which is to a very limited class of cases; but also that in all cases there should be not only a perfect uniformity, in all these, but that so far as adjective law is concerned, that is so far as forms of procedure go, the division into legal and been used by way of set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, in the action on which the judgment was recovered.

A party cannot set off a judgment against his debtor, against one of an assignee of his debtor against him, though the debt upon which his judgment was founded would have been a good set-off if pleaded in time. Stiles, J., Picher v. Craig, Miss. opin., June, 1857.—Stanton’s Ky. code.

Equitable should be ignored, merged into a simple demand for established rights, and that any number of such demands should be allowed to be united in one petition or answer; without any regard to the kind of relief demanded, whether the same be a substantive legal or a substantive equitable right, so that in one cheap contestation the entire legal relations of two litigants could be adjusted.

Now all the objections made to one or the other of the positions assumed here must be classed under one of three leading heads.

1. That the appliances of procedure should be dissimilar in a claim for a legal, and a claim for an equitable substantive right, or,
2. That a claim for a legal substantive right should not be united in a petition with a claim for an equitable substantive right, or that an equitable substantive defense should not be allowed to be made in the same cause to a legal claim; or
3. That the same tribunal should not try both classes of claims, but that a judge should try law, and a chancellor equity.

Now whichever of these positions is maintained, must be so maintained, either;
1. On the ground that there is some essential difference between law and equity requiring it—or,
2. Some accepted decision requiring it—or,
3. Some constitutional provision requiring it.

We will consider in their order, each objection upon all the grounds thereof, and
1. We will ask whether the appliances of procedure should be dissimilar as above stated. If so this dissimilarity must be either
   1. In the notice.
   2. In the statement of the cause of action or defense.
   3. In the form of proof, as oral or written.
   4. In the mode of trial as by judge or jury.
   5. In the power of controlling the subject of contestation during the pendency of the action.
   6. In the kind of decision rendered.
   7. In the kind of execution, or the appliance for enforcing a decision.
   8. In the value of an appeal as to what shall be passed upon by the supreme court, as law only, or facts also.

Dissimilarities have existed in all these appliances, but we will show that such dissimilarities were only accidental, never founded in any but a temporary necessity, and that the circumstances which demanded and perpetuated them no longer exist.

1. A suit is a claim made on some tribunal to do something for you, and a statement of the facts which entitle you to have that thing done. Now it makes no matter whether the thing you want done is a decision against your adversary for $100, or that he convey you one hundred acres of land—the former request would be a right based on the law as distinguished from the equity, the latter on the equity as distinguished from the law, but both on law, in the sense of the municipal justice of the land. In both alike you would need to have the defendant advised that you had made such a claim against him. But what in the essential difference of law and equity is there, which requires that in one case you should call the notice the court gives him in the former case, summons or notice, and in the latter a subpoena?

Common sense would say, let the consequence be the same in both—namely, that whether the defendant come or not, the plaintiff have his decision on proper proof.

Compulsory attendance and answer of the defendant, might have been necessary, when he was ordered to do something personally, and when you have no means of making him testify only in an answer in equity, but is of no need so far as pleading goes, when you can summon him as a witness and compel his attendance in that capacity, and thus more easily and simply obtain the same result.

There is nothing in the constitution that required different forms of notice, and there has been no Iowa decision that a simple notice is enough. So here is no need of dissimilarity. Now has there been any really in our judicial history as a territory or state.

2. Is there any demand in the essential difference of law and equity substantively which requires a dissimilarity in the mode of statement and counter-statement, or pleadings? Reason says, state the facts entitling you to a decision, and ask for a decision giving it, and state also the facts entitling you to a decision, that the court
The code permits, but does not require, an equitable defense to be made to an action to recover a legal demand. The defendant permitting a judgment to pass upon a legal demand may thereafter have relief from the judgment by a proceeding by petition in equity. Dorsey, v. Reese, 11 B. M., 157.

compel the defendant to convey you one hundred acres of land, and ask for a decision compelling it. The objector says, you sometimes, in equity, want a decision which depends on many and very complicated facts—the reply is, then state the many and complicated facts. Nobody says a petition in equity will be as short as one at law, any more than that all at law will be the same length. Each will depend on its contained facts. The objector says again, sometimes one wants to state facts which are not ultimate but mere evidence, so as to get a sworn reply to them for proof. There are two replies: 1. If a sworn answer for testimony were needed, and allowable, you might get it by our principle of stating the facts entitling you thereto. But 2. You have no longer any need of the sworn pleading as evidence, because you can take the testimony of your adversary either on the stand on interrogatories, or in deposition form, and thus better secure the result you want. It is true that former chancery pleadings were dissimilar from law pleadings, in this, that they were not only statements of a cause of action, but were also drawn with the purpose of making the defendant a witness. But this was an accident growing out of the fact that no law court could make a defendant a witness. Again, the objector says, a bill in chancery may anticipate the defense, and by new facts displace the same. This was not true while pleading at law and chancery were alike in going past an answer and having a replication and further pleadings. But when a special replication was no longer allowed, then if the plaintiff wanted the defendant's testimony to the new matter, which would have been stated in his replication, had he made a special one, he must state such new matter in his petition, in order to call the defendant out thereon. But now a petition will not be bad, because it makes more than a prima facia case, although it need not make more than that. And, indeed, the anticipating mode would be the preferable mode of pleading in all cases where the defense of infancy, statute of limitations, etc., would be replied, for such total statement would really constitute the cause of action. But such injection of matter of anticipation or replication into a petition in chancery, is not now necessary, because the testimony of the defendant to any fact can be forced as a witness.

Again, the plea was, as a pleading, a defense, such as may now be used in an answer at law, and the attendant answer sometimes necessary, was only on the ground that the plaintiff had a right to the testimony of the defendant, and the defendant could not defeat that right by any style of defense. And so, although the defendant might plead matter showing that the plaintiff had no right to an answer as testimony, yet he must support such plea by an answer; so far as concerned the matter he pleads, at least. But the need of this is avoided by the law allowing testimony to be got from him as a witness.

There were other parts of a chancery bill which were equally the result of accident. When a bill was allowed to be filed to prevent a strong man from oppressing a weak one—or because a man was too poor to sue at law—or because, in the days of force, several men had conspired to prevent another obtaining a remedy at law, there was some sense in the charge of combination, etc. But there grounds of chancery jurisdiction passed away, and with them the need of such statements in the bill.

The answer in law and equity, both constitute in reason the statement of facts showing that the plaintiff should not have the decision he asks. Whether these facts are facts constituting a legal or equitable reason, can make in reason no difference, in the mode of stating them. As we have said, when the petition sought testimony as well as stated the facts, the answer stated testimony as well as the facts of defense. But this necessity having been removed, such answer also becomes unnecessary; indeed, improper. This was an accident of chancery pleading, which at first was otherwise; indeed, was as law, and like it, was oral, and put into writing by the clerk.

I need not speak of the replication, which no one will deny is the proper subject of change, and was as in law till the time of Elizabeth.

In requiring a mere statement of facts, we offer no new theory of chancery pleadings—the best equity writers now hold that the bill need contain but a simple statement of the facts entitling to the remedy, and such has been the law during all our history, territorial and state. So we take it, there is nothing in the essential nature of equity and law, which requires that the remedies should now be demanded by dissimilarly drawn pleadings.

Nor is there in our constitution. That don't define or qualify the mode of asking for legal and equitable relief. It only declares that no such relief shall yet be accorded. It preserves the substantive right, and don't concern itself about the adjective PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS. [PART 3.

Construction. SEC. 2622. The rule of the common law that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed, has no application to this code. Its provisions and all proceedings under it, shall be liberally construed with a view to promote its object and assist the parties in obtaining justice.*

That it leaves to be suggested by the intelligence of the age and its changing conditions.

In the decisions of this state, is nothing demanding dissimilarity in the statement of a legal and an equitable claim, and the constitution expressly provides, that the district court's jurisdiction of equitable demands shall be "in such a manner as shall be prescribed by law;" and our law, territorial and state, has never demanded dissimilarity; so, we conclude, no good objection holds for dissimilarity in pleading in the two kinds of cases.

3. Is there any ground in the essential nature of law and equity, why the district judge, hearing the case, should have the testimony in writing, rather than produced before him orally?

The object is to get to know whether the stated facts of the plaintiff and defendant are true or not. Reason says hear the witness so that you can see whether he states the truth or not; you thus have the words, all a deposition gives you, and also the actions of the witness to illustrate the words. Besides, you are not then confined to the ambiguity of the words, or hopeless, under the doubt inspired by them, but can ask further questions to make the matter clear.

Historically, this was the most early mode, and remained chiefly the law until about the time of Elizabeth. And all chancery reformers have sought to introduce this mode of taking testimony, so that most of the systems which yet adhere to trying chancery cases by a distinct judge, have nevertheless introduced the mode of taking testimony orally, or allowing the chancellor to have a witness brought before him, whenever he desires it, for the purpose of examination. Such is the English practice—and this practice is recommended everywhere in this country, where the thing has been opened to the light of modern thought.

Again, the constitution interposes no objection to this. The question, whether or not, this need of written proof is implied in the appeal, we will postpone till the discussion of that question. Now, you remember, we are considering whether the district judge is compelled to have for his determination of the case, written proof. In the early history of chancery, parties were examined before the chancellor. More latterly, before the master of the rolls; and it was only when sick or aged, that his personal attendance could not be obtained, that an answer in writing was allowed. Examination of witnesses was also at first oral and in court; and in our own judicial history, the right of oral testimony was established in Michigan, in 1805, and has been our law, territorial and state, always. It was also the law of the territory of Missouri, while such law reached over the now Iowa, that law and chancery proof should be taken in the same way. There have been dicta under the code which seemed to imply the need of written testimony in equity. But they proceeded on that right as a basis of appeal, and that question will not now be treated. There has been no decision that a case tried below, would be wrong, if not tried on written testimony.

We conclude, then, there is no ground for insisting that the mode of proof shall be dissimilar in a claim of equitable right from what it is in one of legal right.

* Every utterance in words is but a very imperfect presentation of the idea which lies behind, which idea gives birth to the words, and is sought to be announced by them. When the question of what the words were intended to enact, arises, it can not be wisely determined except by interrogating the idea which preceded over the utterance. The more utterance is but an effort to embody that idea, and may have been more or less successful.

The principle of interpretation, though of the niciest logic, is also of the most every-day common sense. A sympathizing friend can alone catch every shade of his friend's meanings. An enemy will half conceive, and misconceive, and distort them, quite away from their purpose. It is said, that, if to a daguerreotype, of a large town, in which image the naked eye can detect only a mass of indistinct houses, you apply a microscope, you will have revealed the life of the town, and the wares in which it traffics. These were in the picture before the microscope was applied, but the eye of the observer was not acute enough to find them. So is it with any pronounced sentence, it contains infinite possibilities of application. Sympathy with the idea, lying behind the expression, like the applied microscope, brings out its hidden meanings, and enables you to trace it down into its most secret and minute revealings, so that you may apply it to all the affairs of trade and life. Report on Civil Code.
Whether, however, the report of the commissioners ought to be ever referred to in construing the code, may admit of a doubt. In Martin v. Hemming, 28 E. L. & E., 544, where such a report was cited, Pollock, P. B., said—"I must protest against the construction of the statute being at all controlled by that. Several wholesome rules for the construction of the statutes are given in Bac. Ab. tit. 'Statute,' 1, and the reports of the commissioners.

4. There is nothing in the essential natures of law and equity requiring that one should be tried by a judge alone, and the other by a jury. Certain facts, established, certain rights follow therefrom; and whether the right is a right which is called legal, or one called equitable, makes no difference in the integrity of the logic. Whether these facts exist or not, it is said should be determined in the one case by a judge, and in the other by a jury. If the case is named equity, then the facts must be tried by a judge, although they may be the very ones which a jury passed on yesterday, in a case called law. But the change of the name of the case has impaired the jury's faculties of finding the facts. But it is said that the facts in an equity case are so blended with the law that it is difficult to separate them. We reply, that it is also true in law that difficulties attend the statement of an issue which shall be of pure fact. Indeed, most issues in law, under the past mode of pleading, have been, howsoever narrowed, a statement of what but seemed a fact, till trial, and then branched out into a legal conclusion. That "A promised," looks quite like a fact-statement, until the objector starts the question, whether the promise was legal or not, and then the proposition is seen to be a legal one, capable of being divided into its elemental facts of consideration, capacity of promissor, illegal constraint, etc. And the fact-part of all these propositions, not before seen, must be addressed to the jury by process of hypothetical instructions, after the style of this—if such facts are so, then such law follows. The jury in such case, pass on the facts stated in such directions, which facts, were not thus imposed before to be wrapped up in the statement which looked so simple and clear. This was practically true in most cases at law, till the need of stating facts in some measure diminished the frequency of its recurrence.

Indeed, the difficulty is not greater in this respect in equity than in law. It is said again that the facts in equity are more multiplied. We reply, this is not practically true. Most cases in law than in equity, have a complex mass of facts in dispute, now, of late years, since the allowance of joinder and of many defenses. The doubt in equity is chiefly on the law—on the rights established by the facts, not on the facts. Besides, to say that the number of facts, as one, or twenty, should determine the tribunal—whether it should be jury or judge, is to abandon the position that the nature of the remedy, as legal or equitable, should determine this. Again, to the insistence that the facts are so blended, etc. We reply—the facts, however blended, have got first to be found in each case. Facts establish relations and confer rights. It makes no matter whether a jury finds them—and then the judge pronounces the law on them—the judge finds them, and then pronounces the law on them. Either the jury or the judge may be the best appliance to do this—but whichever you say is best, is so, without regard to the result which may come of the facts; and is by your own concession the best fact-trier, whether in law or in equity. Indeed, facts are facts, whether legal or equitable conclusions are deduced from them. Indeed, the same facts might entitle to either a legal remedy or to an equitable remedy, and often do; and yet, in one case, these facts must, by your theory, be found by a jury, and in the other, only by a chancellor, depending on the same you give the case. If you say, and we yet address the objector, the judge can make a lumping decision without any unmixing of facts and law—then, we reply, that he can not thus do his duty, because law and equity confer rights on parties by virtue of certain relations, that are established by facts proved; and to confer these rights without having found the facts entitling thereto, is to confer them, without having found the party entitling to them.

Again, the fact that juries are better able to try facts than a judge, has been, since trial by battle ceased, assumed in all Anglo Saxon history. It was said that the chancellor could not try facts, and must needs send them out to a jury. The chancellor did, as a matter of history, send much matter, clearly fact, to be tried by a jury—and in our judicial history a party has always had a right to a jury to try any fact, and more than that, such finding has been binding upon the judge. The main prejudice against equity, which lasted so long in England, was based on the charge that it was introducing a new mode of trial, unknown to our ancestors.

There is nothing in the constitution that requires one fact to be tried by a judge and another by a jury. Indeed that instrument would rather support the idea that the jury trial of facts was favored. There has been no decision that one fact must be tried by the judge and another by the jury. appointed by the crown are not mentioned among them." And Parke, B. remarked: "Lord Denman, in his judgment, in a very important tithe case, (Pellowne v. Clay, 4 Q. B., 356,) relied on the report of the real property commissioners. There can, however, be no doubt, that it is not a legitimate mode of construing statutes." But in Wood v. Dillingham, 1 Handy, 30, Guolston, J., in speaking of the sufficiency of a petition uses this language: "It is in accordance with the form given by way of illustration, by the learned com-

So we conclude that there is no such difference in the nature of the facts establishing an equitable, from those establishing a legal conclusion, as to require a dissimilar mode of trial—but that in both cases, it may be left to the choice of the parties.

5. Is there any reason why, in a case called equitable and one called legal, the court or judge, should have other and dissimilar power of control over the property in dispute during the duration of the action?

Should not the court and judge, in both alike, have all the power necessary to protect and preserve it, if it needed this protection and preservation?

In early, though not the earliest times, law, judges and courts, had none of this power which the chancery had.

The reason was that a law court, acted in a case by a writ which defined its power to trying and rendering judgment—it had no power to do anything else—at least after equity grew up. Besides the law court was only open during its term—sometimes there was no standing judge, but one with a commission for that term only, whose power was defined. The chancellor, on the contrary, was a fixed person, having power at first, by special, but soon, by general deputation, as standing for the King. He had no terms—his court was always open. If the chancellor had not had power to do the thing ordered, by imprisonment—if the judge make the decision, he can compel its execution by such means as are given him by legislation, and these can not be the same, or others, than those used by the chancellor—such as under the constitution are adapted to the urgency. Let no power of coercing right-doing be lost, but yet exist unimpaired, whenever it should be exercised.

Let no power of coercing right-doing be lost, but yet exist unimpaired, whenever it should be exercised.

6. The kind of decision rendered at law was called judgment—at equity, decree—in each case it was the declaration of the tribunal, what the party or parties should do. The law could render only one judgment. In power to act was conferred upon a stated case or set of facts; it could not touch any other matter. The judgment must follow the writ. Thus it soon attained a fixed unbending form, and was chiefly, that one have money or a piece of property. The decree or decision of the chancellor, was made by a court whose jurisdiction was not of that defined sort.

It could make such decisions as seemed to promote justice between the parties; it might award money or property, and might order things to be done, by either, for the other. It went so far in its inception as to order apologies. Nothing in the constitution or decisions which denies the allowance of this power to any judge, or confine it to a particular class of cases.

The established justice of the land affixes to certain relations, certain rights.

Reason says, let the court finding such relations confer those rights, by a decision, such as will secure their enjoyment—and no matter what you call it—judgment or decree. Nothing in the constitution or decisions denies this principle.

7. The execution is the means of attaining the enjoyment of the decision. Now this must vary with the thing to be attained. A chancellor constrained the person to do the thing ordered, by imprisonment—if the judge make the decision, he can compel its execution by such means as are given him by legislation, and these can not be the same, or others, than those used by the chancellor—such as under the constitution are adapted to the urgency. Let no power of coercing right-doing be lost, but yet exist unimpaired, whenever it should be exercised.

8. Should there be a dissimilarity in the value of an appeal, in a case where the right demanded is equitable, from that in a case where the right demanded is legal? Common sense, uninfluenced by law, would argue the question thus: The object of an appeal is to set some point, either law or fact, tried over again. The good reason for desiring such re-trial of such point, is the hope that it will be more fairly done. Will that hope be most likely realized in a new trial of a point of law or of fact? Is it more likely that three judges will correct the errors of one judge on law, than which judge they are presumed better lawyers, than that they will correct missioners who prepared the code, and the construction given by them to the provisions of the code, though not obligatory is certainly very persuasive authority, and will always have with me great weight." And in Watson v. Sullivan, 5 O. S., 44, a passage from the report is cited in the opinion of the court for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the code. See also 2 O. S., 621, 643; 3 id., 48; 7 id., 546, as to the authority of the debates in the constitutional convention, as aids in construing the constitution.

But it is said that the constitution in art. 5, sec. 4, declaring that "the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction only in all cases in chancery, and shall constitute a court for the correction of errors at law, under such restrictions as the general assembly may by law prescribe;" necessitates that, in demands for equitable rights, facts as well as law should be re-triable in the appellate court. We propose to examine that position.

There are two modes of action, which may be taken by a superior court, to which parties from an inferior one go for aid. The first is to hear the parties over on such case as they may then make and give a decision without thinking of the former one. The second is to try, not the party's rights anew, but the decision which was made below, and see if it, the decision, was right; and this trial may proceed, either on law brought up decided below, or on fact brought up and decided below; or on both brought up and either or both below decided.

The first we alone have in a case from a justice to the district court. The second we have in the supreme court.

The substantive right of taking up a "decision," to be tried, is called by the civil law, appeal—and whether it takes the decision up to be tried on fact, or law, or on both, as it may do, is called appeal; so that appeal don't necessarily in itself imply trial either on fact or on law, as distinguished or combined, but leaves that to be determined by the adjective provisions providing what thing shall be transmitted to be tried, whether law or fact, or both. The word appeal, and the term appellate jurisdiction, obtain as the name of the substantive right.

The substantive right of taking up a decision to be tried by the common law, whether it take the decision up to be tried on fact or law, or both, as it may do, is called "writ of error." The term "writ of error" don't necessarily imply that the decision shall be tried on law only, or on fact only; or that it shall be tried on either alone, or on both together, but leaves that to be determined by the adjective law, the provisions providing what things shall go up.

The chancellor was, as we have said, a civil lawyer, and when he gave a name to the substantive right of taking a case up for a review of the decision, he called it appeal—not because he desired that another result should obtain than that which would from the writ of error; but he had given Roman names to all procedure in his court, and so in the same spirit, he named this. Writ of error was, in his language, appeal.

The mode of conferring jurisdiction on any one to try a decision by writ of error, which was a commission from the crown to such person to do so, could not obtain, at first, when the principles of chancery had not got fixed into precedent, and there was yet no established law by which to try the decision, and when also the only tribunal considered cognizant of these principles, was the chancellor. But as soon as these decisions became fixed, and hence became law—then the commission which was actually issued to confer on some one a power to try the decision, was in all its elements a writ of error—that is, it secured only the trial of the decision.

It is true that the process called writ of error, would be less likely to transmit fact up to be re-tried. Because 1. that had been tried once by a jury, and if not done fairly, the remedy was against them, or by a new trial. And 2. there was no objection to a re-trial of the fact in the same court, because to ask it would not be asking any judge to correct his own mistakes, while to take up fact would look like defeating the right of a jury trial.

But in a chancery case, fact which was decided wrong, would not be sought to be re-tried before the very same man who was committed to the supposed error, any more than would law in the like case. Nor would the re-trial of fact in a chancery Looking to the spirit of the cases in our own state, by which we must always be controlled, it seems to me that the report of the code commissioners may be referred to as an aid in determining questions of doubt arising under the code, but it is by no means authoritative. In this case, however, the passages quoted only speak of the spirit apparent from the whole instrument itself. Western Law Monthly of May, 1859.

cause, be open to the objection of defeating a jury trial, as that right was not conceded, but in clear law cases. So that it would be true, as a matter of history, that when special commissions to try decisions in law, and in equity, became current—that those in law cases would chiefly contain only law points—as they now do; while those in equity would contain also fact, as they now sometimes do. And yet that circumstance was only accidental, one to be demanded and defined in the commission itself. And when, at length, the appellate tribunals came to try decisions, without any special commission, they would try just what came up, so that if fact came, it would be tried, whether on judgment or decree, as is done now. And when later the mode of obtaining such appellate jurisdiction was fixed by legislation, that legislation would determine what should go up, and it accordingly always has so done. So that the word appeal don't necessitate that therein the decision tried should be tried on facts, nor do the words writ of error, necessitate that on such trial facts should be ignored, if they are there in a proper form. And, indeed, in each case, whether the word appeal is used, or writ of error, you can't tell without something more, what shall be tried. But for this you must go to the adjective law, which determines such things.

The reason why the appeal sent facts up more frequently than the writ of error, ceased, when the chancellor came to have a jury—and with the reason also, in great measure, ceased the fact; and with a full power for a binding jury trial the reason ceases altogether.

Appeal then means the substantive right of going to the supreme court, and is the equity word for writ of error, which means at common law the same substantive right—but neither of these terms do, or ever did, limit or define in themselves, what it is which shall go up for review. That is left to adjective legislation which may provide that law or fact, or both shall be so taken up, either by the petition of appeal or by the writ of error.

Again the word "only" as used in the constitution, is neither used to imply that in law cases you may go to the supreme court either by writ of error or by appeal, nor does it mean that you can go there in law by writ of error, only, and in equity, by appeal only. The "only" limits the kind of jurisdiction which the supreme court shall have in equity. It shall not be original as it used to be, but shall be only appellate. It means, whereas in some cases the supreme court has had original jurisdiction in chancery, now it shall have appellate "only," and also shall have appellate jurisdiction of all errors at law.

No writ of error is mentioned—no appliance is mentioned for securing the appellate jurisdiction—nothing is said of the appliances before in use, namely, the petition of appeal, or the writ of error—nothing is said, indicating which of those should be used—nothing prevents the legislature from providing any means it pleases. This "appellate power in chancery" is not defined—not made to apply to the law part, or to the fact part, or to either, or both. It is not limited, in its application to either, for although limited to the correction of errors, it is not said of what kind—whether of law or of fact—for the term is not errors of law—but errors at law—which may be either of law or of fact—and, indeed, were it limited to errors of law, in law cases, there would be no power in the supreme court to do what it every day does, namely, to give a new trial because the facts did not justify the finding of the jury. But even, if it were insisted, that the errors to be corrected, were errors of law only, yet it is equally true that there is no word said of the means of getting them into the supreme court—they stand as to the mode, in the same unprovidedness of means as does the chancery. The term writ of error, as an appliance is no more mentioned, than is petition of appeal. Modes of enjoying this appellate jurisdiction are to be provided under whatsoever "restrictions the general assembly may by law prescribe;" that is, the term shall have appellate jurisdiction in chancery, commits the constitutions makers to no formal mode of such attainment of jurisdiction. Besides, if it were said that "appellate jurisdiction implied a jurisdiction, to be got by appeal, and a "correction of errors at law," in cases of any kind, or of the law kind, implied a writ of error; yet, there remains the answer, that it is nowhere said what shall be appealed—whether law, or fact alone, or both—and this can't be implied from the mere conferring of the "appellate jurisdiction, especially when it is to be exercised "under such restrictions as the general assembly may, by law, prescribe." Besides, this is plain, the term appellate, if it should apply, that facts should go up as well as law, don't define the mode of taking them up, nor say that the mode shall not be the same in both—or what the means shall be. The legislature may provide any mode it pleases, and call it by any name—and the Code did provide and our act in its short mode does, a method certainly not in conflict with any constitutional provision; and it makes the same mode apply to law, which certainly don't impair its efficiency, as a mode of appeal in chancery. It don't ask what kind of case it is, but says if you want law only to go up, take it up, and if you want facts, also, take them up—and if you want both to go up you can take them. That is, it provides one simple mode called appeal, which term does not stand in contrast with writ of error, but has the possibilities of the technical appeal and writ of error both. Indeed it provides that in all cases facts may be taken to this appellate jurisdiction, so that it would seem to meet the fullest demands of the objector who clamors for a review of them. But here the objector makes a new demand—namely, that not only the facts, should go up but the testimony, in its very terms. Now there is all the difference between testimony and facts, which there is between cause and effect. Testimony establishes facts, and there certainly is no ground for the position that the terms "appellate jurisdiction in chancery," necessitates its review. Such never has been the established principle of chancery anywhere—it has now and then been the exception provided for by special enactment; and this holds not only under the general principles of equity, as acceptably administered, but also under constitutions whose implications in favor of the preservation of every chancery right are much more positive than ours.

ORGANIZATION OF SUPREME COURT.

Let us review the usage in this regard:

There never was, in England, but in the earliest times, an appeal, in the sense of a trial of the case anew. The only appeal was, for a trial of the decree. * * *

In this country it is equally true that appellate jurisdiction in chancery, has no fixed meaning, necessitating that it act on testimony as distinguished from facts. The constitution of the United States, article three, section two, says: "The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction both as to law and fact." The makers of it did not think the term appellate enough to imply power over fact, and so expressed the word fact. * * *

Under this provision it was at first provided by congress that appeals in equity shall be by writ of error, and they were so taken for years. And in 4th Dallas, 22, the appellate jurisdiction was sought by an appeal, and it was decided that appeal did not lie, that a writ of error was the mode—simply because it was the means provided by the law, under the constitution. By this appliance, it would seem that it was not meant that testimony as distinguished from facts should go up. During the fifteen years that this was the mode of appeal in equity from the circuit court and district acting as circuit court—it was made the duty of the court to cause the "facts" of the case, on which was founded the decree, fully to appear on the record, either from the pleading and decree itself—or from a case agreed by the parties—or stated by the court. This was like our Code in its purpose. Not the evidence was sent up, but the result of it, and the court, if no statement of facts was sent up affirmed the decree, although the evidence was all sent up—3d Dallas, p. 184; and in 3d Dallas, p. 324, it is decided that appellate jurisdiction can be exercised only in conformity with such regulations as congress prescribes, and that a writ of error in contradiction to an appeal is the mode so prescribed to bring equity cases up to the supreme court—and the mode of bringing up a finding of fact only and not testimony is recognized as in harmony with the constitution, which decision clearly sustains the mode we commend. And, although, now in the supreme court of the United States, a statement of facts, sent up by the judge, is no longer enough—that does not follow from any meaning inherent in the terms “appellate jurisdiction,” but, because Congress, which had the power to define, as our legislature has, the thing which shall go up, has now provided that in all such cases, the depositions also, and all proceedings, shall go up, so that now, if oral testimony is taken, which may be, the same must be reduced to writing, and appear on the record. But such demand was never founded on the constitution itself.

Now, let us see how this matter has stood in Iowa. Congress, we remember, had power to and did provide the appliance of taking up cases under the words—“shall have appellate jurisdiction,” with such re­striction and under such regulations as Congress shall make. Now the Constitution of Iowa also allows the jurisdic­tion “under such restrictions as the general Assembly may, by law, prescribe.” It might be enough to stop here, and say that the legislature has provided the mode, and had clearly the right to do so. But we will show that there is nothing in this mode in conflict with those which have been current since we became a people.

We will not go farther back than Michigan, though, the same principles existed here while Louisiana and Missouri territories. By the act of Michigan, 1833, April 23, the supreme court had both original and appellate power, in chancery,—the laws of Michigan became ours in June, 1834. In July, 1836, the organic act of Wisconsin was passed, and became our constitutional law. This gave the appellate right to be enjoyed “under such regulations as may be provided by law.” In December, 1836, the legislature of Wisconsin enacted “that the supreme court shall have and exercise an appellate juris­diction only, which shall extend to all matters of appeal, error or complaint, from the judg­ments or decrees of any of the district courts, in all matters of law and equity, wherein the rules of law, or principles of equity appear, from the records or exhibits of any such courts to have been erroneously adjudged or determined.” This act explains the use of the word “only,”—it takes away the original jurisdiction then existing in that court in chancery. It also seems to contemplate only a review of rules of law and principles of equity, and very clearly ignores the right of passing on fact, as also on testimony.

We became the territory of Iowa in July, 1838, and the same provision which had been the organic law of Wisconsin, became that of Iowa, using the same term, as to the appellate jurisdiction of the supreme court in chancery—“under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.”

But the act of Wisconsin, as to the supreme court, remained law till February 10, 1842, when the following was enacted: “That the supreme court of this territory shall exercise appellate jurisdiction only, as is hereinafter provided, and shall have final and conclusive jurisdiction of all matters of appeal, error, or complaint, from the judg­ments or decrees of any of the district courts, in all matters of law and equity, wherein the rules of law, or principles of equity appear, or exhibits, to have been erroneously adjudged or determined.” The “only” is continued for the former reason. Facts here, too, seem clearly ignored—for rules of law, and principles of equity, have nothing to do in inferring facts from testimony. In January, 1839, in the act defining proceedings in chancery, it had been enacted, that on appeal the clerk should certify up “all the papers and proofs which were in his possession,” but as the same act allowed an oral examination of witnesses, and also a jury trial of an issue of fact, it would be quite impracticable to get all the testi­mony up, and much would not be “in his possession.”

But the point is, that it was never supposed that the terms of the organic act, “appeals in chancery causes shall be allowed in all cases,” in itself defined what should in such appeal be passed on, but left that to the legislature, and when they restricted its value, no court declared it to be against the organic law.

In 1843, the organic act being the same, an act was passed defining again the jurisdiction of the supreme court, and is exactly the repetition of that of Feb. 7, 1842, save that it reads “jurisdiction of all matters of appeal, writs of error, upon law and in fact.” This shows an introduction of a power to try “fact.” It don’t limit such trial to an appeal, but extends it as well to a writ of error, which also is a new term in such act. Appeal and writ of error are in that act applied both in the same sense: “appeals shall be allowed * * upon all final judgments and decrees, etc.” In the act of February 8, 1844, the use of both of these terms in the same sense, a mere meaning or implication of a means of attaining appellate jurisdiction is more apparent. “The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction over all * * judgments and decrees * * in law and chancery.” “Writs of error shall issue * * upon any order, decree or judgment.” “If a decree shall be rendered against two, and one die, a writ of error may be brought by the survivor.” “Appeals and writs of error shall be allowed” * * from decrees.” And all through the act the writ of error seems to be applied to chancery. “The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction over all * * judgments and decrees * * in law and chancery.” “Writs of error shall issue * * upon any order, decree or judgment.” “If a decree shall be rendered against two, and one die, a writ of error may be brought by the survivor.” “Appeals and writs of error shall be allowed” * * from decrees.” And all through the act the writ of error seems to be applied to chancery. “In an act amending the same, June 3, 1845, the writ of error is also applied to chancery proceedings.

In this state of things in 1846, the old constitution was made. Now, practically, the supreme court had tried whatever was taken up—if fact, fact was tried, if law only, that was tried.

The constitution of 1846 declared, as the new one does, that “the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction only, in all cases in chancery * * under such restrictions as the general assembly may by law prescribe.” We remember now, the origin of the word “only,” and we see that just as before they had done, under the organic acts, so now under the constitution, the legislature prescribed by law what should be reviewed, and what should be the form of the appliance. And in the Code of 1851, it was provided that a statement of the facts as found by the court, or a special verdict should go up in chancery, and that the name of the appliance should be appeal.

We trust that we have shown that the terms of the constitution only secure the substantive right of review, and leave the legislature to define what shall be reviewed—and that they in allowing only a finding of facts to go up, have not contravened any right secured by that instrument, nor contravened any right established by well defined chancery precedent. And that there is no well established right in our history as a people, that inferences from testimony as opposed to facts shall in the supreme court be reviewed.

2. “We turn now to the second main question. The objector says, law and equity should not be mixed in the same case, which may mean that a statement in law should not go with a statement in equity. The objection has been based upon the different modes of procedure—but, if we have shown that there should be a uniform mode of procedure, we have taken away that objection. But, it may mean that a defense of equity should not lie made to a case of law—and of this we will say a word. Is there any reason in the nature of law and equity, why a case of law should not be met by a defense of equity? The old reason was because a law court could not take notice of an equity case. But say it can—and what difficulty remains? Certain defenses ever so just, a law court had to ignore, because it was not a court of justice, but only of that fraction of justice called law. And so it did wrong, to let the other court do right by declaring that its judgment should be disregarded or annulled. The impediments which grew out of the dissimilarity of the formula of procedure you remove when you provide that no forms shall be required in either—that facts may in both be tried by a jury—that in both, either party who desires a review may take to the supreme court both the facts and the law, or either, as he likes. The old reason for going to a chancellor don’t exist, because the principles which he administered are now fixed law—besides, we have no chancellor—and we do not as a matter of fact go to a different court.

Even the nation which introduced this system, and where its roots arc surely deeper than in our soil, has partly abandoned it, and now allows, and since 1854 has done, that equitable defenses shall be allowed and heard in some law cases. But here the objector interposes on this last question, article 5, section 6, of the

SEC. 2630. (1554.) No process or proceeding is in any manner affected by an adjournment or failure to hold court, but all shall stand continued to the next term, without any special order to that effect.

SEC. 2631. (1555.) The supreme court has an appellate jurisdiction over all judgments and decisions of any of the district courts as well in new constitution. "The district court shall be a court of law and equity, "which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions." &c.

That means, that the jurisdiction of the district court, as one of law, shall be distinct and separate from its jurisdiction as a court of equity. Now it needed no constitution to declare that. It was very well understood before. A court always has been and always will be, in trying a law case, exercising a jurisdiction distinct and separate from what it exercises in trying a chancery cause—such as in trying an action of debt, it will be exercising a jurisdiction distinct and separate from what it exercises in trying an action of trespass.

Let us look at this thing of jurisdiction a moment. One jurisdiction may be separate and distinct from another, in the point of locality, as those of Henry and Des Moines counties. Or in the subject of action, as involving personal or real estates; in point of quantity, as of a justice or district court; and in various other ways.

When jurisdiction was conferred by writ, the jurisdiction of the court, on the facts of that writ was separate and distinct from the same on any other facts, or writ. To say the district court, shall be a court of law and equity, is to say law and equity are separate and distinct, and that the court in exercising jurisdiction in one, is exercising a jurisdiction separate and distinct from that which it exercises in the other. And to add thereto, "which shall be distinct and separate jurisdiction," is not to render such jurisdiction more distinct or more separate. Trying a case for replevin for a horse, is exercising a distinct jurisdiction from that which is exercised in trying a case for a cow. And, so, the court, while trying a case for specific performance is exercising in the same sense, a jurisdiction, distinct and separate from what it exercises in trying a case of slander.

Jurisdiction in such use means power of adjudication—or more briefly power. And, when a court is exercising one power, it is for that very reason not exercising another power, and so these powers are separate and distinct. While acting under the inspiration of equitable principles, it will not be acting under the inspiration of legal ones, and this will be true, if it be required to act under the inspiration of either, or both, in the same suit, as if so. So that in a suit combining two causes of action, one legal and the other equitable—or in an action legal by the plaintiff, equitable by the defendant, there is a separation between the legal and the equitable, in the same suit, as if so. And to add to that, which shall be distinct and separate jurisdiction, is not to render such jurisdiction more distinct or more separate. Trying a case of replevin for a horse, is exercising a distinct jurisdiction from that which is exercised in trying a case for a cow. And, so, the court, while trying a case for specific performance is exercising in the same sense, a jurisdiction, distinct and separate from what it exercises in trying a case of slander.

Indeed the facts of the law case, and the facts of the equitable case, in the same petition, are, of necessity, as distinct as they would be, if they were stated in separate petitions. When an equitable statement of facts is interposed to an action as a defense, it is in so far forth, as it is an equitable defense, in so far forth, as it would be a good cause, in a bill to defeat the legal action, it is in so far forth, a plea of confession and avoidance—or a cross-demand. It concords the plaintiff's legal right to recover—confesses his legal case, and makes an avoidance case, called equitable. And it don't put in issue then the legal facts, it makes a statement of equitable facts, which, if put in issue, will be an equitable issue, and the only one in the case.

There is as much separation and distinctness between the legal and the equitable jurisdiction—one of exercise of decisive authority, in such cases, as if the same classes of facts had been stated in a pleading between different men in different suits. We will go further and say, even the facts involved in the legal statement, and in the equitable one, the issues coming out of a denial of them are as separately and distinctly defined when they occur in the same action in different courts thereof, or in the same action as a defense to a law case, as if they were in different actions. An equitable remedy is intrinsically different from, and can't be confounded with, a legal remedy. And that, not because any constitution makes or tries to make it so.

The district court shall be a court of law—means, having the power to try legal case of civil actions properly so called, as in proceedings of a special or independent character.

SEC. 2832. An appeal may also be taken to the supreme court from an order made in special proceedings affecting a substantial issues, and to award legal remedies, on a statement of legal facts. That it shall be a court of equity means, it shall have power to try equitable issues, and to award equitable remedies, on a statement of equitable facts. Now, when it adds, which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions, it only says what is true, but is not made so, nor any more so, by that provision.

Suppose, before such last change, such section had read thus: the district court shall be a court for the trial of debt, covenant, detinue, etc., which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions. The sentence “which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions,” would have added no intensity to the distinctness. It would not have precluded the joinder of two of these. Suppose it read, the district court shall be a court to try facts constituting rights to recover on an express promise to pay money, and to try facts constituting a right to recover specific land, on an agreement to convey the same, “which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions;” now, we insist, nobody could well urge from such words that one of such set of facts should not be joined with the other set.

If we go to the convention, we find nothing in conflict with these views; sixteen lines contains all said on a question, which more than any other legal one, has been and is now occupying the attention of Christendom. The mover of the clause thinks that the Code means “to mingle,” “to combine law and equity,” and as the supreme court decided prior to the adoption of the Code, and incidentally since, that law and equity could not be “mixed up together”—to make the matter plain, such words should be inserted. We have only to regret that even the intention of the convention remains yet rather obscure. This does not prevent the statement of facts which entitle to a remedy—called heretofore equitable; provided that both statements be made in distinct and separate counts, and be not “mingled,” combined, or “mixed up together.” It would have been so easy, if the convention had meant to interdict the joinder which we have above suggested, to have said a cause at law and a cause in equity—or a statement of facts entitling to a legal remedy and a statement of facts entitling to an equitable remedy—shall not be stated in one action; nor shall a legal defense and an equitable defense be made in the same case. Nor shall an equitable defense be allowed to a legal claim. But there was an evil then, and yet current, to which the terms “mingle,” “mix up,” “combine,” would apply, that is the evil of bad pleading—the evil that came of the first idea got from the Code, namely, that a plaintiff might state whatever he liked without method—without distinction of counts, and all “mixed up,” and “mingled,” and “combined,” without any classification of the facts into distinct groups dependent on the relief which they were intended to apply. We will not say that this must have been the evil sought to be constructed, for even that is not clear. But if it means that, a legal cause shall not be united in a petition with an equitable one, it spends its whole force on that interdiction, and does not apply as an argument against any thing we have recommended; although, it would then be an answer to that part of this argument which would quite ignore law as law, and equity as equity, and so unite demands for each. And if such is its meaning, we deem it a very pernicious provision, and a step back towards the past which the State did not know she was taking, and in which she goes alone blindly and alone, while her glorious sisterhood look forward and speed on.

It will be remembered that in order to sustain the provisions in this act, this argument "might have stopped with showing that there should be a uniformity in law and letters given from distinguished judges approving uniformity of procedure." [Here are examined the decisions which have been supposed to oppose this view, and letters given from distinguished judges approving uniformity of procedure.] It will be remembered that in order to sustain the provisions in this act, this argument might have stopped with showing that there should be a uniformity in law and letters given from distinguished judges approving uniformity of procedure. It was deemed desirable to explore the whole field of inquiry occupied by modern progress, and to put on record our views thereon, so that the concession we have been forced to make in this act to conservatism, and the supposed demands of the new constitution, may carry with it its own antidote, and may in the future open up a way for higher possibilities.

section 2674. (1587.) No judge of the supreme or district court

sec. 2675. In 1860, and every sixth year thereafter, there shall be appointed by the governor, in and with the consent of the senate, three commissioners of legal inquiry, who shall hold their office for six years, may deem advisable, in order to carry out the intent and general spirit of the system of practice herewith adopted.

* In this chapter, sections 2675, 2676, 2677 and 2678 are substituted for 1588 of Code, which had proved quite inefficient in securing suggestion. (William Smyth, W. T. Barker and Charles Ben Darwin were placed on that commission by the governor at the last session of the legislature.) Section 1589 of the Code was repealed.
Section 2679 is new. The rest of the chapter is unchanged.

SEC. 2679. The district court of any county may provide by general rule, that in actions brought, or to be brought, in such court, the time of filing an answer, reply, demurrer or motion, shall be other than that provided in this code, and such other rules as may be necessary to the end that in those counties, where the same seems to such court desirable, issues may be made up in vacation.

Other rules.

SEC. 2680. (1590.) The said courts may adopt also such other rules as they may deem expedient, consistent with law, and may revise the same as often as they think expedient.

Object thereof.

SEC. 2681. (1591.) The prime object of such rules shall be to carry out the purposes of the statute, to preserve as far as is consistent with law, the substance of previous remedies, dispensing with all needless forms with the view of arriving at the prompt attainment of justice.

Writs.

SEC. 2682. (1592.) All process issued by the clerk of the supreme or any district court shall bear date on the day on which it is issued, be tested in the name of the clerk who issued the same, and be under the seal of the court.

A judge or justice is disqualified from acting as such except by mutual consent of parties, in any case wherein he is a party or interested, or where he is related to either party by consanguinity or affinity, within the fourth degree, or where he has been attorney for either party in the action or proceeding. But this section does not prevent them from disposing of any preliminary matter not affecting the merits of the case.

SEC. 2686. (1596.) No court can be opened, nor can any judicial business be transacted on Sunday, except,

1. To give instructions to a jury then deliberating on their verdict;

CONTREPTS.

SEC. 2688. (1598.) The following acts or omissions are deemed contempts, and are punishable as such, by any of the courts of this state, or by any judicial officer acting in the discharge of an official duty, as hereinafter provided:

1. For contemptuous or insolent behavior towards such court while engaged in the discharge of a judicial duty which may tend to impair the respect due to its authority;

2. For any willful disturbance calculated to interrupt the due course of its official proceedings;

3. For illegal resistance to any order or process made or issued by it;

4. For disobedience to any subpoena issued by it and duly served, or refusing to be sworn, or to answer as a witness;

5. For unlawfully detaining a witness or party to an action or proceeding pending before such court, while going to, or remaining at, the place where the action or proceeding is thus pending;

6. For any other act or omission specially declared a contempt by law.

SEC. 2689. (1599.) In addition to the above, the supreme or district courts may punish the following acts or omissions as contempts:

1. Failure to testify before a grand-jury, when lawfully required to do so;

2. Assuming to be an officer, attorney, or counselor of the court, and acting as such without authority;

3. Misbehavior as a juror, by improperly conversing with a party, or with any other person in relation to the merits of an action in which he is acting or is to act as a juror, or receiving a communication from any person in respect to it without immediately disclosing the same to the court;

4. Disobedience by an inferior tribunal, magistrate, or officer, to any lawful judgment, order, or process of a superior court, or proceeding in any matter contrary to law, after it has been removed from such tribunal, magistrate, or officer.

SEC. 2690. (1600.) The punishment for contempts may be by fine, or imprisonment, or both, but where not otherwise specially provided, the supreme and district courts are limited to a fine of fifty dollars and an imprisonment not exceeding one day, and all other courts are limited to a fine of ten dollars.

SEC. 2691. (1601.) But if the contempt consists in an omission to perform an act which is yet in the power of the person to perform, he may be imprisoned until he performs it. In that case the act to be performed must be specified in the warrant of commitment.

Sec. 2692. (1602.) Unless the contempt is committed in the immediate view and presence of the court, or comes officially to its knowledge, an affidavit showing the nature of the transaction is necessary as a basis for further action in the premises.

Sec. 2693. (1603.) Before punishing for a contempt, unless the offender is already in the presence of the court, he must be served personally with a rule to show cause against the punishment, and a reasonable time given him therefor; or he may be brought before the court forthwith, or on a given day, by warrant, if necessary. In either case he may, at his option, make a written explanation of his conduct under oath, which must be filed and preserved.

Sec. 2694. (1604.) Where the action of the court is founded upon evidence given by others, such evidence must be in writing, and be filed and preserved, and if the court act upon their own knowledge in the premises, a statement of the facts upon which the order is founded, must be entered on the records of the court, or be filed and preserved when the court keeps no record.

Sec. 2695. (1605.) When the offender is committed, the warrant must state the particular facts and circumstances on which the court acted in the premises, and whether the same was within the knowledge of the court, or was proved by witnesses.

Sec. 2696. (1606.) No appeal lies to an order to punish for a contempt, but the proceedings may, in proper cases, be taken to a higher court for revision by certiorari.

Sec. 2697. (1607.) The punishment for a contempt constitutes no bar to an indictment; but if the offender is indicted, and convicted for the same offense, the court, in passing sentence, must take into consideration the punishment before inflicted.

Sec. 2698. (1608.) Any officer authorized to punish for a contempt, is a court within the meaning of this chapter.

Disbarred.

Authority.

May be required to show.
or prove by his own oath or otherwise, the authority under which he appears, and until he does so, may stay all proceedings by him on behalf of the parties for whom he assumes to appear.

Sec. 2708. (1618.) An attorney has a lien for a general balance of compensation upon any papers of his client, which have come into his possession in the course of his professional employment; upon money in his hands belonging to his client, and upon money due to his client and in the hands of the adverse party in an action or proceeding in which the attorney was employed, from the time of giving notice of the lien to that party.

Sec. 2709. (1619.) Any person interested in such matter may release such lien, by giving security, in a penalty double the amount claimed by the attorney, and conditioned to pay the amount that may be finally found due for his services.

Sec. 2710. (1620.) The supreme and district courts may respectively revoke or suspend the license of any attorney or counselor at law, to practice therein, and a revocation or suspension by the district court in one county operates to the same extent in the courts of all other counties.

Sec. 2711. (1621.) The following are sufficient causes for such revocation or suspension.

1. When he has been convicted of a felony or of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, in either of which cases the record of conviction is conclusive evidence;
2. When he is guilty of a willful disobedience or violation of the order of the court, requiring him to do or forbear an act connected with, or in the course of his profession;
3. For a willful violation of any of the duties of an attorney or counselor as herein before prescribed;
4. For doing any other act to which such a consequence is by law attached.

Sec. 2712. (1622.) The proceedings to remove or suspend an attorney may be commenced by the direction of the court, or on motion of any individual. In the former case the court must direct some attorney to draw up the accusation; in the latter the accusation must be drawn up and sworn to by the person making it.

Sec. 2713. (1623.) If the court deem the accusation sufficient to justify farther action, it shall cause an order to be entered, requiring the accused to appear and answer on a day therein fixed, either at the same or a subsequent term, and shall cause a copy of the accusation and order to be served upon him personally.

Sec. 2714. (1624.) To the accusation he may plead or demur, and the issues joined thereon shall in all cases be tried by the court, all the evidence being reduced to writing, filed and preserved.

Sec. 2715. (1625.) If the accused plead guilty or fail to answer, the court shall proceed to render such judgment as the case requires.

Sec. 2716. (1626.) In case of a removal or suspension being ordered by a district court, an appeal therefrom lies to the supreme court, and all the original papers, together with a transcript of the record shall thereupon be transferred to the supreme court to be there considered and finally acted upon. A judgment of acquittal by the district court is final.

Sec. 2717. (1627.) An attorney who receives the money or property of his client in the course of his professional business, and refuses to pay or deliver it in a reasonable time after demand, is guilty of a misdemeanor.
SEC. 2718. (1628.) Where the attorney claims to be entitled to a lien upon the money or property, he is not liable to the penalties of the two preceding sections until the person demanding the money proffers sufficient security for the payment of the amount of the attorney’s claim when it is legally ascertained.

SEC. 2719. (1629.) Nor is he in any case liable as aforesaid provided he gives sufficient security that he will pay over the whole or any portion thereof to the claimant when he is found entitled thereto.

[Code—Chapter 96.]*

JURORS.

SECTION 2720. (1630.) All qualified electors of the state, of good moral character, sound judgment, and in full possession of the senses of hearing and seeing, are competent jurors in their respective counties.

SEC. 2721. (1631.) The following persons are exempt from liability to act as jurors, to wit:—All persons holding office under the laws of the United States or of this state;—all practising attorneys, physicians and clergymen; all acting professors or teachers of any college,

* This chapter presents the law as it before stood in the Code, amended by the seventh session, chapter 133, except that a change is made in section 2732.
Who excusable.

SEC. 2722. (1632.) Any person may also be excused from serving on a jury when for any reason his own interests or those of the public will be materially injured by his attendance, or when, the state of his own health, or the death, or the sickness of a member of his family requires his absence.

Jury lists.

SEC. 2723. Two jury lists, one consisting of seventy-five persons to serve as grand jurors, and one consisting of one hundred and fifty persons to serve as petit jurors, and both lists composed of persons competent and liable to serve as jurors, shall be annually made in each county, from which to select jurors for the years commencing on the first day of January annually.

Same.

SEC. 2724. (1634.) Should there be less than that number of such persons in any county, the list shall comprise all those who answer the above description.

How selected.

SEC. 2725. On or before the first Monday in September in each year, the county clerk shall apportion the number to be selected from each township as nearly as practicable in proportion to the number of votes polled therein at the last general election, and shall deliver a statement thereof to the sheriff.

SEC. 2726. The sheriff shall cause a written notice to be delivered to one of the judges of election in the several townships of the county, on or before the day of the general election in each year, informing them of the number of jurors apportioned for the ensuing year to their respective townships.

SEC. 2727. The judges shall thereupon make the requisite selection, and return list of names as selected, to the county judge, with the returns of election, and further, provided that in case the judges of election shall fail to make and return said lists as herein required, the county canvassers shall, at the meeting to canvass the votes polled in the county, make such lists for the delinquent townships.

SEC. 2728. (1638.) The judge shall thereupon file said lists in his office, and cause a copy thereof to be recorded in the election book.

SEC. 2729. (1639.) Grand jurors shall be selected for the first term in the year at which said jurors are required, commencing next after the last day of July in each year, and shall serve for one year. Petit jurors shall be selected for each term wherein they are required.

How drawn.

SEC. 2730. (1640.) At least twenty days previous to the first day of any term at which a jury of either kind is to be selected, the clerk must write out the names on the lists aforesaid, which have not been previously drawn as jurors during that year, on separate ballots, and the judge of the county court and sheriff having compared said ballots with the jury list and rectified the same, if necessary, shall place the ballots in a box to be provided for that purpose.

SEC. 2731. (1641.) After thoroughly mixing the same, the clerk shall draw therefrom the requisite number of jurors to serve as aforesaid.

SEC. 2732. (1642.) When grand jurors are to be selected their number must be fifteen, and they shall serve for one entire year thereafter; the number of the petit jurors shall be the same unless the judge of the county court on the written direction of the judge of the district court order a greater number.

SEC. 2733. (1643.) Within three days after such drawing the clerk must issue a precept to the sheriff, commanding him to summon the said jurors to appear before the district court at eleven o'clock, A. M., of the first day of the next term thereof (naming the month and day,) unless the judge of the district court has previously directed a different hour or day for their appearance, in which case such direction must be observed.

SEC. 2734. (1644.) The sheriff shall immediately obey such precept, and on or before the day for the appearance of said jurors must make return thereof, and on failure to do so without sufficient cause, is liable to be fined for a contempt in any amount not exceeding fifty dollars.

SEC. 2735. (1645.) If a person summoned as a juror, as aforesaid, fail to appear, the court may issue a rule returnable to that or the succeeding term, requiring him to appear and show cause why he should not be fined for a contempt, and unless he render a reasonable excuse for his failure to attend, the court may fine him in any amount not exceeding ten dollars and costs.

SEC. 2736. (1646.) Except when required at a special term which has been called in vacation, the grand jury need not be summoned after the first term, but must appear at the next term without summons under the same penalty as though they had been regularly summoned.

SEC. 2737. (1647.) If the requisite number of jurors does not appear by the time appointed as aforesaid, the court may at any time thereafter direct the sheriff to summon, forthwith, the number necessary to make up the deficiency.

SEC. 2738. Where from any cause the persons summoned to serve as grand jurors, or petit jurors, fail to appear, or when from any cause, the court shall decide that the grand or petit jurors have been illegally elected or drawn, the court may set aside the precept under which the jurors were summoned, and cause a precept to be issued to the sheriff, commanding him to summon a sufficient number of persons from the body of the county to serve as jurors at the term of court then being held, which precept may be made returnable forthwith, or at some subsequent day of the term, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 2739. (1648.) Within ten days after the close of each term, the clerk of the court must make out a certificate to each juror of the amount to which he is entitled for his services, which must be allowed by the county court and paid, as other demands against the county.
CHAPTER 116.

LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

[Code—Chapter 99.]

Limitations.

Section 2740. (1659.) The following actions may be brought within the times herein limited respectively after their causes accrue, and not afterwards except when otherwise specially declared, that is to say:

Two years.
1. Actions of slander, libel, malicious prosecution, injuries to the person, or for a statute penalty, within two years;

Three years.
2. Those against a sheriff or other public officer growing out of a liability incurred by the doing of an act in an official capacity, or by the omission of an official duty, including the non-payment of money collected on execution, within three years;

Five years.
3. Those founded on unwritten contracts, those brought for injuries to property or for relief on the ground of fraud in cases hereinafore solely cognizable in a court of chancery, and all other actions not otherwise provided for in this respect, within five years;

Ten years.
4. Those founded on written contracts, on judgments of any courts (except those courts provided for in the next section,) and those brought for the recovery of real property, within ten years;

Twenty years.
5. Those founded on a judgment of a court of record, whether of this or of any other of the United States, or of the federal courts of the United States, within twenty years.

Sec. 2741. (1660.) In actions for relief on the ground of fraud as above contemplated, the cause of action will not be deemed to have accrued until the discovery of the fraud by the party aggrieved.

Sec. 2742. (1661.) In actions founded upon contract the above limitations shall not apply if from the answer of the defendant or from his testimony as a witness it appears affirmatively that the cause of action still justly subsists. But the answer of one of several defendants shall not prejudice the interests of others in this respect.

Sec. 2743. (1662.) Where there is a continuous open account, the cause of action shall be deemed to have accrued on the date of the last item therein as proved on the trial.

Sec. 2744. (1663.) The delivery of the original notice to the sheriff of the proper county with intent that it be served immediately, (which intent shall be presumed unless the contrary appears,) or the actual service of that notice by another person, is a commencement of the action.

Sec. 2745. (1664.) The time during which a defendant is a non-resident of the state shall not be included in computing any of the periods of limitation above prescribed.

Sec. 2746. (1665.) But when a cause of action has been fully barred by the laws of any country where the defendant has previously resided, such bar shall be the same defense here as though it had arisen under the provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 2747. (1666.) The above limitation of actions for the recovery of real property shall not apply to minors so far as to prevent them from having at least one year after attaining their majority within which to commence such actions.
SEC. 2748. (1667.) If the person entitled to a cause of action die within one year next previous to the expiration of the limitation above provided for, the limitation above mentioned shall not apply until one year after such death.

SEC. 2749. (1668.) If after the commencement of an action the plaintiff fail therein for any cause except negligence in its prosecution, and a new suit be brought within six months thereafter, the second suit shall for the purposes herein contemplated be deemed a continuation of the first.

SEC. 2750. (1669.) The above limitations and provisions shall not apply to evidences of debt intended to circulate as money, but shall in other respects be applicable to all actions brought by or against all bodies corporate and politic except when otherwise expressly declared.

SEC. 2751. Causes of action founded on contract are revived by an admission that the debt is unpaid, as well as by a new promise to pay the same. But such admission or new promise must be in writing, signed by the party to be charged thereby.

SEC. 2752. A defendant may plead a set-off or counter-claim to any cause of action, notwithstanding such set-off or counter-claim is barred by the statute, provided that the claim pleaded as such set-off was owned by the defendant at the time the same became barred by the statute.

SEC. 2753. (1671.) The provisions of this chapter are intended to apply to causes of action which have already accrued and are not yet barred, subject to the regulations contained in the following two sections.

SEC. 2754. (1672.) The times hereafter allowed for commencing actions in such cases shall not be less than one-half the periods of limitation herein respectively prescribed, except as provided in the next section.

SEC. 2755. (1673.) But where the period of limitation heretofore fixed by statute is not enlarged by the provisions of the first section of this chapter, the time allowed for the commencement of a suit shall in no case be greater than that fixed by the law heretofore in force as applied to those cases.

SEC. 2756. (1674.) The time of limitation in relation to actions for the recovery of real estate as prescribed in this chapter, shall not commenge to run in favor of a settler on any public lands until such lands have been sold by the state.

PRIOR LAWS. 1. Limitation of real actions, 60 years, passed Feb. 26, 1821;
M. D., p. 385, secs. 26 and 28; repealed Nov. 5, 1829; M. D., 1833., p. 408, made 10 years, though rather questionable if it held, as the law was of date 1833, of 60 years.
2. An act to amend an act entitled "An act for the limitation of penal statutes, criminal prosecutions, and actions at law," passed Nov. 5, 1829; M. D., 1833., p. 408.
3. An act for the limitation of suits, &c, passed May 15, 1820; M. D., 1833,
p. 569.
All the above repealed Aug. 30, 1840.
4. An act limiting actions, passed Jan. 25, took effect Feb. 25, 1839; I. T., 1st secs., p. 325. Repealed by No. 5 hereof.
5. An act for the limitation of actions and for avoiding vexatious law suits, passed Feb. 15, took effect July 4, 1843; Reprint, chap. 94, p. 384.

DEcisions Under the Prior Practice. Dormant judgment, how realizable? 5 Iowa, 506; time of limitation, 5 Iowa, 83; use of word "omission of official duty," 7 Iowa, 177; an action may be brought on a judgment instead of scire facias to revive it, 5 Iowa, 506; scire facias on judgment can only be brought in the county of the judgment, 5 Iowa, 506; dower, 6 Iowa, 106; sec. 1670 of Code declares the common law, 3 Iowa, 457; cited in 6 Iowa, 88, and in 7 Iowa, 132; period of, 6 Iowa, 88; mode of pleading, 6 Iowa, 518; construction, 7 Iowa, 132; effect of pleading, 3 Iowa, 434; period of limitation, 6 Iowa, 82; what "out of the state" means, 1 Iowa, 498; its application to garnishment, 4 G., 181, 243; 1 G., 338; and the act of 1839, having been repealed without saving clause, by the act of 1843, it can not aid the time of barring a claim under the new act repealing it, 2 G., 181; how statute of limitations to be construed, 3 Iowa, 418, 322; where discretion of party may date the liability, such date or discretion regulates the time whence the statute begins to run, 1 Iowa, 133; sec. 1672 of Code defined, 6 Iowa, 82; the Code means to allow a party at least as much as half the time of its limitations counting from the date of its going into force, and if that time would expire before the time allowed in sec. 1659, then it allows the longer time of that section, 6 Iowa, 82; the 4th section of the statute of limitations of 1843 can not be pleaded in bar to an action of delit or a judgment from another state, 3 G., 593; nor to one rendered by a justice in this state, 4 G., 445; action against county judge on official bond under chap. 40 of 4th sess., must be brought within three years, 7 Iowa, 177; if, however, the claim is money which he has got from the sale of lots and refused to pay over, it is not barred in three years, ibid.; if for illegally issuing warrants, it is so barred, ibid.; in real actions, ten years which counts from the accruing of the cause of action, 7 Iowa, 114; all actions for real estate must now be commenced within ten years after the cause of action accrued, 8 Iowa, 380; the limitation belongs to the remedy, 4 G., 143; the statute acts on existing causes of action, as well as on those causes which arise after its passage, 5 Iowa, 106; 7 ibid., 114; 6 Iowa, 516; and in such case the question is, when was defendant to pay, and not when did he promise to pay, ibid.; if the statute constituting the bar has been repealed, it should be specially pleading, 2 G., 181; Venmerrr will not lie even though the lapse of time enough to be a bar appears on the face of the pleading, and so the statute should be pleaded, M., 321; but see sec. 2961; the law in force at the time of plea pleaded governs, and not that in force at the time of the suit brought, M., 321; the limitation of possessory actions is not enlarged, but is diminished by the code, 7 Iowa, 92; the statute of limitations does not extinguish the liability, but bars the remedy which may be again revived, 5 Iowa, 418, which seems to be deciding the statute to be one of presumption and not of repose, and so also does the case of 1 G., 347, and M., 59; see note to sec. 368 of the report of Code commissioners on civil practice, p. 315 of report; nature of the admission, 3 Iowa, 418; it may be made either before or after the debt is barred, ibid., and Morehouse v. Gatlenger, Dec., 1859, required to be in writing by sec. 2751; see some admissions held insufficient, 3 G., 322; what "out of the state" in chap. 94 of Reprint means, 1 Iowa, 498; and "beyond sea" in Michigan law, 2 G., 602.
CHAPTER 117.

[Code—Chapter 100.]*

PARTIES TO AN ACTION.

PARTIES TO AN ACTION.

SECTION 2757. Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except as provided in the next section.

Since the code, an assignee takes precisely the same interest on the assignment of every species of demand, either at law or in equity, as he did before. Hence, if the demand is such as was capable of assignment before the code was adopted, so as to carry an equitable interest to the assignee, it is such a demand as will now pass by assignment, so as to give the assignee a right of action thereon. Claims for mere personal torts, which die with the person—such as slander, assault and battery, false imprisonment, crim. con., seduction, and the like, are not assignable; but claims for taking and converting personal property, or for injury to personal property, and it seems, generally, all such rights of action for a tort as would survive to the personal representatives of the party, may be assigned, so as to pass an interest to the assignee, which he can assert in his own name in a civil action under the code, as he formerly might do in the name of the assignor, at law. Butler v. The N. Y. & Erie R. R. Co., 22 Barb., 110; Hodgerman v. Western R. R. Corporation, 7 How., 492.

A right of action for the wrongful taking and conversion of personal property is assignable; and under the provisions of the code, the assignee can recover upon the same in his own name. An assignment by a person of all his property and estate, transfers a right of action existing in his favor for the tortious conversion of personal property. McKee v. Judd, 2 Kern, 622.

No formality is necessary to effect the transfer of a chose in action. Any transaction between the contracting parties indicating their intention to pass the beneficial interest in the instrument from one to the other, is sufficient for that purpose. Hastings v. McKinley; 1 E. D. Smith.

A principal may sue in his own name upon a simple contract in writing made with his agent, and in the agent's name, of which the principal is the sole owner. This section is an enactment of the rule respecting parties which has always prevailed in courts of equity; and it should be applied, as far as practicable, according to the principles adopted in those courts. Grinnell v. Schmidt, 2 Sand., 705.

A dormant partner is a necessary party as a plaintiff in an action for the recovery of a partnership debt founded on a partnership contract, whether the relief sought be legal or equitable. Secor v. Keller, 4 Duer, 416.

Any transaction between the parties which indicates their intention to pass the beneficial interest in the instrument from one to the other is sufficient; a debt or claim may be assigned by parol. Sto. Eq., 311; 4 Taunt., 326; Rob. on Fr., 275; Blackl, 389; 3 Sme., & M., 647; Hastings v. McKinley, 1 E. D., Smith, 273.

* The provisions of this chapter either exactly or substantially, may be found under the same title, in the codes of N. Y., Ohio, Ky., Ind., Mo., Wis., Minn., Cal., Oregon and in all the territories. In order to obtain the exact value of the decisions cited herein as indeed in all this Part Third, the codes on which the decisions are based, should in each case be consulted.

PARTIES TO AN ACTION.

Real party, who is, 1 E. D. Smith, 273; 17 Barb., 458; 2 Sandf., 705; 4 Duer, 416; 5 Schl., 175; 6 O. S. R., 27; 7 Schl., 229; W. L. M., 1st Vol., p. 545.

Our new code of practice has simply adopted, on this subject, the former chancery rule as the general one. Ind. Dig., 632.

Even before the code, the assignee of an assignable right in action, was deemed by courts of law, as well as of equity, to have the real interest in the thing assigned, though not the legal title; and those courts in the exercise of an equitable power over their own proceedings and judgments, would protect those rights of an assignee, by order when applied to for that purpose, though the action was prosecuted in the name of the assignor; while in equity the assignee was allowed as he is now required, in all courts to pursue his action in his own name. The action can not be longer maintained in the name of the assignor; nor is he, in general, at all a proper party. August No. of Western Law Monthly, 1859.

In the Board, etc. v. Mason, 9 Ind. R, 97, a doubt is expressed whether one of two joint payees of a county order could assign his interest to the other, so as to enable the latter to sue in his own name: but there can be no doubt that such an assignment would vest the equitable interest, and enable the assignee, under the statute, to sue. Garrison v. Clark, 11 Ind. R., 369.

The whole subject as to parties, may be summed up thus: Before the new Code, there were two classes of cases, law and equity, in which the rule as to parties was different. The latter system was broader, and embraced the former. It grew out of a necessity occasioned by the complication of the relations among men, which the narrower system did not meet. The framers of the new code determined to have but one system, and from the necessity of the case, were compelled to take the broader, in order to have a system equal to all exigencies. Hence, the old chancery books give the existing rules as to parties.

Where a promise is made by one party to another for the benefit of a third, as if A. promised B. to pay C. a sum of money, it was held at common law, in this state, though in some of the states it was decided differently, that C. could not sue A. for the money, but that the suit must be by B. for C's use—in other words, that the suit must be between the parties by and to whom the promise was made; but it was held, that in equity C. could sue; and as in our present system of pleading and practice the rules of equity prevail, it may, perhaps, be laid down that now, in this state, a person, not a party to a contract, but being the person for whose benefit it is made, may sue. Ind. Dig., 67; Bird v. Lonius, 7 Ind. R., 615. And it seems that the person having the legal interest in such a contract, is a trustee of an express trust, and may also sue. 2 R. S., p. 27, sec. 4; 1 Chit. Eq. Pl., 3; Perkins' Practice.

Possession of a negotiable promissory note is presumptive evidence of title, Moltram v. Mills, 1 Sandl., 37; and where the plaintiff, a bank, sued on a draft payable to W. B. S., their cashier, and the complaint alleged that it was delivered to the said W. B. S., cashier "for the said bank," held, on demurrer to the complaint, that the action was well brought in the name of the bank. Camden Bank v. Rogers, 3 Code Rep., 45; 4 Pr. R., 63; East River Bank v. Judah, 10 Pr. R., 135.

When an agent made a contract in writing in his own name, without disclosing the name of the principal, it was held that the principal was the real party in interest, and might sue on the contract in his own name. Erickson v. Compton, 6 Pr. R., 471.

A. as agent for the plaintiff, effected a policy of insurance on the property of the plaintiff. The policy was in the name of A. as principal, and contained a clause that any loss should be paid to A. only. A. loss having occurred, it was held that plaintiff might maintain an action—being the real party in interest. Lane v. Columbus Ins. Co., 2 Code Rep., 65.

The real owner of a note sued on is a necessary party plaintiff to a suit to recover the amount, and no judgment for the money can be rendered until he is a party. The payee is a proper party plaintiff also. Carpenter v. Miles, 17 B. M., 568.

The fact that the plaintiff has not the actual possession of the note sued upon, does not affect his right to recover upon it. It is sufficient if he have a right to the money due upon it. Smith v. McClure, 5 East., 476; 2 Sand., 47 a. note (1) Selden v. Pringle, 17 Barb., 488; Hastings v. McKinley, 1 E. D.
Smith, 273.

Whether the plaintiff's title be legal or equitable, is immaterial, if he have the whole interest he may maintain the action. Hastings v. McKinley, 1 E. D.
Smith, 273.

It is for the court to say, upon a given state of facts, whether a plaintiff is the real party in interest. Williams v. Yeatman v. Whitlock, 14 Mo. Rep., nett, 18 Mo. Rep., 154; Walker v. Mauro, 18 Mo. Rep., 564; Finney v. Brant, an account may sue in his own name. Smith v. Schobel, 19 Mo. Rep., 140.

A debt, evidenced by a note which is lost, may be assigned, so as to enable the assignee to sue in his own name. Long v. Constant, 19 Mo. Rep., 329.
The assignee of a claim for damages upon a broken covenant of seizin must sue in his own name. Van Doren v. Ielfe, 20 Mo. Rep., 455.

SEC. 2758. An executor or administrator, a guardian, a trustee of an express trust, a party with whom, or in whose name a contract is made for the benefit of another, or a party expressly authorized by statute, may sue in his own name without joining with him the party for whose benefit the suit is prosecuted.

Although a public auctioneer has received his advances and commissions, and has no interest in the property sold, or its proceeds, he may maintain an action for the price where he sells the goods for another. Minturn v. Main, 3 Seld., 220; and Bagert v. O'Regan, 1 E. D. Smith, 590.

A factor or other mercantile agent, who contracts in his own name, on behalf of his principal, is a trustee of an express trust, within the meaning of the code, and is the proper party to bring an action upon the contract. Grinnell
v. Schmidt, 2 Sand., 796.

An executor or administrator may maintain an action, either in his own name or as executor or administrator, for a debt due to the testator or in tes-tate, at the time of his decease. If such an action be brought in his own names, the defendant can not set off a claim against the testator or intestate which existed at the time of his death. Merritt v. Seaman, 2 Seld., 168; Bright v. Currie, 5 Sand., 433.

A person with whom, or in whose name, a contract is made, for the benefit of another, is a trustee of an express trust. Harney v. Dutcher, 15 Mo. Rep.,

On a promissory note given to an executor or administrator, on account of the decedent's estate, he may sue either individually, or in his representative

The nominal proprietor of an individual bank, who furnishes the securities to the comptroller, and to whom the circulating notes of the bank are delivered by that officer, and in whose name as proprietor, all the contracts and transactions of the bank are made and conducted, is a "trustee of an express trust," within the meaning of this section. Burbank v. Beech, 16 Barb., 326.

Mercantile factors or agents doing business for others, but in their own names, are trustees of an express trust. Grinnell v. Schmidt, 3 Code Rep., 19; & 2 Sand., 796.

An auctioneer, who in his own name, sells goods for a third person, is the trustee of an express trust within this section, and may sue on the contract of sale without an assignment to him of the cause of action, Bogart v. O'Regan, PARTIES TO AN ACTION.

1 Smith, 590; but independent of this section it was always the law that an auctioneer might sue on the contract of sale in his own name, unless his principal elected to bring the action in his name. Minburn v. Main, 3 Selden, 224.

SEC. 2759. All persons having an interest in the subject of the action, and in obtaining the relief demanded, may be joined as plaintiffs, except where it is otherwise provided in this code.

The rule prescribed by the code is applicable to all suits, whether at law or in equity. Loomis v. Brown, 16 Barb., 331.

Where an action is brought on an injunction bond, the subject of the action being the damages sustained by the plaintiffs in consequence of an injunction, all the obligees may join as plaintiffs, notwithstanding the claim of one of them is different in its character and amount from that of others. Ibid.

Different persons owning separate tenements affected by a nuisance, may join in suit to restrain, by injunction, the continuance of the nuisance. Peck v. Elder, 3 Sand., 126.

Where the parties claiming an interest are numerous, and a suit is brought for their benefit by others who are active in the prosecution, their consent to the prosecution will be presumed, unless they show some disapproval. Plin v. Spurr, 17 B. M., 513.

Several creditors, having distinct and separate demands, may join in a suit in chancery against the same debtor, to have a fraudulent conveyance of property set aside, or to prevent such conveyance. Simpson, J., Benton, etc. v. Anderson, etc., Ms. opin., January, 1856. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

Where a suit was brought on account by the assignees thereof, in the name of the assignor, it was decided that a promissory note of the assignor, held by the defendant at the time of the assignment, but not then due, could not be set off against such account. Wells v. Mayor, etc., of N. Y., 1 Sand., 23.

Where a suit was brought on account by the assignees thereof, in the name of the assignor, it was decided that a promissory note of the assignor, held by the defendant at the time of the assignment, but not then due, could not be set off against such account. Wells v. Stewart, 3 Barb., 40.

Where a party in interest is liable for the costs, as well those made before as after his interest accrued. Where a party takes an absolute assignment of a demand in suit, he takes it sum omne, entitled to the benefits and subject to the liabilities of the assignor. Miller v. Franklin, 20 id., 630.

Where a bank depositor, who was an indorser on a bill held by the bank, running to maturity, and in whose favor there was a balance of account nearly equal to the bill, made a general assignment for the benefit of creditors; and soon after, and before notice of the assignment, the bill was protested, the assignor fixed as indorser, and the amount of the bill changed to his account on the books of the bank, and the bill was held by the bank uncancelled, when notice of the assignment was given: it was held that the assignee was entitled to recover from the bank the entire sum in deposit, without any deduction for the amount of the bill. Beckwith v. Union Bank, 4 Sand., 610.

Sec. 2761. Any person may be made a defendant who has or claims an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff; or who is a necessary party to a complete determination or settlement of the question involved in the action.

This section was borrowed from the chancery practice, and was intended to preserve the right and duty of a plaintiff to make parties all persons directly interested in the question or controversy stated in the complaint. Vo orhies v. Baxter, 1 Abbott, 45.

The assignee of a mortgage may be made a defendant in an action to set aside the mortgage as usurious. Niles v. Randall, 2 Coxe Rep., 31.

Where the plaintiff in a judgment creditor’s bill attempts to reach the moneys due on a mortgage, which he alleges has been fraudulently assigned by the debtor, the assignee of the mortgage must be made a party, although he resides out of the state. Gray v. Schenck, 4 Comm., 460.

The vendee of a party is a necessary party to an action to stay waste, intermediate the contract for sale and the completion of the sale. Kild v. Dennison, 6 Barb., 9.

Where an infant is a party to a contract, in an action on such contract it is not necessary to make the infant a party. Slocum v. Hooker, 6 Pr., R., 167.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage, every person interested in the division of the proceeds of the estate should be made a party defendant. Denton v. Nanny, 8 Barb., 618.

It is not necessary to join all the parties to a tort as defendants; one, or more, or all, may be sued jointly, or each separately. 6 Johns. Rep., 26, 31.

Where the tort, however, consists of a verbal slander by two or more, a separate action must be brought against each; they can not be sued jointly. Ibid.

Where a complaint in the nature of a creditor’s bill against the original debtor and his assignees, seeks to set aside an assignment made for the benefit of creditors, it is not necessary to make all the creditors parties defendant. The assignees in such case represent all the creditors interested in the trust. It would be otherwise if the action were to establish and carry out the assignment, or for portions of the trust fund. Bank of British N. America v. Saydam, 6 Pr., 379.

Several causes of action can properly be united in one complaint only where they each affect all the parties to the action. It is not sufficient that some of the defendants be affected by each or all of them. All the defendants must be affected by each of them to warrant the union of them in one suit. The Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad Co. v. Goodman, 15 How., 85.

But it has been held that the creditor of an estate can not, in a mere personal suit, join the administrator, widow and heirs, as defendants. Ind. Dig., 632.

In an action for specific performance of a contract to convey several lots of land, being part of a tract owned by one of the defendants, and upon which he had given mortgages prior to the contract to sell; held, that the prior mortgagees were improperly made parties defendants to the action. They should not be involved in a lawsuit in anticipation that they might foreclose and sell the plaintiff’s lots first. When they undertake proceedings touching the plaintiff’s rights, it will then be time enough for him to move. Chapman v. Draper, 10 How., 367.

Sec. 2762. (1679.) Persons having an united interest must be joined as parties to an action.
486 PARTIES TO AN ACTION. [PART 3.
joined on the same side, either as plaintiffs or defendants. But when some who should thus be made plaintiffs refuse to join, they may be made defendants; the reasons thereof being set forth in the petition.

The surviving partner and the personal representatives of a deceased partner, can not be united as defendants in an action to recover a partnership debt. The surviving partner is alone liable at law; and it is only when the remedies at law are exhausted, that relief may be had in equity against the representatives of a deceased partner. Higgins v. Freeman, 2 Duer, 650.

Where a receiver, appointed by the court under a creditor's bill, commences an action in equity, to reach the equitable interests of a judgment debtor, in a fund held in trust for him, the judgment debtor is a necessary party to the action against the trustee. Vanderpool v. Van Valkenburgh, 2 Selden, 190.

In a suit to foreclose a mortgage, one who claims adversely to the title of the mortgagor, and prior to the mortgage, can not properly be made a party defendant for the purpose of trying the validity of such adverse claim of title. Cuming v. Smith, 2 Selden, 82.

Where the receiver of the property of a judgment debtor appointed by the court, under a creditor's bill, commences suit against the trustee of a judgment debtor, to reach the equitable interest of the latter in a fund held in trust for him, the judgment debtor is a necessary party to the suit. Vanderpool v. Valkenburgh, 2 Selden, 190. See also unknown heirs of Whitney v. Kimball, 4 Ind. R. 546; 20 Mo., 269.

SEC. 2763. (1680.) When the question is one of a common or general interest to many persons, or when the parties are very numerous and it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of the whole.

Where parties plaintiffs, or defendants, are numerous, and it is impracticable to bring them before the court in a reasonable time, one or more may prosecute or defend for all. Stiles, J., Pettitt v. Perry, Miss. opin., January, 1855; Stanton's Ky. Code.

Where a fund was devised to a trustee for the benefit of the superannuated preachers of a particular conference, it was held that the superannuated preachers of that body, so entitled to the benefit of that fund, had such an interest as would enable them to maintain an action for the proper execution of the trust for their own and the future benefit of others entitled thereto. Stites, J., Walker v. Paul, Miss. opin., June, 1855; Stanton's Ky. Code.

A member of an unincorporated association can not maintain, in his name, for the benefit of the association, an action on a note given to, or held by the association, without showing by his complaint the articles or other instrument which gives him such right or authority. The mere fact that the society is unincorporated will not warrant such a suit; nor will a statement that the plaintiff is specially authorized to bring the suit in behalf of the company. Hobich v. Pemberton, 4 Sand., 657.

To enable a plaintiff to bring a suit in his own right, and on behalf of others having a common interest, it is not sufficient to allege that the other parties are so numerous that it would be impracticable to bring them all before the court, but the nature of their common interest must appear to be such as would entitle them, were they all before the court, to maintain the action in their own right, or in their own names. Ibid.

In an action in which an injunction is prayed for, all persons interested in the subject matter in suit must be made parties; except where the parties interested are so numerous that it would be impossible or productive of great inconvenience, to make them all parties, in which case, one of the parties interested, may sue on behalf of himself and all others interested with him; but a plaintiff suing thus must distinctly state in his complaint that he sues as well on behalf of himself as on behalf of all others equally interested with him. Smith v. Lockwood, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 319; 13 Barb., 218.

In what cases and for what reasons courts will permit a plaintiff to commence an action in his own behalf, as well as in behalf of others. See Bouton v. The City of Brooklyn, 15 Barb., 375.

SEC. 2764. Where two or more persons are bound by contract, or by judgment, decree or statute, whether jointly only or jointly and severally, or severally only, and including the parties to negotiable paper, common orders, and checks, and sureties on the same, or separate instruments—the action thereon may, at the plaintiff’s option, be brought against any or all of them. When any of those so bound are dead, the action may be brought against any or all the survivors, with any or all of the representatives of the decedents—or against any or all such representatives. An action or judgment against any one or more of several persons jointly bound, shall not be a bar to proceedings against the others.

Although the several parties to a bill or note may be sued in one action, yet their being so sued does not make them jointly liable. Alfred v. Watkins, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 343.

At common law, when a covenant was entered into by two or more, severally and not jointly, a joint action against the covenantors could not be maintained. The principle was intended to be changed by the code, so as to permit the plaintiff to include in the same action all or any of the parties severally liable upon the same obligation or instrument. So also, at common law, where the contract was joint and several, the plaintiff must sue each separately or all together. This principle was changed by the code. The plaintiff is now allowed, at his option, to sue any one or more in the same action. But where S. made a contract under seal, and by a separate instrument, also under seal, P. guaranteed the performance by S. of his contract, held that a joint action could not be maintained against S. and P. De Ridder v. Schimerhorn, 10 Barb., 638.

A promissory note and a guaranty of payment written upon it, are different instruments, and impose distinct and different obligations. A joint action, therefore, against the maker and guarantor, can not be maintained. The code does not allow a joint action against several, unless they are liable on the same obligation or instrument, in which case all or any of them may be included in the same action, at the option of the plaintiff. Allen v. Fasgate, 11 How., 218.

SEC. 2765. The court may determine any controversy between parties before it when it can be done without prejudice to the rights of others, or by saving their rights. But when a determination of the controversy between the parties before the court, can not be made without the presence of other parties, the court must order them to be brought in.

Under the code, the power to thus admit parties is unrestricted even to the substitution of entirely new parties, if the claim or defense is not changed. Hubler v. Pullen, 9 Ind. R., 273; ibid., 291; Dearmond v. Dearmond, 10 Ind. R., 101; Jones v. Julian, 12 Ind. R.

It was not very material, in chancery, whether parties stood before the court in the character of plaintiffs or defendants, as the court adjusted the equities between them all; nor can the point be very material under the code. Perkins’ practice.

One question raised upon the trial was, that the attorney general should have been made a party; to which it was answered that the defendants, not having taken the objection, either by answer or demurrer, had waived it.
The court said in effect, that, it appearing that a complete determination of the question in suit could not be had without the presence of the attorney general, he had not only the power, but it was his duty to order the attorney general to be made a party, and did so. Davis v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 2 Duer, 603.

This section is the controlling section in determining whether a demurrer for defect of parties is well taken or not. Wallace v. Eaton, 5 Pr. R., 99-102.
Notwithstanding the 36th sec. Rev. Stat., p. 699, provides, where an appeal is taken from the decision of the county court, in the matter of the probate of a will, that “all necessary parties shall be brought before the court,” yet, when the record shows that the devisees, who are not before the court, are non-residents, and may have (by the 38th section supra,) a re-trial of the question of probate within three years, and that the controversy may be, therefore, determined without prejudice to their interests, the failure to make them parties is no ground of reversal. Duval, J., Horton v. Horton, Miss. opin., December, 1857. Stanton's Ky. Code.

When the affidavit of a garnishee and that of his creditor show that the money sought to be recovered of the garnishee belongs to one not a party to the suit, it is notice to the plaintiff, and the court should require such person to be brought before the court. Forepaugh, etc., v. Appold, 17 B. M., 632.

It is error to order the sale of attached effects, where the defendant has only an undivided interest with one who is not a defendant; such person should be made a party. Talbot v. Pierce, 14 B. M., 292.

When a determination of the controversy between the parties before the court can not be made without the presence of other parties, the court must order them to be brought in. Johnson's Heirs v. Chandler's Heirs, 15 B. M., 589.

One who was statutory guardian filed his petition to sell real estate belonging to his wards; was appointed commissioner to sell, and gave bond for due payment to his wards. Suit was instituted against the guardian and his surety, upon the bond given, by order of the circuit court, and recovery had; held, that the sureties in the bond given in the county court, were not indispensable parties, and the recovery was right. Ibid., 590.

SEC. 2766. When in an action for the recovery of real or personal property, any person having an interest in the property applies to be made a party, the court may order it to be done by the proper amendment.

A person not a party but having an interest, can not be made a party to an action on contract to recover money. This section must be confined to actions for the recovery of real or specific personal property. Judd v. Young, 7 Pr. R., 79.

The provision allowing a third person to be made a party, extends only to actions for the recovery of real or personal property, and not to an action in the nature of a creditor's bill. Tallman v. Hollister, 9 Pr. R., 508.

Sec. 2767. Upon affidavit of a defendant before answer in any action upon contract for the recovery of personal property, that some third party without collusion with him, has, or makes a claim to the subject of the action, or on proof thereof as the court may direct, the court may make an order for the safe keeping, or for the payment or deposit in court, or delivery of the subject of the action to such person as it may direct, and an order requiring such third person to appear in a reasonable time and maintain or relinquish his claim against the defendant, and in the mean time stay the proceedings. If such third party, being served with a copy of the order, fails to appear, the court may declare him barred of all claim in respect to the subject of the action against the defendant therein. If such third person appears, he shall be allowed to make himself defendant in the action in lieu of the original defendant who shall be discharged from all liability to either of the other parties, in respect to the subject of the action upon his compliance with the order of the court for the payment, deposit, or delivery thereof.

An order of interpleader, under this section, can only properly be made when the whole controversy turns upon the right of property; that is, upon the question whether the plaintiff in the suit, or the claimant whose substitution as the defendant is desired, is the true owner of the debt, fund, or other property for which judgment is demanded. Where the plaintiff relies on and has averred in his complaint, a special promise or contract to pay the value of the property sold to the defendant, and the same property is claimed by a third person as being the real owner, the latter cannot be substituted or made a defendant in the action, because it would deprive the plaintiff of his legal remedy; and might involve the sacrifice of his legal rights without affording him any equivalent or compensation. Where a plaintiff seeks to recover a debt arising upon contract, the claimant who seeks to be substituted a defendant, must, in the language of the code, be "a third person, not a party to the suit making a demand for the same debt." A demand by such third person for the identical property as owner, and that the plaintiff had no authority to make the sale to the defendant in the action, is not ground for interpleader. As owner he must seek his remedies against the defendant or those into whose hands the property may have passed. In such a case if the defendant in the action has not rendered himself absolutely liable upon his promise, and the sale of the property made to the plaintiff through whom the defendant derived title, was fraudulent and void, the title of the true owner may be set up by the defendant as a full defense. Sherman, agt. v. Partridge, 11 How., 154.

SEC. 2768. The provisions of the last section shall be applicable to an action brought against a sheriff, or other officer, for the recovery of personal property taken by him under an attachment or execution, or for the proceeds of such property so taken and sold by him. And the defendant in any such action shall be entitled to the benefit of these provisions against the party in whose favor the attachment or execution issued, upon exhibiting to the court the process under which he acted, with his affidavit that the property, for the recovery of which, or its proceeds, the action was brought, was taken under such process.

SEC. 2769. In an action against a sheriff, or other officer, for the recovery of property taken under an attachment or execution, the court may, upon the application of the defendant and of the party in whose favor the process issued, permit the latter to be substituted as the defendant, sureties for the costs being given.

If defendant be substituted, and security for costs be not given at the time of substitution, it will be regarded as waived, and not afterward required, unless there has been some surprise. Gunn v. Gudethus, 15 B. M., 449.

SEC. 2770. An action to recover the possession of specific personal property taken under a landlord's attachment, when it is brought by the tenant or his assignee or under-tenant, may be against the party who sued out the attachment; and the property claimed by such action, may, under the writ therefor, be taken from the officer who seized it, when he has no other claim to hold it than that derived from the writ. The indorsement of a levy on the property made upon the process by the officer holding it, shall be a sufficient taking of the property to sustain the action against the party who sued out the writ.

1. When the action concerns her separate property, or is founded on her own contract, she may sue and be sued alone.
2. When the action is between herself and her husband, she may sue and be sued alone. And in no case need she prosecute or defend by guardian or next friend.*

* Regarding this section the commissioners in their report, say: The substantive laws of Iowa, with justice, and but proper humanity, concede to married women certain rights in property. These rights, to be of any value, must be accompanied with adjective rights, which will secure their enjoyment. The right to sue, follows...
A husband is an indispensable party in all cases where the wife is a party except that where the action concerns her separate property, she may sue alone. Stiles, J., Beaumont v. Miller; Mss. Opin., June 1858. Stanton's Ky. Code.

Where money belonging to a married woman and which has never been in her husband's possession, is lent by her, with his assent, and a promissory note given to her for the amount, she may maintain an action thereon without joining her husband as co-plaintiff. Where a female, prior to her marriage, comes into the possession of money which she invests, and after her marriage she keeps the same in form of a chose in action, payable to her with the express consent of her husband, it remains her property, and an action upon the security is properly brought in her name alone. Smart v. Comstock, 24 Barb., 411.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage, executed by husband and wife, on the lands of the wife, and to enforce payment on the bond executed by both, it was held that the action was properly brought against both husband and wife. Conde v. Shepherd, 4 Pr. R., 75; Conde v. Nelson, 2 Cole R., 58.

In an action for the partition or sale of real estate of the husband, held in common, the wife is a necessary party, and must be joined. Ripple v. Gilborn, 8 Pr. R., 456.

An inchoate right of dower is an interest which results from the marital relation, and does not belong to the wife as her separate estate. Ackerson v. Vollmer, 11 How., 42.

In an action of slander for words spoken of a married woman, where the words are actionable per se, the husband is a necessary party as plaintiff—otherwise if the words are not actionable per se; then the husband must sue alone. Klein v. Hentz, 2 Duer, 633. A husband and wife are properly joined as defendants in an action for a tortious injury to personal property, although the injury was committed by the sole act of the wife, without the knowledge or assent of the husband. Matthews v. Feistal & wife, 2 E. D. Smith, 90.

An inchoate right of dower is an interest which results from the marital relation, and does not belong to the wife as her separate estate. Ackerson v. Vollmer, 11 How., 42.

Separate property of a femme covert is that of which she has the exclusive control, independent of her husband, and the proceeds of which she may dispose of as she pleases. That character is imparted to the property by the instrument which invests her with the right to it. Johnson & wife v. Jones, 12 B. M., 329; Petty v. Malier, 14 B. M., 247.

If there is a joint interest in the husband and wife, the husband should join, or the suit would be defective. Smith v. Kearney, 9 Pr. R., 463.

SEC. 2772. When sued alone, judgment shall be enforced against her separate property.

SEC. 2773. When suing alone, judgment may be enforced against necessarily from the right of property. The only reason why, under the common law, she could not sue at law was, that as she had no rights of property, she had no occasion to do so—as in progress of humanity, she began to have rights conceded to her—the right to sue, also arose, and as it was not recognized by common law, she had to go into a court of chancery to enjoy it. It would have been easier to have enacted a statute, allowing such suit at law; but there were many reasons why in that age, the equity court in such affairs was best. But all these have passed away, and as she is to have substantive rights which Iowa has already said, we can not see why she should not have all the rights logically sequent thereto, the same as any body else. She also formally had to sue by next friend, and so forth, because she was incapable of making a contract, and had no property to pay costs with, if cast in the suit. But, these reasons no longer exist, and the disabilities based on them, should also logically cease.

Besides, if she trades and becomes liable, what sense is there in not allowing her creditor to sue her, as any other person, ignoring the fact of marriage, as much as in the case of a man, a fact which has no longer anything to do with the liability.
her separate property, or her husband being brought in by rule, execution may issue against him also, unless for cause he show that he is not interested in the suit by the wife.

Where infants appear in court on their own petition, to be made parties to a suit, it is indispensable that a summons be served on the infant, unless the infant be legally before the court in some other mode and

SEC. 2778. The defense of an infant must be by his regular guardian, or by a guardian appointed to defend him, where no regular guardian appears, or where the court directs a defense by a guardian appointed for that purpose. No judgment can be rendered against an infant until after a defense by a guardian.

SEC. 2779. The appointment can not be made until after service of the notice in the action as directed by this code, and may then be made by the court or judge thereof, or during vacation by the clerk of the district court; but the court shall have power to remove such guardian and appoint another instead, whenever the interests of the infant requires such a change.

SEC. 2780. The appointment may be made upon the application of any friend of the infant if he is of the age of fourteen years, and applies at or before the term to which the notice is served. If he is under the age of fourteen, or does not so apply, the appointment may be made upon the application of any friend of the infant, or on that of the plaintiff in the action.

SEC. 2781. The action of a person of unsound mind, must be brought by his guardian, or if he has none, by his next friend. When brought by his next friend, the action is subject to the power of the court in the same manner as the action of an infant so brought.

SEC. 2782. The defense of an action against a person of unsound mind, must be brought by his guardian or a guardian appointed by the court to defend for him, when no guardian appears, or when the court directs a defense by a guardian. The guardian to defend may be appointed at the application of any friend of the defendant, or on that of the plaintiff, and no appointment can be made until after service of the notice, as directed in this code, and no judgment can be rendered against him until after a defense by guardian.

Sec. 2783. Where a party is found to be of unsound mind during the pendency of an action, the fact being stated on the record, if he is plaintiff, his guardian may be joined with him in the action as such; if he is defendant, the plaintiff may, on ten days' notice thereof to his guardian, have an order making the guardian a defendant also.

Sec. 2784. No judgment can be rendered against a prisoner in the penitentiary, until after a defense made for him by his attorney, or if there is none, by a person appointed by the court to defend for him.

Co-partnership.
Sec. 2785. A co-partnership may sue or be sued in its firm name; and when so sued the individual property of any member of such firm, may, on seire facias, be made liable to the judgment, unless he show cause to the contrary. A co-partnership may also sue or be sued in the individual names of its members.*

Name on instrument.
Sec. 2786. (1692.) When an action is founded on a written instrument, suit may be brought by or against any of the parties thereto, by the same name and description as those by which they are designated in such instrument.

Bond.
Sec. 2787. When a bond or other instrument given to the state or to any officer or person, is intended for the security of the public generally, or of particular individuals, suit may be brought thereon in the name of any person intended to be thus secured, who has sustained any injury in consequence of a breach thereof; or by such party in the name of the obligee, the body politic may sue in the name of the obligee in the bond, and in case a motion is allowable, such party may, in the same manner, make such motion.

Defendant described.
Sec. 2788. (1694.) When the precise name of any defendant can not be ascertained, he may be described as accurately as practicable, and when the name is ascertained it shall be substituted in the proceedings.

Corporations.
Sec. 2789. (1695.) Corporations, foreign or domestic, may bring suit in the courts of this state in their corporate name.

Seduction,party.
Sec. 2790. An unmarried female may prosecute, as plaintiff, an action for her own seduction, and recover such damages as may be found in her favor.

Same.
Sec. 2791. A father, or in case of his death or desertion of his family, or imprisonment, the mother, may prosecute as plaintiff for the seduction of the daughter; and the guardian for the seduction of the ward, though the daughter or ward be not living with, nor in the service of the plaintiff at the time of the seduction, or afterwards, and there be no loss of service; but when the action is brought by the guardian, the damages recovered shall inure to the benefit of the ward.

Sec. 2792. A father, or in case of his death or imprisonment or desertion of his family, the mother, may prosecute as plaintiff an action for the expenses and actual loss of service resulting from the injury or death of a minor child.

But the infant must sue for the injury to himself, 15 Barb., 249.

* On this section the commissioners say:
We recognize in a co-partnership, a party other than, and different from any of, or all its members—having a purse of its own—that a creditor of it has a right to sue it, and get a judgment against it and levy on its goods. Such a mode of suing has sometimes its advantages.

CHAPTER 118.

PLACE OF BRINGING SUIT.

[Code—Chapter 101.]

SECTION 2795. Actions for the following causes must be brought in the county in which the subject of the action, or some part thereof is situated:

1. For the recovery of real property or of an estate therein, or for the determination in any form of such right or interest.
2. For the partition of real property.
3. For the foreclosure of a mortgage of real property, or for the sale of real property under any incumbrance or charge.
4. For injuries to real property.
5. For the possession of personal property.

In an action for the foreclosure of a mortgage, the "proper county" for the place of trial is where the mortgaged premises are situated, although the money may be loaned and the mortgage executed and delivered to the mortgagee in another county. Miller v. Hull, 3 How., 325.

An action to have a conveyance of land declared fraudulent, and that it be held in trust for another, is an action to determine an interest in real property. Wood v. Holtister, 3 Abb., 14; and see Mairs v. Remson, 3 C. R., 158.

The supreme court may compel the specific performance, by a resident of the state, of a contract for the conveyance of land, lying without its jurisdiction. It has the same jurisdiction in this class of cases as that possessed by the former court of chancery. This jurisdiction is not taken away by the statute, which enacts that actions for the recovery of real estate or an interest therein, or for the determination of a right or interest in real property, must be tried in the county where the land lies. This provision of the code is not applicable when the land which is the subject of the action lies out of the state. Newton v. Bronson, 3 Kern., 587.
SEC. 2796. Actions for the following causes must be brought in the same county where the cause, or some part thereof, arose:

1. An action for the recovery of a fine, penalty, or forfeiture imposed by a statute, except that when the offense for which the claim is made was committed on a water course or road, which is the boundary of two counties, the action may be brought in either of them.

2. An action against a public officer, or person specially appointed to execute his duties, for an act done by him in virtue or under color of his office, or against one who by his command or in his aid, shall do anything touching the duties of such officer, or for neglect of official duty.

3. An action upon the official bond of a public officer.

This section held not to apply to officers of the United States, and that they must, under the general statute of the state, as to private individuals, be sued in the county where they reside. Freeman v. Robinson, 7 Ind., 321.

SEC. 2797. An action when aided by attachment may be brought in any county of the state, wherever any part of the property sought to be attached may be found, when the defendant, whose property is thus pursued, is a non-resident of this state. If such defendant is a resident of this state, such action must be brought in the county of his residence, or that in which the contract was to be performed, except that if an action be duly brought against such defendant in any other county by virtue of any provisions of this chapter, then such action may, if legal cause for an attachment exist, be aided by an attachment.

SEC. 2798. (1704.) When by its terms a contract is to be performed in any particular place, action for a breach thereof, may be brought in the county wherein such place is situated.

SEC. 2799. An action against a railroad company, or an owner of a common carrier, line of mail stages, or other coaches, for an injury to person or property, upon the road or line, or upon a liability as a carrier, may be brought in any county through or into which said road or line passes.

SEC. 2800. (1701.) Except where otherwise provided herein, personal actions must be brought in a county wherein some of the defendants actually reside. But if none of them have any residence within this state, they may be sued in any county wherein either of them may be found.

A railroad company must be treated as an inhabitant and a freeholder in each county where its track is laid.

It is a resident of every county through which its road passes, (15 Barb., 560,) and a resident of the county where the office of the company is located and its general business carried on. Cunové v. Nat. Pro. Ins. Co., 10 Pr. R., 403.

SEC. 2801. When a corporation, company, or individual has an office in any county for the transaction of business, any suits growing out of or connected with the business of that office or agency, may be brought in the county where such office or agency is located.

SEC. 2802. If a suit be brought in the wrong county, it may be there prosecuted to a termination, unless the defendant, before answer, demand a change of venue to the proper county. In which case the court shall order the same at the costs of the plaintiff, and may award the defendant a reasonable compensation for his trouble and expenses in attending at the wrong county.

Decisions under the prior practice. In a personal action the petition need not state where contract was to be performed, Crow v. Crow, Dec., 1859; action for specific performance is local, Johns v. Orcutt, Dec., 1859; where there is no service and jurisdiction is got by attachment, action should be in a county where is some of the property attached, Heidrich v. Gillispie, 3 Iowa, 291; trespass personal, M., 248; 2 Iowa, 160; sec. 1704 only applies to cases of personal service, ibid; note secured by mortgage may be sued where it could be if not so secured, Breckenridge v. Brown, and Same v. Scott, both Dec., 1859; a corporation is a person under section 1701, 3 Iowa, 519; a corporation (railroad) resides in every county through which its road runs, or in which its corporate powers are exercised, 5 Iowa, 519; motion to change venue for suit in wrong county not the appliance with which to object to an improper joinder, 7 Iowa, 465; on such motion the legality of the joinder can not be tried, 8 Iowa, 549; a justice can not find error in the transmission to him of a case by change of venue, 1 Iowa, 568; objection must be made in district court, else disregarded in supreme, 7 Iowa, 3.

CHAPTER 119.

[Code—Chapter 102.]

CHANGE OF VENUE.

When granted.

Section 2803. A change of venue in any civil action, may be had in any of the following cases:

1. Where the county in which the suit is pending is a party thereto.

2. Where the judge is a party, or is directly interested in the suit, or is connected by blood or affinity, with any person so interested, nearer than in the fourth degree.

3. Where either party files an affidavit, stating that the inhabitants of the county are, or the judge is so prejudiced against him, or that the adverse party or his attorney, has such an undue influence over the inhabitants of the county, that he can not obtain a fair trial. Where it is made to appear to the judge that a jury of twelve men can not be obtained in the county where said action is pending, then upon application of either party, a change of venue shall be granted to the nearest county in which a jury can be obtained.

To whom application, only one change.

Sec. 2804. The application for a change of venue may be made, either to the court or to the judge in vacation, and if made in term time, shall not be awarded until issue be made up, unless objection be to the court; nor shall such application be allowed after a continuance, except for a cause not known to the affiant before such continuance, and after one change, no party is entitled to another, for any cause in existence, when the first change was obtained.

Where to.

Sec. 2805. The venue shall be changed to some other county in the same district, unless the objections are to the judge, or unless the objection made is claimed to hold to all the other counties of the district, and shall be to the most convenient county to which no objection is made.

Duty of judge.

Sec. 2806. (1709.) If the change is ordered by the judge in vaca-

* The general spirit of this chapter remains the same, and yet every section but one has been in some degree modified.

tion, he must immediately transmit to the clerk, where the cause is pending, the affidavit, if any, and the order for the change.

Sec. 2807. In such case, as well as where the order is made in open court, the clerk must forthwith transmit to the clerk of the proper court, strongly enveloped and sealed, a transcript of the record and proceedings in such cause with all the original papers filed therein, having first made out and filed in his own office, authenticated copies of all such original papers, but if less than all of several plaintiffs or defendants take such change, the clerk shall so transmit not the original papers, but a copy thereof instead, and shall retain the original papers in his office, and as to those who take no change, the cause shall proceed as if no change had been taken by any co-party.

Sec. 2808. Upon filing such transcript and papers in the office of the clerk of the court to which the same were certified, the cause shall be docketed without fee, and proceeded in as though it had originated therein.

Sec. 2809. The costs occasioned by such change of venue, including those of the transcript and transmission, and those growing out of the preparation of the other party for trial, shall, unless such change be taken under subdivision 2 of section 2803, be taxed against the applicant and not as a part of the costs of the case, and the clerk may require payment of the costs of the transcript and transmission, before the case is transmitted as aforesaid.

Sec. 2810. If change of venue be taken in vacation, and the applicant therefor has not procured the transmission of the papers to the proper county, before the first day of the next term thereafter, then such party shall be held to have waived his change of venue, and the cause shall be retained in the court where pending for trial therein, unless such non-transmission be the entire fault of the clerk. And if such change be taken during a term of court, unless the cause be so transmitted as aforesaid, or the costs of the clerk therefor be paid or secured by the morning of the second day thereafter, or before said cause be reached for trial, if sooner reached, then such cause shall be retained for trial in the court where pending, and tried as if no change had been prayed.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. A change of venue can not be by the court conditioned on the claimants giving a bond for the additional costs incurred by such change, 4 Iowa, 540; a change of venue may be conditioned on the payment into court of the costs occasioned by such change, 4 Iowa, 540; a change of venue from the judge, waived, does not preclude one from the inhabitants of the county, 4 Iowa, 540; an application for change of venue after a continuance, should show a reason for its delay, and if sworn to by the attorney, should show a reason why, 5 Iowa, 268, [see section 2804]; the right to a change of venue after its grant may be waived by an appearance, and trial under the objectionable jurisdiction, 4 Iowa, 540; presumption as to change, 2 Iowa, 433; any one may swear as well as party, 4 G., 417; defines "convenient," 2 Iowa, 433; jurisdiction determines on granting change of venue, 4 G., 415; who pays costs of transcript, 2 Iowa, 425; what must be transmitted, 4 G., 322; costs include those of the term, 2 Iowa, 435.
THE MANNER OF COMMENCING ACTIONS.

SECTION 2811. (1714.) Actions originating in the district court are to be commenced by serving the defendant with the notice hereinafter described.

SEC. 2812. Such notice must be signed by the plaintiff or his attorney, and must inform the defendant of the name of the plaintiff, and, that on or before a date therein named, a petition will be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county wherein suit is brought, naming it and stating generally the nature of the claim, or claims, if more than one, without the need of stating the facts constituting the cause thereof (as for example on account for a promissory note—for work—for goods sold—for assault and battery—for slander—for the recovery of personal or real property, or in some other such general way,) and if the action is for money, how much is claimed—and that unless he appears thereto and defends, before noon of the second day of the term, at which said defendant is required by law to appear—naming it—or at such other time, as may be by general rule of such court prescribed, default will be entered against him, and judgment rendered thereon. If the defendant fail to appear, judgment shall not be rendered for a larger amount than the sum therein claimed and costs.

SEC. 2813. If the petition is not filed by the date thus fixed, and ten days before the term, the action will be deemed discontinued.

SEC. 2814. The notice may be served by any person not a party to the action.

SEC. 2815. The defendant, if served otherwise than by publication, shall be held to appear at the next term after service, provided—

1. He be served within the county where suit is brought in such time as to leave at least ten days between the day of service and the first day of the next term.
2. He be served without the county, but within the judicial district, so as to leave at least fifteen such days.
3. He be served elsewhere within the state so as to leave twenty such days.
4. He be served without the state so as to leave ten such days for every one thousand miles or fraction thereof, extending between the county of suit and the place of service, which distance shall be judicially noticed by the court. If not so served, he shall be held to appear at the second term thereafter.

The statute nowhere requires a summons to be returnable on the first day of the term; but it must be served ten days before that day, that is the Friday week before the Monday on which the term commences. See Blair v. Mason, 9 Ind. R., 357; ibid., 544; ibid., 296.

SEC. 2816. The notice shall be served as follows:

1. By reading the notice to the defendant or offering to read it in case he neglects or refuses to hear it read, and in either case by delivering him personally a copy of the notice, or if he refuses to receive it, offering to deliver it.
2. If not found within the county of his residence, by leaving a copy of the notice at his usual place of residence, with some member of the family over fourteen years of age.

3. By taking an acknowledgment of the service indorsed on the notice, dated, and signed by the defendant.

Sec. 2817. If served personally, the return must state the time and manner and place of making the service, and that a copy was delivered to defendant, or offered to be delivered. If made by leaving a copy with the family, it must state at whose house the same was left and that it was the usual place of residence of the defendant—and the township, town or city in which the house was situated, the name of the person with whom the same was left, or a sufficient reason for omitting to do so, and that such person was over fourteen years of age, and was a member of the family.

The term “family” is not confined to persons under the control, or in the employ of the defendant. Thus, if a son take his widowed mother to reside with him, she is a member of his family within the meaning of the statute. Ellington v. Moore, 17 Mo. Rep., 424.

Sec. 2818. If notice is served out of the county where suit is pending, either within or without the state, return may be made by mail and the postage thereon taxed among the costs.

Sec. 2819. If notice is placed in the hands of the sheriff of the county wherein action is brought, he must note thereon the date when thus left with him, and must proceed to serve the same without delay, if possible, within his county, and must file the same with his return thereon immediately thereafter in the office of the clerk of the district court. If placed in the hands of the sheriff of any other county, he must serve the same if possible within his county at once, and return the same by mail to the party from whom he received it, with his return thereon, immediately thereafter.

Sec. 2820. If a notice be not duly filed by the sheriff, or if the return thereon is defective, the officer making the same may be fined by the court not exceeding ten dollars, and shall also be liable to the action of any person aggrieved thereby. But the court may permit an amendment according to the truth of the case.

Sec. 2821. Notice shall not be served on Sunday, unless the plaintiff make oath thereon that personal service will not be possible unless then made, and a notice indorsed with such affidavit shall be served by the sheriff, or may be served by another, as on a secular day.

Sec. 2822. (1724.) The plaintiff may notify either of the defendants that no personal claim is made against him, in which case a copy of that notice must accompany the return. If after such notice and return such defendant unreasonably defend, he must pay costs to the plaintiff.

Sec. 2823. If service be made within the state, the truth of the return is proven by the signature of the sheriff, or his deputy, when made by either of them in his own county, and the court shall take judicial notice thereof. If made without the state or by one not such officer within the state, the return may be proven by the affidavit of him making the same, certified by one empowered to administer oaths.

Sec. 2824. (1726.) If a county is defendant, service may be made on the county judge or clerk of the county court. If any other civil corporation, upon a trustee or other officer thereof.

Sec. 2825. (1727.) When an action is brought against a corporate description of any other description, service may be made upon either of its officers, or on any clerk or agent engaged in the active management of the ordinary business of the corporation.

SEC. 2826. If brought against a corporation having no officers, or a partnership, service may be made upon any member thereof, or upon any agent employed in the general management of their business.

SEC. 2827. When a corporation, company, or individual, has, for the transaction of any business, an office or agency in any county, other than that in which the principal resides, service may be made upon any agent or clerk employed in such office or agency, in all actions growing out of, or connected with, the business of that office or agency.

Where a summons is returned served on A. B., agent of a corporation named, it will be presumed, until the contrary is shown, that the service was regular. 11 Ind. R., 339.

A person acting in New York, under a power of attorney, for an insurance company located at Utica, authorizing such person to effect insurances on behalf of said company, held to be such managing agent, of said company as to authorize the commencement of an action against such company by serving the summons upon such person. Bain v. Globe Insurance Co., 9 Pr. R., 448.

To authorize legal service of summons and complaint upon a foreign corporation, where it is made upon its managing agent in this state, the managing agent must be one whose agency extends to all the transactions of the corporation—one who has, or is engaged in, the management of the corporation, in distinction from the management of a particular branch or department of its business. Brewster v. Michigan Central Railroad Co., 5 Pr. R., 183.

An action can not be legally commenced against a railroad corporation (for loss of baggage, or anything else) by the service of a summons on a baggage master in the service of such corporation. He is not such a managing agent as the law requires. Flynn v. Hudson River Railroad Company, 6 Pr. R., 308.

SEC. 2828. When the defendant is a minor under the age of fourteen years, the service must be made on him, and also on his father or mother or guardian, and if there be none of these within the state, then on the person within this state having the care and control of such minor, or with whom he shall reside, or in whose service he shall be employed. When the infant is over fourteen years of age, service on him shall be sufficient.

A judgment can not be rendered against an infant until after defense by guardian, nor can a guardian for such infant be appointed to defend until after service upon the infant. Stiles J., Trible v. Chilton, Miss. opin., June, 1857. Stanton's Ky. Code.

If infants appear in court upon their own petition, and ask to be made parties, process is not necessary. It is sufficient if the court appoints a guardian ad litem to answer for them. Burch and wife v. Brookebridge, etc., 16 B. M., 491.

Although the record does not show that an infant was over fourteen years of age, or that he had no guardian, or that the widow upon whom the process was served was the mother of the infant, yet if these facts appear from the officer's return, it will justify the circuit court in rendering judgment in the action. Wheat, C. J., Webber etc., v. Webber, Miss. opin., June, 1858. Stanton's Ky. Code.

SEC. 2829. When the defendant is a person of unsound mind, service must be made upon him and upon his guardian, and if he have no guardian, then upon his wife or the person having the care of him, or with whom he lives, or the keeper of the asylum in which he may be confined.
SEC. 2830. When the defendant is a prisoner in the penitentiary, a copy of the petition must be with the notice delivered to the prisoner, and a copy of the notice shall also be delivered to his wife, if he have any.

SEC. 2831. Service may be made by publication in either of the following cases:
1. In actions brought for the recovery of real property, or an estate or interest therein.
2. In an action for the partition of real property.
3. In an action for the sale of real property under a mortgage lien or other incumbrance or charge.
4. In actions to compel the specific performance of a contract of sale of real estate, or in actions to establish or set aside a will, where in such cases any or all of the defendants reside out of this state, and the real property is within this state.
5. In actions brought against a non-resident of this state, or a foreign corporation having in this state property or debts owing to such defendant, sought to be taken by any of the provisional remedies, or to be appropriated in any way.
6. In actions which relate to, or the subject of which is real or personal property in this state, when any defendant has or claims a lien or interest, actual or contingent therein, or the relief demanded consists wholly or partly in excluding him from any interest therein, and such defendant is a non-resident of the state or a foreign corporation.
7. In all actions where the defendant being a resident of the state has departed therefrom, or from the county of his residence, with intent to delay or defraud his creditors, or to avoid the service of a notice, or keeps himself concealed therein with the like intent.
8. Where the action is for a divorce.

SEC. 2832. Before service can be made by publication, an affidavit must be filed that personal service of notice can not be made, within this state, on the defendant to be served by publication. When such affidavit is filed the party may proceed to make service by publication.

SEC. 2833. The publication must be made by publishing the notice required in section 2812, without addition, four consecutive weeks, which last publication shall be at least ten days before the next term of court, in some newspaper issued at least weekly, and printed in the county where the petition is filed, and if there be none printed in such county, then in such paper printed at the next nearest county of this state, which paper shall, in either case, be determined in writing by the clerk of the court on the affidavit, which affidavit shall be filed in the case.

SEC. 2834. Service by publication shall be deemed complete when the proper affidavit shall have been filed, and the notice published in the manner and for the time prescribed in the preceding section, and the affidavit of such publication shall have also been filed, which affidavit may be made by any person knowing the fact, and the defendant shall be held to appear at the term which next succeeds such completed service, without regard to the number of days intervening.

SEC. 2835. Actual personal service of the notice either within or without the state, supersedes the necessity of publication.

SEC. 2836. In actions where it shall be necessary to make an unknown person defendant, the petition shall be sworn to, and shall state what interest such person has or claims to have, how the same was derived or is claimed to have been derived, as exactly as possible, that the name and the residence of such person are unknown to plaintiff, and that he has sought diligently to learn the same, and thereon proceedings may he had against such person without naming him, as follows:

SEC. 2837. The court shall approve a notice collected from the avermements of the petition, which notice shall contain the name of the plaintiffs, a description of the property, and all the allegations of the petition concerning the interest of the unknown person and the mode of devolution thereof, the relief demanded, also the name of the court and the term at which appearance must be made. Said notice must be entitled in the full name of the plaintiff against the unknown claimants of property, and shall be signed by the plaintiff's attorney.

SEC. 2838. The court, on its approval of said notice, shall indorse the same thereon and order that the said notice be published in some newspaper of this state, designating such paper as shall be most likely to give notice to such unknown person.

SEC. 2839. Such notice shall be filed in the cause, and its contents, without more, shall be published in the paper designated, at least weekly for six successive weeks, and at the end of said time, service shall be deemed complete, and such unknown person in court at the next term thereafter.

SEC. 2840. The mode of appearance may be:

1. By delivering to the plaintiff or the clerk of the court a memorandum in writing to the effect that the defendant appears, signed either by the defendant in person or by his attorney, dated the day of its delivery, and to be filed in the case.

2. By announcing to the court an appearance, which shall be entered of record.

3. By an appearance, even though specially made, by himself or his attorney, for any purpose connected with the cause; or for any purpose connected with the service, or insufficiency of the notice. And an appearance, special or other, to object to the substance or service of the notice, shall render any further notice unnecessary, but may entitle the defendant to a continuance, if it shall appear to the court that he has not had the full timely notice required, of the substantial cause of action stated in the petition. But if the petition contains more than one cause of action, a mere appearance shall not be deemed an appearance to any cause except such as the defendant shall have had due notice of, according to section 2812 hereof and such causes shall be dismissed.

Sometimes a defendant, after appearing and pleading, by leave of the court, withdraws his appearance.

Such withdrawal carries with it the pleadings he may have filed, and leaves the case as though he had failed to appear at all, and it stands in court upon the plaintiff's complaint. Carver v. Williams, 10 Ind. R., 267. But simply failing to appear at the trial does not have the effect to withdraw an answer

* Few things can be more absurd since the introduction of the notice instead of the summons, than the thing called special appearance in court by the defendant, to tell the court that he is not there. If the defendant is there, by reason of the notice, it has served its office. But to ask to quash the notice, as it is called, is a sheer misconception of its office. If that has brought him to court, he can make no objection to it—he can only make objection to be compelled to answer, on pain of default, on the ground that such notice did not give him sufficient time—or sufficient appraival of time, court, parties, &c.; nor were those aided by any accompanying petition, and, therefore, he wants that time now, inasmuch as that, now, for the first time on coming to court, he has learned the facts which he should have been apprised of several SEC. 2841. When the action is against two or more defendants, and one or more shall have been served, but not all of them, the plaintiff may proceed as follows:

1. If the action be against defendants jointly indebted upon contract, he may proceed against the defendants served, and if he recover judgment it may be entered against all the defendants thus jointly indebted, so far as that it may be enforced against the joint property of all, and the separate property of the defendants served, and it shall not be valid against those not served until on scire facias they have had full opportunity to show cause against the judgment.

2. If the action be against defendants severally liable, he may without prejudice to his rights against those not served, proceed against the defendants served in the same manner as if they were the only defendants.

3. Or the plaintiff may continue till the next term, and proceed to bring in the other defendants; but at such second term the suit shall proceed against all who have been served in due time, and no further delay shall be allowed to bring in the others, unless all that appear shall consent to such delay.

SEC. 2842. When a petition has been filed affecting real estate, the action is pending so as to charge third persons with notice of its pendency, and while pending no interest can be acquired by third persons in the subject matter thereof as against the plaintiff's title, if the real property affected be situated in the county where the petition is filed.

SEC. 2843. When any part of real property, the subject of an action is situated in any other county than the one in which the action is brought, the plaintiff must, in order to affect third persons with a constructive notice of the pendency of the action, file with the clerk of the district court of such county, a notice of the pendency of the action containing the names of the parties, the object of the action, and a description of the property in that county affected thereby, and from the time of such filing only, shall the pendency of the action be constructive notice to subsequent vendees or incumbrancers thereof, who shall be bound by all the proceedings taken after the filing of such notice, to the same extent as if a party to the action, and the clerk of such county must immediately, on receipt of such notice, index and record the same in the incumbrance book.

CHAPTER 121.

JOINDER OF ACTIONS.

SEC. 2844. Causes of action of whatever kind, where each may be prosecuted by the same kind of proceedings, provided that they be by the same party, and against the same party in the same rights, and if suit on all as to venue may be brought in that county, may be joined in the same petition, but the court to prevent confusion therein, may direct all, or any portion of the issues joined therein, to be tried separately, and may determine the order thereof.

Under the code there is but one form of action allowed. But there are causes of action that can not be properly joined in the same petition; [as for example an equitable and an ordinary one,] but the plaintiff may, at any time before the cause is submitted to the jury, or the court, strike out any cause of action and, by amendment, submit for decision, a distinct cause of action from that stated in the original petition. Hord v. Chandler, 13 B. M., 404.

SEC. 2845. The plaintiff may strike from his petition any cause of action, or any part thereof, at any time before the final submission of the case to the jury or to the court, when the trial is by the court.

The plaintiff has a right to strike from his petition any cause of action at any time before the final submission of the case to the jury, or to the court. By amending his petition, he may submit a distinct cause of action from that in his original petition. Hord v. Chandler, 13 B. M., 404.

SEC. 2846. The court at any time before the defense, shall on motion of the defendant, strike out of the petition, any cause or causes of action improperly joined with others.

Misjoinder of actions is no cause of demurrer. A motion to strike out is the proper remedy. Stiles, J., Hart v. Cundiff, Ms. opin., January, 1855.

SEC. 2847. All objections to the misjoinder of causes of actions shall be deemed to be waived, unless made as provided in the last sec-

*Section 2844 is substantially that of England and Maryland. The other sections of this chapter are common to all the states using the new system. In some, as in Kentucky, the misjoinder is assailable by motion, in most of them, however, as in Ohio, by demurrer.

†This is substantially the law of the Code, section 1751, though its phraseology is that of the 41st section of the English act of 1852, and of the Maryland act. The old reasons which presided over joinder based upon the fact that jurisdiction was obtained by the original writ, and that only one judgment could be pronounced in a cause, precluded any joinder, inconsistent with the unity of the judgment. And as in actions which partook of the nature of social as well as individual wrongs, the judgment was for the state by way of fine as well as for the individual by way of compensation, such cause could not be joined with one purely individual. But we have provided that any number of judgments may be pronounced in one adjudication—and thus removed that old impediment. Hence the only question of joinder with us rests on simple policy. This chiefly concerns the plaintiff, and he should be left to use his own sense, in guiding him either to unite a slander suit with a promissory note, or to keep them distinct. The court can, if it likes, order cases, tho the joinder of which it don't favor, to be disunited and tried separately. The English commissioners on this subject, say that the good sense of the plaintiff will be a better guide than can any rule else, to determine what causes should be united. Because it was held by some who reasoned on exploded analogies that tort and contract could not be joined under our present code, section 1751, we have used language removing the doubt. Report on Civil Code.
tion, and all errors in the decision of the court thereon are waived, unless excepted to at the time.

Where there is a misjoinder of several causes of action in the petition, under the rules prescribed by the civil code, unless exceptions for that cause be taken in the circuit court, the irregularity will be deemed to have been waived. McKee v. Rope, 18 B. M., 555.

SEC. 2848. When a motion is sustained on the ground of misjoinder of causes of action, the court, on motion of the plaintiff, shall allow him, with or without costs, in its discretion, to file several petitions, each including such of said causes of action as might have been joined, and an action shall be docketed for each of said petitions, and the same shall be proceeded in without further service, and the court shall determine, by order, the time of pleading therein.

CHAPTER 122.*

PLEADING.

[Code—Chapter 104.]

TIME OF PLEADING.

SECTION 2849. The defendant shall, in an action commenced by ordinary proceedings, demur or answer, or do both, as to the original petition, before noon of the second day of the term.

SEC. 2850. In such action, the plaintiff shall demur or reply as to the original answer, or do both, before noon of the third day of the term, and as to an amended or supplemental answer, or an answer in the nature of an answer over, after motion or demurrer by the party answering, before noon of the second day after the day on which such answer shall have been filed.

SEC. 2851. The defendant shall, if the original reply be filed before noon of the third day of the term, demur thereto before noon of the fourth day of the term, and to an amended or supplemental reply, before noon of the second day after the day on which such pleading shall have been filed.

SEC. 2852. In an equitable action, the defendant shall demur before noon of the second day of the term, and shall answer in the same time, if the notice shall have been served sixty days before such term, and if not, then in sixty days from the day of completed service.

SEC. 2853. If the answer, the action being commenced by equitable proceedings, is filed on the second day of the term, the plaintiff may demur before noon of the third day thereafter, and must reply thereto on or before the fiftieth day after said filing.

* While this chapter is based upon the corresponding chapter in the Codes of the new system as in force in New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, Wisconsin, and the other states before named, it goes into greater detail than any of those: 1, because the need thereof had been suggested by the decisions of those states; 2, such detail was deemed necessary to avert the construction which had been given to chapter 104 of the Code of 1851, and 3, such detail was thought necessary in order to limit the number of rules which otherwise must be made to supply its generality.
SEC. 2854. The defendant must demur to an equitable reply before noon of the second day of the term, after the filing thereof.

SEC. 2855. If any pleading is by any rule or order, or for any legal reason, filed after the time herein fixed, then the adverse party shall have, in which to file his subsequent pleading, the same number of days as would have been allowed him had such late pleading been filed in the time herein fixed.

SEC. 2856. The appearance term shall not be the trial term for equitable actions, except in cases in which notice shall have been served sixty days before such term, and in which also the answer shall be merely a denial, and the proof documentary.

SEC. 2857. The day on which the judge actually opens court, shall be for the purpose of timing the pleadings, considered the first day of the term.

SEC. 2858. Every pleading must, however, be filed on or before the cause is called for trial, although the time allowed for such pleading shall not then have elapsed.

SEC. 2859. Taking into consideration in each case, the business of the attorney, and also the opportunities in such county afforded the client to have consulted him before the term, the court, for good cause shown, may, on request, extend the time of filing any pleading beyond the time herein fixed, but shall do so with due regard to making up the issues at as early a day as under the circumstances is possible.

SEC. 2860. The court shall have the power to tax against the losing party to any motion or demurrer contemplated in this chapter, the sum of five dollars, or any smaller sum, depending on the merits of the controversy raised by such motion or demurrer, as costs, in favor of the party who thereon succeeds. But after the filing of any such motion or demurrer, and before the same is called up for argument, such motion or demurrer may be confessed, and the proper amendment made without the costs contemplated in this section; but a second confession of a motion or demurrer to a like pleading, shall not exempt from the costs contemplated in this section, but shall incur them as would an adjudication.

SEC. 2861. When a petition, answer, or reply shall be adjudged insufficient in whole or in part upon demurrer, or the whole or some part thereof stricken out on motion, the proper party may file a further like pleading within such time as the court may then direct, and the same shall hold as to the answer or reply of a party whose demurrer is overruled, and in either case, in default of such pleading being so filed, the court shall proceed with the cause in the same manner as if no such original pleading had been filed.

SEC. 2862. If such second petition, answer, or reply be filed, and in like manner be adjudged insufficient, or the whole or some part thereof in like manner stricken out, the party filing such second pleading shall be taxed ten dollars, or some smaller sum, in the discretion of the court, as costs, and file a like pleading instantaneously; or in default thereof, the court shall proceed with the cause in the same manner as if no second pleading had been filed.

SEC. 2863. If a third petition, answer, or reply be adjudged insufficient, as above, or the whole or some part be stricken out, the party filing such pleading shall be taxed fifteen dollars, or a smaller sum, in the discretion of the court, as costs, and no further petition, answer, or reply shall be filed, but judgment shall be rendered as for want of such pleading.
MOTION DESCRIBED

SEC. 2864. All motions assailing any pleading shall be in writing, and filed in the case, and shall specify the causes on which they are founded, and no cause not so specified shall be argued or considered in support of the motion.

SEC. 2865. Motions assailing pleadings for any of the objections stated in this chapter, shall be regulated as regards the time of filing them as demurrers are.

SEC. 2866. A motion after a motion, or a demurrer after a demurrer, to the same pleading, shall not be allowed; but each motion and each demurrer shall state all the objections to any pleading which are intended to be made to it, except that a demurrer, on the ground of insufficient statement of facts to constitute a cause of action, defense, set-off, counter-claim, cross-demand, or reply, may be filed at any time before answer or reply, unless the points thereof have been already made, or could have been made in a prior demurrer.

SEC. 2867. A motion assailing any pleading, or any count thereof, for any of the objections stated in this chapter, shall suspend the necessity of any other pleading to such pleading or count, until the motion shall have been determined, whereupon the court shall direct on or before what time the next pleading shall be filed: the same shall obtain as to a demurrer.

SEC. 2868. All pleadings, including demurrers, and all motions made in writing, shall be filed with the case.

SEC. 2869. No motion or demurrer shall be argued until the morning after that on or before which the same shall have been filed, as provided in the preceding section, unless by consent, or unless the case be sooner reached.

SEC. 2870. A motion or demurrer once filed shall not be withdrawn, without the consent of the adverse party entered thereon, or of the court; in which case the court may award to the other party costs, as imposed on adjudication thereof, and shall fix the time of filing the next pleading.

SEC. 2871. The filing of a pleading in the clerk's office, and notice thereof on the notice book, within the time allowed, shall be equivalent to a filing in open court.

SEC. 2872. All technical forms of actions and of pleading, all common counts, general issues, and all fictions are abolished, and hereafter the forms of pleadings in civil actions, and the rules by which their sufficiency is to be determined, are those prescribed in this code.*

* Every plaintiff's right to recover depends upon the existence of a state of facts. A statement of these facts is the thing required.

This is a more difficult requirement than was made by the former system of pleading. Under that there were a few forms into which all causes must come. The question for the lawyer first to settle in the preparation of the papers, was not so much whether the facts constituted a good cause of action, as into which of the forms it would legally fall. This question, where not one of nicety, could often be determined by a glance at a few of the leading facts, without an intimate acquaintance with the minor ones, or with the real character of the cause of action. This form, too, had itself grown into a fact, and implied facts, which with it, need not to be stated, but now without it must be stated, either to constitute a cause of action, or to constitute the cause of action, which means the cause shown for the substantial relief demanded.

The advantage of a statement of facts is very great. It is a guide to the proof. It allows an excellent opportunity of testing a case on the law, by a demurrer, saves much writing in case of a bill of exception, also in cases of instructions, since these are chiefly but an extension of the legal propositions of a pleading into their elemental facts, which should generally be stated rather in the pleadings themselves.

We do not say no hypothetical instructions are needed under the new system, but that the tendency will be to render fewer of them necessary. And the record will
The code has not changed the common law rule of pleading, that a man may waive the tort and sue on the contract. Hinds v. Tweedle, 7 Pr. R., 278.

"We suppose the common law rule, as to the construction of pleadings under the code, is entirely abrogated. If pleadings shall be in ordinary language, as contradistinguished from technical language, they must be construed as meaning what is generally understood by ordinary language; and, hence, there can be no established technical mode of stating a cause of action or defense. So, too, the rules of the common law, as to the sufficiency of pleadings, are abrogated; and in their place are substituted the few and simple rules of the code. "Thus the rules of common law pleading, which illustrate and vindicate the law, that the facts which constitute a cause of action shall be set forth in the declaration, may be applicable to a petition under the code. But the language to be used in stating a cause of action is prescribed by the code; and the common law rules in that respect are entirely inapplicable." Western Law Monthly.

SEC. 2873. The pleadings are the written statements of the parties of the facts constituting their respective claims and defenses.

SEC. 2874. The only pleadings allowed are:
1. The petition of the plaintiff.
2. The demurrer or answer by the defendant.
3. The demurrer or reply by the plaintiff.
4. The demurrer by the defendant.

The only pleadings allowed in suits in equity are the petition of the plaintiff; the answer or demurrer by the defendant, and the demurrer or reply by the plaintiff. The plea in abatement in this case can be regarded in no other light than a substantial answer to the petition. Stone's adm'v v. Powell, 13 B. M., 343.

The code should be observed as a rule of practice. Ibid., 343.

The Petition.

SEC. 2875. The first pleading by the plaintiff is the petition. The petition must contain:
1. The name of the court and the county in which the action is brought.
2. The names of the parties to the action, plaintiffs and defendants, followed by the word "petition," if the proceedings are ordinary, and by the words "petition in equity," if the proceedings are equitable.
3. A statement in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, of the facts constituting the plaintiff's cause of action.
4. A demand of the relief to which the plaintiff considers himself then remain a monument of the law on such facts decided, which under the form of pleading of the dark ages, it never could do.

Nothing has evidenced a more total misconception of the endeavor of the new system of pleading, than the idea in some quarters current, that the general denial of the Code, was of the same value as the general issue at common law. There could be no true function of good pleading secured while the general issue was allowed to plant its ambushes, and nearly thirty years ago, in Great Britain, it was born of its extended application and reduced to a common sense and quite limited signification, and we abolish it altogether. Report on Civil Code, p. 299.
entitled, and if such demand be for money, the amount thereof must be stated.

5. Where the petition contains more than one cause of action, each must be stated wholly in a count by itself, and must be sufficient in itself; but one prayer for judgment may include a sum, based on all counts looking to money remedy.

9. In a petition by equitable proceedings, each cause of action shall also be separated into paragraphs, numbered as such for more convenient reference, and each paragraph shall contain, as near as may be convenient, a complete and distinct statement.

It is a general rule that it is unnecessary to aver anything in the complaint that is not required to be proved. The Union Mutual Insurance Company v. Osgood, 1 Duer, 708.

Every fact which the plaintiff must prove, to enable him to maintain his suit, and which the defendant has a right to controvert in his answer, must be distinctly averred, or stated. This rule of pleading in an action for a legal remedy is the same as formerly, in this, that facts, and not the evidence of facts, must be pleaded. Allen v. Patterson, 3 Selden, 478.

A statement in a complaint, of a contract, and that it then became, and was, and continued to be the duty of the defendant, to use due care, and to erect and keep lights, etc., is not sufficient to constitute a cause of action without a statement of the facts from which such duty arises. The city of Buffalo v. Holloway, 3 Selden, 493.

The pleader may use his own language, but the necessary matter must be there, and be stated in an issuable and intelligible form, capable of trial. Facts must still be set forth according to their legal effect and operation, and not the mere evidence of those facts, nor arguments, nor inferences, nor matter of law only. Nor should pleadings be hypothetical, nor in the alternative. The same general principles govern pleadings in equity. Boyce v. Brown, 7 Barb., 85.

In a petition against the assignor of a note, which the assignee has failed to recover of the obligor, it is necessary to set out the consideration as well as the reason why the amount was not recovered of the obligor. Elliott v. Thoelkeld, 16 B. M., 344.

An averment of due notice will not be sustained by evidence of facts excusing notice. Garvey v. Foeter, 4 Sands, 665. All the facts which constitute the cause of action must be stated in the complaint, and every fact on which the right of action depends, must be deemed constitute in the sense of the code. Ibid.

The plaintiff alleged that his eye was injured by having got poison into it, which was deposited in a trough by the defendant, for a malicious purpose, or by the burning of the animal poisoned thereby, etc. Held bad on demurrer, as being in the alternative, as not being a natural or proximate cause of the act of the defendant, and that he is not liable, and that the demurrer can not be said to admit the one cause more than the other. Duvall, J., Johnson v. Williams, M-s opin., December, 1857. Stanton's Ky. Code.

Where the complaint alleges "the sale and delivery of goods," it is not necessary to allege a promise on the part of the defendant, to pay, etc. A statement of the facts constituting a cause of action, in ordinary language, etc., is sufficient; that is, all the facts which, upon a general denial, the plaintiff would be bound to prove to entitle him to a judgment. Glenny v. Hitchins, 2 Code Rep., 56; 4 Pr. R., 98; 3 Code Rep., 153.

In an action of assault and battery, the statements in the complaint of the business and employment of the parties, and the object and intent of the assault, together with the statement that it caused the plaintiff to be ridiculed, and so forth, held not to be immaterial or irrelevant, although not essential to entitle the plaintiff to maintain his action, they are material on the question of damages, and may be proved. Root v. Foster, 9 Pr., R. 37.

To say that S. has failed "to fulfill his obligations by virtue of said instrument," is no more than saying he has broken his contract, or that the plaintiff is entitled to judgment. It involves no question of fact; it is merely the plaintiff's inference from a state of facts which he has not thought fit to disclose. Van Schaacks v. Winne, 16 Barb., 95.

Allegations in a pleading should be positively made, in order to prevent immaterial issues and confusion, and the words, "as the plaintiff is informed and believes," following the allegations of the complaint, were stricken out as redundant. Truscott v. Dale, 7 Pr. R., 221.

The allegation that F., the president of the telegraph company, drew his bill on G. F. D., treasurer of said company, does not amount to an averment, that F. as president drew the bill on G. F. D., as treasurer of the telegraph company. The adjuncts, president and treasurer, are only descriptio personam, and does not show the bill to be that of the company. Crenshaw, C. J., Tanner v. Woolfolk, Mss. opin., September, 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

The facts which are required to be stated, as "constituting the cause of action," can only mean real, traversable facts, as distinguished from propositions or conclusions of law; since it is the former, not the latter, that can alone, with any propriety be said to constitute the cause of action. Mann v. Morewood, 5 Sand., 566.

A statement in the body of a petition, which shows that an individual is a necessary party, does not make him a party. His name must be in the style of the action, which is, the names of the parties, plaintiffs and defendants, at the head of the petition. Crenshaw, C. J., Wilkes, Sheridan, etc. v. Morehead, Mss. opin., September, 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

The words, "facts constituting a cause of action," mean those facts which the evidence upon the trial will prove, and not the evidence which will be required to prove the existence of the fact. Wooden v. Streu, 10 Pr. R., 50.

The facts which the code requires to be set forth, are not true propositions, but physical facts, capable, as such, of being established by evidence, oral or documentary, and from which, when so established, the right to maintain the action, or the validity of a defense, is a necessary conclusion of law—a conclusion which the court will draw, and which it is quite unnecessary the pleader should state. Lawrence v. Wright, 2 Duer, 674.

A petition asking redress for an injury arising from negligence, or want of skill in the performance of a lawful act, should state such facts as would have authorized the action on the case; and a petition claiming redress for an injury done with force, such facts as would have authorized the action of trespass. Kauntz v. Brown, 16 B. M., 584.

A complainant should state the facts of the case full enough to enable the court on proof or admission of the facts set forth, to grant the relief sought. Tallman v. Green, 3 Sand., 438.

The plaintiff must aver every fact necessary to show a right to recover, and every such necessary averment must be proved in some way. Murdock v. The Chenango Co. Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Coms., 216.

The plaintiff is to state in his complaint the facts which constitute his cause of action, and nothing more. Clark v. Harwood, 3 Pr. R., 472.

The ode of Practice requires that the plaintiff's petition must contain a statement of the facts constituting his cause of action, with scarcely any other requisition, but that it be made in ordinary and concise language, without repetition. Hill for use of Wintersmith v. Barrett, etc., 14 B. M., 84.

The code makes no change in the law which determines what facts constitute a cause of action, except that by reducing all forms of action to the single one by petition, it changes the question, whether the plaintiff's statement of his cause shows facts constituting a cause of action in trespass, assumpsit, or other particular form, into the more general question, whether the petition shows a right of action in any form. Ibid., 85.

The code does not authorize a recovery upon any statement of facts, which before its adoption, did not authorize a recovery in some form of action, and therefore former precedents, rules and adjudications may be resorted to as authoritative, except so far as they relate to the distinctions between the different forms of actions, or to formal and merely technical allegations. Ibid., 86.

In a suit upon an appeal bond, the petition should state so much of the bond and condition, and so much of the decree appealed from, and make such averments as will show a breach of the condition and a cause of action. If the decree was for a surrender of property, that the plaintiff was deprived of its use, etc.; if to pay costs and damages—aver that the decree was affirmed and that costs and damages were awarded, and what they were. Collins v. Blackburn, 14 B. M., 254-5.

A petition to enforce a vendor's lien, must aver, either that the vendor has complied with his contract, or is able to do so. Simpson, J., Noe, etc. v. Daugherty, Mss. opin., December, 1857. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

It is necessary for the plaintiff, who sues for the purchase money of land, to allege his ability to comply with the contract as vendor, otherwise he has no right, in a court of equity, to demand the payment of the purchase money. Held, however, that the allegation that the plaintiff has the legal title of the land sold, is sufficient, though it would be better to allege the fact of his ability, etc., more distinctly. Simpson, J., Simpson’s admin’r v. Dunlap, Mss. opin., December, 1857. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

Where a plaintiff sues as receiver, he should at least state the place of his appointment, and distinctly aver that he was appointed by order of the court. White v. Low, 7 Barb., 204; Chatelauque Co. Bank v. White, 2 Selden, 296.

The defendant in such a suit has a right to insist that the facts constituting the appointment of the plaintiff, as set out, shall be sufficient to show one has been made, and that these facts be so set out as to be triable. Ibid. [But see section 2923.]

In actions to recover damages for the detention of personal property, it is not necessary to set forth the plaintiff’s title, otherwise than by a general averment of ownership; and under such an averment, if controverted, the plaintiff may give evidence of the manner in which he acquired title. Heine v. Anderson, 2 Duer, 318.

General damages are such as necessarily result from the injury complained of, and may be recovered without any special averment in the complaint. But such damages as are the natural but not the necessary result of the injury, are special, and must be averred in the complaint. Vandeventer v. Action, 4 Comst., 130. And in an action for a breach of contract the plaintiff is confined in his recovery to the breach alleged, and can not recover on any other PLEADING.

Briggs v. Vanderbitt, 19 Barb., 222. Damages, costs and expenses, when given as the penalty against a party for the non-performance of a contract, mean the necessary, natural and proximate damages resulting from such non-performance, and not some remote, accidental or special injury to the party to whom the right of action accrues. Groat v. Gillespie, 25 Wend., 383; and see Bogert v. Burkhardt, 2 Harb., 525. Whenever special damages are recovered, it must be on a distinct and definite statement in the complaint. Low v. Archer, 2 Kern., 282.

The contract of the maker of a note is to pay it according to the terms of it. The contract of the indorser is, that the maker will pay on presentment according to the terms of the instrument, or on his default, he, the indorser, on due notice of such demand and non-payment, will pay. The complaint, therefore, in order to conform to the code, should state facts enough against the maker to show his liability to pay, and enough against the indorser to charge him with the debt. In the latter case, not only the making and indorsement of the note should be stated, but also the demand of the maker at the time and place prescribed for that purpose, and notice of such demand and non-payment to the indorser. This demand must be on the third day of grace, and notice of demand and refusal given afterwards on the same day or the next. The complaint in this case does not show a demand of the note at the place where it was payable, nor does it show notice of such demand and non-payment, as against the indorsers; a demand at the place appointed in the note for payment was necessary. As against the maker this was of no consequence; but as the plaintiffs have chosen to unite both makers and indorsers in the same action, their statement of facts should have been full enough to show the liability of both. Per Willard, J., Spellman v. Weider, 5 How., 5.

A party seeking to enforce in our state and courts a contract, which by its laws are forbidden, and declared void, must aver and prove where it was made, and that by the laws of that place it was authorized and valid. Thatcher v. Morris, 1 Kern., 437.

An allegation in the complaint "that payment of said note was duly demanded at maturity and refused, and the same was thereupon duly protested for non-payment, and notice thereof duly given to the said indorsers" is deemed sufficient. See Woodbury v. Sackrider, 2 Abb., 404; McCall's Forms, 220.

Degrees of negligence are matters of proof and not of averment. The general allegations of negligence, want of care and skill, &c, are sufficient, whether the defendant is liable for ordinary or only gross negligence. Nolton v. Western R. R. Co., 15 N. Y. R., 444.

Whether on a given state of facts the transaction constitutes an account stated, is a question of law. Lockwood v. Thorne, 1 Kern., 179.

A complaint must state all the issuable facts constituting the cause of action. In an action for the recovery of possession of personal property, a demand and refusal are necessary, where the defendant becomes possessed of the property by the delivery of the wrong-doer, and merely detains it. And this is applicable to a defendant in possession who is assignee of the wrong-doer in trust for creditors. Fuller v. Lewis, 13 How., 219.

It is never necessary in pleading to state matter which the court is supposed to know, and of which it is bound to take notice, and therefore it is unnecessary to state more matter of common or public statute law. Shaw v. Tobias, 3 Comst., 188.

The plaintiff brought his action on a contract for the payment of money made by the defendant with another, and alleged his title to the cause of action as follows: that he (the plaintiff) "is now the sole owner of the said demand against the said defendant." Held insufficient—merely an allegation of a conclusion of law. Some fact or facts should be stated, showing how the plaintiff became the owner of the demand. Thomas v. Desmond, 12 How., 331.

A complaint stated that the defendant made "his contract in writing," and set forth a copy thereof, in which the defendant "for value received, promised to pay;" but the complaint did not aver any consideration for the contract, in direct terms. It also stated that such contract became the property of the plaintiff by purchase, without stating when, from whom, or upon what consideration. Held, that these defects are not of such a substantial nature, as to be available, under the ground of demurrer that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, but that the remedy is by motion, to make the faulty pleading more definite and certain. That proceeding has taken the place of demurrers for want of form. Prindle v. Carnes, 15 N. Y. R., 425.

And it is still the rule that the omission to state a necessary fact, in the petition or other pleading of a party, may be cured by an allegation of the same fact in a subsequent pleading of the other party in the same action. Bates v. Graham, 1 Kernan, 237. This is a rule of the common law, still acted upon under the code.

It may be necessary to aver more than will need to be proved. 1 vol. W. L. M., p. 102.

As to what administrator must state, see 1 vol. W. L. M., p. 155, but see also section hereof, 2923.

Although the special prayer of the petition is for the sale of land, which could not, upon the allegations, be granted, yet, under the general prayer for all other proper relief, plaintiff would be entitled to judgment in personam, upon proof sufficient. Stiles, J., Welch v. Owen, Miss. opinion, June, 1850.—Stanton's Ky. Code.

The general prayer formerly of importance in a bill in chancery, is of no consequence in a complaint in any action under the code. Marquat v. Marquat, 2 Kernan, 336.

If the defendant has answered, the court may grant the plaintiff any relief consistent with the case made by the complaint and embraced within the issue. In case no answer has been put in, the relief granted can not exceed that demanded in the complaint. In the former case the demand of relief in the complaint becomes immaterial. The case made by the complaint, and the limits of the issue alone determine the extent of the power of the court. The expressions of the statute include the statement of the right of the plaintiff, and its infringement by the defendant. Marquat v. Marquat, 2 Kern., 241.

That the prayer of the complainant is too broad, or embraces too much, is not among the causes for which a defendant may demur. Adrews v. Shaffer, 12 How., 411.

The complaint should state, in the conclusion, the relief sought, and the amount claimed. It need not be the true sum, but there can be no recovery beyond that laid. The conclusion may, at any time, be amended by leave of the court. Billingsley v. Dean, 11 Ind. R., 351.

A complaint stating facts which show that the maker of the note was entitled to its possession, and alleging that the defendant wrongfully converted and disposed of it to his own use, is sufficient after verdict. Decker v. Matthews, 2 Kern., 313.

Defects in pleading are cured by verdict, in the same manner and to the same extent as before the code. Decker v. Matthews, 2 Kern., 821; 1 Saund., 278, a. n.; Brown v. Harmon, 21 Barb., 505; Clark v. Diles, 20 Barb., 42. This, too, is a rule not in opposition to the code, and therefore not necessarily excluded by it; and as it is a dictate of reason and justice, it is still acted upon by the courts, within the principle already stated as to the applicability of former rules, in pleading under the code. W. L. M.

The Demurrer.

Sec. 2875. The defendant may demur to the petition only where it appears on its face, either,

1. That the court has no jurisdiction of the person of the defendant or the subject of the action, or,
2. That the plaintiff has not legal capacity to sue, or,
3. That there is another action pending between the same parties for the same cause, or,
4. That there is a defect of parties, plaintiffs, or defendants, or,
5. That the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, or that it states some fact which avoids the cause of action, or,
6. For causes stated in sections 2918, 2920, 2961, 2963, of this chapter.

A party can only demur where the ground of demurrer appears on the face of the complaint. In so demurring, the party must state the ground of demurrer on which he relies, and can only obtain judgment for the cause stated in the demurrer. Whenever the matter of objection does not appear on the face of the complaint, then it may be set up in the answer. Wilson v. Mayor of New York, 15 How., 206. Where an answer is merely defensive—that is, where it asks no affirmative relief, a demurrer to it will not lie. Mead v. Florence, 9 How., 386.

A party now, whatever his taste might lead him to adopt, can be only indulged in such pleadings as the code prescribes; whatever is not expressly authorized by its provisions is no longer a pleading. A demurrer in any other than the cases prescribed by the code would be a nullity. Simpson v. Loft, 8 Pr. R., 293.

A party can demur only in the cases prescribed by the code. He can not except for insufficiency or impertinence. The doctrine of exceptions belonged to the practice of the court of chancery, and has been swept away. Willard, J., Royce v. Brown, 3 Pr. R., 395.

We must forget all old rules respecting demurrers, and regard a demurrer now as a pleading created, with its character and office defined by the code. Gridley, J., Manchester v. Stones, 8 Pr. R., 410.

If the prayer of the complaint is too broad, or embraces too much, it is not among the causes for which a defendant may demur. Nor is surplusage in the complaint a ground of demurrer. Andree v. Shaffer, 12 How., 441. A demurrer can only be adopted in the particular cases prescribed by the Code of Procedure. However defective the complaint may be, or however far short it may come of complying with any or all of the general rules of pleading laid down in the chapter "upon pleading," the defendant can not demur unless the objection falls within one or more of the six grounds enumerated in the section of the act. DeWitt v. Swift, 3 How., 290. Mere irrelevancy in an answer is not a ground of demurrer. Watson v. Ilison, 1 Duer, 242. Under the code, a demurrer will in no case lie for duplicity; and the only mode for a party to avail himself of such objection is by motion to strike out or compel the party to elect. Gooding v. McAllister, 9 How., 123; and see Welles v. Webster, 9 How., 251; and Robinson v. Judd, 9 How., 378.

It is objected that after taking issue upon the principal fact in the complaint, it is too late to allege matter in abatement. This is clearly an error. If the matter in abatement constitute a defense, it must be stated in the answer. There can not be two answers, and the answer may set forth as many grounds of defense as the defendant shall have. A defect of parties, apparent in the complaint, is ground for demurrer. If not so apparent, it may be set up in the answer. Bridge v. Payson, 5 Sand., 210. A demurrer does not admit the items of an account set forth in a petition, so as to do away with the necessity of proof. If judgment be given on demurrer to such a petition, and the defendant refuse to answer, an inquiry of damages becomes necessary. Darrah & Powers v. Steamboat Lightfoot, 13 Mo. Rep., 187.

Where the cause of action alleged in the complaint is a contract made in a foreign state, and such contract is void by the laws of the state in which it is made, and it does not appear on the face of the complaint what is the law of the foreign state, the proper mode of taking advantage of the law, of such foreign state, is by answer, stating what is the law of such foreign state. A demurrer can not be sustained. Humphrey v. Chamberlain, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 387.

Where, in an action by a corporation or a natural person, the want of legal capacity to sue exists, or is supposed to exist, but that fact does not appear on the face of the complaint, the objection must be taken by answer. It can not be raised by demurrer. Union Mutual Ins. Co. v. Osgood, 1 Duer, 707.

That the plaintiff has not legal capacity to sue is cause of demurrer, if the fact appears on the face of the petition, and in such a case, a failure to demur amounts to a waiver of the objection. Not so where it is alleged in the answer, and proved on the trial. Petty v. Matter, 14 B. M., 248.

If the plaintiff's petition does not show a promise, in writing, made by one or the undertaking of another, no judgment can be rendered for failing to perform such promise, 3 Mar., 445; 8 B. M., 428, though the defendant should fail to plead and rely upon the statute. Smith v. Fahl, 15 B. M. 446.

It is not good ground of demurrer, that an amended petition in a suit by ordinary petition, departs from the cause of action set out in the original petition. Hard v. Chandler, 13 B. M., 403.

A demurrer is not the appropriate mode of raising the question, whether the proceedings should have been at law or in equity. It is only applicable to the question of jurisdiction, when the question is whether the court has jurisdiction either at law or in equity. Trustees of Lebanon v. Forrest, etc., 15 B. M., 172.

Where B., after setting up new matter in answer to an action by A., brought a cross-action against A., founded on the same matter as his answer, and A. moved in the first action that B. should elect either to abandon his answer or his cross-action; held, that the motion should have been in the cross-action, for a reference to inquire, whether the cross-action was for the same cause as the new matter set up in the answer; and if so, then for an order dismissing the cross-suit. Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. v. Hunt, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 1.

If a party in his petition in equity fail to show that he is entitled to the special relief asked for, and shows a right to any relief, even in a court of law, a demurrer to the petition should not be sustained to the whole claim, but the case transferred to the common docket. Foster v. Watson, etc., 16 B. M., 287.

An objection to a complaint for the non-joinder of parties, can not be taken by special demurrer, unless the complaint shows that the party for whose non-joinder the demurrer was interposed was living when the suit commenced. It is not enough that the complaint is silent on the subject, the fact must appear affirmatively. Where the fact does not appear on the face of the complaint the objection should be taken by answer, analogous to a former plea in abatement. Brouard v. Jones, 11 How., 569.

The defense of non-joinder of a party jointly liable, must be taken advantage of by answer or demurrer, or it is waived. If the objection is by answer, the non-joinder must be alleged. The objection can not be taken advantage of under denial of the allegations of the complaint. Mayhugh v. Robinson, 10 Pr. R., 162.

The rule that the complaint must show a joint cause of action against all the defendants, is only applicable at law, and never did apply in equity. Where a good cause of action in an equity suit is stated in the complaint, against one of several defendants, though not as against the others, a joint demurrer, against all of the defendants is improper. If the defendants who are unnecessarily made parties, alone demur, the demurrer may be sustained; but the defendant against whom a good cause of action is alleged can not for that reason demur. Eldridge v. Bell, 12 How., 517; and see Phillips v. Hoppodan, 12 How., 17; and Brannon v. Gifford, 8 How., 389.

A defect of parties should be relied on in the defendant’s answer, otherwise it is to be regarded as waived. Smith v. Fahl, 15 B. M., 449.

If a pleading is correct in substance, but not in form, the remedy is by motion, not by demurrer. Howell v. Fraser, 6 How., 221. When the charge in a complaint in an action of slander is general, and the answer alleges that the charge is true, the defect should be cured, not by demurrer, but by motion, to make the answer more definite and certain. Van Wyck v. Guthrie, 4 Duer, 268.

When a demurrer is to the whole complaint, if one of the plaintiffs might have judgment separately, it is bad. Peabody v. Washington Co. Mutual Ins. Co., 29 Barb., 339.

A demurrer to an answer to an ordinary petition, under the code of practice, involves the sufficiency of the petition; if that be bad, it is unnecessary to decide on the sufficiency of the answer. Martin v. McDonald, 14 B. M., 547.

On demurrer to any pleading subsequent to the complaint, either party may attack any previous pleading for a defect in substance, and such as could be reached by general demurrer. Stoddard v. Onondaga Annual Conference, 12 Barb., 575.

Upon a demurrer to an answer, the sufficiency of the complaint may be considered and adjudged upon. Fry v. Bennett, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 238.

Where the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, the objection is not waived by failure to demur or answer in the court below, and is available here. Stiles, J., Fible v. Caplinger, 13 B. M., 496. Goldard v. Modlock; Ms. opin., December, 1854. Stanton's Ky. Code.

The language here used must be taken to mean, that a defense of another action pending, when available may be set up by demurrer, when it shall appear on the face of the complaint, and by answer, when it does not. Per Edmonds, J., in Burrowes v. Miller, 4 Pr. R., 51-2.

When there are in fact two actions pending between the same parties for the same cause, but that fact does not appear on the face of the complaint, the defendant can not demur. He must put in an answer of the same action pending. Hornsfnger v. Hornsfnger, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 412.

When a party is suing in two courts for the same cause of action, he may be compelled to elect in which court he will proceed. Hammond v. Baker, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 105.

The pendency of a prior suit in the courts of the United States, or the courts of a sister state, never was a defense to an action in this state, and the code has not changed the rule in this respect. Cook v. Litchfield, 3 Sands, 330.

The pendency of a suit in another state, for the recovery and collection of the same debt, could not affect the right of the plaintiff to prosecute an action for the debt in this state. Simpson, J., McMechen v. Hammond, Ms. opin., January, 1857. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

The improper joinder of parties is not a ground of demurrer, even if it appeared on the face of the complaint that such improper joinder existed. It is only for defect or want of parties that a demurrer lies. Gregory v. Oaksmith, 12 How., 134. A demurrer will not lie for misjoinder of parties. Peabody v. Wash. Co. Mutual Ins. Co., 29 Barb., 339.

A defect of parties, plaintiffs or defendants, is a valid ground of demurrer, but the objection that the petition shows a misjoinder of parties, either plaintiffs or defendants, can only be taken advantage of by a motion to strike out the name of the party thus improperly joined. Dean, etc. v. English, 18 B. M., 136.

In actions sounding in tort, where it appears by the complaint that all the proper parties are not made, a demurrer will lie for the non-joinder of the proper parties defendant, but not for the misjoinder of some, who have been made defendants with others who are properly sued. If a party is properly sued, he may insist that another ought to be sued with him. But he has no right to object that another, who is sued with him, is improperly made a defendant. Brownson v. Gifford, 8 How., 389.

Defect of parties appearing may be taken advantage of by demurrer. If it does not appear, it may be taken by suggestion in the answer; if such objection is not insisted upon by demurrer or answer, it will be regarded as waived; and the court may, if the rights of those not made parties can be safe, determine the controversy between those before it. If there are indispensable parties, the court should require them to be brought in. Johnson's heirs v. Chandler's heirs, 15 B. M., 595.

A defendant who is properly joined as a party defendant can not demur to the complaint because others are improperly or unnecessarily made defendants. Pinckney v. Wallace, 1 Abbott, 82; Voorhies v. Baxter, ib., 44.

If husband and wife are improperly joined as plaintiffs, the objection must be taken by demurrer or answer; an answer on the merits will be considered as a waiver of the objection. Ingraham v. Baldwin, 12 Barb., 9; and see Baggot v. Bendige, 2 Duer, 160.

It is entirely optional with the defendant whether he will demur or not, for the reason that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action; and his election not to avail himself of that right does not Pleading. [Part 3.

Sec. 2877. The demurrer must distinctly specify and consecutively number as the grounds of objection, some matter of error, intended to be argued as a defect in the pleading; unless it do so it shall be disregarded; and it shall not be enough to state the objection in the terms of the preceding section, except that a demurrer to an equitable petition for the fifth reason of section 2876 may be stated in the terms thereof.*

Sec. 2878. When any of the matters enumerated in section 2876 do not appear on the face of the petition, the objection may be taken by an answer. If no such objection is taken either by demurrer or answer, the defendant shall be deemed to have waived the same, except only the objection that the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, or states a fact which avoids the cause of action.

This provision forbids the taking of the objection by answer, if the defect appears upon the face of the petition, so that it might be taken by demurrer. Dennison v. Dennison, 9 How. Pr. R., 246.

Matter in abatement constituting a defense, should be pleaded or set up in the answer, unless it is apparent on the face of the complaint; then a demurrer, is the proper remedy. Magnew v. Robinson, 10 How., 162. "A dilatory defense, which a plea in abatement is considered to be, is not favored; but he who is entitled to avail himself of it must interpose it promptly, according to established forms. Here the facts were fully disclosed by the complaint, and the defendant could have demurred. The authority to object by way of answer is, in terms, limited to cases where the fact does not appear in the prior pleading. When, therefore, section 148 declares that if the objection is not taken by demurrer or answer, it shall be considered as waived, it means that if it be not taken by demurrer where that mode is proper, or by answer, in cases where that is the appropriate method, it is waived. This construction will give full effect to all the language, and will, besides, compel the defendant to take his ground with the promptness inculcated by the rule of pleading to which I have referred. Per Denio, J., Zabriskie v. Smith, 3 Kern., 336.

Not demur and answer same matter.

Sec. 2879. The defendant may demur to one or more of the several causes of action alleged in the petition and answer, as to the residue.

An answer and demurrer to the same cause of action is irregular in practice, and the defendant might have been compelled to elect by which he would stand. Howard v. Michigan Southern Railroad Co., 3 Code Rep., 115; 5 Pr. Rep., 296.

* This is not the general demurrer, because it must assign a reason other than the general one of want of sufficient facts. It is not the special one as understood after the time of Elizabeth, because that was aimed at form. It is a demurrer peculiar to the new system, having the elements of both, as formerly known. The motion in this system serves the function of the special demurrer of the old system, so far as objections are yet allowed to be made to defects not substantial. Report on Civil Code.
Where a defendant demurs and answers to the same cause of action, or to the whole of a complaint, the plaintiff can not treat the demurrer as a nullity, nor move for judgment; but he should move to strike out the answer and demurrer, or that the defendant elect by which he will abide. Spellman v. Weider, 5 Pr. 5.

Answer.

1. The style of the court, the name of the county, and the name of the plaintiffs and defendants, but when there are several plaintiffs and defendants, it shall be only necessary to give the first name of each class, with the words—and others.

2. A general denial of each allegation of the petition, or else of any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief, which latter may be by this or any equivalent statement,—of the truth of no allegation of the petition has this defendant knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief; or,

3. A specific denial of each allegation of the petition controverted by the defendant, or of any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief.

5. A statement of any new matter constituting a set-off, or a counter-claim, or a cross-demand, or a cross-petition, in ordinary and concise language, without repetition.

6. The defendant may set forth in his answer as many causes of defense, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, whether legal or equitable, as he may have.

A defendant is required, in all cases, to plead any new matter, constituting either an entire or partial defense, and can not give such matter as evidence in mitigation of damages, when not set up in the answer. The complaint alleged that the plaintiff did labor and service for and at the request of the defendant, which was worth $350, and concluded with an averment that there was due to the plaintiff on account of such service, over and above all payments and set-offs, $134, and a demand of judgment for that sum, with interest. The answer consisted only of a general denial of all the allegations of the complaint; held, that evidence of payment as a defense to the action, or of partial payment in mitigation, was inadmissible on the trial, because neither was pleaded. McKirving v. Bolt, 16 N. Y. R. 297.

It can hardly be that the legislature intended that when a party could not make a full defense to an action, and could not therefore with truth allege facts constituting a full defense, or fully deny the case made by the plaintiff, that he should be denied the privilege of alleging in his answer, and establishing by proof a partial defense, or alleging and proving mitigating circumstances. If this was not intended, then the statute should be construed as giving authority to spread facts as constituting a partial defense, or tending to reduce the claim of the plaintiff, upon the record, by way of answer, as a ground of defense, or as a defense; otherwise, a return must be had to the former practice, which permitted partial defenses to be given in evidence without plea or notice, for the legislature never intended so to alter the law, that a party who could not make a full defense should not be heard to make any; but, in the language of another, “should be bound hand and foot, and handed over to a jury.” Per W. F. Allen, J., Bush v. Proser, 1 Kern., 352.

The word "defense" in the code, is not there used in its legal, technical sense. It has no application to that part of the answer which contains denial only of the facts stated in the complaint; but it is used in reference to the statement of new matter; and it must be such new matter as constitutes a defense. Now the question arises, whether this new matter must constitute a complete bar to the action, in order to make a good defense? In other words, in an action on a money demand, can the defendant plead partial payment? there being now no general issue where part payment or set-off can be shown when the answer contains simply a denial of the complaint. Held, that there is no way by which a defendant can now avail himself of the defense of partial payment, without pleading it. And it seems that the defendant should not plead full payment in bar, in order to avail himself of partial payment as a defense; but state the facts constituting the new matter. Houghton v. Townsend, 8 How., 441.

And where in an action on an account the action merely denied the allegations in the complaint; held, that the defendant could not insist upon an award made upon the account as a bar to the suit, although the fact of the award appeared from the plaintiff's evidence. Brasill v. Isham, 2 Kern. 5.

But in an action for the conversion of property, an answer which denies each and every allegation in the complaint, is a denial not only of the conversion, but of the plaintiff's title; and under it, evidence that the plaintiff had no title is admissible. Robinson v. Frost, 14 Barb., 536.

Payment is new matter and must be thus answered. Hubber v. Pullen, 9 Ind. R., 273. See ibid., 288.

The payment need not be shown to have been made in money; but any thing that the party has accepted as payment, constitutes payment. Ind. Dig., 229.

As now, in complaints, the relief prayed may be in the alternative in cases where, under the former chancery practice, such prayer of relief was proper; so in answers setting up new matter, relief may be thus prayed where it might have been in answers in chancery. See Adam's Eq. Top., p. 689; Howard's (N. Y.) Code, p. 243; Helm v. Sieggett, 12 Ind. R. Perkins' Practice.
A pleading which sets up usury, either as a ground of defense, or substantive cause of action, must set it up in clear and distinct terms, and the terms of the usurious contract, and the quantum of usurious interest or premium must be specified, and distinctly and correctly set out; and where in an action on a promissory note, the answer alleged that "said note was usurious in its inception," and the payee knew it was executed fraudulently, and to sell usuriously above the rate of seven per cent. per annum, to wit, one and a half per cent. per month: Held, that this was not a sufficient allegation of usury to allow evidence to be given of it. Gould v. Horner, 12 Barb., 601.

In an action for a tort, (except libel or slander,) the defendant can not set up matter in mitigation of damages; but if they exist, he may give evidence of them on trial, or assessment of damages. Rosenthal v. Brush, 1 Code Rep. N. S., 228; Schneider v. Schulte, 4 Sand., 664.

An answer which alleged "that the plaintiff who prosecutes the action is not the real party in interest therein, nor is he an executor, or administrator, or a trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute to sue without joining with him the person for whose benefit the suit is prosecuted," held, bad, on demurrer, for the reason that it did not state the facts on which the defendant relied to sustain his allegation, that the plaintiff had no right to sue. Russell v. Clapp, 3 Code Rep., 64; 4 Pr. R., 347.

To authorize a defense on the trial, that the plaintiff is not the real party in interest, the answer must not only allege the facts which show that to be the case, but should negative the exceptions; thus, where, in an action on a promissory note, payee against maker, the answer set up that "the plaintiff is not the sole owner and holder of the note, but holds the same jointly with another," and "therefore the said plaintiff is not individually entitled to recover against the defendant," the answer was held to be insufficient. It should have gone further, and negatived that the plaintiff was a trustee of an express trust, as to the other joint owners' interest, or otherwise entitled to sue without joining the same joint owner. Tompkins v. Acer, 10 Pr. R., 309.

New matter, in avoidance, should confess, directly or by implication, that, but for the matter in avoidance, the action could be maintained. An answer of new matter in avoidance can not, therefore, be pleaded hypothetically. Thus, in an action for slander, the defendant can not, as one defense, deny that he uttered the defamatory words, and then suggest, hypothetically, that if he did, he uttered them in reference to a certain contract. Porter v. McCrawdy, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 88; Sugles v. Wooden, ibid., 409; 6 Pr. R., 84; Buddington v. Davis, ibid., 401; Lewis v. Kendall, ibid., 59.

The action was for rent. The answer denied the hiring and occupation, and set up a surrender of the premises to the plaintiff, and other defenses. On the cross-examination of one of the plaintiff's witnesses, it was sought to show that the witness and not the plaintiff was the owner of the premises, and entitled to the rent, if any were due. The appellate court held such proof not admissible under the pleadings, and that the defendant should have raised the point in his answer, that the plaintiff was not the real party in interest, if he intended to rely upon it. Jackson v. Whedon, 1 Smith, 142.

A defense should not be stricken out, because it contains matter which may be proved under a general denial. It was never a good ground of general demurrer, that a plea amounted to the general issue. The objection might be taken, but, being regarded as a mere matter of form, it was only available when taken by special demurrer. The code has retained no such ground of demurrer. The question in every such case now is, whether the matters stated constitute a defense, and not whether they might have been proven under some other form of pleading. Hollenbeck v. Clow, 9 Pr. R., 292.

The code has given no sanction to the revival, in any form, of a general issue, under which facts in their nature constituting a defense, although not avowed in the answer, may be given in evidence upon the trial; and facts tending to prove that a promissory note, or any other contract was void in its origin, on the ground of usury, fraud, duress, etc., are in their nature as certainly matters of defense, as facts subsequently arising; and there exists, consequently, the same necessity for averring them specifically in the answer. The system of pleading which the code has introduced, rests upon very sound and obvious principles. The answer must distinctly aver all those facts, which, when the case of the plaintiff is admitted or proved, the defendant must prove in order to defeat a recovery. Call$ v. Smith, 1 Duer, 266.

In Jaker v. Bailey, 16 Barb., 57, it is said general issues are abolished, and the pleader must set forth the very facts on which he places his defense. Formerly, under the general issue of non est factum, the defendant might prove control, lunacy, illegality of consideration, deed obtained by fraud, erasure, and many other defenses. Now he must set forth the facts, which constitute his defense, in each of the above cases. See Houghton v. Townsend, 8 Pr. R., 443; Garrey v. Fowler, 4 Sand., 665.

An answer to a complaint for a balance due for goods sold and delivered, which denies that the plaintiff "ever sold to the defendant any goods which had not been paid for by the defendant;" and also that "if the plaintiff ever sold any goods to the defendant, they were sold on credit, and not to be paid for in nine years from the day of sale," is bad. In the first there is nothing that amounts to either a denial of the sale and delivery, or an allegation of payment. It is a mere attempt at hypothetical pleading. In the second, the answer is in terms, hypothetical—no allegation is denied—no new matter is alleged—of course no issue is tendered. Hamilton v. Hough, 13 How., 14.

To a complaint, which charged a defendant with digging a ditch across the sidewalk, and carelessly permitting the same to remain open and uncovered; and, in consequence, the plaintiff's wife fell into said ditch—the answer beside a general denial, and as a separate defense, alleged that if such a ditch was dug, it was done without his knowledge, and that said ditch, if any, was well guarded, and if plaintiff's wife fell in, it was her own fault. On motion, the court struck out such allegation as being hypothetical. Wise v. Fanning, 9 Pr. R., 543.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage, brought by the assignee of the mortgage, the defendant put in an answer, denying that the mortgagee, for a valuable consideration, paid by the plaintiff, duly assigned, transferred and delivered the mortgage to the plaintiff and alleged that the same, if ever sold by the mortgagee, was, in fact, sold to B., one of the defendants, and that if any assignment was ever executed by the mortgagee to the plaintiff, the same was only so in form, and that B. furnished the money to purchase the same, and that he was the true party in interest, and that the suit should have been brought in his name; held that the answer was defective, because it set up matter in avoidance without admitting, that, but for the matter in avoidance, the action could be sustained, because it was hypothetical; because it set up matter in avoidance, and, at the same time, denied the allegation it sought to avoid, and because it attempted to show argumentatively, that the mortgage had been paid, without asserting the fact. Arthur v. Brooks, 14 Barb., 543.

An answer which without denying any fact stated in the complaint, merely says that "the defendant denies that the plaintiff is entitled to the sum of money demanded in this action, or any part thereof," will be struck out on motion. Drake v. Cockraft, 19 How., 577; and see Bridge v. Payson, 5 Sand., 210.

A denial of indebtedness is not a sufficient answer to a petition which sufficiently charges that the indebtedness arose out of breaches of a specific contract. The breaches must be denied. Budler v. Bate, 19 Mo. Rep., 543.

An allegation in a petition, not material to the plaintiff's right of action, is not admitted by a failure to deny it in the answer. Thus the value of an article for which a plaintiff seeks to recover, is not admitted if not denied. Wood v. Steamboat Fleetwood, 19 Mo. Rep., 529.

An answer is bad that merely alleges that the note sought to be recovered was obtained by fraud, and omitting to state any facts showing the existence of such fraud. McMurray v. Gifford, 5 Pr. R., 14.

In an action on a promissory note, an answer that the defendant is not indebted in any manner and form, as in the complaint alleged, is not a sufficient answer. Pierson v. Conley, 1 Code Rep., 91.

The general allegation in the answer that the defendant is not indebted as alleged in the petition, is not deemed responsive to the material allegations of the petition, and presents no obstacle to a recovery. Haggard v. Hoy’s adm’rs, 13 B. M., 175; Welch v. Owen’s, Miss. opin., June, 1856. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

The petition was for goods and merchandise sold and delivered by the plaintiff to the defendant. The answer denied, “that he is to the best of his knowledge and belief indebted to the plaintiff as stated in his petition.” The answer controverts neither the sale nor the delivery, nor the value of the goods, but simply denies that he is indebted, as stated in the petition. Every item in the account might be correct, except a single one, of inconsiderable value, and yet the answer in its present form be literally true. Such generality and vagueness of pleading is opposed to the provisions of the civil code regulating the subject. The demurrer to the answer was properly sustained. Francis v. Francis, 18 B. M., 60.

The answer to a petition to recover damages for a loss by the goods being cast overboard by the carrier, to be good, must show all the facts necessary to a justification of the jettison. The averment that the loss occurred by the danger of the river, being a mere conclusion of the law from the facts, is not sufficient. Bentley, v. Bustard, 16 B. M., 686.

The general statement that the defendants do not owe, and ought not to pay, the amount of the bill, “for they do not admit the regular protest and notice,” etc., as charged in the petition, is no proper response to the petition, because it neither denies any allegation of fact, nor states any new matter constituting a defense. Clark, etc. v. Finnell, etc., 16 B. M., 335.

Where a defendant wishes to rest his denial upon his ignorance, he must aver that he has neither knowledge nor information sufficient to form a belief. An averment of the want of knowledge, without more, is not sufficient. Ketchem v. Zerby, 1 Smith, 554.

An answer which denies, on oath, that the defendant has any knowledge or information, sufficient to form a belief, that the payee indorsed and delivered the note to the plaintiff, intended to meet a corresponding allegation in the complaint is a material part of the issue, and comes within one of the alternatives allowed by this section. Sherman v. Bushnell, 7 Pr. R., 171.

In an action on two promissory notes, the complaint alleged the making the notes, and that they were duly transferred to the plaintiff, and that he was the holder and owner thereof. The answer admitted the making the notes, and “that as to the transfer of the notes to the plaintiff, and as to his being the holder and owner, the defendant had no knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief.” Held to be a good answer. Snyder v. White, 6 Pr. R., 321.

An answer which alleges that the plaintiff “is not the lawful owner and holder of the note” described in the complaint, is insufficient to admit evidence that the plaintiff is not the owner or holder. So, an answer, which avers that the note sued on, “was by a mistake given for a greater sum than was due from the maker to the payee, to wit, a sum sufficient to cancel the balance claimed to be due on the said note,” is insufficient to admit evidence to show a mistake in the amount, the defendant alleging nothing but a conclusion of law, without setting out the facts by which it is supported. Seeley v. Engelt, 17 Barb., 536.

Facts proved but not pleaded, are not available to the party proving them. Field v. The Mayor, &c., 2 Seld., 179.

The code does not dispense with cross-pleadings between co-defendants.
where relief is sought by one against another beyond the matter set out in the original petition. And where one co-defendant, in his answer, claims of another an amount greater than is alleged in the original petition to be due from the latter, he should be apprised, by process or rule on the answer, of such demand. Stiles J., Hunt v. Tomlinson, Ms. opin., Jan. 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

Where an answer is filed to an ordinary petition, containing a valid equitable defense, no judgment for the plaintiff can be rendered, until some disposition has been made of the answer; and the issues that may arise upon it, which are exclusively equitable in their character, are to be tried in the manner such issues were tried before the adoption of the code. Bosley v. Mattngly, 14 B. M., 91.

The code of practice permits, but does not require, an equitable defense to be made to an action to recover a legal demand. The defendant permitting a judgment to pass upon a legal demand, may thereafter have relief from the judgment, by proceeding, by petition in equity. Dorsey v. Reese, 14 B. M., 157.

Form of statement.

Sec. 2881. Matter of defense as distinguished from set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, is either negative, as for example, that which contradicts, in whole or in part, some fact-proposition of the petition, or it is affirmative; as for example, that which states new matter to avoid some fact-proposition of the petition, or to avoid the legal conclusion of the petition, and all such negative matter, whether wholly or partly so, should be stated in one division of the answer.

Sec. 2882. Each affirmative matter of defense shall be stated in a distinct division of the answer, and must be sufficient in itself and must intelligibly refer to that part of the petition to which it is intended to apply.

No prayer.

Sec. 2883. In the defense part of an answer or reply, it shall not be necessary to make any prayer of judgment.

Distinctness.

Sec. 2884. Each matter of set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, or cross-petition, must be specially stated in a distinct division.

Equitable matter.

Sec. 2885. An equitable division must be also separated into paragraphs and numbered as is required in regard to an equitable cause of action in the petition.

Set-off.

Sec. 2886. A set-off can only be pleaded in an action founded on contract, and must be a cause of action arising on contract, or ascertained by the decision of a court.

Sec. 2887. A co-maker or surety when sued alone, may, with the consent of his co-maker or principal, avail himself by way of set-off, of a debt or liquidated demand due from the plaintiff at the commencement of the suit to such co-maker or principal, but the plaintiff may meet such set-off in the same way as if made by the co-maker or principal himself.

Co-maker or surety.

Sec. 2888. Where it appears that a new party is necessary to a final decision upon a set-off, the court shall permit the new party to be made, if it also appears that owing to the insolvency or non-residence of the plaintiff, or other cause, the defendant will be in danger of losing his claim unless permitted to use it as a set-off.

New party.

Sec. 2889. The counter-claim must be a cause of action in favor of the defendants, or some of them, against the plaintiff, or some of them, arising out of the contracts or transactions set forth in the petition, as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim, or connected with the subject of the action.*

Counter-claim.

*This counter claim is that of the new system. There are objections to it. A better might be suggested, but we fear to try the experiment, especially as this has
In an action by a landlord, to recover the rent reserved by the lease, the tenant, the defendant, can not set up, as a counter-claim, a mere trespass by the landlord, and destruction of personal property on the demised premises. Such a trespass is not a cause of action arising out of the contract or transaction, set forth in the complaint, as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim, nor connected with the subject of the action. Drake v. Cockcroft, 10 Pr. R., 377; 1 Abbott, 203.

In an action by the lessor for the rent reserved, the lessee may recoup damages sustained by the breach of an implied covenant for quiet enjoyment. *Mayor, ex. *v. Mabie, 3 Kern., 151; and see Davidson v. Remington, 12 How., 310; Van de Sande v. Hall, 13 How., 458.

In an action to recover for the price of personal property sold, an answer by the defendant setting up a breach of warranty, in respect to the quality of that property, and claiming to recoup to that extent, is a counter-claim, and if not replied to, will be considered as admitted on the trial. Lemon v. Trail, 13 How., 248.

In an action upon a note for the price of a horse, the defendant can plead the damages for a breach of the warranty of soundness, as a counter-claim, and, if the proof warrants it, can have judgment for the excess. Simpson, J., French v. Sude, Ms. opin., January, 1855. Stanton's Ky. Code.

Where the defendant alleges matter, which, if true shows that the plaintiff never had a cause of action against him to the amount claimed in the complaint, such as the payment of a large portion of the promissory notes while in the hands of the payee; such matter does not constitute a counter-claim, and requires no reply. The defendant must prove his payments, therefore, where no reply is put in. Davidson v. Remington, 12 How., 310; and see Vassear v. Livingston, 3 Kern., 252; Silliman v. Eby, 8 How., 122; Putnam v. De Forest, 8 How., 146; Simpson v. Loft, 8 How., 231; Potter v. Smith, 9 How., 203; Briggs v. Briggs, 29 Barb., 177; Gleason v. Hoad, 2 Duer., 639; Houghton v. Townsend, 8 How., 441; Wiltess v. Tappard, 6 How., 433; Douglas v. Kemp, 4 Sand., 117; Kneedler v. Sternberg, 10 How., 67.

Damages arising from a breach of contract may be set up by way of counter-claim. Page v. Ford, 12 Ind. R.

The cases in the supreme court of this state are—Miles v. Elkin et al., 10 Ind. R., 329, and Slagback v. Jones, 9 ibid., 470, where the previous cases are cited. Stockton v. Grapes, 10 Ind. R., 294.

In the latter case it is said: "It would seem that where a party was sued touching the subject-matter of a contract, he might set up by way of counter-claim in such suit, any demand he might have for unliquidated damages growing out of such contract; while if not sued on that contract, but some other, then he might set up, by way of set-off, his claim for damages growing out of the former contract, in the suit upon the second. In other words, the same matter may be set up as a counter-claim, in a suit upon the contract, or as a set-off in a suit upon another contract." Perkin's Practice.

A judgment may be obtained by a defendant against a plaintiff on a counter-claim. Jones v. Julian, 12 Ind. R.; Gordon v. George, ibid. See also 7 O. S. R., p. 95, recoupment.

A party sued upon a contract, has a right to rely upon any failure of the become so well settled by decisions. The word has been nailed at by opponents of the new system—but it has now got a well defined meaning. New words are necessary to create new rights of pleading. The danger of old ones is the freight of old associations, which one can not avoid introducing by their use; any one of which may at any time rise up and defeat the new use, though ever so carefully guarded. And yet it is not true as some have said, that this word was before quite unknown to common law, we find it used in 1717 in Brown's Cases in Parliament, p. 557. Report on Civil Code.

The interposition and proof of the counter-claim, secures to the defendant the full relief which a separate action at law, or a bill in chancery, or a cross-bill, would have secured to him, on an allegation and proof of the same facts, and this provision of the code relates to only such causes of action as exist against the plaintiff and might, in their nature, be the basis of an action against him at the suit of the defendant. Gleason v. Moen, 2 Duer, 642.

The code authorizes the assertion of a counter-claim by one of several defendants. The only restriction as to such counter-claim, is, that it shall be a cause of action arising out of the contract or transaction set forth in the petition as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim. It is not necessary that it be founded on contract, or arise out of the contract set out in the petition; it is sufficient, if it arise out of the transaction set out in the petition, or is connected with the subject of the action. Tinsley v. Tinsley, etc., 15 B. M., 469.

The value of a growing crop of corn taken by the plaintiff, is a good counter-claim in a suit upon an injunction bond, given by defendant in a proceeding to enjoin a judgment recovered on a writ of forcible detainer against him. Ibid., 460-1.

In an action against several defendants who are jointly and severally liable, either of them may set off promissory notes, executed by the plaintiff, or avail himself thereof by counter-claim. Briggs v. Broggs, 20 Barb., 477.

When the defendants answer certain facts, constituting a valid counter-claim and prayer for relief, it must be regarded as a counter-claim, though not so denominated. The cognomen is not necessary. Stiles, J., Irannaman v. Palmer, MSS. opin., January, 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

New party in counter-claim.

SEC. 2890. When it appears that a new party is necessary to a final decision upon a counter-claim, the court may either permit the new party to be made, by a notice to reply to the counter-claim in the answer, or may direct that it be stricken out of the answer, and make the subject of a separate action.

Cross demand.

SEC. 2891. A statement by way of cross-demand is any new matter constituting any cause of action in favor of the defendant, or all the defendants if more than one, against the plaintiff, or all the plaintiffs, if more than one, and which the defendant or defendants might have brought when suit was commenced, or which was then held, either matured or not, if matured when so pleaed.*

Cross petition.

SEC. 2892. When a defendant has a cause of action, affecting the subject matter of the action, against a co-defendant, or a person not a party to the action, he may make in his answer a cross-petition against the co-defendant or other person.

The defendants thereto, may be notified as in other cases, and defense thereto shall be made in the time and manner prescribed in regard to the original petition, and with the same right of obtaining provisional remedies applicable to the case.

The prosecution of the cross-petition shall not delay the trial of the

* The set off and counter claim do not constitute the whole of the claims which a defendant may have against a plaintiff. Nor do they fill as large a field as the cross action of our code, of 1851, section 1740. They constitute a necessary class of cross-claims and stand upon a basis so peculiar as to demand the application to them of some separate rules as is here done. The rules allowing of the making of new parties, as in sections 2888, and 2890, should not be extended to a cross-demand. This cross-demand should only be allowed between the original parties, and between them it should be allowed. The code of 1851, section 1740, contemplated as wide a field as is covered by our set off, counter-claim and cross-demand. The change is only in the classification for the purpose of extending some special rules to each class. The allowance of this cross demand is based on the idea of settling all the differences between the parties in one controversy. Report on Civil Code.
original action, when a judgment can be rendered therein that will not prejudice the rights of the parties to the cross-petition.

SEC. 2893. The guardian of an infant or person of unsound mind, or attorney for a person in prison, must deny in the answer all the material allegations of the petition, prejudicial to such defendant.

SEC. 2894. When the facts stated in the answer, or any division thereof, are not sufficient to constitute a defense, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, the adverse party may demur, and shall be held therein to the same certainty in the statement of his grounds therefor, as obtains in a demurrer to the petition.

A demurrer does not lie to an answer, which sets up no new matter, but merely denies the allegations of the complaint. Smith v. Green, 2 Sand., 702; Ketchum v. Zerren, 1 Smith, 657; Thomas v. Harrop, 7 Pr. Rep., 57; People v. Banker, 8 id., 261.

Reply.

SEC. 2895. There shall be no reply except upon the allegations of a counter-claim, or set-off, or cross-demand, in the answer.

SEC. 2896. When the answer contains new matter constituting a set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, the plaintiff may reply to such new matter. 1. Denying generally or specifically, each allegation controverted by him, or any knowledge or information thereof, sufficient to form a belief as in case of answer, or—2. He may allege in concise and ordinary language, any new matter not inconsistent with the petition, constituting a defense to the set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand.

Where the complaint avers in an action on contract, the sale and delivery of a bill of goods on a certain day, whereby the defendant is now indebted, &c, and the answer avers that they were purchased on a credit of six months, and that the credit has not expired, it is not new matter in the answer requiring a reply, but a special denial, that the defendant is indebted as alleged in the complaint. 12 How., 455.

SEC. 2897. Any number of defenses, negative or affirmative, are pleadable to a set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand.

SEC. 2898. All the negative matter of the reply, whether wholly or partly so, shall be stated in one division—and each affirmative matter of defense in the reply, shall be sufficient in itself, and must intelligibly refer to the part of the answer to which it is intended to apply. A division of equitable matter must also be separated into paragraphs and numbered as required in case of such matter in the answer.

SEC. 2899. When the facts stated in the reply do not amount to a sufficient defense, the defendant may demur, subject to the same requirements of certainty in statements of grounds thereof, as obtain in demurrer to the petition.

A departure from the complaint in a reply to the answer, is not a cause of demurrer under the code. White v. Aug. 3 Kern., 83.

If the parties go to trial upon a reply which is a departure, without objection, they may be bound by the result of such trial. Prinatt v. Rangoon, 12 Ind. R.

General Principles of Pleading.

SEC. 2900. The opposite party shall be deemed to join in a demurrer, whenever he shall not amend the pleading to which it is addressed.

SEC. 2901. In all cases in which a denial is made by answer or reply, concerning a time, sum, quantity, or place alleged, the party denying shall declare whether such denial is applicable to every time, sum, Numbering.

SEC. 2902. The counts of the petition must be consecutively numbered as such, and so must the divisions of the answer as such, and of the reply as such.

Matter separated.

SEC. 2903. If the matter of the petition, answer or reply, is not put into distinct counts or divisions and numbered as herein contemplated, or if one such division contains in the petition more than one cause of action, or if one division in the answer contains more than one affirmative defense, or set off, or counter-claim, or cross-demand, or if one division in the reply contains more than one affirmative defense to any set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, the party so neglecting to divide and number, may, on motion, be ordered to divide and number, and the party so pleading double in the contemplation of this section, may be on motion, ordered to elect on which part of such double count or division he will stand, and to strike out the rest of it—or to re-divide such count or division, made bad by such duplicity.

The distinction between demands or rights of action which are single and entire, and those which are several and distinct, is, that the former immediately arise out of one and the same act or contract, and the latter out of different acts or contracts. Where there are several items of account for goods sold or work performed at different times, there must be either an express contract or the circumstances must be such as to raise an implied contract embracing all the items, to make them a single or entire demand. Secor v. Sturgis, 16 N. Y. R., 548.

Verification.

SEC. 2901. Every pleading must be subscribed by the party, or his attorney, and when any pleading in a case shall be verified by affidavit, all subsequent pleadings except demurrers shall be verified also, and in all cases of verification of a pleading the affidavit shall be to the effect that the affiant believes the statements thereof to be true.*

* This does not mean as our Code now does, that such pleadings shall be used as testimony on the trial—but is only to secure a truthful statement of action or defense. The system of verification, exists under two forms—one is that if one pleading is verified, the other must be—the other is that all must be. The former is the law of California, Wisconsin, Minnesota—was recommended in the Code of the district of Columbia and is the law of New York. The commissioners of that state recommended and persisted in recommending the full verification of all pleadings. The same system is recommended in both the late reports of the commission of Minnesota.

The verification of all pleadings is the law of Ohio, of Oregon, of Missouri and of Kentucky, except that in Kentucky pleadings in some cases need not be verified—which we also provide. The commission recommended full verification, that is that all pleadings be verified, but concurred with the judiciary committees in their recommendation of half verification as that is called here used, in the hope that its use would soon lead to the adoption of the full verification. For the reasons given for verification and the letters commenting its value; where used, see report on Civil Code, p. 237; we cite a very little therefrom, as to the objection of novelty. The report says, p. 251:

In the infancy of pleading the thing sought to be secured by verification (namely, truthfulness of statement) was secured by other means. When that ceased to be longer true, then the pleadings were not in such shape as to allow of verification, nor did they because of a shape to allow verification until the new system introduced the requirement that facts should be stated.

The establishment of these propositions removes the objection, that this thing of verification, never having been before used, is a startling and dangerous innovation. Verification is needed to secure the very objects of all pleadings. These, are such a statement of the real points of dispute, as that each party may come prepared to contest them—in that the court may know them—and as that the record may show them, and thus establish the law. Originally the plaintiff, before he could bring into court a defendant had to obtain an original writ, which stated generally to the defenda-
SEC. 2905. Where a corporation is a party, the affidavit may be made by any one of them.

SEC. 2906. When there are several parties united in interest, the affidavit may be made by any one of them.

SEC. 2907. If the pleading be founded on a written instrument, the affidavit may be made by such agent or attorney, the affidavit may be made by such agent or attorney.
SEC. 2908. If the statements of the pleading are known to any person other than the party, such person may make the affidavit.

SEC. 2909. When the affidavit is made by an other than the party, it must also contain averments showing the affiant competent to make the affidavit according to the foregoing provisions.

SEC. 2910. The verification shall not be required to the answer of a guardian, of an insane, or person of unsound mind, or a prisoner.

SEC. 2911. The verification shall not be required when the administration of the truth of the allegations of the petition or answer might sub­ject the party to a criminal or penal prosecution, and when it can be seen from the pleading to be answered, than an admission of the truth of its allegations might so subject the party, his general affidavit that such might be the effect of the admission, without stating the facts leading him to such a conclusion, shall be received, in lieu of a verification of the pleading.

Sec. 2912. Verification shall not be required to a pleading grounded on an injury to the person or the character.

Sec. 2913. The affidavit of verification may be made before any person, either within or without this state, duly qualified to administer an oath, and must be signed by the person making the same, and the officer before whom the same is taken, shall certify that it was signed in his presence, by the person (naming him) and by him, before such officer sworn to or affirmed. That purporting to be the certificate of such officer, as signed officially, if made within this state, shall be prima facie evidence that it is such certificate, and that its averments are true, and if made without this state shall be so taken when made before any one, by our law qualified to take depositions, but if taken before any officer not so qualified, his official certificate must be authenticated as is required by section 4058 of this code.

Sec. 2914. The verification of the pleading does not apply to the amount claimed, except in actions founded on contract, express or implied, for the payment of money only.

Sec. 2915. The verification shall not make other or greater proof necessary on the side of the adverse party.

The rule which requires two witnesses, or one witness with strong corroborating circumstances, to overcome the denial in an answer in chancery, seems to have been changed by the provision that the verification of the pleadings shall not make other or greater proof necessary on the side of the adverse party. One witness is sufficient to prove the execution of the note against the plea of non est factum, and authorize a recovery. Albro v. Lawson, 17 B. M., 644.

Sec. 2916. If a pleading be not duly verified, it may be struck out, if not verified on motion, but such defect will be deemed waived if the other party respond thereto, or proceed to trial without such motion.

Sec. 2917. Every material allegation of the petition not controverted by the answer, and every material allegation in the answer of new matter, constituting a set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, not controverted by the reply, must for the purposes of the action, be taken as true. But the allegations of new matter in the answer, not relating to a set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, or of new matter in a reply, is to be deemed controverted by the adverse party as upon a direct denial or avoidance as the case may require. An allegation of value, or of amount of damage, shall not be deemed true by a failure to controvert it, and an averment that, of the truth of any stated allegation or allegations the party has not sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief, shall be deemed a sufficient denial to prevent the same from being taken as true. A party desiring to admit any allegations of fact, which by this section would otherwise be deemed controverted by mere force of law, may at any time file a written admission thereof.

Facts which the pleadings admit, can not be contradicted or varied by evidence. Evidence is only intended to establish contested facts. Parkhurst v. Magrav, Miss. R., 134; Hackett v. Richards, 11 Leg. Obs., 315; and a judgment contrary to the admission in the pleadings, showing that there ought to be no such judgment, would be certainly erroneous. Bridge v. Payson, 5 Sand., 217.

We have frequently decided, and, until a different construction of the code shall be enforced upon us by a higher authority, must continue to decide, that only those allegations in a complaint are to be deemed material in the sense of the code, which the plaintiff must prove upon the trial, in order to maintain his action. It is upon these only that an issue can properly be taken; and it is of these only that the truth is admitted by the omission, in the answer, of a specific denial. Per Duer, J., in Fry v. Bennett, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 245; 5 Sand., 54; Newman v. Otto, 4 Sand., 668; Harlow v. Hamilton, 6 Pr. R., 475.

A material fact that is clearly implied from what is stated, though the fact itself is not set forth in terms, is deemed to be a fact stated, and may be traversed or denied, or avoided, in the same manner as if distinctly set forth; and if not denied, it will be taken as admitted, when occurring in any pleading except a reply. Prindle v. Caruthers, 15 N. Y. Rep., 429; Hought v. Holley, 3 Wendell, 263; 11 East., 406.

It is the duty of the court to tell the jury what questions of fact are to be tried, and what facts are admitted by the pleadings. Butcher v. Death Teasdale, 15 Mo. Rep., 271; Steil v. Aehli, 15 Mo. Rep., 289. If a material averment, permitted to be inserted in a petition at the trial by way of amendment, is unanswered, it is to be taken as admitted. Robards v. Munson, 20 Mo. Rep., 65.

The allegations of the complaint, not specifically denied, are, it is true, to be regarded as admitted. But, where there are several answers, an admission made in one, is not available against the others. Each answer must stand by itself, as a distinct defense, and the plaintiff must recover upon the whole record. One issue found for him, if a material one, is as complete a defense for him, as if all the issues were found in his favor. Swift v. Kinglsey, 24 Barb., 543.

But where the substantial allegations in a complaint are not directly denied, and no issue is taken upon them in the answer, but the defendant states other facts inconsistent with those set forth by the plaintiff, this will not be construed as a denial of the complaint, so as to prevent the allegations of the complaint from being taken as true. Wood v. Waring, 21 Barb., 190.

Where, in an action brought by two or more persons, for an unlawful taking of property, the defendant answers that the plaintiff's are not joint owners of the property, that averment is material, and is new matter requiring a reply. Walrad v. Bennett, 6 Barb., 144.

The plaintiffs having alleged in their petition that they were the heirs of J. U. W., and having sued in that character, and the fact of their being his heirs not having been denied in the answer, the allegation had to be taken as true, and it was unnecessary to prove it. It was the duty of the defendants to deny each allegation of the petition they intended to controvert, or any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief. Morton, etc. v. Waring's heirs, 18 B. M., 82. [See section 2953.]

No evidence can be admitted to disprove allegations not denied. 10 Ind., 406.

It is not necessary that a special verdict should contain facts admitted by the pleadings. Such facts, together with the facts found by the jury, constitute a proper case for appeal. Burto v. Hinon, 4 Seld., 483.

A judgment contrary to an admission in the pleadings would be erroneous; so, the objection, if made on the trial, should be allowed. Bridge v. Payson, 5 Sand., 210.

The code does not authorize the court to take as true allegations of value, or amount of damages laid in the plaintiff's petition, in ordinary cases, though not denied in the answer, and though there be no answer to the petition. Demiel v. Judy, 14 B. M., 394.

Allegations of value are not to be taken as true, but an allegation of value followed by another, that the article was sold for that price to the defendant, may be taken as true. Stiles, J., Pate v. Pate, etc., *Mss opin., February, 1858. Stanton's Ky. Code."

If I am under obligation, by contract, to deliver a horse, of the value of two hundred dollars, and allege, by any pleading, that I have delivered a horse of that value, the whole, including the allegation of value, would be taken as true, unless it was controverted by pleading on the other side. The proposition can be applied only where the value stated is not of the gist or essence of the pleading, as in the case supposed, it would be. W. L. M.

Sec. 2918. If the action, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, is founded on an account, a bill of particulars must be incorporated into, or attached to, and filed with the pleading, or such pleading will be demurrable, and if not incorporated into it—must be verified as the pleading. And if the same be not a statement of such particulars as may be necessary to give the court and the other party, reasonable knowledge of the nature and the grounds of the cause of action, set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, the court may, on motion, order it to be made more specific. Such bill of particulars shall be deemed a part of the pleadings to which it is annexed, and shall be answered or replied to as such, and as such shall define and limit the proof, subject, however, to amendment as hereafter provided. The items of a bill of particulars shall be consecutively numbered, and the party adverse shall answer specifically every item; but he may make one and the same allegation or denial concerning any number of items to which such allegation or denial is applicable, specifying the number of the items thus answered together, when less than the whole.

Sec. 2919. If the adverse party shall deny that any item is due or payable, or that he owes the party as alleged, he must state all the substantive grounds on which he rests such denial, and shall specify whether some, and what part of the whole, of such item or demand is denied.*

Sec. 2920. If the action, set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand is founded on a note, bill, bond, or other writing, as evidence of indebtedness, the original or a copy thereof must be set out in or annexed to the pleading, if in the power of the party to procure it. If not so done, the reason thereof must be stated in the pleading. If there be no such copy so set out or annexed, and no sufficient reason stated for such omission, it will be sufficient ground for a demurrer to such pleading.

If it appears on the face of a paragraph of the answer that it is founded upon a written instrument, and neither the instrument nor a copy of it is filed, the paragraph will be subject to a demurrer. Price v. The Grand Rapids, etc., Co., 12 Ind. R.

Sec. 2921. In pleading a judgment or other determination of a court or officer of special jurisdiction, it shall not be necessary to state the facts conferring jurisdiction, but such judgment or determination may be stated to have been duly given or made.

Sec. 2922. In pleading the performance of conditions precedent in a contract, whether such conditions are expressed or implied, it shall not be necessary to state the facts constituting such performance, but a general statement that the party duly performed all the conditions on his part, or to that substantial effect, shall be sufficient.

When the terms of subscription are prescribed by a charter, it is not necessary to state the terms in the petition, and a general averment that all the terms and conditions necessary to authorize a demand of payment of sub-

* This section and the preceding one as to numbering items is the law of Mass., of 1852.
A plaintiff suing as a corporation, partnership, executor, guardian, or in any other way, implying corporate, partnership, representative, or other than individual capacity, need not state the facts constituting such capacity or relation, but may aver generally, or as a legal conclusion, such capacity or relation; and where a defendant is held in such capacity or relation, a plaintiff may aver such capacity or relation, in the same general way.

SEC. 2924. If the general allegation contemplated in the three preceding sections is made in a petition, and is not controverted in the answer, or made in the answer in relation to a set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, and not controverted in the reply, each allegation not so controverted shall, on the trial, be taken as true.*

Sec. 2925. If either of the allegations contemplated in sections 2921-2922-2923 is intended to be controverted, it shall not be sufficient to controvert it in terms of the allegation contradictory of the general proposition intended to be controverted, but it is necessary to state specifically the facts relied on as a denial of such proposition.

Sec. 2926. In pleading a private statute, or a right derived therefrom, it shall be sufficient to refer to such statute by its title and the day of its passage, and the court shall thereupon take judicial notice thereof.

The plaintiff having resorted to the courts of this state to enforce contracts prohibited and made indictable by the law of this state, (against lotteries,) the subject-matters of which are declared to be public and common nuisances, should, by an averment of the place where made, and that, by the laws of that place such contracts were authorized, have shown that these contracts were not within the statute and vitiated by it, the laws of the state having no extra-territorial force. It is as if an exception had been engraven upon the statute, which prohibiting all dealing in regard to lottery tickets, excluded from its operation all contracts made without the state: and the plaintiff, in seeking to enforce a contract within the general statute, must, in pleading, by proper averments, bring himself within the exception. Per W. F. Allen, J. Thatcher v. Morris, 1 Kern., 437.

Sec. 2927. Every court of this state shall take judicial notice of the rules of any other court thereof.

Sec. 2928. In an action for slander or libel, it shall not be necessary to state in the petition any extrinsic fact for the purpose of showing the application to the plaintiff of any defamatory matter out of which the cause of action arose, but it shall be sufficient to state generally that the same was spoken or published concerning the plaintiff, nor shall it be necessary to state any prefatory or extrinsic fact for the purpose of showing that such words were used in a defamatory sense, but it shall be sufficient generally to state that the words or matter were used in a defamatory sense, specifying such defamatory sense, and where the words or matter set forth, with or without the alleged meaning, show a cause of action, it shall be sufficient.*

SEC. 2929. In actions of slander or libel, the defendant may, in his answer, allege both the truth of the matter charged as defamatory, and any mitigating circumstances sufficient in law to reduce the amount of damages; or he may allege either one of these without the other, and the allegation of the truth of the matter charged shall not, if the defendant fail to establish it, be deemed, in itself, proof of the malice of such words, but the jury shall decide upon the whole case, whether such defense was, or was not, made with malicious intent, and whether he prove the justification or not, he may give in evidence the mitigating circumstances, but each defense must be separately stated and numbered, and if the defendant relies on more than one mitigating circumstance sufficient in law to reduce the amount of damages, each of such circumstances must be separately stated and numbered, and sufficient in itself, and if the defendant relies on the truth of the matter charged, nothing herein is intended to relax the law of pleading heretofore in force, as

* We regard this section as of great value. The first part of it, removing the need of showing by an allegation of extrinsic facts, the application to the plaintiff, was made the law of New York, and copied into all the new systems, but it was soon construed, not to exempt the plaintiff from the need of showing by averment of extrinsic or prefatory facts, that the words were used in a defamatory sense. The 61st section of the English practice act of 1852, introduces the section as in substance here recommended. This was meant to be the law of all states adopting the new system, and is also substantially that of Maryland, section 73—Alabama, section 2229—Tennessee, section 2897, so it may be said to constitute the present prevailing rule of practice.

We believe that this section, even without its express enactment, would follow logically from a fair construction of the principle that only facts should be stated, as contradistinguished from evidence.

That the plaintiff was meant is not a legal conclusion, it does not then fall under that objection. It is a statement of pure fact, and to show that he was meant by statements of other facts, is certainly pleading evidence. That defendant meant plaintiff is an ultimate fact, that is to say, it is the kind of fact which should be pleaded. It is distinguishable from a proposition of evidence in this, that it is the outcome and last result of several propositions of evidence, which lead to it as a conclusion of fact to be proved. It springs up in the mind as a sequence of these evidentiary facts. It is just the kind of statement, then, that should be made in all good pleading.

That pleading is the best which contains facts in the last degree of remoteness from what is evidence, and though this last expression of facts is often difficult to attain, yet no one deems a pleading bad, merely because, while it does well state ultimate facts, it does not state the minor facts that go to prove these. But this is what the old declaration in slander demanded. It demanded that you plead the facts showing that the defendant meant the plaintiff. That is the testimony which showed it. In no other case had you to plead all the premises which led to the fact-conclusion. That the defendant meant the plaintiff is a fact-proposition of defendant's state of mind in using the words, and you might as well in an assault case wherein you rely on purpose and malice to augment damage, insist that all the facts which show that defendant had such purpose or malice, must be stated in the declaration. Those prior facts are in both cases alike, mere evidence, and should not be stated, or certainly should not be required to be stated under the penalty of bad pleading. The same is true of the proposition, the defendant intended to charge a crime—or the defendant meant a particular thing. And what right has the defendant to ask the plaintiff, how do you know I meant you, or that thing? Any more than in a suit on a note, to ask, how do you know I executed that note? or made that contract? Report on Civil Code, p. 306.

In all actions of slander for words not in themselves actionable, the right to recover depends upon the question whether they caused special damage, and the special damage must be fully and accurately stated. If the special damage was a loss of customers or of a sale of property, the persons who ceased to be customers, or refused to purchase, must be named; and if they are not named, no cause of action is stated. (Kendall v. Stone, 1 Seld., 14.)

A defendant in an action of slander may, in his answer, allege both the truth of the matters charged, and mitigating circumstances, or either. They should be separately stated; and it is not necessary to plead the former in order to set up the latter. All matters properly receivable in evidence may be pleaded in mitigation of damages in an action of slander, either with or without a justification. Bush v. Prosser, 13 Barb., 221, and Follett v. Jewett, 1 Am. Law Reg., 600, sustaining this view of the subject. By section 165 of the code, in actions of slander the rules of pleading and evidence both are changed; so that the defendant may now, under an answer properly setting forth the matter in mitigation, give in evidence, to reduce the amount of damages, any or all facts and circumstances which have a legitimate tendency to dispove malice, or show that the truth of the charge was probable or properly inferable—and even the truth of the charge itself. Heaton v. Wright, 10 How., 79; Herr v. Bambery, 10 How., 128.

SEC. 2930. Any person shall be entitled to intervene in an action who has an interest in the matter in litigation, in the success of either of the parties to the action, or an interest against both. An intervention takes place when a third party is permitted to become a party to an action between other persons, either by joining the plaintiff in claiming what is sought by the petition, or by uniting with the defendant in resisting the claim of the plaintiff, or by demanding anything adversely to both the plaintiff and defendant. A third person may intervene either before or after issue has been joined in the cause, and before the trial commences.

SEC. 2931. The court shall determine upon the intervention at the same time that the action is decided, and the intervenor has no right to delay; and if the claim of the intervenor is not sustained, he shall pay all costs of the intervention.

SEC. 2932. The intervention shall be by petition filed in the court in which the action is pending, and it must set forth the facts constituting the grounds on which the intervention rests, and shall be taken notice of by the adverse party, as any other pleading, on being served by copy, and shall be responded to in the time which is allowed for other pleadings of the kind used in such response, and all the pleadings therein shall be governed by the same principles and rules as obtain in other pleadings provided for in this chapter. But if such petition is filed during term, the court shall direct the time in which an answer shall be filed thereto.

SEC. 2933. In a proceeding against a married woman, growing out of any contract which she may have the legal right to make, the plead-

* This section is meant to restore the law as it was before the judge made law of the case of Underwood v. Parks, (Strange,) malice is the gist of the action, and every fact showing its intensity may be proved, and every fact showing its absence or minimum of intensity should also be allowed to be proved, and that without any penalty, if the attempt be actually without malice, though it should not succeed. The provision of letting the jury determine from all the case, the presence or absence of malice in the plea of justification is from Massachusetts. Report on Civil Code, p. 308.
Sec. 2934. One cause of action, defense, set-off, counter-claim, cross-demand, or reply, shall be expressed in but one statement, and not in various counts or divisions. If such be done, the adverse party may move to strike out all but one of such counts or divisions, supporting his motion by an affidavit that the same are for only one cause of action, whereupon the other party shall either so strike out at the cost of the motion, or declining, must show on the trial as many distinct causes as he has counts or divisions, or shall pay all the costs of the whole trial.

The theory of the code in reference to pleading is, that the party pleading knows or should know, beforehand, what is the truth of his case, and that he should state the truth, and nothing but the truth, in his pleading. The statement of the case in different forms, for the purpose of guarding against a variance between the allegation and the proof, is no longer necessary. If there is any variance between the allegations and the proofs, in any of the details of the case, the party will upon the trial be allowed to amend, so as to adapt his pleading to his case as proved, upon such terms as may be just—provided no new cause of action is stated.

(Dunning v. Thomas, 11 How., 281.)

Sec. 2935. Where a transaction has taken place between the plaintiff and defendant, constituting in favor of the plaintiff a cause of action against the defendant, and where another contemporaneous or subsequent transaction growing out of and based upon the former transaction, has also taken place between them, which may or may not have operated a merger or displacement of the former cause of action—then, if such plaintiff is not clear upon which of such transactions he is entitled to recover, he may state in his petition, in distinct counts, the facts constituting each of such causes of action, and may pray for the relief proper to each cause of action, and must also state that he claims to recover but for one of such causes; whereupon the defendant may allow judgment to go against him on either of such causes in bar of the other; or if the defendant contests both of such causes, the plaintiff may, on proper proof, recover on either, or having obtained verdict on both, may state on which one he will have judgment, which judgment shall be in bar of the other.

The same principles shall obtain in regard to a set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand.

Sec. 2936. Where a transaction has occurred, and if certain facts thereof should be proved, such proof would entitle the plaintiff to one kind or degree of relief, while if other facts thereof were proved, such

* There is no longer any reason for the allowance of many statements. It was done to avoid a variance which might defeat the cause, but now the same proof which could be made under many statements, may be under one, by an amendment, if need be. The facile power of amendment stands in the stead of the several counts. Report on Civil Code, p. 309.

† This section is needed for cases like the following: A. sells goods to B. and receives B's note therefor. But some doubt exists as to A's ability to recover on the note transaction; perhaps it has been altered by the consent of the maker, who is now dead, and the consent can not be proved, and he desires to unite it his cause growing out of the original transaction. Now, it will be seen that verification don't stand in the way, for both transactions are equally true, though a recovery in one should defeat the right of recovery on the other. Nor is this a stating of one cause of action in two ways. For the cause of action is constituted by the statement of the facts put into the count, and these are dissimilar in each. Report on Civil Code, p. 309.
PLEADING. [PART 3, proof would entitle the plaintiff to another kind or degree of relief; then if the plaintiff can not determine which group of facts he can prove, but believes he can prove the one or the other of such groups, he may state as cause of action in distinct counts, each of such group of facts, with the relief which he demands thereon, and that he asks judgment only on one of such group of facts. Whereupon the parties shall have the same rights, and the same proceedings may be had as are provided for in section 2935, and the verification of the causes of action of this section shall be in effect that the plaintiff believes one or the other of them true, but can not determine which.*

SEC. 2937. Contradictory causes of defense or reply may be stated in an answer or reply, and when the pleading is verified, it must be to the same effect as required in the last section.

SEC. 2938. Two or more parties making the same defense or reply, may do so jointly.

SEC. 2939. The pleading may include one count only when the same contract was made by each of the adverse parties, but must include different counts describing the different contracts of the adverse parties, when, as in the case of maker and indorser, the same contract was not made by all.

SEC. 2940. Whenever a party claims a right derogatory from the general law, or when his claim is founded upon an exception of any kind, he shall set forth such claim or such exception particularly in his pleading.

SEC. 2941. Propositions which state matters of law, as contra-distinguished from those which state matters of fact, must not be stated in a pleading, but if a proposition which has a meaning which would make it matter of law has also another and a common sense meaning, which would make it matter of fact, it shall be taken in the latter meaning and shall be deemed a proposition of fact.†

* This section provides for a case dissimilar to that of section 2935, in this, that here is only one transaction. At common law, one transaction often gave a party a right to elect one of several formal actions, to each of which were attached remedies dissimilar either in kind or degree. In each of these actions a different group of facts in such transaction was relied on as a cause of such remedy, and to that end was either stated in the declaration, or was implied by the very form of the action chosen. The same right of election to rely on one group of the facts as a claim for damage exists under the new system, but whether it allowed one, having made such choice to afterwards state any other group, which would seem to ignore such choice has been doubted. The best and most experienced lawyers, under the new system, have most felt that this right should continue to be enjoyed, and when guarded by the required verification as herein, it can not be attended with danger. This is no license for stating one cause of action in many ways; but only for allowing a choice of one of many possible remedies, dissimilar in kind or degree, to be made out of the facts of a transaction. Report on Civil Code, p. 309.

† The first part of this section tends to the exclusion of statement of law. We know it is difficult to do so in every case. The latter part of it in view of that difficulty, provides for the construction of a statement which has two meanings—one of which is attached by the popular, and another by the legal mind. And in providing that such shall be held to be a fact-statement rather than a legal one, we in part remove the difficulty which would otherwise exist. We thus, also, by a more positive regulative principle, secure the leading idea of this system of fact-statement and ordinary language. Again, most of the trouble which has attended the new system, has grown out of a want of just this rule. A statement has been found in the petition which was capable of two constructions, one of which would make it a legal, the other a fact-conclusion. In strict keeping with the requirement that ordinary language should be the language of pleading; it should have been taken as ordinary language, and therefore to be fact-statement, and should have been replied to as such. But perhaps for want of a distinct averment of this rule, it has been denied as a legal conclusion. And then the trial has been conducted on the same hypothesis, and many of the uncertainties of the common count and general issue have been the result. Report on Civil Code, p. 310.
It seems to be safe and a compliance with the code, to state the facts constituting the cause of action substantially in the same manner as they were stated in the old system in a special count. By that system the legal issuable facts were to be stated, and the evidence by which those facts were to be established was to be brought forward upon the trial. This position will not embrace what were known as the common counts. Facts, from which the indebtedness appears, should be stated so that the defendant, by his answer, may put them in issue or avoid them. Under the present system, it is no longer necessary to state the conclusion of law from the facts previously stated. Under the old system, the facts constituting the cause of action were stated, and then in actions of assumpsit followed the conclusions of law, by means whereof the defendant became liable, &c.; and then followed the undertaking and promise, upon which issue was joined. The consideration, when necessary, should always appear in the statement of facts constituting the cause of action. It has been supposed that a wider latitude should be allowed in equity pleading, and that evidence may to some extent, be incorporated in the statement. The rule of the code is broad enough for all cases, and it permits a statement of facts only as contra-distinguished from the evidence which is to establish those facts. But in equity cases the facts may be more numerous, more complicated, more involved; and the pleader may state all the facts, in a legal and concise form, which constitute the cause of action and entitle him to relief. The rule touching the statement of facts constituting the cause of action is the same in all cases, and the rules by which the sufficiency of the pleadings are to be determined are prescribed by the code. Per Marvin, J., People v. Ryder, 2 Kern., 437.

The words, "facts constituting a cause of action" in the code, sec. 142, mean those facts which the evidence on the trial will prove, and not the evidence which will be required to prove the existence of those facts. Wooden v. Strenz, 10 How., 48.

"The facts" which are required to be stated as "constituting the cause of action," can only mean real traversable facts, as distinguished from propositions or conclusions of law, since it is the former, not the latter, that can alone, with any propriety, be said to constitute the cause of action." Per Duer, J., Mann v. Morewood, 5 Sand., 564.

"The errors which too frequently occur in pleadings under the code, must be ascribed to a mistaken interpretation of the words, "facts constituting a cause of action," or "a defense;" nor is the source of the mistake difficult to be explained. In writing and in conversation, the term "fact" is frequently and not improperly applied to an abstract proposition—a proposition true in morals or in law, but of which the truth depends, not upon testimony, but upon authority or reasoning, and in this sense of the term, it is obvious that every just conclusion of law is a fact. That such a conclusion, however, although just in itself, is not a fact within the meaning of the code, is evident upon slight reflection, and as a single example will be sufficient to prove. There is no apparent impropriety in saying, "it is a fact that Peter owes John a certain sum of money," but who will assert that a complaint would be good that should aver that the defendant owes the plaintiff a certain sum for which the plaintiff demands judgment, without alleging a single fact from which the debt could arise? Yet, if the words of the code, "facts constituting a cause of action," refer to conclusions of law, and not to the facts, from which if admitted or proved, the conclusions are to be drawn, even such a complaint would be free from objection. All these errors in pleading will be avoided, if it is constantly remembered that the facts which the code requires to be set forth are not true propositions, but physical facts, capable as such of being established by evidence, oral or documentary, and from which, when so established, the right to maintain the action, on the validity of the defense, is a necessary conclusion of law—a conclusion which the court will draw, and which it is quite unnecessary that the pleader should state." Per Duer, J., Lawrence v. Wright, 2 Duer, 674.

Mere conclusions of law, or mere propositions of law, should not be stated, or, at most, should be but seldom and very briefly introduced; and are never necessary, sec. 129; and least of all, should they be relied upon as a substantive allegation in pleading. For this purpose they are totally worthless.
They are not facts; and above all, they are not issuable facts. No issue can be taken upon them—sec. 128. Drake v. Cockcroft, 4 E. D. Smith, 34, ante, N. Y. Court of Appeals, December Term, 1859, ante, vol. 1, p. 540.

Thus the answer that the defendant is not indebted, put into a demand, the grounds of which are set forth by the plaintiff, expresses only a conclusion of law. It does not put in issue any fact alleged by the plaintiff, nor set up any fact by way of avoidance, but only asserts, as a matter of law, that the facts stated do not constitute a cause of action; that is, do not show an indebtedness, and is more like a demurrer than an answer in bar. Re Prime, Abb., 328. Maurice v. N. Y. Dry Dock Co., 3 Edw., Ch. R., 146. Dimon

The allegation that he is the owner, is only a legal conclusion, some issuable fact by which it would appear that he is owner, should be stated. Adams v.
Holley, 12 How., 326.

An averment that the settlement with his guardian had no reference to the claim in this suit, nor was the same in any way released, discharged or affected thereby, is an averment of a legal conclusion. Jones v. The Phanix Bank, 4 Seld., 228.

A statement that by means of a contract, set out in the complaint, it became the duty of the defendant to perform certain acts, is a statement of a conclusion of law. City of Buffalo v. Hollocon, 3 Seld., 495.

To say that Southwick has failed to fulfill his obligations, is no more than saying that he has broken his contract, or that the plaintiff is entitled to judgment. It is merely the inference from a state of facts not disclosed. Van Schaick v. Winne, 16 Barb., 95.

The new matter must be facts, and where the answer alleged that a note sought to be recovered upon, was obtained by fraud, but did not set out the facts and circumstances of such fraud, it was held insufficient on that ground.
McMurray v. Gifford, 5 Pr. R., 14.

Sec. 2342. Any defense showing that a contract, written or oral, or any instrument sued on, is void or voidable; or the fact that the alleged instrument was delivered to a third person, as an escrow, or showing matter of justification, excuse, discharge, or release, and any cause of defense which admits the facts of the adverse pleading, but by some other matter seeks to avoid their legal effect, must be specially pleaded.

Sec. 2343. Any defense that admits that an allegation of the other pleading is true, as an allegation of fact, but assumes that it is not true as an allegation of law, and seeks to avoid it by new matter, must be specially pleaded.

Sec. 2344. Under a mere denial of an allegation, no evidence shall be introduced by the party so denying, which does not tend to negative such an allegation of fact, or to negative some proposition of fact, as contradistinguished from one of law, which the party having made the controverted allegation, is bound to prove, in order to sustain such allegation.*

* This section constitutes the last of this cluster of sections, which are eliminations of the general one, that only fact statements shall be used in pleading. It may be thought that it should have been placed in the chapter on evidence. But it will do a better office to stand as a warning here. And it is really a guide to pleading; for it plainly tells the party who knows what facts he wants to prove, how to plead, in order to be admitted to prove them. For instance, if the defendant merely denied in the case supposed in the last section, that "A. promised B.,"—under such denial he could not prove that A. was an infant. He could only prove that A. did not as a matter of fact promise B. If he wanted to show that while he did promise as a matter of fact, yet as a matter of law such promise was not binding, then he must state the circumstance on which he intends to rely, as proof to establish that defense. Under the mere denial supposed, the defendant could prove that A. did not
But the true construction to be put upon the code, section 92, 85, is, that "new matter" shall comprehend every fact not appearing in the petition, which defeats the action and which the plaintiff is not required to prove to make out his case, whether such fact existed concurrently with, or arose subsequently to, the alleged cause of action.

Such new matter must be specifically stated. Under the general or special denial authorized by section 92, no evidence can be received except that which merely negates the material facts stated in the petition. Facts going to show the illegality or original invalidity of the plaintiff’s claim, or showing it subsequently defeated, are all new matter to be specially pleaded; and cannot be proved under a denial. This construction is necessary to carry out the object of the code; which, as declared by the code commissioners, was, "to present facts in such a manner as that the points in dispute to which the proof is to be directed, shall be perceived."

"Rep., p. 56. If infancy, duress, and like defenses, and in replevin, ownership in defendant, or in third person, can be given in evidence under a denial, then the plaintiff is not apprised of the facts to which the proof is to be directed." The language of the code, section 92, necessarily limits the office of the answer of non detinet. It is a special denial of a fact asserted; and that fact may be disproved, by proving the non existence of any fact, or the falsity of any statement, offered in support of it, but not by evidence of other facts, of other ownership; for, if so, then special facts not set up in the answer would be proved. The proofs and pleadings would not correspond. If so, payment might as well be proved under a denial. Payment, tender, rejected, and satisfaction, arbitrament, release, former judgment, discharge in bankruptcy, and like defenses, must be specially pleaded.

This construction of the code is necessary to secure uniformity, which did not belong to the old system, and seems to result from the authorities. Code, section 83; Benedict v. Seymour, 6 How. Pr. R., 228; Brazill v. Isham, 2 Kern., 9; Zalriskier v. Smith, 2 Kern., 322; 20 Barb., 468; 2 Duer, 176; 11 Johns., 189; 13 Johns., 286; 3 Barb., 429; 9 ibid., 498; 3 Const., 216.

promise B., or could prove any fact which could furnish a fact-inference, that A. did not promise B. Or any facts which negative any fact proved by the plaintiff for the purpose of establishing his proposition of fact. The propositions of the pleading will all be of fact where possible to be so construed, and so when a promise is alleged, it will not be a promise implied by law, from facts stated or not stated, but will be a fact-promise—which the party expects to prove as alleged, and where there was no fact promise made, there should be none averred—but only the facts on which the law implies the promise.

So, "A. promised so and so," with the denial, "A. did not so promise," will not allow the denial to show that facts exist inconsistent with such a promise—when the same is treated as a proposition of law, but only that facts exist inconsistent with it as a proposition of fact. On a denial of a fact proposition, or a proposition which has both a fact and a law meaning taken in its fact meaning—the denier may prove any fact-propition contradicting the denied proposition, or any fact-proposition inconsistent with it, implying that it is not true. For example, if one states as a consideration, labor for defendant, and defendant's promise to pay its value, defendant may deny the labor, and thereunder disprove the labor. If he deny the promise to pay its value, he may thereunder disprove the promise to pay value—by showing that the promise was not that, but something else—was misunderstood, or not made, or made to another, and not to plaintiff—but can not show that he did not do the labor, under such denial.

If there was no actual fact promise, but mere labor, under such circumstances as that the law would attach thereo a promise—so that the promise is a legal conclusion and not a fact, then no promise should be stated, but only the facts. As A. did such and such labor for the defendant, and it was worth so much. On denial thereo, the defendant could only prove the contradictory of labor being done.

That A. sold goods to the defendant will not allow proof that he sold them to the wife of the defendant, unless she was his actual agent in the transaction. Not, for instance, if he had protested against sale to her. The proposition will be treated as a fact-proposition, and the proof must prove it as a fact, and not as a legal proposition; and under a denial of it, defendant may prove that they were sold to his wife, and thus contradict it. Report on Civil Code, p. 313.
PLEADING.

[PART S-

Not to plead evidence.

SECK. 2945. Propositions which are statements of evidence, as contradistinguished from propositions which are statements of the ultimate results of evidence, should not be stated in any pleading.

Where the suit is for equitable relief, such as an injunction and similar actions, and where the costs of the action are in the discretion of the court, it is often necessary to state in the complaint, the facts which will bear upon the granting of costs, or of particular relief as they were formerly stated in a bill in chancery. Howard v. Tiffany, 3 Sand., 695.

Every fact which the plaintiff must prove to enable him to maintain his suit, and which the defendant has a right to controvert in his answer, must be distinctly averred or stated. This rule of pleading in an action for a legal remedy, is the same as formerly in this, that facts, and not the evidence of facts, must be pleaded. Allen v. Patterson, 3 Seld., 478. See also Enio v. Woodworth, 4 Conn., 249; Munn v. Morewood, 5 Sand., 537.

If evidence of facts be alone stated, the necessary facts, though provable by such evidence, can not be proved. Western Law Monthly, 1 vol., p. 90.

It is true, it does not subject the pleading to a demurrer, if it, at the same time, contains an allegation of sufficient material matter to show a legal right. 8 O. St. R., 293, 297-8, post. But the extraneous matter is liable to be stricken out on motion of the opposite party, sec. 118, at the costs of the party improperly pleading it. It is besides, unprofessional and derogatory to the standing of the pleader. It can never legitimately aid the party introducing it, but always tends to perplex and embarrass his case, which it is his interest to make as plain and forcible as possible. In the people, ex rel. Beatty v. The Board of Police, 9 Abb., 257, 269, the court say: “Mere evidence needed not to be, and it should not be, pleaded. It has a tendency besides when so introduced, to confuse a case, and should, for that reason, be stricken out.” See also, Dous v. Hotchkiss, 10 N. Y. Leg. Obs., 281; Wooden v. Strow, 10 How. Pr. R., 60; Lawrence v. Trigg, 2 Duc., 674; Munn v.

* This section suggests the danger of the other extension. If we were not writing on law, we would call it the danger of wrecking on Scylla while shunning Charybdis. Facts are distinguished from evidence, as effect is from cause. Testimony shows the existence of fact. No right of recovery can be based on testimony, it must be based on established facts. Various testimony may lead to the same facts; or testimony may be of opposite kinds, and yet the facts involved may be found. Infinite issues might be made on the statements of testimony, and yet none of them establish the fact. Rights depend not on testimony but on facts. Testimony is only of value as it is the circumstance from which we infer the fact. The existence of the fact is the ground of the right, and this existence is established in the minds of the jury by evidence. If some evidence be stated there might be also stated fact-propositions enough to constitute a cause of action, in which event, perhaps, little objection should be made, as the fault of excessive statement will tend to its own correction, and to cherish such objections unless in gross departure from the rule will tend to delay—but if there be not a sufficient statement of facts to constitute a cause of action then the fault will be assailable by the demurrer, because not containing a sufficient statement of cause of action. It requires, oftentimes, more exact thinking, than should be required of pleaders, to never commit the error of stating an item of testimony. This power of compact fact-statement will grow with use. The adverse party will seldom be prejudiced by a small admixture of testimony, and the good sense of the court will, under section 2946, temper the effect of the motion to strike out with a just appreciation of its use; so that substantive justice, rather than formal technicalities shall in each case prevail. Report on Civil Code, p. 314.
SEC. 2946. The court may, on motion of any person aggrieved, cause irrelevant or redundant matter to be stricken from any pleadings, at the cost of any party, whose pleading contains them.

What is irrelevant or redundant matter in an answer? It is superfluous matter incorporated with an answer, otherwise good. Section 160 does not refer to a whole answer or defense, in authorizing irrelevant or redundant matter to be stricken out. If an answer otherwise good, is loaded with unnecessary and redundant matters, the plaintiff should move, under section 160 to expunge them. If doubts are entertained as to its sufficiency in law, a demurrer is the remedy. Nichols v. Jones, 6 How., 355.

Under the code a party has the right to set forth his cause of action, fully, and unless he burdens his pleading with matters that are totally irrelevant, impertinent, or imposes upon the defendant the necessity of specifically traversing a great number of facts, which are more properly evidence in support of a cause of action, than substantive averments to show that a cause of action exists, the defendant can not be regarded as aggrieved thereby. Motions to strike out parts of a pleading as irrelevant or redundant, are not to be encouraged unless it is manifest to the court, that it would be to the prejudice of the party who has to answer, to suffer the objectionable matter to remain. Nor is a court to be taxed with the labor and trouble of minutely inspecting a pleading upon summary motion of this kind, for the purpose of ascertaining whether averments are or are not relevant, unless in cases when it is absolutely incumbent upon the party to get rid of them, to enable him to frame a proper answer. Malony v. Dows, 15 How., 261.

An answer drawn in conformity with approved usage in chancery pleading; admitting, specifically, all the statements in the complaint, and stating various legal arguments and propositions in defense, can not be sustained under the code. Such statements are redundant. Gould v. Williams, 9 Pr. R., 51.

This section does not authorize the striking out of every irrelevant or redundant expression. A party must be aggrieved or prejudiced thereby. Hynds v. Griswold, 2 Code Rep., 47; effect must be given to the word "aggrieved" as used in this section. The matter must not only be irrelevant or redundant, but some person must be prejudiced thereby. Such a person only is authorized to make the motion. Ibid., and 4 Pr. R., 63.

Where the complaint, in slander, set forth the speaking by the defendant, at a certain time and place, certain words, and further, that the defendants on divers days and times between that day and the commencement of this suit, spoke the same words, the words in italic were held to be redundant. Gray v. Nellis, 6 Pr. R., 290.

It is probably unnecessary, but not improper, for the party after he has stated the facts in his pleading, to state the legal effect or conclusion therefrom, as for instance, after alleging in the complaint what was done with the note prior to the defendant's taking it, it was added, "whereupon the plaintiff became entitled to the possession of said note." See Decker v. Matthews, 2 Kern., 213.

The true test of the materiality of averments sought to be struck out, is to inquire whether such averments constitute a cause of action or defense; if they do they will not be struck out. Ingersoll v. Ingersoll, 1 Code Rep., 102; Averill v. Taylor, 5 Pr. R., 476; 1 Code Rep., N. S., 194.

It may now be considered as settled, that in a purely legal action, the common law rule, which confined the allegations of fact, in every pleading, to such as were essential to the cause of action or defense, and which, if put in issue, would be decisive of the suit, is still in force; and that whatever is inserted beyond these essential facts in such an action, will be stricken out.

Material matter.

Sec. 2947. A material allegation in a pleading, is one essential to the claim or defense, and which could not be stricken from the pleading without leaving it insufficient.

Sec. 2948. When the facts on which any pleading is founded, are stated in a manner so general, or so indefinite, or so uncertain that the precise nature of the cause of action, or defense, or set-off, or counter-claim, or cross-demand is not so apparent as to enable the adverse party to respond intelligibly thereto, the court may, on motion, require the pleading to be made more specific, definite, and certain by amendment, and no pleading which recites or refers to a contract, shall be deemed sufficiently specific, unless it states whether the same is in writing or not. Such motion shall point out wherein the amendment is required or shall be disregarded, and if the reason for such demand of more specific statement exists outside of the pleadings, the motion must state the same and be sworn to.

Sec. 2949. The title of a cause shall not be changed in any of its stages of transit from one court to another.

Sec. 2950. Matters of which judicial notice is taken, need not be stated in a pleading.

Sec. 2951. In the construction of a pleading, for the purpose of determining its effect, its allegations shall be liberally construed, with a view to substantive justice between the parties.

It is said that everything shall be taken most strongly against the party pleading, or rather, if the meaning of the words be equivocal, they shall be construed most strongly against the party pleading them; for it is to be intended that every person states his case as favorable to himself as possible. This must be taken with some qualification, for the language of a pleading is to have a reasonable intendment and construction, and, when a matter is capable of different meanings, that shall be taken, which shall support the pleading, and not that which will defeat it. Allen v. Patterson, 3 Selden, 480.

Under the code a pleading must be so expressed that it is plain and intelligible to those who understand the language, therefore the words expressed are to be understood in their ordinary and popular sense. Mann v. Morewood, 5 Sand., 557.

Sec. 2952. When a party claims by conveyance, he may state it according to its legal effect or name.

Sec. 2953. When a party claims by inheritance, either by immediate or mediate descent, he shall allege how he is heir, as son, nephew, or otherwise.

Sec. 2954. It shall not be necessary to allege the commencement of either a particular or a superior estate, unless it be essential to the merits of the case.

Sec. 2955. When time forms a material point in the merits of a cause, the day, month, and year, or when there is a continued act, the period of its duration must be alleged. When time is not material, it need not be stated, and if stated, need not be proved.

If the time when a fact happened is material to constitute the cause of action, it should be stated. The fact without the time would be insufficient to constitute the cause of action; but if the time is immaterial, a demurrer will not lie for omitting to state it. People v. Ryder, 2 Kern, 433. An allegation that the plaintiff "afterwards, to wit," on a day specified, paid certain moneys, does not preclude him from showing that the payment was made at an earlier day for the purpose of claiming interest. The allegation of time in such a case is immaterial. Lyon v. Clark, 4 Seld., 118.

SEC. 2956. In actions for injuries to goods and chattels, their kind same as to goods or species shall be alleged.

SEC. 2957. It shall be necessary to allege a place, only when it is same as to place, descriptive of the subject matter of the action, and forms a part of the substance of the issue.

SEC. 2958. In actions for injuries to real property, the party shall same as to real property describe the property, and when the injury is to an incorporeal hereditament, shall describe the property in respect of which the right is claimed, as well as the right itself, either by the name by which the property is designated in the national survey, or by its abutments, or by its course and distances, or by any name which it has acquired by reputation, certain enough to identify it.

SEC. 2959. When the party intends to prove malice, to affect damages, he must aver the same.

SEC. 2960. In an action, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand on a bond with conditions, the party suing thereon shall, in his pleading, notice the conditions and allege facts constituting the breach or breaches relied on.

SEC. 2961. When a pleading shows affirmatively, that its cause of claim is barred by the statute of limitations, it may be assailed by demurrer.

SEC. 2962. When the defendant pleads the statute of limitations, responding to such plea, the plaintiff may, without leave or cost, or incurring delay, amend his petition, by a count averring as another cause of action, the proper admission or new promise, with what other matter may be necessary to constitute sufficient cause of such claim, and the plaintiff may recover on either of such claims as he may show himself entitled. But he may in the first instance, rely on and state as cause of action, the matter displacing the bar of the statute as contemplated in the amendment herein stated.

SEC. 2963. When any pleading shows affirmatively, that its cause of claim should be evidenced by writing, according to the law of evidence, and that the same is not so evidenced, it may be assailed by demurrer.

SEC. 2964. Where such cause of action, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, as should be evidenced by writing, is so evidenced, then the same must be stated to be so, and the writing, or a copy thereof, must be annexed to the pleading, unless a reasonable excuse be set forth in the pleading for not annexing the same, else it shall not be received in proof on trial.

SEC. 2965. All statements which need not be proved to any extent at all, such as the statement of time, quantity, quality, and value, when these are immaterial, the statement of finding and losing, and bailment in action for goods, or their value; the statement of promises which were not in fact made, and which need not be proved, and all statements of a like kind, shall be omitted.

SEC. 2966. If a party state more facts, or a greater title or estate than is necessary to entitle him to the relief claimed, and such facts, estates, or title be denied to the full extent, he shall not be compelled to prove more than is necessary to constitute a claim to the relief prayed, or to any lower degree of relief, included in the relief prayed. And if a party states in his answer or reply, more than is needed for his defense, he shall not be compelled to prove more than is needed for his defense.
When paper is held admitted.

SEC. 2967. When the action, defense, set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand is founded on a written instrument, and the original is referred to in a pleading, and annexed thereto, the genuineness and due execution of such instrument shall be deemed admitted, unless the adverse party in response to such pleading, if it is one which may be responded to, and if it be not, then before the trial deny the genuineness of execution of the same by affidavit; and when any other writing, purporting to have been executed by one of the parties is referred to in, and filed with a pleading, it may be read against such party as genuine and duly executed, unless he denies the same by affidavit, before the trial is begun.

SEC. 2968. Either party may be allowed, on motion, to make a supplemental petition, answer or reply, alleging facts material to the case, which have happened or have come to his knowledge since the filing of the former petition, answer, or reply, nor shall such new pleading be considered a waiver of former pleadings.

The supplemental answer under the code is a substitute for the old plea of puis darrein continuance; but it differs from the plea in this respect, that the supplemental answer may be allowed on motion, whenever the facts forming the ground of the answer have occurred since the answer was put in, or where the defendant was ignorant of them at the time of pleading the first answer; whereas, the plea of puis darrein continuance could strictly be pleaded only before or at the next continuance after the facts transpired. When the facts asked to be incorporated and pleaded in a supplemental answer go to divest the plaintiff of the right to maintain the action, and transfer the cause of action to another, who has received satisfaction for the demand involved in it, it is the duty of the court to grant the motion. The word may in such a case means must, and it will make no difference whether the motion be made at the earliest day or not. Drought v. Curtis, 8 P. R., 56.

The provision contained in this section does not enable a party to set up by way of supplemental answer, any defense known to him before the putting in of his former answer. Houghton v. Skinner, 5 P. R., 420.

Where plaintiff introduces new facts and parties into the case, by amending his complaint instead of resorting to a supplemental complaint, the amended complaint is not a nullity. It is irregular but the irregularity will be waived by a general appearance by the persons thereby brought in as defendants. Beck v. Stephani, 9 P. R., 193.

A. sued B. for an assault and battery. Afterward B. sued A. for slander. After issue joined in the action of A. against B., the action of B. against A. was tried; and on the trial A. set up, in mitigation of damages, the assault and battery for which he was then suing B. B. recovered only six cents damages, and, in consequence, as was alleged by him, of the setting up of said assault in mitigation, B. now moved for leave to make a supplemental answer, to introduce the facts which had taken place since issue joined, and insisted as the plaintiff A. had set up the assault, etc., in mitigation of the action by B., he could not now recover damages for such assault. The court granted the motion, and said the facts which transpired on the former trial were material. Bradley v. Hontelaig, 4 Pr. R., 251.

SEC. 2969. Matter in abatement may be stated in the answer or reply, as one or more of the causes of defense or reply. Either together with or without other causes of defense in bar, and no one of such causes shall be deemed to overrule the other; nor shall a party after trial, on matter of abatement, be allowed in the same action to answer or reply matter in bar.*

*Some have deemed because the old adjective appliances of abatement, namely, the formerly technical pleas of abatement were abolished, that therefore the substantive right of using abatable matter as a defense had also been taken away. No pleas were more technical and unreasonable than were the pleas of abatement. The
In Indiana it had been held in 11 Ind., 398, and 369, and 7 Ind., 147, that defendant having first had the abatable matter determined against him might then answer over to the merits which in N. Y., in 4 How., the contrary, had been held. This section leaves no room for doubt.

And another action pending in a court of another state, is no bar to a suit upon the same cause of action in this. Ind. Dig., 6. Nor is the pending of such suit in one of the federal courts, Cook v. Litchfield, 5 Sand., 330, and hence would not be ground of demurrer or answer in abatement to a suit in a court in this state. Hence the answer should show where the action is pending.

SEC. 2970. Any defense arising after the commencement of any action, shall be stated according to the fact, without any formal commencement or conclusion, and any answer which does not state whether the defense therein set up arose before or after action, shall be deemed to be of matter arising before action.

SEC. 2971. The forms contained in schedule A to this act annexed shall be sufficient, and those and the like forms may be used with such modifications as may be necessary to meet the facts of the case; but nothing herein contained shall render it erroneous or irregular to depart from the letter of such forms so long as the substance is expressed without prolixity.

Amendments.

SEC. 2972. No variance between the allegation in a pleading and the proof is to be deemed material, unless it has actually misled the adverse party to his prejudice in maintaining his action or defense upon the merits. Whenever it is alleged that a party has been so misled, that fact must be shown by proof ab extra to the satisfaction of the court, and such proof must also show in what respect he has been so misled, and thereupon the court may order the pleading to be amended upon such terms as may be just.*

*These sections on amendment have been found to be of great utility, and have been introduced into all the codes based on the New York system. They are copied, and into nearly all, with not the smallest change. The examination of the interpretation of them as made in decisions, has however indicated a slight verbal change, These provisions introduce a principle unknown to the former practice, namely, that of determining this class of questions, not by the incoherence of the two statements upon their face, and hence inferring their effect upon the state of the preparation of the party, but by proof, allemand, as to whether the party was actually misled to his prejudice by the incorrect statement. Catlin v. Gunter, 10 How., 315.

These sections obviously contemplated a case where the alleged variance has been discovered, or developed on the trial or hearing, at which time, the relief in a case to which it is appropriate, may at once be given, and the trial thereafter proceed upon the amended pleadings. Egert v. Wicker, 10 How., 133; Cottheon v. Tallmadge, 1 E. D. Smith, 573.

The code on the subject of variance between the pleadings and the proofs is applicable to cases in which usury is put in as a defense. These provisions have changed the strict rules which formerly prevailed as to a variance in such cases. Where on the trial the evidence of the defendant tended to prove an usurious agreement which differed from the one alleged in several particulars, but not in its entire scope, and the plaintiff gave no proof that he was misled thereby to his prejudice; held, that the variance was immaterial. Catlin v. Gunter, 1 Kern., 368.

Amendment of the complaint allowed at the trial, in an action of slander, so as to insert words in the German language, with an inuendo that they meant in English the words stated in the complaint; it appearing on the trial that the slander was uttered in German to those who understood that language, that the meaning of the words was properly stated in the complaint, and there being no affidavit of surprise on the part of the defendant. Litzman v. Ritz, 3 Sand., 134.

Where it was alleged in the complaint that the work and labor for which the action was brought was performed by Jones Woleott; held, that this was an immaterial variance and was properly disregarded by the referee. Woolcott v. Meech, 22 Barb., 321.

A variance between the complaint and the proof, by which it is certain that the defendant was not and could not have been misled, may, under the provisions of the code, be disregarded, without amendment, by a referee as well as a judge. Harmony v. Brigham, 1 Duer, 210.

It is improper to dismiss a suit because all are not made parties who should have been, the court having power to order others interested to be made parties. Heyden v. Marmaduke, 19 Mo. Rep., 493.

If a plaintiff asks for equitable relief, and it turns out on the trial that he is entitled to legal relief only, I should permit him to take it in that form. And, if he had asked for legal relief only, where it appeared he was entitled to both legal and equitable, I should allow the proper amendment to administer complete justice in the case. The power to amend, authorized by the code, is ample for such purpose. In trying a cause at the circuit, I should certainly allow whatever amendment was necessary to give the parties redress. Parker, J., in Getty v. Hudson R. R. Co., 6 How., 270.
On a trial at the circuit, the pleading may be made to conform to the proof; immaterial allegations may be disregarded, immaterial evidence rejected, and such judgment may be directed as the facts and the law of the case require. Corning v. Corning, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 351.

In an action on contract, there is no variance between the allegation of a sole liability and the proof of a joint undertaking by the defendant and another. Carter v. Hope, 1 Code Rep., N. S., 351.

Plaintiff permitted to amend on the trial, by changing the form of action, from an action on a promissory note to an action on a special contract. Jackson v. Sanders, 1 Code Rep., 27.

Evidence of a special agreement is admissible in an action by a daughter against her father, for wages, although the plaintiff claimed to recover upon an implied agreement only, the defendant not having been misled. Fort v. Gooding, 9 Barb., 371.

SEC. 2973. When the variance is not material as provided in the last section, the court may direct the fact to be found according to the evidence, and may order an immediate amendment without costs.

SEC. 2974. When, however, the allegation of the claim or defense to which the proof is directed is unproved, not in some particular or particulars only, but in its general scope and meaning, it shall not be deemed a case of variance within the last two sections, but a failure of proof.

A variance between the pleadings and the proof, sufficient to defeat the action and destroy the defense, must leave the case unproved in its entire scope and meaning. If left unproved in some particular or particulars, it is a subject for amendment upon terms, if the adverse party has been misled by it; otherwise amendments may be made at the trial, and without any conditions whatever. Fay v. Grinstead, 10 Barb., 321.

Under an averment, in an answer, that the property was “very poor and of very little value,” the defendant can not prove that it was “worth nothing and of no value.” A defendant will not be allowed to give evidence of a defense not set up in his answer. DeKendorf v. Gage, 7 Barb., 18.

Evidence offered in support of immaterial issues, may be rejected on the trial, whether objected to or not. Corning v. Corning, 2 Seld., 97; see Callic v. Gunter, 1 Kern., 308.

Where an answer sets up the defense of usury, stating the circumstances of the transaction, and, on the trial, the taking of usury was proved, but under circumstances variant from those stated in the answer, held, that the scope and meaning of the answer was the usury, and that being proved, there was no failure of proof. Callic v. Gunter, 10 Pr. R., 321-2; 1 Kernan, 347.

SEC. 2975. The plaintiff may amend his petition without leave, at any time before the final submission of the case to the jury or to the court, where the trial is by the court, (section 2815, Iowa.) By amending his petition, he may submit a distinct cause of action from that in the original petition. Hord v. Chandler, 13 B. M., 404.

Where an answer sets up the defense of usury, stating the circumstances of the transaction, and, on the trial, the taking of usury was proved, but under circumstances variant from those stated in the answer, held, that the scope and meaning of the answer was the usury, and that being proved, there was no failure of proof. Callic v. Gunter, 10 Pr. R., 321-2; 1 Kernan, 347.

SEC. 2976. Upon a demurrer being overruled, the party demurring may answer or reply.
Amendment may be permitted at any time.

SEC. 2977. The court may, on motion of either party, at any time in furtherance of justice, and on such terms as may be proper, permit such party to amend any pleadings or proceedings by adding or striking out the name of any party, or by correcting a mistake in the name of a party, or a mistake in any other respect, or by inserting other allegations material to the case, or when the amendment does not change substantially the claim or defense by conforming the pleadings or proceedings to the facts proved. The court may likewise, in its discretion, on terms, and for good cause proved, allow an answer or reply to be filed after the time limited by this code, when such time has not been by order extended. And whenever any proceeding taken by a party, fails, in any respect to conform to the provisions of this code, it may permit an amendment of such proceeding so as to make it conformable thereto.

Variance not affecting the merits, which do not surprise the adverse party, and on which he ought not in good faith, to have relied, will be disregarded on arguments at bar without directing any amendment. If the prevailing party deem an amendment prudent, he must apply for leave, by a motion, after the argument, when the court will allow it on such terms as shall be just.

DeRoyster v. Wheeler, 1 Sand., 119. Where it was averred that the defendants represented a note to be "a good note, and that it would pass in South street," and the proof was that they said "the note was good, and that there were people in South street, who would take it;" held, no substantial variance.

Hawkins v. Appleby, 2 Sand., 421. Evidence of the special agreement is admissible in such action, although, the plaintiffs, in their reply, claim to recover upon an implied agreement only. Such an objection for a variance, between the pleadings and the evidence is provided for by the 169th and 170th sections of the code of procedure. [Sections 2972 and 2973, Iowa.]

The court will direct an amendment of the pleadings by substituting a party as defendant, when it appears, at any stage of the proceedings, that such amendment will further the ends of justice. Fuller v. Webster Fire Ins. Co., 12 How., 298.

But such amendment should only be allowed on such terms as to prevent injustice. Lupster v. Sniffen, 3 How., 250. See Onondago Ins. Co. v. M'Nard, 2 Com., 98.

The court, at the trial, may remedy, by amendment, a variance between the case made by the proof and the complaint, where all the facts, essential to the rights of the parties are put in issue by the answer and reply. Hall v. Gould, 3 Kern., 127. See Corning v. Corning, 2 Seld., 97.

In an action for the recovery of the possession of a heifer, which was secretly taken from the possession of the plaintiff by the defendant, damages are recoverable for time spent and expenses incurred by the plaintiff, in searching for the heifer, after she was taken by the defendant. Where the plaintiff had not claimed such damages in his complaint, he was allowed to amend the same on the trial without terms, by inserting therein allegations to entitle him to such damages, the defendant not being able to show he had any absent witness material to the claim for such damages. Miller v. Garling, 12 How., 203; and see Hagins v. De Hart, ibid., 322.

Where the defendant must have known the facts contained in an amended answer, which he proposes to file, at the time of the filing of his original answer, it is no abuse of discretion to refuse leave to file it. Stiles, J., Barbour v. Moss, administrator, Mes. opin., July, 1857. Stanton's Ky. Code.

Where a complaint and answer are both very general in form, and neither party demurs, and both have gone to trial with a full understanding of their rights, and neither party has been taken by surprise by the pleading of his adversary, and a full and fair investigation has been had on the merits, such an amendment will be allowed as will conform the complaint to the facts proved, and as will do substantial justice to both parties. Hunter v. The Hudson River Iron and Machine Co., 20 Barb., 493.
Whenever the court can see that justice would be furthered by an amendment of the pleadings and proceedings in an action, if asked for, it should grant the amendment upon terms just to the opposite party. It is in all cases, proper, however, in order to prevent laxity and negligence in pleading, to require from the party asking the amendment, some reasonable excuse for the defect in his pleading, which he seeks to correct. Harrington v. Slade, 22 Barb., 164.

Where a wife had sued her husband without appearing by her next friend, and the court held a next friend necessary, the court allowed the proceedings to be amended by inserting the name of a next friend. Forrest v. Forrest, 3 Code Rep., 254.

Under this section a plaintiff will be allowed to amend his petition, in an action of slander, so as to allow the use of other slanderous words by the defendant. Simpson, J., Winn v. Elliott, Ms. opin., January, 1854. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

Where plaintiff purposely commenced his action upon contract, with the view to obtain an advantage he could not obtain if he sued in tort, having secured that advantage, he will not be allowed to amend by making his action in tort. Lane v. Bean, 1 Abbott, 65.

Plaintiff declared for goods sold. The answer set up that they were sold upon a credit that had not expired. Plaintiff moved to amend his petition by averring that the goods were procured through fraudulent representations on the part of the defendant. In the original complaint the plaintiff demanded judgment for $162.87, that being the contract price of the goods. In the complaint as proposed to be amended, he demanded judgment for the same amount, averring that to be the value of the goods. Held, that, within the meaning of the code, there was no change in the nature of the claim. Chapman v. Webb, 1 Code Rep., 388.

The very terms of this section are sufficient to show that it was the intention of the framers of the code to endow the court with the most enlarged discretionary powers in granting amendments. The only proper inquiry for the court is, whether the proposed amendment will change substantially the cause of action or defense, or, if not, whether it will be in furtherance of justice to allow it.” Harris, J., Dutcher v. Slack, 3 Pr. R., 322; 1 Code Rep., 113.

The complaint may be amended in the amount claimed by the plaintiff, in an action on contract, for the recovery of money only, even after reply, repeating the original claim, and both pleadings verified. Merchant v. New York Life Ins. Co., 3 Sand., 658; 2 Code Rep., 66, 67.

Where it occurred on the trial that there was a mistake in the name of the plaintiff, it was not held to be a ground of nonsuit, and that such a mistake can be corrected, on trial, by amendment. Barnes v. Perine, 9 Barb., 202; Travis v. Tobina, 6 Pr. R., 334.

Parker, J., in Dove v. Green, 3 Pr. R., 378, said: "The question to be determined is, whether the permitting the plaintiff to alter the prayer of his complaint so as to claim the property itself and damages for its detention, instead of simply praying judgment for the value of the property, is changing substantially the cause of action?" It is changing the form of the action, or, rather, the class to which it belongs, but not the cause of action. The cause of action is made up of the facts which entitle the plaintiff to relief. The injury complained of is the cause of action, and such is the sense in which the words are used. 1 Pr. R., 82; 2 ibid., 43; 3 ibid., 148.

The court under this section may allow amendments to the petition even during the trial, upon proper terms, by adding or striking out the names of parties, or correcting mistakes in the names of parties, or any other mistake, or inserting material allegations, or so changing the allegations thereof as to conform to the proof, provided the ground of action is not materially altered. Hise, C. J., Coil v. Harvard, Ms. Opin., Dec., 1853. Stanton’s Ky. Code.

A variance between the declaration and proof must be objected to at the trial, and if not done then, the party can not afterwards avail himself of it. Pike v. Evans, 15 John, 210; and see Hall v. Lathrop, 3 Hill, 297; see Lawrence v. Barker, 5 Wend., 301.
When an order requires a party to amend, and directs him to pay costs, payment of the costs is not a condition precedent to the amendment. It must be expressed to be on payment, &c., or in other express terms. Stewart v. Fairman, 4 Sand., 674; Corning v. Corning, 2 Seld., 97; Bowman v. Earle, 3 Duer, 691; Cayuga Co. Bank v. Warden, 2 Seld., 19.

An amendment without costs, is an amendment upon such terms as may be proper, within the meaning of this section. Cayuga Bank v. Warden, 2 Selden, 27.

Sec. 2978. The court must, in every stage of an action, disregard any error or defect in the proceeding, which does not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party; and no judgment shall be reversed or affected by reason of such error or defect.

So complete and thorough has been the departure from the former rules and forms of pleading, that it is hardly safe to rely upon analogies derived from that system in giving practical effect to the new. Based as the new is upon an entirely different theory, and having professedly different ends to accomplish, it is better, with a view to carry it out in its spirit, to consider it as it is in truth, an entire new theory, to be construed and carried into effect according to its terms and upon principles peculiar to itself. Difficult as it may be for a mind trained to the logical and truly scientific rules of pleading under which justice has so long been administered in states and countries in which the common law has had sway, to cast aside all the rules which have been supposed to be founded in wisdom, and in practice to have accomplished a good purpose, for a new and confessedly imperfect scheme, it is safe to say that it must be done, in order to give effect to the provisions referred to, and to give the new system a fair trial; and that less injustice will be done in that way than by attempting to engraft the new upon the old, which can only be done to the prejudice of both. Bush v. Prosser, 1 Kern., 351.

Sec. 2979. When either party shall amend any pleading or proceeding, the case shall not be continued in consequence thereof, unless the court shall be satisfied by affidavit or otherwise, that the adverse party could not be ready for trial in consequence of such amendment. But if the court is thus made to become satisfied, a continuance may be granted to some day in the same term, or to the next term of said court.

It has been held that the substitution of parties different from those in whose names the suit was originally brought, where the claim or defense was not substantially changed, did not entitle to a continuance. Huhler v. Pullen, 9 Ind., 273. See cases on this point, Ind Digest., 10, 279, 677.

Sec. 2980. Whenever two or more actions are pending in the same court which might have been joined, the defendant may, on motion, and notice to the adverse party, require him to show cause why the same shall not be consolidated, and if no sufficient cause be shown, the same shall be consolidated.

Sec. 2981. Courts may permit the amendments authorized by this chapter to be made, without being verified as prescribed in section 2904, unless a new and distinct cause of action, defense, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand is thereby introduced.

Sec. 2982. If an original pleading be lost or withheld by any one, the court may order a copy thereof to be substituted.

Sec. 2983. All matters of supplement or amendment, whether of addition or subtraction, shall be made not by erasure or interlineation of the original, or by addition thereto, but upon a separate paper, which shall be filed, and shall constitute, with the original, but one pleading. But if it be stated in such paper, that it is a substitute for the former pleading intended to be amended, in that case it shall be deemed such substitute, but the pleading superseded by the substitute shall not be withdrawn from the files.

Sec. 2984. No record shall be amended or impaired by the clerk, or other officer of the court, or by any person without the order of such court, or of some court of competent authority.

Interrogatories.

Sec. 2985. Either party may annex to his petition, answer or reply, written interrogatories to any one or more of the adverse parties concerning any of the material matters in issue in the action, the answer to which on oath may be read by either party as a deposition between the party interrogating and the party answering.

Sec. 2986. The party answering shall not be confined to responding merely to the interrogatories, but may state any new matter concerning the same cause of action, which shall likewise be read as a deposition.

Sec. 2987. These shall be answered at the same time the petition is required to be answered, and when annexed to the answer or reply, shall be answered at or before the calling of the cause for trial, if such pleading has been filed four clear days.

Sec. 2988. The trial of an action by ordinary proceedings shall not be postponed on account of the failure to answer interrogatories, if the party interrogated is present in court at the trial, so that he may be orally examined; nor, in case of his absence, unless an affidavit be filed showing the facts, the party believes will be proved by the answers thereto, and that the party has not filed the interrogatories for the purpose of delay; whereupon, if the party will consent that the facts stated in the affidavit shall be considered as admitted by those interrogated, the trial shall not be postponed for that cause.

Sec. 2989. The party in answering such interrogatories, shall distinguish clearly between what is stated from his personal knowledge, and what is stated from information or belief merely. An unqualified statement of a fact shall be considered as made of his personal knowledge.

Sec. 2990. The answers to the interrogatories shall be verified by the affidavit of the party answering, to the effect that the statements in them made of his own personal knowledge are true, and those made from the information of others he believes to be true.

Sec. 2991. Where a party filing interrogatories shall also file an affidavit that he verily believes the subject of the interrogatories, or any of them, is in the personal knowledge of the opposite party, and that his answers thereto, if truly made from such knowledge, will sustain the claim of defense, or any part thereof, and the opposite party shall fail to answer therein within the time allowed therefor, or by the court extended, the claim or defense, or the part thereof, according to such affidavit, shall be deemed to be sustained, and judgment given accordingly.

Sec. 2992. The court may compel answers to interrogatories, by process of contempt, and may, on the failure of the party to answer them after reasonable time allowed therefor, dismiss the petition, or quash the answer of the party so failing.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. An equitable defense can not be made in a law suit, 5 Iowa, 379; pleadings should be in English, 5 Iowa, 375; a demurrer was sustained to a set of facts which the defendant claimed to show by way of recoupment, because the same were not stated with sufficient certainty and distinctness to constitute a plea of set-off, 5 Iowa, 379 ; the plea is not given, but is not uncertainly assailable by motion alone] aid of venue as stated in the margin, 2 G., 449 ; a defense was sustained to an answer in action when said answer stated only that the property did not belong at time of levy to attachment defendant, and did not say to whom it did belong, 5 Iowa, 546. [Was not a motion for a more "definite and specific plea" the remedy?] an action may be brought on a judgment instead of scire facias to revive it, 5 Iowa, 506 ; a judgment can not be given for a larger sum than that demanded in the petition, 5 Iowa, 505 ; under the claim of interest plaintiff can only recover interest from the commencement of the suit, 5 Iowa, 505 ; a suit was brought on an agreement which contained a condition precedent of liability, that condition was not in the petition averred performed and defendant was sustained to the petition. Pararlee & Watts, Dec., 1859 ; and see 1 G., 147 ; 4 G., 429 ; such causes must be held in the same right, 4 G., 196 ; statements, how to be made, 4 G., 302 ; 1 Iowa, 4 ; 5 Iowa, 370 ; 3 Iowa, 63 ; a set-off is not a defense and it should be pleaded separately, 4 Iowa, 434 ; set-off should be pleaded entirely separate from matters of defense, 5 Iowa, 463 ; if on firm settlement one member give to another a note for his share and afterwards pay a debt of the firm not counted in the settlement, such maker when sued by the payee on said note may set off that sum which the payee should contribute, 5 Iowa, 540 ; the court and not the jury must define the issue, 5 Iowa, 274, 4 Iowa, 134 ; allegations not denied taken as true, 5 Iowa, 376 ; the stipulation is to carry the attachment not the original cause by answer, 5 Iowa, 378 ; approved, Sackett, Belcher & Co. v. Partridge & Cook, 4 Iowa, 416, and 5 Iowa, 379 ; a denial of indebtedness held a sufficient answer, 5 Iowa, 378 ; allegations not responded to are true on trial, 5 Iowa, 276 ; averments not denied can not be disproved, 4 Iowa, 51 ; allegations not responded to are taken as true, 4 Iowa, 592 ; on motion, the court may, if necessary, require a party to respond specifically to the affirmative allegations of the petition, 5 Iowa, 471 ; when the justice's record states that the defendant's set-off was not objected to, it will not be presumed untrue from the mere fact of a trial, as it would be in a case where the record was silent, and there was only one action, 5 Iowa, 270 ; material facts charged within a sworn bill to be within the knowledge of the respondent, and not responded to on oath when sworn answer is called for, are taken to be true, 4 Iowa, 581 ; a respondent in chancery can pray nothing save to be dismissed with costs ; for other relief he must ask by cross-bill, 4 Iowa, 581 ; certificates of stock received by the vendor of land as the price thereof need not be annexed to a bill by the vendor seeking to vacate said sale for fraud, 5 Iowa, 366 ; if such instrument be in a foreign language the copy should be an English translation thereof, 5 Iowa, 376 ; the objection to a pleading that a copy of the account is not annexed thereto is waived by omitting to demur therefor, 5 Iowa, 539 ; merely annexing instrument without inserting in the petition the propositions intended to be sustained by it—rather disapproved, 5 Iowa, 291 ; an amended answer containing new matter filed unreasonably late, may on motion be struck out, 4 Iowa, 458 ; the plea of justification must confess the charge and must set forth such matters as fix the crime, 4 Iowa, 456 ; identiticalness of parties is not always demanded to admit a defense of res adjudicata, 4 Iowa, 246 ; provoking language is not a defense to an action for an assault and battery, mitigation only, 5 Iowa, 480 ; if vendor of land with warranty, sue vendee on notes given for the price, the vendee may reply, that the vendor's title to part of said land was not good, and may deduct from the notes such sum as he reasonably paid for the outstanding title, 5 Iowa, 408 ; the statement of facts having the attachment, can not be put in issue in the original cause by answer, 5 Iowa, 378 ; the laws of other states are facts to be plead and proved, and not taken notice of judicially, 4 Iowa, 468 ; under a general denial without a specific statement of the statute of another state on which he relies as a fact, defendant can not give in evidence the law, 4 Iowa, 469 ; more particularity is required by Code than by common law, 4 Iowa, 469 ; no fact can be held as res adjudicata, except such fact as was an ultimate fact, put directly in issue and decided, 4 Iowa, 199 ; several grounds of defense should be pleaded in separate counts (dictum,) 5 Iowa, 453 ; matter of tender can

TRIAL AND ITS INCIDENTS.

SEC. 2993. Issues arise in the pleadings where a fact or conclusion of law is maintained by one party and controverted by the other. They are of two kinds: 1st, of law; 2d, of fact.

SEC. 2994. An issue of fact arises, 1. Upon a material allegation of fact in the petition denied by the answer. 2. Upon a material allegation of fact in a set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, presented in the answer and denied by the reply. 3. Upon allegations of fact being new matter, in the answer or reply, which shall be considered as controverted by the opposite party without further pleading.

The plaintiff in his complaint, said the defendant owed him $600, for a note. The defendant, in his answer, did not deny it, nor say anything about it; but said the plaintiff owed him $40.00, for goods sold. The plaintiff made no reply. Held, that there was no issue to be tried. Pardee v. Schenck, 11 How., 500.

SEC. 2995. An issue of law arises upon a demurrer to the petition, answer, or reply, or to some part of either, or upon any allegation of

* This chapter also nearly follows the corresponding chapter as used in the new system in those states where the same obtains. Some sections have been borrowed from the English acts of 1852 and 1854 and the whole has been expanded into larger detail. Two modes of equitable trial are not used anywhere under the new system. In Kentucky a case by equitable proceedings is tried by the method called herein the 1st, which is held to be the proper chancery mode, while in all the other states of the new system, all chancery and all law cases are tried by the mode herein called 2d. fact in a pleading by the one party, the truth of which is neither controverted by the other party nor by the law for him.

SEC. 2996. Issues both of law and fact may arise upon different parts of the pleadings in the same action. In such cases the issues of law must be first tried; but by going to trial on an issue of fact without objection, a party will be deemed to have waived his demurrer.

SEC. 2997. A trial is a judicial examination of the issues in an action, whether they be issues of law or of fact.

SEC. 2998. Issues of law must be tried by the court, unless referred to be tried.

SEC. 2999. Equitable issues may be tried according to two distinct methods, called first and second methods of equitable trials, and these methods shall differ one from the other in the following particulars, and none others: *

1. As to the form of evidence. In all cases tried according to the first method, all the evidence shall be in writing, while in those cases tried by the second method, the evidence shall be as in ordinary actions.

2. As to who may determine the facts therein. In a trial by the first method, the issues shall be tried by the court, who may, however, to inform his conscience, order the whole issue, or any part thereof, or any specific question of fact involved therein, to be tried by a jury, or may refer the same, and may in either case accept or reject the finding of the jury or referee, and may, with or without a statement of any finding of facts, render such judgment as he considers equitable. While in a trial by the second method, either party shall be entitled to have the whole issue or any part thereof, or any specific question of fact involved therein, tried by a jury, under the instructions of the court, as in a case by ordinary proceedings, or to have the same tried by the court acting as a jury, and finding in writing the facts, which finding of facts in either case shall be of ultimate facts and not of evidence of such facts, and shall be stated on the record as a special verdict, and the judgment of the court shall be the legal conclusions based upon and supported by the facts so found as herein contemplated.

3. As to what is triable on appeal. In an appeal taken on a case tried in the first method, all the evidence shall go to the supreme court, which shall try the case on both the law and facts as apparent of record. While in cases tried by the second method, no evidence shall, on appeal, go to the supreme court, except such as may be necessary to explain and apply any bill of exceptions, and such court shall try only the legal errors thereof, duly presented, as in a case by ordinary proceedings, including the sufficiency of the facts stated on the record, as the basis of the judgment to warrant the same.

SEC. 3000. The first method shall obtain in all cases, except, 1. When the first method shall obtain.

In divorce cases. 2. In foreclosure of tax-title cases, and of mortgages.

* This section, we have said, under the discussion of the principles of law and equity, is a compromise. A concession to what we believe to be not only abstractly best, but concretely the most practicable. We think that the method here called the second, and which is the only method of chancery trial in New York, Missouri, Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, California, and, in all the territories, is the only method sustained by sound reason. No continuance to be got if in fault.

Continuance for want of evidence.

SEC. 3001. The consent in the last section contemplated, must be expressed in open court, and entered of record, or must be in writing and signed by the parties or the attorney of the parties, and filed in the cause.

SEC. 3002. The plaintiff in his petition, or the defendant in his answer, may state his consent to try the case by the second method, and if the other party, within ten days thereafter, file his consent thereto in the clerk's office, the cause shall be so tried.

SEC. 3003. Or if all the parties at any time before trial enter into such consent, the cause shall be so tried.

Precedence of Causes.

SEC. 3004. A civil cause shall not be tried save by consent of the bar, in any other order than that in which it stands upon the docket.

SEC. 3005. The clerk shall keep a calendar of all the causes pending in his court, arranging in one part thereof, criminal causes, in the order of their commencement; in another part thereof, ordinary actions, in the same order; and in another, equitable actions, in the same order, and shall enter the causes thereon as soon as the same are commenced, by the filing of the petition or transcript therein, and shall, under the direction of the court or judge, apportion the same to as many days of the term, as shall be thought necessary, and shall on the order of any party, in any cause, issue subpoenas for witnesses returnable on the day on which such cause is set for trial, and the clerk shall furnish at such term, the court and the bar, each, with a copy of such calendar.

SEC. 3006. The criminal causes shall first be called in their order, and disposed of by trial, or continuance, in such order, unless the court for good cause shall direct otherwise, and after the civil calendar is entered upon, no criminal cause shall be allowed to intervene. But the court shall not protract the trial of the civil causes beyond a day of the term after which all defendants in criminal causes who desire to be tried at such term, may be so tried, during which re-entry upon the criminal calendar, the causes shall be tried, or continued, in their order.

SEC. 3007. Except when otherwise provided, causes shall be tried at the first term after due, legal and timely service has been made, unless reasonable cause for continuance be shown.

Continuance.

SEC. 3008. When time is asked for making application for a continuance, the cause shall not lose its place on the calendar, or it may be continued at the option of the other party, and at the cost of the party applying therefor; for which cost judgment may be at once entered by the clerk, unless the contrary be agreed between the parties.

SEC. 3009. A continuance shall not be granted for any cause growing out of the fault or negligence of the party applying therefor; subject to this rule, it may be allowed for any cause which satisfies the court that substantial justice will thereby be more nearly obtained.

SEC. 3010. Motions for continuance on account of the absence of evidence, must be founded on the affidavit of the party, his agent, or attorney, stating facts as distinguished from legal conclusions which show the materiality of the evidence sought to be obtained, and showing that efforts which constitute due diligence have been used to obtain its presence.

Due diligence must have been used to obtain absent testimony on account of which a continuance is asked, and the court may consider, in determining the question, what appears in the record of the cause as well as in the affidavit. Deming v. Patterson, 10 Ind. R., 251. New trials are rarely granted to enable the defendant to obtain testimony to impeach a witness. Fleming v. The State, 11 Ind. R., 234. A continuance might be.

SEC. 3011. If such motion be on account of the absence of a witness, the affidavit so sworn to, as in the last section, must state, 1. The name and residence of such witness, or if that be not known, a sufficient reason why not known, and also, in either case facts showing reasonable grounds of belief that his attendance or testimony will be procured at the next term. 2. It must also state efforts constituting due diligence which have been used to obtain such witness or his testimony. 3. It must also state what particular facts, as distinguished from legal conclusions, the affiant believes the witness will prove, and that the affiant believes them to be true, and that he knows of no other witness by whom such facts can be fully proved.

SEC. 3012. If the affidavit does not contain a sufficient statement of the facts herein required, the court shall overrule the same, as insufficient in statement of facts.

SEC. 3013. If the court finds the statement sufficient, it shall so determine, and the cause shall be continued unless the opposite party will admit that the witness, if present, would swear to the facts thus stated, in which event the cause shall not be continued, but the party moving therefor shall read as the evidence of such witness, the facts by the court held to be sufficiently stated.

SEC. 3014. The motion must be filed on the second day of the term, if it is then certain that it will have to be made before the trial, and as soon thereafter as it becomes certain that it will so need to be made, and shall not be allowed to be made when the cause is called for trial, except for cause which could not, by reasonable diligence, have been before that time discovered, and if made after the second day of the term, the affidavit must state facts constituting an excuse for the delay in making it. If time is taken when the case is called to make such motion, the motion shall be made and determined as soon as the court opens after the next ordinary adjournment.

SEC. 3015. The application shall not be amended but once, unless Amendable once by permission, and to supply a clerical error.

SEC. 3016. To such motion, both as original and as amended, the Written objections adverse party may at once, or within such reasonable time as the court shall allow, file written objections stating wherein he claims that the same is insufficient, and on such motion and objections no argument shall be heard unless the court desire it.

SEC. 3017. Such motion and objections shall be a part of the record, Motion and ob and error in refusing a continuance, or in compelling an election, may be reviewed.

SEC. 3018. No copy need be served of a motion for continuance, or Notice of motion or objections thereto, but a notice of such motion shall be entered on the notice book.

SEC. 3019. Every continuance granted upon the application of either party, shall be at the costs of such party, unless otherwise ordered by the court.
TRIAL AND ITS INCIDENTS. [PART 3.

May agree to continue.

Marriage no ground for continuance.

Case remains for all else but trial.

One of several may continue.

SEC. 3020. The court shall grant continuances whenever the parties agree thereto, and provide as to costs as may be stipulated.

SEC. 3021. The marriage of a party is no sufficient ground, of itself, for a continuance.

SEC. 3022. A case continued remains for all purposes except a trial on the facts.

SEC. 3023. Where the defenses are distinct, any one of several defendants may continue as to himself.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. Courts’ right to take up causes out of their order, Mann v. Miller, Dec. 1859; [but see section 300c hereof.] Causes to be tried in the order of their commencement, 2 Iowa, 565; [see sections 3004 and 3006;] good cause for continuance must be shown, 6 Iowa, 496; the extent of discretion, 2 Iowa, 565; [see section 3015;] 7 Iowa, 86; Thurston v. Cavenor, June, 1859; [see sections 3010 and 3011;] own neglect or that of attorney will not absolutely entitle to continuance, 2 G., 86; 4 Iowa, 146; facts as distinguished from legal conclusions to be stated, 6 Iowa, 498; 8 Iowa, 429; 7 Iowa, 86; the affidavit of facts may be read, 7 Iowa, 484; 8 Iowa, 420; [see section 3113;] insufficient affidavit, 4 Iowa, 551, 355; Price v. Cavenor, June, 1859; an application for continuance clearly within the law should be granted, and the refusal is reviewable; and one may continue on the ground that no other witness can “as” fully prove as the absent one, and can not be compelled to rely on one who can fully prove, &c., (Stockton dissenting,) 4 Iowa, 241; an affidavit for continuance should show diligence or excuse its want; may be made by the attorney when it shows a good reason for not being made by the party, and an amendment thereof may be refused and should never be allowed, save with great caution, or for causes subsequently arising, and action on it will not be reviewed, but in a case of palpable injustice, 4 Iowa, 557; [see section 3115;] an affidavit for continuance must show diligence, and if a witness is unwell, an excuse must be shown for not having taken his deposition, 4 Iowa, 552; application for an appearance, 4 G., 439; good cause—diligence, 4 Iowa, 149; “fully proved,”—reviewable—right to, 4 Iowa, 241; affidavit by whom made and what show, ibid., 355; discretion, 2 Iowa, 555; names, residences, and facts expected, 6 Iowa, 488; particularity of statement, 7 Iowa, 87; and see 1 Iowa, 515; presumption as to exercise of the discretion of refusal, 2 Iowa, 574.

Separate Trial.

SEC. 3024. A separate trial between the plaintiff and any or all of several defendants, may be allowed by the court, whenever, in its opinion, justice will be thereby promoted.

SEC. 3025. Where there are several causes of action united in a petition, or where in any controversy there are several issues, and the court shall be of opinion that all or any of them should be tried separately by the court or jury, it may direct such separate trial, and such separate trial may be had at the same, or at different terms of the court, as circumstances in the discretion of the court may require.

Selection of Jury.

SEC. 3026. (1773.) When a jury trial is demanded, the clerk shall select twelve jurors by lot, from the regular panel.

Separate trial.

Same as to issue.

Jurors selected.
SEC. 3027. (2972.) A challenge is an objection made to the trial jurors, and is of two kinds:
1. To the panel:
2. To an individual juror.

SEC. 3028. Where there are several parties, plaintiffs or defendants, and no separate trial is allowed, they are not allowed to sever their challenges, but must join in them.

SEC. 3029. (2974.) A challenge to the panel can be founded only on a material departure from the forms prescribed by statute in respect to the drawing and return of the jury.

SEC. 3030. (2975.) A challenge to the panel must be taken before a juror is sworn, and must be in writing, specifying plainly and distinctly the facts constituting the ground of challenge.

SEC. 3031. (2976.) A challenge to the panel may be taken by either party, and upon the trial thereof, the officers, whether judicial or ministerial, whose irregularity is complained of, as well as any other persons, may be examined to prove or disprove the facts alleged as the ground of the challenge.

SEC. 3032. If the facts of the challenge be allowed by the court, the jury must be discharged, so far as the trial in question is concerned; if it be disallowed, the court shall direct the jury to be impaneled.

SEC. 3033. (2978.) A challenge to an individual juror is either peremptory or for cause.

SEC. 3034 (2979.) It must be taken when the juror appears and before he is sworn, but the court may, for good cause, permit it to be taken after the juror is sworn, and before the jury is completed.

SEC. 3035. A peremptory challenge is an objection to a juror for which no reason need be given, but upon which the court shall exclude him.

SEC. 3036. Each party shall have the right to challenge peremptorily, five jurors, and no more, and the plaintiff first, and afterwards the defendant, shall complete his challenges for cause, and shall then, in turn, in the same order, exercise the right of peremptory challenge.

SEC. 3037. After each challenge, the vacancy shall, if required, be filled before further challenges are made, and any new juror thus introduced, may be challenged for cause, as well as peremptorily. A challenge for cause is an objection to a particular juror, and is either—
1. General, that the juror is disqualified from serving in any case;
2. Particular, that he is disqualified in the case on trial.

SEC. 3038. General causes of challenge are:
1. A conviction for felony.
2. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by statute to render a person a competent juror.
3. Inability to understand the English language, unsoundness of mind, or such defects in the faculties of the mind or the organs of the body, as render him incapable of performing the duties of a juror.

SEC. 3039. Particular causes of challenge are of two kinds:
1. For such a bias as, when the existence of the fact is ascertained, in judgment of law disqualifies the juror, and which is known in this chapter as implied bias.
2. For the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror in reference to the case, which, in the exercise of a sound discretion, leads to the inference that he will not act with entire impartiality, and which is actual bias.
For implied bias. Sec. 3040. A challenge for implied bias may be taken for all or any of the following causes, and for no other:

1. Consanguinity or affinity within the ninth degree, to the adverse party.
2. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, or landlord and tenant, or being a member of the family, or in the employment of the adverse party.
3. Being a party adverse to the challenging party in a civil action, or having complained against, or been accused by him in a criminal prosecution.
4. Having sat already upon the trial of the same issues.
5. Having served as a grand juror, or a petit juror, in a criminal case based upon the same transaction.
6. Having formed or expressed an unqualified opinion or belief as regards the liability of the adverse party, or on the merits of the controversy.

Exemption. Sec. 3041. (2987.) An exemption from service on a jury is not a cause of challenge, but the privilege of the person exempted.

Trial of juror. Sec. 3042. (2988.) Upon the trial of a challenge to an individual juror, the juror challenged may be examined as a witness to prove or disprove the challenge, and must answer every question pertinent to the inquiry thereon.

Court is trier. Sec. 3043. (2990.) In all challenges the court shall determine the law and the fact, and must either allow or disallow the challenge.

Talesmen. Sec. 3044. When the requisite number of jurors can not otherwise be obtained, the sheriff shall select talesmen to supply the deficiency, from the body of the county.

Majority verdict. Sec. 3045. The parties may, at any time, either before the jury is sworn, or after, agree to take the verdict of the majority, which agreement being stated to the court and stated on the record to have been made, shall bind the parties, and in such case a verdict signed by any seven or more and duly rendered, when read and not disapproved by said majority, shall, in every particular, be as binding as if made by a full jury; or when both parties require it a struck jury may be ordered; whereupon eighteen jurors shall be called into the box, and the plaintiff first and then the defendant, shall strike out one juror in turn until each has struck six, and the remaining six shall try the cause.

Decisions under the prior practice. Where there is a trial by the court and a silent record, trial by jury will be presumed waived, 3 G., 219; no challenge to panel in a criminal case, 1 Iowa, 141, 226; jurors who have passed on the same question in a criminal form, are incompetent, 1 G., 534; jury must be sworn to try the very issue, and re-sworn if that be changed, 4 G., 32; duty of examining juror, 3 Iowa, 191; right of challenge till sworn, 3 G., 217; sec. 1777 is Directory, 1 Iowa, 226; meaning and extent of sec. 1778, 4 Iowa, 283.

Order during trial. Sec. 3046. When the jury has been sworn, the trial shall proceed in the following order:

1. The party on whom rests the burden of proof, may briefly state his claim, and the evidence by which he expects to sustain it.
2. The other party may then briefly state his defense, and the evidence he expects to offer in support of it.
3. The party on whom rests the burden of proof in the whole action, must first produce his evidence; the adverse party must then produce his evidence.
4. The parties then will be confined to rebutting evidence, unless the court, for good reasons, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence in their original case.

5. But one counsel on each side shall examine the same witness, and upon interlocutory questions, the party moving the court or objecting to testimony, shall be heard first; the respondent may then reply by one counsel, and the mover rejoin, confining his remarks to the points first stated, and a pertinent answer to respondent's argument. Debate on the question shall then be closed, unless the court request further argument.

Evidence offered in support of immaterial issues may be rejected on the trial, although not objected to by the other party. Corning v. Cornng, 2 Seld., 97; Kordyhe v. Shearon, 12 Ind. Rep.

SEC. 3047. The parties may then either submit or argue the case to the jury. In the argument the party having the burden of the issue, shall have the opening and closing, but shall disclose in the opening all the points relied on in the cause; and if in the close, he should refer to any new material point or fact, not relied upon in the opening, the adverse party shall have the right of replying thereto, which reply shall close the argument in the case.

SEC. 3048. If the party holding the affirmative waive the opening, he shall be limited in the close, simply, to a reply to his adversary's argument, otherwise the other party shall have the concluding argument.

SEC. 3049. Every plaintiff or defendant shall be entitled to appear by one attorney, and if there be but one plaintiff or defendant, he may appear by two, and where there are several defendants having the same or separate defenses, and appearing by the same or different attorneys, the court shall before argument, arrange their order.

SEC. 3050. The court may restrict the time of any attorney in any argument to itself, but shall not do so in any case before a jury.

DECISIONS UNDER THE PRIOR PRACTICE. A defendant claiming damages by set-off for wrongful attachment, has the burden of proof, 8 Iowa, 163; so in case of note given for land where deduction is to be made for its not holding out, 3 G., 577; so of partner, seeking to avoid partnership note, 2 G., 368; see case of malicious prosecution, 2 Iowa, 358; of resulting trust, 1 Iowa, 423; he who would lose, if no proof was offered, has right to begin, 8 Iowa, 163; but mistake of court in this not reviewable, 8 Iowa, 334; in cases of negligence of the defendant the plaintiff has the burden of proof, and must show diligence in himself, 6 Iowa, 443, 431; 7 Iowa, 488; and must make a prima facie case against an officer, 6 Iowa, 172; where plaintiff charges criminal neglect of duty he must prove it, 6 Iowa, 172; issue should be made up before the jury sworn, 4 G., 32; opening statement does not define right of proof, 1 G., 401; jury trial on a statement of facts agreed to, 2 G., 443; the ground of the objection that a question is leading, should be stated, Miller, Horner & Co. v. Mohun, Dec., 1859; [see section 3107;] res adjudicata—identity of parties, 4 Iowa, 216; on merits, ibid., 292; pleader of former judgment should produce it with his pleading, 6 Iowa, 339; see 4 Iowa, 199; identity of interest of parties, 1 Iowa, 124; M., 91; proved under the general issue by Reprint, 1 G., 421; [no longer any general issue, see section 2872, nor does a mere denial allow any matter to be given in evidence thereunder, which goes only to contradict some legal and not some fact proposition of the petition, 2944;] a failure in law may leave a right inequity, 2 Iowa, 1; matters growing out of an unsettled partnership transaction between the defendant, plaintiff and another, can not be plead by set-off, 5 Iowa, 376; [but see section 2880;] set-off to be pleaded separately from defense, 4 Iowa, 430; 5 ibid., 460; [see sections 2884 and 2900,] a mere right to a reduction in consequence of defects is no matter of set-off, 2 G., 257; [see section 2889;] set-off based on independent demand, 2 G., 257; as to foreign judgments, see 7 Iowa, 86; 3 ibid., 474; 1 ibid., 1, 143; 2 G., 492; 3 G., 170; Geason et al. v. Davis, Dec., 1859; 2 Iowa, 535; an injunction in another state against a suit is a bar when plead here as defense to same claim, Milne v. Van Buskirk, Dec., 1859.
Instructions.

Sec. 3051. When the argument is concluded, either party may request instructions to the jury on points of law, which shall be given or refused by the court. Instructions asked shall be stated in writing by the party, if any one of the other party, or if the court require it. The party on whom is the burden of proof as aforesaid, shall first demand his instructions, then the other party, and the first party may then ask such alone, as go in reply.

Sec. 3052. There shall be but two instructions at most, written on one sheet of paper, and the paper shall be written only on one side thereof, and the writer shall leave a margin on the left hand side thereof of about two inches, and each instruction demanded shall distinctly and intelligibly refer to the cause of action to which it is intended to be applied, if there be several, or if one cause of action be divisible into different parts, then to such part as it is intended to be applied.

Sec. 3053. If the court refuse a written instruction as demanded, but give the same with a modification which the court may do, such modification shall not be by interlineation or erasure, but shall be well defined and shall follow some such characterizing words as "changed thus," which words shall themselves indicate that the same was refused as demanded.

Sec. 3054. The court must read over all the instructions which it intends to give and none others to the jury, and must announce them as given, and shall announce as refused without reading to the jury, all those which are refused, and must write the words "given" or "refused" as the case may be, on the margin of each instruction.

Sec. 3055. If the giving or refusal be excepted to, the same may be without any stated reason therefor, and all instructions demanded must be filed, and shall become part of the record.

Sec. 3056. Any decision or instruction of the court in favor of either party, may be abandoned by such party at any time before the case is committed to the jury, unless testimony calculated to influence the minds of the jury has been afterwards admitted or rejected, or when the opposite party can not be placed in the same position which he would have occupied had such decision or instruction not been given.

Sec. 3057. After argument, the court may also, of its own motion, charge the jury, which charge shall be exclusively in writing.

Sec. 3058. The charge shall be expressed in paragraphs, and numbered consecutively.

Sec. 3059. Every part or paragraph of the charge shall be deemed approved, unless excepted to before the retiring of the jury; if so excepted to, that fact and by whom excepted to, whether by plaintiff or defendant, shall be stated by the court, on the margin, against such instruction or part of the charge.

Sec. 3060. The court shall not make any oral explanation of any instruction or charge.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. A party may insist on having the instructions read to the jury, 4 Iowa, 471; a modification of a legal instruction which does not change its legal significance, is unobjectionable, 5 Iowa, 280; the charge must not leave the jury to determine from the pleadings what the issue is, 5 Iowa, 274; after verdict it is too late to object that the instructions were not read to jury; either party may have them so read, 4 Iowa, 43; an instruction working no prejudice is no sufficient error, 4 Iowa, 44; the facts surrounding the instructions must be shown, else the supreme court can not determine their legality, 4 Iowa, 241; an instruction may be so interwoven with fact as to make it objectionable, 5 Iowa, 400; the instructions must be clearly identified in order to have a review of their being given or refused, 5 Iowa, 475; objections come too late if not made to the giving or refusing of instructions at the time it is done, 4 Iowa, 504; where the instructions by mutual contradiction and false assumption confuse the jury, and make it impossible for them to know the exact question to be determined, there is error in refusing an instruction which would make it clear, although its substance is given in another form, 4 Iowa, 558; may be so confused as to mislead and be error, 2 Iowa, 463; substantial correctness enough; if not explicit enough, let party ask other, 3 G., 161; where special instructions are not included in more general ones given, not to refuse an abstract point which would not prejudice, 2 ibid., 90; the ground of objection to evidence must be shown, and no other relied on, 2 ibid., 44; irrelevant instructions which might prejudice, 3 ibid., 468; facts charged, 4 G., 437; must be signed, 1 Iowa, 121; nor be irrelevant, ibid., 539; 3 G., 111; ibid., 509; 4 G., 273; to refuse a good one and give its substance in a different form is error, ibid., 426; must prejudice appellant, ibid., 544; error must be shown affirmatively, 3 Iowa, 344; 1 Iowa, 98, 100; the supreme court will continue a case to allow the district court to supply a lost paper, 1 G., 544; instructions may be modified, 6 Iowa, 191, 443; 3 Iowa, 487; 2 G., 427, 449; need be given but once, 3 Iowa, 502; 8 Iowa, 122; should be certain, 2 Iowa, 481; 4 G., 542, 543; may be refused rather than modified into exactness, 4 G., 542; 8 Iowa, 207; if too general, that fact will be held waived, if more specificness is not requested, 3 Iowa, 58; 4 Iowa, 508; 3 G., 161; should be confined to law, 1 G., 401, 273; should not assume anything, Robinson v. Chapline, June, 1859; 3 Iowa, 297; 4 G., 159; 8 Iowa, 122; 4 G., 457; should be relevant, 8 Iowa, 116; a charge may recite facts, as left to the jury to be found, 3 G., 531; and may state the legal effect of facts, 2 G., 499, 518; an instruction or charge given is presumed correct, and its inapplicability must be shown; if refused, such refusal is presumed right, and should be shown by the objector to be wrong, 6 Iowa, 204; 5 Iowa, 271; 3 Iowa, 463; 2 Iowa, 580; 1 Iowa, 456; 4 G., 539; 1 G., 253; abstract propositions of law and inapplicable ones may be refused, 3 Iowa, 337; 2 Iowa, 584; 4 G., 544; 111, 289, 599; objections to either the modification, or giving or refusing of them, must be made at the time, so as to suggest to the court the error, 3 Iowa, 213, 337; 6 Iowa, 554; 4 ibid., 469; 1 ibid., 121; 7 ibid., 236, 253, 409; they must be duly produced with proper identification, 2 Iowa, 474, 465, 580; 1 Iowa, 226, 117, 121, 219; and the particularity of objections to instructions, see 2 Iowa, 463; 8 ibid., 191; 1 ibid., 212; for the case of an instruction which was lost so that all the law given can not be seen by the supreme court, see 3 Iowa, 274; if a proposition of the charge most favorably construed as a general proposition, be prima facie law, and if the objector insist, that under the facts of the case the proposition should have been modified so as to be exactly true, then the objector must ask such modification before he can in the supreme court object to such generalness, 4 Iowa, 508.

Rules regarding Jury.

SEC. 3061. Whenever in the opinion of the court, it is proper for the jury to have a view of the real property which is the subject of controversy, or of the place in which any material fact occurred, it may order them to be conducted in a body, under the charge of an officer, to the place which shall be shown to them by some person appointed by the court for that purpose; while the jury are thus absent, no person other than the person so appointed shall speak to them on any subject connected with the trial.

SEC. 3062. When the case is finally submitted to the jury, they may decide in court or retire for deliberation. If they retire, they shall be kept together in some convenient place without food and without drink, except water, under charge of an officer, until they agree upon a verdict, or are discharged by the court. The officer having them under his charge shall not suffer any communication to be made to them, or make any himself, except to ask them if they have agreed upon their verdict, unless by order of the court, and he shall not before their verdict is ren-
TRIAL AND ITS INCIDENTS. [PART 3

Court to advise jury.

Sec. 3063. If the jury are permitted to separate, either during the trial or after the case is submitted to them, they must be advised by the court, that it is the duty of each one of them not to converse with any other of them, or with any person, nor to suffer himself to be addressed by any person on any subject of the trial, and that during the trial it is the duty of each one of them to avoid, as far as possible, forming any opinion thereon until the cause is finally submitted to them.

Juror sick.

Sec. 3064. If, after the empanneling of the jury and before verdict, a juror becomes sick so as to be unable to perform his duty, he may be discharged. In such case, unless otherwise arranged by the consent of the parties, the vacancy thus made, must be filled, and the trial commence anew, or the court may, in its discretion, order the jury to be discharged.

Discharged.

Sec. 3065. The jury may be discharged by the court on account of any accident or calamity requiring their discharge, or by the consent of both parties, or when on an amendment a continuance is ordered, or after they have been kept together until it satisfactorily appears that there is no probability of their agreeing.

Cause tried same as next term.

Sec. 3066. In all cases where the jury are discharged, during the trial or after the cause is submitted to them, it may be tried again immediately, or at a future time, as the court may then direct.

Adjournment of cause.

Sec. 3067. The court may also, at any time after having entered upon the trial of any cause, where it may deem it right for the purposes of justice, order an adjournment for such time, within the term and subject to such terms and conditions as to costs, and otherwise, as it may think just.*

What jury take with them.

Sec. 3068. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury may take with them all books of accounts, and all papers, which have been received as evidence in the cause, except depositions, which shall not be so taken, unless all the testimony is in writing, and none of the same has been ordered to be struck out.

Court open till verdict in.

Sec. 3069. (1784.) When the jury is absent, the court may adjourn from time to time, in respect to other business, but is to be deemed open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury, until a verdict is rendered or the jury discharged.

Correct mistake.

Sec. 3070. (1778.) At any time before the cause is finally submitted to the court or jury, either party may be permitted by the court to give further testimony to correct an evident oversight or mistake, but terms may be imposed upon the party obtaining the privilege. [See Kerby v. Cannon, 9 Ind., 371.]

Jury may come in to inform themselves.

Sec. 3071. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if they desire to be informed as to any point of law arising in the case, they may request the officer to conduct them into court, which he shall do, when the information required shall be given, in the presence of, or after notice to the parties or their counsel.

How given.

Sec. 3072. Such information shall be in writing and shall be held approved, unless it be excepted to in the same way as the charge, and no discussion thereon shall be allowed to either party. *

Verdict.

Sec. 3073. The verdict must be written and signed by a foreman chosen by the jury itself, and when agreed the jury must be conducted into court, their names called, and the verdict rendered by him, and read by the clerk to the jury and the inquiry made whether it is their verdict. If any juror disagrees, the jury must be sent out again, but if no disagreement is expressed and neither party requires the jury to be polled, the verdict is complete and the jury discharged from the case.

* This is taken from the English act of 1852, and the remarks upon it in the late books of practice, based on that act, go far in its commendation. Report on Civil Code, p. 324.

SEC. 3074. When the verdict is announced, either party may require the jury to be polled, which shall be done by the court or clerk, asking each juror if it is his verdict. If any one answer in the negative, the jury must be sent out for further deliberation.

SEC. 3075. When by consent of the parties and the court, the jury have been permitted to seal their verdict and separate before it is rendered, such sealing is equivalent to a rendition and a recording thereof in open court, nor shall such jury be polled or permitted to disagree thereto, unless such a course has been agreed upon between the parties in open court and entered on the record.

SEC. 3076. If, while the jury are kept together, either during progress of the trial, or after their retirement for deliberation, the court order them to be provided with suitable food and lodging, they must be so provided by the sheriff, at the expense of the county.

SEC. 3077. The verdict of a jury is either general or special. A general verdict is one in which they pronounce generally for the plaintiff or for the defendant upon all or upon any of the issues.

SEC. 3078. A special verdict is one in which the jury finds facts only; it must present the ultimate facts as established by the evidence, and not the evidence to prove them so that nothing remains to the court but to draw from them its conclusions of law.

A special verdict must state the facts proved, and not the evidence given to prove the facts, and must not leave the facts to be made out by argument and inference, Berkehead v. Brown, 5 Hill, 634; Fuller v. Van Geisen, 4 Hill, 171. A special verdict or finding of a judge in the nature of a special verdict, where trial by jury is waived, should find all the conclusions of fact, so as to leave nothing for further determination except questions of law. Sisson v. Barnett, 2 Com., 406. It is not necessary that a special verdict should contain facts admitted by the pleadings, such facts, together with the facts found by the jury, constitute a proper subject for consideration on appeal. Barto v. Himrod, 4 Seld., 483.

SEC. 3079. In all actions, the jury, in their discretion, may render a general or a special verdict, and in any case in which they render a general verdict, they may be required by the court, and must be so required, on the request of any party to the action, to find specially upon particular questions of fact to be stated to them in writing, or to find that the facts stated in the petition, answer, or reply, or in all or either of them, or in any count of either of them, or in case any count of either of them be divisible, then that any defined part thereof is true, or not true, and such special finding is to be recorded with the verdict.

Where several causes of action are joined in one petition, there should be a separate assessment of damages or verdict in such cause. A general verdict for the plaintiff, it seems, will not stand, if one of the causes of action is insufficient to support a judgment. Mooney v. Keuneit, 19 Mo. Rep., 551. See also Langsdale v. Bouton, 12 Ind. Rep.

* The object of this section is to secure a severance in the verdict on which may be entered a judgment, in such way as to allow one part of the judgment to be enjoyed, while an appeal may be taken on the other. See the remarks on section 3121. Report on Civil Code, p. 324.
Special finding prevails.

Assess amount of recovery.

In replevin or detinue, what jury must find.

SEC. 3080. When the special finding of facts is inconsistent with the general verdict, the former controls the latter, and the court may give judgment accordingly.

SEC. 3081. When by the verdict either party is entitled to recover money of the adverse party, the jury in their verdict must assess the amount of such recovery.

SEC. 3082. In actions for the recovery of specific personal property, the jury must assess the value of the property, as also the damages for taking or detention, whenever, by their verdict there will be a judgment for the recovery or return of the property, and when required so to do by either party, must find the value of each article thereof.

And if they fail to so find, they may be sent back to amend their verdict.

Ind. Dig., p. 55, sec. 43; Reed v. Thayer, 9 Ind. R., 157.

A verdict for $100 in damages does not authorize a judgment for the return of specific property; and in cases like this, it is obvious how necessary it is to conform to the requisitions of sections 360, [3081 Iowa.] Stiles, J., Barrett v. Crabtree, Miss. opin., June, 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

To authorize a jury to assess damages for property illegally taken and detained, (hogs,) there must be some evidence of the value, or some description to enable the jury to determine the value from their own knowledge. Pharis, etc. v. Carver, 13 B. M., 238.

Under this section the jury should fix, in their verdict, the value of each article of property found to belong to the plaintiff, and the judgment should conform to the verdict. Marshall, C. J., Groves v. Watkins, Miss. opin., June, 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code. [Yet the Ky. Code does not contain the last clause of ours.]

Verdict moulded to case presented.

Intention is enough.

SEC. 3083. When there are several defendants, the verdicts and judgments,—whether the pleadings are joint or several, shall be moulded according to the facts, and to meet the exigencies of the case.

SEC. 3084. (1790.) The verdict shall be sufficient in form if it expresses the intention of the jury.

If the jury fail in framing their verdict in accordance with the statute, and it is not corrected by them before their discharge, and it is so defective that judgment can not be rendered upon it, senire de novo may be awarded. Ind. Dig., 687; see Dowell v. Richardson, 10 Ind. R., 573.

Where the plaintiff fails to set forth a good cause of action in his petition, and the fault is not cured by the answer, a verdict for the plaintiff can not stand; a new trial should be awarded. File v. Coplinger, 13 B. M., 464.

A verdict finding for “the plaintiff the debt in the petition mentioned,” held sufficiently certain under the code. Braunn § Smith v. Force's adm'r, 12 B. M., 509.

If all the counts are good in an ordinary petition and one only be proved as alleged, but not as alleged in other counts, and a general verdict, it will be good. 1 State Law, 327; Noet, etc. v. Hudson, 13 B. M., 205.

SEC. 3085. The verdict shall, in all cases, be filed with the clerk, and entered upon the record, after having been put into form by the court, if necessary.

DECISIONS UNDER THE PRIOR PRACTICE. The court and not the jury must define the issue, 5 Iowa, 274, and 4 Iowa, 154; questions of alterations in notes are of fact and for jury, 4 Iowa, 63; if a jury find a set of facts which have not been put in issue, no judgment should be rendered on them, 5 Iowa, 485; the jury should take in retiring no papers but those containing the issue, 4 Iowa, 461; drawing lots for verdict, 7 Iowa, 90; taking the aggregate of each one's will and dividing by twelve makes a bad verdict, 7 Iowa, 81; a sealed verdict is fixed and binds each juror after it has been made and delivered, 6 Iowa, 456; and such verdict may be put into form by jury even after a separation, Bass v. Hanson, Dec., 1859; less than twelve jurors a fatal defect if not consented to, 6 Iowa, 161; a wrongful separation of the jury after agreeing on verdict, will not defeat a verdict, 4 Iowa, 72; misbehaviour of jury, 4 Iowa, 18, 72; 3 G., 47; view by jury, 6 Iowa, Trials by the Court.

SEC. 3086. (1771.) Upon a decision of a demurrer, if the unsuccessful party fail to amend or plead over, the same consequences shall ensue as though a verdict had passed against the plaintiff, or the defendant had made default, as the case may be.

SEC. 3087. Trial by jury may be waived by the several parties to an issue of fact in the following cases:
1. By suffering default or by failing to appear at the trial.
2. By written consent, in person or by attorney, filed with the clerk.
3. By oral consent in open court, entered in the minutes.

SEC. 3088. Upon the trial of questions of fact by the court, it shall not be necessary for the court to state its finding, except generally for the plaintiff or defendant, unless one of the parties, before any testimony is offered, requests it, in which case its decision shall be given in writing, stating the facts found, and the legal conclusions founded thereon, separately, all of which shall be entered on the record.

DECISIONS UNDER THE PRIOR PRACTICE. When a demurrer has been sustained to the answer, and defendant does not amend, the case stands as if judgment by default were had, and defendant can only appear to cross-examine, and can not ask for a nonsuit; in such case no judgment can be had on a note unless it be produced, 5 Iowa, 290; chancellor may refuse issue to jury and find facts himself, presumption on appeal, 2 Iowa, 500; issues how tried, 3 G., 511; null record for court, 3 G., 170; consent presumed, ibid., 219; jury's province to try facts, 2 ibid., 231; presumption for finding, 1 Iowa, 374; trial by court, 3 G., 511; court need not state facts in finding unless requested, 3 G., 574; the verdict of the court as a jury is to be reviewed in the same way as that of any other jury, Byington v. Woodward, Dec., 1859.

Reference.

SEC. 3089. All or any of the issues in an action, whether of fact or law, or both, may be referred, upon the consent of the parties, either written or oral, in court entered upon the record.

SEC. 3090. When the parties do not consent, the court may, upon the motion of either, or upon its own motion, direct a reference in either of the following cases:
1. When the trial of an issue of fact shall require the examination of mutual accounts, or when the account being on one side only, it shall be made to appear to the court that it is necessary that the party on the other side should be examined as a witness to prove the account, in which case the referees may be directed to hear and report upon the whole issue, or upon any specific question of fact involved therein; or,
2. When the taking of an account shall be necessary for the information of the court, before judgment, or for carrying a judgment or order into effect.
3. When a question of fact, other than upon the pleadings shall arise, upon motion or otherwise, in any stage of an action.
4. When a question of fact shall arise in any action by equitable proceedings.

* These provisions on reference are the law of Ohio modified to our wants; something like it is a part of the new system wherever received. Report on Civil Code, p. 324.
Proceeding upon a reference is a waiver of all objections to the order of reference on the ground of irregularity; but not of the objection that the court had no jurisdiction to make the order. That objection may be raised at any time. Garcie v. Sheldon, 3 Barb., 232.

SEC. 3091. Where not otherwise declared in the order of reference, all the referees must meet to hear proofs, arguments, and to deliberate, but a decision by the majority shall be regarded as their decision.

SEC. 3092. When appointed by a court, the judge thereof may fill vacancies in vacation.

SEC. 3093. The referees shall stand in the place of the court, and shall have the same power, so far as necessary, to discharge their duty.

SEC. 3094. The trial by referees shall be conducted in the same manner as a trial by the court. They have the same power to summon and enforce, by attachment, the attendance of witnesses to punish them as for a contempt for non-attendance, or refusal to be sworn, or to testify, and to administer all necessary oaths in the trial of the case, to take testimony by commission, grant continuances, to preserve order, and punish all violations thereof.

It seems that the rule of law which protects parties from any undue influence upon the minds of jurors should be substantially applied to referees. Yale v. Gwinn, 4 How. Pr., 253. On this trial of a cause, a referee takes the place of a jury as well as of the court. His decisions upon questions of fact, like that of a jury, is, as a general rule, conclusive. If therefore, it appears that the report of a referee on questions of fact, has been, even in the slightest degree, affected by any influence exercised by the successful party, it will be set aside for irregularity. See Yale v. Gwinn, 4 How. Pr., 253.

SEC. 3095. The report of the referees on the whole issue, must state the facts found, and the conclusions of law, separately, and shall stand as the finding of the court, except as otherwise provided in equitable actions tried by the first method; and judgment may be entered thereon in the same manner as if the action had been tried by the court—the report may be excepted to and reviewed in like manner.

If questions of law are raised and passed upon in the course of the trial, and the party takes proper exceptions, he can present those questions, by a bill of exceptions, setting forth as much of the evidence as may be necessary to present such questions. If questions of law and fact, arise during the trial, and the party desires a review upon both, he may incorporate his exceptions in his case, stating them separately from the facts. But neither a case made for the purpose of reviewing questions of fact, nor exceptions which present only questions of law, arise during the trial, and the party desires a review upon both, he may incorporate his exceptions in his case, stating them separately from the facts. But neither a case made for the purpose of reviewing questions of fact, nor exceptions which present only questions of law, raised and passed upon during the trial, will bring up for review the conclusions of law or final decisions of the referees upon the facts found by them. For the purposes of an appeal, an exception to their decision, as to all other decisions upon questions of law arising upon the trial must be taken. Exceptions to all decisions made in the course of the trial, must be taken at the trial, and this would be so of the final decision of the referees, if it were required to be made then. There is no authority for reviewing on appeal, a decision to which no exception has been taken. On the contrary, it is plainly prohibited. Therefore, although the referees' report is made by statute a part of the record, the court can not review errors appearing on the face of the record where no exceptions have been taken. Brewer v. Ishih, 12 How., 481.

The finding of a referee on a question of fact where the testimony is not decisive either way, is conclusive; and his report will not be set aside unless some principle of law has been violated. Durke v. Mott, 8 Bars., 423; Scranton v. Baxter, 4 Sand., 5. The report of a referee is like the verdict of a jury, and must be destitute of any evidence to support it in order to warrant the court in granting a new trial upon the facts. If there be any proof tending to show the facts in issue, it is not the duty of the court to set aside the report, though the evidence be in its judgment too slight to found a decision upon. Woodin v. Foster, 16 Barb., 146; see Kennedy v. New York & Harlem R. R. Co., 3 Duer, 69.
SEC. 3096. When the reference is to report the facts, the report shall have the effect of a special verdict, except as is otherwise provided in equitable actions tried by the first method.

SEC. 3097. The referees shall sign any true bill of exceptions taken to any ruling by them made in the case where to any party demands a bill of exceptions; and the party shall have the same rights to obtain such bill as exist in the court, and such bills shall be returned with their report.

SEC. 3098. In all cases of reference, the parties, except when an infant may be a party, may agree upon a suitable person or persons, not exceeding three, and the reference shall be ordered accordingly; and if the parties do not agree, the court shall appoint one or more referees, not exceeding three, who shall be persons free from exception, and having the qualifications of jurors, or the court may allow each party to select one, and itself select a third.

SEC. 3099. A judge of the court, when a case is pending, may, in vacation, upon the written consent of the parties, make an order of reference. In such case the order of reference shall be written in the written agreement to refer, and shall be filed with the clerk of the court, with the other papers in the case.

SEC. 3100. The referees must make an affidavit well and faithfully to hear and examine the case, and to make a just and true report therein according to the best of their understanding. The oath may be administered by any person authorized to administer an oath, and the affidavit shall be returned with the report.

SEC. 3101. The referees shall be allowed such compensation for their services as the court may deem just, which shall be taxed as a part of the costs in the case.

SEC. 3102. The order shall not be made until the case is at issue, as to these parties, whose rights are to be examined on the reference. The order may direct when the referee shall proceed to a hearing, and when he shall make his report; but in the absence of such direction, he shall do so on the morning of the tenth day after the day on which was made the order of reference, and shall file his report as soon as done; of the time thus fixed, or determined, the parties shall take notice, and non-attendance of either party within an hour of such time, shall be attended with like consequences as if the case were in court, which consequence shall be reported, as any other fact or finding of the referees.

SEC. 3103. The referee must be called on by the court to accept or refuse the appointment, and his acceptance shall be entered of record; and he shall be under the control of the court, who may, on the motion of either party, make all proper orders with a view to his proceeding with all due dispatch, and the court or judge may, on his motion, on good cause shown, enlarge the time of making his report.

SEC. 3104. Any one of such referees may issue and sign subpoenas, and other process, administer oaths, necessary for the discharge of their duties, and the full exercise of all their powers.

SEC. 3105. The formula of procedure which, in the court itself, regulates service, pleading proof, trial, and the preparation, progression, and method of each of these shall obtain before the referee, and in every incident of the proceeding before him the rights and responsibilities of parties, and of their attorneys, and of the referee, shall be the same as if the referee was the court, engaged in the same matter.

The court will not hear a motion to postpone a trial pending before referees, on the ground of the absence of a witness. The referees must decide...
Such applications; and, if any errors be committed, the court will correct, on a motion to set aside their report. Longley v. Hickman, 1 Sand., 681. See Green v. Brown, 3 Barb., 118.

Exceptions.

Sec. 3106. An exception is an objection taken to a decision of the court, or party acting as the court, on matter of law. The party objecting to the decision, must object at the time the decision is made, and at once present his bill of exceptions; but unless the court or adverse party object, he may have time to do so, not extending beyond the term.

Evidence needed.

Sec. 3107. No stated form of exception is required. So much of the evidence as is necessary to explain the ruling, should be stated, and the ruling and that it was excepted to when made, unless that fact otherwise appear. If the exception is to the admission or exclusion of evidence, oral or written, the ground of the objection must be also stated, and no other shall be regarded.

A motion to strike out portions of a pleading should be put in such shape that the record which goes to the supreme court will show the objectionable portions. State to use, &c. v. Steinman & Lawman, 18 Mo. Rep., 291.

Unless the bill of exceptions contains the evidence, an instruction based on such evidence will be presumed to be correct. Bellavine v. McCoy, 1 Mo. Rep., 227; Samuel v. Withers & Bristor, 9 Mo. Rep., 163; Laurent v. Mullica, 10 Mo. Rep., 495; Fraser v. Yeatman, ibid., 501; Walter v. Cathcart, 18 Mo. Rep., 256.

It is not necessary in a bill of exceptions to set out all the evidence, except where the verdict is alleged to be against evidence. If the rejection of evidence, or rejection of instructions, be complained of, it is sufficient to show the evidence offered, and that the evidence properly raised the question in the instruction. Bridgeport v. Brown, 10 Mo. Rep., 531; Wallace v. Boston, ibid., 660; vide State to use, &c. v. Fullkerson, 10 Mo. Rep., 681; Lane v. Kingsberry, 11 Mo. Rep., 402.

The party objecting to the decision of the court must state the objection, with so much of the testimony as is necessary to explain it, and no more. If there was other evidence introduced, bearing upon the point, it was the duty of the other party to see that it was stated on the record. But the court will presume that the statement made of the evidence upon which the decision was based, contained all that was necessary to explain the objection, and enable the court to explain the question before it. Easley’s Executors v. M. A. Easley, 18 B. M., 94.

Sec. 3108. When the decision objected to is entered on the record, and the grounds of the exception appear in the entry, or when any error appears of record, the exception may be taken by the party causing to be noted at the end of the decision, or in connection therewith, that he excepts.

Incorporation of reference is enough.

Sec. 3109. Where an instruction is marked “excepted to,” such terms shall sufficiently indicate that it was excepted to at the proper time, and an exception when presented for signature, need not include therein, spread out at length, any writing filed in court, but may incorporate the same, by any unimitable reference thereto, and the clerk in making a transcript of the bill of exception shall write therein at length, all of such writing included therein by reference.

Sec. 3110. When the decision is not entered on the record, or when the grounds of objection do not sufficiently appear in the record, the party excepting must reduce his exception to writing, and present it to the court for its signature. If the judge deems it true he shall sign it. If he does not deem it true, he shall at once state to the party offering it, what correction he desires to make thereto, if the party accept the same, or if he and the judge can agree upon any correction, the judge shall, having made the same, sign such exception, and it shall be filed and become part of the record. But if the judge and the party cannot agree on such exception, the party shall announce the same to the judge, who shall thereupon deliver the exception back to the party. The party may then proceed to procure the signatures of two or more bystanders to the exception, and the court shall allow him a reasonable time therefor, and shall in no manner interfere with his endeavor to do so. If the party procure the signatures of two bystanders, attesting that the exception is true, and that the court has refused to sign the same, the exception shall be filed by the clerk and shall become part of the record. The truth of such exception may be controverted and maintained by affidavits not exceeding five in number, and all affidavits impugning the exception shall be filed with the clerk on the morning of the first day after that on which the exception was filed, and those sustaining it on the next morning thereafter. Such affidavits shall also become part of the record, and the supreme court shall, on becoming satisfied that any exception is true, consider the same.

Where the judge who presided at the trial of the case, did not preside when the motion for a new trial was overruled, the bill of exceptions must be certified by the affidavits of persons present at the trial, and who recollect sufficiently well to make affidavit thereto. Simpson, J., Cambron v. Coughtry, Miss. opin., February, 1836. Stanton's Ky. Code.

SEC. 3111. No exception shall be regarded in the supreme court, what alone considered prejudicial to the substantive rights of the party excepting.

So also if the ground of the motion be, that the verdict is contrary to evidence, 5 Iowa, 283.

New Trials.

SEC. 3112. A new trial is a re-examination in the same court of an issue of fact, after a verdict by a jury, report of a referee, or a decision by the court. The former report, verdict, or decision, shall be vacated, and a new trial granted, on the application of the party aggrieved, for any of the following causes affecting materially the substantial rights of such party:

1. Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury referee, or prevailing party, or any order of court or referee, or abuse of discretion, by which the party was prevented from having a fair trial.

2. Misconduct of the jury or prevailing party.

3. Accident or surprise, which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against.

4. Excessive damages, appearing to have been given under the influence of passion or of prejudice.

5. Error in the assessment of the amount of recovery, whether too large or too small, where the action is upon a contract or for the injury or detention of property.

6. That the verdict, report or decision, is not sustained by sufficient evidence, or is contrary to law.

7. Newly discovered evidence, material for the party applying, which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial.

8. Error of law occurring at the trial, excepted to by the party making the application.

A verdict and judgment obtained by a plaintiff, who shows no right to sue, can not be sustained. Petty v. Maltier; 14 B. M., 247.

Where the plaintiff fails to set forth a good cause of action in his petition, and the fault is not cured by the answer, a verdict for the plaintiff can not stand; a new trial should be awarded. Fible v. Coplinger, 13 B. M., 466.

SEC. 3113. A new trial shall not be granted on account of the smallness of damages in an action for an injury to the person or reputation, nor in any other action where the damages shall equal the actual pecuniary injury sustained.

SEC. 3114. The application for a new trial must be made at the term the verdict, report or decision is rendered, and except for the cause of newly discovered evidence, material for the party applying, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial, shall be within three days after the verdict or decision was rendered.

SEC. 3115. The application must be made by motion upon written grounds, filed at the time of making the motion, the causes enumerated in subdivisions two, three, and seven, of section 3112, must be sustained by affidavits showing their truth, and may be controverted by affidavits.

SEC. 3116. Where the grounds for a new trial could not with reasonable diligence have been discovered before, but are discovered after the term at which the verdict, report of referee, or decision was rendered or made, the application may be made by petition, filed as in other cases, not later than the second term after the discovery; on which notice shall be served and returned as an original notice, and the defendant held to appear as in an original action. The facts stated in the petition shall be considered as denied, without answer. The case shall be tried as other cases, by ordinary proceedings, but no petition shall be filed more than one year after the final judgment was rendered.

SEC. 3117. The costs of all new trials shall either abide the event of the suit, or be paid by the party to whom such new trial is granted, according to the order of the court, to be made at the time of granting such new trial.

SEC. 3118. The court may determine not to grant a new trial, unless certain terms or conditions named by the court shall be agreed to by the opposite party; in the event of his agreement to which, the terms or conditions named shall be entered on the record, and no new trial shall be granted if the party refuse to agree to the terms or conditions upon which a new trial shall be awarded.

SEC. 3119. Upon any motion made for a new trial, or for judgment, notwithstanding the verdict, by reason of the non-averment of some material fact, the party whose pleading is thus alleged defective, may, if the court deem it necessary, file a statement of the omitted fact, which, if true, would remedy the alleged defects, and such statement shall be filed before the hearing of the motion, and shall suspend the same. If the facts thus stated would not, if proved, defeat the object of the motion, it shall be granted. If such new averments would, if proved, defeat the object of the motion, and be not admitted, they must be denied or confessed, and avoided by the opposite party, within such time as the court shall direct, unless the same are denied by legal operation, and in such case the law of pleading and of procedure, applicable to actions and pleadings of that kind shall obtain; except that the party stating the new fact shall be held the plaintiff therein, and the statement and response shall not need to be verified.*

SEC. 3120. If the facts thus stated be admitted, or found to be true, the party stating the same shall be entitled to such judgment as he would have been entitled to, if such facts had been stated in the original pleading, and admitted as proved in the trial, together with the costs of; and occasioned by the new pleading and the proceedings therein; but if the fact be found untrue, the opposite party shall be entitled to his costs of,

* This section and the next are from the English Act of 1852, and are well commended. It will not encourage unskillfulness in pleading, for the costs will be a punishment; besides, the party who failed to demur is not blameless. If the real facts have been indisputably proved in the trial, the remedy should be by amendment; but if not, then this furnishes the only remedy, except that of going over the ground again, which would be much waste of time, as all of it has been settled except the one or two omitted facts. and occasioned by the new pleading and the proceedings therein, in addition to any other co-ts to which he may be entitled.

Judgment.

SEC. 3121. Every final adjudication of the rights of the parties in an action, is a judgment and such adjudication may consist of many judgments, one of which judgments may determine for the plaintiff or defendant on the claim of either as an entirety, or when a claim consists of several parts or items, such judgment may be for either of them, on any specific part or item of such aggregate claim, and against him on the other part thereof, or a judgment may in either of these ways determine on the claims of co-parties on the same side against each other.*

*All that which the court in its final adjudication pronounces, constitutes a judgment on each distinct part of such adjudication which establishes a complete right or duty, is the judgment. At common law, there could be but one judgment in an action at law, which was because of the original way by which we are no longer tenant. We unite many of cases of action which before could not be done, because that but one judgment could be at law pronounced, and the united cases would, from the peculiarities of common law, in re-press and debt, for instance demand dissimilar judgments. As we can pronounce dissimilar judgments in one proceed-
SEC. 3122. To avoid a re-examination of questions and issues which have been once satisfactorily settled, and a re-opening of such parts of a cause as have been satisfactorily tried, any party who succeeds in part of his cause, or in part of his causes, and fails as to part, may have the entry in such case express judgment for him for such part as he succeeds upon, and against him on the other part.¹

SEC. 3123. Judgment may be rendered for or against one or more of several plaintiffs, and for or against one or more of several defendants, whether such plaintiffs or defendants be jointly or severally liable, and the court may determine the ultimate rights of the parties, on the same side as between themselves, and may grant to any party any affirmative relief which he may be entitled to, and render judgment accordingly, and may render such and so many judgments, joint, separate, and cross, as may be necessary to express the rights of the parties.

¹ Owing to the fetters imposed by the old original writ, which fetters we remained bound within a long time after the writ itself as a fact had ceased to issue, a judgment at common law was composed of and constituted by the entirety of the adjudication. No part of it was properly called a judgment, nor could anything less than the entirety be objected to on appeal or otherwise. If a plaintiff sued for two horses, and met with a fair legal ruling on the one, but an unfair one on the other, he could not have a judgment for him as to the one and against him as to the other. But a judgment on the two as one demand was rendered, without any regard to the basis of it as on one or the other, and thus it was made impossible to take an appeal on the bad ruling without also abandoning all the advantage of the good one. The plaintiff had the power to withdraw one horse from the consideration of the jury, if he deemed the ruling against him likely to result in his defeat on such one. But if he did not mean to abandon the right to such claim without taking the action of the supreme court thereon, he would need to come before the court again, and probably would have the same ruling made again, after much delay. Besides, he might not be sure that the cause would be defeated by such ruling, and might desire to test the action of the jury thereon. While but a few causes of action could be united, this evil was not so considerable; but now that any number may be, the advantage of such union would be mainly defeated, unless some such provision as this be established. The English practice has for some time allowed a party in a case divisible to obtain from the jury a severance of the verdict in order to secure this end, and in the act of 1852, it was provided that when a case was distributable, the jury should sever as here required. Let us illustrate this a little further. A. sues B. on four notes of $100 each, and asks judgment for $400. Suppose the proof clear as to all, and the legal rulings satisfactory as to three, but adverse as to the plaintiff on the fourth, suppose verdict is undistributed for $300. Now, although every body knows that all that should be reviewed is the ruling as to the fourth note, yet the common judgment does not show that, and because it does not, the plaintiff can not get that bad part reviewed without taking up all the good parts as well. If he does not take up all, he must lose his fourth one hundred dollar note. And if he does, incur the expense and trouble and risk of having to re-try his right on the three notes again, which, besides being a great burden and risk, is a needless repetition of what has been once done well, and an unnecessary consumption without any sensible excuse, of the time of the court. The remedy is to let the verdict finding for him so much money, say on what part of his claim such finding is founded, and let it find against him on the other part. Let judgment conform to the verdict. Now, here is a judgment on a note, to which, by the hypothesis, have been applied instructions which are deemed by the plaintiff wrong, and from this judgment let him appeal, if he desires, in such way that all the rest of the adjudication—the judgment for him for the $300—may be undisturbed and promptly enjoyed.

This principle may be as well applied to a cause of action or claim composed of many items. To replevin or detinue for several distinct pieces of property. To an action for the possession of land in parcels or claimed in distinct rights, &c. Report on Civil Code, p. 327.
The general common law rule that in an action upon an alleged joint contract, the plaintiff must recover against all the defendants or be defeated in the action, has been modified by the code so that a recovery may be had against one of two joint defendants. Therefore, in an action against two persons, on a promissory note, alleged to have been made by them as copartners in their firm name, it was proved that the note was signed by one in the alleged firm name, and that the other was then his wife; held, that the plaintiff could recover against the husband alone. Brownskill v. James, 1 Kern., 284.

The judgment adapts itself, or must be adapted by the court, to the case made by the pleadings and proofs, and the nature of the relief sought. Douglas et al. v. Howland, 11 Ind. R., 554.

An entry of judgment against the defendants will be regarded as a judgment against such only as have been served with process, or have appeared. Clark, et al. v. Finnell, et al., 16 B. M., 334.

Several were sued in trespass, process served on part only, who appeared, and answered, and judgment against them. Held, that the judgment was right, and not reversible, because no disposition was made of the case as to others not served with process. Waller, et al. v. Martin, 17 B. M., 188.

SEC. 3124. Where matter in abatement is plead in connection with other matter not such, the finding of the jury or court must distinguish between matter in abatement and matter in bar, and the judgment must, if it is rendered on the matter in abatement, and not on the merits, so declare.

SEC. 3125. Where any other than a general execution of the common form is required, the party must state in his pleading the facts entitling him thereto, and the judgment may be entered in accordance with the finding of the court or jury thereon.

SEC. 3126. In an action against several defendants, the court may, in its discretion, render judgment for or against one or more of them, whenever a several judgment is proper, leaving the action to proceed against the others.

It is immaterial so far as the defendant is concerned, against whom a judgment is rendered, whether the action is dismissed or continued as to the other defendants, and the objection is not available to such defendant. Simpson, J., Fleety v. Bell, Mss. Opin., Dec., 1855. Stanton's Ky. Code.

It is competent for the plaintiff to dismiss as to part of the defendants, instead of continuing, and where the defendants are joint obligors, such dismissal will not discharge such defendants from liability to contribute to those against whom judgment is rendered. Ibid.

SEC. 3127. An action may be dismissed, and such dismissal shall be without prejudice to a future action:

1. By the plaintiff before the final submission of the case to the jury, or to the court, when the trial is by the court;
2. By the court, when the plaintiff fails to appear when the case is called for trial;
3. By the court, for want of necessary parties, when not made according to the requirement of the court;
4. By the court, on the application of some of the defendants, when there are others whom the plaintiff fails to prosecute with diligence;
5. By the court, for disobedience by the party of an order concerning the pleadings or any proceeding in the action.

Where a defect of parties is made to appear by answer, the court should require the necessary parties to be made, and if not made, dismiss the suit. Carpenter v. Miles, 17 B. M., 602.

The legal effect of an order dismissing the plaintiff's action, for his failure

SEC. 3128. In all other cases upon the trial of the action, the decis-ion must be upon the merits.

SEC. 3129. In any case when a set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand has been filed, the defendant shall have the right of proceeding to the trial of his claim, although the plaintiff may have dismissed his action, or failed to appear.

SEC. 3130. The defendant may also, at any time before the final submission of the cause to the jury or to the court, when the trial is by the court, dismiss his set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, without pre-judice.

SEC. 3131. Any party to any claim may dismiss the same in vaca-costs on dis-mission and the clerk shall make the proper entry of dismissal on the record, and if the costs are not paid, may enter judgment against such party therefor, in favor of the party entitled thereto, and issue execution therefor at the order of such party; the party so dismissing shall be liable for no costs made by the other party after notice to him of such dismissal.

SEC. 3132. Though all the defendants have been served with notice, judgment may be rendered against any of them severally, where the plaintiff would be entitled to judgments against such defendants, if the action had been against such alone.

SEC. 3133. The relief granted to the plaintiff, if there be no answer, can not exceed that which he shall have demanded in his petition. But in any other case the court may grant him any relief consistent with the case made by the petition and embraced within the issue. If the defendant has answered, the court may grant the plaintiff any relief consistent with the case, made by the complaint, and embraced within the issue. In case no answer has been put in, the relief granted can not exceed that demanded in the complaint. In the former case the demand of relief in the case becomes immaterial. The case made by the complaint and the limits of the issue alone determine the extent of the power of the court. These expressions of the statute include the statement of the right of the plaintiff and its infringement by the defendant.

Marquêt v. Marquêt, 2 Kern., 241. Alternative equitable relief may be alleged and obtained now, as heretofore. For instance—a complaint for the restitution of property, as a substantive ground of relief, may allege, 1. That it was mortgaged under a usurious contract, and, 2. That the sale under the foreclosure of the mortgage was void for other reasons. Young v. Edwards, 11 How., 201.

SEC. 3134. Whenever damages are recoverable, the party may claim and recover if he shows himself entitled thereto, any amount of damages which he might have hitherto recovered for the same stated cause of action.

SEC. 3135. If only part of the claim is controverted by the plead-ing, judgment may, at any time, be rendered for the part not contro-verted.

SEC. 3136. When a trial by jury has been had, judgment must be entered by the clerk in conformity with the verdict, unless it is special entered by clerk, or the court orders the case to be reserved for future argument or con-sideration.

SEC. 3137. When the verdict is special, or when there has been a special finding on particular questions of fact, or issues, or when the court has ordered the case to be reserved, it shall order what judgment shall be entered.
Judgment from pleadings.

SEC. 3138. When by the statements of the pleadings, one party is entitled by law to judgment in his favor, judgment shall be so rendered by the court, though a verdict has been found against such party, unless the other party proceed as provided in section 3119.

SEC. 3139. If a set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand established at the time, exceed the plaintiff's claim so established, judgment for the defendant must be given for the excess; or if it appears that the defendant is entitled to any other affirmative relief, judgment must then be given therefor.

Orders, &c., entered of records.

SEC. 3140. All judgments and orders must be entered on the record of the court and specify clearly the relief granted, or order made in the action.

Memorandum of satisfaction.

SEC. 3141. Where a judgment is set aside or satisfied by execution or otherwise, the clerk shall at once enter a memorandum thereof on the column left for that purpose in the judgment docket.

Land case.

SEC. 3142. In cases where the title to land is involved and expressly settled or determined, the clerk shall make a complete record of the whole cause, and enter it in the proper book. But in no other case need a complete entry be made except at the request of a party who will pay the expense of such record.

An agreed judgment.

SEC. 3143. Any judgment in a case pending which may be agreed upon between the parties interested therein, may at any time be entered, and if not done in open court, the judgment agreed to shall be in writing, signed, and filed with the clerk, who shall thereupon enter the same accordingly, and execution thereon may issue forthwith, unless therein otherwise agreed upon between the parties.

No distinction of debt or damages.

SEC. 3144. In all actions where the plaintiff recovers a sum of money, the amount to which he is entitled may be awarded him by the judgment generally without any distinction being therein made as to whether such sum is recovered by way of a debt or damages.

Court jury.

SEC. 3145. The provisions of this chapter relative to juries are intended to be applied to the court when acting as a jury on the trial of a cause so far as they are applicable and not incompatible with other provisions herein contained.

Fraudulent assignment of judgment.

SEC. 3146. A defendant against whom a judgment has been rendered, or any person interested therein having some good matter of discharge which has arisen since the judgment, may, upon motion, in a summary way, have the same discharged either in whole or in part, according to the circumstances.

SEC. 3147. The court shall have power, on motion, to inquire into the facts attending or connected with the assignment of a judgment, or the entry of the same to the use of any party, and to strike out such use, or to declare such assignment void, either in whole or in part, whenever such assignment or use shall be determined to be inequitable or fraudulent, or in bad faith.

Ogilvie & Co., Dec., 1859; see M., 294, as to date from which to compute; where interest alone is payable annually, and is unpaid, it only draws six per cent. interest. Man v. Cross, Dec., 1859; a penalty, not usury, M., 425; 1 G., 128; 3 Iowa, 244; in a penal bond the word penalty can rarely be held to mean liquidated damages, and the word liquidated damages in such bond does not fix the sum beyond question; but whether the sum named in a penal bond be penalty or liquidated damages, must be tried by consideration of all the circumstances of the parties to the instrument, 4 Iowa, 1; when an employer and employee, or services rendered, settle what shall be paid therefor and when, an employee sues for higher wages, he may be met by such settlement and it will define his rights—such is not accord and satisfaction—nor does the principle, that a creditor of a larger liquidated sum cannot be held by an agreement, without consideration, to take, therefore, a smaller sum, apply, 4 Iowa, 219; if vendor of land with warranty, sue vendor on notes given for the price, the vendor may reply, that the vendor's title to part of said land was not good, and may deduct from the notes such sum as he reasonably paid for the outstanding title, 5 Iowa, 408; in suit to recover the penalty of a bond the plaintiff makes his inquest of damages, subject to the limitation of the penalty, 5 Iowa, 354.
A judgment cannot be given for a larger sum than that demanded in the petition, 5 Iowa, 505; demurrer to evidence, 4 G., 31; 1 G., 541; 4 Iowa, 63; no longer available under the Code of Civil Practice; no fact can be held as res adjudicata, except such fact as was an ultimate fact, put directly in issue and decided, 4 Iowa, 199; identicalness of parties is not always demanded to admit a defense of res adjudicata, 4 Iowa, 216; esse fames on judgment can only be brought in the county of the judgment, 5 Iowa, 506; a prior judgment is a bar only as to the point in issue, actually determined on the merits between the same parties, 4 Iowa, 292; an irregular judgment is conclusive while unreversed, 4 Iowa, 292; on a judgment against a corporation, a judgment that execution issue against the private property of members, is one which may be appealed from, and such judgment can not be questioned in a proceeding to enjoin the issuance of execution thereon, 4 Iowa, 13; when a demurrer has been sustained to the answer and defendant does not amend, the case stands as if judgment by default were had, and defendant can only appear to cross-examine, and can not ask for a new suit; in such case no judgment can be held on a note, unless it be produced, 5 Iowa, 290.

Default.

Sec. 3148. If a party fail to file or amend his pleading by the time prescribed by the rules of pleading, or in the absence of rules by the time fixed by the court; or if having plead, his answer, or reply, on motion or demurrer is held insufficient or is struck out, and he fail to amend or to answer or reply further as required by the rules of or by the court, or if he withdraw his pleading without authority, or permission to replead, judgment by default may be rendered against him on demand of the adverse party, made before such pleading is filed.

Sec. 3149. Where no appearance is made, default shall not be had until the court determines, from an inspection of the record, that notice has been given as required by this code.

Sec. 3150. Default may be set aside on such terms as the court may deem just, among which must be that of pleading issuably and instanter, but not unless an affidavit of merits be filed, and a reasonable excuse be shown for having made such default, nor unless application therefor be made at the term in which default was entered, or if entered in vacation, then on the first day of the succeeding term.

After judgment by default, it is irregular to move for leave to plead, before a motion to set aside the judgment is made. Hickman v. Barnes, 1 Mo. Rep., 110. If a party, by negligence, suffer judgment by default to go against him, it will not be set aside to admit a defense which the party might have made had he used due diligence. Weimer v. Morris, 7 Mo. Rep., 6. Something more than a mere affidavit of merits is necessary to authorize the circuit court to set aside a judgment by default. The "good cause" required to be shown, must not only be a meritorious defense, but the exercise of due diligence. Hickman v. Barnes, 1 Mo. Rep., 110. If a party, by negligence, suffer judgment by default to go against him, it will not be set aside to admit a defense which the party might have made had he used due diligence. Weimer v. Morris, 7 Mo. Rep., 6.

Sec. 3151. When the action is for a money demand, and the amount of the proper judgment is a mere matter of computation, the clerk shall ascertain the amount. When long accounts are to be examined, the court may refer the matter. In other cases, the court shall assess the damages, unless a jury be demanded by the party not in default. The proper amount having been ascertained by either of the above methods, judgment shall be rendered therefor.

Sec. 3152. The party in default may appear at the time of the assessment and cross-examine the witnesses against him, but for no other purpose.

Sec. 3153. (1833.) When the proceedings are of an equitable character, the court upon reading the pleadings and proofs, and hearing the testimony offered, shall render such judgment as is consistent with the rules heretofore observed in chancery cases.

Sec. 3154. A defendant served by publication alone, shall be allowed at any time before judgment, to appear and defend the action, and upon a substantial defense being declared, time may be given, on reasonable terms, to prepare for trial.

Sec. 3155. When the plaintiff files with the petition, his own affidavit, stating that any of the allegations of the petition recited in said affidavit are true, and known to be so by the defendant, and that they can not be proved or shown otherwise than by his testimony or his answer, so far as affiant knows or believes; such allegations, unless denied by an answer, shall be taken as true.

Sec. 3156. Before a judgment is rendered against a defendant served by publication alone, and who has not appeared, it shall be necessary that a bond be executed to such defendant by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to the effect that if the defendant within the period prescribed by law, shall appear, make defense and set aside the judgment, the plaintiff shall restore to him the property taken under any attachment in the action, or under the judgment thereon, the restoration of which may be adjudged, and pay to the defendant such sums of money as the court may award to him.

The taking of the bond required by civil code, is a pre-requisite, which can not be dispensed with, unless the court retains control of the proceeds of the attached effects. Stiles, J., Pettitt v. Perry, Miss. opin., January, 1855.

The failure to execute a bond to a defendant, constructively summoned, required by section 449, is fatal to the judgment, though not to the sale made
SEC. 3157. If such bond is not given, the court may enter a judgment ascertaining the rights of the parties, but shall retain control over and preserve any money or property, or the proceeds thereof which may have been attached in the action until the expiration of the period allowed to the defendant in which to appear and make defense; when if no defense is made, such money or property, or its proceeds shall be delivered according to the judgment.

SEC. 3158. Before rendering judgment against a defendant served by publication alone, and who has not appeared, the court shall cause the plaintiff to appear personally in court or before a referee, and answer under oath, interrogatories concerning the matters in the petition or any matters of defense thereto, including matters of set-off or counter-claim, and may order the examination to be reduced to writing, and filed with the papers of the action.

SEC. 3159. If upon the examination provided in the last section, any matters of set-off or counter-claim are disclosed, the same may be adjusted and allowed in the judgment.

SEC. 3160. When a judgment has been rendered against a defendant or defendants, served by publication only, and who do not appear, such defendants, or any one or more of them, or any person legally representing him or them, may at any time within two years after the rendition of the judgment, appear in court, and move to have the action re-tried; and security for the costs being given, they shall be admitted to make defense; and thereupon the action shall be re-tried as to such defendants, as if there had been no judgment, and upon the new trial, the court may confirm the former judgment, or may modify or set it aside, and may order the plaintiff to restore any money of such defendant paid to him under it, and yet remaining in his possession, and pay to the defendant the value of any such property which may have been taken in attachment in the action, or under the judgment, and not restored.

The provision of the code, allowing an absent defendant constructively served with process, to appear in the circuit court, at any time within five years after judgment, and move a re-trial of the action, does not preclude him from reversing an erroneous judgment against him, at any time, for errors apparent in the record. If the judgment be apparently regular, but unjustly obtained, he may pursue the other course. Payne v. Witherspoon, 14 B. M., 272.

SEC. 3161. The plaintiff may at any time after the judgment, cause a certified copy thereof to be served on a defendant, served by publication only, whereupon the period in which such defendant is allowed to appear and have a new trial, shall be reduced to one year after such service.

SEC. 3162. The service of the copy of the judgment shall be, whether made within or without the state, actual and personal, by delivery of copy, and made and returned, as in case of original notice.

SEC. 3163. The title of a purchaser in good faith to any property sold under an attachment or judgment, shall not be affected by the new trial permitted by section 3160, except the title of property obtained by the plaintiff and not bought of him in good faith by others.

SEC. 3164. No personal judgment shall be rendered against a defendant served by publication only, who has not made an appearance. But a personal judgment shall be rendered against a defendant whether he appear or not who has been served in any mode in this code provided, other than by publication, whether served within or without this state.*

DECISIONS UNDER THE PRIOR PRACTICE. A judgment by default admits the averment of the cause of action as alleged in the petition, and that something is due but is not a confession of any fact necessary to be proved on the assessment of damages, and the clerk can make proof of any fact and is authorized on default to assess where it is a mere matter of computation, 5 Iowa, 464; a complainant must show himself entitled to relief even against a defaulting defendant, 4 Iowa, 416; only on demands of mere computation can the judgment be entered on the clerk's assessment, 5 Iowa, 472; a motion may save default, 4 G., 118; so of an insufficient answer which has not been assailed as such, 1 Iowa, 528; court's discretion to vacate decree by default, 3 G., 415; nolle prosequi as to a part of the defendants, not retraxit or release of rest, 4 Iowa, 475; see case declining to observe a rule, &c., 3 G., 487; plea saves default, 2 G., 318; sufficient record, aversion of default, 4 Iowa, 72; see 4 G., 493; court may assess damages, 119, 5 Iowa, 465; co-defendant in default on joint note bound by assessment of jury as to other co-defendant, 1 G., 388; also to assess, 3 G., 125, 1 G., 365, 2 Iowa, 30, 6 ibid., 598; 4 ibid., 72; 5 ibid., 463; Slaight et al. v. Hutton, June, 1859; a denial of demand of so much money held to be no answer, and not to save default, Mann v. * A judgment obtained in this state in order to be of value as a judgment, when taken to another state, must have been obtained on the kind of notice which was the mode when the United States' constitution provided for giving extra-state force to judgments of sister states—the common law mode. Each state has since then invented other modes of getting notice. Each state has a right to make what law she likes as to the kind of notice which must be given to a defendant. But whenever such modes are not or do not include the modes of the common law, such judgment would be of no force in a sister state, as a personal judgment. As between a personal judgment and one in rem, good sense seems to demand that a personal notice wherever made should entitle to a personal judgment, and that notice by publication ought should only entitle to one in rem. Most of the reasons have ceased to exist, which formerly prevented this. The notice which can be served anywhere stands instead of the summons which was not of value out of the jurisdiction. The judgment now, too, is seldom to be enforced by personal restraint, and is chiefly satisfied with property. If the defendant has title, or shall in future have any property within the state whose laws provide for his personal service with notice without such state, he certainly, to the extent of that property which solicits and receives the protection of such state, should render to her allegiance. This principle is recognized in the judgment ad rem. But the advantage of the proposed extension is this: the judgment in rem is measured by the property in court, which may be quite insufficient to discharge the claim, and if the defendant brings more into the jurisdiction subsequently, the plaintiff has to repeat his process by another suit, and, perhaps, by many in succession, at cost and trouble, before he makes his debt, while by this plan, having got a personal notice anywhere, he has a personal judgment, good here at least, and which may be extended over any property of the defendant, then, or afterwards, within this state. The possible service of notice on one without the jurisdiction has been the law of France, at least since the Code Napoleon, and has been the law of England, at least, since 1852, with the difference that when an English subject is served abroad, he is served with a summons as if at home, and when one not a subject is served, it is with a notice telling him that a summons has been issued. The great good sense of the codifiers of 1851, got rid of this distinction by the use of the notice in all cases. It is necessary, for a judgment to be personal by our system against one who has not been in fact personally served, if the same be against a resident. But if the service is made out of this state, it must be actually personal. Report on Civil Code, p. 329.

CHAPTER 124.

ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT.

[Code—Chapter 109.]

Property may be attached.

Sec. 3172. (1846.) The plaintiff in a civil action may cause any property of the defendant which is not exempt from execution, to be attached at the commencement or during the progress of the proceeding, by pursuing the course hereinafter prescribed.

Separate petition.

Sec. 3173. (1847.) If it be subsequent to the commencement of the action, a separate petition must be filed, and in all cases the proceeding relative to the attachment are to be deemed independent of the ordinary proceedings and only auxiliary thereto.

Sec. 3174. The petition which asks an attachment must, in all cases, Petition must be sworn to. It must state: 1. That the defendant is a foreign corporation, or acting as such; or, 2. That he is a non-resident of the state; or,
3. That he is in some manner about to dispose of or remove his property out of the state, without leaving sufficient remaining for the payment of his debts; or, 4. That he has disposed of his property (in whole or in part) with intent to defraud his creditors; or, 5. That he has absconded, so that the ordinary process can not be served upon him; or, 6. That he is about to remove permanently out of the county, and has property therein not exempt from execution, with which he refuses to pay or to secure the debt due to the plaintiff residing in such county; or, 7. That he is about to remove permanently out of the state and refuses to pay or secure the debt of the plaintiff.

Sec. 3175. (1849.) If the plaintiff's demand is founded on contract, the petition must state that something is due, and as nearly as practicable, the amount, which must be more than five dollars in order to authorize an attachment.

Sec. 3176. (1850.) The amount thus sworn to is intended as a guide to the sheriff, who must, as nearly as the circumstances of the case will permit, levy upon property fifty per cent, greater in value than that amount.

Sec. 3177. (1851.) If the demand is not founded on contract, the original petition must be presented to some judge of the supreme or district court, or the judge of the county court, who shall make an allowance thereon of the amount in value of the property that may be attached. The provisions of this section apply only to cases in the district court.

Sec. 3178. (1852.) The property of a debtor may be attached previous to the time when the debt becomes due, when nothing but time is wanting to fix an absolute indebtedness and when the petition in addition to that fact states: 1. That the defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; or, 2. That he is about to remove from the state, and refuses to make any arrangements for securing the payment of the debt when it falls due, and which contemplated removal was not known to the plaintiff at the time the debt was contacted.

Sec. 3179. If the debt or demand on which the attachment suit is brought, is not due at the time of the service of the attachment, the defendant is not required to file any pleadings until the maturity of such debt or demand; but he may, in his discretion, do so, and go to trial as early as the cause is reached.

Sec. 3180. And no final judgment shall be rendered upon such attachment, unless the party consents, as in the last section, until the debt or demand upon which it is based becomes due. But property of a perishable nature may be sold as in other attachment cases.

Sec. 3181. Before any attachment can be issued as aforesaid, the plaintiff must file with the clerk a bond, for the use of the defendant, with sureties to be approved by the clerk, in a penalty at least double the value of the property sought to be attached, and in no case less than two hundred and fifty dollars, in the district court, nor less than fifty dollars, if in a justice's court, conditioned that the plaintiff will pay all damages, which the defendant may sustain, by reason of the wrongful suining out of the attachment.
ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT. [PART 3.

Additional security. Sec. 3182. The defendant may, at any time before judgment, move the court for additional security on the part of the plaintiff, and if, on such motion, the court is satisfied that the surety in the plaintiff's bond has removed from this state, or is not sufficient, it may vacate the writ of attachment, and direct restitution of any property taken under it, unless in a reasonable time, to be fixed by the court, and within two clear days thereafter, sufficient security is given by the plaintiff.

Suit on bond. Sec. 3183. In an action on such bond the plaintiff therein may recover, if he shows that the attachment was wrongfully sued out, such damages as he has thereby suffered, and if sued out maliciously as well as wrongfully, the jury may, on such trial, give vindictive damages, in their discretion, nor need he wait until the principal suit is determined before he bring suit on the bond.

Writ may run into other county. Sec. 3184. Where suits are properly commenced in the district court of any county, the auxiliary process of attachment may run at the same time into any other county where property of the defendant can be found, and several of them may, at the option of the plaintiff, be issued at the same time or in succession and subsequently, but only those executed shall be taxed in the costs, and if more property is attached in the aggregate than the plaintiff is entitled to hold in that manner, he must abandon the surplus and pay all costs incurred in relation to it.

Form of it. Sec. 3185. (1856.) The clerk shall issue a writ of attachment directing the sheriff of the county therein named to attach the property of the defendant to the requisite amount therein stated.

Sheriff's duty. Sec. 3186. (1857.) The sheriff shall, in all cases, attach the amount of property directed, if sufficient, not exempt from execution, be found in his county, giving that in which the defendant has a legal and unquestionable title, a preference over that in which his title is doubtful or only equitable.

Order of execution of writ. Sec. 3187. Where there are several writs of attachment against the same defendant, they shall be executed in the order in which they were received by the sheriff.

Pursue property. Sec. 3188. It, after a writ of attachment has been placed in the hands of the sheriff, any property of the defendant is removed from the county, the sheriff may pursue and attach the same in an adjoining county, within twenty-four hours after the removal.

Defendant may be examined on oath. Sec. 3189. Whenever it appears by the affidavit of the plaintiff, or by the return of the writ of attachment, that no property is known to the plaintiff, or the officer, on which the order of attachment can be executed, or not enough to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, and it also appears to the court, by affidavit, that the defendant has property within the state, not exempt from the writ, the defendant may be required by the court to attend before it, and give information on oath respecting his property.

Partnership and also joint property. Sec. 3190. The sheriff shall not, on attachment against a member of a firm, take possession of partnership property: and in executing a writ of attachment upon personal property held by the defendant jointly or in common with another person, he shall not take possession of such property until there has been executed a bond to such other person, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to the effect, that he shall pay to such person the damages he may sustain by the wrongful suing out of the attachment, not exceeding double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, or double the value of the property, if the latter be the larger sum; but such owner or such firm may be garnished, and such property thereby reached.
Sec. 3191. If the defendant at any time before judgment causes a bond to be executed to the plaintiff, by one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court, or by the judge, to the effect that the defendant shall perform the judgment of the court, the attachment shall be discharged and restitution made of any property taken under it, or the proceeds thereof.

Sec. 3192. The bond mentioned in the last section, may, in vacation, be executed in the presence of the sheriff, having the writ of attachment in his hands; or after the return of the writ before the clerk, with the same effect upon the attachment, as if executed in court. The sureties in either case to be approved by the officer before whom taken.

Sec. 3193. Such bond shall be part of the record, and if judgment go against the defendant the same shall be entered against him and the sureties of said bond.

Sec. 3194. (1859 and 1860.) Stock or interest owned by the defendant in any company, and also debts due him, or property of his held by third persons, may be attached, and the mode of attachment must be as follows: 1. By giving the defendant in the action, if found within the county, and also the person occupying, or in possession of the property, if it be in the hands of a third person, notice of such attachment. 2. If the property is capable of manual delivery, the sheriff must take it into his custody, if it can be found. 3. Stock in a company is attached by notifying the president or other head of the company, or the secretary, cashier, or other managing agent thereof, of the fact that the stock has been so attached. 4. Debts due the defendant, or property of his held by third persons, and which cannot be found, or the title to which is doubtful, are attached by garnishment thereof.

Sec. 3195. The attachment by garnishment is effected by informing the supposed debtor or person holding the property, that he is attached as garnishee, and by leaving with him a written notice to the effect that he is required not to pay any debt due by him to the defendant, or thereafter to become due, and that he must retain possession of all property of the said defendant then or thereafter being in his custody, or under his control, in order that the same may be dealt with according to law, and the sheriff shall summon such persons as garnishees, as the plaintiff may direct.

Sec. 3196. A sheriff or constable may be garnished for money of the defendant in his hands. So may a judgment-debtor of the defendant, when the judgment has not been previously assigned on the record or by writing filed in the office of the clerk, and by him minuted as an assignment on the margin of the judgment docket, and also an executor for money due from the decedent to the defendant may be garnished, but a municipal or political corporation shall not be garnished.

Sec. 3197. Where the property to be attached is a fund in court, the execution of the writ of attachment shall be by leaving with the clerk of the court, a copy thereof with a notice specifying the fund.

Sec. 3198. If the garnishee die after he has been summoned by garnishment, and pending the litigation, the proceedings may be revived by or against his heirs or legal representatives.

Sec. 3199. Unless exempted, as provided in the next section, the garnishee to appear on the first day of the next term of the district court, wherein the main cause is depending, or on the day fixed for trial if in a justice's court, and answer such interrogatories as may be then propounded to him, or that he will be
ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT. [PART 3.

SEC. 3200. (1864.) The plaintiff may, in writing, direct the sheriff to take the answer of the garnishee, and append the same to his return.

SEC. 3201. (1865.) In such case the sheriff has power to administer an oath to garnishees, requiring them to make true answers to the questions to be propounded, which questions shall be as follows:

1. Are you in any manner indebted to the defendant in this suit, or do you owe him money or property, which is not yet due? If so, state the particulars.

2. Have you in your possession, or under your control, any property, rights or credits of the said defendant? If so, what is the value of the same, and state all particulars.

3. Do you know of any debts owing to the said defendant, whether due or not due, or any property, rights, or credits belonging to him, and now in the possession or under the control of others? If so, state the particulars.

SEC. 3202. If the garnishee refuses to answer fully and unequivocally all the foregoing interrogatories, he shall be notified and required to appear and answer on the first day of the next term of the district court, or on the day fixed for trial, as above provided, and so he may be required in any event, if the plaintiff so notify him.

SEC. 3203. (1867.) The questions propounded to the garnishee in court, may be such as are above prescribed, to be asked by the sheriff, and such others as the court may think proper and right.

SEC. 3204. (1868.) Where the garnishee is required to appear at court, unless he has refused to answer, as contemplated above, he is entitled to the pay and mileage of an ordinary witness, and may, in like manner, require payment before hand, in order to be made liable for non-attendance.

SEC. 3205. (1869.) If, when duly summoned, and his fees tendered, (when demanded,) he fail to appear and answer the interrogatories propounded to him without sufficient excuse for his delinquency, he shall be presumed to be indebted to the defendant to the full amount of the plaintiff's demand, and shall be dealt with accordingly.

SEC. 3206. (1870.) But for a mere failure to appear, he is not liable to pay the amount of the plaintiff's judgment, until he has had an opportunity to show cause against the issuing of an execution.

SEC. 3207. (1871.) A garnishee may, at any time after answer, exonerate himself from further responsibility, by paying over to the sheriff the amount owing by him to the defendant, and by placing at the sheriff's disposal the property of the defendant, or so much of said debts and property as is equal to the value of the property to be attached, all of which may afterwards be treated as though attached in the usual manner.

SEC. 3208. When the answer of the garnishee is made, whether at the district court or before the justice, or before the sheriff, the plaintiff may controvert by pleading filed, any facts contained in the answer, and specifically set out by the plaintiff, and issue being thereupon joined, may be tried in the usual manner. Upon such trial the answer of the garnishee is competent testimony.

SEC. 3209. If in any of the above methods, it is made to appear that the garnishee was indebted to the defendant, or had any of the defendant's property in his hands, either at the time of being served with the garnishee notice aforesaid, or at any time subsequent thereto, he is liable to the plaintiff, in case judgment is finally recovered by him to the full amount of that judgment, or to the amount of such indebtedness, and of the property so held by him, and a conditional judgment shall be entered up against him accordingly, unless he prefers paying or delivering the same to the sheriff as above provided.

Sec. 3210. If the debt of the garnishee to the defendant is not due, if not yet due, execution will be suspended until its maturity.

Sec. 3211. The garnishee shall not be made liable on a debt due by negotiable or assignable paper, unless such paper is delivered, or the garnishee completely exonerated or indemnified from all liability thereon, after he may have satisfied the judgment.

Sec. 3212. The judgment in the garnishment suit, condemnation of the property or debt in the hands of the garnishee, to the satisfaction of the plaintiff's demand, is conclusive between the garnishee and defendant.

Sec. 3213. The docketing of the original case shall contain a statement of all the garnishments therein, and when judgment is rendered against a garnishee, the same shall distinctly refer to the original judgment.

Sec. 3214. An appeal lies, in all garnishment cases, at the instance of the plaintiff, the defendant, the garnishee, or an intervenor claiming the property or money.

Sec. 3215. (1874) Property attached otherwise than by garnishment is bound thereby, from the time of the service of the attachment.

Sec. 3216. The court before whom the action is pending, or the Receiver, judge thereof, in vacation may, at any time appoint a receiver to take possession of property attached under the provisions of this chapter, and to collect, manage and control the same, and pay over the proceeds according to the nature of the property and exigency of the case.

Sec. 3217. All money attached by the sheriff, or coming into his hands by virtue of the proceeding in attachment, shall forthwith be paid over to the clerk to be by him retained till the further action of the court.

Sec. 3218. The sheriff shall make such disposition of other attached property as may be directed by the court or judge, and where there is no direction upon the subject, he shall safely keep the property, subject to the order of the court.

Sec. 3219. The defendant, or any person in whose possession any attached property is found, or any person making affidavit that he has an interest in it, may, at any time before judgment, discharge the property attached, or any part thereof, by giving bond with security, to be approved by the sheriff, in a penalty at least double the value of the property sought to be released, but if that sum would exceed three times the claim, then in such sum as equals three times the claim, conditioned that such property, or its estimated value, shall be delivered to the sheriff to satisfy any judgment which may be obtained against the defendant in that suit, within twenty days after the rendition thereof. This bond shall be filed with the clerk of the court.

Sec. 3220. To determine the value of the property in cases where a bond is to be given, unless the parties agree otherwise, the sheriff shall summon two disinterested persons having the qualification of jurors, who, after being sworn by him to make the appraisement faithfully and impartially, shall proceed to the discharge of their duty. If such persons disagree as to the value of the property, the sheriff shall decide between them.

SEC. 3221. (1879.) In an action brought upon the bond above contemplated, it shall be a sufficient defense that the property for the delivery of which the bond was given, did not, at the time of the levy, belong to the defendant against whom the attachment was issued.

SEC. 3222. When the sheriff thinks the property attached in danger of serious and immediate waste and decay, or when the plaintiff makes affidavit to that effect, the sheriff may summon three persons having the qualifications of jurors, to examine the same. The sheriff shall give the defendant, if within the county, two clear days' notice of such hearing, and he may appear before such jury and have a personal hearing. If they are of the opinion that the property requires soon to be disposed of, they shall specify in writing, a day beyond which they do not deem it prudent that it should be kept in the hands of the sheriff. If such day occur before the trial day, he shall thereupon give the same notice as for goods in execution, and for the same length of time, unless the condition of the property renders a more immediate sale necessary. The sale shall be made accordingly. If the defendant gives his written consent, such sale may be made without such finding of three men.

SEC. 3223. The money arising from such sale shall remain in the hands of the clerk to abide the event of the suit.

SEC. 3224. The sheriff shall return upon every writ of attachment, what he has done under it. The return must show the property attached, the time it was attached, and the disposition made of it, by a full and particular inventory; also, the appraisement above contemplated, when such has been made. Where garnishees are summoned, their names, and the time each was summoned, must be stated. And where real property is attached, the sheriff shall describe it with sufficient certainty to identify it, and where he can do so, by a reference to the book and page where the deed under which the defendant holds is recorded. He shall return with the writ all bonds taken under it. Such return must be made immediately after he shall have attached sufficient property, or all that he can find; or, at latest, on the first day of the term on which the defendant is notified to appear.

Specific Attachments.

SEC. 3225. In an action to enforce a mortgage of, or lien upon, personal property, or for the recovery, partition or sale of such property, or by a plaintiff having a future estate or interest therein, for the security of his rights, where it satisfactorily appears by the petition, verified on oath, or by affidavits or the proofs in the cause, that the plaintiff has a just claim, and that the property is about to be sold, concealed, or removed from the state, or where the plaintiff states, on oath, that he has reasonable cause to believe, and does believe, unless prevented by the court, the property will be sold, concealed or removed from the state, an attachment may be granted against the property.

SEC. 3226. In an action by a vendor of property, fraudulently purchased, to vacate the contract and have a restoration of the property, or compensation therefor, where the petition shows such fraudulent purchase of property, and the amount of the plaintiff's claim, and is verified by his oath, an attachment against the property may be granted.

SEC. 3227. The attachments in the cases mentioned in the two last sections, may be granted by the court in which the action is brought, or by the judge thereof, or the judge of the county court, upon such terms and conditions as to security on the part of the plaintiff, for the damages which may be occasioned by them, and with such directions as to the disposition to be made of the attached property, as may be just and proper, under the circumstances of each case.

Sec. 3228. In every case the plaintiff shall be required to give security for the damages to the defendant, in an adequate sum to be specified in the order granting the attachment; and where it may be proper the court or judge may direct that the defendant in possession of the attached property, shall be permitted to retain it upon giving such bond with security, and for such sum as the court or judge may prescribe.

Sec. 3229. No writ of attachment shall be issued by the clerk until bond the bond on the part of the plaintiff required by the order of the court or judge, is executed in his office, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff.

Sec. 3230. The writ of attachment shall describe the specific property against which it is issued, and shall have indorsed upon it the direction of the court or judge, as to the disposition to be made of the attached property. It shall be directed, executed, and returned, as other writs of attachment.

Sec. 3231. The court may, in any of the cases mentioned under this head of specific attachments, direct the terms and conditions of the bond to be executed by the defendant, with security, in order to obtain a discharge of the attachment.

Sec. 3232. If judgment is rendered for the plaintiff, the court shall apply in satisfaction thereof:

1. The money arising from the sales of perishable property.
2. The proceeds of the debts and funds attached in the hands of the garnishee. If these are not sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, the court shall order a sale by the sheriff, of any other attached property which may be under his control.

Sec. 3233. The court may, from time to time, make and enforce proper orders respecting the property, sales, and the application of the moneys collected.

Sec. 3234. The sheriff shall be allowed by the court the necessary expenses of keeping the attached property, to be paid by the plaintiff and taxed in the costs.

Sec. 3235. Any surplus of the attached property and its proceeds shall be returned to the defendant.

Sec. 3236. If judgment is rendered in the action for the defendant, the attachment shall be discharged, and the property attached, or its proceeds shall be returned to him.

Sec. 3237. Any person other than the defendant, may, before the sale of any attached property, or before the payment to the plaintiff of the proceeds thereof, or any attached debt, present his petition verified by oath, to the court, disputing the validity of the attachment, or stating a claim to the property or money, or to an interest in, or lien on it, under any other attachment, or otherwise, and setting forth the facts upon which such claim is founded; and the petitioner's claim shall be in a summary manner investigated. The court may hear the proof or order a reference, or may empanel a jury to inquire into the facts. If it is found that the petitioner has title to, a lien on, or any interest in such property, the court shall make such order as may be necessary to protect his rights. The costs of such proceedings shall be paid by either party, at the discretion of the court.
ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT. [PART 3.

Defendant's remedy is on the bond—counterclaim.

SEC. 3238. The fact stated as a cause of attachment, shall not be contested in the action by a mere defense. The defendant's remedy shall be on the bond, but he may, in his discretion, sue thereon, by way of counter-claim or cross-demand, and in such case, shall recover damages as in an original action on such bond.

Motion to discharge.

SEC. 3239. A motion may be made to discharge the attachment, or any part thereof, at any time before trial, for insufficiency of statement of cause thereof, or for other cause making it apparent of record that the writ should not have issued, or should not have been levied on all or on some part of the property held.

Appeal from discharge.

SEC. 3240. When an attachment has been discharged, if the plaintiff then announce his purpose to appeal from such order of discharge, he shall have two clear days in which to perfect his appeal, and during that time such discharge shall not operate a return of the property, nor divest any lien, if such appeal be so perfected at the end thereof.

Sec. 3241. But if judgment in the cause of action be also given against the plaintiff, he must also, within the same time, take his appeal thereon, or such discharge shall be final.

SEC. 3242. The attachment law shall be liberally construed, and the plaintiff, before or during trial, shall be permitted to amend any defect of form, in the affidavit, bond, attachment, or other proceeding; and no attachment shall be dismissed for any defect in, or want of bond, if the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, will at once substitute a sufficient bond, but the statements of cause of attachment shall not be amended, nor shall such cause be stated in the alternative but the cause or causes relied on shall each be stated in a direct and categorical manner, or shall be insufficient.

Notice of attachment.

SEC. 3243. No levy of attachment on real estate shall be notice to a subsequent bona fide vendee or encumbrancer, unless the sheriff making such levy shall have entered in a book which shall be kept in the clerk's office of each county by the clerk thereof, and called incumbrance book, a statement that the land, describing it, has been attached, and stating the cause in which it was so attached, and when it was done, and signed by such sheriff—and such book shall be open as other books kept by such clerk, to public inspection.

Sheriff; constable.

SEC. 3244. (1883.) The word "sheriff" as used in this chapter, is meant to apply to constables when the proceedings are in a justice's court or the like officer of any other court.

Justice; clerk.

SEC. 3245. (1884.) When the proceedings are in a justice's court, the justice is to be regarded as the clerk of the court for all the purposes herein contemplated.

Garnishee now offered to answer it, but was not allowed, and judgment was rendered against him as for want of an answer. Held error, 5 Iowa, 316.
SECTION 3246. Executions may issue at any time before the judgment is barred by the statute of limitations, and but one execution shall be in existence at the same time.

SEC. 3247. Judgments or orders requiring the payment of money, or the delivery of the possession of property are to be enforced by execution. Obedience to those requiring the performance of any other act, is to be coerced by attachment for contempt.

SEC. 3248. (1838.) Executions from the district court may issue in the first instance into any county which the party ordering them may direct.

SEC. 3249. When a judgment has been obtained in one county of this state, and the judgment creditor desires to send an execution into another county, he must also, if it has not been already done, send to be filed in such county a transcript of such judgment, and the sheriff of such county to whom an execution may come from another county, shall return to the clerk of his county a copy of such execution and all his doings thereon, which shall be treated by the clerk of such county, and such entries made in regard thereto, as if such execution had issued in that case from his office, to the end that the record in his county may show all incumbrances by attachment or judgment on any lands therein, and all partial or total discharges of the same.

SEC. 3250. (1889.) When sent into any county other than that in which the judgment was rendered, return may be made by mail. But money can not thus be sent, except by the direction of the party entitled thereto, or his attorney.

SEC. 3251. The execution must intelligibly refer to the judgment, stating the time and place at which it was rendered, the names of the parties to the action as well as to the judgment, its amount, and the amount still to be collected thereon, if for money; and, if not for money, it must state what specific act is required to be performed. If it be against the property of the judgment debtor, it shall require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment and interest out of the property of the debtor subject to execution.

SEC. 3252. If it be against real or personal property in the hands of personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees, tenants of real property, or trustees, it shall require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment and interest out of such property.

SEC. 3253. If it be for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property it shall require the sheriff to deliver the possession of the same, particularly describing it, to the party entitled thereto, and may at the same time require the sheriff to satisfy any costs, damages, or rents and profits, with interest recovered by the same judgment out of the property of the party against whom it was rendered, subject to execution, and the value of the property for which judgment was recovered, to be specified therein, if a delivery thereof can not be had, and shall in that respect be deemed an execution against property.

SEC. 3254. When it requires the performance of any other act, a certified copy of the judgment may be served on the person against whom it is given, or upon the person or officer, who is required thereby, or by law to obey the same, and his obedience thereto enforced.

Receipt therefor.

Sec. 3255. Every officer to whose hands an execution may legally come, shall give a receipt therefor, if required, stating the hour when the same was received, and shall make sufficient return thereof, together with the money collected, on or before the seventieth day from such delivery.

Judgment against husband and wife.

Sec. 3256. (1891.) Where the judgment is against husband and wife, the execution may issue against the property of either or both of them.

Indorsement to be made by officer.

Sec. 3257. The officer to whom an execution is legally issued, shall indorse thereon, the day and hour when he received it, and the levy, sale, or other act done by virtue thereof, with the date, and the dates and amounts of any receipts or payment in satisfaction thereof; the indorsements must be made at the time of the receipt or act done.

Rights of surety.

Sec. 3258. When a judgment is against a principal and his surety, it shall be the duty of the officer having the collection thereof, to exhaust the property of the principal before proceeding to sell that of the surety.

Surety embraces.

Sec. 3259. The term "surety," in the foregoing section, shall embrace accommodation indorsers, stayers, and all other persons whose liability on the claim is posterior to that of another; but the surety shall, if requested by the officer, show property of the principal, to entitle himself to the benefit of this provision.

Property subjected in the order of liability.

Sec. 3260. After exhausting the property of the principal, it shall be the duty of the officer to subject the property of the other parties in the order of their liability in the execution. But the party subsequently liable, shall, if requested by the officer, show property of the party liable before him, so as to entitle himself to the benefit of this provision.

All held equal unless.

Sec. 3261. But all the parties will be considered as equally liable in all cases, unless the order of liability is shown to the court, and recited in the judgment, and the clerk issuing execution on the judgment containing such recital, shall state the order of liability in the execution.

Officer’s duty as to execution of writ.

Sec. 3262. When an execution is delivered to an officer, he must proceed to execute the same with diligence; if executed, an exact description of the property, at length, with the date of the levy, shall be indorsed upon or appended to the execution, and if the writ was not executed, or only executed in part, the reason in such case must be stated in the return.

Sunday.

Sec. 3263. An execution may be issued and executed on Sunday, whenever an affidavit shall be filed by the plaintiff or some person in his behalf, stating that he believes he will lose his judgment unless process issue on that day.

Sheriff’s successor.

Sec. 3264. If the sheriff die or go out of office before the return of any execution, his successor, or other officer authorized to discharge the duties of the office in such case, may proceed thereon in the same manner that the sheriff should have done.

Execution at once issued and duty of clerk regarding it.

Sec. 3265. Upon the rendition of judgment, execution may be at once issued, and shall be by the clerk, on the demand of the party entitled thereto, and upon its issuance, the clerk shall enter on the judgment docket the date of its issuance, and to what county and officer issued, and shall also enter on said docket the return of the officer with the date of the return, the dates and amount of all monies received into or paid out of the office thereon, and these entries shall be made at the time of the thing done.

Clerk’s fine if derelict.

Sec. 3266. The clerk willfully neglecting or refusing to perform any one of the duties in this chapter imposed, shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, and to damages to the party aggrieved, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and on conviction thereof, shall be removed from office.

by suit in his own name, if necessary, or by selling the same, selling the other property and paying to the plaintiff the proceeds, or so much

Sec. 3268. The officer shall in all cases select such property, and in such quantities, as will be likely to bring the exact amount required to be raised, as nearly as practicable, and having made one levy, may at any time thereafter make other levies if he deem it necessary.

Sec. 3269. Stock or interests owned by the defendant in any company, and also debts due him, and property of his in the hands of third persons, may be levied upon in the same manner provided for attaching the
same.

Sec. 3270. In proceedings by garnishment on execution, the gar- Garnishment on taken by the officer in the same way and with the same results; he may be notified to appear at the term of court in the same way, and with the same results, and his default shall be attended with the same consequences. The plaintiff may also, if the garnishee is called into court, have a case docketed against him without docket fee, and upon his answer to the officer, issue may be made and notice thereof given him, or issue may be made on his answer in court without any notice thereon, if made at the same term; and in all these and every other particular, the proceedings shall be the same as under garnishment on attachment, as near as the nature of the case will allow.

Sec. 3271. Proceedings by garnishment on execution shall not be Return regard-amount of his judgment, and costs in the ordinary evidences of indebtedness issued by that corporation. And if the debtor corporation issues no scrip or evidences of debt, a tax must be levied as early as practicable, sufficient to pay off the judgment with interest and costs.

Sec. 3276. (1897.) A failure on the part of the officers of the corporation to comply with the requirements of the last section renders them personally responsible for the debt.

Sec. 3277. If an officer who levies, or is required to levy an execution on personal property, doubts whether it is subject to the execution, he may give the plaintiff therein, or his agent or attorney, notice that an indemnifying bond is required. Bond may, thereupon, be given, by or for the plaintiff, with one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the officer, to the effect that the obligors will indemnify him against the damages which he may sustain in consequence of the seizure or sale of the property, and will pay to any claimant thereof the damages he may sustain in consequence of the seizure or sale, and will warrant to any purchaser of the property, such estate or interest therein as is sold; and thereupon the officer shall proceed to subject the property to the execution, and shall return the indemnifying bond to the district court of the county, in which the levy is made.

Sec. 3278. If the bond mentioned in the last section is not given, the officer may refuse to levy the execution, or if it has been levied and the bond is not given in a reasonable time after it is required by the officer, he may restore the property to the person from whose possession it was taken, and the levy shall stand discharged.

Sec. 3279. The claimant or purchaser of any property, for the seizure or sale of which an indemnifying bond has been taken and returned by the officer, shall be barred of any action against the officer levying on the property, if the surety on the bond was good when it was taken. Any such claimant or purchaser may maintain an action upon the bond, and recover such damages as he may be entitled to.

Sec. 3280. Where property, for the sale of which the officer is indemnified, sells for more than enough to satisfy the execution under which it was taken, the surplus shall be paid into the court to which the indemnifying bond is directed to be returned. That court may order such disposition or payment of the money to be made temporarily or absolutely, as may be proper, in respect to the rights of the parties interested.

Sec. 3281. The sale of personal property on which an execution is levied, shall be suspended at the instance of any person other than the defendant in execution, claiming the property, who shall execute, with one or more sureties, sufficient for double its value, a bond to the plaintiff in the execution to the effect that, if it shall be adjudged that the property or any part of it is subject to the execution, he will pay to the plaintiff the value of the property so subject, and ten per cent. thereon, not exceeding the amount due on the execution and ten per cent. thereon.

Sec. 3282. For the purpose of taking the bond mentioned in the last section, the officer shall select three disinterested persons having the qualifications of jurors, and administer to them an oath, to make a fair appraisement of each article of the property, whose appraisement in writing shall be recited in the bond. The bond, with the appraisement annexed thereto, shall be returned to the district court of the county in which the levy was made, at the next term thereafter.

Sec. 3283. The party to whom the bond is executed may move the court to which it is returned, for a judgment thereon against all or any of the obligors, or their representatives, having given to them ten days' notice of the motion. The court may cause such issues to be tried as it may prescribe, and direct which party shall be considered plaintiff in the issues. If the property or any part of it is found subject to the execution, judgment shall be rendered in favor of the plaintiff therein for the value of the property so subject, and ten per cent. thereof, not exceeding the amount due on the execution and ten per cent. thereof. An execution may be issued on the judgment forthwith, on which the same indorsement shall be made as on the execution in virtue of which the property had been seized.

Sec. 3284. Upon the trial of the motion, either party may object that the property was not fairly appraised; and thereupon the jury trying the facts shall hear evidence respecting, and find the value of the property.

Sec. 3285. The giving of the bond mentioned in section 3281 shall not discharge the levy of the execution upon the property claimed. But the officer may leave it, subject to the lien of the levy, with the person in whose possession it is found, pending the proceeding on the bond; and may, in the mean time, proceed with the execution against other property of the defendant.

Sec. 3286. The provisions of the preceding sections of this chapter, as to bonds, shall apply to proceedings upon executions, issued by justices of the peace. Indemnifying bonds shall be returned in such cases, with the executions under which they are taken, and bonds of claimants of property may be returned to the justice from whose office the execution issued, and motion thereon shall be made before him on five days' notice. He shall cause a jury as in a civil cause, to be impanneled to find whether the property was subject to the execution, and the judgment shall be subject to an appeal.

Sec. 3287. Whenever a sheriff or other officer shall levy an execution upon the property or effects held jointly or in partnership by the debtor or debtors in execution, with others, to satisfy the separate debt of such debtor or debtors, the sheriff or other officers shall not proceed to make sale thereof, except as hereinafter provided, if the person or persons, or any of them holding such joint or partnership interest with the debtor, shall assert an equitable or other claim thereto, and in writing, notify the officer of the existence of such claim.

Sec. 3288. When a claim is asserted by the joint owners or partners to the property levied upon, the officer shall not, by virtue of his levy, deprive the joint owners or partners of the possession of the property levied upon, except for the purpose of making an inventory thereof and having the same appraised.

Sec. 3289. The officer shall proceed to have the property levied upon, appraised, as provided in section 3282, unless the value can be agreed upon. He shall return the inventory and the appraisement with the execution, to the office from which it issued, and in his return shall state all the facts connected with the levy by him, and the claim set up by the joint owner or owners.

Sec. 3290. The execution creditor shall have a lien upon the property levied upon, to the extent of his claim, if the same does not exceed the interest of the judgment debtor in the property, and which shall continue until the levy is disposed of.

Sec. 3291. Upon the execution being returned by the officer, that he had levied the same upon the property in which the debtor was joint owner or partner, and that the same was claimed by the other joint owner or partner, and that the same was claimed by the other joint owners or partners, the execution creditor may proceed in an action by equitable proceedings, to subject to the satisfaction of his execution, the interest of the debtor so levied upon.

SEC. 3292. If such creditor, at the commencement of his action, or afterward, shall file an affidavit that he verily believes the property levied upon will be removed from the county, or sold, or otherwise disposed of, with intent fraudulently to defeat his lien, the court, or the judge thereof, in vacation, may make an order directing the officer to possess himself of the property so levied upon, unless bond with approved security shall be executed to the plaintiff in the execution, binding the obligors in said bond to have the same forthcoming in obedience to any order or judgment of the court in the action, which bond shall be taken by the officer and returned by him to the court in which the action is pending.

Stay of Execution.

SEC. 3293. When judgment has been rendered against any one for the recovery of money, he may, by procuring one or more sufficient freehold securities to enter into a recognizance acknowledging themselves security for the defendant for the payment of the judgment, together with the interest and costs accrued and to accrue, have a stay of the execution from the time of rendering judgment, as follows:

If the sum for which judgment was rendered, inclusive of costs, does not exceed five dollars, one month.

If such sum and costs exceed five, but not twenty dollars, two months.

If such sum and costs exceed twenty, but not forty dollars, three months.

If such sum and costs exceed forty, but not sixty dollars, four months.

If such sum and costs exceed sixty, but not one hundred dollars, six months.

If such sum and costs exceed one hundred, but not one hundred and fifty dollars, nine months.

If such sum and costs exceed one hundred and fifty dollars, twelve months.

SEC. 3294. The provisions of the foregoing section shall not be enjoyed by any one who does not take such stay within ten days from the expiration of the term at which judgment is rendered. No appeal shall be taken after such stay has been obtained, nor shall a stay be taken on a judgment entered as herein contemplated, against one who is surety in the stay of execution, nor shall such stay be allowed to any judgment obtained by a laboring man or mechanic for his wages.

SEC. 3295. The surety for stay of execution may be taken and approved by the clerk, and the recognizance entered of record. The undertaking in the recognizance shall be for the payment of the judgment, interest and costs, that may accrue at or before the expiration of the term of the stay of execution.

SEC. 3296. When the surety is entered after execution issued, the clerk shall immediately notify the sheriff of the stay, and he shall forthwith return the execution, with his doings thereon.

SEC. 3297. All property levied on before stay of execution, and all written undertakings for the delivery of personal property to the sheriff, shall be relinquished by the officer, upon stay of execution being entered.
SEC. 3298. Every recognizance taken as above provided, shall have the effect of a judgment confessed, from the date thereof, against the property of the sureties.

SEC. 3299. At the expiration of the stay, it shall be the duty of the clerk to issue a joint execution against the property of all the judgment debtors and sureties, describing them as debtors or sureties therein.

SEC. 3300. When any court shall render judgment against two or more persons, any of whom is surety for any other in the contract on which the judgment is founded, there shall be no stay of execution allowed, if the surety object thereto at the time of rendering the judgment, whereupon it shall be ordered by the court that there be no stay, unless the surety for the stay of execution will undertake specifically to pay the judgment, in case the amount thereof can not be levied of the principal defendant.

SEC. 3301. Any surety for the stay of execution may file with the clerk an affidavit, stating that he verily believes he will be liable for the judgment, interest and costs thereon, unless execution issues immediately; and the clerk shall thereupon issue execution forthwith, unless other sufficient surety be entered before the clerk, as in other cases.

SEC. 3302. If other sufficient surety be entered, it shall have the force of the original surety entered before the filing of the affidavit, and shall discharge the original surety.

SEC. 3303. Where a stay of execution has been taken, such confessed judgment shall not release any judgment lien, by virtue of the original judgment for the amount then due. The officer holding the said execution, shall return thereon what amount was made from the principal debtor, and how much from the surety.

Exemption.

SEC. 3304. The following property of private individuals is exempt from execution: All wearing apparel kept for actual use, and suitable to the condition of the party, and trunks and other receptacles to contain the same; one musket or rifle; the proper tools, instruments, or books, of any farmer, mechanic, surveyor, clergyman, lawyer, physician, teacher, or professor; the horse, or the team, consisting of not more than two horses or mules, or two yoke of cattle, and the wagon, or other vehicle, with the proper harness or tackle, by the use of which any physician, public officer, farmer, teamster, or other laborer, habitually earns his living; all private libraries, family bibles, portraits, pictures and paintings, not kept for the purpose of sale; a seat or pew, occupied by the debtor or his family, in any house of public worship; and an interest in a public or private burying-ground, not exceeding one acre for any defendant.

SEC. 3305. If the debtor is the head of a family, there is further exempt, his homestead, as provided by law; one cow and calf; one horse, unless a horse has been exempted for him under the last section; fifty sheep, and the wool therefrom; five hogs, and all pigs under six months; the necessary food for all animals exempt from execution, for sixty days; all flax raised by the defendant, and the manufactures therefrom; one bedstead, and the necessary bedding, for every two in the family; all cloth manufactured by the defendant, not exceeding one hundred yards in quantity; household and kitchen furniture, not exceeding one hundred dollars in value; all spinning wheels and looms, and other instruments of domestic labor kept for actual use; and the necessary provisions and fuel for the use of the family for six months.

SEC. 3306. The word "family," as used in the last section, does not include strangers or boarders lodging with the family.
EXECUTIONS.  [PART 3.

Same.

Exemption of single men and non-residents.

Sec. 3307. The earnings of such debtor for his personal services, or those of his family, at any time within ninety days next preceding the levy, are also exempt from execution and attachment.

Sec. 3308. None of the exemptions contained in this chapter are for the benefit of a single man not the head of a family, nor of non-residents, nor of those who have started to leave this state, but their property is liable to execution, with the exception in the two former cases of ordinary wearing apparel, and trunks to contain the same; and in the latter case of such wearing apparel with such property as the defendant may select, not to exceed seventy-five dollars, to be selected by the debtor, and appraised according to the provisions of section 3220; but any person coming to this state with the intention of remaining, is a resident within the meaning of this chapter.

Sec. 3309. Where a debtor absconds and leaves his family, such property shall be exempt in the hands of the wife and children, or either of them.

Sale.

Sec. 3310. The sheriff must give four weeks notice of the time and place of selling real property, and three weeks notice of that of personal property.

Sec. 3311. Notice shall be given by being posted up in at least three public places of the county, one of which shall be at the place where the last district court was held. In addition to which, in case of the sale of real estate, or where personal property to the amount of two hundred dollars or upwards is to be sold, there shall be two publications of such notice, in some newspaper printed in the county, if there be one. In constables' sales, there shall be no newspaper publication, and the notice shall be posted in three public places of the township of the justice, and one of them at his office door; the time of such notice shall be two weeks.

Sec. 3312. An officer selling without the notice above prescribed, shall forfeit one hundred dollars to the defendant in execution, in addition to the actual damages sustained by either party; but the validity of the sale is not thereby affected.

Sec. 3313. The sale must be at public auction, between nine o'clock in the forenoon, and four o'clock in the afternoon, and the hour of the commencement of the sale must be fixed in the notice.

Sec. 3314. When there are no bidders, or when the amount offered is grossly inadequate, or when from any cause the sale is prevented from taking place on the day fixed, the sheriff may postpone the sale for not more than three days, without being required to give any farther notice thereof; but he shall not make more than two such postponements, and such postponement shall be publicly announced when the sale should have taken place.

Sec. 3315. When the property sells for more than the amount required to be collected, the overplus must be paid to the defendant, unless the officer have another execution in his hands, on which said overplus may be rightfully applied.

Sec. 3316. If the property levied on sell for less than sufficient for that purpose, the plaintiff may order out another execution, which shall be credited with the amount of the previous sale. The proceedings under this second sale, shall conform to those hereinbefore prescribed.

Sec. 3317. When the property is unsold for want of bidders, the levy still holds good; and if there is sufficient time the property may again be advertised and sold under the same execution, or the execution may be returned and a venditionem exponas issued.

SEC. 3318. If the defendant is in actual occupation and possession of any part of the land levied on, the officer having the execution, shall, at least twenty days previous to such sale, serve the defendant with written notice stating that the execution is levied on said land, and mentioning the time and place of sale; and sales made without the notice required in this section, may be set aside, on motion made at the same or the next term thereafter.

SEC. 3319. An any time before nine o'clock, A.M., of the day of sale, the defendant may deliver to the officer a plan of division of the land levied on, subscribed by him, and it shall in that case, be the duty of the officer to sell, according to said plan, so much of the land as may be necessary to satisfy the debt and costs, and no more. If no such plan is furnished, the officer may sell without any division.

SEC. 3320. When the purchaser fails to pay the money when demanded, the plaintiff or his attorney may elect to proceed against him for the amount; otherwise the sheriff shall treat the sale as a nullity, and may sell the property again on the same day, or after a postponement as above authorized.

SEC. 3321. When any person has heretofore, or shall hereafter, purchase at sheriff's sale, any real estate on which the judgment upon which the execution issued was not a lien at the time of the levy, and which fact was unknown to the purchaser, the district court of the county shall set aside such sale on motion, notice having been given to the debtor, as in case of action, and a new execution may be issued to enforce the judgment, and upon the order being made to set aside the sale, the sheriff or judgment-creditor shall pay over to the purchaser the purchase money; said motion may also be made by any person interested in the real estate.

SEC. 3322. (1914.) Money levied upon may be appropriated without being advertised or sold. The same may be done with bank bills, drafts, promissory notes, or other papers of the like character, if the plaintiff will receive them at their par value, as cash, or if the officer can exchange them for cash at that value.

SEC. 3323. When a judgment has been obtained against the executor of one deceased, which the personal estate of the deceased is insufficient to satisfy, the plaintiff may file his petition in the office of the clerk of the district court, wherein judgment was rendered against the executor, the heirs and devisees of real estate (if there are such,) setting forth the facts, and that there is real estate of the deceased within the state, describing its location and extent, and praying the court to award execution against the same.

SEC. 3324. A notice shall thereupon be indorsed upon said petition, notifying the persons against whom the petition is filed, to appear on the first day of the term, and show cause, if any they have, why execution should not be awarded.

SEC. 3325. The petition and notice shall be served and returned in the ordinary manner, and the same length of time shall be allowed for appearance, as in civil actions.

SEC. 3326. (1921.) At the proper time, the court shall award the judgment, unless sufficient cause be shown to the contrary.

SEC. 3327. (1922.) The non-age of the heirs or devisees shall not be deemed such sufficient cause.

SEC. 3328. (1923.) Mutual judgments, the executions on which are set-off.
in the hands of the same officer, may be set off, the one against the other; except that the costs shall be so set off, unless the balance of cash actually collected on the larger judgment is sufficient to pay the costs of both judgments, and such costs shall be paid therefrom accordingly.

Sec. 3329. (1924.) When real property has been levied upon, if the estate is less than a lease-hold, having two years of an unexpired term, the sale is absolute.

Sec. 3330. (1924.) When the estate is of a larger amount, the property is redeemable, as hereinafter prescribed.

Sec. 3331. (1925.) At the time of the sale, the sheriff shall give to the purchaser a certificate containing a description of the property and the amount of money paid by such purchaser; and stating that unless redemption is made within one year thereafter, according to law, he or his heirs or assigns, will be entitled to a deed for the same.

Redemption.

Sec. 3332. (1926.) The defendant may redeem such property at any time within one year from the day of sale, as hereinafter provided; and will, in the mean time, be entitled to the possession of the property.

Sec. 3333. (1927.) For the first six months after such sale, his right to redeem is exclusive, but if no redemption is made by him at the end of that time, any creditor of the defendant, whose demand is a lien upon such real estate, may redeem the same at any time within nine months from the day of sale. But a mechanic's lien, before judgment thereon, is not of such a character as to entitle the holder to redeem.

Sec. 3334. (1928.) Any creditor whose claim becomes a lien prior to the expiration of the time allowed by law for the redemption by creditors, may redeem. A mortgagee may thus redeem before or after the debt secured by the mortgage falls due.

Sec. 3335. (1929.) Creditors having the right of redemption, may redeem from each other within the time above limited, and in the manner herein provided.

Sec. 3336. (1930.) The terms of redemption in all cases, will be the reimbursement of the amount paid by the then holder, added to the amount of his own lien, with interest upon the whole at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, together with costs, subject to the exception contained in the next section. But where a mortgagee, whose claim is not yet due, is the person from whom the redemption is thus to be made, a rebate of interest, at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, must be made by such mortgagee on his claim.

Sec. 3337. (1931.) When a senior creditor thus redeems from his junior, he is required to pay off only the amount of those liens which are paramount to his own, with the interest and costs appertaining to those liens.

Sec. 3338. (1932.) But the junior creditor may in all such cases prevent a redemption by the holder of the paramount lien, by paying off that lien, or by leaving with the clerk before hand the amount necessary therefor.

Sec. 3339. (1933.) A junior judgment creditor may redeem from a senior judgment creditor, by paying to the party, the clerk or the sheriff, if execution has issued, the full sum due, with interest and costs, and shall become thereby vested with the title to the judgment so redeemed.

Sec. 3340. (1934.) If paid to the sheriff, he shall give to the party redeeming, a certificate that he has paid such sum for the redemption of the judgment, describing it, which being presented to the clerk, he shall enter such redemption on the judgment docket, as he shall also do if the money is paid to himself.

Sec. 3341. (1933.) Whenever a senior creditor redeems from a junior creditor, the latter may in return, redeem from the former, and so on, as often as the land is taken from him by virtue of a paramount lien.

Sec. 3342. (1934.) After the expiration of nine months from the last right of day of sale, the creditors can no longer redeem from each other, except as hereinafter provided. But the defendant may still redeem at any time before the end of the year, as aforesaid.

Sec. 3343. (1935.) Unless the defendant thus redeems, the purchaser, or the creditor, who last redeemed, prior to the expiration of the nine months aforesaid, will hold the property absolutely.

Sec. 3344. (1936.) In case it is thus held by a redeeming creditor, liens are destroyed, and the claim out of which it arose, will be held to be extinguished, unless he pursues the course pointed out in the next section.

Sec. 3345. If he is unwilling to hold the property and credit the defendant therefor, with the full amount of his lien, he must, within ten days after the nine months aforesaid, enter on the sale book the utmost amount that he is thus willing to credit on his claim.

Sec. 3346. (1938.) Any unsatisfied lien creditor, within ten days after the expiration of the time thus allowed to make the entry required in the last section, may redeem the property by paying the amount of the legal disbursements of the last holder, as hereinbefore regulated, added to the amount thus entered on the sale book, together with interest and costs.

Sec. 3347. (1939.) Such redemptioner shall also credit the defendant with the full amount of his lien, unless within ten days after redeeming as aforesaid, he likewise makes a like entry on the sale book, in which case any unsatisfied lien creditor, may in like manner redeem within ten days as aforesaid, and so on until there are no more unsatisfied liens, or until the expiration of the year for redemption, the defendant having the final privilege of redeeming from the last redemption at the end of the year.

Sec. 3348. (1940.) The mode of making the redemption is by paying the money into the clerk's office for the use of the persons thereto entitled. The person so redeeming, if not defendant in execution, must also file his affidavit, or that of his agent or attorney, stating as nearly as practicable, the amount still unpaid and due on his own claim.

Sec. 3349. (1941.) The clerk shall thereupon give him a receipt for the money, stating the purpose for which it was paid. He must also, at the same time, enter in the sale book a minute of such redemption, of the amount paid, and the amount of the lien of the last redemption, as sworn to by him.

Sec. 3350. (1942.) A creditor redeeming as above contemplated, is entitled to receive an assignment of the certificate issued by the sheriff, to the original purchaser, as hereinbefore directed.

Sec. 3351. (1943.) When the property has been sold in parcels, any distinct portion may be redeemed by itself.

Sec. 3352. (1944.) When the interests of several tenants in common, have been sold on execution, the undivided portion of any of them may be redeemed separately.

SEC. 3353. (1945.) The rights of a defendant in relation to redemption, are transferable, and the assignee has the like power to redeem.

SEC. 3354. (1946.) If the defendant or his assignee fail to redeem, the sheriff must, at the end of the year, execute a deed to the person who is entitled to the certificate as hereinbefore provided, or to his assignee. If the person entitled be dead, the deed shall be made to his heirs, but the property will be subject to the payment of the debts of the deceased, in the same manner, as if acquired during his lifetime.

When to heirs.

SEC. 3355. (1947.) The purchaser of real estate at a sale on execution, need not place any evidence of his purchase upon record, until twenty days after the expiration of the full time of redemption. Up to that time the publicity of the proceedings is constructive notice of the rights of the purchaser, but no longer.

Deed recorded.

SEC. 3356. (1948.) Deeds executed by a sheriff in pursuance of such sales, are presumptive evidence of the regularity of all previous proceedings, in the case, and may be given in evidence without preliminary proof.

Deeds imply regularity.

SEC. 3357. (1949.) The purchaser of real estate at a sale on execution, need not place any evidence of his purchase upon record, until twenty days after the expiration of the full time of redemption. Up to that time the publicity of the proceedings is constructive notice of the rights of the purchaser, but no longer.

SEC. 3361. The officer to whom any such writ shall be delivered to be executed, shall, before sale unless otherwise directed by the execution debtor, proceed to ascertain the fair value of such property.

SEC. 3362. For the purpose of ascertaining the value of property to be sold under execution, two disinterested householders of the neighborhood shall be selected as appraisers; one of whom shall be chosen by the execution debtor, and the other by the plaintiff, his attorney or agent, or, in the absence of the plaintiff his agent and attorney, by the officer executing such writ; and said appraisers shall forthwith proceed to value such property according to its fair value at the time, and in case of their disagreement as to such value, they shall choose another disinterested household of the neighborhood, and with his assistance they shall complete such valuation. The valuation to be sworn to by the appraisers.

SEC. 3363. If the execution debtor shall fail to choose an appraiser within three days after notice of such levy served on him or his attorney by copy or reading, such officer shall choose an appraiser for him, who shall proceed in all respects as if he had been chosen by the execution debtor.

SEC. 3364. In case any of said appraisers shall fail to complete such valuation, the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, or the officer, in their absence, or the execution debtor, or the appraisers if two remain, who were first chosen, as the case may be, shall choose an appraiser in the place of the one before chosen by him, or them, and refusing to act; or if such execution debtor shall in such case fail to choose such appraiser within two days after notice of such refusal to act by the appraiser chosen by him, such officer shall choose an appraiser for him, and any appraiser thus chosen shall proceed in all respects as if he had been chosen in the first instance.

SEC. 3365. Upon the completion of such appraisement the said appraisers shall return to the officer a schedule of the property appraised with the value of each lot, tract or parcel of real estate, and of the several articles of personal property which may have been levied upon by virtue of such execution. Whenever any property thus appraised, cannot be sold for two-thirds of its valuation, it shall be the duty of the officer by whom such levy shall have been made, when he returns such return, to return such appraisement therewith, stating in his return such failure to sell.

SEC. 3366. Such levy and return shall constitute and remain a lien on the property thus remaining unsold, and a writ of venditioni exponas may issue for the sale thereof as in other cases.

SEC. 3367. When any such writ of venditioni exponas shall issue, either party may have a revaluation of the property levied upon, by paying the expense of such revaluation.

SEC. 3368. The officer to whom such execution may be directed shall proceed to sell without unnecessary delay, but shall not offer the same property more than once, under the same execution, unless the execution creditor will pay the cost and charges of such additional offer to sell.

SEC. 3369. Execution shall not issue on any judgment more frequently than once in six months, unless at the cost and charge of the plaintiff.

SEC. 3370. Property conveyed by a debtor with intent to hinder or delay collection or defraud creditors, shall be sold without appraisement.

SEC. 3371. It shall be lawful for any judgment debtor to have his real estate sold on execution subject to redemption as is provided by law, and in case he so elects before a levy on the same by the officer having control of the writ, and files his notice in writing, of election, with the clerk of the court issuing the writ, the officer shall proceed to sell, subject to redemption, and shall execute to the purchaser a certificate of purchase.

SEC. 3372. When the real estate is sold after appraisement according to this act, the officer, on the payment of the purchase money, shall make deed.
execute to the purchaser or purchasers, a deed or deeds, which shall convey all the interest on which the judgment operated as a lien, or which the debtor acquired after the judgment and before the sale, and the said deed when executed according to law shall be presumptive evidence of the regularity of the judgment and sale.

SEC. 3373. The appraisers provided for in this act shall be allowed fifty cents in each case for their services; provided, that in all cases where the time necessarily required exceeds five hours, they shall be allowed an additional compensation of ten cents per hour.

CHAPTER 126.

[Code—Chapter 111.]

PROCEEDINGS SUPPLEMENTAL TO EXECUTION.*

Section 3375. When an execution against the property of a judgment debtor, or one of several debtors in the same judgment has been issued from the district or supreme court to the sheriff of the county where such debtor resides, or if he do not reside in the state, to the sheriff of the county where the judgment was rendered, or a transcript of a justices' judgment has been filed, and execution issued thereon, is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, the owner of the judgment is entitled to an order for the appearance and examination of such debtor.

*This proceeding is common to all the new Codes of the new system, except Kentucky, which state having like ourselves an equitable proceeding dissimilar from that at law as to proof and trial yet retains the creditor's bill. As our procedure may be either equitable or ordinary, even as to a chancery right, we have both modes as in this and the next chapter.
The remedy where a creditor's bill was proper previous to the code, is still preserved in the form of an action. The judgment creditor may commence the action for his own benefit, or in behalf of himself and all others in the same situation with himself, who may choose to come in and contribute to the expenses of the suit. The rule has not been changed by the code. Hammond v. Hudson River Iron Co., 20 Barb., 378.

An execution may be returned in less than sixty days, and whenever returned unsatisfied, the creditor may proceed under this chapter without regard to the period it was in the sheriff’s hands. The execution must be actually returned by the sheriff before the supplementary proceeding can be commenced. Engle v. Ronneau, 2 Sand., 678.

The code requires that "the execution shall be returnable within sixty days after its receipt by the officer," &c. Upon the proper return of the execution therefore, by the sheriff, at any time within the sixty days, proceedings supplementary to execution (in the nature of a creditor's bill,) may be commenced. Livingston & Mitchell v. Cleaveland, 5 How., 396.

SEC. 3376. (1954.) The like order may be obtained at any time after the issuing of an execution upon proof, by the affidavit of the party or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the court or officer who is to grant the same, that any judgment debtor has property which he unjustly refuses to apply towards the satisfaction of the judgment.

SEC. 3377. (1955.) Such order may be made by the court in which the judgment was rendered, or by any judge thereof in vacation, or by county court of the county to which the execution has been issued as aforesaid, or by the judge thereof. And the debtor may be required to appear and answer before either of such courts or officers, or before a referee appointed by the court or judge who issued the order.

SEC. 3378. The debtor on his appearance, may be interrogated in relation to any fact calculated to show the amount of his property or the disposition which has been made of it, or any other matter pertaining to the case for which the examination is permitted to be made. And the interrogatories and answers shall be reduced to writing and preserved by the court or officer before whom they are taken. All examinations and answers under this chapter shall be on oath, and no person shall, on examination, pursuant to this chapter, be excused from answering any question on the ground that his examination will tend to convict him of a fraud, but his answers shall not be used as evidence against him in a prosecution for such fraud.

The proceeding under this chapter is regarded as a substitute for the creditor's bill, under our former system, and the rules settled, in reference to proceedings under these bills may be regarded as controlling when not essentially altered by the code or the practice under the code. Orr’s case, 2 Abb., 458; see Griffin v. Dominguez, 2 Duer, 538.

The object of the examination is, to ascertain whether the debtor has any property subject to, or exempt from execution which ought to be applied to the plaintiff’s claim. He is required to appear and answer "concerning his property," that is the property belonging to him at the time of the examination, or bound by the judgment; and every question tending to throw light upon that subject is pertinent. It is not sufficient that the defendant answer generally that he has no property; the plaintiff may prosecute his inquiries, notwithstanding such an answer. If the defendant is in possession of any property, the plaintiff may ask when and where and how he obtained the possession, and on what terms he now holds it. If the defendant is not in possession of any property, he may be asked, whether he had any or was interested in any, a short time previous to the judgment, and what has become of it; and if he answer that he has sold it absolutely, he may be asked what was the consideration of the sale, and what has become of the proceeds, so as to ascertain whether any portion of them is in his hands, or due to him.
But if it appear that he has not in his possession, nor under his control, any portion of such proceeds, the inquiry respecting such property or its proceeds can go no further. There is in such case nothing for the creditor to receive. If the answers to the questions show any doubts as to the bona fides of the sale, the examination may be thorough on that point; as a fraudulent transfer of property may not afford any protection against a creditor. Green v. Hicks, 1 Barb. Chan. Rep., 316, 317.

SEC. 3379. Witnesses may be required by the order of the court or judge, or by subpoena from the referee to appear and testify upon any proceedings under this chapter in the same manner as upon the trial of an issue.

SEC. 3380. If any property, rights or credits, subject to execution, are thus ascertained, an execution may be issued, and they may be levied upon accordingly. The court or judge may order any property of the judgment debtor not exempt by law, in the hands either of himself or any other person or corporation, or due to the judgment debtor, to be delivered up, or in any other mode applied towards the satisfaction of the judgment.

SEC. 3381. The court or judge, may also, by order, appoint the sheriff of the proper county, or other suitable person, a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor, and may also, by order, forbid a transfer or other disposition of the property of the judgment debtor, not exempt by law, or may forbid any interference therewith.

Where it appears from the examination that it is doubtful whether the person who is alleged to owe the judgment debtor, or another individual not under examination, is really indebted to him, and as a conclusion of law upon the facts uncertain, a receiver should be appointed to enable the creditor, or the party entitled to the right, to pursue the claim by action. Corning v. Tooker, 5 How., 16.

SEC. 3382. If it shall appear that the judgment debtor has any equitable interest in real estate in the county in which proceedings are had, as mortgagor, mortgagee or otherwise, and the interest of said debtor can be ascertained as between himself and the person or persons holding the legal estate, or the person or persons having any lien on, or any interest in the same, without controversy as to the interest of such person or persons, holding such legal estate or interest therein, or lien on the same, the receiver may be ordered to sell and convey such real estate, or the debtor's equitable interest therein. Such sale shall be conducted in all respects in the same manner as is provided by this code for the sale of real estate upon execution.

SEC. 3383. If the sheriff shall be appointed receiver, he and his sureties shall be liable on his official bond, for the faithful discharge of his duties as receiver.

SEC. 3384. The judge or referee acting under the provisions of this chapter, shall have power to continue his proceedings from time to time, until they shall be completed.

SEC. 3385. The judge may, in his discretion, order a reference to a referee appointed by him to report the evidence, or the facts.

SEC. 3386. Should the judgment debtor fail to appear after being personally served with notice to that effect, or should he fail to make full answers to all proper interrogatories thus propounded to him, he will be guilty of contempt, and may be arrested and imprisoned until he complies with the requirements of the law in this respect. And if any person, party or witness disobey an order of the court or judge, or referee, duly served, such persons, party or witness may be punished as for a contempt.

Service of order.

SEC. 3387. The order mentioned herein shall be in writing and signed by the court or judge or referee, making the same, and shall be served as an original notice in other cases.

Compensation.

SEC. 3388. Sheriffs, referees, receivers and witnesses, shall receive such compensation as is allowed for like services in other cases, to be taxed as costs in the case, and the collection thereof from such party, or parties as ought to pay the same shall be enforced by an order.

SEC. 3389. Upon proof to the satisfaction of the court, or officer authorized to grant the order aforesaid, that there is danger that the defendant will leave the state, or that he will conceal himself, the said court or officer, instead of the order aforesaid, may issue a warrant for the arrest of the debtor, and for bringing him forthwith before the court or officer authorized to take his examination as hereinbefore provided. After being thus brought before the said court or officer, he may be examined in the same manner and with the like effect as is above provided.

SEC. 3390. Upon being brought before the court or officer, he may enter into an undertaking in such sum as the court or officer shall prescribe, with one or more sureties, that he will attend from time to time, for examination, before the court or officer, as shall be directed, and will not, in the mean time, dispose of his property, or any part thereof, in default whereof he shall continue under arrest, and may be committed to jail on the warrant of such court or officer, from time to time, for safe keeping, until the examination shall be concluded.

Decisions under the prior practice. In a creditor's bill the objection that administrator is not made a party may be made on the hearing, 3 Iowa, 365; and the bill will then be remanded for amendment, ibid.; such bill may be against the surviving partners, or the representatives of the deceased partners, ibid.; a creditor's bill lies on a dormant judgment, ibid.; as to evidence of collusion or of fraud between grantor and grantees, see 4 Iowa, 524; the execution need not to have been first returned unsatisfied, 3 Iowa, 365, 383, 543.

CHAPTER 127.

Equitable actions supplemental to execution.

Creditor's bill.

SEC. 3391. After an execution directed to the sheriff of the county in which the judgment was rendered, or to the sheriff of the county of the defendant's residence, is returned by the proper officer, either as to the whole or part thereof, in substance, no property found to satisfy the same, the owner of the judgment may, in his discretion, institute an action by equitable proceedings in the court from which the execution issued, or in any court having jurisdiction of the cause, for the discovery of any money, chosen in action, equitable or legal interest, or any other property to which the defendant is entitled, and for subjecting the same to the satisfaction of the judgment; and in such actions, persons indebted to the defendant in the execution, or holding the money or property in which he has an interest, or holding the evidences or securities for the same, may be also made defendants.
In a proceeding under this section, it is necessary to state, or to charge that a third person is indebted to the defendant in the execution, in order to take judgment by confession. It is not sufficient to state that plaintiff is informed that such is the case. Crenshaw, C. J., Lexington & Danville R. R. Co. v. Morrissey, MSS. Opin., Dec., 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

A judgment creditor having an execution returned, "no property found," may institute equitable proceedings in the court from whence execution issued, or in the court of any county in which defendant resides or is summoned, and have any interest in land belonging to him, situated in any county, subjected to the payment of his judgment at law. Nixon v. Jack & Co., 16 B. M., 181.

P. recovers a judgment against M., and has execution issued, and a return of "no property found." In the mean time the judgment is reversed by the court of appeals, and a different judgment rendered. P. sued out an attachment, alleging the return of "no property" upon the first judgment, and the fact that M. was insolvent. Held, not to authorize an attachment under this section. Marshall, C. J., McGuire v. Parsons, MSS. Opin., June, 1855. Stanton's Ky. Code.

SEC. 3392. The answers of all defendants shall be verified by their own oath, and not by that of an agent or attorney, and the court shall enforce full and explicit discoveries in such answers by process of contempt.

SEC. 3393. In the action mentioned in the preceding sections, the plaintiff may have an attachment against the property of the defendant in the execution, similar to the general attachments provided for in the chapter 124, on attachment, without either the affidavit or bond therein required.

SEC. 3394. A lien shall in this case be created on the property of defendant, by the levy of the attachment and service of the notice, and copy of petition on the person holding or controlling such property.

SEC. 3395. The court shall enforce the surrender of the money, or securities therefor, or of any other property of the defendant in the execution, which may be discovered in the action, and for this purpose may commit to jail any defendant or garnishee, failing or refusing to make such surrender, until it shall be done, or the court is satisfied that it is out of his power to do so.

SEC. 3396. The use of the appliances of this equitable action is no waiver of the use of the remedy of the chapter next preceding. Nor is the use of the appliances of that chapter a waiver of the right to use the appliances of this, but any party entitled to one may use either or both as he may deem it desirable.

JUDGMENT BY CONFESSION.

SECTION 3397. (1837.) A judgment by confession, without action, may be entered by the clerk of the district court, or by a justice of the peace, if within his jurisdiction, in the manner hereinafter prescribed.
A judgment by confession, without action, can only be entered against the person who signs the confession. One of two partners or joint debtors cannot confess judgment for both. Such judgment is probably valid as against the party signing it, but is void as against the other defendant, and cannot be enforced against the joint property. In effect, the party confessing such a judgment makes the debt by his confession his individual debt. Where, after the confession of such a judgment by one partner, a suit was commenced, and judgment regularly obtained against both on the same cause of action, and also upon a promissory note not included in the former judgment; held, on a question of priority of liens, that other judgment creditors could not avail themselves of the objections that a former recovery had been obtained and that the said note did not belong to the plaintiff. Had the judgment been obtained by fraud or collusion, it would have been competent for them to have avoided it on that ground.

For what.

SEC. 3398. (1838.) Such confession can be only for money due, or to become due, or to secure a person against contingent liabilities on behalf of the defendant, and must be for a specified sum.

SEC. 3399. (1839.) A statement in writing must be made and signed by the defendant, and verified by his oath to the following effect, and filed with the clerk or justice of the peace:

1. If for money due, or to become due, it must state concisely the facts out of which the indebtedness arose, and that the sum confessed therefor is justly due, or to become due, as the case may be.

2. If for the purpose of securing the plaintiff against a contingent liability, it must state concisely the facts constituting such liability, and must show that the sum confessed therefor does not exceed the same.

A statement upon which to enter a judgment without action under the code, is not sufficient where it merely states and sets out a promissory note, executed by the defendant to the plaintiff as the consideration of the indebtedness. The facts out of which the indebtedness evidenced by the note arose, should be concisely stated. The supreme court may set aside a judgment entered therein without action, for a defect in the statement upon which it is entered, upon the application of a junior judgment creditor. Chappell v. Chappell, 2 Kern., 215. A confession of judgment which stated that the indebtedness was a promissory note made by the defendant to the order of the plaintiff, for $2,146.33, dated Dec. 11, 1854, payable four months after date, making it due April 17, 1855, held insufficient. A promissory note is a mere evidence of debt, and contains no reference whatever to the facts out of which the indebtedness arose. The court allowed the judgment in this case to be amended, but so as not to interfere with the rights of any judgment creditor which might have, in the meantime, attached. Johnston v. Fellerman, 13 How., 21.

Entry of record.

SEC. 3400. If in the district court, the clerk shall thereupon make an entry of judgment in his court record, for the amount thus confessed, and costs, and shall issue execution thereon, as in other cases.

In justice court.

SEC. 3401. (1841.) If in a justice's court, the justice shall thereupon enter a judgment on his docket, with costs, and issue execution as above directed. If a transcript of such judgment be filed with the clerk of the district court, a copy of the statement must be filed with it.

On past authority.

SEC. 3402. (1842.) Upon an authority given before this statute takes effect, and which was valid when given, judgment may be rendered up, as herein mentioned, or as nearly so as the circumstances of the case will permit.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. The statute must be strictly complied with in confession, 7 Iowa, 136; Kenedy v. Lowe, Dec., 1859; when read and approved by the court, it has all the virtue of a judgment, 7 ibid., 136; [what is the sense of requiring it to be approved by the court? it defeats half the value of the "judgment by confession;" indeed it ceases to be a judgment by confession when the court's approval is needed;] what statement necessary in such judgment, Kennedy v. Lowe, Dec. 1859; may be appealed from, 7 Iowa, 136; M., 363; but usury will be no error, Troxel v. Clark, June, 1859. See 2 G., 492; 3 G., 223.

CHAPTER 129.

OFFER TO CONFESS.

SECTION 3403. Before an action for the recovery of money is brought against any person, he may go into the court of the county of his residence, or of that in which the person having the cause of action resides, which would have jurisdiction of the action, or before the clerk of either of such courts in his office, and offer to confess judgment in favor of such person for a specified sum on such cause of action as provided for in the foregoing chapter. Whereupon, if such person, having had the same timely notice as if he were defendant in an action, that the offer would be made, of its amount and of the time and place of making it, does not attend to accept the confession, or attending, refuses to accept it, and should afterwards commence an action upon such cause, and not recover more than the amount so offered to be confessed, he shall pay all the costs of the action; and on the trial thereof, the offer shall not be deemed to be an admission of the cause of action or amount to which the plaintiff is entitled, nor be given in evidence.

SEC. 3404. After an action for the recovery of money is brought, the defendant may offer in court to confess judgment, for part of the amount claimed or part of the causes involved in the action. Whereupon, if the plaintiff being present, refuses to accept such confession of judgment, in full of his demands against the defendant in the action, or having had two clear days notice that the offer would be made, of its amount, and of the time of making it, fails to attend, and on the trial does not recover more than was so offered to be confessed, such plaintiff shall pay all the costs of the defendant, incurred after the offer. The offer shall not be deemed to be an admission of the cause of action, or amount to which the plaintiff was entitled, nor be given in evidence upon the trial.

Where an offer to confess is made in writing, and accepted before a justice of the peace, and an appeal in the cause is subsequently taken to the circuit court to which the papers, including the offer, are transmitted, the offer stands valid in the circuit court, as having been made before the justice. Lewis v. Morrison, 10 Ind. R., 394.

For forms of offers to confess judgment, see Doyle v. Kiser, 8 Ind. R., 396; Lewis v. Morrison, supra, 11 Ind. R., 440. In the latter case a doubt is expressed whether an offer once made and accepted can be withdrawn. Perkins' Practice.
SECTION 3405. The defendant in an action for the recovery of money only, may at any time after service of notice, and before the trial, serve upon the plaintiff or his attorney, an offer in writing, to allow judgment to be taken against him for the sum of money, or to the effect therein specified with costs. If the plaintiff accept the offer and give notice thereof to the defendant or his attorney, within five days after the offer is made, the offer and an affidavit that the notice of acceptance was delivered in the time limited, may be filed by the plaintiff, or the defendant may file the acceptance with a copy of the offer verified by affidavit; and in either case, the offer and acceptance shall be entered upon record, and judgment shall be rendered by the court accordingly. If the notice of acceptance is not given in the period limited, the offer shall be deemed withdrawn, and shall not be given in evidence nor mentioned on the trial. If the plaintiff fails to obtain judgment for more than was offered by the defendant, he can not recover costs, but shall pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer.

SEC. 3406. In an action for the recovery of money only, the defendant having answered, may serve upon the plaintiff or his attorney, an offer in writing, that if he fails in his defense, the amount of the recovery shall be assessed as a specified sum. If the plaintiff accepts the offer and gives notice thereof to the defendant, or his attorney, within five clear days after it was served, or within two clear days if served in term time, and the defendant fails in his defense, the judgment shall be for the amount so agreed upon. If the plaintiff does not so accept the offer he shall prove the amount to be recovered, as if the offer had not been made, the offer shall not be given in evidence or mentioned on the trial. And if the amount recovered by the plaintiff does not exceed the sum mentioned in the offer, the defendant shall recover his costs incurred in the defense, in respect to the question of amount to be taxed under the direction of the court.

SEC. 3407. The making of any offer pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, shall not be a cause for a continuance of an action or a postponement of a trial.

CHAPTER 131.

SUBMITTING CONTROVERSIES WITHOUT ACTION, OR IN ACTION.

[Code—Chapter 108.]

SECTION 3408. Parties to a question in difference which might be the subject of a civil action, may without action present an agreed statement of the facts thereof to any court having jurisdiction of the subject matter.

SEC. 3409. (1844.) It must be shown by affidavit, that the controversy is real, and that the proceeding is in good faith to determine the rights of the parties thereto.
SEC. 3410. The court shall thereupon hear and determine the case, and render judgment thereon, as if an action were pending.

When a controversy is submitted under this section, the court can only determine the questions of law that arise upon the facts agreed upon, and has no power to send the case to a jury for determination of questions of fact, that upon the face of the submission may appear to be doubtful. The court must itself construe the submission. The court itself must settle the matter. Wilson v. Commercial Mutual Ins. Co., 3 Duer, 455.

SEC. 3411. The case, the submission, and the judgment, shall constitute the record.

SEC. 3412. The judgment shall be with costs, and it may be enforced, and shall be subject to review in the same manner, as if it had been rendered in an action, unless otherwise provided for in the submission.

SEC. 3413. The same may be also done, at any time before trial in any action then pending, subject to the same requirements, and attended by the same results as in a case without action, and such submission of a stated case shall be an abandonment by both parties of all pleadings filed in such cause, and the cause shall stand on the agreed case alone, which must provide also for any lien had by any attachment, and for any property in the custody of the law, else such lien and such legal custody will be held waived.

SEC. 3414. The parties may, if they think fit, enter into an agreement, in writing, that upon the judgment of the court being given in the affirmative or negative of the question or the questions of law, raised by such special case, particular property therein described, or a sum of money fixed by the parties, or to be ascertained by the court, or in such manner as the court may direct it, shall be delivered to and vested in one of the parties by the other, or in case of money shall be paid by one of such parties to the other of them, either with or without costs of the action and the judgment of the court may be entered for the transfer and delivery of such property, or for such sum as shall be so agreed, or ascertained with or without costs, as the case may be.

SEC. 3415. In case no agreement shall be entered into as to the costs of such action, the same shall follow the event, and be recovered by the successful party.

CHAPTER 132.

DEPOSITS.

[Code—Chapter 132.]

SEC. 3416. When it is admitted by the pleading or examination of a party, that he has in his possession, or under his control, any mon- Court or judge may order any order- money or property capable of delivery, which is in any degree the subject of deposite. litigation, and which is held by him as trustee for another party, the court, or judge thereof, may order the same to be deposited in the office of the clerk, or delivered to such party, with or without security, subject to the farther direction of the court.

SEC. 3417. Whenever, in the exercise of its authority, a court or judge has ordered the deposit or delivery of money or other property, And compel ob- And compel obedience.
and the order is disobeyed, the court, besides punishing the disobedience, may make an order requiring the sheriff to take the money or property, and deposit or deliver it in conformity with the directions of the court or judge.

Sheriff’s power. Sec. 3418. (2492.) The sheriff has the same power in such cases, as when acting by authority of a writ of replevin.

RECEIVERS.

Section 3419. On the petition of either party to a civil action or proceeding, therein he shows that he has a probable right to any of the property which is the subject of the controversy, and that such property, or its rents and profits, are in danger of being lost or materially injured or impaired, the court, or in vacation, the judge thereof, if satisfied that the interests of one or both the parties will be thereby promoted, and the substantial rights of neither unduly infringed upon, may appoint a receiver to take charge of and control such property under its direction, during the pendency of the action, and may order and coerce the delivery of it to him.

If after the dissolution of a partnership either of the partners makes any use of the partnership property, inconsistent with the winding up of its affairs, it is a fraud on the co-partners, and on the creditors of the partnership, and a court of equity will interfere and take the property out of the hands of such partner, by the appointment of a receiver. Gortner v. The Trustees of the Village of Canajoharie, 2 Barb., 625.

Upon a bill filed by one of the partners to close up a partnership concern, it is a matter of course to appoint a receiver, if the parties cannot agree among themselves as to the disposition and control of the property. And when it is necessary to preserve the good will of the business the receiver may be directed to carry it on, under the direction of the court until a sale can be effected. Martin v. Van Schaick, 1 Paige, 479. When either partner has a right to dissolve the partnership and the articles of copartnership do not provide for the settlement of the concern, upon a complaint, filed for that purpose, by one of the parties, the appointment of a receiver is a matter of course. Law v. Ford, 2 Paige, 310; see Horn v. Walch, 2 Edwd. Ch., 129. The principle upon which a receiver of partnership property is appointed, is with the view of winding up the concerns of the partnership, and dividing the surplus, and not for the purpose of carrying on the partnership business. Hence, as a general rule, a receiver is not appointed except in cases where the plaintiff will be entitled to a decree of dissolution. Jackson v. DeForest, 14 How., 81; see Garretson v. Weaver, 3 Edwd. Ch., 385.

Sec. 3420. Before entering upon the discharge of his duties, he must be sworn faithfully to discharge his trust to the best of his ability, and must also file with the clerk a bond with sureties, to be by him approved, in a penalty to be fixed by the court or judge, and conditioned to the faithful discharge of his duties, and that he will obey the orders of the court in respect thereto.

Sec. 3421. (1638.) Subject to the control of the court, a receiver has power to bring and to defend actions, to take and keep possession of property, to collect debts, to receive the rents and profits of real property, and generally, to do such acts in respect to the property committed to him, as the court may authorize.

A receiver is an officer of the court who appoints him. Booth v. Clarke, 17 How., U. S. Rep., 322. And the court will give such directions to a receiver, on the application of one not a party to the suit, as may be necessary to protect his rights. Vincent v. Parker, 7 Paige, 55. It is a contempt to attempt to deprive a receiver of property of which he is rightfully in possession. Noe v. Gibson, 7 Paige, 513; Albany City Bank v. Schermack, 3 Paige, 372; Parker v. Browning, 8 Paige, 388.

A receiver is not to be discharged on his own application when his duties are not ended, unless he show good cause, especially when it might affect parties. His mere desire, though coupled with a statement of complication of accounts, and the necessity of losing much time in the business of his receivership, is not sufficient. Bears v. Chelsea Bank, 4 Edw. Ch., 77.

A receiver does not merely stand in the place of the debtor, but represents the creditors and may therefore maintain an action to set aside an assignment of real and personal property, made by the debtor in fraud of his creditors. Porter v. Williams, 5 Seld., 142; S. C. 12 How., 107; see Wilson v. Allen, 6 Barb., 544; Gillett v. Moody, 3 Com., 479; Tallmadge v. Pell, 3 Seld., 328.

CHAPTER 134.

SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS.

SECTION 3422. Judgments or final orders may be obtained, on motion, by sureties against their principal, by sureties against their co-sureties, for the recovery of money due them, on account of payments made by them as such; by clients against attorneys; plaintiffs in execution against sheriffs, constables and other officers, for the receiving of money or property collected for them, and damages, and in all other cases specially authorized by statute.

SEC. 3423. Notice of such motion shall be served on the party against whom the judgment or order is sought, at least ten days before the motion is made.

SEC. 3424. The notice shall state, in plain and ordinary language, the nature and grounds of the motion, and the day on which it will be made.

SEC. 3425. Unless the motion is made and filed with the case, on or before the day named in the notice, it shall be considered as abandoned.

SEC. 3426. The motion shall be heard and determined without written pleadings, and judgment given according to law and the rules of equity.

The proceedings upon a motion for judgment on a bond to suspend the sale of personal property, levied upon by execution, are within that class of remedies denominated special or summary, and it is eminently property that no written pleadings should be required, or even allowed, in such cases. Watson v. Gabby, 18 B. M., 662. Stanton's Ky. Code.
CHAPTER 135.

MOTIONS AND ORDERS.

What is an order. SECTION 3427. Every direction of a court or judge, made or entered in writing, and not included in a judgment, is an order.

What a motion. Sec. 3428. A motion is a written application for an order addressed to the court, or to a judge, in vacation, by any party to a suit or proceeding, or by any one interested therein.

What notice to be given of a motion. Sec. 3429. When a party is in court he shall, without service of notice, take notice of any motion made during term on the filing of the same, and notice thereof being entered on the notice book. The same shall be true of a party constructively in court, who has not in fact appeared as to any motion made, either in term or during vacation; but where a party has in fact appeared, notice of any motion made in vacation, and copy of motion, shall be served on him or his attorney.

Qualities of a written notice of motion. Sec. 3430. When notice of a motion is required to be served, it must be in writing, and shall state the names of the parties to the action or proceeding in which it is made, the name of the court or judge before whom it is to be made, the place where, and the day on which it will be heard, and if affidavits are to be used on the hearing, the notice shall state that fact, and it shall be served ten days before hearing, unless the court or judge direct shorter notice.

By whom to be served. Sec. 3431. Notices and copies of motions mentioned in this chapter, may be served by any one who would be authorized to serve an original notice, and may also be served by the attorney of the party making the motion.

Upon whom. Sec. 3432. The service shall be on each of the parties adverse to the motion, if more than one, or on an attorney of record, of such party.

May be personal or by residence. Sec. 3433. The service may be personal on such party or attorney, or may be left at the usual place of residence of the party, in the same manner as is provided for the service of the original notice in civil actions; or it may be served on the attorney, by being left at his office with any person having the charge thereof.

Or as the original notice may be. Sec. 3434. In cases unprovided for specially, the notice and copy may, in order to affect the party adverse, be served on the same persons as those on whom might be served the original notice in the case.

Duty of officer. Sec. 3435. It shall be the duty of any officer authorized to serve any notice and copy, and when such notice and copy shall be delivered to him for service within his county, to serve at once the same, and make prompt return to the party who delivered the same to him, and a failure to do so shall be punished as a disobedience of the process of the court.

Return. Sec. 3436. The return of proof of service must state the manner in which it was made.

Court may define mode of its service. Sec. 3437. When the party has no known place of abode in this state, and no attorney in the county where the action is pending, or where the parties, plaintiffs or defendants, are numerous, the court or judge may direct the mode of serving notices and copies, and to what persons they shall be given.

Several objects included in same motion. Sec. 3438. Several objects may be included in the same motion, if they all grow out of, or are connected with the action or proceeding in which it is made.

Orders made by judge filed. Sec. 3439. Orders made out of court shall forthwith be filed with and entered by the clerk in the journal of the court, in the same manner as orders made in the term.

Sec. 3440. Testimony to sustain or resist a motion, may be presented in the form of affidavits, if the same does not appear otherwise. But on the hearing of any motion, it shall be lawful for the court or judge, at his discretion, and upon such terms as he may think reasonable, from time to time, to order such document as he may think fit, to be produced, and such witnesses as he may think necessary, to appear, and be examined, in his own motion may be taken, either before such court or judge.

Sec. 3441. The motions of chapter 122 shall not be affected by the provisions of this chapter, and all motions made in term to dissolve an attachment in whole or part, or in any way regarding security for costs, or to dismiss a cause for any irregularity, or to change venue, or to continue a cause, or to open up a default, shall be served by mere notice, on the notice book, and may be heard on the morning after that on which notice thereof is served, and sooner, if sooner reached, and necessary to be passed upon before trial, any motion made in term affecting an action or proceeding then pending in such court, may be made on such notice as the court shall direct, or without notice, if the court so direct.

CHAPTER 136.
SECURITY FOR COSTS.

Section 3442. If a defendant shall at any time before answering, make and file an affidavit, stating that he has a good defense in whole or in part, the plaintiff, if he be a non-resident of this state, or a corporation, before any further proceeding in the cause, shall file in the clerk’s office a bond, with a sufficient surety, who must be a resident of the county where suit is brought, to be approved by the clerk, for the payment of all costs which may accrue in the action in the court in which it is brought, or in any other to which it may be carried, either to the defendant or to the officers of the court.

Sec. 3443. An action in which a bond for costs is required by the last section, and has not been given, shall be dismissed on the motion of the defendant at any time before trial, unless in a reasonable time, to be allowed by the court, after the motion is made therefor, such bond is filed securing all past and future costs; and the action shall not be dismissed if a bond for costs is given in such time as the court may allow.

Sec. 3444. If the plaintiff in an action, after its institution, becomes a non-resident of this state, he may be required to give security for costs in the manner and under the restrictions provided in the preceding sections of this chapter.

Sec. 3445. In an action in which a bond for costs has been given, the defendant may at any time before trial, make a motion for additional security on the part of the plaintiff; and if on such motion the court is satisfied that the surety in the plaintiff’s bond has removed from the state, or is not sufficient for the amount thereof, it may dismiss the action unless in a reasonable time, to be fixed by the court, sufficient security is given by the plaintiff.
[PART 3.]

SEC. 3446. No attorney or other officer of the court shall be received as security in any proceeding in court.

SEC. 3447. After final judgment has been rendered in an action in which security for costs has been given as required by this chapter, the court, on motion of the defendant, or any other person having the right to such costs, or any part thereof, may render judgment summarily, according to the chapter on summary proceedings, in the name of the defendant or his legal representatives, against the sureties for costs, for the amount of costs adjudged against the plaintiff, or so much thereof as may remain unpaid.

SEC. 3448. In no other than the cases herein stated, except costs of the clerk, shall a plaintiff be required to give security for any costs, the application for such security shall be by motion, in writing, filed with the case, and the facts supporting it must be shown by affidavits annexed thereto, which may be responded to by counter affidavits, on or before the hearing of the motion, and each party shall file all his affidavits at once, and none thereafter.

CHAPTER 137.

COSTS.

SEC. 3449. Costs shall be recovered by the successful against the losing party. But where the party is successful as to a part of his demand, and fails as to part, unless the case is otherwise provided for, the court may make, on rendering judgment, an equitable apportionment of costs.

SEC. 3450. On all motions the court may give or refuse costs, at its discretion, to the extent of ten dollars, unless where it is otherwise provided by law, which costs may be absolute or directed to abide the event of the action.

SEC. 3451. In actions where there are several plaintiffs, or several defendants, the costs shall be apportioned according to the several judgments rendered; and where there are several causes of action embraced in the same petition, or several issues, the plaintiff shall recover costs upon the issues determined in his favor, and the defendant shall recover costs upon the issues determined in his favor.

SEC. 3452. All costs accrued at the instance of the successful party, which can not be collected out of the other party, may be recovered, on motion, by the persons entitled to them, against the successful party.

SEC. 3453. The necessary fees paid by the successful party, in procuring copies of deeds, bonds, wills, or other records filed as part of the testimony, shall be taxed in the bill of costs.

SEC. 3454. Postage paid by the officers of the court, or by the parties in sending process, depositions and other papers, being part of the record, by mail, shall be taxed in the bill of costs.

SEC. 3455. When a pleading contains a defense stating matter which arose after the commencement of the action, whether such matter of defense be alone or with other matter of defense which arose before the action, the party affected by such matter may confess the same, and thereupon shall be entitled to the costs of the cause, as to the party pleading such matter up to the time of such pleading.

SEC. 3456. When a plaintiff dismisses his action, or any part thereof, or suffers it to abate by the death of the defendant, or other cause, or where the suit abates by the death of the plaintiff, and his representatives fail to revive the same, according to law, judgment for costs may be rendered against such plaintiff or representatives, and if against a representative, shall be paid as other claims against the estate.

SEC. 3457. The co-parties against whom judgment has been recovered, are entitled as between themselves to a taxation of the costs of witnesses whose testimony was obtained at the instance of one of the co-parties, and incurred exclusively to his benefit.

SEC. 3458. Where an action is dismissed from any court for want of jurisdiction, or because it has not been regularly transferred from an inferior to a superior court, the costs shall be adjudged against the party attempting to institute or bring up the cause.

SEC. 3459. When any party recovers costs, the clerk shall include in the costs for the fee of such party's attorney, (if he have one,) five dol-ners.* The clerk shall tax, in favor of the party recovering costs, the allowance of his witnesses, the fees of officers, the compensation of reeferees, the necessary expenses of taking depositions by commission or otherwise, and any further sum for any other matter which the court may have awarded as costs, in the progress of the cause, or may deem just to be taxed.

SEC. 3460. In actions in which the cause of action shall, by assignment, after the commencement of the action, or in any other manner, become the property of a person not a party to the action, such party shall be liable for the costs in the same manner as if he were a party.

SEC. 3461. Any person aggrieved by the taxation of a bill of costs, may, upon application, have the same re-taxed by the court, or by a

* While the act was on its passage, this section was numbered as in the Report on Civil Code, section 845, chapter 31. The lines in italics were by some bitterly assailed as a catch-penny for the lawyers. The friends of the Code who desired, that at that late day in the session, it should not go back to the senate, which it had already passed, urged its passage as it came from the senate with an accompanying assurance that for a separate bill the objectionable matter (the lines aforesaid,) should be struck out. The Code was passed, and the next day the following act was passed.
In enrolling the Civil Code, the sections and chapters, as some had been struck out, had to be re-numbered, and this section came to be 840 in chapter 30. The following 34:—An act to repeal part of section 845 of chapter 31, of the Code of Civil Practice.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the following words be and they are hereby stricken out of section 845, of chapter 31, of the Code of Civil Practice, passed at the present session of the legislature, namely:

"When any party recovers costs, the clerk shall include in the costs, for the fee of such party's attorney, (if he have one,) five dollars." And no attorney's fee, or part thereof, shall in any case be taxed as costs against the losing party, anything in the Code of Civil Practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

The following is the brief remark made by the commissioners on this subject:

One who will not pay another a just debt, save at the end of a law-suit, does such other a wrong which is not fully compensated by the payment of costs. For these costs do not include the plaintiff's loss of time, nor his trouble, nor his fee paid an attorney. In some states this idea of securing more perfect compensation is carried to the extent of allowing a fee, of a considerable amount, to the successful party, on motion or demurrer, and on judgment of a sum graduated by the amount involved, being such a per cent, thereof. It is not deemed well to introduce that principle, except in the form indicated, and you will fill the blank with what sum you please. It will be remembered that we have as a security to good pleading: provided, that the discretion of the court may tax costs against the failing party within a small margin.

Survivor and Revivor of Actions.

PART 3.

SECTION 3462. In cases of appeals from the district court, the clerk shall make a complete bill of costs, showing the items which shall accompany the record, and a copy of the same shall be placed upon the execution docket of the court below.

SECTION 3463. When the costs accrued in the supreme court and the court below, are paid to the clerk of the supreme court, he shall pay so much of them as accrued in the court below to the clerk of said court, and take his receipt for the same.

SECTION 3464. On receiving such costs, the clerk of the court below shall charge himself with the money upon his execution docket, and pay it to the persons entitled to the same.

SECTION 3465. The law of costs shall be construed remedially, and not as the penal law. And if any case shall occur not directly or by fair implication embraced in the express provisions of the law, the court may make such disposition of the costs, as in its sound discretion may seem right.

SECTION 3466. When the judgment is for the recovery of money, interest from the time of the verdict or report until judgment be finally entered, shall be computed by the clerk and added to the costs of the party entitled thereto.

CHAPTER 138.

Survivor and Revivor of Actions.

SECTION 3467. No cause of action, ex delicto, dies with either or both the parties, but the prosecution thereof may be commenced or continued by or against their personal representatives.*

The reasons which caused the abatement at common law, are now removed. When the king was the source of the original writ, it was not quite without a reason that the action based on it should die with him; and we find that till the time of Edward 1st, such was true. So, also, in cases of trespass, as there was with a judgment for the plaintiff, a fine also adjudged to the king as a punishment on defendant for his breach of the king's peace, such action partook of the nature of a criminal one, and as there remained after the death of the defendant no longer any power of punishment, it was not without reason that such action should, as it did, abate, on the defendant's death. And on such reasons chiefly rested the principle of abatement. As actions for injuries now look to mere compensation, there seems no reason why the death of either the wrong doer or the wrong sufferer should defeat that remedy. The fact that a judgment will or will not be collected, would seem to be the best criterion, and might most safely be left to the plaintiff or his representatives. A distinction was also made to the effect that whether the estate of the plaintiff was injured or not, should determine the right of the personal representative to continue or to originate an action. But you can not draw any exact line among rights, and say that the invasion of none on such side ever affect the estate—the wealth of the plaintiff. A slander which cripples the father's power of exertion, and limits his sphere of successful activity—or a grievous assault which does the same thing, may be as severe an injury to his children, as the breach of a contract by which it is very Revivor of Actions.

SEC. 3468. Where there are several plaintiffs or defendants in an action, and one of them dies, or his powers as personal representative cease, if the right of action survive to or against the remaining parties, the action may proceed; the death of the party, or the cessation of his powers, being stated in the record.

SEC. 3469. When one of the parties to an action dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease before the judgment, if the right of action survive in favor of, or against his representatives or successor, the action may be revived and proceed in their names.

SEC. 3470. The revivor shall be by a conditional order of the court, that the action be revived in the names of the representatives or successors of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, and proceed in favor of or against them.

SEC. 3471. The order may be made on the motion of the adverse party, or of the representatives or successors of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, suggesting his death, or the cessation of his powers, which, with the names and capacities of his representatives, or successor, shall be stated in the order.

SEC. 3472. If the order is made by consent of the parties, the action shall forthwith stand revived; and if not made by consent, the order shall be served in the same manner, and returned within the same time, as an original notice, upon the party adverse to the one making the motion, and if sufficient cause be not shown against the revivor at that term of court at which the defendant would be bound to appear were the notice an original one, the action shall stand revived.

SEC. 3473. Upon the death of a plaintiff in an action, it may be revived in the names of his representatives, to whom his right has passed. Where his right has passed to his personal representatives, the revivor shall be in his name; where it has passed to his heirs or devisees who could support the action if brought anew, the revivor may be in their names.

SEC. 3474. Upon the death of a defendant in an action, wherein the right or any part thereof, survives against his personal representatives, the revivor shall be against him; and it may also be against his heirs or devisees of the defendant, or both, when the right of action, or any part thereof, survives against them.

SEC. 3475. Upon the death of a defendant in an action for the recovery of real property, only, or which concerns only his rights or claims to such property, the action may be revived against his heirs or devisees, or both, and an order therefor, may be forthwith made in the manner directed in the preceding sections of this title.

SEC. 3476. An order to revive an action against the representatives, or successor of a defendant, shall not be made, without the consent of clear that his wealth devolving on them, has been diminished to the extent of one or one thousand dollars. This idea has grown up amid a state of things, wherein property was nearly all, and man was nearly nothing. We would put man and those attributes that make him such, and those excellencies that adorn him as such—so far as the same are protected by law—upon as high a plane of protection, as mere chattel interests. And as the law has established itself the guardian of this higher class of rights, when such have been illegally invaded, we would transmit the right to his representatives to vindicate these as well as others less cherished. This is getting to be the way of looking at these things now, and we think we are not advancing beyond the intention of our present Code as in section 2502. Report on Civil Code, p. 332.
such representatives or successor, unless it be made within one year from the time it could have been first made.

Sec. 3477. An order to revive an action in the names of the representatives or successor of a plaintiff may be made forthwith, but shall not be made without the consent of the defendant after the expiration of one year from the time the order might have been first made; but where the defendant shall also have died, or his powers have ceased in the mean time, the order of revivor on both sides may be made in the period limited in the last section.

Sec. 3478. When it appears to the court by affidavit, that either party to an action has been dead, or where a party sues, or is sued as a personal representative, that his powers have ceased for a period, so long, that the action can not be revived in the names of his representatives, or successors, without the consent of both parties, it shall order the action to be stricken from the docket.

Sec. 3479. At any term of the court succeeding the death of the plaintiff, while the action remains on the docket, the defendant having given to the plaintiff's proper representatives, in whose names the action might be revived, ten days' notice of the application therefor may have an order to strike the action from the docket, and for costs against the estate of the plaintiff unless the action is forthwith revived.

Sec. 3480. When by the provisions of the preceding sections, an action stands revived, the trial thereof shall not be postponed by reason of the revivor; if the action would have stood for trial at the term, the revivor is complete, had no death, or cessation of powers taken place.

CHAPTER 139.

REVIVOR OF JUDGMENTS.

Section 3481. An execution may be issued on a judgment at any time, until the collection of it is barred by the statute of limitations, although no execution may have been previously issued thereon.

Sec. 3482. The death of one or all the plaintiffs shall not prevent an execution being issued thereon, but on such execution, the clerk shall indorse the death of such of them as are dead, and if all be dead, the names of the personal representatives, or the last survivor, if the judgment passed to the personal representatives, or the names of the survivor's heirs, if the judgment was for real property.

Where judgment has been rendered against all the defendants, without noticing the death of one, it is proper for the court to order the execution to issue in the names of the survivors. Simpon, J., Webb's admin'r v. Hill, Miss. opin., January, 1856. Stanton's Ky. Code.

Sec. 3483. The sheriff, in acting upon an execution indorsed as provided in the last section, shall proceed as if the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs, or the personal representatives or heirs, were the only plaintiffs in the execution, and take bonds accordingly.

Sec. 3484. Before making the indorsements named above, an affidavit shall be filed with the clerk by one of the plaintiffs, or personal representatives, or heirs, or their attorney, of the death, and that the persons named as such, are the personal representatives or heirs, and in the case of personal representatives, they shall file with the clerk a certificate of their qualifications, according to law in this state.

SEC. 3485. The death of part only of the defendants, shall not prevent execution being issued, which, however, shall operate alone on the survivors and their property.

SEC. 3486. The defendant may move the court to quash an execution, on the ground that the personal representatives, or heirs of a deceased plaintiff are not properly stated in the indorsement on the execution, and during the vacation of the court, may obtain an injunction, upon its being made to appear that the persons named are not entitled to the judgment on which the execution was issued.

CHAPTER 140.*

WRIT OF CERTIORARI.

[Code—Chapter 113.]

SECTION 3487. The writ of certiorari may be granted whenever specially authorized by law, and especially in all cases where an inferior tribunal, board or officer, exercising judicial functions, is alleged to have exceeded his proper jurisdiction, or is otherwise acting illegally, when in the judgment of the court applied to for the writ there is no other plain, speedy and adequate remedy.

SEC. 3488. (1966.) The writ may be granted by the district court of the proper county, but if to be directed to a district court or the judge thereof, then by the supreme court—and shall command the defendant therein to certify fully to the court from which the same issues, at a specified time and place, a transcript of the records and proceedings, as well as the facts in the case, (describing and referring to them, or any of them with convenient certainty) and also to have then and there the writ.

SEC. 3489. (1967.) If a stay of proceedings is sought, the court may require a bond, and may fix the penalty and conditions thereof.

SEC. 3490. The petition for this writ must state facts constituting a case, wherein the writ may issue, and must be sworn to, and the court may require a notice of the application to be given to the adverse party, or may make an order to show cause why the writ should not issue, or may, in its discretion, grant the writ without notice.

SEC. 3491. (1969.) The writ must be served and the proof of such service made in the same manner as is prescribed for the original notice return in a civil action, except that the original shall be left with the defendant and the return or proof of service made upon a copy thereof.

SEC. 3492. (1970.) If the return of the writ be defective, the court if defective may order a farther return to be made, and may compel obedience to the writ, and to such farther order, by attachment, if necessary.

SEC. 3493. (1971.) When a full return has been made, the court Court's action.

purpose, and may thereupon give judgment affirming or annulling the proceedings below, or in its discretion, correcting those proceedings, and prescribing the manner in which the defendant shall proceed farther in the matter.

SEC. 3494. (1972.) From the decision of the district court, an appeal lies to the supreme court, as in other cases.

CHAPTER 141.

PROCEEDINGS TO REVERSE, VACATE OR MODIFY JUDGMENTS.

(Code—Chapters 112 and 114.)

Where judgment or order may be reversed.

SECTION 3495. A judgment rendered or order made in the district court, or by a judge thereof, may be reversed, vacated or modified, either by the supreme court or by the district court in which the judgment was rendered or order made.

SEC. 3496. A judgment or order may be reversed or modified by the supreme court for errors appearing on the record.

By appeal.

SEC. 3497. The proceedings to obtain such reversal or modification shall be by appeal as prescribed by law.

Mistake of clerk.

SEC. 3498. A mistake of the clerk shall not be ground for an appeal until the same has been presented and acted upon by the district court.

The court of appeals can not reverse a cause for a clerical misprison until the circuit court refuses on application, to correct it. An error of the clerk in misstating in a judgment, the time when interest begins to run, is such a misprison.

Wilson, etc. v. Barnes, 13 B. M., 332.

An error in the date from which interest is to be computed, in entering judgment upon a note or bill of exchange, or allowing costs of protest, will not be cause of reversal, unless the circuit court has refused to correct it on motion. Clark, etc. v. Finnell, etc., 16 B. M., 334.

In the court which rendered the judgment.

SEC. 3499. The district court in which a judgment has been rendered, or by which, or by the judge of which a final order has been made, shall have power after the term at which such judgment or order was made to vacate or modify such judgment or order:

1. By granting a new trial for the cause, within the time, and in the manner prescribed by sections on new trials.

2. By a new trial granted on proceedings against defendants served by publication only, as prescribed in section 3160.

3. For mistake, neglect or omission of the clerk or irregularity in obtaining a judgment or order.
4. For fraud practiced by the successful party in obtaining the judgment or order.

5. For erroneous proceedings against an infant, married woman, or person of unsound mind, when the condition of such defendant does not appear in the record, nor the errors in the proceedings.

6. For the death of one of the parties before the judgment in the action.

7. For unavoidable casualty or misfortune preventing the party from prosecuting or defending.

8. For error in a judgment shown by an infant within twelve months after arriving at full age.

In Bennett v. East, 7 Ind. R., 174, it was held that infants on arriving at age, should proceed by way of review for error in judgments upon which their lands had been sold.

It has been held that where a party prosecutes a proceeding to review a judgment, he can not appeal from the judgment reviewed. The appeal must be from the judgment in the proceedings for review. Ind. Dig., 122, section 42; 7 Ind., 25.

SEC. 3500. The proceedings to correct mistakes, or omission of the clerk, or irregularity in obtaining a judgment or order shall be, by motion served on the adverse party, or on his attorney in the action, and within one year, and when made to vacate a judgment because of irregularity in obtaining it, must be made on the second day of the succeeding term.

SEC. 3501. The proceedings to obtain the benefit of sub-divisions 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, of section 3499, shall be by petition, verified by affidavit setting forth the judgment or order, the facts or errors constituting a cause to vacate or modify it, and the facts constituting a defense to the action if the party applying was a defendant, and such proceedings must be commenced within one year after the judgment or order was made, unless the party entitled thereto be an infant, married woman or person of unsound mind, and then within one year from the removal of such disability.

SEC. 3502. In such proceedings the party shall be brought into court, in the same way, on the same notice as to time, mode of service, and mode of return, and the pleadings shall be governed by the principles, and issues be made up by the same formula, and all the proceedings conducted in the same way as near as can be as in an original action by ordinary proceedings according to this code, except that defendant shall introduce no new cause, and the cause of the petition shall alone be tried.

SEC. 3503. The judgment shall not be vacated on motion or petition, until it is adjudged that there is a valid defense to the action in which the judgment is rendered, or if the plaintiff seeks its vacation, that there is a valid cause of action, and when a judgment is modified, all liens and securities obtained under it shall be preserved to the modified judgment.

SEC. 3504. The court may first try and decide upon the grounds to vacate or modify a judgment or order before trying or deciding upon the validity of the defense or cause of action.

SEC. 3505. The party seeking to vacate or modify a judgment or order, may obtain an injunction suspending proceedings on the whole or part thereof, which injunction may be granted by the court or the judge thereof, upon its being rendered probable, by affidavit or petition sworn to, or by exhibition of the record, that the party is entitled to have such judgment or order vacated or modified.
Results if the judgment be affirmed.

SEC. 3506. In all cases of affirmance of the judgment or order, when the proceedings have been suspended, judgment shall be rendered against the plaintiff in error for the amount of the former judgment, interest and costs, together with damages at the discretion of the court, not exceeding ten per cent. on the amount of the judgment.

Appeals from the District Court to the Supreme Court.

SEC. 3507. The appeal shall not be taken, except within one year from the rendition of the judgment or order, unless the party taking the same was an infant, married woman, or of unsound mind, at the time of its rendition; in which cases, such parties or their legal representatives may take an appeal within one year after the removal of their disability or death, whichever may first happen.

SEC. 3508. The cause shall be docketed as it was in the court below, and the party taking the appeal shall be called the appellant, and the other party the appellee.

SEC. 3509. An appeal shall not be perfected until the notice thereof has been served upon both the party and the clerk, and the clerk paid or secured, (unless already secured,) his fees for a transcript; whereupon the clerk shall forthwith transmit by mail, express, or a safe and less expensive messenger, not a party, nor the attorney of a party, a transcript of the record in the cause, or of so much thereof as the appellant in writing in the notice has directed, to which shall be appended copies of the notices of appeal, and of the supersedeas bond, if any.

SEC. 3510. In an action by ordinary proceedings, and in an action by equitable proceedings, tried by the second method of trying equitable actions, all proper entries made by the clerk, and all papers pertaining to the cause, and filed therein, (except subpoenas, depositions, and other papers which are used as mere evidence,) are to be deemed part of the record. But in an action by equitable proceedings tried by the first method of trying equitable actions, the depositions and all papers which were used as evidence, are to be certified up to the supreme court, and shall be so certified, not by transcript, but in the original form. But a transcript of a motion, affidavit, or other paper, when it relates to a collateral matter, shall not be certified, unless by direction of the appellant. If so certified, when not material to the determination of the appeal, the court may direct the person blamed therefor to pay the costs thereof.

SEC. 3511. The notices of appeal must be served fifteen days before the first day of the next term of the supreme court, or the same shall not then be tried, unless the appellee shall give the appellant, ten days before the term, notice indicating that he will insist on a hearing at such term, in which event the cause shall be heard at such term, unless the appellant shall, on a sufficient showing, obtain a continuance.
SEC. 3514. If the appellant having taken an appeal fifteen days before the term, fails to file a transcript in the supreme court, on the morning of the first day of that part of the term devoted to causes from the district whence comes the appeal, or if not taken as many as fifteen days before the term, he fail to have the case so filed at the next succeeding term on the morning aforesaid, in either event, unless the appellant file at the time, when such transcript should be filed, the certificate of the clerk stating when he was served with notice, and that he has not had sufficient time to prepare a transcript, the appellee may file a transcript of the judgment, and of the notice served on the clerk, and may, on motion, have the appeal dismissed, or the judgment affirmed.

SEC. 3515. If the transcript has been sent up, but the appellant does not file the same, when the same should be filed as herein provided, the appellee may file the same, and may, on motion, have the appeal dismissed, or the judgment affirmed, as the court from the circumstances of the case shall determine.

SEC. 3516. If, the transcript being filed, errors are not assigned by the morning of the first of those days devoted to causes from the district whence comes the appeal, the appellee may, on motion, have the appeal dismissed, or the judgment or order affirmed, unless a good cause for the failure is shown by affidavit.

SEC. 3517. (1979.) A part of several co-parties may appeal, but in such case they must serve notice of the appeal upon all the other co-parties, and file the proof thereof with the clerk of the supreme court.

SEC. 3518. If the other co-parties refuse to join, they can not nor can any of them take an appeal afterwards; nor shall they derive any benefit from the appeal, unless from the necessity of the case.

SEC. 3519. Unless they appear and decline to join, they shall be deemed to have joined, and shall be liable for their due proportion of costs.

SEC. 3520. The death of one or all of the parties shall not cause the proceedings to abate, but the names of the proper persons shall be substituted, as is provided in such cases in the district court, and the cause may proceed. The court may also, in such case grant a continuance, when such a course will be calculated to promote the ends of justice.

SEC. 3521. Where appellant has no right, or no further right to prosecute the appeal, the appellee may move to dismiss the appeal, and if the grounds of the motion do not appear in the record, or by a writing, purporting to have been signed by the appellant, and filed, they must be verified by affidavit.

SEC. 3522. The appellee may by answer filed and verified by himself, agent or attorney, plead any facts which render the taking of the appeal improper, or destroy the appellant’s right of further prosecuting the same, to which answer the appellant may file a reply, likewise verified by himself, his agent or attorney, and the questions of law or fact therein shall be determined by the court.

SEC. 3523. The service of all notices of appeal, or in any way growing out of such right, or connected therewith, and all notices in the supreme court, shall be in the way provided for the service of like notices in the district court, and they may be served by the same person and returned in the same manner, and the original notice of appeal must be returned, immediately after service, to the office of the clerk of the district court where the suit is pending.
SEC. 3524. It shall be the duty of the appellant to file a perfect transcript, and to that end the clerk of the district court must at any time on his suggestion of the diminution of the record, and on the payment of fees, certify up any omitted part of the record, according to the truth, as the same appears in his office of record; and such applicant shall not be entitled to any continuance, in order to correct the record, unless it shall clearly appear to the court that he is not in fault. Subject to which requirement, either party may, on motion before trial day, obtain an order on the clerk of the district court, commanding him to transmit at once to the supreme court, a true copy of such imperfect or omitted part of the record, as shall be in general terms described in the affidavit or order. Such motion must be supported by affidavit, unless the diminution be apparent or admitted by the adverse party, and must not be granted unless the court is satisfied that it is not made for delay.

SEC. 3525. Where a view of an original paper in the action may be important to a correct decision of the appeal, the court may order the clerk of the district court to transmit the same, which he shall do in some safe mode, to the clerk of the supreme court, who shall hold the same subject to the control of the court.

SEC. 3526. The appellant may be required to give security for costs, under the same circumstances as those in which plaintiffs in civil actions in the district court, may be so required.

SEC. 3527. An appeal shall not stay proceedings on the judgment or order, or any part thereof, unless a supersedeas is issued, and no appeal or supersedeas shall vacate or affect the lien of the judgment appealed from.

SEC. 3528. A supersedeas shall not be issued until the appellant shall cause to be executed before the clerk of the court which rendered the judgment or order, by one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by such clerk, a bond to the effect that the appellant shall pay to the appellee all costs and damages that shall be adjudged against the appellant on the appeal; also that he will satisfy and perform the judgment or order appealed from, in case it shall be affirmed, and any judgment or order which the supreme court may render, or order to be rendered, by the inferior court, not exceeding in amount or value the original judgment or order, and all rents, or hire, or damages to property during the pendency of the appeal, out of the possession of which the appellee is kept by reason of the appeal. If the bond is intended to stay proceedings, on only a part of the judgment or order, it shall be varied so as to secure the part superseded alone. When such bond has been approved by the clerk, and filed, he shall issue a written order commanding the appellee and all others, to stay proceedings on such judgment or order, or on such part as is superseded as the case may be.

SEC. 3529. If the appellee believe the supersedeas bond defective, or the sureties insufficient, he may move the supreme court, if in session or in its vacation, on ten days' written notice to the appellant, may move any judge of said court, or the judge of the district court where the appeal was taken, to discharge the supersedeas, and if the court, or such judge, shall consider the sureties insufficient, or the bond substantially defective in securing the rights of the appellee, the court or such judge, shall issue an order discharging the supersedeas, unless a good bond, with sufficient sureties, be executed by a day by him fixed. The order, if made by a judge, shall be in writing, and signed by him, and upon its filing, or the filing of a certified copy of the order when made in court, in the office of the clerk of the district court, execution and other proceedings for enforcing the judgment or order may be taken, if a new and good bond is not filed and approved by the day fixed as aforesaid.

SEC. 3530. But another supersedeas may be issued by the clerk, further supersedue if good bond given.

SEC. 3531. If the judgment or order is for the payment of money, the penalty shall be in at least twice the amount of the judgment and costs. If not for the payment of money, the penalty shall be sufficient to save the appellee harmless from the consequences of taking the appeal. But it shall in no case be less than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 3532. The taking of the appeal from a part of a judgment or order, and the filing of a bond as above directed, does not cause a stay of execution as to any part of the judgment or order not appealed from.

SEC. 3533. (1987.) If execution has issued prior to giving the bond contemplated, the clerk shall countermand the same.

SEC. 3534. (1988.) Property levied upon and not sold at the time such countermand is received by the sheriff, shall forthwith be delivered up to the judgment debtor.

Trial and Decision.

SEC. 3535. The clerk shall arrange the appeals upon the docket, setting a proper number for each day of the term, and placing together those from the same judicial district.

SEC. 3536. The supreme court may reverse or affirm the judgment or order below, or the part of either appealed from, or may render such judgment or order as the district court or judge should have done, according as it may think proper.

SEC. 3537. (1986.) The supreme court, where it affirms the judgment, shall also, if the appellee moves therefor, render judgment against the appellant and his sureties on the bond above mentioned, for the amount of the judgment, damages and costs referred to therein, in case such damages can be accurately known to the court without an issue and trial.

SEC. 3538. Upon the affirmance of any judgment or order for the payment of money, the collection of which, in whole or part, has been superseded by bond, as above contemplated, the court shall award to the appellee damages upon the amount superseded; and if satisfied by the record, that the appeal was taken for delay only, must award such sum as damages, not exceeding fifteen per cent. thereon, as shall effectually tend to prevent the taking of appeals for delay only.

SEC. 3539. If the supreme court affirm the judgment or order, it may remand the same to the district court to have the same carried into effect, or it may itself issue the necessary process for this purpose, and direct such process to the sheriff of the proper county, according as the party thereto may require.

SEC. 3540. (1992.) If by the decision of the supreme court, the appellant becomes entitled to a restoration of any part of the money or property that was taken from him by means of such judgment or order, either the supreme or district court may direct execution or writ of restitution to issue for the purpose of restoring to such appellant his property or value thereof.

SEC. 3541. (1993.) Property acquired by a bona-fide purchaser, when not under a judgment subsequently reversed, shall not be affected by such reversal.
SEC. 3542. The supreme court shall have power to enforce its mandates upon inferior courts and officers, by fine and imprisonment, which imprisonment may be continued until obeyed.

SEC. 3543. If a petition for re-hearing be filed, the same shall suspend the decision or procedendo, if the court, on its presentation, or one of the judges, if in vacation, shall so order, in either of which cases such decision and procedendo shall be suspended until the next term.

SEC. 3544. The petition for re-hearing shall be the argument of the applicant therefor, and if the court think that such argument requires a reply, it shall so indicate to the other party, and he may make reply within such time as said court shall allow, and with a view to a re-hearing, the court may extend the suspension of proceedings yet further, if need be.

SEC. 3545. A judgment or order shall not be reversed for an error which can be corrected, on motion, in the inferior court, until such motion has been made there and overruled.

SEC. 3546. An assignment of error need follow no stated form, but must, in a way, as specific as the case will allow, point out the very error objected to. Among several points in a demurrer, or in a motion, or instructions, or rulings in an exception, it must designate which is relied on as an error, and the court will only regard errors which are assigned with the required exactness; but the court must decide on each error assigned.

SEC. 3547. All motions must be entered in the motion book, and shall stand over till the next morning after that morning on which entered and till after having been publicly called by the court, unless the parties otherwise agree, and the adverse party shall be deemed to have notice of such motion.

SEC. 3548. The court shall hear all the causes docketed, when not continued by consent, or for causes shown by the party, and the party may be heard orally or otherwise, in his discretion.

SEC. 3549. When the court takes a cause under advisement, it shall file its opinion at the next term which is held thereafter at the capital.

SEC. 3550. No cause is decided until the opinion in writing is filed with the clerk.

SEC. 3551. If remanded to the district court to be carried into effect, such decision, and the order of the court thereon, being certified thereto and entered on the records of that court, shall have the same force and effect as if made and entered during the session of the court in that district.

SEC. 3552. Executions issued from the supreme court shall be the same as those from the district court, and attended with the same consequences, and shall be returnable in the same time.

SECTION 3553. The petition in replevin must be sworn to, and it must state:

1. A particular description of the property claimed.
2. Its actual value, and where there are several articles, the actual value of each.
3. The facts constituting the plaintiff's right to the present possession thereof, and must define the extent of his interest in the property, whether it be full or qualified ownership.
4. That it was neither taken on the order or judgment of a court against him, nor under an execution or attachment against him, or against the property. But if it was taken by either of these modes, then it must state the facts constituting an exemption from seizure by such process.
5. The facts constituting the alleged cause of detention thereof, according to his best belief.
6. The amount of damages which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover for the detention thereof.

* Sections 4175 and 4176 are as follows

Sec 4175 In replevin there shall be no joinder of any but another cause of replevin; no shall there be allowed any set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand.

Sec 4176 A money judgment obtained in replevin for property, which property was in whole or part exempt from execution, shall also be to the same extent exempt from execution to the party obtaining it, and from all set-off or diminution, either by the party against whom the same is, or by any other person, and where the facts are so and the party desires it, the record shall state the facts of such total or partial exemption, and all the provisions of this and the preceding section shall also obtain as to an action of detinue. And concerning these sections the report on the Civil Code, p 343, says:

To allow a cross demand in replevin, would let a man take by force his debtor's goods, which were exempt from execution, and when sued in replevin, to keep them away and make his debt a cross demand, to cancel the money judgment which might be got against him. To prevent this defeat of the exemption law, this and the next sections are provided.

The action of replevin was peculiar at common law in allowing a defendant to become an defendant to become an action on plaintiff. The defense herein, while it is strictly more defense and may consist of matters somewhat in the nature of counter-claim, as allowed in other actions, can not be by an actual plea of counter claim which would allow an actual reply, and thus name the issue. And so there is need that the plaintiff state more than a present factum casus, or in other words that he, as in the former chancery bill, anticipate the defense and meet it. Such petition contains the matter which would be found in the declaration and replication, according to the common law. The result is that a denial of such petition makes the same issue as would have been done by a reply. This is the theory of replevin, as used in the new system, wherein adopted The statement of the extent of the interest which the plaintiff has in the property, required by subdivision 3 of this section, will avoid the necessity of giving a bill, which has a more temporary right, a money judgment for the whole value of the property, but will seem him in the use of the property, or if that is not be got, in the real value of his interest thereon. A sheriff who has on property an interest to the extent of the execution in his hands, if on replevin from him, he succeed, let him give alternative judgment for the possession, or the value of such interest, which will be measured by what he, if not the party, might make out of it, and so more. By section 3762, it is provided, that if one party have no interest, then the other shall have a money judgment for the total value. The fourth subdivision of this section will remove some doubt which has existed since a late decision. Report on Civil Code, p 333.
It seems that an answer averring property in the defendant, or a third person, amounts to a denial of the plaintiff's right, and puts the burden of the issue on him. Ind. Dig., p. 52.

In determining who has the affirmative of an issue, regard is had to the substance and effect of the issue, rather than to the form of it. McLees et al. v. Felt, 11 Ind. R., 218 Replevin for a quantity of merchandise. Answer in avoidance, setting up that the defendant was entitled to a lien upon the goods for freight, wherefore the plaintiffs were not entitled to the possession of them. Reply in denial. Held, that the burden of the issue was upon the defendant, and that he was entitled to open and close; and this, notwithstanding the rule that allegations of value and amount of damage are not considered as true, if not controverted, and notwithstanding the duty of the jury, in such cases, to assess the value of the property and the damages for its detention; for the question as to such value and damages were merely incidental to the main question, as to the right to the possession of property. Ibid.

Under issues where a successful defendant would be entitled to the return of the property, the jury should find its value; and failing to do so, may be sent back to perfect their verdict. Ind. Dig., p. 55. But they need not find whether the property is capable of being returned. The court may determine that question. Ind. Dig., p. 56.

If the party in possession, by any act of his, puts it out of the power of the other party to prove the precise value of the property, the jury may assess the highest value of an article of that description. Lea v. Gates, 10 Ind. R., 161; Ind. Dig., 261.

Sec. 3554. He shall also execute a bond to the defendant, with sureties, to be approved by the clerk, in a penalty at least equal to twice the value of the property sought, conditioned that he will appear at the next term of the court, and prosecute his suit to judgment, and return the property, if a return be awarded, and also pay all costs and damages that may be adjudged against him. This bond shall be filed with the clerk of the court, and is for the use of any person injured by the proceeding, and a judgment for money rendered against the plaintiff shall go against the sureties on the bond.*

Sec. 3555. (1907.) The clerk shall thereupon issue a writ of replevin directed to the sheriff, to take the property therein described and deliver the same to the plaintiff. The ordinary original notice must also be served on the defendant in the usual manner.

Sec. 3556. When any of the property is removed to another county after the commencement of the action, counterparts of the writ of replevin may issue on the demand of the plaintiff, to such other county, and may be executed upon such goods found in such county, and farther writs of replevin and the necessary counterparts thereof may issue as often as may be necessary.

Sec. 3557. The sheriff must forthwith execute the writ by taking possession of the property therein mentioned, if it is found in the possession of the defendant, or of his agent, or of any other person who obtained possession thereof from the defendant, directly or indirectly, after the writ was placed in the sheriff's hands, for which purpose he may break open any dwelling house or other inclosure, having first demanded entrance and exhibited his authority, if required.

Sec. 3558. When it appears by affidavit that the property claimed has been disposed of or concealed, so that the writ can not be executed, the court may compel the attendance of the defendant, and examine the defendant on oath to discover property.

*It will prevent cost, delay, and circuity of action, to allow, as is here done, the judgment which is for money, to be rendered also against the sureties on the bond. Report on Civil Code, p. 333.
him on oath as to the situation of the property, and punish a willful obstruction or hindrance of the writ, and a disobedience of the order of the court in this respect, as in case of contempt.

SEC. 3559. The sheriff must return the writ on or before the first day of the trial term, and shall state fully what he has done thereunder. If he has taken any property he shall describe particularly the same.

SEC. 3560. The officer having taken the property, or any part thereof, shall forthwith deliver the same to the plaintiff.

SEC. 3561. If a third person claim the property or any part thereof, the plaintiff may amend and bring him in as a co-defendant, or the defendant may obtain his substitution by the proper mode, or the claimant may himself intervene by the process of intervenor.

SEC. 3562. The judgment shall determine which party is entitled to the possession of the property, and shall designate his right therein, and if such party have not the possession thereof, shall also determine the value of the right of such party, which right shall be absolute as to an adverse party having no right in such property, and shall also award such damages to either party as he may be entitled to, for illegal detention of such property.*

If the plaintiff in an action of replevin take a nonsuit, the defendant is entitled to the same judgment and damages as if he had recovered a verdict against the plaintiff. Smith v. Winston, 10 Mo. Rep., 299. Where the plaintiff fails to prosecute his suit with effect, the assessment of damages is imperative. Heed v. Wilson and Garner, 13 Mo. Rep., 28.

SEC. 3563. The party entitled thereto, may have execution for the money found due him, or may, in his discretion, have execution for the delivery of the property, and if the property, or any article thereof, can not be obtained on execution, he may have execution for the value of such article.

Examination of defendant after judgment.

SEC. 3564. When it appears by the return of the officer, or by the affidavit of the plaintiff, that any specific property which has been adjudged to belong to one party, has been concealed or removed by the other, the court, or a judge may require him to attend and be examined on oath, respecting such matter, and may enforce its order in this respect as in cases of contempt.

† Why should a party be allowed to obtain wrongfully and then keep another's property, on his choice to pay for it, and to remit the wronged party to a money judgment! And why should the party who fails to obtain his property before a judgment, be compelled to accept of mere money? Better not leave this choice to the wrong doer, but on the contrary, confer it on the party injured. Report on Civil Code, p. 333.
Chapter 143.

Detinue.

Section 3565. An action may be had in which the plaintiff may claim the delivery of personal property to be made after judgment, or the value thereof, in his discretion, if the specific property can not then be obtained.

Sec. 3566. The petition must be sworn to, and must conform to the requirements of sub-divisions one, two, three, four, five and six, of section 3553 of the chapter on replevin.

Sec. 3567. The judgment shall define and declare the plaintiff’s title, if he establishes the same, and shall also declare the value of such right, as in replevin.

Sec. 3568. The plaintiff having obtained such alternative judgment, shall stand in the position of a party in replevin, having such judgment, and shall enjoy the same right of choice and the same appliances to enforce the same and all his rights therein, which such party in replevin enjoys.

It is very unjust to make a man’s legal right to get back his only cow taken from him by a wrong doer, depend on his ability to give a bond for twice its value. It would be better to provide that a judgment obtained should stand to him instead of a bond, and entitle him to the same rights. This we have done. By allowing the plaintiff to choose whether he will take the money judgment or insist upon having the actual thing taken where it can be got, we only restore the action of detinue to its original use. See Finlason, p. 428. The English common law commissioners recommended, and the act of 1852 provided, that the court or judge might in all cases, where chattels were determined to belong to a party, compel, where it was practicable, their delivery to him. And the working of the act is well approved. Report on Civil Code, p. 334.
CHAPTER 144.

ACTIONS FOR THE RECOVERY OF REAL PROPERTY.

[Code—Chapter 116.]

SECTION 3569. (2000.) Any person having a valid subsisting interest in real property and a right to the immediate possession thereof, may recover the same by action, which may be brought against any person acting as owner, landlord, or tenant of the property claimed.

SEC. 3570. The petition need but state generally, without stating the facts constituting the right, that the plaintiff is entitled to the possession of the premises, particularly describing them, also the quantity of his estate and the extent of his interest therein, and that the defendant unlawfully keeps him out of possession, and the damages, if any, which he claims for withholding the property; but if he claims other damages than rents and profits, he shall state the facts constituting the cause thereof.*

SEC. 3571. Whenever it appears that the defendant is only a tenant, the landlord may be substituted, notice thereof being given him, as in an original action.

SEC. 3572. When the defendant is a non-resident, having an agent of record for the property in the state, service may be made upon such agent in the same manner and with the like effect as though made on the principal.

SEC. 3573. The answer of the defendant and of each, if more than one, must set forth what part of the land he claims, and what interest he claims therein, generally and without the facts constituting the right, and if as mere tenant, the name and residence of his landlord, and need state nothing more than this.

SEC. 3574. (2006.) The court may grant continuances in cases of this nature, for reasons of less importance than those required to be set forth in ordinary civil actions.

SEC. 3575. (2007.) Where the defendant makes defense, it is not necessary to prove him in possession of the premises.

SEC. 3576. (2008.) The plaintiff can not recover for the use and occupation of the premises for more than six years prior to the commencement of the action.

SEC. 3577. (2009.) When the plaintiff shows himself entitled to the immediate possession of the premises, judgment shall be entered and a writ of possession issued accordingly.

SEC. 3578. An action for the recovery of real property against a person in possession can not be prejudiced by any alienation made by such person either before or after the commencement of the action.

SEC. 3579. (2010.) If the interest of the plaintiff expire before the time in which he could be put in possession, he can obtain a judgment for damages only.

* To require a full statement of all the facts constituting the right to the immediate possession, it was thought would involve much labor, and was not in fact necessary to warn the defendant, who was in most cases practically apprized by the record of the true grounds of the plaintiff's claim. This is but the current practice now, but this section makes clear what is now in some doubt. Report on Civil Code, p. 334.
SEC. 3580. (2011.) Where there is no proof against some of the defendants, the court may order a discontinuance as to them before the testimony in the case is closed.

SEC. 3581. Where there are two or more plaintiffs or defendants, any one or more plaintiffs may recover against one or more of the defendants, the premises or any part thereof or any interest therein, or damages according to the rights of the parties; but the recovery shall not be for a greater interest than that claimed.

SEC. 3582. (2012.) Judgments in proceedings of this nature are as conclusive as those in actions relating to personal property, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 3583. (2013.) The preceding section is intended to apply only to interests existing at the time of the trial, and is not intended to prevent a new action to test the validity of rights acquired subsequently to the former trial.

SEC. 3584. (2014.) The court in its discretion may grant a new trial on the application of a party or those claiming under him, made at any time within two years after the determination of the former trial.

SEC. 3585. If the application for a new trial is made after the close of the term at which the judgment was rendered, the party obtaining a new trial shall give the opposite party ten days notice thereof before the term at which the action stands for trial.

SEC. 3586. (2015.) The result of such new trial if granted after the close of the term at which the first trial took place, shall in no case affect the interest of third persons, acquired in good faith for a valuable consideration, since the former trial.

SEC. 3587. (2016.) But the party who, on such new trial, shows himself entitled to lands which have thus passed to a bona-fide purchaser, may recover the proper amount of damages against the other party either in the same or a subsequent action.

SEC. 3588. (2017.) The party who has been successful in such new trial shall (if the case require it) have his writ of restitution to restore him his property.

SEC. 3589. (2018.) In an action against a tenant the judgment shall be conclusive against the landlord who has received notice as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 3590. (2019.) If not notified, he shall be regarded as a defendant who has not been served with the original notice, and shall be treated accordingly.

SEC. 3591. (2020.) The plaintiff must recover on the strength of his own title.

SEC. 3592. The court, on motion, and after notice to the opposite party may, for cause shown, grant an order allowing the party applying therefor to enter upon the land in controversy and make survey and measurement thereof, for the purposes of the action.

SEC. 3593. (2022.) The order must describe the property and a copy thereof must be served upon the owner or person having the occupancy and control of the land.

SEC. 3594. The verdict may specify the extent and quantity of the plaintiff's estate, and the premises to which he is entitled with reasonable certainty by metes and bounds, and other sufficient description, according to the facts as proved.

SEC. 3595. A general verdict in favor of the plaintiff without such.
specifications, entitles the plaintiff to the quantity of interest or estate, in the premises as set forth and described in the petition.

SEC. 3596. (2023.) When the plaintiff in an action of this nature is entitled to damages, for withholding or using, or injuring his property, the defendant may set off the value of any permanent improvements made thereon to the extent of the damages, unless he prefers to avail himself of the law for the benefit of occupying claimants.

SEC. 3597. (2024.) In case of wanton aggression on the part of the defendant the jury may award exemplary damages.

SEC. 3598. A tenant in possession in good faith, under a lease or license from another, is not liable beyond the rent in arrear at the time of suit brought for the recovery of land and that which may afterwards accrue during the continuance of his possession.

SEC. 3599. If the defendant aver that he has a crop sowed, planted or growing on the premises, the jury finding for the plaintiff, and also finding that fact shall further find the value of the premises from the date of the trial until the first day of January next succeeding, and no execution for possession shall be issued until that time, if the defendant executes with surety to be approved by the clerk, a bond in double such sum to the plaintiff, conditioned to pay at said date, the sum so assessed. This bond shall be part of the record, and shall have the force and effect of a judgment, and if not paid at maturity, the clerk on the application of the plaintiff shall issue execution thereon against all the obligors.

SEC. 3600. The plaintiff may have judgment for the rent of the possession which accrues after judgment, and before delivery of possession, by motion in the district court in which the judgment was rendered, ten days' notice thereof in writing being given, unless judgment is stayed by appeal, and bond given to suspend the judgment, in which case the motion may be made after the affirmance thereof.

SEC. 3601. (2025.) An action in the nature of that authorized in this chapter, may also be brought by one having a reversionary interest, or by one either in or out of possession, against another who claims title to real property, although the defendant may not be in the possession thereof, for the purpose of determining and quieting the question of title.

SEC. 3602. If the plaintiff is in possession, he may file a petition setting forth his estate, whether of inheritance for life or years, and describing the premises, and averring that he is credibly informed and believes that the defendant makes some claim adverse to the estate of the petitioner, and praying that he may be notified to show cause why he should not bring an action to try the alleged title, if any, and thereupon the court shall order notice to be given to the defendant, and upon the return of such order of notice, duly executed, if the defendant so notified shall make default, or having appeared, shall disobey the lawful order of the court to bring an action and try the title, the court shall enter a judgment that he be forever debarred and estopped from having or claiming any right or title adverse to the petitioner, and those claiming by or through him, to the premises described.

SEC. 3603. If the defendant shall appear and disclaim all right and title adverse to the petitioner, he shall recover his costs; if he shall claim title, he shall, by answer, show cause why he should not be required to bring an action and try such title, and the court shall make such judgment or order respecting the bringing and prosecuting of such action, as may seem just.

SEC. 3604. In other particulars, the rules above prescribed shall, in some cases. In the cases in the last three sections contemplated, be observed as far as they are applicable.

Sec. 3605. (2027.) In an action for the recovery of dower before admeasurement, or by a tenant in common, or joint tenant of real property against his co-tenant, the plaintiff must show, in addition to his evidence of right, that the defendant either denied the plaintiff's right, or did some act amounting to such denial.

Lien creditors. SEC. 3608. (2030.) Creditors having a specific or general lien upon all or any portion of the property may or may not be made parties, at the option of the plaintiff.

Same. SEC. 3609. (2031.) If the lien is upon one or more undivided interests of any of the parties, it shall, after partition or sale, remain a charge upon those particular interests or the proceeds thereof. But the due proportion of costs is a charge upon those interests paramount to all other liens.

Costs. Answers. SEC. 3610. (2032.) The answers of the defendants must state among other things, the amount and nature of their respective interests. They may deny the interest of any of the plaintiffs, and by supplemental pleading, if necessary, may deny the interest of any of the other defendants.

SEC. 3615. (2037.) After all the shares and interests of the parties have been settled in any of the methods aforesaid, judgment shall be rendered confirming those shares and interests, and directing partition to be made accordingly.

Referees. SEC. 3616. (2038.) Upon entering such judgment the court shall appoint referees to make partition into the requisite number of shares.

Special allotments. SEC. 3617. (2039.) For good and sufficient reasons appearing to the court, the referees may be directed to allot particular portions of the land to particular individuals. In other cases the shares must be made as nearly as possible of equal value.

Partition can not be made. SEC. 3618. (2040.) If it appears to the referees that a partition can not be made without great prejudice to the owners, they shall so report to the court.

Order to sell. SEC. 3619. (2041.) If satisfied with such report, the court shall cause an order to be entered directing the referees to sell the premises so situated, and shall also fix the terms of sale.

Security by referees. SEC. 3620. (2042.) Before proceeding to sell, the referees shall each give security, to be approved by the court or judge thereof, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties. At any time thereafter, the court may require farther and better security.

Sec. 3625. (2047.) The referees shall give the parties interested at least five days' notice of the time and place when he will receive proof of the amounts of such incumbrances.

Sec. 3626. (2048.) In taking such proof he may receive, with other evidence, the affidavit of the parties interested.

Sec. 3627. (2049.) If any incumbrance be ascertained to exist, the referees shall give the parties interested at least five days' notice of the time and place when he will receive proof of the amounts of such incumbrances.

Sec. 3628. (2050.) If the owner object to the payment of such incumbrance, the money shall be retained or invested by order of the court to await final action in relation to its disposition, and notice thereof shall be forthwith given to the incumbrancer, unless he has already been made a party.

Sec. 3629. (2051.) The court may direct an issue to be made up between the incumbrancer and the owner, which shall be decisive of their respective rights.

Sec. 3630. (2052.) An estate for life or years be found to exist, the court shall direct the avails of the incumbered property to be invested, and the proceeds to be paid to the incumbrancer during the lifetime of the incumbrance.

Sec. 3631. (2053.) The court, in its discretion, may require all or any of the parties, before they receive the moneys arising from any sale authorized in this chapter, to give satisfactory security to refund such moneys, with interest, in case it afterward appears that such parties were not entitled thereto.

Sec. 3632. (2054.) If the sales aforesaid be approved and confirmed by the court, an order shall be entered directing the referees, or any two of them, to execute conveyances pursuant to such sales. But no conveyances can be made until all the money is paid, without receiving from the purchaser a mortgage of the land so sold, or other equivalent security.

Sec. 3633. (2055.) Such conveyances so executed, being recorded in the county where the premises are situate, shall be valid against all subsequent purchasers, and also against all persons interested at the time, who were made parties to the proceedings in the mode pointed out by law.

Sec. 3634. (2056.) If the owner of any share thus sold has a husband or wife living, and if such husband and wife do not agree as to the disposition that shall be made of the proceeds of such sale, the court must direct it to be invested in real estate, under the supervision of such person as it may appoint, taking the title in the name of the owner of the share sold as aforesaid.
SEC. 3636. (2058.) If the sales are disapproved, the money paid and the securities given must be returned to the persons respectively entitled thereto.

SEC. 3637. (2059.) When a partition is deemed proper the referees must mark out the shares by visible monuments, and may employ a competent surveyor and the necessary assistants to aid them therein.

SEC. 3638. (2060.) The report of the referees must be in writing, signed by at least two of them. It must describe the respective shares with reasonable particularity, and be accompanied by a plat of the premises.

SEC. 3639. (2061.) Unless the shares are allotted to their respective owners by the referees, as hereinbefore contemplated, the clerk shall number the shares and then draw the names of the future owners by lot.

SEC. 3640. (2062.) When partition can be conveniently made of part of the premises, but not of all, one portion may be partitioned and the other sold as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 3641. (2063.) On good cause shown, the report may be set aside, and the matter again referred to the same or other referees.

SEC. 3642. (2064.) Upon the report of the referees being confirmed, judgment thereon shall be rendered that the partition be firm and effectual forever.

SEC. 3643. (2065.) When all the parties in interest have been duly notified to appear and answer, either by the service of the petition and notice, or by the publication prescribed by law, any of the proceedings above authorized shall be binding and conclusive upon them all. If only a portion of such parties be served, they only shall be bound by such proceedings.

SEC. 3644. (2066.) This judgment of partition shall be presumptive evidence of title in all cases, and as between the parties themselves it is conclusive evidence thereof, subject however to be defeated by proof of a title paramount to, or independent of, that under which the parties held as joint tenants or tenants in common.

SEC. 3645. (2067.) All the costs of the proceedings in partition shall be paid in the first instance by the plaintiffs, but eventually by all the parties in proportion to their interests, except those costs which are created by contests above provided for.

SEC. 3646. (2068.) Any person claiming to hold an incumbrance upon any portion of the property involved in the suit, may, in default of the owner, appear and act as his representative in any of the proceedings under this act.

SEC. 3647. (2069.) Persons having contingent interests in such property may be made parties to the proceedings, and the proceeds of the property so situated, (or the property itself in case of partition,) shall be subject to the order of the court until the right becomes fully vested.

SEC. 3648. (2070.) The ascertained share of any absent owner shall be retained, or the proceeds invested for his benefit.

CHAPTER 146.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES.

[Code—Chapter 118.]

SECTION 3649. Any mortgage of personal property to secure the payment of money only, and where the time of payment is therein fixed, may be foreclosed by notice and sale, as hereinafter provided, unless a stipulation to the contrary has been agreed upon by the parties.

SEC. 3650. The notice must contain a full description of the property mortgaged, together with the time, place, and terms of sale.

SEC. 3651. Such notice must be served on the mortgagor, and upon all persons having recorded liens upon the same property, which are junior to the mortgage, or they will not be bound by the proceedings.

SEC. 3652. The service and return must be made in the same manner as in case of the original notice by which civil actions are commenced, except that no publication in the newspapers is necessary for this purpose, the general publication directed in the next section being a sufficient service upon all the parties in cases where service is to be made by publication.

SEC. 3653. After notice has been served upon the parties, it must be published in the same manner and for the same length of time as is required in cases of the sale of like property on execution, and the sale shall be conducted in the same manner.

SEC. 3654. The purchaser shall take all the title and interest on which the mortgage operated as a lien.

SEC. 3655. The sheriff conducting the sale, shall execute to the purchaser a bill of sale of the personal property, which shall be effectual to carry the whole title and interest purchased.

SEC. 3656. Evidence of the service and publication of the notice aforesaid, and of the sale made in accordance therewith, together with any postponement or other material matter, may be perpetuated by proper affidavits thereof.

SEC. 3657. Such affidavits shall be attached to the bill of sale, and shall be receivable in evidence, to prove the facts they state.

SEC. 3658. Sales made in accordance with the above requirements, are valid in the hands of a bona fide purchaser, whatever may be the equities between the mortgagor and mortgagee.
FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES. [PART 3.

Rights contested. SEC. 3659. (2082.) The right of the mortgagee to foreclose as well as the amount claimed to be due, may be contested by any one interested in so doing, and the proceeding may be transferred to the district court, for which purpose an injunction may issue if necessary.

Civil action. SEC. 3660. The holder of any mortgage of real estate must proceed by civil action, in the district court, when he wishes to foreclose the same.

In a suit to foreclose a mortgage, one who claims adversely to the title of the mortgagor, and prior to the mortgage, can not properly be made a party defendant for the purpose of trying the validity of such adverse claim of title. Corning v. Smith, 2 Selden, 82.

In an action for the specific performance of a contract to convey several lots of land, being part of a tract owned by one of the defendants, and upon which he had given mortgages prior to the contract to sell; held, that the prior mortgagees were improperly made defendants to the action. Chapman v. Draper, 10 Pr. R., 367.

Judgment. SEC. 3661. (2084.) If any thing be found due the plaintiff the court shall render judgment therefor and must direct the mortgaged property, or so much thereof as is necessary, to be sold to satisfy the amount due with interest and costs. A special execution shall issue accordingly.

General execution. SEC. 3662. (2085.) If the mortgaged property does not sell for sufficient to satisfy the execution, a general execution may be issued against the mortgagee unless the parties have stipulated otherwise.

Plaintiff's election. SEC. 3663. (2086.) If separate suits are brought on the bond or note and on the mortgage given to secure it, the plaintiff must elect which to prosecute. The other will be discontinued at his costs.

Judgment on bond. SEC. 3664. (2087.) When a judgment is obtained in an action on the bond, the property mortgaged may be sold on the execution issued thereon, and the judgment shall be a lien thereon from the date of the recording of the mortgage. The mortgagee or any other person having a lien on the mortgaged premises, or any part thereof, may redeem the same after sale within the same time and on the same terms as are provided in chapter 125, in cases of real estate, sold on ordinary or general execution.

Junior incumbrancer. SEC. 3665. (2088.) At any time prior to the sale made in accordance with either of the above modes of foreclosure, a person having a lien on the property which is junior to the mortgage, will be entitled to an assignment of all the interest of the holder of the mortgage by paying him the amount secured with interest and costs, together with the amount of any other liens of the same holder which are paramount to his. He may then proceed with the foreclosure or discontinue it at his option.

Overplus. SEC. 3666. (2089.) If there is an overplus remaining after satisfying the mortgage and costs, and if there are no other liens upon the property, such overplus shall be paid to the mortgagor.

Other liens. SEC. 3667. (2090.) If there are any other liens on the property sold, or other payments secured by the same mortgage, they shall be paid off in their order. And if the money secured by any such lien is not yet due, a suitable rebate of interest must be made by the holder thereof, or his lien on such property will be postponed to those of a junior date, and if there are none such the balance will be paid to the mortgagor.

Sale. SEC. 3668. (2091.) As far as practicable, the property sold must be only sufficient to satisfy the mortgage foreclosed in either of the methods aforesaid.
SEC. 3669. (2092.) The same costs and fees shall be allowed for services rendered and acts performed under the provisions of this chapter, as for like acts and services in other cases, which will be paid out of the proceeds of the sales made.

SEC. 3670. (2093.) Whenever the amount due on any mortgage is paid off, the mortgagee or those legally acting for him must acknowledge satisfaction thereof in the margin of the record of the mortgage. If he fails to do so within six months after being requested, he shall forfeit to the mortgagor the sum of twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 3671. (2094.) The vendors of real estate, when part or all of the purchase money remains unpaid after the day fixed for payment, whether time is or is not the essence of the contract, may file his petition asking the court to require the purchaser to perform his contract or to foreclose and sell his interest in the property.

SEC. 3672. (2095.) The vendee shall in such cases, for the purpose of the foreclosure, be treated as a mortgagor of the property purchased and his rights may be foreclosed in a similar manner.

SEC. 3673. (2096.) Deeds of trust of real or personal property may be executed as securities for the performance of contracts, and sales made in accordance with their terms are valid. Or they may be treated like mortgages and foreclosed by action in the district court. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That no deed of trust, or mortgage, with power of sale on real estate made after the first day of April, A. D., 1861, for the security of the payment of money, shall be foreclosed in any other manner than by proceeding in the district, state, or federal courts.*

SEC. 3674. (2097.) Nothing herein contained is intended to prevent parties from fixing their own terms to any contract and prescribing the manner in which those contracts shall be enforced; nor to change the rule, or affect the rights of the vendor of real estate, in those cases where time is the essence of the contract.

2. An act to prescribe the mode of proceeding in chancery, passed April 23, 1833; M. D., 1833, p. 554. The above repealed Aug. 30, 1840.
3. An act subjecting real estate to execution, passed Jan. 25, took effect May 1, 1839; I. T., 1st sess., p. 197, section 17.

SEC. 3720. (2138.) Nothing herein contained authorizes the recovery of more than the just value of timber, taken from uncultivated wood-land for the repair of a public highway or bridge upon the land in its immediate neighborhood.

SEC. 3721. (2139.) The owner of an estate in remainder or reversion may maintain either of the aforesaid actions for injuries done to the inheritance, notwithstanding any intervening estate for life or years.

SEC. 3723. (2141.) Whenever lands or tenements are sold by virtue of an execution, the purchaser at such sale may maintain his action against any person for either of the causes above mentioned occurring or existing after his purchase.

SEC. 3724. (2142.) This provision is not intended to prevent the person who occupies the lands in the meantime from using them in the ordinary course of husbandry or from using timber for the purpose of making suitable repairs thereon.

SEC. 3725. (2143.) But if for this purpose he employs timber vastly superior to that required for the occasion, he will be deemed to have committed waste and will be liable accordingly.

CHAPTER 153.

[Code—Chapter 125.]

SECTION 3761. The writ of mandamus is an order of a court of

* The mandamus of common law is very technical. It did not proceed on the principles of pleading, as used in cases where one person made some legal demand Mandamus may issue on behalf of a public or private person.

Statements of petition.

Discretion.

Other cases.

When not.

The pleadings same as in other cases.

Legal specific performance.

Mandamus may issue in cases of competent jurisdiction, and issues from the district court commanding an inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person, to do or not to do, an act, the performance or omission of which the law specially enjoins as a duty, resulting from an office, trust or station, and it is granted on the petition of any private party aggrieved, without the concurrence of the prosecutor for the state, or on the petition of the state by the district attorney, when the public interest is concerned, and is in the name of such private party, or of the state, as the case may be in fact brought.

SEC. 3762. The plaintiff in such action shall state his claim, and shall also state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for such claim, and shall also set forth that the plaintiff, if a private individual, is personally interested therein, and that he sustains and may sustain damage by the non-performance of such duty, and that performance thereof has been demanded by him, and refused or neglected, and shall pray a writ of mandamus commanding the defendant to fulfill such duty.

SEC. 3763. Where a discretion is left to an inferior tribunal, the writ of mandamus can only compel it to act. It can not control the discretion of the inferior tribunal.

SEC. 3764. The writ may also be issued by the supreme court to any district court, if necessary, and also in any other case where it is found necessary, to enable it to exercise its legitimate power.

SEC. 3765. It shall not be issued in any case where there is a plain, speedy and adequate remedy, in the ordinary course of the law, except as herein provided.

SEC. 3766. The pleadings and other proceedings in any action in which a mandamus is claimed shall be the same in all respects as nearly as may be, and costs shall be recoverable by either party, as in an ordinary action for the recovery of damages.

SEC. 3767. The plaintiff, in any action except those of chapters 142, 143 and 144 hereof, may also in aid of such cause of action, pray, and have a writ of mandamus to compel the performance of a duty established in such action. But if such duty, the performance of which is sought to be compelled, is not one resulting from an office, trust, or station, it must be one for the breach of which a legal right to damages is already complete at the commence ment of the action, and must also be a duty of which a court of equity would enforce the performance.*

* The English Common Law Commissioners, in their second report, page 42, say, the proceedings on mandamus, simplified as they propose, may be applied in every case in which specific performance of a contract or duty is to be enforced, and ought to be so applied; and "that courts of law ought to have power to grant specific per-
Sec. 3768. In case judgment be given to the plaintiff that a mandamus do issue, it shall be lawful for the court in which such judgment is given, if it shall see fit, besides issuing execution in the ordinary way for the damages and costs, also to issue a peremptory writ of mandamus to the defendant commanding him forthwith to perform the duty to be enforced.

The Jefferson circuit court has jurisdiction to award a mandamus against the council of the city of Louisville, under proper circumstances, and while the judgment of the court is in force and unreversed, it should be obeyed. A refusal to obey the mandamus is a contempt of court, which justifies the imprisonment of the party, and no action is maintainable for such imprisonment. Kaye v. Kean, 18 B. M., 847.

The ancient power of compelling the performance of duties, the only means of enforcing specific performance in the same cases in which compensation in damages only can now be obtained in those courts. A well reputed late English work on practice—Francis, says: "The equitable effect of this power, so given to courts of law, seems to amount to the discharge of the duty which was in the option of any party to a contract to elect, so far as the control of courts of common law extended, whether he would perform his contract, or pay a sum of money as damages, it is now left to the party against whom the breach is committed to elect between enforcing the contract, or accepting as a substitute money damages; and, subject to the opinion of the court, that the latter was not a perfect compensation, specific performance may be enforced."

The commissioners, in their report upon the point, further say: "That when obligations are imposed by the law, or undertaken by the act of parties, the party on whose behalf they are created, has a right to insist on the specific performance of the acts which have been undertaken for his benefit, when such acts are capable of being performed, and when money would not be a perfect compensation for their non-performance; and in like manner where an injury is about to be committed, for which a mere money payment would not be a full and perfect redress, a power should exist of annulling and prohibiting the wrongful act. These defects of the common law, it may be observed, did not in ancient times exist to the same extent as at present."

These "useful remedies," quia timet, which, in "ancient times" existed at common law, and which are not restored, nor have any substitute provided for them by the present act, are enumerated by Lord Coke, who wisely remarks that "preventing justice excelleth punishing justice." The writs at common law which might be maintained quia timet before any "molestation, distress, or implacable," are enumerated thus: 1. A man may have a writ of mesne before he be distrained; 2. A warrant to charte before he be imprisoned; 3. A monstrare, before any distress or vexation; 4. An audit a quaerela, before any execution sued; 5. A curia claudenda, before any default of inclosure; 6. A ne injuste vexes before any distress or molestation. And these are called brevia anticipata, writs of prevention. (Co. Litt. 100 a.)

The act did not go as far as the recommendation. We have substantially followed it in this, and the succeeding sections, departing only to avoid defects suggested by experience, and to remove doubt.

The following is extracted from a late English Practice Book on this subject—Finalson, and may show some of the workings of the English act, although it will not be an exact criterion of ours.

"Mandamus has been, since the courts of common law lost through disuse their ancient power of compelling the performance of duties, the only means of enforcing the doing of a duty, other than the mere payment of money or delivery of property. Thus it lay to restore a party to a scholarship or mastership of a public school, whom the bread is committed to elect between enforcing the contract, or accepting as a substitute money damages; and, subject to the opinion of the court, that the latter was not a perfect compensation, specific performance may be enforced."
Form of the writ.

Plaintiff may do the act at defendant’s cost.

Temporary orders for the safety of property.

State a party.

SEC. 3769. The writ shall simply command the performance of the duty, shall be directed to the party and not to the sheriff, and may be issued in term or vacation and returnable forthwith, and no return except that of compliance shall be allowed, but time to return it may, upon sufficient grounds be allowed by the court or judge, either with or without terms.

SEC. 3770. The court may, upon application of the plaintiff, besides, or instead of proceeding against the defendant by attachment, direct that the act required to be done, may be done by the plaintiff, or some other person appointed by the court, at the expense of the defendant, and upon the act being done, the amount of such expense may be ascertained by the court, or by a reference appointed by the court, as the court or judge may order, and the court may render judgment for the amount of such expenses and costs, and enforce payment thereof by execution.

SEC. 3771. During the pendency of the action, the court or judge in vacation may make temporary orders for preventing damage or injury to the plaintiff until the cause is decided.

SEC. 3772. When the state is a party, the attorney may appeal without security.

DECISIONS UNDER THE PRIOR PRACTICE. For the common law learning as to mandamus, see 4 Iowa, 179; 5 Iowa, 381; 1 ibid, 188-473-383; 4 G., 75; 2 Iowa, 280; M., 31; 7 Iowa, 186-390; and the State v. Smith Co. Judge, 1859.

be one of a public nature, this section departs from it; but as regards the other, that it lay only where there was no other remedy either at law or equity, the clause is not inconsistent with it, so far, at least, as law is concerned; for, in truth, there never was any other means of law since the writ of mandamus became known, to secure that which a covenant to do an act not contrary to law, may be sued upon, (for damages for the non-performance,) although there be a doubt as to the possibility of performance, Tufnell v. Constable, 7 A. & E., 798. But as to mandamus in such a case, query.

There may be a duty on a contract to execute a contract, or cause it to be duly executed, where execution in a particular way, or by certain parties is necessary to its validity, Thornton v. Jenkins, 1 M. & G., 166; 1 Sc. N. R., 52; Lotch v. Wedlake, 11 A. & E., 959; see as to contract to build a house, Fisher v. Ford, 4 Jur., 1034; as to printing a book, Smith v. White, 8 Sc. N. R., 483; to write a book, Sweet v. Lee, 3 M. & G., 452; 4 Sc. N. R., 77. There may be a duty on contract to enter the employ of another, for example as surgeon to a ship, Richards v. Hayward, 2 Sc. N. R., 670; 2 M. & G., 574. In some of such cases this section may apply, as to others, where the compulsory performance would be unsatisfactory; and so also as to contracts to employ, as to which the old principle, that mandamus does not lie where there is really any other adequate remedy, might be applied; for instance, in a case such as Fikington v. Scott, 15 Mec, and W., 657; as to furnishing rails or doing other work, Macintosh v. Midland Counties Railway Co., 14 Mec, and W., 588; making steam engines, Zuluetta v. Miller, 15 Law, J., C. P., 267; delivering machinery or drawings for it, Kingston v. Cox, ibid., 95. In the case of an insurance or other broker, a duty arises on a mere retainer to effect an insurance or do any other act proper to be done for the benefit of his employer, within the scope of his business; for the breach of such duty an action lies, as for not effecting a policy as well as for effecting it carelessly, Turpin v. Bolton, 6 Sc. N. R., 447; 5 M. & G., 445; and sensible that there would be a case within the present section for the purpose of compelling him to effect the policy. A recent case will illustrate the appli-
CHAPTER 154.

INJUNCTION.

[Code—Chapter 126.]

SECTION 3773. (2189.) An injunction may be granted as an independent means of relief or as auxiliary to other proceedings, in accordance with the rules heretofore observed, except as herein modified.

SEC. 3774. (2190.) When it is a mere auxiliary measure resorted to during the trial of the principal cause, the terms on which it is allowed as well as the kind of notice to be given to the opposite party, shall be such as the court prescribes.

SEC. 3775. (2191.) When applied for as an independent means of relief, the petition must be sworn to and presented to the district court, if in session in the county, for an allowance of the injunction. If not in session, application for that purpose may be made to any judge of the supreme or district court, or to the judge of the county court of the proper county.

SEC. 3776. (2192.) If the order of allowance is made by the court in session, the clerk shall make an entry thereof in the court record and issue the writ accordingly. If made in vacation the judge must indorse the said order upon the petition.

SEC. 3777. (2193.) In both the cases contemplated in the last section, the order of allowance must direct the writ of issue only after the filing of a bond in the office of the clerk of the district court, in a penalty to be therein fixed, with sureties to be approved by said clerk, (unless the court or judge granting the said order has previously approved said sureties,) and conditioned for the payment of all the damages which may be adjudged against the petitioner by reason of such injunction.

SEC. 3778. (2194.) When proceedings in a civil action are sought to be enjoined, the suit must be brought in the county wherein such proceedings are pending. The bond must also in that case be farther conditioned to pay any judgment that may be ultimately recovered against the party who seeks the injunction, for the cause of action on which the suit sought to be enjoined is founded.

SEC. 3779. (2195.) The penalty of the bond must be fixed by the court or judge who makes the order, and must be doubly sufficient to cover any probable amount of liability to be thereby incurred.

SEC. 3780. (2196.) Upon the filing of the bond as required, the writ clerk must issue the writ of injunction as directed by the order of allowance.

Section of the clause, where the covenant was to lay out building grounds with roads, &c., Mason v. Cole, 18 Law, 5, Ex., 478; there the mere recovery of damage might be no adequate remedy. Perhaps, the principles upon which the courts of equity act on this point, either as to injunction against breach of covenant, or by decree for specific performance, may be useful, vide Elliott v. Turner, 13 Sim., 477; where it is laid down that equity will not relieve against a breach of covenant, unless the payment of money could not be an adequate compensation. The mandamus may be claimed under this section, for instance, to the bank directing it to pay plaintiff the dividends on certain stock, provided he could maintain an action for damage caused by the refusal or delay to transfer; as to which see Partridge v. Bank of England in error, 9 Q. B., 396; or it may be for performance of a covenant for further reference, Ward v. Audland, 16 Mee, and W., 863. Report of Civil Code, p. 354.
Defendant may show cause.

SEC. 3781. (2197.) The court or judge before granting the writ may, if deemed advisable, allow the defendant an opportunity to show cause why such order should not be granted.

Motion to vacate.

SEC. 3782. (2198.) If the writ is granted without allowing the defendant to show cause, he may at any time before the next term of the court apply to the judge who made the order to vacate or modify the same.

Application.

SEC. 3783. (2199.) Such application must be with notice to the plaintiff and may rest upon the ground that the order was improperly granted, or it may be founded upon affidavits on the part of the defendant. In the latter case the plaintiff may fortify his application by counter affidavits and have reasonable time therefor.

Consequence.

SEC. 3784. (2200.) The judge may thereupon decide the matter at once, unless some good cause for delay be shown. But the vacation of the order shall not prevent the cause from proceeding if any thing be left to proceed upon.

Disobedience.

SEC. 3785. (2201.) Any judge of the supreme or district court, being furnished with an authenticated copy of the writ of injunction, and also with satisfactory proof that such injunction has been violated, shall issue his precept to the sheriff of the county where the violation of the injunction occurred, or to any other sheriff, (naming him,) more convenient to all parties concerned, directing him to attach said defendant and bring him forthwith before the same or some other judge, at a place to be stated in said precept.

Contempt purged.

SEC. 3786. (2202.) If, when thus produced, he files his affidavit denying or sufficiently excusing the contempt charged, he shall be released and the affidavit shall be filed with the clerk of the court for preservation.

Bond required.

SEC. 3787. (2203.) But if he failed to do so, the judge may require him to give bond, with surety, for his appearance at the next term of the court, and also for his future obedience to the injunction, which bond shall be filed with the clerk.

Committed.

SEC. 3788. (2204.) If he fail to give such security, he may be committed to the jail of the county where the proceedings are pending, until the next term of the court.

Contempt punished.

SEC. 3789. (2205.) If the security be given, the court at the next term shall act upon the case, and punish the contempt in the usual mode.

Motion to dissolve.

SEC. 3790. (2206.) The defendant may move to dissolve the injunction, either before or after the filing of the answer.

Issue on answer.

SEC. 3791. (2207.) Issue may be joined on the defendant's answer and a trial had as in other cases.

Whole case tried.

SEC. 3792. (2208.) When practicable, the whole matter connected with the injunction shall be disposed of on such trial, and complete justice administered to all parties.

Only one motion.

SEC. 3793. Only one motion to dissolve or modify an injunction upon the whole case, shall be allowed.

Damages on the bond.

SEC. 3794. Upon the dissolution, in whole or in part, of an injunction to stay proceedings upon a judgment or final order, the damages shall be assessed by the court, which may hear the evidence and decide in a summary way, or may, on the request of either party, cause a jury to be empanneled to find the damages. Where money is enjoined, the damages may be any rate per cent. on the amount released by the dissolution, which, in the discretion of the court, may be proper, not exceeding ten per cent. And where the delivery of property has been delayed by the injunction, the value of the use, hire, or rent thereof shall be assessed. Judgment shall be rendered against the party who obtained the injunction, for the damages assessed, and against the surety of such party.

Where an action is brought upon an injunction bond, the subject of the action being the damages sustained by the plaintiffs in consequence of the injunction, which prevented them from proceeding in their business, all the obligees may join as plaintiffs, notwithstanding the claim of one of them is different in its character and amount from that of the others. Loomis v. Brown, 16 Barb., 325.

SEC. 3795. (2210.) For good cause shown, a judge's order may issue in vacation, directing any of the officers of the court in relation to the discharge of their duties.

SEC. 3796. (2211.) Such order shall be in force only during the vacation in which it is granted, and for the first two days of the ensuing term.

SEC. 3797. (2212.) The judge granting it may require the filing of a bond, as in case of an injunction, unless from the nature of the case, such requirement would be clearly unnecessary and improper.

CHAPTER 155.

PROHIBITION IN AN ACTION BY ORDINARY PROCEEDINGS.*

SECTION 3798. In all cases of breach of contract or other injury, where the party injured is entitled to maintain, and has brought an action by ordinary proceedings, he may, in the same cause, pray and

* This is a much more limited injunction, than that of equity. The party who obtains it, must be entitled to maintain and have brought an action, and the injunction when brought will be only against the repetition, or continuance of the breach or injury of like kind. This was recommended by the English commissioners. They urged as a palpable defect in the administration of justice, that the ordinary scope of the remedy at law, extending only to give compensation or redress for injuries sustained, afforded, in general, no means for preventing their commission; while have a writ of injunction against the repetition or continuance of such breach of contract or other injury, or the committal of any breach of contract or injury of a like kind, arising out of the same contract, or relating to the same property or right, and he may also, in the same action, include a claim for damages or other redress.

Sec. 3799. In such action, judgment may be given for other relief, and also that the writ of injunction do or do not issue, as justice may require; and in case of disobedience, such writ of injunction may be enforced by attachment by the court, or when such court shall not be sitting, by a judge thereof.

Sec. 3800. It shall be lawful for the plaintiff, at any time after the commencement of the action, and whether before or after judgment, to apply ex parte to the court or a judge, for a writ of injunction to restrain on the other hand, the practice of the courts of equity, by way of injunction, extended not only to the protection of equitable rights, but of those also for the violation of which an action lies at common law. It became law in the terms substantially here used as section 79 of the English act of 1854. The process of injunction had before that time been introduced into common law courts in certain cases.

The English commission propounded questions to leading lawyers on this subject, and in answer to such, the distinguished jurist, Montague Smith, says, page report 251, substantially as follows:

"The remedial jurisdiction of common law courts over legal rights should be extended. There are too many modes of indirect relief only, instead of direct relief. A mandamus to admit to an office is more efficacious than an action for damages—the first achieves the thing wanted, the last does not. An injunction is more efficacious than a suit for damages in case of destroying invaluable trees or such other property. There is no reason when rights are purely legal, that law should not protect them, instead of sending suitors elsewhere. This would not trench on the boundary of legal and equitable rights—only affect remedies—it only lets law courts guard law rights. Now parties to law rights are compelled to go to equity courts, for equitable remedies on them, and the absurdity follows that they are sent back to law courts to have the law rights determined—the equitable remedy being based on the legal right.

Let a law court guard by injunction legal rights as an equity court does. When legal rights only are concerned, let law courts prevent their invasion.

So, of discovery—let legal rights be discovered at law by such mode as in chancery or otherwise. Let the same be true of specific performance of contract, when only legal rights are involved; and the court which passes on the right will give the remedy."

We have said that the acts based on these reports went very far towards making each court independent of the other.

From a late English book on practice, Finlason, we find that the English act is held to apply in the following cases: "The clause, as already shown, might apply in cases of factors improperly pledging goods with which they were intrusted, as in Hotfield v. Phillips, 14 Mee. and W., 665. In cases of contract the clause will apply chiefly where the defendant has covenanted to abstain from any act, as from practising within a particular district, Nichols v. Stretton, 11 J. R., 1094, a class of cases in which the courts of equity have hitherto exercised their jurisdiction of injunction, Dietrichsen v. Cabburn, 2 Ph., 59, 10 Jan., 601; even though the contract contains stipulations they would not enforce, Rolfe v. Rolfe, 15 Sim., 88. The clause would not often apply to breaches of contract which were not also torts or breaches of duty apart from contract. The clause could apply in cases, where, though the same injury could not be again committed, there could be a continuance of the same injury, as in negligent warehousing, Bourne v. Cuthiffe, 8 Se. N. R., 604; not for a false representation, which, from the very nature of the injury, could never be repeated, Ormrod v. Huth, 14 Mee. and W., 651; Bailey v. Walford, 9 Q. B. 197; but in some instances negligence, if in a continued course of conduct, could be restrained, as if railway companies ran their engines without reasonable protection to prevent sparks from flying therefrom to the peril of contiguous cornstacks, as in Pigott v. Eastern Counties Railway Company, 3 M. and G., 515; and it would apply in cases of defamation, in which there was a renewed publication, though it would be a new cause of action, as in Gathercole v. Main, 15 Mee. and W., 319. A court of equity, indeed, has declined to interfere by injunction to prevent the publication of representations it deemed rather libellous than piratical, but that was on the ground that the legal right should be established, Clark v. Freeman, 11 Beav., 112. In cases of nuisance, the clause would have a clear application to prevent the continuance of the defendant in such action from a repetition or continuance of the wrongful act, or breach of contract complained of, or the committal of any breach of contract or injury of a like kind, arising out of the same contract, or relating to the same property or right; and such writ may be granted or denied by the court or judge, upon such terms as to the duration of the writ, keeping an account, giving security, or otherwise, as to such court or judge shall seem reasonable and just, and in case of disobedience, such writ may be enforced by attachment by the court, or, when such court shall not be sitting, by the judge thereof: provided always, that any order for a writ of injunction, made by a judge, or any writ issued by virtue thereof, may be discharged or varied, or set aside by the court, on application thereto by any party dissatisfied with such order.

it, as where a cornice was erected by which the rain flowed on the plaintiff's garden, Fay v. Prentice, 1 C. B., 528; so where dirt was kept on a highway, Goldthorpe v. Hardman, 2 D. and L., 442; 13 M. and W., 337; so where timber was kept lying on a river at the entrance to a wharf, Rose v. Groves, 5 M. and G., 613; 6 Sc. N. R., 645; Dobson v. Blackmore, 3 Q. B., 99; Beach v. Mallett, 5 C. B., 594. So the clause might apply (supposing there was time) to prevent the continuance of the same injury, as undermining party walls, Bradlow v. Christ's Hospital, 4 M. and G., 714; or excavating land under houses or in mines, Firmstone v. Whiter, 2 D. and L., 203.

It may often be a question whether this clause or the section as to mandamus is to be resorted to in cases of continued non-feasance, nearly amounting to misfeasance, such as in Russell v. Shenton, 3 Q. B., 449, where the complaint was for not cleaning sewers; but there will be no difficulty as the claim for mandamus and injunction can clearly be joined. See as to the jurisdiction of equity to grant injunction in such cases, Hodes v. Tayler, 2 Ph., 209; 11 Jur., 73. A class of cases in which the clause will have a clear application is the actions for imitating trade marks. Crossen v. Thompson, 4 M. & G., 357; 5 Sc. N. R., 562; Rodgers v. Novell, 5 C. B., 109; or in cases of infringement of copy right, Wright v. Tallis, 1 C. B., 898; or piracy of designs, Milhagen v. Pickard, 1 C. B., 799; or patents, Allen v. Bowman, 1 C. B., 551; Sted v. Williams, 7 M. & L., 518; Russell v. Leason, 14 M. & W., 574. Cases in which the courts of equity of course can exercise a concurrent jurisdiction by injunction, Geary v. Norton, 1 De G. & S., 9; Heath v. Unwin, 6 Law J., C. 283. The clause would clearly apply again in cases of continence of trespass, as keeping stakes in the lands of plaintiff, Borger v. Cook, 16 Law J., C. 1, 922. In regard to acts of trespass, where the title is in dispute, the courts of equity have not been accustomed to grant injunction except to prevent irreparable injury, Attorney General v. Hallett, 16 Law J., Ex., 131. See as to jurisdiction in cases of waste, Morris v. Morris, 16 Law J., Ch., 201; as to the common law action, Matthews v. Matthews, 7 C. B., 1018. This section would be applicable peculiarly in cases of a covenant to insure, which has been held a continuing covenant, Die dl. Maston v. Gladwin, 6 Q. B., 553. So covenants to renew leases, Worley v. Frampton, 16 Law J., Ch., 102; or to make an assignment, Lockock v. Franklyn, S. Q. B., 371; or to erect buildings, Cannock v. Jones, 18 Law J., Ex., 204; or to keep a policy on foot, Dorway v. Boredale, 5 C. B., 390. The clause would apply to compel a party to abate a nuisance, as to pull down a building erected wrongfully on a common, Davis v. Williams, 20 Law J., Q. B., 330; see Feret v. Hill, 2 C. L. Rep., 1371.

This chapter would not be needed, if we had as have most of the progressive states, successfully removed in full the dissimilarity between law and equity procedure. But as we have not, perhaps, our conservative friends will be less timid in allowing this advance, when they know they are treading on ground deemed even safe by the profession and tribunals of England, which have been, we believe, by our aforesaid friends, esteemed quite sufficiently slow. CHAPTER 156.

HABEAS CORPUS.

[Code—Chapter 127.]

SECTION 3801. (2213.) The petition for the writ of habeas corpus must be sworn to, and must state:

1. That the person in whose behalf it is sought is restrained of his liberty, and the person by whom and the place where he is so restrained, mentioning the names of the parties if known, and if unknown describing them with as much particularity as practicable;

2. The cause or pretense of such restraint according to the best information of the applicant; and if it be by virtue of any legal process, a copy thereof must be annexed or a satisfactory reason given for its absence;

3. It must state that the restraint is illegal and wherein;

4. That the legality of the imprisonment has not already been adjudged upon a prior proceeding of the same character, to the best knowledge and belief of the applicant;

5. It must also state whether application for the writ has been before made to, and refused by, any court or judge, and if such application has been made, a copy of the petition in that case with the reasons for the refusal thereto appended must be produced or satisfactory reasons given for the failure to do so.

SEC. 3802. (2214.) This petition must be sworn to by the person confined or by some one in his behalf, and presented to some court or officer authorized to allow the writ.

SEC. 3803. (2215.) The writ of habeas corpus may be allowed by the supreme or district court, or by any judge of either of those courts. In such cases it may be served in any part of the state.

SEC. 3804. (2216.) It may also be allowed by any county court except when the commitment was made by order of one of the courts or officers mentioned in the last section, but when allowed by the county court it is valid only within the limits of the county where issued.

SEC. 3805. (2217.) Application for this writ, when made to the supreme or district courts or judges thereof, must be made to the court or judge most convenient in point of distance to the applicant, and the more remote court or judge, if applied to for the writ, may refuse the same unless a sufficient reason be stated in the petition for not making the application to the more convenient supreme or district court, or a judge thereof.

SEC. 3806. (2218.) If, from the showing of the petitioner, the plaintiff would not be entitled to any relief, the court or judge may refuse to allow the writ.

SEC. 3807. (2219.) But if the petition show a sufficient ground for relief, and is in accordance with the foregoing requirements, the writ shall be allowed and may be substantially as follows:

THE STATE OF IOWA,

To the sheriff of, &c., [or to A. B., as the case may be.]

You are hereby commanded to have the body of C. D., by you unlawfully detained as is alleged, before the court [or before me, or before
SEC. 3808. (2220.) When the writ is allowed by a court it is to be issued by the clerk, but when allowed by a judge he must issue the writ himself, subcribing his name thereto without any seal.

SEC. 3809. (2221.) If the writ is disallowed, the court or judge shall cause the reasons of said disallowance to be appended to the petition and returned to the person applying for the writ.

SEC. 3810. (2222.) Any judge, whether acting individually or as a member of a court, who wrongfully and willfully refuses such allowance of the writ when properly applied for, shall forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of one thousand dollars.

SEC. 3811. (2223.) Whenever any court or judge authorized to grant this writ has evidence, from a judicial proceeding before them, that any person within the jurisdiction of such court or officer is illegally imprisoned or restrained of his liberty, it is the duty of such court or judge to issue or cause to be issued the writ as aforesaid, though no application be made therefor.

SEC. 3812. (2224.) The writ may be served by the sheriff or by any other person appointed for that purpose by the court or judge by whom it is issued or allowed. If served by any other than the sheriff, he possesses the same power and is liable to the same penalty for a non-performance of his duty as though he were the sheriff.

SEC. 3813. (2225.) The proper mode of service is by leaving the original writ with the defendant and preserving a copy thereof on which to make the return of service.

SEC. 3814. (2226.) If the defendant can not be found, or if he have not the plaintiff in custody, the service may be made upon any person having the plaintiff in his custody, in the same manner and with the same effect as though he had been made defendant therein.

SEC. 3815. (2227.) If the defendant conceal himself or refuse admittance to the person attempting to serve the writ, or if he attempt wrongfully to carry the plaintiff out of the county or the state after the service of the writ as aforesaid, the sheriff or the person who is attempting to serve or who has served the writ as above contemplated, is authorized to arrest the defendant and bring him together with the plaintiff forthwith before the officer or court before whom the writ is made returnable.

SEC. 3816. (2228.) In order to make such arrest, the sheriff or other person having the writ, possesses the same power as is given to a sheriff for the arrest of a person charged with a felony.

SEC. 3817. (2229.) If the plaintiff can be found, and if no one else appears to have the charge or custody of him, the person having the writ may take him into custody and make return accordingly. And to get possession of the plaintiff's person in such cases, he possesses the same power as is given by the last section for the arrest of the defendant.

SEC. 3818. (2230.) The court or judge to whom the application for the writ is made, if satisfied that the plaintiff would suffer any irreparable injury before he could be relieved by the proceedings as above authorized, may issue a precept to the sheriff or any other person selected instead, commanding him to bring the plaintiff forthwith before such court or judge.
Defendant arrested.

SEC. 3819. (2231.) When the evidence aforesaid is farther sufficient to justify the arrest of the defendant for a criminal offense committed in connection with the illegal detention of the plaintiff, the precept must also contain an order for the arrest of the defendant.

Precept, how served.

SEC. 3820. (2232.) The officer or person to whom the precept is directed must execute the same by bringing the defendant, and also the plaintiff if required, before the court or judge issuing it, and thereupon the defendant must make return to the writ of habeas corpus in the same manner as if the ordinary course had been pursued.

Sec. 3821. (2233.) The defendant may also be examined and committed, or bailed, or discharged, according to the nature of the case.

Want of form.

SEC. 3822. (2234.) The writ of habeas corpus must not be disobeyed for any defects of form or misdescription of the plaintiff or defendant, provided enough is stated to show the meaning and intent of the writ.

Presumption.

SEC. 3823. (2235.) Any person served with the writ is presumed to be the person to whom it is directed, although it may be directed to him by a wrong name or description or to another person.

Appearance.

SEC. 3824. (2236.) Service being made in any of the modes hereinafter provided, the defendant must appear at the proper time and answer the said petition.

Plaintiff brought.

SEC. 3825. (2237.) He must also bring up the body of the plaintiff, or show good cause for not doing so.

Disobedience.

SEC. 3826. (2238.) A willful failure to comply with the above requisitions renders the defendant liable to be attached for a contempt, and to be imprisoned till a compliance is obtained, and also subjects him to the forfeiture of one thousand dollars to the party thereby aggrieved.

Attachment served.

SEC. 3827. (2239.) Such attachment may be served by the sheriff or any other person thereto authorized by the judge, who shall also be empowered to bring up the body of the plaintiff forthwith, and has for this purpose the same powers as are above conferred in similar cases.

Attorney notified.

SEC. 3828. (2240.) The court or officer allowing the writ must cause the prosecuting attorney of the proper county to be informed of the issuing of the writ and of the time and place when and where it is made returnable.

Answer.

SEC. 3829. (2241.) The defendant in his answer must state plainly and unequivocally whether he then has, or at any time has had, the plaintiff under his control and restraint, and if so the cause thereof.

Same.

SEC. 3830. (2242.) If he has transferred him to another person he must state that fact, and to whom, and the time thereof as well as the reason or authority thereof.

Same.

SEC. 3831. (2243.) If he holds him by virtue of a legal process or written authority, a copy thereof must be annexed.

Reply.

SEC. 3832. (2244.) The plaintiff may demur or reply to the defendant's answer, and all issues joined thereon shall be tried by the judge or court.

Same.

SEC. 3833. (2245.) Such replication, except when the hearing is before the judge of the county court may deny the sufficiency of the testimony to justify the action of the committing magistrate, on the trial of which issue all written testimony before such magistrate may be given in evidence before the court or judge in connection with any other testimony which may then be produced.

* Is this section 2244, of present Code, affected by the provision as to jury trial of act 1, sec. 10, of new constitution? Report on Civil Code, p. 341.
SEC. 3834. (2246.) But it is not permissible to question the correctness of the action of a grand jury in finding a bill of indictment, or of the petit jury in the trial of a cause, nor of a court or judge when acting within their legitimate province and in a lawful manner.

SEC. 3835. (2247.) If no sufficient legal cause of detention is shown, the plaintiff must be discharged.

SEC. 3836. (2248.) Although the commitment of the plaintiff may have been irregular, still if the court or judge is satisfied from the evidence before them that he ought to be held to bail or committed either for the offense charged or any other, the order may be made accordingly.

SEC. 3837. (2249.) The plaintiff may also in any case be committed, let to bail, or his bail be mitigated or increased, as justice may require.

SEC. 3838. (2250.) Until the sufficiency of the cause of restraint is determined the defendant may retain the plaintiff in his custody and may use all necessary and proper means for that purpose.

SEC. 3839. (2251.) The plaintiff in writing, or his attorney, may waive his right to be present at the trial, in which case the proceedings may be had in his absence. The writ will in such cases be modified accordingly.

SEC. 3840. (2252.) Disobedience to any order of discharge subjects the defendant to attachment for a contempt, and also to the forfeiture of one thousand dollars to the party aggrieved, besides all damages sustained by him in consequence of such disobedience.

SEC. 3841. (2253.) If the defendant attempt to elude the service of the writ of habeas corpus, or to avoid the effect thereof by transferring the plaintiff to another, or by concealing him, he shall on conviction be imprisoned in the penitentiary or county jail not more than one year and fined not exceeding one thousand dollars. And any person knowingly aiding or abetting in any such act shall be subject to the like punishment.

SEC. 3842. (2254.) An officer refusing to deliver a copy of any legal process, by which he detains the plaintiff in custody, to any person who demands such copy and tenders the fees therefor, shall forfeit two hundred dollars to the person so detained.

SEC. 3843. (2255.) When the proceedings are before a judge (except when the writ is refused) all the papers in the case, including his final order, shall be filed with the clerk of the district court of the county wherein the final proceedings were had, and a brief memorandum thereof shall be entered by the clerk upon his judgment docket.

Section 3845. (2257.) The applicant for such change must file his petition verified by his oath, stating that he is a resident of the county and has for one year then last past been a bona fide resident of the state. CHAPTER 158.

OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE AND THEIR COURTS.

[Code—Chapter 129/]

Section 3849. (2261.) The jurisdiction of justices of the peace when not specially restricted, is geographically coextensive with their respective counties.

Amount, &c.

Section 3850. Within the prescribed limit, it extends to all civil cases (except cases by equitable proceedings, and cases where the question of title to any real estate may arise,) where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars; and by consent of parties, it may be extended to any amount not exceeding three hundred dollars.

Where Suit may be brought.

Section 3851. (2263.) Suits may in all cases be brought in the township where the defendant, or one of several defendants, resides.
SEC. 3852. (2264.) They may also be brought in any other township of the same county, if actual service on one or more of the defendants is made in such township.

SEC. 3853. Actions of replevin and suits commenced by attachment may be commenced in any county and township wherein any portion of the property is found, and justices shall have jurisdiction therein, within the county.

SEC. 3854. (2266.) If none of the defendants reside in the state, suit may be commenced in any county and township wherein either of the defendants may be found.

SEC. 3855. (2267.) On written contracts stipulating for payment at a particular place suit may be brought in the township where the payment was agreed to be made.

SEC. 3856. (2268.) If there is no justice in the proper township In adjoining county, qualified or able to try the suit, it may be commenced in any adjoining township in the same county.

The Justice’s Docket.

SEC. 3857. (2269.) Every justice of the peace shall keep a docket in which shall be entered in continuous order, with the proper date to each act done:

1. The title to each cause.
2. A brief statement of the nature and amount of the plaintiff’s demand and defendant’s set-off (if any,) giving date to each where dates exist.
3. The issuing of the process and return thereof.
4. The appearance of the respective parties.
5. Every adjournment, stating at whose instance and for what time.
6. The trial, and whether by the justice or by a jury.
7. The verdict and judgment.
8. The execution, to whom delivered, the renewals, if any, and the amount of debt, damages, and costs indorsed thereon.
9. The taking and allowance of an appeal, if any.
10. The giving a transcript for filing in the clerk’s office or for set-off, if one is given.
11. A note of all motions made and whether refused or granted.

Suits, how brought.

SEC. 3858. (2270.) The parties to the action may be the same as in the district court, and all the proceedings prescribed for that court so far as the same are applicable and not herein changed shall be pursued in justice’s courts. The powers of the court are only as herein enumerated.

SEC. 3859. (2271.) Ordinary actions in justice’s courts are commenced by voluntary appearance or by notice.

SEC. 3860. (2272.) When by notice, no petition need be filed as is required in the district court except where the petition must be sworn to, but the notice must state the cause of action in general terms sufficient to apprise the defendant of the nature of the claim against him.

SEC. 3861. (2273.) It must be addressed to the defendant by name, but if his name is unknown, a description of him will be sufficient. It must be subscribed by the plaintiff or the justice before whom it is returnable.
SEC. 3862. (2274.) It must state the amount for which the plaintiff will take judgment if the defendant fail to appear and answer at the time and place therein fixed.

SEC. 3863. (2275.) The time thus fixed in the notice must not be more than fifteen days from the date, and the notice must be served not less than five days previous to the trial.

SEC. 3864. (2276.) The service and return thereto must be made in the same manner as in the district court except that no service shall be made by publication other than is herein provided, nor shall any return made by another than the sheriff or a constable of the county be valid unless sworn to.

SEC. 3865. (2277.) The defendant may at any time pay to the officer having the process, or to the justice of the peace, the amount of the claim together with the costs which have then accrued, and thereupon the proceedings shall cease.

The Appearance of Parties.

SEC. 3866. (2278.) An agent appearing for another may be required by the justice to show his authority if written, or prove it by his own oath or otherwise if verbal.

SEC. 3867. (2279.) The parties in all cases are entitled to one hour in which to appear after the time fixed for appearance and neither party is bound to wait longer for the other.

SEC. 3868. (2280.) Upon the return day, if the justice be actually engaged in other official business he may postpone proceedings in the case until such business is finished.

SEC. 3869. (2281.) If from any cause the justice is unable to attend to the trial at the time fixed, or if a jury be demanded, he may adjourn the cause for a period not exceeding three days, nor shall he make more than two such adjournments.

SEC. 3870. (2282.) In case of the absence of witnesses, either party, at his own cost, may obtain an adjournment not exceeding sixty days, by filing an affidavit like that required to obtain a continuance in the district court for the like cause.

SEC. 3871. (2283.) Either party applying for an adjournment must, if required by the adverse party, consent that the testimony of any witness of the adverse party who is in attendance be then taken to be used on the trial of the cause.

SEC. 3872. (2284.) The pleadings must be substantially the same as in the district court. They may be written or oral. If oral, they must in substance be written down by the justice in his docket, and sworn to when such verification is necessary.

SEC. 3873. (2285.) Cross-demands or set-offs must be made, if at all, at the time the answer is put in.

SEC. 3874. (2286.) The original or a copy of all written instruments upon which a cause of action or set-off is founded, must be filed with the claim founded thereon, or a sufficient reason given for not doing so.

SEC. 3875. Either party, before the trial is commenced, may have a change of venue, upon filing an affidavit that the justice is prejudiced against him, or is of near relation to the other party, is a material witness for the affiant, or that the affiant can not obtain justice before him.

SEC. 3876. When said change of venue is allowed, said justice shall transmit all the original papers in said case, and a transcript of his proceedings, to the next nearest justice in the township, if there be any, if not, to the next nearest justice in his county, which said justice shall proceed to try said case, and if he can not try the same immediately, he shall then fix a time therefor, of which all parties shall take notice.

Sec. 3877. (2287.) If in a suit for trespass on real property the Plea of title of defendant justifies by pleading title, it must be in writing. The justice shall thereupon make an entry thereof in his docket, and return the original papers and a transcript of all the entries in his docket to the district court in the same manner and within the same time as is required in cases of appeals.

Sec. 3878. (2288.) When, from the plaintiff's own showing on the Dismissed trial, it appears that the determination of the action will necessarily involve the decision of a question of title to real property, the justice must dismiss the action, stating in his docket the reason therefor.

Sec. 3879. (2289.) But when a case is thus transferred or dismissed on account of the title to lands being involved, if there are other causes of action not necessarily connected they may be severed and the latter tried before the justice.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. Every presumption is in favor of the proceedings and jurisdiction of courts of general jurisdiction. There is no presumption in favor of the jurisdiction of a limited court, but that being shown then every presumption is in favor of its proceedings. The jurisdictional averments of the record and limited court are presumed true. Jurisdiction existing, error is irreducible save by appeal. Where the court has adjudicated on the fact concerning jurisdiction such adjudication shall not be assailed collaterally, unless there was a total, and not merely partial, want of such fact, 4 Iowa, 77; what the notice should contain, 4 G., 346; ibid., 345; if plaintiff file the note and its signature is not denied on oath he need not appear, 3 G., 568; variance between note and transcript amendable, 3 G., 284; if the statute allow a nonsuit for non-appearance of plaintiff as did Reprint, chapter 86, an appearance before the allowance of the motion for such nonsuit will avert it, 2 G., 191; change of venue, Bowers v. Fraser, June, 1859; under chapter 38 of the laws of 4th session, a defendant may have more than one change of venue, 7 Iowa, 336; no jurisdiction in real estate, 3 Iowa, 347; transfer of case to district court because of question of real estate, ibid.; does jurisdiction over the maker confer it over the indorser, 8 Iowa 425; sum claimed is the criterion of jurisdiction, 2 Iowa, 35; townships of jurisdiction determined, ex officio, 2 G., 191; liability of acting officer, 3 G., 384; see ibid., 374; proper entries, 4 Iowa, 345; enter pleadings, 2 Iowa, 35; directory only, 1 Iowa, 86; contents of docket aided by petition, 4 G., 304; general denial, when presumed, ibid., 309; see 4 G., 409; "that he had paid" held to be not affirmative matter, 4 G., 379.

The Trial.

Sec. 3880. (2290.) Unless one of the parties demand a trial by jury at or before the time for joining issue, the trial shall be by the justice.
Nonsuit.

SEC. 3881. (2291.) If the plaintiff fails to appear by himself, his agent or attorney, on the return day, or at any other time fixed for the trial, the justice shall render a judgment of nonsuit against him with costs, except in the case provided in the next section.

Exception.

SEC. 3882. (2292.) When the suit is founded on an instrument of writing purporting to have been executed by the defendant, in which the demand of the plaintiff is liquidated, if the signature of the defendant is not denied under oath, and if the instrument has been filed with the justice previous to the day for appearance, he may proceed with the cause whether the plaintiff appear or not.

Default.

SEC. 3883. (2293.) In the case provided for in the last section, if the defendant does not appear, judgment shall be rendered against him for the amount of the plaintiff's claim.

SEC. 3884. (2294.) But if, where the plaintiff's claim is not founded on such written instrument, the defendant does not appear, the justice shall proceed to hear the allegations and proofs of the plaintiff, and shall render judgment thereon for the amount to which he shows himself entitled, not exceeding the amount stated in the notice hereinbefore required.

Set-off.

SEC. 3885. (2295.) In the cases contemplated in the last two sections, if the defendant has previously filed a set-off, founded on a written instrument purporting to have been signed by the plaintiff, calling for a sum certain, the justice shall allow such set-off in the same manner as though the defendant had appeared and shall render judgment accordingly.

Judgment set aside.

SEC. 3886. (2296.) Judgment of nonsuit or by default may be set aside by the justice, at any time within six days after being rendered, if the party applying therefor can show a satisfactory excuse for his default.

New trial.

SEC. 3887. (2297.) In such case a new day shall be fixed for trial, and notice thereof given to the other party or his agent.

Costs.

SEC. 3888. (2298.) Such orders shall be made in relation to the additional costs thereby created as the justice shall think equitable.

Execution recalled.

SEC. 3889. (2299.) Any execution which may in the meantime have been issued shall be recalled in the same manner as in cases of appeals.

Venire.

SEC. 3890. (2301.) The justice shall thereupon issue his precept to some constable of the town-ship directing him to summon the requisite number of jurors possessing the same qualifications as are required in the district court.

Number of jurors.

SEC. 3891. (2302.) The jury shall consist of six jurors unless a smaller number be agreed upon between the parties. Each party is entitled to three peremptory challenges. Any deficiency in their number arising from any cause may be supplied by summoning others in the manner above directed.

When jury discharged.

SEC. 3892. (2303.) The justice may discharge the jury when satisfied that they can not agree, and shall immediately issue a new precept for summoning another to appear at a time therein fixed, not more than three days distant, unless the parties otherwise agree.

Motion in arrest.

SEC. 3893. (2304.) No motion in arrest of judgment or to set aside a verdict can be entertained by a justice of the peace.

Verdict.

SEC. 3894. (2305.) The verdict of the jury must be general. But where there are several plaintiffs or defendants the verdict may be for or against one or more of them.
Judgment, and Proceedings incident thereto.

SEC. 3895. (2306.) In cases of nonsuit, confession, or on the verdict of a jury, the judgment shall be rendered and entered upon the docket forthwith. In all other cases the same shall be done within three days after the cause is submitted to the justice for final action.

SEC. 3896. (2307.) If the sum found for either party, exceed the Excess. jurisdiction of the justice, such party may remit the excess and take judgment for the residue, but he can never afterward sue for the amount so remitted.

SEC. 3897. (2308.) Instead of so remitting the excess the party Same.

SEC. 3898. (2309.) Mutual judgments between the same parties, Mutual judgrendered by the same or different justices, may be set off against each other.

SEC. 3899. (2310.) When rendered by the same court, the same course shall be pursued as is prescribed in the district court.

SEC. 3900. (2311.) If the judgment proposed to be set off was rendered by another justice, the party offering it must obtain a transcript thereof with a certificate of the justice who rendered it, indorsed thereon, stating that no appeal has been taken and that the transcript was obtained for the purpose of being used as a set-off in that case.

SEC. 3901. (2312.) Such transcript shall not be given until the time for taking an appeal has elapsed.

SEC. 3902. (2313.) The justice so giving a transcript shall make Entry.
an entry of the fact in his docket, and all other proceedings in his court shall thenceforth be stayed.

SEC. 3903. (2314.) Such transcript being presented to the justice who has rendered a judgment between the same parties as aforesaid, if execution has not been issued on the judgment rendered by him, he shall strike a balance between the judgments and issue execution for such balance.

SEC. 3904. (2315.) If execution has already issued, the justice shall also issue execution on the transcript filed with him and deliver it to the same officer who has the other execution.

SEC. 3905. (2316.) Such officer shall treat the lesser execution as so much cash collected on the larger, and proceed to collect the balance accordingly.

SEC. 3906. (2317.) The above rules as to set-off are subject to the Qualification. same prohibition as to setting off costs, when the effect will be to leave an insufficient amount of money actually collected to satisfy the costs of both judgments, as is contained in the rules of proceeding in the district court.

SEC. 3907. (2318.) When the judgment of another justice is thus allowed to be set off, the transcript thereof shall be filed among the papers of the case in which it is so used and the proper entry made in the justice's docket.

SEC. 3908. (2319.) If the justice refuses the judgment as a set-off If set-off refused.
he shall so certify on the transcript and return it to the party who offered it. When filed in the office of the justice who gave it, proceedings may be held by him in the same manner as though no such transcript had been certified by him.
Filing Transcripts in the Clerk’s Office.

SEC. 3909. (2320.) The party obtaining a judgment in a justice’s court for more than ten dollars may cause a transcript thereof to be certified to the office of the clerk of the district court in the county.

SEC. 3910. (2321.) The clerk shall forthwith file such transcript and enter a memorandum thereof in his judgment docket, noting the time of filing the same, and from the time of such filing it shall be treated in all respects as to its effect and mode of enforcement, as a judgment rendered in the district court as of that date.

Executions and Proceedings thereon.

SEC. 3911. (2322.) Executions for the enforcement of judgments in a justice’s court, except when docketed in the office of the clerk of the district court, may be issued by the justice before whom the judgment was rendered, on the application of the party entitled thereto, at any time within five years from the entry of the judgment but not afterwards.

SEC. 3912. (2323.) Such execution shall be against the goods and chattels of the defendant therein and shall be directed to any constable of the county.

SEC. 3913. (2324.) It must be dated as on the day on which it is issued, and made returnable within thirty days thereafter.

SEC. 3914. (2325.) If not satisfied when returned it may be renewed from time to time by an indorsement thereon to that effect signed by the justice and dated of the date of such renewal.

SEC. 3915. (2326.) Such indorsement must state the amount paid on such execution (if any) and shall continue the execution in full force for thirty days from the date of renewal.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. Plaintiff dismissing his suit is liable for all the costs legally made, or being made in the cause, whether then taxed or not, (Iowa, 150); the judgment may be for less than $5, and yet the attachment good, (2 G., 214). SEC. 3921. (2332.) The clerk has thereupon the same power to act as the justice would have had. After this he shall return to the office of the justice of the peace all the papers proper to be kept by the justice.

SEC. 3922. (2333.) SEC. 3925. (2336.) Upon the taking of any appeal, the justice shall file in the office of the clerk of the district court all the original papers relating to the suit, with a transcript of all the entries in his docket.

SEC. 3926. (2337.) Upon the return of the justice being filed in the office of the clerk, the cause will be deemed in the district court.

Effect of appeal. SEC. 3932. (2343.) An appeal brings up a cause for trial on the merits, and for no other purpose. All errors, irregularities, and illegalities are therefore to be disregarded under such circumstances, if the cause might have been prosecuted in the district court.

New demand. SEC. 3933. (2344.) No new demand or set-off can be introduced into a case after it comes into the district court, unless by mutual consent.

Proceedings stayed. SEC. 3942. (2353.) All proceedings in the justice's court, subsequent to judgment, may be stayed by a recognizance, entered into like that required in cases of appeals, and on which recognizance judgment shall be entered against the principal and surety in like manner and under like circumstances.

Sec. 3996. (2403.) When a subscribing witness denies or does not recollect the execution of the instrument to which his name is subscribed as such witness, its execution may be proved by other evidence.

Sec. 3997. (2404.) Evidence respecting hand-writing may be given by comparison made by experts or by the jury with writings of the same person which are proved to be genuine.

Sec. 3998. (2405.) The entries and other writings of a person deceased made at or near the time of the transaction and in a position to know the facts therein stated, are presumptive evidence of such facts when the entry was made against the interest of the person so making it, or when made in a professional capacity or in the ordinary course of professional conduct, or when made in the performance of a duty specially enjoined by law.

Sec. 3999. (2406) Books of account containing charges by one party against the other made in the ordinary course of business, are receivable in evidence, only under the following circumstances, subject to all just exceptions as to their credibility:

1. The books must show a continuous dealing with persons generally, or several items of charge at different times against the other party in the same book or set of books.
2. It must be shown by the party's oath or otherwise that they are his books of original entries.
3. It must be shown in like manner that the charges were made at or near the time of the transactions therein entered, unless satisfactory reasons appear for not making such proof.
4. The charges must also be verified by the party or the clerk who made the entries, to the effect that they believe them just and true, or a sufficient reason must be given why such verification is not made.

Sec. 4000. (2407) Every private writing, except a last will and testament, after being acknowledged or proved and certified in the manner prescribed for the proof or acknowledgment of conveyances of real property, may be read in evidence without farther proof.

Sec. 4001. (1227) Every instrument in writing affecting real estate, which is acknowledged or proved and certified as hereinbefore directed, may be read in evidence without farther proof.

Sec. 4002. (1228) The record of such instrument or a duly authenticated copy thereof, is competent evidence whenever by the party's own oath or otherwise the original is shown to be lost, or not belonging to the party wishing to use the same, nor within his control. And in such case it is no objection to the record that no official seal is appended to the recorded acknowledgment thereof, if, when the acknowledgment purports to have been taken by an officer having an official seal, there be a statement in the certificate of acknowledgment that the same is made under his hand and seal of office and the record show by a scroll or otherwise that there was such a seal, which will be presumptive evidence that the official seal was attached to the original certificate.

Sec. 4003. (1229) The provisions of the preceding section are intended to apply to all instruments heretofore recorded, as well as those hereafter to be recorded.

Sec. 4004. (1230) Neither the certificate, nor the record nor the transcript thereof, is conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated.

Sec. 4005. (2408) The judge of the court is a competent witness for either party and may be sworn upon the trial. But in such a case it is in his discretion to order the trial to be postponed or suspended and to take place before another judge.

Sec. 4006. (2409) Except when otherwise specially provided, no evidence of any of the contracts enumerated in the next succeeding section is competent unless it be in writing and signed by the party charged or by his lawfully authorized agent.

Sec. 4007. (2410) Such contracts embrace:

1. Those in relation to the sale of personal property when no part of the property is delivered and no part of the price is paid.
2. Those made in consideration of marriage, but not including promises to marry.
3. Those wherein one person promises to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another, including promises by executors to pay the debt of their principal from their own estate.
4. Those for the creation or transfer of any interest in lands except leases for a term not exceeding one year.
5. Those that are not to be performed within one year from the making thereof.

Exceptions.

SEC. 4008. (2411.) The provision of the first sub-division of the preceding section does not apply when the article of personal property sold is not at the time of the contract owned by the vendor and ready for delivery, but labor, skill, or money are necessarily to be expended in producing or procuring the same: nor do those of the fourth sub-division of said section apply where the purchase money or any portion thereof has been received by the vendor, or when the vendee with the actual or implied consent of the vendor has taken and held possession thereof, under and by virtue of the contract, or when there is any other circumstance which by the law heretofore in force, would have taken a case out of the statute of frauds.

SEC. 4009. (2412.) The above regulations, relating merely to the proof of contracts, do not prevent the enforcement of those which are not denied in the pleadings, unless in cases where the contract is sought to be enforced or damages to be recovered for the breach thereof against some person other than him who made it.

SEC. 4010. (2413.) Nothing in the above provisions shall prevent the party himself against whom the unwritten contract is sought to be enforced, from being called as a witness by the opposite party nor his oral testimony from being evidence.

SEC. 4011. The usual protest of a notary public without proof of his signature, or notarial seal, is prima facie evidence of what it recites concerning the dishonor and notice of a bill of exchange or promissory note.

How Testimony is to be Procured.

SEC. 4012. The clerks of the several courts shall, on application of any person having a cause, or any matter pending in court, issue a subpoena for witnesses under the seal of the court, inserting all the names required by the applicant in one subpoena, which may be served by the sheriff, coroner, or any constable of the county, or by the party or any other person. When a subpoena is not served by the sheriff, coroner, or constable, proof of service shall be shown by affidavit; but no costs of serving the same shall be allowed.

SEC. 4013. The subpoena shall be directed to the person therein named, requiring him to attend at a particular time or place, to testify as a witness, and it may contain a clause, directing the witness to bring with him any book, writing, or other thing under his control, which he is bound by law to produce as evidence.

SEC. 4014. (2416.) Witnesses in civil cases can not be compelled to attend the district court out of the state where they are served, nor at a distance of more than seventy miles from the place of their residence or from that where they are served with a subpoena, unless within the same county. No other subpoena but that from the district court can compel his attendance at a greater distance than thirty miles from his place of residence or of service if not in the same county.

SEC. 4015. (2417.) Witnesses are entitled to receive (in advance if demanded) their traveling fees to and from the court, together with their fees for one day's attendance. At the commencement of each day after the first they are further entitled on demand to receive the legal fees for that day in advance. If not thus paid they are not compelled to attend or remain as witnesses.

Sec. 4016. (2418.) For a failure to obey a valid subpoena without a sufficient cause or excuse, or for a refusal to testify after appearance, the delinquent is guilty of a contempt of court. He is also liable to the party by whom he was subpoenaed for all consequences of such delinquency, together with fifty dollars additional damages.

Sec. 4017. (2419.) Before a witness is thus liable for a contempt, he must be served personally with the process by reading it to him, and by leaving a copy thereof with him if demanded, and it must be shown that the fees and traveling expenses allowed by law were tendered to him if required; or it must appear that a copy of the subpoena, if left at his usual place of residence, came into his hands together with the said fees and traveling expenses above mentioned.

Sec. 4018. (2420.) If a witness conceal himself or in any other manner attempt to avoid being personally served with a subpoena, any sheriff or constable having the subpoena may use all necessary and proper means to serve the same, and for that purpose may break into any building or other place where the witness is to be found, having first made known his business and demanded admittance.

Sec. 4019. A person confined in any prison in this state, may, by order of any court of record, be required to be produced for oral examination in the county where he is imprisoned, and in a criminal case in any county in the state; but in all other cases his examination must be by a deposition.

Sec. 4020. While a prisoner's deposition is being taken, he shall remain in the custody of the officer having him in charge, who shall afford reasonable facilities for the taking of the depositions.

Sec. 4021. (2477.) When by the laws of any other state or country, testimony may be taken in this state to be used in the courts of such state or country, and also in all cases herein provided for taking depositions, the persons authorized to take such depositions have power to issue subpoenas and compel obedience thereto, to administer oaths, and do any other act of a court which is necessary for the accomplishment of the purpose for which they are acting.

Sec. 4022. (2478.) Subpoenas issued by them are valid to the same geographical extent as those emanating from a justice's court, and may be served and returned in the same manner.

Sec. 4023. (2479.) Any sheriff or constable, when called upon for his purpose, shall serve such subpoenas and make return thereto.

Sec. 4024. (2421.) In addition to the above remedies, if a party to a suit in his own right, on being duly subpoenaed, fail to appear and give testimony, the other party may, at his option, have a continuance of the cause as in cases of other witnesses, and at the cost of the delinquent.

Sec. 4025. (2422.) Or the party so calling his opponent may, in such a case, himself become a witness, or, if he shows by his own testimony or otherwise that he could not have a full personal knowledge of the transaction, the court may order his pleading to be taken as true; such order however is subject to be reconsidered during the term of the court, upon satisfactory reasons being shown for such delinquency.

Sec. 4026. (2423.) The district court may by rule require the production of any papers or books which are material to the just determination of the cause.
nation of any cause pending before it, for the purpose of being inspected and copied by or for the party thus calling for them.

Sec. 4027. (2424.) The petition for that purpose must state the facts expected to be proved by such books or papers, and that, as the petitioner believes, such books and papers are under the control of the party against whom the rule is sought, and must show wherein they are material. The rule shall thereupon be granted, to produce the books and papers or show cause to the contrary, if the court deems such rule expedient and proper.

Failure to obey. Sec. 4028. (2425.) On failure to obey the rule, or show sufficient cause for such failure, the same consequences shall ensue as if the party had failed to appear and testify when subpoenaed by the party now calling for the books and papers.

Writing. Sec. 4029. (2426.) Though a writing called for by one party is by the other produced, the party thus calling for it is not obliged to use it as evidence in the case.

Decisions under the Prior Practice. The person contracting for illegal interest may be witness thereto, 4 Iowa, 492; where a party treats a contract as binding, although unsigned by him, he may enforce it, 5 Iowa, 341; the consideration of a contract (that passed, or needed not to have been in writing,) need not appear on the face of the contract—it may be inferred from its terms or proved by parol, 5 Iowa, 341; assignor of claim competent witness, 8 Iowa, 336, 332; competency of books of account and credibility, *Eyre v. Documentary Evidence.

Affidavit.

SEC. 4030. An affidavit is a written declaration under oath, made without notice to the adverse party.

Names in jurat.

SEC. 4031. In every affidavit made, the names of the several persons making such affidavit, shall be written in the jurat.

Certificate.

SEC. 4032. When any affidavit is sworn by any person who from his signature appears to be illiterate, or a foreigner imperfectly acquainted with the English language, the officer taking such affidavit shall certify in the jurat, that the affidavit was read in his presence to the party making the same, and that such party seemed to understand the same, and that the said party wrote his mark or signature, in the presence of the officer taking such affidavit.

Assurance of belief at least.

SEC. 4033. All facts authenticated by an oath, should be attended by the assurance of knowledge, or at least of a belief, and to that end, if the facts are stated in a positive manner, the oath may be that the affiant believes them, but if the facts, or any of them, are stated not positively, but as a belief, then the oath must not be of a belief, but of the truth of them, and no swearing to a belief of a belief shall be a sufficient oath.*

In the first person.

SEC. 4034. Every affidavit shall be drawn up in the first person, and the affiant shall sign his name immediately below the matter sworn to.

Who may certify.

SEC. 4035. An affidavit may be made within or without this state, before any person authorized to administer oaths.

Affidavits out of state.

SEC. 4036. (2475.) Affidavits taken out of the state before any judge or clerk of a court of record, or before a notary public or a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take acknowledgment of deeds in the state where such affidavit is taken, are of the same credibility as if taken within the state.

Signature and seal, presumption.

SEC. 4037. (2476.) The signature and seal of such of the officers herein authorized to take depositions or affidavits as have a seal, and the simple signature of such as have no seal, are presumptive of the genuineness of such signature as well as of the official capacity of the officer, except as herein otherwise declared.

* We will illustrate the evil to be averted by this section. A. makes a statement in an affidavit thus: "B. is a non-resident of the state of Iowa," and it is sworn to thus: "I believe the facts stated in the petition are true." Or perhaps, the statement is, "I believe B. is a non-resident of the state of Iowa," and it is sworn to thus: "the facts stated in the petition are true." Now, in both these cases the testimonial assurance is that of a belief. Although, formerly more assurance, than this comparative assertion, was in some cases demanded, the demand was not based on any sound philosophy, and now, the above would be, in all cases, where not otherwise provided by express law, sufficient. But, suppose that the petition stated, "I believe B. is a non-resident," and was sworn to thus: "I believe the facts stated in the petition are true." Now, you observe, the assurance is less than that of a belief—it is one stage further from positive assurance. It is not that the party believes, but only that he believes that he believes. The distinction is a plain one, and is practically drawn by men who take such last named oaths, who would not take the former. For, although one can be convicted of perjury on an oath as to his belief of an external fact, for that is a positive assurance, as to his state of mind; yet it is doubtful, if he could be on his belief, not of an external fact, but of his own belief—which is not a positive assurance of his state of mind, but a mere belief as to his state of mind. No form of jurat can be invented, which will avoid the evil. The rule suggests a simple remedy. Let the plaintiff state, in his petition, not states of mind, but facts, under a positive form, and let the jurat contain the qualification of the state of mind—assurance—if one is needed, as, "the facts are true," or "I believe the facts to be true." Much moral perjury which now is done, and can not be reached, will thus be averted. Report on Civil Code, p. 343.
SEC. 4038. (2480.) Where a person is desirous of obtaining the affidavit of another who is unwilling to make the same fully, he may apply to any officer competent to take depositions as herein declared, by petition, stating the object for which he desires the affidavit.

SEC. 4039. (2481.) If such officer is satisfied that the object is legal and proper, he shall issue his subpoena to bring the witness before him, and if he fails then to make a full affidavit of the facts within his knowledge to the extent required of him by the officer, the latter may proceed to take his deposition by question and answer in writing in the usual way, which deposition may afterwards be used instead of an ordinary affidavit.

SEC. 4040. (2482.) The officer thus applied to, may in his discretion require notice of the taking of such affidavit or deposition to be given to any other person interested in the subject matter and allow him to be present and cross-examine such witness.

SEC. 4041. (2483.) The court or officer to whom any ex parte affidavit is presented as a basis for some action, in relation to which any discretion is lodged with such court or officer, may, if deemed proper, require the witness to be brought before some proper officer and subjected to cross interrogatories by the opposite party.

SEC. 4042. (2487.) Publications required by law to be made in a newspaper may be proved by the affidavit of any person having knowledge of the fact, specifying the times when, and the paper in which the publication was made. But such affidavit must, for the purpose now contemplated, be made within six months after the last day of publication.

SEC. 4043. (2488.) The posting up or service of any notice or other paper required by law may be proved by the affidavit of any competent witness, attached to a copy of said notice or paper, and made within six months of the time of such posting up.

SEC. 4044. (2489.) Any other fact which is required to be shown by affidavit, and which may be required for future use in any action or other proceeding, may be proved by pursuing the course above indicated as nearly as the circumstances of the case will admit.

SEC. 4045. (2490.) Such proof so made may be perpetuated and preserved for future use by filing the papers above mentioned in the office of the judge of the county court. And the original affidavit appended to the notice or paper, if there be one, and if not the affidavit by itself, is presumptive evidence of the facts stated therein, but does not preclude other modes of proof now held sufficient.

SEC. 4046. (2491.) A copy of the field notes of any surveyor or a plat made by him and certified under oath as correct, may be received as evidence to show the shape or dimensions of a tract of land, or any other fact whose ascertainment requires only the exercise of scientific skill or calculation.

SEC. 4047. (2492.) Duly certified copies of all records and entries or papers belonging to any public office or by authority of law filed to be kept therein, shall be evidence in all cases of equal credibility with the original record or paper so filed.

SEC. 4048. It shall be the duty of the recorder, in each of the several counties in this state, to cause to be procured a book, entitled “copies of original entries,” to be kept as a record, in his office, in which shall be copied a list of the original entries of lands within his county, with name of the person or persons entering the same, and the date of such entry, for which he shall receive a reasonable compensation, to be audited and allowed by the county judge of his county.
SEC. 4049. Said book, containing a copy of such entries, when compared with the originals, and certified to as true copies by the register of the land office at which such original entries were made, shall be deemed a matter of record, and certified copies thereof, under the hand of said recorder, may be received and read in evidence in all the courts in this state, with like effect as other certified copies of original papers recorded in his office.

SEC. 4050. Said recorder shall from time to time, as he may deem it necessary, procure copies of any additional entries under the same restrictions, and with like effect, until all the lands in his county shall have been entered, and certified copies of the entries thereof procured.

SEC. 4051. (2433.) Every officer having the custody of a public record or writing is bound to give any person, on demand, a certified copy thereof on payment of the legal fees therefor.

SEC. 4052. Copies of all maps, official letters, and other documents in the office of the surveyor general of this state, when certified to by that officer according to law, shall be received by the courts of this state as prima facie evidence of the existence of the originals; and that said copies are copies of the original, notwithstanding such maps, official letters, &c, may themselves be copied.

SEC. 4053. (2434.) The certificate of a public officer that he has made diligent and ineffectual search for a paper in his office, is of the same efficacy in all cases as if such officer had personally appeared and sworn to such facts.

SEC. 4054. (2435.) The usual duplicate receipt of the receiver of any land office, or if that be lost or destroyed or beyond the reach of the party, the certificate of such receiver that the books of his office show the sale of a tract of land to a certain individual, is proof of title equivalent to a patent, against all but the holder of an actual patent.

SEC. 4055. The certificate of the register or receiver of any land office of the United States, as to the entry of land within his district, shall be prima facie evidence of the person entering, to the real estate therein named.

SEC. 4056. In the cases contemplated in the last seven sections, the signature of the officer shall be presumed to be genuine, until the contrary is shown.

The parties to the action shall be the same as though brought for a claim founded on contract against the wrong doer and in favor of the estate of the deceased. And the sum recovered shall be disposed of in the same manner, except that when the deceased left a wife, child or parent surviving him, it shall not be liable for the payment of debts.

SEC. 4114. (2506.) Such security, when not otherwise directed, may, if for the benefit of individuals, be given to the party intended to be thereby secured. If in relation to the public matters concerning the inhabitants of one county or part of a county, it may be made payable to the county; if concerning the inhabitants of more than one county, it may be made payable to the state. SEC. 4119. (2511.) No defective bond or other security, or affidavit in any case, shall prejudice the party giving or making it, provided it be so rectified within a reasonable time after the defect is discovered as not to cause essential injury to the other party.

SEC. 4120. (2512.) * The outside history of this chapter is this; the senate friends of the code, fearing that the question of costs might embarrass its passage, and knowing that this chapter was already the law either of the code of 1851 or of subsequent statutes, struck the same out, not intending thereby to repeal the law, but only to leave the same unchanged. The question then occurs, what effect has section 4187 on this chapter? Is it repealed by omission? Will it be intended that the legislature meant to repeal all of part third of the code which was not printed in the act presented by the commissioners, or all not included in it as finally passed? I include the chapter as modified by the fee bill of clerk and county judge.
are adjudged. [He shall be allowed the sum of eight cents per hundred words for recording the opinion of said court to be paid by the state.*]

Sec. 4135. (2526.) In criminal cases the clerk shall charge no fees in criminal against the county or state, except that where a judgment is reversed he is entitled to the legal fees for a copy of the decision, to be paid from the county treasury. As against the accused he is entitled to the same compensation as is allowed in civil cases.

Sec. 4136. (2527.) The clerk of the district court must, in addition to the fees elsewhere authorized, charge and collect the following:

- On the filing of an appeal or the commencement of an original suit, $2.50
- Additional amount on issuing an attachment, 2.00
- On entering a judgment by confession in a case not pending in court, in all, 3.00
- If the case is already pending, in addition to the first charge at the commencement of the suit, 1.00
- On the submission of a cause without action, 2.50
- On entering judgment when not by confession, 2.50
- On entering a general continuance, 1.00
- On entering a special continuance at a party's costs and judgment thereon, 2.50
- On issuing execution and entering return, 1.25

Sec. 4137. (2528.) The above fees of the clerk of the district court must be paid in advance, unless ample security is given to the approval of the clerk, for the payment thereof, when the suit is determined.

Sec. 4138. (2529.) Where security is given as contemplated in the preceding section, if the money is not paid at the time stipulated, the security shall be treated as an authority to confess judgment for the proper amount, and the clerk must enter up judgment, either in term time or vacation, and issue execution thereon accordingly. And in all cases heretofore decided in the district court, the clerk is authorized to issue a fee bill in the same manner as is above provided for the clerk of the superior court.

Sec. 4139. (2530.) The above fees of the supreme or district court clerk must, unless otherwise provided by law, be paid in the first instance, by the plaintiff or appellant, as the case may be, except in cases where the services are rendered at the instance and for the benefit of some other person, in which case the fees must be paid by such person. But unless otherwise ordered by the court, the party paying such fees, if successful in the suit, is entitled to recover them back from the opposite party.

Sec. 4140. (2531.) In criminal cases, where the defendant is adjudged to pay the costs, the clerk of the district court must charge fees as follows:

In cases of appeals, the same fees in all respects as are allowed on appeals in civil cases.

- On an indictment for a misdemeanor where there is no trial, 5.00
- Where there is a trial by the court, 7.00

* Chapter 142, 6th session.
† Are these fees to be charged yet and put into the treasury, while the clerk gets the fees of chapter 29, article 3 as his part for compensation? Not desiring to decide this question, the section is inserted unchanged.

APPLICATIONS, RESTRICTIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS OF PART OF THIS ACT—TIME WHEN IT TAKES EFFECT AND WHAT IT REPEALS.

SECTION 4171. This act shall take effect on the first day of September, A. D. 1860.

SEC. 4172. Actions and special proceedings, already commenced, shall be continued in accordance with the law heretofore in force, except as to the provisions of chapter 159.

SEC. 4173. The rules of proceeding prescribed for civil actions by ordinary proceedings in the district court, shall be followed in all proceedings of a special character, whether before the district court or any other tribunal, so far as applicable and not otherwise regulated.

SEC. 4174. The rules of proceeding prescribed in this act, for the commencement and conduct of civil actions, by ordinary proceedings in the district court, shall be followed in every particular, in all actions and in all proceedings of a special character, unless it is declared that the same shall be prosecuted by equitable proceedings, or unless in the provisions concerning such action or special proceeding, it is expressly otherwise provided, and when it is provided that any action or special proceeding shall be prosecuted by equitable proceedings, the same shall not differ in the mode of procedure from an action by ordinary proceedings, except as such distinction may in this act be made, or may be in such action or proceeding itself provided, and the general principles of procedure herein enacted are applied and restricted as follows:

SEC. 4175. In replevin there shall be no joinder of any but another cause of replevin; nor shall there be allowed any set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand.*

SEC. 4176. A money judgment obtained in replevin for property, which property was in whole or part exempt from execution, shall be to the same extent exempt from execution to the party obtaining it, and from all set-off or diminution, either by the party against whom the same is, or by any other person, and where the facts are so and the party desires it, the record shall state the facts of such total or partial exemption; and all the provisions of this and the preceding section shall also obtain as to the action of detinue.

SEC. 4177. All actions for the recovery of real property shall be by ordinary proceedings. There shall be no joinder, except as therein contemplated, and of a like action. There shall be no set-off, counter-claim or cross-demand, by ordinary proceedings, except as provided therein.

SEC. 4178. The action of partition shall be prosecuted by ordinary proceeding. No joinder of any other cause shall be allowed therein.

SEC. 4179. The action on a note, together with a mortgage or deed of trust, for foreclosure of the same, shall be by equitable proceedings, and tried by the second method of trying equitable actions. An action on the bond or note alone, without regard therein to the mortgage or deed of trust, shall be by ordinary proceedings.

SEC. 4180. To an information there shall be no joinder of any other cause of action, nor any set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand.

SEC. 4181. When the action of mandamus is by a private person, there may be joined therewith the injunction of chapter 155, and such joinder as is provided for in the action of mandamus, and no other; but there shall be no set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand, by ordinary proceedings, and the action shall be by ordinary proceedings.

SEC. 4182. No verification shall be required in the answer or reply in habeas corpus.

SEC. 4183. The action for mechanic’s lien shall be prosecuted by ordinary proceedings, and therewith shall be no other cause of action joined.

* To allow a cross-demand in replevin, would let a man take by force his debtor’s goods, which were exempt from execution, and when sued in replevin, to keep them away, and make his debt a cross-demand, to cancel the money judgment which might be got against him. To prevent this defeat of the exemption law, this and the next sections are provided. Report on Civil Code, p. 343.

† This would allow an equitable defense, set-off, counter-claim, or cross-demand. So in an action to obtain possession of land, an equitable defense might be made, or a counter claim, or cross-demand, equivalent to the former bill for specific performance. This might necessitate a transfer to the equitable docket, but would not be dismissed or disregarded. Report on Civil Code, p. 343.
proceedings of the second method of trial of equitable actions, and no cause of action, save for alimony, shall be joined therewith.

SEC. 4185. Actions by sureties, and by occupying claimants, and on a lost note or bond, shall be by ordinary proceedings.

SEC. 4186. If a term has a meaning affixed to it by this act, it shall be held to be used in such sense, except when the contrary is expressed, but the use of a term herein, which has at common law a technical meaning, shall not imply its use in such technical sense when the same would be inconsistent with the general intent of this act; for instance, the term “count,” shall not imply that the proceeding wherein used is law, as contradistinguished from equity. The words “defense,” “abatement,” &c, shall not imply the class of rights and forms of procedure associated with the terms at common law, but such terms, and all other technical terms, shall be intended to be used in a sense consistent with the spirit and declared object of this code.

SEC. 4187. This act includes many sections of part third of the code of Iowa of 1851; some of such sections, to save printing, are included herein by the numerical designation of such sections, and some are herein printed in full, and some are in part made a part hereof in only the modified form in which herein found. Now, it is intended that that portion of part third of the code aforesaid which is incorporated into this act, either by being set out herein, or by numerical designation herein as aforesaid, together with what other matter may be herein set out, shall be substituted for part third of the code of Iowa of 1851, and to that end every portion of part third of the code of Iowa of 1851, which is neither literally set out herein nor as a section designated herein by the numerical designation of such section, as such section is numbered in said code of Iowa of 1851, is hereby repealed, and all parts of all acts which are within the purview of this act, are also repealed, so that this act shall be the sole law in civil pleadings and practice, and when this act is published, the sections of the code aforesaid shall be printed in full, each in that place now herein designated, by the number by which such section is now known in said code, and then all the sections of this act shall be consecutively numbered, beginning with the first, as section one, and the proper numbers as herein indicated shall be also incorporated into those sections which refer to other sections, either of this act or of the code aforesaid.*

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH A CODE OF CRIMINAL PRACTICE.*

CHAPTER 179.

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

SECTION 4423. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That this act shall be known as, The Code of Criminal Practice.

* The Code of Criminal Practice was, together with the report thereon, drawn by William Smyth, one of the commissioners, and concurred in by his colleagues, W. T. Barker and Charles Ben Darwin. The concurrence of Mr. Barker, however, was qualified by an objection on a few points, as shown in his separate report on these points. The Code as adopted, was in some measure modified by reason of Mr. Barker's report. As the points involved in his objection are of great interest, and the report difficult to be got, I here subjoin the entire report on the Criminal Code, except an act on appeals, drawn by Mr. Barker as a substitute for the chapter on that subject. The figures used in the report are conformed to the sections of this revision, but in some cases the section, it will be seen, has been changed in its passage.

Remarks of Mr. Barker.—While I unite with Judge Smyth and Mr. Darwin, in recommending the principal parts of the report of the Reviving Commissioners, relative to the practice in criminal cases, the report contains several provisions which I am unable to approve.

It is proposed to limit the counsel for the state to one argument before the trial jury, giving the closing argument to the defendant's counsel in all cases. (See section 356 [4785] of the reported act.) This rule does not prevail generally in other states, it has never been the law in this state, and I think there are good reasons, why such innovation should not now be adopted. I am aware, that it is urged that the proposed rule has the sanction of a great name—that of Edward Livingston, but I think however well his reasoning might apply to the conditions of society, the laws and the judicial system of Louisiana, it is not correct, when applied to the present condition of our state. He supports the proposition by the singular reason, among others, that by giving the closing argument to the prosecution, "sometimes defeats the ends of justice by enlisting the feelings of humanity on the side of the accused." He assigns as another reason, that the defendant's counsel "is generally the youngest counsel at the bar," and the public prosecutor "one of the highest abilities and standing." In our state, it is well known that in all prosecutions of much importance, the most experienced and eminent counsel are employed or assigned for the defense. Again, our law prohibits the judge from charging upon the facts, while in Louisiana he may recapitulate any part, or all of the testimony, if desired by the jury so to do.

It is well known that persons on trial charged with a crime, are generally objects of the pity, if not the recipients of active sympathy, from the court, jury and community.

Juries prefer rather to acquit than convict, and often allow their judgments to be swerved from the even balance of justice through sympathy for the defendant. It is well known, that appeals to the sympathies of jurors, is a staple article in all defenses for great crimes, and verdicts of acquittal are of frequent occurrence, which can be accounted for upon no other hypothesis, and which shake the confidence of injured communities in the ability of judicial tribunals to protect society from crime.
SEC. 4424. The provisions of this act shall regulate the proceedings in all prosecutions in all the courts of this state from and after the first day of September, A. D., 1860, except as hereinafter provided.

In every stage of a criminal prosecution, the rights of the defendant are jealously guarded, and great advantages are allowed him which are denied the state. He is allowed a sufficient number of challenges to make the jury substantially one of his own selection; he is furnished with counsel, by the state, if unable to employ himself; and his counsel, by a special provision of our statute (Code sec. 1614) is exempted from the obligation resting upon attorneys in other cases, to maintain nothing but what is "legal and just," and is implicitly licensed to obtain the acquittal of his client by any means in his power, whether he believes the defense "legal and just." The proposed substitute would be a violation of the official and professional oath of the attorney for the state, to avail himself of anything illegal or unjust, or to ask the conviction of a defendant he did not believe had been legally proven guilty.

The defendant is presumed to be innocent until the state has removed every reasonable doubt of his guilt, and that by the most strict legal evidence, for that which would produce a moral conviction in the mind, would be insufficient for the purpose of establishing guilt in a criminal trial.

The defendant is permitted to keep the nature of his defense, and the names of his witnesses secret, until it, and they, are made known on the trial. The dissent of one juror prevents a conviction; and while, if the jury err in acquitting the defendant, he can not be again tried for the same offense, yet the court may, on application of the defendant, or upon its own motion, set aside a verdict of conviction if it believes any error has been committed, or injustice done the defendant.

It is apparent that it must be wholly impossible for the counsel for the state to divine, and properly answer, in advance, all the specious arguments, false propositions of law, erroneous deductions of fact from the evidence, which an experienced counsel might advance in behalf of a defendant. Often several defenses are made and urged with great plausibility, that are first made known by the argument of the defendant's counsel. A capital case was recently tried in this state, in which distinguished and experienced counsel, urged the following several defenses, viz.: 1. That the defendant did not commit the act of killing. 2. That the death was the result of accident, from the act of the deceased. 3. That the killing was accidental by the defendant. 4. That the defendant was insane. 5. That at the time of the killing the defendant was intoxicated and incapable of a murderous intent.

To permit the state from replying to the arguments and authorities, which might be introduced to substantiate a theory of such a character, or in fact in any criminal prosecution, would undoubtedly be an "advantage" to the defendant, and would at the same time operate as a denial of justice to the community in many cases that readily suggest themselves to the mind. It might lessen the number of convictions, but would not prevent crime.

The proper administration of the criminal law, is the only shield the state provides the peaceable citizen, for the protection of his person and life, and to a great extent his property, against the acts of the vicious and lawless, and its efficiency should not be weakened by unnecessary legislative restrictions. I know of no existing evil which the proposed rule would remedy, while its adoption would, in my opinion, tend to a laxity in the enforcement of the criminal law, and to weaken the confidence of the people in the ability of the court for the protection of life and property, and would have a direct tendency from that cause, to revive and extend that state of public feeling so much to be regretted, which has occasioned in some localities, men who otherwise are law-abiding citizens, to band together for the punishment of criminals, without authority of law. The proposed rule is not demanded to secure to the defendant an impartial trial, and is not well adapted to our condition as a people, our judicial system, or the manner of conducting criminal trials.

I do not approve of the chapter on appeals, as reported by the commission, and herewith present a draft of an act, which I think should be substituted for that chapter.

The proposed substitute, is mainly the existing law, revised and amended. The most important change proposed in the present law, and in the report, by the proposed substitute, is designed to prevent appeals in capital cases merely for the purpose of delay. Appeals in such cases may now be taken without any cause, whatever, except for delay, and thus impose needless expense upon the public.

The proposed substitute secures the defendant all just and reasonable rights, and PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS. [CRIM. CODE.

SEC. 4425. All prosecutions or proceedings in criminal cases which shall be commenced before the first day of September, A. D. 1860, and which by the existing laws would be valid, shall not be rendered invalid by this act, but may be prosecuted to their conclusion, and enforced according to the existing laws, as if this act had not been passed.

will tend to suppress an existing public evil, which requires a remedy. Legal gentlemen of prominent standing have advised this change, saying to me they felt bound to take advantage of the law for their clients, but believed it unjust to the public.

I think that section 280 [4809] should be modified so as to leave it discretionary with the court to employ a person to keep a record of the testimony, in such cases as it may deem necessary. If the provision be adopted as recommended, it will occasion unnecessary delays, and much needless expense. There are many trivial cases, in which it would cost the county several times more to procure the testimony to be written out in full, than the amount of the fine which would be imposed on the defendant, if convicted. There are but two classes of persons qualified to keep "full and accurate" minutes of the testimony, without seriously delaying the progress of the trial, and they are experienced lawyers and stenographers. To employ either would more than equal the expense of an additional public officer for each judicial district.

I think it would better subserve public interests, to modify section 225 [4647] and strike out section 357 [4886], so as to leave the law on that subject as it existed in the Code. Every person conversant with ordinary proceedings before the grand jury, is aware of the fact, that many witnesses are examined before the jury whose testimony is wholly immaterial to either party. Sometimes the private prosecutor is ignorant that this testimony is incompetent, sometimes mistaken as to what they will testify to; and often the grand jury and the public prosecutor, after finding that a crime has been committed, are unable to ascertain what persons know about it, except from the witness stand; it often being the case that those who know of the commission of an offense, are reluctant from sympathy with the guilty party or from other causes to inform against him until compelled so to do by law.

It is of frequent occurrence that not one half of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, are able to testify to any important material fact, touching the case under investigation.

If all the immaterial witnesses, sworn before the grand-jury, are to be recognized or subpoenaed to appear before the trial jury, it will create unnecessary expense to the public, and annoyance to the witnesses; and unless they are to be recognized and subpoenaed, the more formality of indorsing their names upon the indictment is a useless requirement.

But more serious objections exist against the provision, making it a cause for quashing the indictment, should the grand jury omit by accident or otherwise, to indorse the name of any witness sworn before it upon the indictment. This is carrying technicalities to the utmost extreme.

There are no valid reasons why the state should be limited in establishing the guilt of a defendant to the witnesses, whose names were indorsed upon the indictment by the grand jury, or whose names have been furnished the defendant three days before the trial, with a notice that they will be examined.

It often happens that important witnesses are discovered during the progress of the trial, or immediately before it commences, or it is ascertained that a witness whose testimony was relied upon, as sufficient to establish some material fact, is absent, other persons may be present, who could speak to the same point, yet none of them could be called because the district attorney did not know of their materiality in time to give three days' previous notice of his intention to examine them, and the consequence follows that the defendant must be discharged or the trial postponed.

Such a rule can but operate to increase the expenses of administering the criminal law and aid the guilty in escaping, without affording any real protection to the wrongfully accused.

The supreme court, in the case of the State v. Abrahams, 6th Iowa Reports, page 121, says, "there is no principle of law, or of natural right, which entitles a defendant to a previous knowledge of all the witnesses to be called against him. Our statute has gone sufficiently far, probably, in giving him the knowledge of those upon whose information the charge is based, by requiring their names to be indorsed upon the indictment."

This case overrules the cases of Ruy v. the State, and Harriman v. the State, so far as they tended to establish a contrary doctrine.

The section amendatory of the Code, was drafted and reported to the judiciary.
SEC. 4426. All laws coming within the purview of this act, shall become repealed when this act goes into effect, except as hereinafter provided.

W. T. Barker.

Remarks of the majority of the Commissioners on the provisions from which Mr. Barker dissents. 1. Mr. Barker dissents from the provisions of section 225, [4647.] "He thinks it would better subserve the public interest to so modify it as to leave the law on that subject as it existed in the Code of 1851." The provisions of the Code spoken of in section 2898, of the Code of 1851, has reference again to section 2898, of the same Code, to be returned by the magistrate to the district court, before which the defendant had been held to answer. Section 2858 of the Code of 1851, with such other parts of chapter 165 of the same Code as required the magistrate to take this testimony in writing, and return the same to the district court, was repealed by chapter 57, of acts of the 4th general assembly, session laws of 1853, page 94. Now, the majority of this commission was in favor of restoring section 2858, of the Code of 1851, and requiring the testimony before the examining magistrate in all cases to be taken in writing and returned to the district court, and to go farther and require in all cases a preliminary examination before indictment; but Mr. Barker was opposed to it, and for the sake of unanimity a compromise was made on the provisions of sections 171 [4593] and 172 [4594], of this Code. For these reasons the majority of the commission can not see "that the law on this subject, could have been left as it existed in the Code of 1851," so far as that Code required the names of the material witnesses on the part of the state, whose depositions were read before the grand jury to be indorsed on the indictment. We did not find it in the statute book, and so we could not leave it there. We agreed not to restore it, but compromised as before stated.

Again, who are the material witnesses on the part of the state, as contemplated in section 2913 of the Code of 1851, whose names only, Mr. Barker thinks ought to be indorsed on the indictment, and which would better subserve public interests? Are they the witnesses whose evidence goes to support the case on the part of the state only, and not those whose evidence operates in favor of the defendant also? If the former, we can not agree with him, if the latter, we think the provisions of section 225 [4647] of this Code, does not materially differ from that of section 2913 of the Code of 1851, relative to the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, which are required to be indorsed on the indictment. Indeed we can not see how it can become very material to public interests, or to the interest of either the state, or the defendant, whether the names of all the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or any of them, are indorsed on the indictment. We think it is at least a matter of convenience, and equally so to the state and the defendant, to have presented at one glance, by this indorsement, the names of all the witnesses so examined. That it is not treated in this Code as very material, we think is apparent from the fact, that although the lack of this indorsement is made by the second sub-division of section 286 [4691,] one, among other grounds, of the motion to set aside the indictment, yet a very easy mode of supplying the defect or omission, is provided in section 270 [4692,] viz: by the district attorney, or the clerk of the court, correcting the indorsement, by the insertion of the names, or name, omitted, so as to correspond with the minutes required to be kept by the clerk of the grand jury, and returned and presented with the indictment, to the court. This also answers the "more serious objections" urged against
CHAPTER 180.

PUBLIC OFFENSES AND THE MODES OF PREVENTING AND PROSECUTING, AND SOME GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECTION 4427. A crime or public offense in the meaning of this code is any act or omission forbidden by law, and to which is annexed upon conviction thereof a punishment.

This requirement of section 225 [4647], and which is alleged to be "carrying technicalities to the utmost extreme."

But it is also alleged against this requirement, "that it frequently occurs that not one-half the witnesses examined before the grand jury, are able to testify to any fact material to the case under investigation," and it is urged "that if all immaterial witnesses so examined, are to be required to appear and testify before the trial jury, it will create unnecessary expense to the public, and annoyance to the witnesses."

By reference to section 523 [4951] it will be seen, that it is made the duty of the clerk of the court to issue subpoenas for witnesses, both on the part of the defendant and the state, but on the part of either, only when required. Now the parties need not require the clerk to issue subpoenas for these immaterial witnesses. If the state makes unnecessary expense by requiring immaterial witnesses to be subpoenaed, or by requiring them to enter into an undertaking to appear and testify, the public ought to pay such expense. A little care on the part of the district attorney, a little trouble in examining the minutes of the evidence of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, and which are required to be presented with the indictment to the court, and filed by the clerk, there to remain, open to the inspection of the district attorney, will enable him to determine the materiality of the testimony, (and surely he is more competent to judge of its materiality than the grand jury is,) will save any unnecessary expense to the public. The same is also true as to the defendant, if he makes expenses by subpoenaing immaterial witnesses, he will be making an unnecessary expense which he will certainly have to pay, for by the law as decided in the case of Donnelly v. The County of Johnson, 7 Iowa, 419, (and that law remains unchanged,) the defendant has to pay all his own witnesses, whether convicted or acquitted.

Thus we see if unnecessary expenses are incurred by subpoenaing immaterial witnesses, or requiring them to enter into an undertaking to appear and testify, it can only be under the system in this Code recommended, the result of gross carelessness on the part of either the state or the defendant, and the costs consequent thereon have to be paid by the party in fault. This is as it ought to be, we think. As to the "annoyance to the witnesses," we have seen that they have to be paid, those for the state by the county, those for the defendant have to look to the defendant. The interest of the parties, respectively, we think, will be a sufficient guaranty to the witnesses that they will not wantonly and unnecessarily be annoyed in this respect. But it is said that unless the witnesses, whose names are indorsed on the indictment, "are to be subpoenaed or required to enter into an undertaking to appear and testify, the mere formality of indorsing their names is a useless requirement." Is this all? We think it is at least convenient as we have before stated, and an error or omission in respect to it is easily remedied, as before shown. Besides, the argument, if good for any thing, we think would be good against requiring the names of any of the witnesses to be indorsed; but some indorsement in this particular has always been required by our laws, and we think it will be convenient yet to preserve it. True, there will not be the same necessity for it under the system in this Code recommended, that there is by the system at present in force. But the consequence of a mistake or omission in respect to it, is not near as serious to the indictment under this Code, as under the present system. Under this Code, it is easily remedied, under the system at present in force, the indictment must be set aside, a new one found and presented, and trouble and expense, both to the public and to individuals, thereby incurred.

The system at present in force provides that minutes should be kept by the clerk of the grand jury, but because it does not provide that these minutes should be filed with the clerk of the court, they never have been so filed, and thus no easier mode of correcting the want of, or omission in, this indorsement than the finding and presentment of a new indictment is provided. It can not be denied that the costs of witnesses in criminal cases, are the heavy items in the taxed costs; we can not but believe that this provision will cause more circumspection on the part of the district attorney, than the present system. If he requires the attendance of immaterial witnesses, he has to pay all his own witnesses, whether convicted or acquitted.
Sec. 4428. Public offenses are divided into—
1. Felonies.

Sec. 4429. A felony is a public offense punishable with death, or Felony, which is, or in the discretion of the court may be, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Material witness on the part of the state, when the means of ascertaining and determining their materiality is so easy, he can not avoid the responsibility—he can not shift it to the grand jury, as he may under the present system.

The next objection urged against section 225 [4647] and which grows out of it, but which goes more directly to section 357 [4786] is, "that the state should not be limited on the trial, to the witnesses examined by the grand jury, (see errors and corrections in section 357,) or whose names have been furnished the defendant three days before the trial, with a notice that they will be so examined." This is a new feature in the criminal practice in this state. It is substantially the recent expression of the legislative will, embodied in chapter 109, of the acts of the seventh general assembly. Session laws of 1858, page 211. This act was passed undoubtedly to remedy what the legislature conceived to be a mischief, in the practice generally established throughout the state; under section 2913 of the Code of 1851, (which Mr. Barker is in favor of leaving as it was,) and a previous statute, similar in its provisions; that no witness could be examined in chief, on the part of the state, whose name was not indorsed on the indictment, if objected to by the defendant, and this practice was certainly sanctioned by the opinions of the supreme court, in Ray v. The State, 1 G. Greene, 316, and Harriman v. The State, 2 G. Greene, 275, and expressly decided in Smith v. The State, 4 G. Greene, 190, and it is believed also, in Montgomery v. The State, not regularly reported. These cases had all been decided long before the legislation of 1858 on the subject, which took effect before June 10th, 1858, the day on which the decision in the case of The State v. Abraham, (referred to by Mr. Barker) was made; that case having doubtlessly originated before the legislation of 1858 went into effect. We believe, (and those who have had the best means of knowing will attest the correctness of our belief,) that it was no uncommon practice, to indorse the names of witnesses on indictments, who had not been examined before the grand jury, which found and presented them, and yet it will scarcely be denied that to do so was in violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of section 2913 of the Code of 1851. This latter mischief we propose to remedy by the provision of section 225 [4647] of this Code, that the names of "no other" witnesses than those examined before the grand jury, shall be indorsed on the indictment.

We have thus endeavored to show that section 2913 of the Code of 1851, was far from being free from objections, that it was capable of being differently understood and construed by different judges and courts, and by the supreme court, at different times, that its provisions were not enforced by sanctions adequate to secure its true intent in its operation, and that it became necessary for the legislature to intervene and declare how it should be construed, and enact some additional provisions, and that section 225 [4647] of the Code, herewith reported, embraces substantially, both the construction and additional enactments of the legislature recently expressed. These provisions are reasonable, and as well calculated to promote the administration of substantial justice, equally to the state and to the defendant, as any which we can conceive of. We can not see how the operation of these provisions can lead in practice to the escape of the guilty, or delay in arriving at justice. We do not believe that such have been their practical operations. Other witnesses can be introduced on the part of the state, without any notice, to rebut the case made by the witnesses for the defense. The state has had its witnesses examined before the grand jury, minutes of their evidence have been kept, it knows what facts each witness will testi- fy to, or may know them, the grand jury are required not to find an indictment, unless all the evidence before it, taken together, is such as in its own judgment would, if unexplained, warrant a conviction by the trial jury, (section 215.) [4637.] If any witness on the part of the state is absent, the minutes of his evidence before the grand jury filed in court and matter of record, show what facts the district attorney expects to prove by the absent witness; if the evidence is material all that he has further to show, is that he has used due diligence to procure the attendance of the witness; if he does this, he can have a continuance to another day in the same term, or to another term. If the evidence of the witness is not material, he has still enough of witnesses aside from the absent one, to make out a case, for the indictment is found, and the evidence must have been sufficient, if unexplained; if he has not used due diligence to procure the attendance of the witness, it is his own neglect, and he ought not to complain. The same is required of the defendant if he asks a continu- ance, as to the materiality of the evidence, and diligence in procuring it.
Misdemeanor. Sec. 4430. Every other public offense is a misdemeanor.

How punishable. Sec. 4431. No person can be punished for a public offense, except upon legal conviction in a court having jurisdiction thereof.

How prosecuted. Sec. 4432. Every public offense must be prosecuted by indictment, except,

If the state finds a witness who was not examined before the grand jury, by whom any material fact can be proved, by giving the required notice, he can testify on the trial. There is no unreasonable hardship in requiring this, if it expects to prove any fact by the witness, the district attorney usually knows what it is, or ought to know. So far from increasing expenses, we believe it will save expenses; true it will require attention on the part of the district attorney, for instead of subpoenaing witnesses at random, without knowing what he can prove by them, and putting them on the witness-stand in the vague hope of proving something, but what, he knows not, perhaps nothing; he will first make careful inquiry and then subpoena those witnesses only who are material.

We concur with the Code commissioners of the state of New York, who in support of a provision (germain to this) in the criminal code, reported by them to the legislature of that state, in 1850, use the following language:—

"The theory of a prosecution is, that the defendant is called upon to explain circumstances appearing against him, which, if unexplained, tend to establish his guilt; and to deny him this right, is to convert a criminal prosecution into the means of destroying the defendant, by springing upon him on the trial, when wholly unprepared to explain them, a state of facts which if the opportunity had been allowed would have admitted of abundant explanation."

2. Mr. Barker objects to the change in the existing practice, recommended by the majority of the commissioners, to be introduced by the 5th sub-division of section 356, [4785.] which gives the defendant or his counsel the right to conclude the argument to the jury. The report of the New York commissioners, before referred to, (which we here take occasion to remark, seems to have been the basis of our criminal practice as contained in the Code of 1851, as it is likewise of the amendments thereto, herewith reported,) contained the same provision. They had drawn to some extent on Livingston's Criminal Code. In defending their recommendation they say—"This provision, independently of the high authority of Mr. Livingston, seems to the commissioners to be well sustained, not merely by every consideration of humanity, but by every principle of justice."

Mr. Livingston in recommending its introduction in Louisiana observes—"The order in which the case is opened to the jury, and the proof introduced, is the same as that now in use, but a material change is made by giving the closing argument to the defendant. It was thought that this was proper and just, because it is an advantage, that is to say, a benefit to one party, that the other does not and can not, from the nature of things, enjoy. To whom shall this be given, to the accuser or the accused, to him who asserts, or him who denies? Humanity and justice seem to dictate the answer. Every address to a judge must be supposed to contain a new allegation of fact, a new argument, or a new answer to rebut those which have been offered on the other side; to close the debate, therefore, without suffering the accused to reply to such allegation or argument, would be in so much as regards it, to decide on his case without hearing him. The same thing may be said of the prosecution. The remedy would be to suffer the argument to go on until both parties declared they had nothing further to say; but this would rarely happen, and never until the discussion had been protracted to a length so highly inconvenient as not to be permitted. It seems, then, as has been said, that the nature of the case imposes the necessity of giving this advantage to one party or the other. To give it to the prosecution, sometimes defeats the ends of justice, by enlisting the feelings of humanity on the side of the accused. There is in human nature, when not perverted, a feeling, repugnant to oppression, which generally supposes power to be wrong, and ascribes innocence to weakness, whenever they come in competition with each other; and few cases give such scope to the imagination to exert itself in this way, as that of a criminal on his trial. Squall in his appearance, his body debilitated by confinement, his mind weakened by misery or conscious guilt, abandoned by all the world, he stands alone, to contend with the fearful odds that are arrayed against him. It is true he has counsel assigned him; but here again the same feelings operate to lead the judgment astray. This counsel is generally the youngest counselor at the bar, who is thus made to enter the lists with one of the highest abilities and standing, with a reputation so well established as to have made him the choice of government as the depository of its interests. If you add to all this the decided advantage of the closing argument, given to a practiced advocate, whom long habit has taught to avail himself of every weak argument or suspicious fact, and a zeal in the perform-
1. Offenses of public officers, when a different mode of procedure is prescribed by law.

2. Offenses exclusively within the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, or of police or city courts.

3. Offenses in cases arising in the army or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger, of which a military court has exclusive jurisdiction.

Of the nature and impropriety of the mode of proceeding usually adopted in criminal proceedings, to which the former has been referred, there need here be but little to be said. It is manifest that the virility and professional skill of the advocates of the accused, the power of the jury to determine on the evidence, the judgment and opinion of the judges, in the trial of such cases, while the issue of guilt and innocence is hanging between life and death; the very turn of the reins of events, and the impossibility of awaking the memory or giving voice to the sentiments of the parties at interest; and the present law requires this impossibility of one on trial upon a charge involving his liberty or life! Clearly he should have a full opportunity to answer every inference and argument relied upon to prove his guilt. But the law closes his mouth until after the trial closes; the last thing before which, is, that one, two, or more counsel are to reason the jury into a conviction of guilt, and to all that may be thus urged to this most important, and often decisive part of the trial, no word of answer against the conviction of the guilty, against whom sufficient evidence was produced to warrant a conviction, but would in a great degree protect the innocent from becoming the victims of the injustice and cruelty of the law, or of the prejudices or mistakes of the jury, a result to which this mode of conducting a trial has so often led.

The circumstances which in all probability gave rise to this petition from a large body of farmers and others in the counties above referred to, are within the knowledge of the commissioners. A reputable citizen of Chenango county was indicted in the city of New York, for the forgery of a draft for 30,000 dollars, which, in a civil action, tried in Otsego county, had been recovered upon him, by the verdict of a jury affirming its genuineness. He was, notwithstanding, brought to trial in New York for forgery. The trial lasted three weeks. On the closing of the evidence, the presiding judge (Edmonds,) declared himself convinced of the genuineness of the draft, and advised that the prosecution be abandoned. The counsel for the people, (one of whom was an eminent lawyer, retained by the private prosecutors,) refused to defer to the opinion of the court, and insisted on going to the jury. The cause was summed up at great length, the private counsel referred to closing the argument, and occupying a day and a half. The cause was submitted to the jury, with a renewed expression of the judge's opinion, and the result was that after being out all night, the jury disagreed, and were discharged.

Nor is this feature of private counsel closing the argument in public prosecutions, of unfrequent occurrence. In cases of great importance it happens every day. The argument therefore, that the representative of the public should have this privilege, in practice often fails. It frequently falls into the hands of distinguished lawyers, representing the feelings of private parties, who, though nominally disinterested, are impelled by the strongest feelings of revenge to obtain a conviction. While the practice continues of permitting private counsel in criminal prosecutions, (a right which was seriously questioned in the Commonwealth v. Knapp, 9 Pick., 496,) it can hardly be contended that the fate of a person, whose life may perhaps be involved in the controversy, should be exposed to the danger of the closing remarks of able and

Mr. Barker seems to urge that we propose to limit the counsel for the state to one argument before the jury. To this we simply say, we had no such intention. We merely intended to prescribe the order of argument, so that the district attorney should commence and the defendant or his counsel should conclude it. See the 5th and 6th subdivisions of the section. But lest those are not deemed sufficiently explicit on this point, let the following be added to the 6th subdivision: "If but one counsel argues the case on either side, he shall not be confined to one argument, and in that case the arguments on each side must be made alternately."

It is true, that "this provision does not prevail, generally, in other states," and that "it has never been the law in this state," but it is also true that it has obtained in some, just as we recommend, and qualitatively in others. We think that a provi­sion should never be rejected merely because it is comparatively new, nor adhered to because it is old. It ought to be submitted to the test of a strict investigation on its own intrinsic merits. That is all we ask for this.

We are not aware of any condition of society in our state, or of our laws, or of our judicial system, that destroys the force of Mr. Livingston's argument, in favor of this provision, as Mr. Barker assumes. We think it can scarcely be denied, that our humane feelings are generally enlisted on the side of the accused, unless in cases where the defendant is accused of an outrageous or prevalent crime; but has not the present rule of practice which we propose to change, a tendency to induce this state of feeling, sometimes to the defeat of justice, as Mr. Livingston observes. Our observation has been that in cases where counsel are assigned to a defendant by the court, unless in cases of high importance, they are usually the younger members of the bar, while our public prosecutors rank among the highest of the profession, in point of ability and standing. In the highest classes of felonies it is true that experience and able counsel are usually employed or assigned for the defense, but it is also true that in such cases, eminent private counsel are usually, at least not unfrequently, employed to assist the public prosecutor. We are not aware that any material difference exists in these respects in this state, from what existed in Louisianna and in other states, at the time Mr. Livingston prepared his code.

It is urged, again, that there is a difference between our system of criminal procedure, and that of Louisianna; that here the law prohibits the judge from charging upon the facts, while there he may recapitulate any port or all of the testimony, if desired by the jury so to do, and that therefore Mr. Livingston's reasoning is inap­ plicable, and incorrect when applied to our system. It will be seen by reference to the code of procedure, that Mr. Livingston recommended, (art. 354, page 532,) that it does not differ materially from ours in that respect, except that it is provided by article 333, that the judge "shall keep notes of all the testimony offered on either side." And article 354 contains this provision: "but he (the judge) shall not recaptitulate the testimony, unless requested so to do by one or more of the jurors, if there should be any difference of opinion between them as to any part of the testimony, and then he shall confine his information to the port on which information is required, it being the intent of this article, that the jury shall decide all questions of fact, in which it is involved the credit due to the witnesses who have been sworn, unbinded by the opinion of the court."

3. Mr. Barker thinks that section 380 [4909] should be so modified as to leave it discretionary with the court, to employ a person to reduce the testimony to writing, on the trial, in such cases as it deems necessary.

This section, as reported, requires this to be done, on the trial of every indictment, either by the court, or some person by it appointed for the purpose.

It is alleged that "this will ocasio-n unnecessary delay and much useless expense." We think that no reasonable delay is unnecessary, nor any reasonable expense useless, that is necessary to attain substantial justice. We think it will not occasion any unreasonable delay or expense. Some of our district judges do this now, them­selves, we believe, and this section provides that those of them who do not them­selves see proper to do it, may appoint some other person.

The trivial cases spoken of, in which it is alleged it would cost the county more than the amount of the fine imposed, and which is urged as another objection to this section, we think do not come within indictable offenses—and the section is confined to the trial of an indictment.

We can not agree that none but experienced lawyers and stenographers, can keep full and accurate minutes of the evidence on a trial—our experience has been different. We can not agree that this would make an expense equal to that of an additional public officer for each judicial district, unless the compensation of that officer would be very much less than that of any other district officer, and even if it would make some expense, we do not believe that the amount could be better expended.

Governor Grimes, in his message to the extra session of the fifth general assembly, on the 3d day of July, 1856, recommended the passage of a law embracing, substantially, the principle of this section, to be used in cases of applications to the executive for pardons; he says:

"The constitution confers upon the governor of the state, the power to grant reprieves and pardons, and commute punishments after convictions; for offenses against the laws. In a large proportion of cases, the friends of the persons convicted, endeavor to procure the exercise of this power; and as few, if any, of the judges preserve minutes of the testimony taken on the trial of criminal causes, these efforts are, for the most part, based on ex parte statements, made without the sanction of an oath, and obtained without notice to the prosecuting attorney, or other person representing the government. It is frequently alleged that there was error in the trial; that the judge mis-took the law; and that there was a mistake of fact by the jury; that there is newly discovered evidence, showing the sentence to be unjust; or that the case, although within the letter of the law, was not within the spirit of it.

The interests of society require that this great power should be exercised with humanity, but at the same time with the greatest discrimination and caution. Justice to the officer who is compelled to investigate each case presented to him, as well as to the parties more immediately interested, require that every fact proved upon the trial, should be accessible to him, to the condemned, and to the prosecutors. I therefore recommend, that the judges of the several district courts, be required to reduce the evidence given in all criminal cases to writing, to be preserved as a permanent record, in the county where the trial was held—and that before any application shall be made to the governor for pardon, a notice of the time and place, when and where the application will be presented, shall be served upon the prosecuting attorney of the county, where the offense was committed."

We propose to apply it to another equally important purpose, to allow it to be used on an appeal to the supreme court, in order to remedy a mistake really admitted, we believe, to exist, viz.: the inequality of punishment in cases of conviction in the different judicial districts. There is a great latitude of discretion given by our statutes prescribing the punishment of offenses, to the district court, in pronouncing sentence upon the convict. There are eleven judicial districts; there may be more hereafter. There are, and must be, as many judges. These judges have each, perhaps, their own peculiar views relative to the mildness and severity of punishments. At least, all have not, and it would be vain to expect they should entertain, the same or similar views, in this respect. A punishment which one would regard as mild enough, another would regard as severe. Hence, upon a conviction of any designated felony, where the range of punishment vested in the discretion of the court will allow it, (and this the law allows in almost every offense not capital) in one district, the court will perhaps sentence the defendant to imprisonment in the penitentiary for one year, whilst in another district, another defendant for a similar offense, committed under precisely similar circumstances, and accompanied with similar circumstances of aggravation or alleviation, will be sentenced by the courts for two, three, four, five, or more years—and for this the law as it now stands, provides no remedy, but the pardoning power, vested in the governor. The same mischiefs exist in cases of misdemeanors punishable by fine, or imprisonment in the county jail, or both such fine and imprisonment. Is this as it ought to be? We think it is not. The remedy proposed will be seen by reference to sections 497 [4925] and 498 [4926] of the Code herewith reported. Sections 380 [4809] and 481, [4909] provide for furnishing the evidence on the trial in the district court, to the supreme court, on appeal, that it may fix the measure of punishment in the particular case. Thus, equality of punishments will be secured, at least, in a great measure. In-

2. To have the assistance of counsel in every stage of the proceedings.
3. To have a speedy and public trial.
4. To have compulsory process for his own witnesses.

CHAPTER 181.

THE TERMS MAGISTRATE, AND HIS POWERS, PEACE OFFICER AND OFFICERS OF JUSTICE, AS USED IN THIS CODE, DEFINED.

SECTION 4439. Any judge of the supreme, district, or county courts, and judge of any city court, any justice of the peace, any mayor of any incorporated city, or town, any police, or other special justice of such city, or town, is authorized to receive complaints and preliminary informations, to issue warrants, order arrests, require security to keep the peace, make commitments and take bail in the manner directed by this code. They are designated under the general term, magistrate.

SECTION 4440. The following persons respectively, are designated in this code under the general term, peace officer.
1. Sheriffs and their deputies.
2. Constables.
3. Marshals and policemen of incorporated cities and towns.

SECTION 4441. Magistrates and peace officers are sometimes designated by the term officers of justice.

Equality in this respect is injustice. One tribunal can, at least, approximate to equality. Eleven or more different tribunals can not. It will diminish the number of applications to the governor for pardons—or, at least, will have a tendency to do so, whilst proper scope will still, doubtless, be left for the beneficent exercise of executive clemency.

4. Mr. Barker does not approve of chapter 42 [220] of our report, relative to appeals to the supreme court. He proposes a substitute; we have not that before us. We have examined it but once, and that cursorily. We do not like that feature of the substitute which requires an allowance of an appeal by a judge of the supreme or district court. We think an appeal ought to be a matter of right in a criminal case as well as in a civil one. As the law is, in a civil case involving five cents, either party is unrestricted in the right of appeal; so it is as the law now stands in criminal cases—in this feature of our report, no change is introduced. This feature of the substitute is like the provision of the Code of 1851, which was changed by chapter 251 of the acts of the sixth general assembly, session laws of 1857.
CHAPTER 182.

PREVENTION OF PUBLIC OFFENSES BY THE RESISTANCE OF THE PARTY ABOUT TO BE INJURED, AND OTHERS.

[Code—Chapter 152.]

SECTION 4442. (2773.) Lawful resistance to the commission of a public offense may be made by the party about to be injured or by others.

SEC. 4443. (2774.) Resistance sufficient to prevent the offense may be made by the party about to be injured:
1. To prevent an offense against his person;
2. To prevent an illegal attempt by force to take or injure property in his lawful possession.

SEC. 4444. (2775.) Any other person in aid or defense of the person about to be injured, may make resistance sufficient to prevent the offense.

CHAPTER 183.

PREVENTION OF PUBLIC OFFENSES BY THE INTERVENTION OF THE OFFICERS OF JUSTICE.

[Code—Chapter 153.]

SECTION 4445. Public offenses may be prevented by the intervention of the officers of justice,
1. By requiring security to keep the peace; and for good behavior.
2. By forming a police in villages, and in incorporated towns and cities, and by requiring their attendance in exposed places.
3. By suppressing riots.

SEC. 4446. Whenever the officers of justice are authorized to intervene for the prevention of public offenses, other persons, who by their command, act in their aid, are justified in so doing.

CHAPTER 184.

SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE.

[Code—Chapter 154.]

SECTION 4447. Magistrates are conservators of the peace, and have power to cause all laws made for the preservation of the public peace to be kept, and in the exercise of that jurisdiction, to require persons to give security to keep the peace in the manner provided in this chapter:
1. Judges of the supreme and district courts throughout the state, in any county in which they may be at the time of complaint made.

2. Judges of the county court, judges of city courts, justices of the peace, mayors of incorporated cities and towns, and police and other special justices of such cities and towns within their respective counties.

Sec. 4448. A complaint may be laid before either of the magistrates mentioned in the preceding section, that a person has threatened to commit a public offense against the person or property of another, which if actually committed where the same is alleged to have been threatened, would have been triable in the county in which such magistrate has jurisdiction, as prescribed in the preceding section; it shall be the duty of the magistrate to examine such complainant and any witnesses he may produce, and reduce such examination to writing, in the form of affidavits, and cause each affidavit to be subscribed and sworn to before him by the person making it.

Sec. 4449. The affidavit of the complainant shall be called the complaint, and it may state the threat upon the information and belief of the complainant generally, or particularly of his own knowledge, as the truth may be; but must state that the complainant fears, that unless the party complained of is prevented, he will carry his threat into execution.

Sec. 4450. The affidavits must set forth the facts stated by the complainant or his witnesses, tending to show that there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense, where such facts are ascertained on such examination, to exist; leaving the conclusion as to whether there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense, to be drawn by the magistrate.

Sec. 4451. If it appear from such affidavits that there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense alleged to have been threatened by the person complained of, the magistrate must issue a warrant, directed generally to any peace officer in the state, reciting, briefly, the substance of the complaint, and commanding the peace officer forthwith to arrest the person complained of and bring him before the magistrate who issued the warrant; or in case of his absence, or inability to act, before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of the same county.

Sec. 4452. The warrant must specify the name of the person complained of, and if it be unknown to the magistrate, may designate him by any name. It must bear date on the day on which it is issued, and at the county, city, town, village, or township where it is issued, and be signed by the magistrate, with his name of office.

Sec. 4453. It must be executed by a peace officer. When issued by a judge of the supreme or district court, it may be executed in any county of the state; but when issued by any other magistrate, it must be certified in the manner hereinafter prescribed, for a warrant of arrest, issued on a preliminary information, before it can be executed in any county other than that in which it was issued. When so certified, it may then be executed in any county in the state.

Sec. 4454. When the person complained of is arrested, he must be taken before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or in case of his absence or inability to act, before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of the same county without unnecessary delay.

Sec. 4455. When the person arrested is taken before a magistrate other than the one who issued the warrant, the peace officer who executed the same, and who has charge of the person arrested, must, at the same time, deliver to the magistrate before whom the person arrested is taken, the warrant with his return indorsed and subscribed by him, and the complaint and other affidavits, if any, on which the warrant was issued, must be sent to the magistrate before whom the person arrested is taken, and if they can not be procured, the complaintant and his witnesses, if any, must be subpoenaed, if necessary, by the magistrate before whom the person arrested is taken, to appear before him and make a new complaint and affidavits.

Sec. 4436. (2781.) When the person complained of is brought before the magistrate, if the charge be controverted the magistrate must take testimony in relation thereto. The evidence must be reduced to writing and subscribed by the witnesses.

Sec. 4437. If it appear that there is no just reason to fear the commission of the offense alleged to have been threatened, the person complained of must be discharged, and the complainant may be ordered to pay the costs of the proceeding, if the magistrate regards the complaint as unfounded, or frivolous, and unless when the proceeding is before a judge of the supreme or district court, may issue execution therefor, and when the proceeding is before a judge of the supreme or district court, he shall transmit the complaint, affidavits, warrant and order, to the clerk of the district court of the county, who shall file the same, make a memorandum thereof in the judgment docket, and issue execution therefor immediately.

Sec. 4438. If there be just reason to fear the commission of the offense, the person complained of shall be required to enter into an undertaking in such sum as the magistrate may direct, with one or more sufficient sureties, to abide the order of the district court of the county at the next term thereof, and in the meantime to keep the peace towards the people of this state and particularly towards the person against whom or whose property there is reason to fear the offense may be committed.

Sec. 4439. (2784.) If the undertaking required by the last section be given, the party complained of must be discharged. If he do not give it, the magistrate must commit him to prison specifying in the warrant the requirement to give security, the amount thereof, and the omission to give the same.

Sec. 4440. (2785.) If the person complained of be committed for not giving an undertaking he may be discharged by a magistrate upon giving the same.

Sec. 4441. The undertaking, together with the complaint, affidavits, if any, and other papers in the proceeding, must be returned by the magistrate to the district court of the county by the first day of the next term thereof.

Sec. 4442. Any person, who, in the presence of a court or magistrate shall assault or threaten to assault another, or to commit an offense against the person or property of another, or contends with another with angry words, may be ordered without process, to enter into an undertaking to keep the peace for a period of time not extending beyond the next term of the district court of the county as hereinbefore provided, and in case of his omission to comply with said order, he may be committed accordingly.

Sec. 4443. The district court may, on the conviction of any person for an offense against the person or property of another when necessary for the public good, require the defendant to enter into an undertaking to keep the peace, as hereinbefore provided, and on his omission to do so, may commit him accordingly.

Sec. 4444. Any person committed for omitting to enter into an undertaking, as provided in this chapter, may be discharged by a magistrate, upon giving the same.
Of appearance.

SEC. 4465. A person who has entered into an undertaking to keep the peace, when required by a magistrate, as hereinbefore provided, must appear on the first day of the next term of the district court of the county, and if the complainant appear and the person bound by the undertaking does not appear, the court may forfeit his undertaking, and order the same to be prosecuted, unless his default be excused.

SEC. 4466. If neither of the parties appear, the court must discharge the undertaking upon the payment of costs by the party bound by the undertaking, unless good cause to the contrary be shown; but if both parties appear, the court shall hear their allegations and proofs respectively, and may either discharge the undertaking, or require a new one for a period of time not exceeding one year.

SEC. 4467. An undertaking to keep the peace is broken by the forfeiture of the same, by the court, as hereinbefore provided, or upon the conviction of the party bound by the undertaking, of a breach of the peace.

SEC. 4468. Upon the district attorney producing evidence of such conviction to the district court to which the undertaking is returned, that court must order the undertaking to be prosecuted, and the district attorney must, thereupon, commence an action upon it.

SEC. 4469. In the action, the offense stated in the record of conviction, must be alleged as the breach of the undertaking, and is conclusive evidence thereof.

If fifteen grand jurors do not appear, or if the number appearing be reduced from any cause, either then or afterwards, to less than fifteen, the court may order the sheriff of the county to summon a sufficient number of qualified persons, to complete the panel.

Sec. 4610. Persons summoned by the sheriff to supply a deficiency in the requisite number of grand jurors, serve only during the term at which they are summoned.

SEC. 4611. (2882.) A defendant held to answer for a public of- fense may challenge the panel of the grand jury or any individual juror.

SEC. 4612. (2883.) A challenge to the panel can be interposed only for the reason that they were not appointed, drawn, or summoned as prescribed by law.

SEC. 4613. (2884.) A challenge to an individual juror may be made for one or more of the following causes only:
1. That he is a minor, insane, or not competent by law to serve as such juror;
2. That he is the prosecutor upon a charge against the defendant;
3. That he has formed or expressed an unqualified opinion that the defendant is guilty of the offense for which he is held to answer.

SEC. 4614. (2885.) Challenges to the panel must be in writing specifically stating the grounds thereof, but challenges to individual jurors may be oral.

SEC. 4615. (2886.) Challenges to the panel or to an individual juror must be decided by the court.

SEC. 4616. (2887.) If a challenge to the panel be allowed, the grand jury is prohibited from inquiring into the charge against the defendant by whom it was interposed. If the jury does so and finds an indictment, the court must set it aside.

SEC. 4617. (2888.) If a challenge to an individual juror be allowed he shall not be present at or take any part in the consideration of the charge against the defendant.

SEC. 4618. (2889.) The grand jury must inform the court of a violation of the last section, that it may be punished as a contempt.

SEC. 4619. (2890.) When several persons are held to answer for one and the same offense no challenge to the panel can be made unless they all join in such challenge, nor can any objection be interposed by a defendant to the grand jury or to an individual juror for any cause of challenge after they are sworn.

SEC. 4620. From the persons summoned to serve as grand jurors, the court must appoint a foreman; the court must also appoint a foreman when the person already appointed is discharged, excused, or from any cause becomes unable to act, before the grand jury is finally discharged.

SEC. 4621. (2892.) The following oath must be administered to the foreman of the grand jury: "You, as foreman of the grand jury, shall diligently inquire, and true presentment make of all public offenses against the people of this state, committed or triable within this county, of which you have, or can obtain legal evidence; you shall present no person through malice, hatred, or ill will, nor leave any unpresented, through fear, favor, or affection, or for any reward, or the promise or hope thereof, but in all your presentments you shall present the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, according to the best of your skill and understanding. So help you God."

SEC. 4622. (2893.) The following oath must thereupon be administered to the other grand jurors present: "The same oath which your foreman has now taken before you on his part, you and each of you shall well and truly observe on your part. So help you God."

SEC. 4623. (2894.) The grand jury being impaneled and sworn, may be charged by the court. In doing so the court shall give them such information as it may deem proper as to the nature of their duties, and any charges for public offenses returned to the court or likely to come before the grand jury.

Sec. 4624. (2895.) The grand jury must appoint one of its number as clerk, who must preserve minutes of the proceedings and of the evidence given before them, except the votes of the individual members on indictments.

Sec. 4625. (2896.) The grand jury, on the completion of its business shall be discharged by the court. But whether its business be completed or not, it is discharged by the final adjournment thereof.

CHAPTER 197.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE GRAND JURY.

[Code—Chapter 167.]

Section 4626. (2897.) The grand jury has power, and it is made its duty, to inquire into all indictable offenses committed or which may be tried within the county, and present them to the court by indictment.

Sec. 4627. The indictment must, in all cases, be found only upon evidence given by witnesses, produced, sworn, and examined before the grand jury, or furnished by legal documentary proof.

Sec. 4628. The grand jury has power, by its foreman, to administer the oath to all witnesses produced and examined before it.

Sec. 4629. It is the duty of the grand jury to appoint one of its number, who is not foreman, clerk thereof, who must take and preserve the minutes of the proceedings and of the evidence given before it, except the votes of the individual members thereof, on indictments.

Sec. 4630. (2900.) The grand jury is not bound to hear evidence for the defendant, but it is its duty to weigh all the evidence submitted to it, and when it has reason to believe that other evidence within its reach will explain away the charge, it may order such evidence to be produced.

Sec. 4631. (2001.) If a member of the grand jury knows, or has reason to believe, that a public offense has been committed, triable in the county, he must declare the same to his fellow jurors and be sworn as a witness upon the investigation before them.

Sec. 4632. (2002.) It is made the special duty of the grand jury to inquire:
1. Into the case of every person imprisoned in the jail of the county on a criminal charge and not indicted.

2. Into the condition and management of the public prisons within the county.

3. Into the willful and corrupt misconduct in office of all county officers.

4. Into the obstruction of roads and highways.

Sec. 4633. The clerk of the court must, whenever required by the Subpoenas. foreman of the grand jury, or district attorney issue subpoenas for witnesses to appear before the grand jury.

Sec. 4634. (2904.) The jury is entitled to free access at all reasonable times to the county jails, and to the examination without charge, of all public records within the county.

Sec. 4635. The grand jury may, at all reasonable times, ask the District Attorney. advice of the district attorney, or the court, and the district attorney may attend before it for the purpose of examining witnesses when the grand jury deems it necessary.

Sec. 4636. (2906.) Such attorney shall be allowed at all times to appear before the grand jury on his own request for the purpose of giving information relative to any matter cognizable by it, but no such attorney nor any other officer or person except the grand jury must be present when the question is taken upon the finding of an indictment.

Sec. 4637. The grand jury should find an indictment, when all the evidence before it, taken together, is such as in its own judgment would, if unexplained, warrant a conviction by the trial jury. When the evidence is not such, it should not.

Sec. 4638. (2907.) Every member of the grand jury must keep secret the proceedings of that body, and the testimony given before them, except as hereinafter required. Nor shall any grand juror or officer of the court disclose to any officer or person except the grand jury, the fact that an indictment for a felony has been found against any person not in custody or under bail, otherwise than by presenting the same in court, or issuing, or executing process thereon, until such person has been arrested. A violation of this section is a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4639. (2908.) A member of the grand jury may be required by the court to disclose the testimony of a witness examined before them, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is consistent with that given by the witness before the court, or to disclose the testimony given before them by any witness upon a charge against him for perjury.

Sec. 4640. (2909.) No grand juror shall be questioned for anything he may say or any vote he may give in the grand jury, relative to a matter legally pending before them, except for perjury of which he may have been guilty in making an accusation or in giving testimony to his fellow jurors.

Sec. 4641. When a witness, under examination before the grand jury, refuses to testify, or to answer a question put to him by the grand jury, the grand jury shall proceed with the witness into the presence of the court, and the foreman shall then distinctly state to the court, the refusal of the witness, and if the court, upon hearing the witness, shall decide that he is bound to testify, or answer the question propounded, he shall inquire of the witness if he persists in his refusal, and if he does, shall proceed with him as in cases of similar refusal in open court.

Sec. 4642. If a witness fail to attend before the grand jury in obedience to a subpoena issued for that purpose, and duly served, the court... shall, upon the application of the district attorney, or foreman of the grand jury, proceed and coerce the attendance of the witness, and may punish his disobedience as in the case of a witness failing to attend on the trial.

SEC. 4643. All the papers and other matters of evidence relating to the arrest, and preliminary examination of the charge against defendants who have been held to answer, returned to the court by magistrates, shall be laid before the grand jury, and if upon investigation, it refuses to find an indictment, they must be returned to the court, with an indorsement thereon, signed by the foreman, to the effect that the charge is dismissed, and thereupon the court must order the discharge of the defendant from custody, if in jail, or the exoneration of the bail, if bail be given, unless the court should, upon good cause shown, be of opinion that the charge should again be submitted to the grand jury, in which case the defendant may be continued in custody, or on bail, until the next term of the court.

SEC. 4644. Such dismissal of the charge does not prevent the same from being again submitted to a grand jury, as often as the court may direct, but without such direction, it can not again be submitted.

DECISION. Powers of grand jury, 2 Iowa, 454.

CHAPTER 198.

FINDING AND PRESENTMENT OF, INDICTMENT.

[Code—Chapter 168.]

By twelve jurors. SECTION 4645. (2910.) An indictment can not be found without the concurrence of twelve grand jurors; and when so found it must be indorsed “A true bill,” and the indorsement must be signed by the foreman of the grand jury.

Private prosecutor. SEC. 4646. When an indictment is found, at the instance of a private prosecutor, the following must be added to the indorsement required by the last preceding section, “found at the instance of” (here state the name of the person,) and in such case, if the prosecution fails, the court trying the cause may award costs against the private prosecutor, if sat­ fisfied from all the circumstances, that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause.

Names of wittnesses indorsed on indictment.

SEC. 4647. When an indictment is found, the names of all the witnesses examined before the grand jury, must be indorsed thereon, before it is presented to the court, and the minutes of the evidence of each witness examined before the grand jury, taken by the clerk of the grand jury, must be presented with the indictment to the court, and filed by the clerk of the court, and remain in his office as a record, but the minutes of the evidence shall not be open to the inspection of any person, except the judge of the court, the district attorney, or his clerk, and the defendant and his counsel, or the clerk of such counsel, and the clerk of the court must, within two days after demand made, furnish the defendant or his counsel a copy thereof, without charge, or permit the defendant’s
CHAPTER 199.

INDICTMENT, ITS FORM AND REQUISITES.

[Code—Chapter 169.]

SECTION 4649. An indictment is an accusation in writing found and presented by a grand jury, legally convoked and sworn, to the court in which it is impannelled, charging, that a person therein named, has done some act, or been guilty of some omission, which by law, is a public offense, punishable on indictment.

SEC. 4650. The indictment must contain:

1. The title of the action, specifying the name of the court to which it is presented, and the name of the parties.

2. A statement of the facts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended.

SEC. 4652. The indictment must be direct and certain as regards:

1. The party charged.

2. The offense charged.

3. The particular circumstances of the offense charged, when they are necessary to constitute a complete offense.

SEC. 4653. When a defendant is indicted by a fictitious or erroneous name, and in any subsequent stage of the proceedings, before execution, his true name is discovered, an entry shall be made in the record of the proceedings, of his true name, referring to the fact of his being indicted by the name mentioned in the indictment, and the subsequent proceedings shall be in the true name, substantially, as follows:

Indictment.

Must contain.

Form.

Defendant's name.
The state of Iowa, against
A. B. indicted by the name of C. D.

Must charge but one offense.

SEC. 4654. The indictment must charge but one offense, but it may be charged in different forms to meet the testimony, and if it may have been committed in different modes, and by different means, the indictment may allege the modes and means in the alternative: provided, that, in case of compound offenses, where, in the same transaction, more than one offense has been committed, the indictment may charge the several offenses, and the defendant may be convicted of any offense included therein; provided further, that this section shall in no manner affect, any provision of the act, entitled an act "for the suppression of intemperance," approved, January 22, 1855, or of the act supplementary and amendatory thereto.

Precise time.

SEC. 4655. The precise time at which the offense was committed, need not be stated in the indictment, but it is sufficient if it allege that the offense was committed at any time prior to the time of the finding thereof, except, where the time is a material ingredient in the offense.

Sufficient certainty.

SEC. 4656. When an offense involves the commission, or an attempt to commit an injury to person or property, and is described in other respects with sufficient certainty to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the name of person injured, or attempted to be injured, is not material.

Construction.

SEC. 4657. The words used in an indictment must be construed in their usual acceptation, in common language, except words and phrases defined by law, which are to be construed according to their legal meaning.

Same.

SEC. 4658. Words used in a statute to define a public offense, need not be strictly pursued in an indictment, but other words conveying the same meaning may be used.

Indictment, when sufficient.

SEC. 4659. The indictment is sufficient if it can be understood therefrom:
1. That it was found by a grand jury of the county impanneled in the court having authority to receive it, though the name of the court is not accurately stated.
2. That the defendant is named, or, if his true name is unknown to the grand jury, that fact be stated, and that he be described by a fictitious name.
3. That the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of the court, or is triable therein.
4. That the offense was committed at some time prior to the time of the finding of the indictment.
5. That the act or omission charged as the offense, is stated with such a degree of certainty, in ordinary and concise language, and in such a manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended, and the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction according to the law of the case.
6. That when material, the name of the person injured, or attempted to be injured, be set forth, when known to the grand jury, or if not known to it, that it be so stated in the indictment.

When not insufficient.

SEC. 4660. No indictment is insufficient nor can the trial, judgment, or other proceedings thereon, be affected by reason of any of the following matters, which were formerly deemed defects or imperfections:
1. For the want of an allegation of the time or place of any material fact, when the time and place have once been stated.
2. For the omission of any of the following allegations, namely: "with force and arms," "contrary to the form of the statute, or of the statutes," or "against the peace and dignity of the state."

3. For the omission to allege that the grand jury was impanneled, sworn or charged.

4. For any surplusage or repugnant allegation, or for any repetition, when there is sufficient matter alleged to indicate clearly the offense and the person charged; nor,

5. For any other matter which was formerly deemed a defect or imperfection, but which does not tend to the prejudice of the substantial rights of the defendant upon the merits.

Sec. 4661. (2921.) Neither presumptions of law nor matters of which judicial notice is taken need be stated in an indictment.

Sec. 4662. (2922.) In pleading a judgment or other determination of, or proceeding, before, a court or officer of special jurisdiction, the facts conferring jurisdiction need not be stated in the indictment, but it is sufficient to state that the judgment or determination was duly made or the proceedings duly had before such court or officer; but the facts constituting the jurisdiction must be established on the trial.

Sec. 4663. (2923.) In pleading a private statute or right derived from it, it is sufficient to refer to the same by its title and the day of its approval, and the court must thereupon take judicial notice thereof.

Sec. 4664. (2924.) An indictment for a libel need not set forth any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the party libeled of the defamatory matter upon which the indictment is founded, but it is sufficient to state generally that the same was published concerning him, and the fact that it was so published must be established on trial.

Sec. 4665. (2925.) When an instrument which is the subject of an indictment has been destroyed or withheld by the act of procurement of the defendant, and the fact of such destruction or withholding is alleged in the indictment and established on the trial, the misdescription of the instrument is immaterial.

Sec. 4666. (2926.) In an indictment for perjury, or subornation of perjury it is sufficient to set forth the substance of the controversy or matter in respect to which the offense was committed, and in what court or before whom the oath alleged to be false was taken, and that the court or person before whom it was taken had authority to administer the same, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which the perjury is assigned; but the indictment need not set forth the pleadings, record, or proceedings with which the oath is connected, nor the commission or the authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed.

Sec. 4667. (2927.) In any case where an intent to defraud is required to constitute the offense of forgery or any other offense that may be prosecuted, it shall be sufficient to allege in the indictment an intent to defraud without naming the particular person or body corporate intended to be defrauded, and on the trial of such indictment it is sufficient if there appear to be an intent to defraud the United States, or any state, county, city, or township, or any body corporate, or any public officer in his official capacity, or any copartnership or member thereof, or any particular person.

Sec. 4668. (2928.) The distinction between an accessory before the fact, and a principal is abrogated, and all persons concerned in the commission of a public offense, whether they directly commit the act.
constituting the offense or aid and abet its commission though not present, must hereafter be indicted, tried and punished as principals.

SEC. 4669. (2929.) An accessory after the fact of the commission of a public offense may be indicted, tried, and punished, though the principal be neither tried nor convicted.

SEC. 4670. (2930.) A person may be indicted for having, with the knowledge of the commission of a public offense, taken money or property of another or a gratuity or reward, or engagement or promise therefor, upon agreement or understanding express or implied to compound or conceal the offense, or to abstain from a prosecution therefor, or to withhold any evidence thereof though the person guilty of the original offense has not been indicted or tried.

SEC. 4671. In an indictment for the embezzlement or fraudulent conversion of money, it shall be sufficient to allege the embezzlement or fraudulent conversion to have been of money generally, without designating its particular species, and proof that the defendant embezzled, or fraudulently converted any money, or bank note, will be sufficient to support the averment, although the particular species be not proved.

ARRAIGNMENT OF THE DEFENDANT.

[Code—Chapter 170.]

SECTION 4680. As soon as practicable, after an indictment is found, the defendant must be arraigned thereon, unless he waive the same.

SEC. 4683. If the defendant has been discharged on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear for arraignment, when his personal appearance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the undertaking of bail, or of the money deposited, may on motion of the district attorney, make an order directing the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest, and fix the amount, in which bail may be taken, if the offense be bailable.

SEC. 4684. (2934.) The clerk on the application of the prosecuting attorney may accordingly at any time after the order, whether the court be in session or not, issue a bench warrant into one or more counties of this state for the arrest of the defendant.

5. That the grand jury were not selected, drawn, summoned, impaneled, or sworn, as prescribed by law.

SEC. 4692. A motion to set aside the indictment, on the ground that the names of all the witnesses examined before the grand jury are not indorsed thereon; or, that the name of any other witness than those so examined, is indorsed thereon, as prescribed in the second sub-division of section 4691, shall not be sustained, if the indorsement is corrected by the insertion, or striking out of such names, or name, by the district attorney, or the clerk of the court, under the direction of the court, so as to correspond with the minutes required to be kept by the clerk of the grand jury, and returned and presented with the indictment to the court.

SEC. 4693. The ground of the motion to set aside the indictment, mentioned in the fifth sub-division of section 4691, is not allowed to a defendant who has been held to answer before indictment.

SEC. 4694. (2944.) If the motion to set aside the indictment be not made before demurring or pleading, the defendant is precluded from afterward taking the objections mentioned in section 4691.

SEC. 4695. (2945.) The motion must be heard when it is made, unless for good cause the court postpone the hearing to another time.

SEC. 4696. (2946.) If the motion be denied, the defendant must immediately answer the indictment either by demurring or pleading thereto.

SEC. 4697. (2947.) If the motion be granted, the court must order the defendant, if in custody, to be discharged, or if admitted to bail that his bail be exonerated, or if he has deposited money instead of bail that the money deposited be refunded to him, unless the court direct that the case be re-submitted to the same or another grand jury.
SEC. 4698. (2948.) If the court direct that the case be re-submitted, the defendant, if already in custody, must so remain unless he be admitted to bail; or if already admitted to bail, or money has been deposited instead thereof, the bail or money is answerable for the appearance of the defendant to answer a new indictment.

SEC. 4699. (2949.) An order to set aside the indictment as provided in this chapter shall be no bar to a future prosecution for the same offense.

Decisions. Naming the witnesses on the back of the indictment, 6 Iowa, 117; 1 G., 516; 4 G., 189, 437; 2 G., 272; 8 Iowa, 203, 291; filing by the clerk and indorsement, 4 G., 381; 4 Iowa, 554; 1 Iowa, 167, 203; 7 Iowa, 15; 2 Iowa, 434; 4 Iowa, 381; 6 Iowa, 511; M., 332; 3 G., 249.

CHAPTER 203.
PLEADINGS BY THE DEFENDANT.

SECTION 4700. (2950.) The only pleading on the part of the defendant is either a demurrer or plea.

SEC. 4701. The demurrer and plea must be put in in open court, and may be oral, but an entry thereof must be made on the record.

CHAPTER 204.
MODE OF TRIAL.

SECTION 4702. Issues of law shall be tried by the court. Issues of fact shall be tried by a jury.

SEC. 4703. An issue of law arises upon a demurrer to the indictment. No joinder in demurrer is necessary.

SEC. 4704. An issue of fact arises on a plea of not guilty, or of former conviction or acquittal of the same offense. No replication or further pleading is necessary.

SEC. 4705. An issue of fact must be tried by a jury of the county in which the indictment is found, unless a change of venue has been awarded.

SEC. 4706. If the indictment be for a misdemeanor, the trial may be had in the absence of the defendant, if he appear by counsel; but, if for a felony, he must be personally present.
CHAPTER 205.

DEMURRER.

[Code—Chapter 172.]

SECTION 4707. The defendant may demur to the indictment, when it appears upon its face, either:
1. That it does not substantially conform to the requirements of chapter 199.
2. That the indictment contains any matter, which, if true, would constitute a legal defense, or bar, to the prosecution.

SEC. 4708. The entry on the record of a demurrer, may be substantially, in the following form: "The defendant demurs to the indictment."

SEC. 4709. When the demurrer is put in, the objection thereby presented, must be heard immediately, or at such time as the court may appoint.

SEC. 4710. If the demurrer is sustained, on the ground that the offense charged, was within the exclusive jurisdiction of another county in this state, the same proceedings shall be had, as are provided in sections 4795, 4796, 4797, and 4798 of this code.

SEC. 4711. If the demurrer is sustained, because the indictment contains matter which is a legal defense, or bar, to the indictment, the judgment shall be final, and the defendant must be discharged.

SEC. 4712. If the demurrer is sustained on any other ground than that mentioned in the last two sections, the defendant must be dealt with as provided in section 4697, unless the court is of opinion, on good cause shown, that the objection can be remedied or avoided, in another indictment; in which case the court may order the cause to be re-submitted to the same or another grand jury, and the defendant may be dealt with as provided in section 4638.

SEC. 4713. If the demurrer is overruled, the defendant has a right to put in a plea. If he fails to do so, final judgment may be rendered against him, on the demurrer, and if necessary, a jury may be impaneled to inquire and ascertain the degree of the offense.

DECISIONS. Must specify the grounds of demurrer or be disregarded, 5 Iowa, 370; the certainty of statement of objections in a demurrer, 1 Iowa, 542.

CHAPTER 206.

PLEAS TO THE INDICTMENT.

[Code—Chapter 173.]

SECTION 4714. There are but three pleas to an indictment. A Number of pleas.

Plea of guilty.

SEC. 4716. The plea of guilty can only be put in by the defendant himself, in open court.

Same.

SEC. 4717. At any time before judgment, the court may permit the plea of guilty to be withdrawn, and another plea or pleas substituted.

Plea of not guilty.

SEC. 4718. The plea of not guilty is a denial of every material allegation in the indictment; and all matters of fact may be given in evidence, under it, except a former conviction or acquittal.

Judgment, when a bar.

SEC. 4719. A conviction or acquittal by a judgment upon a verdict, shall bar another prosecution for the same offense, notwithstanding a defect in form or substance in the indictment, on which the conviction or acquittal took place.

Bar to what.

SEC. 4720. (2962.) When the defendant has been convicted or acquitted upon an indictment for an offense consisting of different degrees, the conviction or acquittal shall be a bar to another indictment for the offense charged in the former or for any lower degree of that offense, or for an offense necessarily included therein.

Same

SEC. 4721. The judgment for the defendant, on a demurrer, except where it is otherwise provided, or for an objection to its form or substance taken on the trial, or for variance between the indictment and the proof, shall not bar another prosecution for the same offense.

Plea by court.

CHAPTER 207.

TIME OF TRIAL.

Day of trial fixed by court.

SEC. 4723. If the defendant is in custody, or on bail, or has deposited money instead of bail when the indictment is found, the trial may take place at the same term of the court, on a day to be fixed by the court.

Same.

SEC. 4724. If not tried at the same term, all indictments, together with all other criminal prosecutions, shall be docketed for the first day of the next term of the court, unless a different day be fixed by the order of the court; but no indictment for a felony shall be docketed until after the defendant has been arrested or given bail, or deposited money instead thereof.

Sec. 4725. All prosecutions by indictment, in the same court in which the indictment was found, and on appeal or change of venue, shall stand for trial on the day for which they are docketed, if the defendant has been arrested, and the papers returned or transmitted to the clerk, and received by him, and filed in his office, ten days before the first day of the term for which they are so docketed, subject to the provisions of section 3006 of the code of civil practice.

Sec. 4726. After plea put in to an indictment, the defendant is entitled to three clear days, at least, to prepare for his trial, if he require it.

CHAPTER 208.

CHANGE OF VENUE IN CRIMINAL CASES.

ARTICLE 1.

Section 4727. (3270.) In all criminal cases which may be pending in any of the district courts of this state, any defendant therein may petition the court for a change of venue to another county.

Sec. 4728. (3271.) Such petition must set forth the nature of the prosecution, the court where the same is pending, and that such defendant can not receive a fair and impartial trial owing to the prejudice of the judge, or to excitement and prejudice against him in such county, and must verify the same by his affidavit stating the same to be true as he verily believes.

Sec. 4729. When the ground alleged in the petition, is excitement and prejudice against him, in the county, it must be verified by three disinterested persons, in addition to the petitioner himself.

Sec. 4730. The petition need not state the facts upon which the belief of the petitioner, or other person, verifying the same, is founded, but may allege the belief of the particular ground thereof, in general terms.

Sec. 4731. The court may receive additional testimony by affidavits only, either on the part of the defendant, or the state, when the alleged ground in the petition, is excitement and prejudice, in the county, against the petitioner.

Sec. 4732. The petition and affidavits, if any, must be filed with the clerk, and are parts of the record.

Sec. 4733. The court, in the exercise of a sound discretion, must decide the matter of the petition, when fully advised, according to the very right of it.

Sec. 4734. If sustained, the court must, if the ground alleged be the prejudice of the judge, order the change of venue to the most convenient county, in an adjoining district, to which no objection exists.

SEC. 4735. If sustained on the ground of excitement and prejudice in the county, it must be awarded to such county in the same district, in which no such objection exists.

SEC. 4736. Upon the making of the order, if there be but one defendant in the case, unless all have joined in the petition, the clerk must make out and certify a transcript of all papers on file in the case, including the indictment, and file the same in his office, and a certified copy of all record entries, and all the original papers on file must be, without unnecessary delay, transmitted to the clerk of the court to which the change of venue is ordered.

SEC. 4737. If there be more than one defendant in the case, and all the defendants have not joined in the petition, the clerk, upon the making of such order, must, without unnecessary delay, make out and certify a transcript of all entries appearing on the record, and of all the papers on file in the case, including the indictment, and transmit the transcript so certified to the clerk of the court to which the change of venue is ordered, retaining the originals.

SEC. 4738. If a defendant, who has applied for a change of venue, which has been ordered, be in custody, the sheriff of the county from which the venue is changed, must, on the order of the court, transfer and deliver such defendant to the sheriff of the county to which such change is allowed, and upon such transfer and delivery with a certified copy of such order, the sheriff last mentioned must receive and detain the defendant in his custody, until legally discharged therefrom, and give a certificate of such delivery.

SEC. 4739. (3275.) The court to which such change of venue is granted must take cognizance of the cause and proceed therein to trial, judgment and execution, in all respects as if the indictment had been found by the grand jury impaneled in such court.

SEC. 4740. (3276.) In all changes of venue under the provisions of this chapter, the county from which the change of venue was taken shall pay the expenses and charges of removing, delivering and keeping the defendant, and all other expenses necessary and consequent upon such change of venue and the trial of such defendant, which shall be audited and allowed by the court trying such case.

SEC. 4741. (3277.) Sheriffs, for delivering prisoners under the provisions of this chapter, are entitled to the same fees therefor as are allowed for the conveyance of convicts to the penitentiary.

ARTICLE 2.

An Act authorizing the District Court or the Judge thereof to change the venue in criminal prosecutions in certain cases.

(Passed Feb. 7, 1860, took effect July 4, 1860; Laws of Eighth General Assembly, Chapter II.)

SECTION 4742. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That when any district judge in this state is satisfied from his own knowledge or otherwise that any organized county in his district does not contain a sufficient number of inhabitants possessing the qualifications of jurors to compose grand and petit juries for the presentment and trial of any person or persons charged with the commission of an offense in said county requiring the intervention of a grand jury, it shall be the duty of said judge to make an order transferring all prosecutions for such offenses committed in said county, to the next nearest county in the same judicial district possessing the requisite number of inhabitants qualified to serve as jurors.

SEC. 4743. Said order may be made by the judge in vacation or by the court, and the district court of the county to which said prosecution may be transferred shall have full and complete jurisdiction of the offense, and the person or persons charged with committing the offense may be indicted and tried in the county to which the prosecution is so transferred in the same manner as though the offense had been committed in said county.

SEC. 4744. When any prosecution has been transferred by the court or judge under the provisions of this act, the person charged with committing the offense shall be required to appear at the next succeeding term of the district court of the county to which the prosecution is transferred, and shall give bond accordingly, and the court or judge may require all material witnesses in behalf of the prosecution to enter into recognizance for their appearance at the district court of the county to which the prosecution is transferred.

SEC. 4745. The county in which the offense was committed and from which the prosecution was transferred shall pay all the costs attending the prosecution.

SEC. 4746. No appeal or writ of error shall lie from any order for the transfer of prosecutions made under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4747. The provisions of this act apply to prosecutions or charges now pending or that may hereafter be instituted for offenses heretofore or hereafter committed.

SEC. 4748. So much of chapter 157 of the code and all other acts Repeal, and parts of acts conflicting with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

CHAPTER 209.

POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL.

SECTION 4749. When an indictment is called for trial, or at any time previous thereto, the court may, upon sufficient cause shown by either party, direct the trial to be postponed to another day in the same term, or, until another term.
SEC. 4750. The provisions of chapter 123, of the code of civil practice, relative to the continuances of the trial of civil causes, shall apply to the continuance of criminal actions, except that no judgment for costs, shall be rendered against a defendant, in a criminal action, on account of such continuance, and except as in this code otherwise provided.

CHAPTER 210.

FORMATION OF TRIAL JURY.

[Code—Chapter 174.]
CHAPTER 211.

CHALLENGING THE JURY.

[Code—Chapter 175.]

SECTION 4760. (2972.) A challenge is an objection made to the trial jurors, and is of two kinds:
1. To the panel;
2. To an individual juror.

SEC. 4761. (2973.) When several defendants are tried together, they are not allowed to sever their challenges, but must join therein.

SEC. 4762. A challenge to the panel can be interposed, only on the ground that they were not selected, drawn or summoned, as prescribed by law.

SEC. 4763. A challenge to the panel must be taken before a challenge to any individual juror, and must be in writing, specifying distinctly and plainly, the facts constituting the ground of challenge.

SEC. 4764. (2976.) A challenge to the panel may be taken by either party, and upon the trial thereof the officers whose irregularity is complained of, as well as any other persons, may be examined to prove or disprove the facts alleged as the ground of the challenge.

SEC. 4765. (2977.) If the facts of the challenge be allowed by the court, the jury must be discharged so far as the trial of the indictment in question is concerned. If it be disallowed the court shall direct the jury to be impaneled.

SEC. 4766. A challenge to an individual juror, may be taken orally, and is either,
1. For cause;
2. Peremptory.

SEC. 4767. A challenge for cause may be taken, either by the state, or by the defendant, and must distinctly specify the facts constituting the causes of challenge.

SEC. 4768. (2983.) It is an objection to a particular juror, and is either:
1. General, that the juror is disqualified from serving in any case;
2. Particular, that he is disqualified in the case on trial.

SEC. 4769. (2984.) General causes of challenge are:
1. A conviction for felony;
2. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by statute to render a person a competent juror;
3. Unsoundness of mind, or such defects in the faculties of the mind or the organs of the body, as render him incapable of performing the duties of a juror.
SEC. 4770. (2985.) Particular causes of challenge are of two kinds:

1. For such a bias as, when the existence of the fact is ascertained, in judgment of law disqualifies the juror, and which is known in this chapter as implied bias;

2. For the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror in reference to the case which, in the exercise of a sound discretion, leads to the inference that he will not act with entire impartiality, and which is actual bias.

SEC. 4771. A challenge for implied bias may be taken for any of the following causes:

1. Affinity, or consanguinity within the ninth degree, to the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose preliminary information, or at whose instance, the prosecution was instituted, or to the defendant, to be computed according to the rule of the civil law.

2. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, or landlord and tenant, or being a member of the family of the defendant, or of the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose preliminary information, or at whose instance, the prosecution was instituted, or in his employ on wages.

3. Being a party adverse to the defendant, in a civil action, or having been the prosecutor against, or accused by him, in a criminal prosecution.

4. Having served on the grand jury which found the indictment, or on a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of a person, whose death is the subject of the indictment.

5. Having served on a trial jury, which has tried another defendant, for the offense charged in the indictment.

6. Having been one of a jury formerly sworn to try the same indictment, and whose verdict was set aside, or, which was discharged without a verdict, after the cause was submitted to it.

7. Having served as a juror, in a civil action brought against the defendant, for the act charged as an offense.

8. Having formed or expressed an unqualified opinion, or belief, that the prisoner is guilty or not guilty of the offense charged.

9. If the offense charged be punishable with death, the entertaining of such conscientious opinions as would preclude his finding the defendant guilty; in which case he shall neither be permitted nor compelled to serve as a juror.

SEC. 4772. (2987.) An exemption from service on a jury is not a cause of challenge, but the privilege of the person exempted.

SEC. 4773. (2988.) Upon the trial of a challenge to an individual juror, the juror challenged may be examined as a witness to prove or disprove the challenge and must answer every question pertinent to the inquiry thereon.

SEC. 4774. (2989.) Other witnesses may also be examined on either side; and the rules of evidence applicable to the trial of other issues shall govern the admission or exclusion of testimony on the trial of the challenge.

SEC. 4775. (2990.) In all challenges the court shall determine the law and the fact and must either allow or disallow the challenge.

SEC. 4776. The state shall first complete its challenges for cause, and the defendant, afterwards.

SEC. 4777. After twelve jurors have been obtained, against whom no cause of challenge has been found to exist, peremptory challenges may be made.
SEC. 4778. A peremptory challenge, is an objection to a juror for which no reason need be given, but upon which, the court must exclude him.

SEC. 4779. If the offense charged in the indictment is punishable with death, or imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, or may be so punishable in the discretion of the court, the state is entitled to eight peremptory challenges, and the defendant to twenty, if any other felony, the state to six, and the defendant to sixteen, and if a misdemeanor, the state to two, and the defendant to six.

SEC. 4780. The state shall first exhaust its peremptory challenges, or waive the same, and the defendant afterwards.

SEC. 4781. The challenges of either party need not be all taken at once, but separately, in the following order, including in each challenge, all the causes of challenge belonging to the same class:
1. To the panel.
2. To an individual juror, for general cause.
3. To an individual juror, for implied bias.
4. To an individual juror, for actual bias.
5. To an individual juror, peremptorily.

SEC. 4782. After each challenge, which is allowed, the vacancy occasioned thereby, shall, if required, be filled before any further challenge is made, and any new juror thus introduced may be challenged for cause, as well as peremptorily, if the peremptory challenges are not exhausted.

SEC. 4783. No juror shall be sworn to try the issue, until twelve jurors are accepted.

SEC. 4784. Bias in a juror, against either party, is no cause of challenge by the other. It may be waived by the party against whom it exists.

DECISIONS. Disqualifying opinion, 8 Iowa, 477; State v. Thompson, June, 1859; 6 Iowa, 380; 8 Iowa, 420; challenging jury—opinion, M., 332; 2 G., 404; 4 G., 189; "unqualified" defined, 6 Iowa, 380; 7 ibid., 287; implied bias, 6 Iowa, 407; the order of peremptory challenges, 8 Iowa, 291, 477; oath of jury, 1 Iowa, 107, 173; 2 G., 270; 4 G., 381; 1 G., 106.

CHAPTER 212.

THE TRIAL OF THE ISSUE OF FACT ON AN INDICTMENT.

[Code—Chapter 176.]

SECTION 4785. The jury having been empanelled and sworn, the trial must proceed in the following order:
1. The clerk or district attorney must, if the indictment be for a felony, read it, and state the defendant's plea to the jury. In all other cases, this formality may be dispensed with.
2. The district attorney must then offer the evidence in support of the indictment.
3. The defendant or his counsel, may then offer his evidence in support of his defense.
4. The parties may then, respectively, offer rebutting evidence only, unless the court, for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case.

5. When the evidence is concluded unless the case is submitted to the jury on either side, or both sides, without argument, the district attorney must commence, the defendant follow, by one or two counsel at his option, unless the court should permit him to be heard by a larger number, and the district attorney conclude, confining himself to a response to the arguments of the defendant's counsel, provided that where two or more defendants are on trial for the same offense, they may be heard by one counsel each, and provided further that the court, when the affirmative of the issue is with the defendant, may in its discretion award to the defendant the last argument.

6. The court shall then charge the jury in writing without oral explanation or qualification.

SEC. 4786. The district attorney, in offering the evidence in support of the indictment, in pursuance of the order prescribed in the last preceding section, under the second sub-division thereof, shall not be permitted to introduce any witness who was not examined before the grand jury, and the minutes of whose testimony was not taken by the clerk of the grand jury and presented with the indictment to the court, unless he shall have given to the defendant a notice in writing, stating the name, place of residence, and occupation of such witness, and the substance of what he expects to prove by him on the trial, at least three clear days before the commencement of such trial.

SEC. 4787. When the defendant's only plea is a former conviction or acquittal, the order prescribed in the second and third sub-divisions of the section immediately preceding the last, shall be reversed, and the defendant shall first offer his evidence in support of his defense.

SEC. 4788. The court shall not restrict counsel, as to time, in their argument.

SEC. 4789. When two or more defendants are jointly indicted for felony, any defendant requiring it may be tried separately. In other cases, defendants jointly indicted may be tried separately or jointly in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4790. Upon a trial for a conspiracy in a case where an overt act is required by law to constitute the offense, the defendant can not be convicted unless one or more overt acts be expressly alleged in the indictment, nor unless one or more of the acts alleged be proved; but other overt acts not alleged in the indictment may be given in evidence.

SEC. 4791. If it appear by the testimony that the facts proved constitute an offense of a higher nature than that charged in the indictment, the court may direct the jury to be discharged and all proceedings on the indictment to be suspended, and may order the defendant to be committed or continued on bail to answer any new indictment which may be found against him for the higher offense.

SEC. 4792. If the indictment for the higher offense be dismissed by the grand jury or be not found at the next term, the court must proceed to try the defendant on the original indictment.

SEC. 4793. The court may also discharge the jury where it appears that it has not jurisdiction of the offense or that the facts as charged in the indictment do not constitute an offense punishable by law.

SEC. 4794. If the jury be discharged because the court has not jurisdiction of the offense charged in the indictment, and it appear that it was committed out of the jurisdiction of this state, the defendant must be discharged, or ordered to be retained in custody a reasonable time, until the district attorney shall have a reasonable opportunity to inform the chief executive of the state, in which the offense was committed, of the facts, and for said officer to require the delivery of the offender.

Sec. 4795. (3004.) If the offense was committed within the exclusive jurisdiction of another county of this state, the court must direct the defendant to be committed for such time as shall be deemed reasonable to await a warrant from the proper county for his arrest; or if the offense be bailable he may be admitted to bail, in an undertaking with sufficient sureties, that he will within such time as the court may appoint, render himself amenable to a warrant for his arrest from the proper county, and if not sooner arrested thereon will attend at the office of the sheriff of the county where the trial was had, at a certain time particularly designated in the undertaking, to surrender himself upon the warrant, if issued, or that the bail will forfeit such sum as the court may fix, to be mentioned in the undertaking.

Sec. 4796. In the case provided for in the last section, the clerk must transmit, forthwith, a certified copy of the indictment and all the papers in the action, filed with him, except the undertaking mentioned in the last section, to the district attorney of the proper county.

Sec. 4797. (3006.) If the defendant be not arrested on a warrant from the proper county he shall be discharged from custody, or his bail in the action shall be exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail shall be refunded, as the case may be, and the sureties in the undertaking must be discharged.

Sec. 4798. (3007.) If he be arrested, the same proceedings must be had thereon, as upon the arrest of a defendant in another county on a warrant of arrest issued by a magistrate.

Sec. 4799. (3008.) If the jury be discharged because the facts set forth do not constitute an offense punishable by law, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged therefrom, or if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated, or if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the money deposited be refunded, unless in its opinion a new indictment can be framed upon which the defendant can be legally convicted, in which case the court may direct that the case be submitted to the same or another grand jury.

Sec. 4800. Whenever, in the opinion of the court, it is proper that the jury should view the place in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or in which any other material fact occurred, it may order the jury to be conducted in a body, in the custody of proper officers, to the place, which shall be shown them by a person appointed by the court for that purpose. The officers must be sworn to suffer no person to speak to or communicate with the jury, on any subject connected with the trial, nor to do so themselves, except the person appointed by the court for that purpose, and that only to show the place to be viewed, and to return them into court without unnecessary delay, at a specified time.

Sec. 4801. If a juror have any personal knowledge, respecting a fact in controversy, in a cause, he must declare the same in open court, during the trial, and if during the retirement of the jury a juror declare any fact which could be evidence in the cause, as of his own knowledge, the jury must return into court and the juror must be sworn as a witness, and examined in the presence of the parties, if his evidence be admissible.
SEC. 4802. The jurors sworn to try an indictment, may, at any time before the final submission of the cause to them, in the discretion of the court, be permitted to separate, or be kept together in charge of proper officers. The officers must be sworn to keep the jury together during the adjournment of the court, and to suffer no person to speak to or communicate with them, on any subject connected with the trial, nor do so themselves, and to return them into court at the time to which it adjourns.

SEC. 4803. The jury, whether permitted to separate, or kept together, in charge of sworn officers, must be admonished by the court, that it is their duty not to permit any person to speak to, or communicate with them, on any subject connected with the trial, and that any and all attempts to do so, should be immediately reported by them to the court, and that they should not converse among themselves on any subject connected with the trial, or form or express any opinion thereon, until the cause is finally submitted to them. This admonition must be given or referred to by the court, at each adjournment, during the progress of the trial, previous to the final submission of the cause to the jury.

SEC. 4804. (3013.) If before the conclusion of a trial a juror become sick, so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged, and in such case a new juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew, or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterward be impanneled.

SEC. 4805. The rules of evidence in civil cases, are applicable, also, to criminal cases, except as otherwise provided.

SEC. 4806. The confession of a defendant, unless made in open court will not warrant a conviction unless accompanied with other proof that the offense was committed.

SEC. 4807. Where there is a reasonable doubt of the defendant being proven to be guilty, he is entitled to an acquittal.

SEC. 4808. Where there is a reasonable doubt of the degree of the offense, of which the defendant is proven to be guilty, he shall only be convicted of the lower degree.

SEC. 4809. The court shall, on the trial of every indictment, when requested by either party, keep, or cause to be kept, by some person for that purpose by it appointed, full and accurate minutes of the testimony of each witness examined on the trial, showing the name of the witness, his place of residence, and his occupation, as well as of any oral evidence introduced, either by the state or defendant, after a plea or verdict of guilty, to be considered by the court in aggravation or alleviation of the punishment in pronouncing sentence against the defendant, which shall be certified to be full and accurate by the judge, and signed by him, and filed with the clerk, and so marked by him, which shall be deemed a part of the record of the cause.

SEC. 4810. (3014.) Upon an indictment against several defendants any one or more may be convicted or acquitted.

SEC. 4811. (3015.) On the trial of an indictment for a libel the jury have the right to determine the law and the fact.

SEC. 4812. (3016.) On the trial of an indictment for any other offense than libel, questions of law are to be decided by the court; saving the right of the defendant and the state to except. Questions of fact are to be tried by the jury. And although the jury have the power to find a general verdict which includes questions of law as well as fact, they are bound nevertheless to receive as law what is laid down as such by the court.
SEC. 4813. The court shall, on motion of either party, instruct the instructions in jury on the law applicable to the case, which must always be in writing, signed by the judge and filed with the clerk, and so marked by him, and it is to be deemed a part of the record of the cause, and no oral qualification thereof shall be permitted.

SEC. 4814. Any instruction asked by either party to be given by the court must be in writing, and must be either given or refused, and so marked and signed by the judge, and filed with the clerk, and so marked by him, and is to be deemed a part of the record. It may be qualified in writing, by the court, but not orally, and the qualification must be distinguished, intelligibly, from the instruction as originally asked by the party, and signed by the judge.

SEC. 4815. After hearing the charge the jury may either decide in open court, or may retire for deliberation. If they do not agree without retire, one or more officers must be sworn to keep them together, in some private and convenient place, without meat or drink, (water excepted,) and not to suffer any person to speak to, or communicate with them, unless it be to ask them whether they have agreed upon their verdict, and not to communicate to any one the state of their deliberation or the verdict agreed upon, until after the same shall have been declared in open court, and received by the court, and to return them into court when they shall have so agreed upon their verdict, unless by permission, or order of the court, or if they be sooner discharged.

SEC. 4816. (3020.) When a defendant, having given bail, appears for trial, the court may in its discretion at any time after his appearance for trial order him to be committed to the custody of the proper officer to abide the judgment or farther order of the court; and he shall be committed and held in custody accordingly.

CHAPTER 213.

CONDUCT OF JURY AFTER THE CAUSE IS SUBMITTED TO IT.

[Code—Chapter 177.]

SEC. 4817. (3021.) Upon retiring for deliberation the jury may take with it all papers which have been received as evidence in the case, except depositions and copies of such parts of public records or private documents as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession.

SEC. 4818. (3022.) The jury may also take with them notes of the testimony or other proceedings on the trial taken by themselves or any of them, but none taken by any other person.

SEC. 4819. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there be any disagreement between them, as to any part of the testimony, or if they desire to be informed on any point of law arising in the cause, they must require the officer to conduct them into court, and upon their being brought in, the information required must be given in the presence of, or after oral notice to, the district attorney and the defendant, or his counsel.

SEC. 4820. (3024.) If, after the retirement of the jury one of them be taken sick so as to prevent the continuance of his duty, or any other accident or cause occur to prevent their being kept together for deliberation, the court may discharge them.

SEC. 4821. (3025.) Except as provided in the last section, the jury can not be discharged after the cause is submitted to them until they have agreed upon their verdict and rendered it in open court, unless by the consent of both parties entered upon the record, or unless at the expiration of such time as the court may deem proper it satisfactorily appear that there is no reasonable probability that the jury can agree.

SEC. 4822. (3026.) In all cases where a jury is discharged or prevented from giving a verdict by reason of any accident or other cause, except where the defendant is discharged from the indictment, during the progress of the trial, or after the cause is submitted to them, the cause may be again tried at the same or another term of the court.

SEC. 4823. (3027.) While the jury is absent the court may adjourn from time to time as to other business, but it shall nevertheless be deemed open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury until a verdict be rendered or the jury is discharged.

SEC. 4824. (3028.) A final adjournment of the court discharges the jury.
CHAPTER 214.

VERDICT.

[Code—Chapter 178.]

SECTION 4825. (3029.) When the jury has agreed upon its verdict it must be conducted into court by the officer having it in charge. The names of the jurors must then be called, and if all do not appear the rest must be discharged without giving a verdict. In such case the cause may be again tried at the same or another term.

SEC. 4826. (3030.) If the indictment be for a felony the defendant must be present at the rendition of the verdict. If it be for a misdemeanor the verdict may be rendered in his absence.

SEC. 4827. (3031.) When the jury have answered to their names the court or the clerk shall ask them whether they have agreed upon the verdict, and if the foreman answers in the affirmative they must on being required declare the same.

SEC. 4828. (3032.) The jury may either render a general verdict, or where they are in doubt as to the legal effect of the facts proven, they may, except upon an indictment for libel, find a special verdict.

SEC. 4829. (3033.) A general verdict upon a plea of not guilty is either "guilty," or "not guilty," which imports a conviction or acquittal on every material allegation in the indictment. Upon a plea of a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense it is either "for the state" or "for the defendant."

SEC. 4830. (3034.) A special verdict is that by which the jury finds the facts only, leaving the judgment to the court. It must present the conclusions of fact as established by the evidence and not the evidence to prove them, and these conclusions of fact must be so presented as that nothing remains to the court but to draw conclusions of law upon them.

SEC. 4831. (3035.) The special verdict must be reduced to writing by the jury or in their presence, entered upon the minutes of the court, read to the jury and agreed to by them, before they are discharged.

SEC. 4832. (3036.) The special verdict need not be in any particular form but shall be sufficient if it present intelligibly the facts found by the jury.

SEC. 4833. (3037.) The court must give judgment upon the special verdict as follows:

1. If the plea be not guilty and the facts prove the defendant guilty of the offense charged in the indictment or of any other offense of which he could be convicted in law, under that indictment, judgment shall be given accordingly. But if the facts found do not prove the defendant guilty of the offense charged or of any offense of which he could be so convicted under the indictment, judgment of acquittal must be rendered.

2. If the plea be a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense, the court must give judgment of conviction or acquittal according as the facts prove or fail to prove the former conviction or acquittal.

SEC. 4834. (3038.) If the jury do not, in a special verdict, pronounce affirmatively or negatively on the facts necessary to enable the court to give judgment, or if they find the evidence of facts merely, and not the conclusions of fact from the evidence as established to their satisfaction, the court may order them to retire for farther deliberation.
SEC. 4835. Upon an indictment for an offense consisting of different degrees, the jury may find the defendant not guilty of the degree charged in the indictment, and guilty of any degree inferior thereto, or of an attempt to commit the offense, if punishable by indictment.

SEC. 4836. (3039.) In all other cases the defendant may be found guilty of any offense the commission of which is necessarily included in that with which he is charged in the indictment.

SEC. 4837. (3040.) On an indictment against several, if the jury can not agree upon a verdict as to all they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment shall be entered accordingly and the case as to the rest may be tried by another jury.

SEC. 4838. (3041.) If the jury render a verdict which is neither a general nor special verdict, the court may direct them to reconsider it and it shall not be recorded until it be rendered in some form from which it can be clearly understood what is the intent of the jury, whether to render a general verdict, or to find the facts specially and to leave the judgment to the court.

SEC. 4839. (3042.) If the jury persist in finding an informal verdict, from which however it can be understood that their intention is to find for the defendant upon the issue, it shall be entered in the terms in which it is found, and the court must give judgment of acquittal. But no judgment of conviction can be given unless the jury expressly find against the defendant upon the issue, or judgment be given against him upon a special verdict.

SEC. 4840. (3043.) When a verdict is rendered and before it is recorded, the jury may be polled on the requirement of either party; in which case they shall be severally asked whether it be their verdict, and if any one answer in the negative, the jury must be sent out for further deliberation.

SEC. 4841. When the verdict is given, and is such as the court may receive, the clerk may immediately enter it in full upon the record, and must read it to the jury, and inquire of them whether it is their verdict. If any juror disagree, the fact must be entered upon the record, and the jury again sent out; but if no disagreement be expressed, the verdict is complete, and the jury must be discharged from the case.

SEC. 4842. If the defense be the insanity of the defendant, the jury must be instructed, if they acquit him on that ground, to state that fact in their verdict. The court may thereupon, if the defendant be in custody, and his discharge is deemed dangerous to the public peace and safety, order him to be committed to the Iowa insane hospital, or retained in custody until he becomes sane.

SEC. 4843. (3045.) If judgment of acquittal be given on a general verdict and the defendant be not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the judgment is given.

CHAPTER 215.

BILL OF EXCEPTION.

[Code—Chapter 179.]

SECTION 4844. On the trial of an indictment, exceptions may be taken by the state, or by the defendant, to any decision of the court upon matters of law, in any of the following cases:

1. In disallowing a challenge to an individual juror.
2. In admitting or rejecting witnesses or evidence on the trial of any challenge.
3. In admitting or rejecting witnesses or evidence, or in deciding any matter of law, not purely discretionary, on the trial of the issue.

SEC. 4845. Nothing herein contained is to be construed, so as to deprive either party of the right of excepting to any action or decision of the court, which affects any other material or substantial right of either party, whether before or after the trial of the indictment, or on such trial.

SEC. 4846. The office of a bill of exceptions is to make a part of the proceedings or evidence appear of record, which would not otherwise so appear.

SEC. 4847. All papers pertaining to the cause and filed with the clerk, and all entries made by the clerk in the record book, pertaining to them, and showing the action or decision of the court upon them, or any part of them, are to be deemed parts of the record, and it is not necessary to except to any action or decision of the court, so appearing of record.

SEC. 4848. Either party may allege an exception to any decision or action of the court, on any application of either party, which may be and is made orally to the court, in any stage of the proceedings upon which the decision or action of the court is not required to be, and is not entered in the record book, and reduce the same to writing, and tender the same to the judge, whose duty it is to sign it; and if he sign the same, it shall be filed with the clerk, and thereupon become a part of the record of the cause; but if the judge refuse to sign it, such refusal must be stated at the end thereof, and it may then be signed by two or more attorneys or officers of the court or disinterested bystanders, and sworn to by the persons so signing the same, and filed with the clerk, and it shall thereupon become a part of the record of the cause.

SEC. 4849. Time must be given to prepare the bill of exceptions when it is necessary. When it can reasonably be done, it shall be settled at the time of taking the exception.
CHAPTER 216.

NEW TRIAL.

(Code—Chapter 180.)

SECTION 4852. (3050.) A new trial is a re-examination of the issue in the same court before another jury, after a verdict has been given.

SEC. 4853. (3051.) The granting of a new trial places the parties in the same position as if no trial had been had. All the testimony must be produced anew and the former verdict can not be used or referred to either in the evidence or in argument.

SEC. 4854. The court may grant a new trial for the following causes, or any of them:
1. When the trial has been had in the absence of the defendant, if the indictment be for a felony.
2. When the jury has received any evidence, paper, or document out of court not authorized by the court.
3. When the jury have separated without leave of the court after retiring to deliberate upon their verdict, or have been guilty of any misconduct tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case.
4. When the verdict has been decided by lot or by means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors.
5. When the court has misdirected the jury in a material matter of law.
6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence. But no more than two new trials shall be granted for this cause alone.
7. When the court has refused properly to instruct the jury.
8. When from any other cause the defendant has not received a fair and impartial trial.
9. When by reason of any other matter the defendant is legally entitled to a new trial.

SEC. 4855. The application for a new trial can be made only by the defendant, and must be made before judgment.

DECISIONS. Affidavits of jurors, 1 G., 225; 7 Iowa, 413; 4 Iowa, 461; 2 Iowa, 571; 3 Iowa, 484; objections after verdict, 4 G., 483; M., 352; 2 Iowa, 454; newly discovered evidence, 1 G., 105; 2 G., 451; 7 Iowa, 255; see generally, 1 G., 316; 4 G., 65; bias and prejudice, 8 Iowa, 477; misconduct of jury, 2 Iowa, 230; 2 G., 559; 4 Iowa, 461; 2 Iowa, 571.

CHAPTER 217.

ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

(Code—Chapter 181.)

SECTION 4856. A motion in arrest of judgment, is an application to the court in which the trial was had, on the part of the defendant, that no judgment be rendered upon a verdict against him, or on a plea of guilty, and shall be granted:
1. Upon any ground which would have been ground of demurrer.
2. When upon the whole record no legal judgment can be pronounced.

SEC. 4857. The court may also, upon its own observation, arrest these grounds, arrest the judgment on its own motion.

SEC. 4858. If the court is of opinion, from the evidence, on the trial, that the defendant is guilty of a public offense, of which no legal conviction can be had on the indictment, he may be held to answer the offense, in like manner, as upon a preliminary examination.

SEC. 4859. The motion may be made at any time before judgment, or after judgment, during the same term.

CHAPTER 218.
JUDGMENT.

SECTION 4860. Upon a verdict of not guilty, for the defendant, or when a special verdict upon which a judgment of acquittal must be given, the court must render judgment of acquittal immediately.

SEC. 4861. Upon a plea of guilty, upon a verdict of guilty, or a special verdict upon which a judgment of conviction must be rendered, the court must appoint a time for pronouncing judgment.

SEC. 4862. The time appointed for pronouncing judgment, must be at least three clear days after the verdict is recorded, if the court remains in session so long, or if not, as remote a time as can reasonably be allowed, but in no case can the judgment be pronounced, in less than six hours after the verdict is recorded.

SEC. 4863. For the purpose of judgment, if the conviction be for a felony, the defendant must be personally present; if it be for a misdemeanor, judgment may be pronounced in his absence.

SEC. 4864. When the defendant is in custody, the court must direct the proper officer to bring him before it for judgment.

SEC. 4865. If the defendant has been discharged on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and do not appear for judgment, when his personal appearance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the undertaking of bail, or money deposited, may make an order directing the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

SEC. 4866. The clerk, on the application of the district attorney, may accordingly, at any time after the order, whether the court be in session or not, issue a bench warrant, into one or more counties, for his arrest.

SEC. 4867. The bench warrant may be substantially, in the following form:

COUNTY OF THE STATE OF IOWA.

To any peace officer in the state:
A. B. having been duly convicted on the day of , A. D. , in the district court of county, of the crime of (here designate it generally, as in the indictment.)
You are therefore hereby commanded to arrest the said A. B. and bring him before said court for judgment, if it be then in session, or if it be not then in session, that you deliver him into the custody of the sheriff of said county.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at my [SEAL.] office, in _____ in said county, this _____ day of _____, A. D. 18—.

By order of the court. ________________________ clerk.

SEC. 4868. The bench warrant may be served in any county in the state.

SEC. 4869. (3064.) Whether the bench warrant be served in the county where it was issued or in another county, the officer must arrest the defendant and bring him before the court or commit him to the officer mentioned in the warrant according to the command thereof.

SEC. 4870. (3065.) When the defendant appears for judgment he shall be informed by the court, or by the clerk under its direction, of the nature of the indictment and of his plea, and the verdict, if any thereon, and must be asked whether he have any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him.

SEC. 4871. He may show for cause against the judgment, that he is insane, or any sufficient ground for a new trial, or in arrest of judgment.

SEC. 4872. If the court is of opinion that there is reasonable ground for believing him insane, the question of his insanity shall be determined as provided in chapter 238 of this code, and if he is found to be insane, such proceedings shall be had as are therein directed.

SEC. 4873. If he move for a new trial, or in arrest of judgment, the court shall defer the judgment, and proceed to hear and decide the motions.

SEC. 4874. (3066.) If no sufficient cause be alleged or appear to the court why judgment should not be pronounced, it shall thereupon be rendered.

SEC. 4875. In a case where there is a discretion conferred upon the court as to the extent of the punishment, the following, and such other circumstances as are proper, are to be considered in aggravation:

1. If the person committing the offense was, by the duties of his office, or by his condition, obliged to prevent the particular offense committed, or to bring offenders committing it to justice.
2. If he hold any other public office, although not one requiring the suppression of the particular offense.
3. Although holding no office, if his education, fortune, profession, or reputation, placed him in a situation in which his example would probably influence the conduct of others.
4. When the offense was committed with premeditation, in consequence of a plan formed with others.
5. When the defendant attempted to induce others to join in committing the offense.
6. When the condition of the offender created a trust, which was broken by the offense, or, when it afforded him easier means of committing the offense.
7. When in the commission of the offense, any other injury was offered, than that necessarily suffered by the offense itself, such as wanton cruelty, or humiliating language, in case of personal injury.
8. When the offense was attended with a breach of any other moral duty than that necessarily broken in committing it, such as personal injury accompanied by ingratitude.

9. When the injury was offered to one whose age, sex, office, conduct, or condition, entitled him to respect from the offender.

10. When the injury was offered to one whose age, sex, or infirmity rendered him incapable of resistance.

11. When the general character of the defendant is marked by those passions or vices, which generally lead to the commission of the offense of which he has been convicted.

Sec. 4876. The following and such other circumstances as are proper, are to be considered in alleviation of the punishment:

1. The minority of the offender, if so young as to justify a supposition that he was ignorant of the law, or that he acted under the influence of another.

2. If the offender was so old, as to render it probable that the faculties of his mind were weakened.

3. Those conditions which suppose the party to have been influenced in committing the offense, by another, standing in a correlative superior situation to him.

4. The order of a superior officer, is no justification for committing a public offense, but under circumstances of misapprehension of the duty of obedience, may be shown in extenuation of the offense.

5. When the offense has been caused by great provocation, or other cause sufficient to excite in men of ordinary tempers, such passions as require unusual strength of mind to restrain.

Sec. 4877. All circumstances of aggravation and alleviation, which have not necessarily or incidentally, been proved or shown on the trial, may be shown by the examination of witnesses in open court, or by their affidavit, as the court may deem most conducive to justice in each particular case; but the opposite party must, in all cases, have an opportunity of cross-examining the witnesses, or of producing counter affidavits, or evidence, if he require it.

Sec. 4878. No affidavit, testimony, or representation of any kind, oral or written, can be offered to, or received by the court, of any circumstance of aggravation, or alleviation of the punishment except as provided in the last section.

Sec. 4879. A violation of the last section is a misdemeanor, and the person offering such affidavit, testimony, or representation, may, in addition, be punished by the court for a contempt.

Sec. 4880. If the defendant is convicted of two or more offenses, before judgment on either, the punishment of each of which is, or may be, imprisonment, the judgment shall be so rendered that the imprisonment upon any one, shall commence at the expiration of the imprisonment upon any other of the offenses.

Sec. 4881. A judgment that the defendant pay a fine, may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine be satisfied, specifying the extent of the imprisonment, which shall not exceed one day for every three and one-third dollars of the fine.

Sec. 4882. When judgment of death is pronounced, the day of the execution thereof shall be fixed in the judgment, and shall not be in less than forty days after the day on which the judgment is rendered.

Sec. 4883. Immediately after the entry of a judgment of death, the court rendering such judgment must transmit by mail, to the governor, a copy of the indictment, plea, verdict, and judgment, and of the testimony in the case.
SEC. 4884. (3073.) When a person is in any event to be committed to jail, if there be no jail or no sufficient one in the county where the party would be committed under the ordinary provisions of law, the court or magistrate committing may order him to be committed to the jail of some other county, which shall be one which is the most convenient and safe, and the county to which the cause originally belonged shall be holden for all the expenses thereof.

SEC. 4885. In all cases bailable on appeal to the supreme court, when the judgment is imprisonment, the court rendering such judgment must make an order fixing the amount in which bail must be taken, and there shall be no execution of the judgment until such order be made.

DECISIONS. Judgment in liquor case, 1 Iowa, 167; 1 ibid., 374; may be rendered in defendant's absence if for misdemeanor only, 4 Iowa, 554; supreme court may render, 4 G., 500; district court no jurisdiction in a case triable before justice, 6 Iowa, 535.

CHAPTER 219.

EXECUTION.

[Code—Chapter 183.]

SEC. 4886. When a judgment of death or imprisonment, either in the penitentiary or county jail, is pronounced, a certified copy of the entry thereof in the record book, must be forthwith furnished to the officer whose duty it is to execute the same, who shall proceed and execute it accordingly, and no other warrant or authority is necessary to justify or require its execution.

SEC. 4887. The only officers who shall have the power of reprieving or suspending the execution of a judgment of death, are the governor, the sheriff, as provided in the next section, unless, in case of an appeal to the supreme court, as provided in section 4913 of this code.

SEC. 4888. When the sheriff is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the defendant is insane or pregnant, he may summon a jury of twelve persons on the jury list, to be drawn by the clerk, who shall be sworn by the sheriff, well and truly to inquire into the insanity or pregnancy of the defendant, and a true inquisition return; and they shall examine the defendant, and hear any evidence that may be presented; and by a written inquisition, signed by each of them, find as to the insanity or pregnancy. And unless the inquisition find the defendant insane or pregnant, the sheriff shall not suspend the execution; but if the inquisition find the defendant insane or pregnant, he shall suspend the execution, and immediately transmit the inquisition to the governor.

SEC. 4889. Whenever a judgment of death has not been executed on the day appointed therefor, by the court, from any cause whatever, the governor, by a warrant under his hand and the seal of the state, shall fix the day of execution, which warrant shall be obeyed by the sheriff, and no one but the governor can then suspend its execution.

SEC. 4890. A judgment of death must be executed by the sheriff, on the day fixed in the judgment, between sunrise and sunset, by hang-the defendant by the neck, until he is dead.

Sec. 4891. A judgment of death must be executed within the walls of the jail of the county in which the judgment was rendered, or, within a yard or inclosure, adjoining thereto, unless, as provided, in the next two sections.

Sec. 4892. If there be no jail in the county in which the judgment was rendered, or if it becomes unfit or unsafe for the confinement of prisoners, or be destroyed by fire or otherwise, and the jail of another county has been legally designated for the imprisonment of the defendant, until the day fixed for his execution, the judgment must be executed within the walls of the jail of the county so designated, or within a yard or inclosure, adjoining the same, and by the sheriff of such county.

Sec. 4893. If there be two or more jails or prisons in the same county, a judgment of death shall be executed within the walls of either of such jails or prisons, or within an inclosure adjoining thereto, as the court rendering such judgment, shall therein direct.

Sec. 4894. The sheriff executing a judgment of death, must, at least three clear days before inflicting the punishment of death, notify the judge of the district court of his county, the district attorney, the county judge, the clerk of the district court, together with two physicians, and twelve reputable citizens of his county, to be selected by him, and the sheriff of the county in which the trial was had, and the offense committed, (if it be in a different county,) to be present as witnesses of such execution. He must also at the request of the defendant, permit one or more ministers of the gospel, whom the defendant shall name, and any of his relatives to attend the execution, and also such magistrates, peace officers, and guards as the sheriff shall deem proper. But no person other than those mentioned in this section, can be present at the execution, nor shall any person under age be permitted to witness the same.

Sec. 4895. The sheriff or his deputy, executing the judgment of death, and the judges attending the execution, must prepare and sign with their name of office, a certificate, setting forth the time and place of the execution, and that judgment was executed upon the defendant, according to the foregoing provisions, and must cause the certificate to be signed by the public officers, and at least twelve persons, not relatives of the defendant, who witnessed the execution.

Sec. 4896. The sheriff, or his deputy, executing such judgment of death, must cause the certificate to be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which the judgment was rendered, and a copy thereof to be published in a newspaper printed at the capital of the state, and in one, if any, published in his county.

Sec. 4897. (3075.) If the judgment be imprisonment, or a fine and imprisonment until it be satisfied, the defendant must forthwith be commited to the custody of the proper officer and by him detained until the judgment be complied with or the defendant discharged by due course of law.

Sec. 4898. When the judgment is imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the trial is had, or a fine, and that the defendant be imprisoned in such county jail until it be satisfied, the judgment must be executed by the sheriff of that county. In all other cases, when the judgment is imprisonment, the sheriff of the county in which the trial was had, must deliver the defendant to the proper officer, in execution of the judgment.
SEC. 4899. If the judgment be imprisonment, or a fine and imprison­ment until it be satisfied, except in the county jail of the county in which the trial was had, the sheriff of the county in which the trial was had, shall deliver a certified copy of the entry of the judgment, together with the body of the defendant, to the keeper of the jail, or prison, in which the defendant is to be imprisoned, and take his receipt therefor, on a duplicate copy of such entry, which he must forthwith, return to the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered, with his return thereon.

SEC. 4900. (3078.) The sheriff or his deputy while conveying the defendant to the proper prison has the same authority to require the assistance of any citizen of the state in securing the defendant and in re­taking him if he escape as if the sheriff were in his own county; and every person who neglects or refuses to assist the sheriff when so re­quired shall be punishable as if the sheriff were in his own county.

SEC. 4901. An officer executing a judgment of imprisonment, shall make a written return of the execution of such judgment, forth­with after such execution, and file the same with the clerk of the court, by which the judgment was rendered.

SEC. 4902. Upon a judgment for a fine, a writ of execution may be issued, as upon a judgment, in a civil case.

SEC. 4903. When the judgment is for the abatement or removal of a nuisance, or for anything, other than the payment of money by the defendant, a certified copy of the entry of such judgment, delivered to the sheriff of the proper county, shall authorize, and require him, to execute such judgment, and he shall return the same with his doings under the same, thereon indorsed, to the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered, within seventy days after the date of the certifi­cate of such certified copy, unless it be a judgment of death, or imprison­ment, which are hereinbefore provided for.

CHAPTER 220.

APPEALS.

[Code—Chapter 184.]
thereof, required by the last section, are filed in the office of the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered, with evidence of the service thereof indorsed thereon, or annexed thereto.

SEC. 4909. When an appeal is taken, it is the duty of the clerk of the court, in which the judgment was rendered, without unnecessary delay, to make out two full and perfect transcripts of all papers in the case on file, in his office, (except the papers returned by the examining magistrate, on the preliminary examination, where there has been one, and the minutes of the evidence of the witnesses examined before the grand jury,) and of all entries made in the record book, and certify the same under his hand and the seal of the court, and deliver, or transmit by mail, one to the defendant, his agent or attorney, who acted for him at the time of the rendition of the judgment, or the taking of the appeal, and the other, to the district attorney, whose duty it shall be, after examination of the same, to make such suggestions, as he may deem proper, in writing, or otherwise, and deliver or transmit by mail to the attorney-general, the transcript, received by him, with his suggestions. The clerk shall in his certificate to the transcripts, state the true day of his certifying the same, and shall on the same day, mentioned in the certificate, transmit, or deliver the same, as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 4910. If bail be put in by a defendant, after taking an appeal in a bailable case, and before the transcripts are made out, and forwarded, or delivered by the clerk, as provided in the last section, two transcripts of the undertaking and justification of the bail, shall in like manner, be made out, certified, and delivered, or forwarded, as provided in the last section.

SEC. 4911. An appeal taken by the state, in no case, stays the operation of a judgment, in favor of the defendant.

SEC. 4912. An appeal by the defendant from a judgment of death, stays the infliction of that punishment, but the defendant is to be detained in custody, to abide the judgment on the appeal.

SEC. 4913. When an appeal is taken from a judgment of death, it is the duty of the clerk of the district court, in which the judgment was rendered, to give forthwith, to the defendant, his agent or attorney, a certificate under his hand and the seal of the court, stating that an appeal has been taken in the case, and the sheriff or other officer having the custody of the defendant, must, upon the delivery of such certificate to him, refrain from the infliction of the punishment of death on the defendant, but retain him in his custody, to abide the judgment on the appeal.

SEC. 4914. An appeal taken by the defendant, in a bailable case, does not stay the execution of the judgment, unless bail be put in, except, as provided, in the next section.

SEC. 4915. In a bailable case, where the judgment is imprisonment in the penitentiary, and an appeal is taken during the term at which the judgment is rendered, and the defendant is unable to give bail, and that fact is satisfactorily shown to the court, it may in its discretion, order the sheriff or officer having the defendant in custody, to detain him in custody, without taking him to the penitentiary, to abide the judgment on the appeal, if the defendant desire it.

SEC. 4916. When an appeal is taken by the defendant, in a bailable case, and bail is put in, it is the duty of the clerk to give forthwith, to the defendant, his agent or attorney, a certificate under his hand and the seal of the court, stating that an appeal has been taken and bail put in, and the sheriff or other officer having the defendant in custody, must, upon the delivery of such certificate to him, discharge the defendant from custody, where imprisonment forms any part of the judgment, and cease all further proceedings in execution of the judgment, and return forthwith to the clerk of the court, who issued it, the execution or certified copy of the entry of judgment, under which he acted, with his return thereto, if such execution or certified copy has been issued, and if such execution or certified copy has not been issued, it shall not be issued, but shall abide the judgment, on the appeal.

Sec. 4917. When several defendants are indicted and tried jointly, or more, of them may join in taking the appeal, but those of their co-defendants who do not join, shall take no benefit therefrom, yet they may appeal, afterwards.

Sec. 4918. The party taking the appeal, is known as the appellant, and the adverse party as the appellee, but the title of action is not changed in consequence of the appeal; it shall be docketed in the supreme court, as it was in the district court.

Sec. 4919. Appeals, in criminal cases, shall be docketed in the supreme court for trial, at the commencement of that portion of the term which has been assigned for trying causes from the judicial district, from which the appeal comes, which is twenty days after the date of the certificate of the transcripts from the clerk of the district court, and if the appellant does not file his transcript by that time with the clerk of the supreme court, the appellee may file his, and have the case docketed. They shall take precedence of all other business, and shall be tried at the term at which the transcript is filed, unless, continued for cause, or by consent of the parties, and shall be decided, if practicable, at the same term.

Sec. 4920. The personal appearance of the defendant in the supreme court, on the trial of an appeal, is in no case necessary.

Sec. 4921. An appeal shall not be dismissed for any informality or defect in taking the appeal, if the same be corrected within a reasonable time, and the supreme court must direct how it shall be corrected.

Sec. 4922. No assignment of error, or joinder in error, shall be necessary.

Sec. 4923. The defendant shall be entitled to close the argument.

Sec. 4924. The opinion of the supreme court, must be in writing, filed with its clerk, and recorded.

Sec. 4925. If the appeal was taken by the defendant, from a judgment against him, the supreme court must examine the record and without regard to technical errors or defects, which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties, render such judgment on the record as the law demands. It may affirm, reverse, or modify the judgment, and render such judgment as the district court should have rendered, and may, if necessary, or proper, order a new trial. It may reduce the punishment, but can not increase it.

Sec. 4926. If the appeal was taken by the state, the supreme court can not reverse the judgment, or modify it, so as to increase the punishment, but may affirm it, and shall point out any error in the proceedings, or in the measure of punishment, and its decision shall be obligatory on the district court, as the correct exposition of the law.

Sec. 4927. If a judgment against the defendant be reversed, without ordering a new trial, the supreme court must direct, if the defendant be in custody, that he be discharged, or if he be admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated, or if money be deposited instead of bail, that it be refunded to him.
SEC. 4928. On a judgment of affirmance against the defendant, the original judgment shall be carried into execution, as the supreme court shall direct, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4929. When a judgment of the supreme court is rendered it must be recorded, and a certified copy of the judgment, must be forthwith remitted to the clerk of the district court in which judgment was rendered, with proper instructions, and a copy of the opinion, in such time, and in such manner, as the supreme court may, by rule, prescribe.

SEC. 4930. After the certified copy of the entry of the judgment of the supreme court, and its instructions have been remitted, as provided in the preceding section, the supreme court has no farther jurisdiction of the proceedings therein, and all proceedings which may be necessary to carry the judgment of the supreme court into effect, must be had in the court to which it is remitted, or by the clerk thereof, except, as provided, in the next two sections.

SEC. 4931. Unless, where some proceedings in the district court are directed by the supreme court, a copy of the certified copy of the judgment of the supreme court, with its directions certified by the clerk of the district court, to whom the same has been transmitted, delivered to the sheriff, or other proper officer, shall authorize him to execute the judgment of the supreme court, or take any steps to bring the proceedings to a conclusion, except, as provided, in the next section.

SEC. 4932. When a judgment of death has been affirmed, the supreme court must cause a copy of the entry of judgment, to be remitted to the governor, to the end, that a warrant for the execution may be issued by the governor. The governor shall send his warrant of execution by a special messenger, or by mail, to the proper officer, and shall name therein the day and time of execution, but shall not appoint an earlier day than that fixed in the judgment of the district court. The officer receiving the same, shall execute the warrant of the governor, as therein directed, and shall report his action, both to the governor and the district court which rendered the original judgment. If, for any cause, the execution does not take place on the day appointed by the governor, the governor may, from time to time, appoint another day for execution, until the judgment is carried into effect.

SEC. 4933. If a defendant, who has been imprisoned during the pendency of an appeal, upon a new trial ordered by the supreme court, shall be again convicted, the period of his former imprisonment, shall be deducted by the district court, from the period of imprisonment to be fixed, on the last verdict of conviction.

CHAPTER 238.

INQUIRY INTO THE INSANITY OF THE DEFENDANT, BEFORE TRIAL, OR AFTER CONVICTION.

[Code—Chapter 202.]

SECTION 5014. An act done by a person in a state of insanity, can not be punished as a public offense, nor can a person be arraigned, tried, adjudged to punishment, or punished, for a public offense, whilst he is insane.

Sec. 5015. When a defendant appears for arraignment, trial, judgment, or on any other occasion, when he is required, if a reasonable doubt arise as to his sanity, the court must order a jury to be impaneled from the petit jurors in attendance, at the term, or who may be summoned by the direction of the court, as provided in chapter 210 of this code, to inquire into the fact.

Sec. 5016. The arraignment, trial, judgment, or other proceedings, as the case may be, must be suspended until the question of insanity is determined by the verdict of the jury.

Sec. 5017. The trial of the question of insanity must proceed in the following order:

1. The counsel for the defendant must offer the evidence in support of the allegation of insanity.
2. The district attorney must then offer the evidence in support of the case on the part of the state.
3. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting evidence only, unless the court for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case.
4. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted, on either side or both sides, without argument, the district attorney must commence, and the defendant's counsel conclude the argument to the jury.
5. If more than one counsel on each side argue the case to the jury, they must do so alternately.
6. The court shall then, on motion of either party, charge the jury. The provisions of chapter 212 of this code, and of the other chapters incidental thereto, so far as the same are applicable, and not herein changed, shall regulate the trial of the question of insanity.

Sec. 5018. If the jury find that the defendant is sane, the proceedings on the indictment shall be resumed.

Sec. 5019. Sec. 5020. The commitment of the defendant, as provided in the last section, exonerates his bail, or entitles a person authorized to receive the property of the defendant, to a return of the money he may have deposited instead of bail.

Sec. 5021. If the defendant be received into the hospital, he must be detained there until he becomes sane. When he becomes sane, the superintendent of the hospital must give notice of that fact to the sheriff, and to the district attorney of the proper district. The sheriff must thereupon, without delay, bring the defendant from the hospital, and place him in the proper custody, until he be brought to trial, or judgment, as the case may be, or be legally discharged.

Sec. 5022. The expenses of sending the defendant to the hospital, bringing him back, and any other expenses incurred, are to be paid in the first instance by the county from which he was sent, but the county may recover from the estate of the defendant, if he have any, or from a relative, or another county, town, township, or city, bound to provide for or maintain him elsewhere.

Sec. 5069. In case the prosecutor or the defendant neglect or refuse to strike out such names, the justice shall direct some disinterested person to strike out the names, for either, or both of the parties so neglecting or refusing; and upon such names being struck out, the justice must issue a venire directed to any peace officer of the county, requiring him to summon the twelve persons whose names remain upon the list, to appear before such justice, at the time and place named therein, to make a jury for the trial of the cause.

Sec. 5070. The officer to whom such venire is delivered, must forthwith summon such jurors, and return the venire to the justice, within the time therein specified, naming the persons summoned, and the manner of service.

Sec. 5071. The names of the persons returned as jurors, shall be written on separate ballots, folded each in the same manner as nearly as possible, and so that the name be not visible, and shall under the direction of the justice, be deposited in a box or other convenient thing.

Sec. 5072. The justice must then draw out six of the ballots successively, and if any of the persons whose names are drawn do not appear, or are challenged, or set aside, such farther number must be drawn, as will make a jury of six, after all legal challenges have been allowed.

Sec. 5073. (3338.) The same challenges may be taken by either party to any individual juror as on the trial of an indictment for a misdemeanor, but no challenge to the panel is allowed.

Sec. 5074. If any of the jurors named in the venire can not be found, or do not attend, or are challenged by either party, so that a sufficient number can not be obtained, the justice may direct the officer to summon any by-standers, or others, who may be competent and against whom no sufficient cause of challenge appears, to act as jurors.

Sec. 5075. If the officer by whom the venire is received, do not return it as required, he may be punished by the justice as for a contempt, and the justice shall issue a new venire for the summoning of the same jurors, upon which the same proceeding shall be had as upon the one first issued.

Sec. 5076. (3341.) When six jurors appear and are accepted they shall constitute the jury.

Sec. 5077. The justice must thereupon administer to them the following oath or affirmation:—"You do swear (or you do solemnly affirm, as the case may be,) that you will well and truly try the issue, between the state of Iowa and the defendant, and a true verdict give, according to the evidence."

Proceedings of jury. Sec. 5078. (3343.) After the jury are sworn they must sit together and hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, which must be delivered in public. After which they may either decide in court or may retire for consideration.

Same. Sec. 5079. (3344.) If they do not immediately agree, they must retire with the officer, who shall be sworn to the following effect—"you do swear that you will keep the jury together in some private and convenient place, without meat or drink, unless otherwise ordered by the court; that you will not permit any person to speak to them, nor speak to them yourself unless it be to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and that you will return them into court when they have so agreed."

Verdict. Sec. 5080. When the jury have agreed on their verdict, they must deliver it publicly to the justice, who shall enter it on his docket.

Kept together. Sec. 5081. The jury must be kept together after the cause is submitted to them, until they have agreed upon and rendered their verdict, unless for good cause the justice sooner discharge them.

Discharged. Sec. 5082. If the jury be discharged as provided in the last section, the justice may proceed again to the trial, in the same manner, as upon the first trial; and so on till a verdict is rendered.

Judgment. Sec. 5083. When the defendant pleads guilty, or is convicted either by the justice or by a jury, the justice shall render judgment thereon of fine, or imprisonment, as the case may require, being governed by the rules prescribed for the district court, as far as the same are applicable, in rendering such judgment.

Imprisonment for fine. Sec. 5084. (3349.) A judgment that the defendant pay a fine may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine is satisfied.

Defendant discharged. Sec. 5085. When the defendant is acquitted, either by the justice, or by a jury, he must be immediately discharged.

Costs. Sec. 5086. When the defendant is acquitted the justice shall, if he is satisfied that the prosecution, is malicious, or without probable cause, tax the costs against the prosecuting witness and render judgment therefor.

Certificate of conviction. Sec. 5087. Whenever a conviction is had upon a plea of guilty, or upon trial, the justice must make and sign with his name of office, a certificate of such conviction, in which it shall be sufficient briefly to state the offense charged and the conviction and judgment thereon, and if any fine has been collected, the amount thereof.

Filed. Sec. 5088. Within twenty days after such conviction, the justice must cause such certificate to be filed in the office of the judge of the county court of the county where the conviction was had.

Evidence. Sec. 5089. Every certificate of conviction made and filed under the foregoing provisions, or a duly certified copy thereof, shall be evidence in all courts and places, of the facts therein contained.

Judgment, how executed. Sec. 5090. The judgment shall be executed by a peace officer of the county where the conviction is had, by virtue of a warrant under the hand of the justice specifying the particulars of such judgment.

If fine imposed. Sec. 5091. If a fine be imposed and paid, before commitment, it shall be received by the justice, and by him paid over to the county treasurer, within thirty days after the receipt thereof, for the use of the schools in the county, as provided by law.

Same. Sec. 5092. If the defendant be committed for not paying a fine, he may pay it to the sheriff of the county, but to no other person, who must in like manner, within thirty days after the receipt thereof, pay it into the county treasury, for the use of the schools in the county as provided by law.

SEC. 5093. If the fine or any part thereof, is paid to the justice, or same, sheriff, he must execute duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he must file without delay, with the clerk of the county court.

SEC. 5094. Either party may appeal from the judgment, to the district court of the county, at the term which commences not less than ten days after the day on which the appeal is taken, the state in the same manner as the defendant.

SEC. 5095. The justice rendering a judgment against the defendant, must inform him of his right to an appeal therefrom, and make an entry on his docket of the giving of such information, and the defendant may, hereupon, take an appeal, by giving notice orally to the justice, that he appeals, and the justice must make an entry on his docket, of the giving of such notice.

SEC. 5096. The justice must, thereupon, enter an order on his docket, fixing the amount in which bail may be given by the defendant, and the execution of the judgment against the defendant shall not be stayed, unless bail in that amount be put in, by an undertaking substantially in the following form:

COUNTY OF _______

A. B. having been convicted before C. D., a justice of the peace of said county, of the crime of (here designate it generally as in the information,) by a judgment rendered on the ______ day of ______ A. D. 18—, and having appealed from said judgment to the district court of said county:

We, A. B. and E. F. (or I. E. F.) or (we, E. F. and H. G) hereby undertake that the said A. B. will appear in the district court of said county, at the term thereof, to which the appeal is returnable, and abide the judgment of said court, and not depart without leave of the same, or that we (or “I” as the case may be,) will pay to the state of Iowa, the sum of ______ dollars, (the amount of bail fixed.)

A. B.

E. F.

( as the case may be.)

SEC. 5097. The bail must possess the qualifications, must justify, and must be taken in the same manner prescribed in sections 4969 to 4975 of this code inclusive, and the same proceedings had in all respects, as nearly as applicable, except as in this chapter otherwise provided.

SEC. 5098. The bail may be taken by the justice who rendered the judgment, or by any magistrate in the county who has authority to admit to bail, or by the district court, or the clerk thereof.

SEC. 5099. When an appeal is taken, the justice must cause all material witnesses to enter into an undertaking, as in a case where a defendant is held to answer on a preliminary examination, to appear and testify on the trial of the appeal in the district court, at the term at which it is returnable, and shall, as soon as practicable, and at least ten days before the first day of such term of the district court of the county, file in the office of the clerk thereof, a certified copy of the entries on his docket, together with all the undertakings and papers in the case.
When appealed, how tried.

SEC. 5100. The cause, when thus appealed, shall stand for trial anew in the district court, in the same manner that it should have been tried before the justice, and as nearly as practicable, as an issue of fact upon an indictment, without regard to technical errors or defects which have not prejudiced the substantial rights of either party, and the court has full power over the case, the justice of the peace, his docket entries, and his return, to administer the justice of the case according to the law, and shall give judgment accordingly.

Appeal not to be dismissed.

SEC. 5101. No appeal from the judgment of a justice of the peace in a criminal case shall be dismissed.

In district court.

SEC. 5102. (3365.) If any proceedings be necessary to carry the judgment upon the appeal into effect they shall be had in the district court.

Who may appeal.

SEC. 5103. Either party may appeal from the judgment of the district court, to the supreme court, in the same manner, as from a judgment in a prosecution by indictment, and the defendant may be admitted to bail, in like manner, and similar proceedings shall be had on the appeal in all respects, as nearly as applicable.

Judgment upon appeal.

SEC. 5104. The same proceedings shall be had to carry into effect the judgment of the supreme court upon the appeal, as if it had been taken from a judgment prosecuted by indictment.

PROCEEDINGS AND TRIAL BEFORE POLICE AND CITY COURTS IN INCORPORATED CITIES AND TOWNS.

SEC. 5105. The proceedings in police and city courts, in incorporated cities and towns, in criminal cases within their jurisdiction, to hear, try and determine, as prescribed in the fourth subdivision of section 4493, and within the local limits designated in section 4504 of this code, shall be governed and regulated by the provisions contained in chapter 241 of this code, unless they are otherwise regulated by the special statutes creating or regulating such courts, or otherwise provided by law.
CHAPTER 243.

COMPROMISING CERTAIN OFFENSES BY LEAVE OF THE COURT.

SECTION 5106. When a defendant is prosecuted in a criminal action for a misdemeanor, for which the person injured by the act constituting the offense, has a remedy, by a civil action, the offense may be compromised, as provided in the next section, except when it was committed:
1. By, or upon an officer while in the execution of the duties of his office.
2. Riotously; or
3. With an intent to commit a felony.

SEC. 5107. If the party injured in such a case, appear before the court to which the papers on a preliminary examination are required to be returned, at any time before trial, on an indictment for the offense, or the trial of an appeal in the district court, and acknowledge in writing that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the court may, in its discretion, order all proceedings to be stayed upon the prosecution, and the defendant to be discharged therefrom. But in that case, the reasons for the order must be set forth therein, and entered upon the minutes.

SEC. 5108. The order authorized by the last section, is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

SEC. 5109. No public offense can be compromised, nor can any proceedings for the prosecution or punishment thereof, upon a compromise, be stayed, except as provided in this chapter.

CHAPTER 244.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECTION 5110. The provisions of the existing laws respecting the coroner and his duties;—the removal from office of officers other than state officers;—the settlement and support of the poor;—illegitimate children, and their maintenance;—intoxicating liquors, their sale and manufacture;—master and apprentice;—habeas corpus, and any other special proceedings of a criminal nature, shall govern the special subjects to which they relate, respectively, except where it is otherwise provided in this code.

SEC. 5111. Neither a departure from the form or mode prescribed by this code, in respect to any pleadings or other proceedings, nor an error or mistake therein, renders it invalid, unless it has actually prejudiced the defendant, or tends to his prejudice, in respect to a substantial right.

SEC. 5112. The rule of the common law, that penal statutes are to be strictly construed, has no application to this code. This code establishes the law of this state, respecting the subjects to which it relates; and its provisions, and all proceedings under it are to be liberally construed, with a view to promote its objects, and in furtherance of justice.
SEC. 5113. The provisions of the existing laws relative to the construction of the statutes of this state, are applicable to the construction of this code, unless when it may in this code be otherwise provided.

SEC. 5114. The terms "heretofore," and "hereafter," as used in this code, have relation to the time this code takes effect.

SEC. 5115. Whenever any act of a general nature passed at the present session of the general assembly, separate from this code, conflicts with, or contravenes any, of the provisions thereof, the provisions of this code shall prevail.

CHAPTER 245.

REPRIEVES, COMMUTATIONS, AND PARDONS, AND REMISSION OF FINES AND FORFEITURES.

SECTION 5116. The governor has power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses, except treason, and to remit fines and forfeitures, upon such conditions, and with such restrictions and limitations, as he may think proper, subject to the regulations prescribed in this chapter.

SEC. 5117. He has power, also, to suspend the execution of the sentence upon a conviction for treason, until the case shall be reported to the general assembly at its next meeting, when the general assembly shall either grant a pardon, commute the sentence, or grant a further reprieve.

SEC. 5118. He shall have power to issue his warrant to all proper officers, to carry into effect any act which he has power to do, and which is regulated in this chapter, subject to such regulations, and all such officers are required to obey such warrant.

SEC. 5119. He must report to the general assembly, at its next meeting thereafter, each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon, granted, and the reasons therefor, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the reprieve, commutation or pardon. He must, in like manner, also report the names of all persons in whose favor fines and forfeitures shall have been remitted, and the several amounts remitted.

SEC. 5120. When an application is made to the governor for a pardon, reprieve, or commutation, or for the remission of a fine or forfeiture, he may require the judge of the court, or the district attorney, or attorney-general, by whom the action was prosecuted, or the clerk of such court, to furnish him, without delay, a copy of the minutes of the evidence taken on the trial, and of any other facts having reference to the propriety of the exercise of his powers in the premises.

SEC. 5121. Whenever any convict is pardoned, or reprieved, or his sentence commuted, or any fine or forfeiture is remitted, it is the duty of the officer to whom the warrant is directed, as soon as may be after executing the same, to make a return in writing thereon, to the secretary of state, of his doings under the same, and sign the same with his name of office, and must also file in the office of the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had, or in which it was to have been enforced, a certified copy of the warrant and return, the proper entries in relation to which shall be made by such clerk.
CHAPTER 246.

IMPRISONMENT FOR PUBLIC OFFENSES, AND THE DISCIPLINE OF PRISONS.

[Code—Chapter 186.]

SECTION 5122. (3103.) The common jails now erected or which may hereafter be erected in the several counties in this state, in charge of the respective sheriffs, are to be used as prisons:

1. For the detention of persons charged with an offense, and duly committed for trial or examination.
2. For the detention of persons who may be duly committed to secure their attendance as witnesses on the trial of any criminal cause.
3. For the confinement of persons pursuant to sentence upon conviction for any offense, and of all other persons duly committed for any cause authorized by law.

And the provisions of this section extend to persons detained or committed by authority of the courts of the United States as well as the courts and magistrates of this state.

SEC. 5123. (3104.) It is the duty of the keeper of the jail of the county to see that the same is constantly kept in a cleanly and healthy condition, and he must pay strict attention to the personal cleanliness of all the prisoners in his custody as far as may be. Each prisoner must be furnished daily with as much clean water as may be necessary for drink and for personal cleanliness, and with a clean towel and shirt once a week, and must be served three times each day with wholesome food which must be well cooked and in sufficient quantity.

SEC. 5124. (3105.) The sheriff of the county must keep a true and exact calendar of all prisoners committed to any prison under his care, which calendar must contain the names of all persons who are committed, their place of abode, the time of their commitment, the time of discharge, the cause of commitment, the authority that committed them, and description of their person; and when any prisoner is liberated such calendar must state the time when and the authority by which such liberation took place; and if any person escape it must state particularly the time and manner of such escape.

SEC. 5125. (3106.) At the opening of each term of the district court within his county the sheriff must return a copy of such calendar under his hand to the judge of such court, and if any sheriff neglect or refuse so to do he shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 5126. (3107.) Whenever any person is confined in any jail pursuant to the sentence of any court, if such sentence or any part thereof be confinement at hard labor, the sheriff must furnish such convict with suitable tools and materials to work with either in the jail or yard thereof, and the expenses of said tools and materials must be defrayed by the county in which said convict is confined, and such county is entitled to his earnings.

SEC. 5127. (3108.) The keeper of each jail must furnish necessary bedding, clothing, fuel, and medical aid for all prisoners under his charge and keep an accurate account of the same.

SEC. 5128. (3109.) Whenever by reason of any jail being on fire, or any building contiguous or near to a jail being on fire, there be reason to apprehend that the prisoners confined in such jail may be injured or endangered thereby, the sheriff or keeper of such jail may at his discretion remove such prisoners to some safe and convenient place and there confine them so long as may be necessary to avoid such danger.

SEC. 5129. In each county of this state, the judge of the county court, and district attorney, are inspectors of the jails respectively, and have power from time to time, to visit and inspect the same and inquire into all matters connected with the government, discipline, and police of such prisons.

SEC. 5130. (3111.) It is the duty of such inspectors to visit and inspect such prisons twice each year, and at the next district court which is thereafter held in their county to present to such court on the first day of its sitting a detailed report of the condition of such prisons at the time of such inspection.

SEC. 5131. (3112.) Such report must state the number of persons confined in such prisons and for what causes respectively, the number of persons usually confined in one room, the distinction if any, usually observed in the treatment of prisoners, the evils if any found to exist in such prisons; and particularly, whether any of the provisions of this chapter have been violated or neglected and the causes of such violation or neglect.

SEC. 5132. (3113.) It is the duty of the keepers of such prisons to admit the said inspectors or any of them into every part of such prisons, to exhibit to them on demand, all the books, papers, documents, and accounts pertaining to the prison or to the prisoners confined therein, and to render them every other facility in their power to enable them to discharge the duties above prescribed.

SEC. 5133. (3114.) For the purpose of obtaining the necessary information to enable them to make such report as is above required in this chapter, the said inspectors have power to examine on oath, to be administered by either of them, any of the officers of such prison or any of the prisoners therein.

SEC. 5134. (3115.) If any person confined in any jail upon a conviction or charge of any offense is refractory or disorderly, or if he willfully destroy or injure any article of bedding or other furniture, door or window, or any other part of such prison, the sheriff of the county after due inquiry may chain and secure such person, or cause him to be kept in solitary confinement not more than ten days for any one offense; and during such solitary confinement he must be fed with bread and water only, unless other food is necessary for the preservation of his health.

SEC. 5135. (3116.) All charges and expenses of safe keeping and maintaining convicts and persons charged with public offenses and committed for examination or trial to the county jail, shall be paid from the county treasury, the accounts therefor being first settled and allowed by the county court; except prisoners committed or detained by the authority of the courts of the United States, in which cases the United States must pay such expenses to the county.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

CHAPTER 247.

THE PENITENTIARY OF THE STATE, AND THE GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE THEREOF.

[Code—Chapter 187.]

ARTICLE 1.

SEC. 5136. (3117.) The penitentiary at Fort Madison in the county of Lee shall continue to be maintained as the penitentiary of this state, in which convicts sentenced for life or any term of time shall be confined, employed, and governed, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 5137. (3118.) All punishment in the penitentiary by imprisonment must be by confinement to hard labor, and not by solitary imprisonment; but solitary imprisonment may be used as a prison discipline for the government and good order of the convicts as hereinafter mentioned.

SEC. 5138. (3119.) Convicts sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary of the United States held within this state must be received into the prison by the warden thereof, when delivered by the authority of the United States, and there kept in pursuance of their sentences.

[Sections 3120, 3121, 3122, 3123, 3124, repealed by section 5973.]

SEC. 5139. (3125.) It is the duty of the inspectors to inquire into any improper conduct which may be alleged to have been committed by the warden or any subordinate officer of the prison in relation to the concerns thereof, and for that purpose may issue subpoenas for witnesses to compel their attendance and the production of papers and writings, and may examine witnesses under oath to be administered by the chairman, and may adjudicate on such alleged improper conduct in like manner and with like effect as in case of arbitration.

SEC. 5140. (3126.) The inspectors must examine into all disorderly conduct among the prisoners, and when it appears to them that such conduct is disorderly, refractory, or disobedient, they may order such punishment as they may deem necessary to enforce obedience and as shall not be inconsistent with humanity and may be authorized by the rules and regulations established for the government of the prison.

SEC. 5141. (3127.) The inspectors must from time to time establish such rules and regulations consistent with the laws of the state as they may deem necessary and expedient for the direction of the officers, agents, and servants of the prison in the discharge of their respective duties; or for their respective compensation not established by law; for the government, instruction and discipline of the convicts and for their clothing and subsistence; and for the custody, preservation and management of the public property; and so soon as may be after the establishment of the same by the inspectors, they shall cause a copy thereof to be laid before the governor, who may approve or modify the same and make and establish such other rules and regulations consistent with the laws of the state as to him may seem fit; and the governor must communicate all such rules and regulations as shall be thus approved or established to the next legislature after the same have been so approved and established.

* * * * * * *

* Is not this duty now devolved on the warden by act of 8th session, chapter 97, art. 5 hereof *
Duty of warden.
SEC. 5142. (3128.) The warden must not carry on nor be concerned in the business of trade or commerce during his continuance in office; he must reside constantly within the precincts of the prison, and shall have the care and custody of the prison and of the convicts therein in conformity to their respective sentences, and of the lands, buildings, machines, tools, stock, provisions, and every other kind of property belonging to or within the precincts of the same. He is the treasurer of the prison and must receive, pay out, and be accountable for all moneys granted for maintaining the same or derived from the manufactures or other concerns thereof, and shall make or cause to be made in the books of the prison regular entries of all pecuniary and other concerns of the prison.

Oversee convicts.
SEC. 5143. (3129.) It is the duty of the warden to inspect and oversee the conduct of the convicts and cause all the rules and regulations of the prison to be strictly and promptly enforced. He has authority to punish any convict for disobedience, disorderly behavior, or indolence, in such manner as may be prescribed in the rules and regulations, and must keep a register of all such punishments and the cause for which they were inflicted.

Serve process in prison.
SEC. 5144. (3130.) The warden or his deputy shall serve, execute and return all process within the precincts of the prison, and such process may be directed to him or his deputy accordingly; and for the doings of his deputy the warden as well as his deputy is answerable. The warden shall have the command of all the force for guarding the prison and of all officers and persons employed under him.

Contracts for supplies.
SEC. 5145. (3131.) All articles of food, clothing, bedding, raw materials for manufacture, fuel, and other articles that may be necessary for the use of the prison, must be contracted for by the year when such contracts can be advantageously made, in the following manner: the warden shall annually make an estimate of the quantity of each article necessary for the then next ensuing year, commencing on the first day of October of each year and ending on the last day of September thereafter, and advertise that he will receive sealed proposals for furnishing and delivering at the prison such articles or any of them until the first day of October; payments to be made quarterly, stating the quantity and quality of each article required, the time when each article must be delivered, and the terms of payment; which advertisement he shall cause to be inserted in one or more of the papers published in Fort Madison and in one or more of the papers published at the seat of government of this state, three weeks successively, the last publication to be at least one month before the first day of October in each year.

Proposals examined.
SEC. 5146. (3132.) The inspectors must meet at the prison within five days next after the first day of October of each year, and having first examined the lowest price at which each article advertised for can be procured shall open and examine the proposals; and the lowest offer for furnishing any article, not being above the market price, shall be accepted if good security be given to the warden for the faithful performance of the contract.

Same.
SEC. 5147. (3133.) If no such offer be made below the estimated market price or if any article should not be included in such advertisement or if the inspectors should deem it expedient to decline any or all of such proposals, the warden may procure such articles as may be necessary for the prison by advertising anew or in such manner as may be prescribed by the inspectors.

* Does not the substance of this section apply to warden under law of 8th sess., chap. 97, art. 5th hereof?

Sec. 5148. (3134.) The warden must take bills of the quantity and price of the supplies furnished for the prison at the time of delivery and must exhibit the same to the clerk who must compare the same with the articles delivered; if the bills are found correct he must enter them with the date in a book to be kept for that purpose; in like manner bills shall be taken and entered of all services rendered for the prison; if any such bill be found incorrect the clerk shall omit to enter it and immediately give notice to the warden, that the error may be corrected.

Sec. 5149. (3135.) No contract can be accepted by the warden unless the contractor give satisfactory security for the performance of it, and no officer of the prison shall be directly or indirectly interested in any such contract.

Sec. 5150. (3136.) All actions founded on contract made with the warden in his official capacity may be brought by or against the warden for the time being; and any action for injuries done or occasioned to the real or personal property belonging to the state and appropriated to the use of the prison or being under the management of the warden thereof may be prosecuted in the name of the warden for the time being, and no such action shall abate by the warden's ceasing to be in office, but his successor, upon notice, is required to assume the prosecution or defense of the same. In any such action the warden is a competent witness, and his property shall not be taken or attached in any such suit nor shall any execution issue against him on any judgment thereon, but such judgment shall stand as an ascertained claim against the state; and whenever a new warden is appointed all the books, accounts and papers belonging to the prison shall be delivered to him, and he shall be vested with all the powers and subject to all the obligations with regard to any contracts or any debts due to or from the prison that his predecessor would have been if no change had taken place in the office.

Sec. 5151. (3137.) Whenever the office of warden is vacant or he is absent from the prison or unable to perform the duties of his office, the deputy warden has the power to perform the duties, and shall be subject to all the obligations and liabilities, of the warden.

[3138, superseded by act of eighth session, chapter ninety-seven, article five hereof.]

Sec. 5152. (3139.) It is the duty of the clerk and commissary to keep an exact account of all supplies purchased for the use of the prison as before provided in this chapter and of all the articles sold and delivered from the same, and to assist in effecting sales and purchases in such manner as the warden may direct; * * * and perform such other services pertaining to his employment and the superintending of the prison as may be directed by the warden.*

Sec. 5153. (3140.) Persons having suitable knowledge and skill in the branches of labor and manufacture carried on in the prison may when practicable be employed as overseers; and they must respectively superintend such portions of the labor of convicts for which they are most suitably qualified, and which shall be assigned to them by the warden; and all of them as well as the other subordinate officers of the prison must perform such services in the management, superintending, and guarding of the prison as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations or directed by the warden.

An Act to provide for the allotment of Terms of Senators.
[Passed April 2, 1860, took effect July 4, 1860; Laws of Eighth Session, Chapter 99.]

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That whenever under the provisions of the constitution it becomes the duty of the senate to determine by lot the members elect, who shall hold respectively for the terms of two years, and of four years, the same shall be determined at the first session by depositing in a box, to be provided by their secretary, a number of folded ballots equal to the whole number of new members elected, the proper proportion of each number so as to equalize the classes as nearly as possible, shall bear the writing “for two years,” and the remainder “for four years,” which ballots shall be prepared and deposited by the secretary of the senate, and then the roll of such new members shall be called, and as each member’s name is called he shall draw one of such ballots from the box, and hand the same to the secretary, who shall announce the term so drawn, and if any such member shall refuse to draw his ballot, or is absent when his name is called, or being present shall refuse to draw, the president shall in like manner draw and announce the term so drawn; and the term so drawn shall be the term of office for which said senator shall be taken and held to have been elected, and shall be accordingly entered on the journal of the senate.

DES MOINES RIVER LANDS.

The acts concerning the Des Moines River are important to so many persons, and those parts of them not now of force, are yet in such demand, as defining existing rights, that we deem it best to insert them all.

An Act creating a Board of Public Works, and providing for the Improvement of the Des Moines River.
[Passed February 24, 1847, took effect March 18, 1847; Laws of First General Assembly, Chapter 113, page 165.]

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That for the improvement of the Des Moines river, there shall be established a board, to be called the “board of public works,” which shall consist of a president, secretary, and treasurer, who shall be elected by the qualified electors of this state, on the first Monday of August next, when elected, and every two years thereafter, and shall remain in office until their successors are elected and qualified; and before entering upon the discharge of their duties, they shall take and subscribe (before some person qualified to administer the same) an oath or affirmation for the faithful and impartial performance of the duties required of them by law, which shall be deposited with the secretary of state.

Sec. 2. In case of a vacancy, occasioned otherwise than by expiration of the term of service, the governor shall have power to appoint a successor, who shall serve until the place is regularly filled by election, in the manner prescribed in the first section of this act.

Sec. 3. The president shall receive one thousand dollars, and the secretary and treasurer each eight hundred dollars, per annum, payable quarterly. The president shall be the active agent of said board; shall superintend said work, and make report of the progress of contractors, every month or oftener, as the board may direct; and said board shall hold its regular sessions monthly—but the president may call them together whenever he may deem it expedient.

Sec. 4. Such payments, as well as all the other expenses attending the prosecution of the work, shall be paid from the fund resulting from the sale of the donated lands.

Sec. 5. In case of inability of the president to discharge the duties of his office, he may appoint either of the other members of the board to act in his stead.

Sec. 6. The board shall have power to procure a chief engineer and such assistants as may be necessary, and to take all other steps for the effectual prosecution of the work, and for the preservation thereof, as fast as it shall be completed.

Sec. 7. They shall have the general supervision and control of said work, and any two of said board shall constitute a quorum: provided, they shall all have been notified to attend, or if for any reason the attendance of the third member shall be impracticable.

Sec. 8. The treasurer shall give bond in the penalty of fifty thousand dollars, with securities to be approved by the governor, conditioned that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office—account for and pay over all moneys that shall come into his hands in his official capacity. The president and secretary shall each give bond, with security to be approved in like manner, in the sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned that they will faithfully perform the duties required of them by law, which bonds shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

Sec. 9. The board shall make report to the governor, on or before the first day of every regular session of the legislature, giving a full statement of all their doings, and recommending such legislative action as they may deem expedient.

Sec. 10. No extra allowance shall be made to any contractor or other person, except under circumstances wherein the law would have compelled such allowance by a private individual. In all such full statements thereof, and the reasons therefor, shall be made out and filed in the office of the board.

Sec. 11. The board may sue and be sued in their legal name—service of process upon any member of the board shall be sufficient.

Sec. 12. The board shall establish an office at some suitable place, which they may remove from time to time, so as to be as convenient as practicable to the land to be sold and the improvement to be made.

Sec. 13. The general nature of the said improvement shall be a system of slack water navigation, by means of dams and locks; but, if, at any particular part of said river, such mode of improvement shall be found improper, such other mode may be adopted as the board may deem best.

Sec. 14. As far as compatible with the advantageous prosecution of the work, the improvement of the river shall commence, at either the mouth of the Dead Slough, or the mouth of the Massau Slough, on the Mississippi river—thence up the slough to the Des Moines river—unless the board find the improvement of either of said sloughs not best calculated to advance the interest of the state. They shall then be authorized to select such other point for the commencement of the work as they shall deem expedient; and said improvement shall progress regularly up said Des Moines river; and said board may require the proprietors of any mill dam in said river to place a sufficient lock therein with regard to navigation.

In a reasonable time, or otherwise, they may proceed to cause such dam to be removed, or to take such other steps as they may deem proper to render the river navigable.

Sec. 15. The board shall fix upon such dimensions for the locks as after full inquiry and investigation, they shall deem best adapted to the purpose for which they are intended.

Sec. 16. The dams shall be located, as far as practicable, so as to accommodate the mills and machinery now begun or erected on said river; and the board shall have power to make such arrangements with the proprietors thereof, in relation to the water power as may be just and proper. If no satisfactory arrangement can be made the board shall have power to proceed with the work, and the fact shall be reported as early as practicable, to the governor, to be laid before the legislature.

Sec. 17. The board shall also have power to make arrangements with the proprietors of the lands adjacent to the dams on either side of said river, where no mill or machinery shall have been begun or erected for the purpose of procuring for the state a tract of land sufficient to make the water power thereby created fully available; if no such satisfactory arrangement can be made, the sheriff of the county shall summon eighteen disinterested and qualified jurors; of whom each party shall strike off six, and the remaining six shall proceed to mark off such tract of land not exceeding ten acres, and to fix the fair value of the same; and upon the payment of that amount, the board shall have power by a bill in chancery, to compel the proprietors thereof, to execute a deed to the state: provided, in the opinion of the court, such convention is necessary to render the water power available.

Sec. 18. The board shall have power to lease out any water power that may be created by said improvement, for a period of not more than fifty years. They may also make contracts of like duration with individuals, granting them the water power created by any dam: provided, they will erect the same, and the necessary appendages, and keep them in repair, upon such conditions and with such securities for the faithful performance of such contracts as they shall deem proper.

Sec. 19. The board may, also, as soon as they shall deem it expedient, cause the removal of rocks and other obstructions to the navigation of any part of said river, below the Racoon Forks; and may, after the survey of the river and location of the dams, cause such dams to be built at certain points, out of their regular order, whenever they think the public interest requires it.

Sec. 20. The board shall have power to take all the necessary steps to prevent waste upon the public lands granted for the improvement of the river, and may bring suit to recover damages therefor.

Sec. 21. They shall have power to purchase any tract of land which may be found necessary to promote the prosperity of the work, or to accomplish the object contemplated by this act, which tract shall be held and used for the public benefit.
SEC. 22. All charters granted by the legislature of the territory of Iowa, for building dams across said river, are hereby declared to be vacated, unless the proprietors thereof will construct dams and locks, in accordance with the direction of the board. The board shall require the proprietors, or any person who may have obtained a charter to build one, to build or alter the same so as to correspond with the general character of the improvement of the river, and unless they will comply with such requirement, their charters shall be deemed to be vacated, and the board are authorized to proceed to construct the dams or locks themselves; and nothing herein contained shall prevent the board from paying the proprietors of such dams whatever they may deem reasonable, in addition to the privileges authorized by this act.

SEC. 23. As far as practicable, the work shall be done and the materials furnished by contracts, which shall be given to the lowest responsible bidders, after full public notice shall have been given. When the lowest bid shall not have been accepted, the reasons therefor shall be stated and filed in the office of the board, and be subject to public inspection.

SEC. 24. All contracts shall be made in writing, signed by the president of the board and the contractor, and a duplicate thereof filed in the office of the board previous to the commencement of the work; and no contract shall be entered into between the board and either of its members.

SEC. 25. The board shall keep a record of all the proceedings, which, together with all papers filed in their office, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of such persons as the legislature may appoint for that purpose.

SEC. 26. The board shall proceed to sell the lands donated for such improvement as fast as the funds shall be required, and as shall be permitted by the terms of said grant; and for the sale of said land the treasurer shall be receiver, and the secretary shall be register, and the secretary and treasurer, in the discharge of their duties as receiver and register, shall be governed by the laws and rules prescribed by congress for the sale of lands in this state, so far as applicable under the restrictions of said grant and provisions of this law, subject to such restrictions as may be authorized by this act.

SEC. 27. Any person who, on first day of January, 1847, was by the then existing laws of this state, entitled to a claim upon the lands in this act mentioned, or who shall at the time of entering the same be the owner of such claim, shall have the right to enter the same in legal subdivisions of not less than forty acres, unless it be a fractional quarter, at the price of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, and the provisions of the several pre-emption laws of congress, passed since the first of June, 1838, and all the privileges and benefits thereby granted are extended to the settlers on said lands, as far as the same are applicable, and the same rules and regulations shall be observed in the entry and sale of said lands by the board.

SEC. 28. In all cases when the dams in said river shall abut on lands not then sold, or on which there shall not be a legal pre-emption right, under the laws of the United States, the board shall select a tract of land not exceeding ten acres in extent, and retain the same, in order to render the water power more valuable, or to be otherwise used for the benefit of the state.

SEC. 29. The treasurer and secretary shall establish rules for proof of pre-emptions under this act, as well as for fixing the time when such pre-emptions shall be proved up, and any person who, in making oaths Perjury.
or affirmations in accordance with such rules, shall swear falsely, shall be deemed guilty of perjury and punished accordingly. The said treasurer or secretary, or either of them, are hereby authorized to administer said oaths.

Before entering upon the discharge of his duties he shall take and subscribe the following oath, before some person authorized to administer the same: "I, Oath.
do solemnly swear that I will to the best of my ability, honestly and faithfully discharge the duties imposed upon me as commissioner of the Des Moines river improvement, and to the utmost of my exertions, strive to promote the vigorous prosecution, and secure the early and economical completion of the said work; and that I will give my constant and unremitting personal attention thereto." The said commissioner shall also, previous to entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, execute a bond to the state of Iowa, in the sum of thirty thousand dollars, with frehold security, to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful and honest discharge of his duties as commissioner aforesaid: which said bond and oath shall be filed with the secretary of state, and preserved by him.

Sect. 6. It is the duty of the commissioner to take a personal oversight and control of the improvement as it progresses;—examining each and every part thereof as often as practicable;—to do all things properly devolving upon such an officer, and in all his acts connected with said improvement;—to have special reference to the permanency and early completion of the entire work. He shall immediately after qualifying as herein provided, proceed at once to the discharge of his duties;—shall take charge of all books, papers, plans and other matters of whatever kind or description, now in the hands of the president of the board of public works, &c., in like manner deliver the same to his successor in office, and in general perform all the duties now devolving on such president, with such additional duties as are herein provided.

Sect. 7. The register is to do and perform all such acts and things connected with the sale of the lands mentioned in this act as have heretofore been done and performed by the secretary and treasurer of the board of public works, and such other duties as are herein imposed, or would properly come within the scope of such an officer, under such rules and regulations as have been or may be established by the board, or said commissioner and register.

Sect. 8. The commissioner and register are hereby authorized to contract with any individual or individuals, company or companies, for the completion of that part of the improvement of said river at and below Keosauqua, by allowing the contractors in payment for such work, as the same progresses, any portion of the lands granted for the improvement of said river which lie below Raccoon Forks, at a price not less than one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre; and if the lands lying below the Raccoon Forks cannot be disposed of upon such terms as to procure the completion of the works mentioned in this section, after having made provisions for the payment of the present liabilities of said work, the commissioner and register are hereby authorized and empowered, to contract and consent on the part of the state, to surrender to such contractor or contractors, the water rents of the power created by the above improvement, and also the tolls at the locks, upon such conditions and for such time as will compensate such contractor or contractors for such work;—but the tolls shall not exceed in their average rate those now charged on the Monongahela river, in the state of Pennsylvania, nor shall the water-powers thus to be surrendered include the water-power needed for the purposes of lockage;—nor shall the contract above contemplated be entered into unless it will secure the completion of the improvement above mentioned.

Sect. 9. The said commissioner and register have the same power to build dams and locks above Keosauqua, at such points as they may deem necessary for the best interest of the improvement, as has heretofore been given by law to the board of public works; and they are hereby authorized and required to build a lock at any point above Keosauqua: provided they can get an individual or company to build the dam and abutment at the said point for the use of the water-power thus created; the dam to be built according to the plans and specifications adopted for said improvement: and provided further, that said dam and lock shall be located at such point or points as will assist in carrying out the general system of said improvements, and shall be paid for from the land granted above the Raccoon Forks.

If no satisfactory arrangement can be made by which the locks and dams now under contract can be finished as specified above, the said commissioner and register may make such arrangement as to complete such portions of said improvement as will secure the navigation of said river for the longest period of time in each year.

SEC. 11. In all contracts herein contemplated, the individual or individuals, company or companies, so contracted with, shall look alone to the funds and lands belonging to said improvement for payment, and not to the state.

SEC. 15. The commissioner and register also have power to dispose of any other lands which have been or may hereafter be granted for the improvement of the Des Moines river, in any mode above specified, subject to the like approval of the governor; or they may direct any portion thereof to be sold, but not for a less price than one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. Such lands or their proceeds shall be devoted to the completion of said improvement to the greatest extent practicable.

SEC. 16. Any of the lands which may be occupied by actual settlement on the first day of October next, may be purchased by the occupant at any time before the first day of July next, under such rules and regulations as may be established by the commissioner and register under this act, and the laws now in force not conflicting herewith; and the same shall not be subject to be contracted away, as above provided, prior to said first day of July, 1851, except such contract, if made before that time, shall reserve to the said occupant the right to purchase as aforesaid; and said occupant shall have the right to purchase at the rate of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre.

SEC. 17. All contracts authorized by this act shall be executed in triplicate, one of which shall be filed with the register, and by him recorded in a book to be kept for that purpose, another of which is to be filed with the secretary of state, to be by him preserved, and the other to be delivered to the contractor.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That there shall be a commissioner and register of the Des Moines river improvement elected by the qualified electors of this state, on the first Monday of April, 1853, who shall hold their respective offices for the term of two years and until their successors are elected and qualified; the said election to be conducted as other state elections are, and returns made, canvassed, and certified, as provided in the case of other state officers; and the said commissioner and register to qualify as is provided in sections 3 and 4 of "an act to secure the more vigorous prosecution and early completion of the Des Moines river improvement," etc., approved February 5th, 1853.

Sec. 2. That for the purpose of aiding the commissioners in conducting or concluding any contract, or agreement, under the provisions of this act, or any other act on the subject of the Des Moines river improvement, George G. Wright, of Van Buren county, and Uriah Biggs, of Wapello county, are hereby appointed his assistants, with equal power with said commissioner, in making and determining such contracts and agreements, as are mentioned in section six of this act.

Sec. 3. Prior to the said assistants entering upon the discharge of their duties devolved upon them, they shall each take and subscribe an oath that they will faithfully and impartially discharge their said duties, which said oath shall be filed with the register.

Sec. 4. The duties of said assistants shall not extend any further than to aid said commissioner in negotiating such contracts or agreements as are contemplated in this act, or any other act passed at the present session of the general assembly; and any thing in this act, or any act on the subject of the Des Moines river improvement, which vests authority and power in the commissioner and register to make contracts and agreements, is herein so modified as to vest said power and authority in the said commissioner and the two assistants.

Sec. 5. The compensation to each of the said assistants shall be three dollars per day, for each day he may be necessarily engaged in negotiating as aforesaid, to be paid out of any moneys arising from the sales of lands granted to this state, to aid in improving said river.

Sec. 6. That the said commissioner and assistants, in contracting for the means to carry on said improvement, shall not make any contract, or agreement, with any company, or individual, under the provisions of this act, or any law now in force, or which may be in force at the time of making said contract or agreement, unless such contract or agreement stipulates for at least thirteen hundred thousand dollars to be faithfully expended in the payment of the debts and liabilities of said improvement, and to the completion thereof to the greatest extent practicable: provided, that if it be necessary, in order to effect a contract, or agreement of the character in this section mentioned, such contract or agreement may convey to any company, or individual, the right to the tolls and water rents arising from said improvements for such length of time, and upon such terms as they may deem expedient: provided, any of said lands which may be claimed by bona fide settlers, at the time of taking effect of this act, may be purchased by such settlers, at any time before the first day of December next, under such rules and regulations as may be established by said commissioner and register; and any contract made as herein contemplated, shall reserve to said settlers the right to purchase, as aforesaid, one hundred and sixty acres, at the rate of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre: provided, however, that where such bona fide settlement is now made on lands, which are not now surveyed, said settlers shall have the right to purchase their said lands, under the regulations aforesaid, at any time within one year after said lands are surveyed, at the rate per acre above named.

Section 7. If no contract or agreement shall have been made by said commissioner and assistants, on or before the first day of September, 1853, of the character of that required in section six of this act, then from that day the compensation to all officers connected with said improvement, except the register and one engineer, whom he shall employ, shall cease; and all operations connected with said work, except such parts as are now under contract, shall be suspended until further legislation can be had on the subject. But the register shall, nevertheless, cause the unfinished work, not now under contract, to be placed in such condition as to prevent injury, and shall also see that all the property of the state, connected with the work, is carefully preserved, and exercise all other powers connected with said improvement now vested by law in the commissioner, except as herein otherwise provided.

Section 8. If at any time subsequent to the first of September, 1853, the register shall receive propositions, from any individual or company, which he deems of sufficient importance, he may submit the same to the commissioner and the assistants; and, should a contract of the kind required in this act be consummated, then the salary of the commissioner shall again commence to run; and the improvement shall proceed, under such contract, as though the work had not been suspended.

Section 9. Any contract made under the laws now or hereafter to be in force, shall be so made as to protect the state from any damages under any pre-existing contract; and, in no event, shall the state be liable for any contract made or to be made; but the person or company contracting shall look alone to the funds belonging to, and arising from, said improvement.

Section 10. All acts and parts of acts coming in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed; and this act shall take effect and be in force, from and after its publication in the Iowa Star and Des Moines Republic.

In case of a disagreement between the commissioners as to the terms of the contract or settlement, the attorney general shall act as a third commissioner, and any two of the commissioners shall have power to act. In case a contract is made with any person or persons, the provisions of the contract shall be such as that the lands donated by congress for said improvement, and yet remaining unsold, shall be faithfully applied to said work at their actual value, either by being sold in the manner hereinafter provided, or by being taken by the contracting party at a fair valuation: provided, that any disposition of said lands shall be in strict compliance with the terms and conditions of the act of congress donating the same.

Sec. 5. That if any lands are sold as above provided for by said commissioners, it shall be their duty to advertise the same by publication in at least three newspapers in or nearest to the county, wherein said lands are situated, and one new-paper published at Fort Des Moines, at least thirty days before the sale, and said sale shall not be valid unless made at public auction at the county seat of the county in which the same are situated. In case it is necessary, in order to carry out the provisions of this act, to value any of the said lands, the same shall be valued by three persons, who shall be citizens of this state, and who shall be chosen as follows: one by the governor of the state, one... by the attorney general, and the third to be the commissioner of said improvement, who shall appraise the required amounts of said lands at their actual cash value, at the time of such valuation, and the said appraisers shall first subscribe an oath that they will faithfully and impartially perform the said duty.

That the salary of the commissioners shall hereafter be twelve hundred dollars per annum, and the salary of the commissioner herein provided for, shall be the same as the commissioner for the time he shall be actually employed in the business connected with said improvement.

SEC. 6. That it shall be the duty of the register of the Des Moines river improvement, as early as practicable, to transfer and deliver over to the register of the state land office any and all vouchers, plats, books, and other things belonging to and connected with said register's office.

That said commissioners be and are hereby authorized to settle all accounts of former commissioners and agents of the Des Moines river improvement, and demand and receive from any and all of them all vouchers, books and other things belonging to and connected with said improvement, and the same shall be transferred and kept at the office of the commissioners of said improvement.

Old accounts.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the commissioner or commissioners to report semi-annually to the governor a full and true statement of his or their doings, and the progress of the improvement, and all matters of importance connected therewith, and these reports, or a summary of them, shall be by the governor reported to the legislature.

Joint Resolutions, containing Propositions for the Settlement with the Des Moines Navigation and Railroad Company.

[Approved March 22, 1858; Resolution of the Seventh General Assembly, No. 4, page 427.]

WHEREAS, The Des Moines navigation and railroad company have heretofore claimed, and do now claim, to have entered into certain contracts with the state of Iowa, by its officers and agents, concerning the improvement of the Des Moines river in the state of Iowa, and whereas disagreements and misunderstandings have arisen and do now exist between the state of Iowa and said company, and it being conceived to be to the interests of all parties concerned, to have said matters, and all matters of importance connected therewith, and these reports, or a summary of them, shall be by the governor reported to the legislature.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That for the purpose of such settlement, and for that purpose only, the following propositions are made by the state to said company: that the said company shall execute to the state of Iowa full releases and discharges of all contracts, agreements and claims with or against the state, including rights to water rents which may heretofore or do now exist, and all claims of all kinds against the state of Iowa and the lands connected with the Des Moines river improvement, excepting such as are hereby, by the state secured to the said company; and also surrender to said state the dredge-boat and its appurtenances, belonging to said improvement; and the state of Iowa shall, by its proper officer, certify and convey to the said company, all lands granted by an act of congress, approved August 8th, 1846, to the then territory of Iowa, to aid in the improvement of the Des Moines river, which have been approved and certified to the state of Iowa by the general government, saving and excepting all lands sold or conveyed or agreed to be sold or conveyed by the state of Iowa, by its officers and agents, prior to the 23d day of December, 1853, under said grant, and said company or its assignees shall have right to all of said lands as herein granted to them as fully as the state of Iowa could have under or by virtue of said grant, or in any manner whatever, with full power to settle all errors, false locations, omissions or claims in reference to the same, and all pay or compensation therefor by the general government, but at the costs and charges of said company, and the state to hold all the balance of said lands, and all rights, powers and privileges under and by virtue of said grant, entirely released from any claim by or through said company; and it is understood that among the lands excepted and not granted by the state to said company, are 25,487.87 acres lying immediately above Raccoon Forks, supposed to have been sold by the general government, but claimed by the state of Iowa.

And it is further agreed that said company release and convey to the state of Iowa or its representatives, all materials of every kind and description, prepared for or intended for the construction of locks or dams in said improvement, wheresoever the same may be, and the state shall take the existing contracts, but no other liabilities of any name or nature except as herein provided, for constructing or repairing the works on said improvement at Keosauqua, Bentonsport, Plymouth and Croton, and no other or different, with all liabilities and advantages arising upon said contracts, and per centage retained thereon, excepting that the company shall pay all estimates for work done or material prepared up to this date, beyond the per centage retained from the contractors under their agreements; and the said company shall be discharged from all liability for the claims of the officers of the state for services or salaries.

The said company hereby agree to pay the state the sum of twenty thousand dollars, which sum shall be paid to the order of the commissioner of the Des Moines river improvement, (as fast as he may require the same, to liquidate existing liabilities against said Des Moines river improvement,) on thirty days' notice given to said company at their office in the city of New York; and any bonds or certificates of indebtedness against said improvement not exceeding in amount the sum of eleven thousand dollars, which are now due and unpaid, are to be received in part payment of said sum of twenty thousand dollars: provided, that no liabilities assumed by the state in this contract, shall be a charge against the state in her sovereign capacity, but all such liabilities, if any, shall be chargeable upon and payable out of the remaining lands belonging to the Des Moines river grant; and provided also, that if congress shall permit a diversion of the lands of said Des Moines river grant, or the title thereto shall become vested in the state, so as to become subject to grant, the said remaining lands, after the payment of all the liabilities, as aforesaid, against said improvement, and the completion of such locks and dams on the Des Moines river as the legislature shall direct, shall be granted to the Keokuk, Fort Des Moines and Minnesota railroad company, to aid in the construction of a railroad up and along the valley of the Des Moines river, upon such terms and in such manner as the legislature may provide, one-fourth of which said lands shall be applied by said company to aid in the construction of said road above

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That all the lands granted to the then territory of Iowa by an act of congress, approved August eighth, eighteen hundred and forty-six, entitled an act granting lands to the territory of Iowa, to aid in the improvement of the navigation of the Des Moines river in said territory, and all lands and compensation which may be given in extension or in lieu of any portion thereof by the general government, and also all stone, timber and other material turned over to the state by the Des Moines navigation and railroad company in settlement with the state of Iowa, be and the same are hereby disposed of and granted to the Keokuk, Fort Des Moines and Minnesota railroad company, a body corporate created and existing under the laws of the state of Iowa, to aid in the construction of a railroad from the city of Keokuk, at the mouth of the Des Moines river, up and along the valley of said river by way of the city of Des Moines, to the northern line of the state, in the direction of the southern bend of the Minnesota or St. Peters river, excepting all the lands belonging to said grant heretofore sold by the state of Iowa, or which may hereafter be conveyed to the Des Moines navigation and railroad company by virtue of a settlement now pending between the state and said company, and also so much of the said timber, stone and other material as may be used in the completion of the locks and dams at Croton, Plymouth, Bentonsport and Keosauqua, this grant to become operative so soon as congress shall assent to or permit a diversion or the title thereto shall become vested in the state so as to be subject to grant.

SEC. 2. That the Keokuk, Fort Des Moines, and Minnesota railroad company, shall pay all liabilities against said Des Moines river improvement, and against the state of Iowa, growing out of said improvement, whether by contracts between the state and other parties or between the Des Moines navigation and railroad company and other parties, or between any parties whatever which have been assumed by the state in consequence of the proposed settlement with the Des Moines navigation and railroad company, as contained in the joint resolution passed at the present session of the general assembly; and said company shall also complete the locks and dams at Croton, Plymouth, Bentonsport and Keosauqua, and fifty thousand acres of the lands which may hereafter be certified by the general government to the state of Iowa shall be set apart by the register of the state land office, which said lands shall be held for the purpose of securing the payment of said liabilities and the completion of said lock and dams, and that whenever said company shall pay thirty thousand dollars of said liabilities properly audited and allowed by the register of the state land office, or shall do thirty thousand dollars worth of work on said locks and dams to be certified and allowed by an engineer to be appointed by the governor to superintend said works, that then the register of the state land office shall issue to said company a certificate for ten thousand acres of said lands, so set apart for every thirty thousand dollars so paid or expended until said liabilities are paid, and said locks and dams are completed and if any of said fifty thousand acres of land shall remain after the payment of said liabilities and the completion of said locks and dams, it shall be certified to said railroad company in the same manner provided in this act: provided, that if the proceeds of the said fifty thousand acres of land shall at any time be found insufficient to discharge existing contracts for constructing or repairing the works at Keosauqua, Ben­ tonsport, Plymouth and Crotón and in all respects preserve the state harmless on account of any liability now existing against the state, or that has been assumed by the propo-ed settlement with the Des Moines navigation and railroad company, or arising in any manner from the past improvement of the Des Moines river, or the payment of the officers or agents employed in and about said improvement, then the said Keokuk, Fort Des Moines and Minnesota railroad company shall be liable to pay the state the amount of such deficiency.

SEC. 4. The grant aforesaid is made to said company upon the express condition that in case such railroad company shall fail to have completed and equipped seventy-five miles of road up the valley of the Des Moines river, from the town of Bentonport, within three years from the first day of December next, thirty-three miles in addition in each year thereafter for five years, and the remainder of the whole line in three years thereafter, or on the first day of December, eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, then in that case it shall be competent for the state of Iowa to reserve all rights to the lands hereby granted, then remaining uncertified to said company so failing to have the length of road completed in manner as aforesaid.

SEC. 5. That this grant is subject to all the provisions of an act of the general assembly of the state of Iowa, approved July fourteenth, eighteen hundred and fifty-six, entitled an act to accept the grant and railroad grants, carry into execution the trust conferred upon the state of Iowa by an act of congress entitled an act making a grant of lands to the state of Iowa in alternate sections to aid in the construction of railroads in said state, approved May 15, 1856, so far as the same are applicable and not inconsistent with the foregoing provisions of this act.

rates prescribed in the contract by the state with the Des Moines naviga-interior, from the lands of the United States nearest to the tiers of sections above specified, so much land in alternate sections or parts of sections, as shall be equal to such lands as the United States have sold, or otherwise appropriated, or to which the rights of pre-emption have attached as aforesaid; which lands (thus selected in lieu of those sold and to which pre-emption rights have attached as aforesaid, together with the sections and parts of sections by odd numbers as aforesaid, and appropriated as aforesaid) shall be held by the state of Iowa, for the use and purpose aforesaid: provided, that the land to be so located shall in no case be further than fifteen miles from the lines of said roads, and selected for and on account of each of said roads: provided further, that the lands hereby granted for and on account of said roads severally, shall be exclusively applied in the construction of that road for and on account of which such lands are hereby granted, and shall be disposed of only as the work progresses, and the same shall be applied to no other purpose whatsoever: and provided further, that any and all lands herefore reserved to the United States by any act of congress, or in any other manner by competent authority, for the purpose of aiding in any objects of internal improvement, or for any other purpose whatsoever, be and the same are hereby reserved from the operations of this act, except so far as it may be found necessary to locate the routes of said railroads through such reserved lands; in which case the right of way only shall be granted, subject to the approval of the president of the United States.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient suffering of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former system of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained, and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies, at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise; the state remaining, in the mean time, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others, to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others, to subject us to a jurisdiction, foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation.

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:
For protecting them by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:
For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:
For imposing taxes on us without our consent:
For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:
For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:
For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:
For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress, in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.
Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts, by their legislature, to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity; and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connexions and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world, for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the state of Great Britain, is, and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and do all other acts and things, which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

SEC. 2. If any person guilty of, or charged with treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor in any state, shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offense.

SEC. 3. Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts, and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

Art. 5. Sec. 1. tion, and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress, to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they can not agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven, nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall be the presence of congress be drawn out by lot; and the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges, to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient; or being present, shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court, to be appointed in the manner before prescribed, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear or defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence, or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive; the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress, and lodged among the acts of congress, for the security of the parties concerned: provided, that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward:" provided also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

Sec. 3. All controversies concerning the private right of soil, claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdictions, as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants, are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside: provided, that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States, in congress assembled; but if the United States, in congress assembled, shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed, and equipped, in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number can not be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm, and equip, as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared, and the officers appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States, in congress assembled.

Sec. 6. The United States, in congress assembled, shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same, nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States, in congress assembled.

Sec. 7. The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations, as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state, on any question, shall be en-

Art. 10. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States, in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall, from time to time, think expedient to vest them with: provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states, in the congress of the United States assembled, is requisite.

Art. 11. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into, and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

Art. 12. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

Art. 13. Every state shall abide by the determinations of the United States, in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterwards confirmed by the legislatures of every state.

And whereas it hath pleased the great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectfully represent in congress, to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, Know ye, that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do, by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained. And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States, in congress assembled, on all questions which by the said confederation are submitted to them; and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the Union shall be perpetual. In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands, in congress.

AN ORDINANCE,

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES, NORTH-WEST OF THE RIVER OHIO.

One district.

Be it ordained by the United States, in Congress assembled, That the said territory, for the purposes of temporary government, be one district; subject, however, to be divided into two districts, as future circumstances may, in the opinion of congress, make it expedient.

Descent of estates.

Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the estates both of resident and non-resident proprietors in the said territory, dying intestate, shall descend to and be distributed among their children, and the descendants of a deceased child, in equal parts; the descendants of a deceased child or grandchild, to take a share of their deceased parent in equal parts among them; and where there shall be no children or descendants, then in equal parts to the next of kin, in equal degree; and among collaterals, the children of a deceased brother or sister of the intestate, shall have, in equal parts among them, their deceased parent's share; and there shall, in no case, be a distinction between kindred of the whole and half blood; saving, in all cases, to the widow of the intestate her third part of the real estate for life, and one-third part of the dower, personal estate; and this law relative to descents and dower shall remain in full force until altered by the legislature of the district. And until the governor and judges shall adopt laws, as hereinafter mentioned, estates in the said territory may be devised or bequeathed by wills in writing, signed and sealed by him or her, in whom the estate may be, (being of full age,) and attested by three witnesses; and real estates may be conveyed by lease and release, or bargain and sale, signed, sealed and delivered by the person, being of full age, in whom the estate may be, and attested by two witnesses, provided such wills be duly proved, such conveyances be acknowledged, or the execution thereof duly proved, and be recorded within one year after proper magistrates, courts and registers shall be appointed for that purpose; and personal property may be transferred by delivery; saving, however, to the French and Canadian inhabitants, and other settlers of the Kaskaskias, Saint Vincents, and the neighboring villages, who have heretofore professed themselves citizens of Virginia, their laws and customs now in force among them, relative to the descent and conveyance of property.

Dower.

Wills.

Conveyances.

Saving to the French their laws of descent and conveyance.

Governor.

Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That there shall be appointed, from time to time, by congress, a governor, who's commission shall continue in force for the term of three years, unless sooner revoked by congress; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein, in one thousand acres of land, while in the exercise of his office.

Secretary.

There shall be appointed from time to time, by congress, a secretary, whose commission shall continue in force for four years, unless sooner revoked; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein, in five hundred acres of land, while in the exercise of his office. It shall be his duty to keep and preserve the acts and laws passed by the legislature, and the public records of the district, and the proceedings of the governor in his executive department; and transmit authentic copies of such acts and proceedings every six months, to the secretary of congress. There shall also be appointed a court, to consist of three judges, any two of whom to form a court, who shall have a common law jurisdiction, and reside in the district, and have each therein a freehold estate in five hundred acres of land, while in the exercise of their offices; and their commissions shall continue in force during good behaviour.

The governor and judges, or a majority of them, shall adopt and publish, in the district, such laws of the original states, criminal and civil, as may be necessary and best suited to the circumstances of the district, and report them to congress from time to time; which laws shall be in force in the district until the organization of the general assembly therein, unless disapproved of by congress; but afterwards the legislature shall have authority to alter them as they shall think fit.

The governor for the time being, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia, appoint and commission all officers in the same, below the rank of general officers; all general officers shall be appointed and commissioned by congress.

Previous to the organization of the general assembly, the governor shall appoint such magistrates and other civil officers, in each county or township, as he shall find necessary for the preservation of peace and good order in the same. After the general assembly shall be organized, the powers and duties of the magistrates and other civil officers shall be regulated and defined by the said assembly; but all magistrates and other civil officers, not herein otherwise directed, shall, during the continuance of this temporary government, be appointed by the governor.

For the prevention of crimes and injuries, the laws to be adopted or made, shall have force in all parts of the district, and for the execution of process, criminal and civil, the governor shall make proper divisions thereof; and he shall proceed from time to time, as circumstances may require, to lay out the parts of the district, in which the Indian titles shall have been extinguished, into counties and townships, subject, however, to such alterations as may thereafter be made by the legislature.

So soon as there shall be five thousand free male inhabitants of full age, in the district, upon giving proof thereof to the governor, they shall receive authority, with time and place, to elect representatives from their counties or townships, to represent them in the general assembly; provided, that for every five hundred free male inhabitants, there shall be one representative, and so on progressively with the number of free male inhabitants, shall the right of representation increase, until the number of representatives shall amount to twenty-five, after which, the number and proportion of representatives shall be regulated by the legislature: provided, that no person be eligible or qualified to act as a representative, unless he shall have been a citizen of one of the United States three years, and be a resident in the district, or unless he shall have resided in the district three years, and in either case shall likewise hold in his own right, in fee simple, two hundred acres of land within the same: provided also, that a freehold in fifty acres of land in the district, having been a citizen of one of the states, and being resident in the district, or the like freehold, and two years' residence in the district shall be necessary to qualify a man as an elector of a representative.

The representative thus elected shall serve for the term of two years; and in case of the death of a representative, or removal from office, the governor shall issue a writ to the county or township for which he was a member, to elect another in his stead, to serve for the residue of the term.

The general assembly, or legislature, shall consist of the governor, Legislative council, and a house of representatives. The legislative council shall consist of five members, to continue in office five years, unless sooner removed by congress; any three of whom to be a quorum. And the members of the council shall be nominated and appointed in the following manner, to wit: as soon as representatives shall be elected, the governor shall appoint a time and place for them to meet together, and when met, they shall nominate ten persons, residents in the district, and each possessed of a freehold in five hundred acres of land, and return their names to congress; five of whom congress shall appoint and commission to serve as aforesaid; and whenever a vacancy shall happen in the council, by death or removal from office, the house of representatives shall nominate two persons, qualified as aforesaid, for each vacancy, and return their names to congress; one of whom congress shall appoint and commission for the residue of the term. And every five years, four months at least before the expiration of the time of service of the members of the council, the said house shall nominate ten persons, qualified as aforesaid, and return their names to congress; five of whom congress shall appoint and commission to serve as members of the council five years, unless sooner removed. And the governor, legislative council, and house of representatives, shall have authority to make laws, in all cases, for the good government of the district, not repugnant to the principles and articles in this ordinance established and declared. And all bills, having passed by a majority in the house, and by a majority in the council, shall be referred to the governor for his assent; but no bill or legislative act whatever, shall be of any force without his assent. The governor shall have power to convene, prorogue, and dissolve the general assembly, when in his opinion it shall be expedient.

The governor, judges, legislative council, secretary, and such other officers as congress shall appoint in the district, shall take an oath or affirmation, of fidelity and of office; the governor before the president of congress, and all other officers before the governor. As soon as a legislature shall be formed in the district, the council and house assembled, in one room, shall have authority, by joint ballot, to elect a delegate to congress, who shall have a seat in congress, with a right of debating, but not of voting, during this temporary government.

And for extending the fundamental principles of civil and religious liberty, which form the basis whereon these republics, their laws, and constitutions are erected; to fix and establish those principles as the basis of all laws, constitutions and governments, which forever hereafter shall be formed in the said territory; to provide also for the establishment of states, and permanent governments therein, and for their admission to share in the federal councils, on an equal footing with the original states, at as early periods as may be consistent with the general interest:

It is hereby ordained and declared, by the authority aforesaid, That the following articles shall be considered as articles of compact between the original states, and the people and states in the said territory, and forever remain unalterable, unless by common consent, to wit:

ARTICLE 1. No person demeaning himself in a peaceable and orderly manner, shall ever be molested on account of his mode of worship, or religious sentiments, in the said territory.

ARTICLE 2. The inhabitants of the said territory shall always be entitled to the benefits of the writ of habeas corpus, and trial by jury; of a proportionate representation of the people in the legislature, and of judicial proceedings according to the course of the common law. All persons shall be bailable, unless for criminal offenses, where the proof shall be evident, or the presumption great. All fines shall be moderate; and no cruel or unusual punishments shall be inflicted. No man shall be deprived of his liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land; and should the public exigencies make it necessary, for the common preservation, to take any person's property, or to demand his particular services, full compensation shall be made for the same. And in the just preservation of rights and property, it is understood and declared, that no law ought ever to be made, or have force in the said territory, that shall in any manner whatever interfere with or affect private contracts or engagements, bona fide, and without fraud previously formed.

Art. 3. Religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged. The utmost good faith shall always be observed towards the Indians; their lands and property shall never be taken from them without their consent, and in their property, rights, and liberty, they never shall be invaded or disturbed, unless in just and lawful wars, authorized by congress; but laws, founded in justice and humanity, shall, from time to time, be made, for preventing wrongs being done to them, and for preserving peace and friendship with them.

Art. 4. The said territory, and the states which may be formed therein, shall forever remain a part of this confederacy of the United States of America, subject to the articles of confederation, and to such alterations therein as shall be constitutionally made; and to all the acts and ordinances of the United States in congress assembled, conformable to the same. The inhabitants and settlers in the said territory shall be subject to pay a part of the federal debts, contracted, or to be contracted, and a proportional part of the expenses of government, to be apportionted on them by congress, according to the same common rule and measure by which apportionments thereof shall be made on the other states; and the taxes for paying their proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the district or districts, or new states, as in the original states, within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled. The legislatures of those districts or new states, shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil by the United States in congress assembled, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers. No tax shall be imposed on lands, the property of the United States; and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. The navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the said territory, as to the citizens of the United States, and those of any other states that may be admitted into the confederacy, without any tax, impost, or duty therefor.

Art. 5. There shall be formed, in the said territory, not less than three, nor more than five states; and the boundaries of the states, as soon as Virginia shall alter her act of cession, and consent to the same, shall become fixed and established as follows, to wit: the western state in the said territory shall be bounded by the Mississippi, the Ohio, and Wabash rivers; a direct line drawn from the Wabash and Post Vincents, due north to the territorial line between the United States and Canada; and by the said territorial line to the Lake of the Woods and Mississippi. The middle state shall be bounded by the said direct line, the Wabash from Post Vincents to the Ohio, by the Ohio, by a direct line drawn due north from the mouth of the Great Miami, to the said territorial line, and by the said territorial line. The eastern state shall be bounded by the last mentioned direct line, the Ohio, Pennsylvania and the said territorial line: provided, however, and it is further understood and declared, That the boundaries of these three states shall be subject so far to be altered, that if congress shall hereafter find it expedient, they shall have authority to form one or two states in that part of the said territory which lies north of an east and west line drawn through the southerly bend or extreme of Lake Michigan. And whenever any of the said states shall have sixty thousand free inhabitants therein, such state shall be admitted, by its delegates, into the congress of the United States, on an equal footing with the original states, in all respects whatever; and shall be at liberty to form a permanent constitution and state government: provided, the constitution and government so to be formed, shall be republican, and in conformity to the principles contained in these articles; and so far as it can be consistent with the general interest of the confederacy, such admission shall be allowed at an earlier period, and when there may be a less number of free inhabitants in the state than sixty thousand.

Art. 6. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted: provided always, that any person escaping into the same, from whom labor or service is lawfully claimed in any of the original states, such fugitive may be lawfully reclaimed and conveyed to the person claiming his or her labor or service, as aforesaid.

Repeal. Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the resolutions of the twenty-third of April, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-four, relative to the subject of this ordinance, be, and the same are hereby repealed, and declared null and void.

Done by the United States, in congress assembled, the thirteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of their sovereignty and independence the twelfth.

WILLIAM GRAYSON, Chairman.

CHARLES THOMPSON, Secretary.
THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America.*

ARTICLE 1. SEC. 1. All legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.†

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors chosen of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons.

The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct.

The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand inhabitants.

† The object of the constitution was to establish three great departments of government: the legislative, the executive, and the judicial departments. The first was to pass laws; the second to approve and execute them; the third to expound and enforce them. Martin, heir at law of Fairfax v. Hunter's Lessee, 1 Wheat., 304; 3 Cond. Rep., 575.

The constitution unavoidably deals in general language. It did not suit the purpose of the people in framing this great charter of our liberties to provide for minute specifications of its powers, or to declare the means by which those powers were to be carried into execution. It was foreseen that that would be a perilous and difficult, if not impossible task. The in-traction was not intended merely to provide for the exigencies of a few years, but was to endure through a long lapse of ages, the events of which were locked up in the inscrutable purposes of Providence. It could not be foreseen what new changes and modifications of power might be made indispensable to effectuate the general objects of the charter; and restrictions and specifications which at present might seem salutary, might in the end prove the overthrow of the system itself. Hence its powers are expressed in general terms; leaving to the legislature, from time to time, to adopt its own means to effectuate legitimate objects, and to mould and remodel the exercise of its own powers as its own wisdom, and the public interests should require. Martin, heir at law of Fairfax v. Hunter, 1 Wheat., 304; 3 Cond. Rep., 575.
Vacancies.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Sec. 3. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted

* South Carolina adopted the constitution by a convention called in November, 1789. Rhode Island, by a convention held in May, 1790, assented to the constitution. Kentucky was admitted into the Union June 1, 1792. Vermont was admitted into the Union March 4, 1791. Tennessee was admitted into the Union June 1, 1796. Ohio was established as a state of the Union by act of April 30, 1802. Louisiana was admitted into the Union April 30, 1812. Indiana was admitted into the Union December 11, 1816. Mississippi was admitted into the Union December 10, 1817. Illinois was admitted into the Union December 3, 1818. Alabama was admitted into the Union December 14, 1819. Maine was admitted into the Union by an act of congress, passed March 3, 1820. Missouri was admitted into the Union March 2, 1821. Arkansas was admitted into the Union June 13, 1836. Michigan was admitted into the Union January 26, 1837. North Carolina became a member of the Union before June 4, 1790. Iowa and Florida were authorized to become states of the Union by act of March 3, 1845, chap. 48.
shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof, but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations except as to the places of choosing senators.

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yea and nays of the members of either house on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 8. The congress shall have power,*
To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises,† to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;‡
To borrow money on the credit of the United States;
To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes.§

* Congress must possess the choice of means, and must be empowered to use any means, which are in fact conducive to the exercise of a power granted by the constitution. United States v. Fisher et al., Assignees of Bliht, 2 Cranch's Rep., 358; 1 Cond. Rep., 421.

The powers granted to congress are not exclusive of similar powers existing in the states, unless where the constitution has expressly, in terms, given an exclusive power to congress; or the exercise of a like power is prohibited to the states; or there is a direct repugnancy, or incompatibility in the exercise of it by the states.
The example of the first class is to be found in the exclusive legislation delegated to congress over places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be located for forts, arsenals, dock yards, &c.; of the second class, of the prohibition of a state to coin money, or emit bills of credit; of the third class, the power to establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and the delegation of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction. In all other cases the states retain concurrent authority with congress. Houston v. Moore, 5 Wheat., 1; 4 Cond. Rep., 389.

An act of congress repugnant to the constitution can not become the law of the
The mere grant of power to congress does not imply a prohibition on the states to exercise the same power. Whenever the terms in which such a power is granted to congress require that it should be exercised exclusively by congress, the subject is as completely taken from the state legislatures, as if they had been expressly forbidden to act upon it. Sturges v. Crowningshield, 4 Wheat., 122; 4 Cond. Rep., 409.

power of the states to tax for the support of their own governments; nor is the exercise of that power by the states, an exercise of any portion of the power that is

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money, to that Army. use, shall be for a longer term than two years;

It does not stop at the external boundary of a state; but it does not extend to a commerce which is completely internal. Ibid.

The power to regulate commerce is general, and has no limitations but such as are prescribed by the constitution itself. This power, so far as it extends, is exclusively vested in congress, and no part of it can be exercised by a state. Ibid.

The power of regulating commerce extends to navigation carried on by vessels employed in transporting passengers. Ibid.

All those powers which relate to merely municipal legislation, or which may be properly called internal police, are not surrendered (by the states) or restrained, and consequently in relation to those the authority of a state is complete, unqualified and exclusive. The City of New York v. Meli, 11 Peters, 102.

The act of the legislature of New York, passed February, 1824, entitled “an act concerning passengers in vessels arriving in the port of New York,” is not a regulation of commerce, but of police; and being so, it was passed in the exercise of a power which belonged to that state. Ibid.

The power to regulate commerce, includes the power to regulate navigation, a-connected with the commerce with foreign nations and among the states. It does not stop at the mere boundary line of a state, nor is it confined to acts done on the waters or in the necessary course of the navigation thereof. It extends to such acts done on the land, which interfere with, obstruct or prevent the due exercise of the power to regulate commerce and navigation with foreign nations, and among the states. Any offense which thus interferes with, obstructs, or prevents such commerce and navigation, though done on land, may be punished by congress, under its general authority to make all laws necessary and proper to execute their delegated constitutional powers. The United States v. Lawrence Connick, 12 Peters, 72.

Persons are not the subjects of commerce, and not being imported goods, they do not fall within the meaning founded upon the constitution, of a power given to congress, to regulate commerce, and the prohibition of the states for imposing a duty on imported goods. Ibid. Gibbons v. Ogden, 9 Wheat., 1; 5 Cond. Rep., 562.

† The powers of Congress to establish uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcy throughout the United States, does not exclude the right of the states to legislate on the same subject, except when the power is actually exercised by congress, and the state laws conflict with those of congress. ‡ Since the adoption of the constitution of the United States, a state has authority to pass a bankrupt law, provided such law does not impair the obligation of contracts; and provided there be no act of congress in force to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, conflicting with such law. Story v. Crowninshield, 4 Wheat., 122; 4 Cond. Rep., 409.
To provide and maintain a navy;
To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;
To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;
To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;
Exclusive authority over district:
To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings. And General authority:
To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.*

SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax of duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.
The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.†
No bill of attainder or ex post facto law, shall be passed.§
No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.
No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

* The act of congress of February 28, 1795, to provide for the calling out the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions, is within the constitutional powers of congress. Martin v. Mott, 12 Wheat., 19; 6 Cond. Rep., 410.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

SEC. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts;* pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.†

No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.‡ No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ART. 2. SEC. 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the state in which they are chosen. A majority of the whole number of electors shall be necessary to a selection. But if no person have such majority, then from the two having the highest votes, the electors shall choose one of them for president; and if no person have a Majority, then the House of Representatives shall choose from the two highest人选 of votes, a president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote. A quorum of the electors may meet for this purpose, and select a president, without a state having more than one vote. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the state in which they are chosen. same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list, the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors, shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.*

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive during that period any other emolument from the United States or any of them.

Before he enter upon the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur;* and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for and which shall be established by law. But the congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.†

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SEC. 4. The president, vice president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ART. 3. SEC. 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.‡

SEC. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens, or subjects.

Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls,1 and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction.† In all the other cases, before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the congress shall make.‡

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as congress may by law have directed.

Sec. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason,

The third article of the constitution of the United States enables the judicial department to receive jurisdiction to the full extent of the constitution, laws and treaties of the United States, when any question respecting them shall asume such a form that the judicial power is capable of acting on it. That power is capable of acting, only when the subject is submitted to it by a party who asserts his rights in a form prescribed by law. It then becomes a case.

but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

Art. 4. Sec. 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.*

Sec. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states. A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.†

Sec. 3. New states may be admitted by the congress into this union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guaranty to every state in this union, a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature or of the executive (when the legislature can not be convened) against domestic violence.

Art. 5. The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or other mode of † Prieg v. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 16 Peters, 539. The clause in the constitution relating to fugitives from labor, manifestly contemplates the existence of a positive, unqualified right on the part of the owner of the slave, which no state law or regulation can in any way qualify, regulate, control, or restrain. Any law or regulation which interrupts, limits, delays, or postpones the rights of the owner to the immediate command of his service or labor, operates pro tanto, a discharge of the slave therefrom. The question can never be, how much he is discharged from; but whether he is discharged from any service by the natural and necessary operation of the state laws, or state regulations. The question is not one of quantity and degree, but of witholding or controlling the incidents of a positive right.

The owner of a fugitive slave has the same right to take him in a state to which he has escaped or fled, that he had in the state from which he escaped; and it is well known that this right to seizure or re-capture is universally acknowledged in all the slave-holding States. Ibid.
ratification may be proposed by the congress: provided, that no amendment, which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ART. 6. All debts contracted, and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this constitution, shall be as valid against the United States, under this constitution, as under the confederation.

This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ART. 7. The ratification of the conventions of nine states, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

And after the said third day of July next, all power and authority of the government of Wisconsin, in and over the territory hereby constituted, shall cease: provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now appertaining to any Indians within the said territory, so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished by treaty between the United States and such Indians, or to impair the obligations of any treaty now existing between the United States and such Indians, or to impair or in anywise to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulations respecting such Indians, their lands, property, or other rights, by treaty, or law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent to the government to make if this act had never been passed: provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing the territory hereby established into one or more other territories, in such manner and at such times, as congress shall, in its discretion deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over the said territory of Iowa, shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for three years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within the said territory, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs, and shall approve of all laws passed by the legislative assembly before they shall take effect; he may grant pardons for offenses against the laws of said territory, and reprieves for offenses against the law of the United States, until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of the said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States, he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the subsequent elections, shall be such as shall be determined by the legis-lateive assembly: provided, that the right of suffrage shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation; but no law prescribed by the laws of the territory of Wisconsin, or as may, after the first election, be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of Iowa territory. The governor shall nominate, and, by and with the ad-

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legisla-commission or appointment under the United States, or any of its offisaid territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate judges, any two of whom shall be a

And writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals in chancery causes, shall be allowed in all cases, from the final decisions of the said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case, removed to the supreme court, shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court may appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court by which he shall have been appointed. And writs of error and appeals from the final decision of the said supreme court shall be allowed and taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, shall exceed one thousand dollars. And each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States. And the first six days of every term of the said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws. And writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of the said courts, in all such cases, shall be made to the supreme court of the territory, in the same manner as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases, the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of Wisconsin territory now receive for similar services.

Sec. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be an attorney appointed, who shall continue in office four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the present territory of Wisconsin. He shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the present territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 4. The children of persons duly naturalized under any of the laws of the United States, or who, previous to the passing of any law on that subject by the government of the United States, may have become citizens of any one of the said states, under the laws thereof, being under the age of twenty-one years, at the time of their parents being so naturalized or admitted to the rights of citizenship, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens of the United States; and the children of persons who now are, or have been, citizens of the United States, shall, though born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, be considered as citizens of the United States.

The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states. Con. art. 4, sec. 2.

Citizens of the United States have a right to expatriate themselves in time of war as well as of peace, until restrained by congress. Such right is subject to the control of the legislature, and to render the exercise of it valid, there must be an entire departure from the United States for a purpose which is not illegal, nor in fraud of the duties at home of the emigrant. Talbott v. Jansen, 3 Dall., 133; Santissima Trinidad, 7 Wheat., 548; see United States v. Williams, 4 Hall's Law Journal, 461; United States v. Gillies, 1 Pet., 161.

A citizen of the United States by becoming a citizen of another country, does not thereby cease to be a citizen of the United States, nor is he absolved from his original allegiance; ibid. He may acquire in a foreign country the commercial privileges attached to his domicile, and be exempted from the operation of commercial acts embracing only persons resident in the United States or under its protection. An Act to prescribe the mode in which the Public Acts, Records and Judicial Proceedings in each state, shall be authenticated so as to take effect in every other state.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the acts of the legislatures of the several states shall be authenticated by having the seal of their respective states affixed thereto: that the records and judicial proceedings of the courts of any state, shall be proved or admitted in any other court within the United States, by the attestation of the clerk, and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of the judge, chief justice, or presiding magistrate, as the case may be, that the said attestation is in due form. And the said records and judicial proceedings authenticated as aforesaid, shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court within the United States, as they have by law or usage in the courts of the state from whence the said records are or shall be taken.*

Approved, May 26, 1790.

An Act supplementary to the act entitled "an Act to prescribe the mode in which the Public Acts, Records and Judicial Proceedings in each state shall be authenticated so as to take effect in every other state.”

* Art. 4, sec. 1, Constitution of the United States.—The decisions of the courts of the United States upon this statute, and on the introduction of evidence of the "acts, records, and judicial proceedings of the states,” have been:

Under the 4th article and 1st section of the constitution of the United States, and the act of 26th May, 1790, if a judgment has the effect of record evidence in the courts of the state from which it is taken, it has the same effect in the courts of every other state; and the plea of nil debet is not a good plea to an action brought upon such judgment in the court of another state. Mills v. Duryee, 7 Cranch, 483; 2 Cond. Rep., 578; see Lebow v. Wilkinson, 6 Peters, 317; United States v. Johns, 4 Dall., 412; Ferguson v. Harwood, 7 Cranch, 408; 2 Cond. Rep., 548; Drummond's administrators v. Morgan's trustees, 9 Cranch, 122; 3 Cond. Rep., 303.

Under the act of May 26, 1790, prescribing the mode in which the public records in each state shall be authenticated, so as to take effect in every other state, copies of the legislative acts of the several states, authenticated by having the seal of the state affixed thereto, are conclusive evidence of such acts in every other state. No other formality is required, than the annexation of the seal, and in the absence of all contrary proof, it must be presumed to have been done by an officer having custody thereof, and competent authority to do the act. United States v. Amesley, 11 Wheat., 392; 6 Cond. Rep., 362.

The record of a judgment in one state is conclusive in another, although it appears that the suit in which it was rendered was commenced by an attachment of property, the defendant having afterwards appeared and taken defense. Mayhew v. Thatcher, 6 Wheat., 129; 5 Cond. Rep., 34.

In an action upon a judgment, in another state, the defendant cannot plead any fact in bar which contradicts the record on which the suit is brought. Field v. Gibbs, Peters' C. C. R., 153; see Green v. Sacramento, Peters' C. C. R., 74; Blount v. Darrah, 4 Wash. C. C. R., 657; Turner v. Washington, 3 Wash. C. C. R., 126.
and after the passage of this act, all records and exemplifications of office books, which are or may be kept in any public office of any state, not appertaining to a court, shall be proved or admitted in any other court or office in any other state, by the attestation of the keeper of the said records or books, and the seal of his office thereto annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of the presiding justice of the court of the county or district, as the case may be, in which such office is or may be kept; or of the governor, the secretary of state, the chancellor or the keeper of the great seal of the state, that the said attestation is in due form, and by the proper officer; and the said certificate, if given by the presiding justice of a court, shall be further authenticated by the clerk or prothonotary of the said court, who shall certify under his hand and the seal of his office, that the said presiding justice is duly commissioned and qualified; or if the said certificate be given by the governor, the secretary of state, the chancellor or keeper of the great seal, it shall be under the great seal of the state in which the said certificate is made. And the said records and exemplifications, authenticated as aforesaid, shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court and office within the United States, as they have by law or usage in the courts or offices of the state from whence the same are, or shall be taken.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That all the provisions of this act, and the act to which this is a supplement, shall apply as well to the public acts, records, office books, judicial proceedings, courts and offices of the respective territories of the United States, and countries subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, as to the public acts, records, office books, judicial proceedings, courts and offices of the several states.

Approved, March 27, 1804.
Preamble. We, the People of the State of Iowa, grateful to the Supreme Being for the blessings hitherto enjoyed, and feeling our dependence on Him for a continuation of those blessings, do ordain and establish a free and independent government, by the name of the State of Iowa, the boundaries whereof shall be as follows:

Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river, at a point due east of the middle of the mouth of the main channel of the Des Moines river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines river, to a point on said river where the northern boundary line of the state of Missouri—as established by the constitution of that state, adopted June 12th, 1820—crosses the said middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines river; thence westwardly along the said northern boundary line of the state of Missouri, as established at the time aforesaid, until an extension of said line intersects the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Missouri river to a point opposite the middle of the main channel of the Big Sioux river, according to Nicollett's map; thence up the main channel of the said Big Sioux river, according to the said map, until it is intersected by the parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes north latitude; thence east along said parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes, until said parallel intersects the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence down the middle of the main channel of the said Mississippi river to the place of beginning.

SEC. 26. No law of the general assembly, passed at a regular session, of a public nature, shall take effect until the fourth day of July next after the passage thereof. Oath of members.
Sec. 32. Members of the general assembly shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear, (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Iowa, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of senator, (or representative, as the case may be,) according to the best of my ability." The general assembly, at the first session under this constitution, shall district the state into eleven judicial districts, for district court purposes; and shall also provide for the apportionment of the members of the general assembly in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

SEC. 13. This constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, in the several election districts in this state. The ballots at such election shall be written or printed as follows: those in favor of the constitution, "new constitution—yes." Those against the constitution, "new constitution—no." The election shall be conducted in the same manner as the general elections of the state, and the poll-books shall be returned and canvassed as provided in the twenty-fifth chapter of the code, and abstracts shall be forwarded to the secretary of state, which abstracts shall be canvassed in the manner provided for the canvass of state officers. And if it shall appear that a majority of all the votes cast at such election for and against this constitution are in favor of the same, the governor shall immediately issue his proclamation stating that fact, and such constitution shall be the constitution of the state of Iowa, and shall take effect from and after the publication of said proclamation.

SEC. 14. At the same election that this constitution is submitted to the people for its adoption or rejection, a proposition to amend the same by striking out the word "white," from the article on the "right of suffrage," shall be separately submitted to the electors of this state for adoption or rejection, in the manner following, viz: a separate ballot may be given by every person having a right to vote at said election, to be deposited in a separate box. And those given for the adoption of such proposition shall have the words, "shall the word 'white' be stricken out of the article on the 'right of suffrage?' yes." And those given against the proposition shall have the words "shall the word 'white' be stricken out of the article on the 'right of suffrage?' no." And if at said election the number of ballots cast in favor of said proposition, shall be equal to a majority of those cast for and against this constitution, then said word "white" shall be stricken from said article and be no part thereof.

Sec. 15. Until otherwise directed by law, the county of Mills shall be in and a part of the sixth judicial district of this state.

Done in convention at Iowa City, this fifth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America, the eighty-first.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names:
