13845 Mode and manner of trial. All the provisions relating to mode and manner of the trial of civil actions, report thereof, translation of the shorthand reporter's notes, the making such report and translation a part of the record, and in all other respects, apply to the trial of criminal actions. [R60, §4809; C73, §4456; C97, §5371; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13845.]

13846 Order of trial. The jury having been impaneled and sworn, the trial must proceed in the following order:

1. Reading indictment and plea. The clerk or county attorney must read the indictment and state the defendant's plea to the jury.

2. Statement of state's evidence. The county attorney may briefly state the evidence by which he expects to sustain the indictment.

3. Statement of defendant's evidence. The attorney for the defendant may then briefly state his defense, and the evidence by which he expects to sustain it.

4. Offer of state's evidence. The state may then offer the evidence in support of the indictment.

5. Offer of defendant's evidence. The defendant or his counsel may then offer his evidence in support of his defense.

6. Rebutting or additional evidence. The parties may then, respectively, offer rebutting evidence only, unless the court, for good reasons, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case. [C51, §2991; R60, §4785; C73, §4420; C97, §5372; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13846.]

13847 Arguments. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted to the jury on both sides without argument, the county attorney must commence, the defendant follow by one or two counsel, at his option, unless the court permit him to be heard by a larger number, and the county attorney conclude, confining himself to a response to the arguments of the defendant's counsel. Where two or more defendants are on trial for the same offense, they may be heard by one counsel each. [R60, §4785; C73, §4420; C97, §5372; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13847.]

13848 Closing argument by defendant. When the affirmative of the issue is with the defendant, the court may, in its discretion, award to the defendant the last argument. [R60,§4785; C73,§4420; C97,§5372; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13848.]

Referred to in §13855

13849 Time for argument. The court shall not restrict counsel as to time in their arguments to the jury. [R60,§4788; C73, §4423; C97, §5372; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13849.]

Similar provision, §11400

13850 Instructions. Upon the conclusion of the arguments, the court shall charge the jury in writing, without oral explanation or qualification, stating the law of the case. [R60, §4785; C73, §4420; C97, §5372; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13850.]

13851 Notice of additional testimony. The county attorney, in offering the evidence in support of the indictment in the order prescribed in section 13846, shall not be permitted to introduce any witness who was not examined before a committing magistrate or the grand jury, and the minutes of whose testimony were not presented with the indictment to the court, unless he shall have given to the defendant, or his attorney of record if the defendant be not found within the county, a notice in writing stating the name, place of residence, and occupation of such witness, and the substance of what he expects to prove by him on the trial, at least four days before the commencement of such trial. [R60, §4786; C73, §4421; C97, §5373; S13, §5373; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13851.]

S13, §5373, editorially divided

13856 View of premises by jury. When the court is of the opinion that it is proper the jury should view the place in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or in which any other material fact occurred, it may order the jury to be conducted in a body, in the custody of proper officers, to the place, which shall be shown them by a person appointed by the court for that purpose. [C51, §3009; R60, §4800; C73, §4432; C97, §5380; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13856.]

13857 Officer sworn. The officers must be sworn to suffer no person to speak to or communicate with the jury on any subject connected with the trial, nor to do so themselves, except the person appointed by the court for that purpose, and that only to show the place to be viewed, and to return them into court without unnecessary delay at a specified time. [R60, §4800; C73, §4432; C97, §5380; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13857.]

13858 Juror as witness—grounds to set aside verdict. If a juror have personal knowledge respecting a fact in controversy in a cause, he must declare the same in open court during the trial, and if, during the retirement of the jury, a juror declares any fact which could be evidence in the cause, as of his own knowledge, the jury must return into court, and the juror must be sworn as a witness and examined in the presence of the parties, if his evidence be admissible; and in support of a motion to set aside a verdict, proof of such declaration may be made by any juror. [C51, §3010; R60, §4801; C73, §4433; C97, §5381; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13858.]

Applicable in civil cases, §11496.1

Similar provision, §11400

$13862, Ch 645, T. XXXVI, TRIAL

13862 Admonition as to communications. The jury, whether permitted to separate or kept together in charge of sworn officers, must be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to permit any person to speak to or communicate with them on any subject connected with the trial, and that any and all attempts to do so should be immediately reported by them to the court, and that they should not converse among themselves on any subject connected with the trial, or form or express an opinion thereon, until the cause is finally submitted to them. [C51, §3012; R60, §4803; C73, §4435; C97, §5385; C24, 27, 31, 35, $13862.]

13866 Higher offense proved — procedure. If it appears by the testimony that the facts proved constitute an offense of a higher nature than that charged in the indictment, the court may direct the jury to be discharged and all proceedings on the indictment to be suspended, and order the defendant to be committed or continued on bail to answer any new indictment which may be found against him for the higher offense. [C51, §3000; R60, §4791; C73, §4430; C97, §5378; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13866.]

13868 Lack of jurisdiction — no offense charged. The court may also discharge the jury where it appears that it has not jurisdiction of the offense, or that the facts as charged in the indictment do not constitute an offense punishable by law. [C51, §3002; R60, §4793; C73, §4444; C97, §5389; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13868.]

13869 Crime committed in another state. If the jury be discharged because the court has not jurisdiction of the offense charged in the indictment, and it appears that it was committed out of the jurisdiction of this state, the defendant must be discharged, or ordered to be retained in custody a reasonable time until the county attorney shall have a reasonable opportunity to inform the chief executive of the state in which the offense was committed of the facts, and for said officer to require the delivery of the offender. [C51, §3003; R60, §4794; C73, §4445; C97, §5390; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13869.]

13870 Crime committed in another county. If the offense was committed within the exclusive jurisdiction of another county of this state, the court must direct the defendant to be committed for such time as shall be reasonable to await a warrant from the proper county for his arrest, or, if the offense be bailable, he may be admitted to bail in an undertaking with sufficient sureties that he will, within such time as the court may appoint, render himself amenable to a warrant for his arrest from the proper county, and, if not sooner arrested thereon, will attend at the office of the sheriff of the county where the trial was had, at a certain time particularly designated in the undertaking, to surrender himself upon the warrant, if issued, or that the bail will forfeit such sum as the court may fix, to be mentioned in the undertaking. [C51, §3004; R60, §4795; C73, §4446; C97, §5391; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13870.]

13874 No offense charged — resubmission. If the jury be discharged because the facts set forth do not constitute an offense punishable by law, the court must order the defendant discharged and his bail, if any, exonerated, or, if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the money deposited be refunded, unless in its opinion a new indictment can be framed upon which the defendant can be legally convicted, in which case the court may direct that the case be submitted to the same or another grand jury. [C51, §3008; R60, §4799; C73, §4450; C97, §5935; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13879.]

13878 Officers sworn. If they do not agree without retiring, one or more officers must be sworn to keep them together in some private and convenient place without food or drink, water excepted, unless directed by the court, and not to suffer any person to speak to or communicate with them, nor speak to or communicate with them themselves except to ask them whether they have agreed upon their verdict, and not to communicate to anyone the state of their deliberation or the verdict agreed upon, until after the same shall have been declared in open court, and received by the court, and to return them into court when they shall have so agreed upon their verdict, unless, by permission of the court, they be sooner discharged. [C51, §3019; R60, §4815; C73, §4442; C97, §5387; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13879.]

It shall be lawful for the sheriff of any county or the chief of police in any city in this state, to take or procure the taking of the photograph of any person held to answer on a charge of any felony, such person being in the custody of such officer, or to make and record any measurements of such prisoner, by the Bertillon or other system, and to exchange such photographs, or measurements, or copies of the same, with other sheriffs and police officers, or to distribute the same by mail for the purpose of securing evidence for the identification of such person held to answer, if the identity and past record of the said person are unknown to him; and the cost of such photographs and measurements, and of distributing the same, may be allowed by the court as a part of the costs in the case. [§13, §5499-a; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13904.]

CHAPTER 648
INTOXICATION OF DEFENDANT DURING TRIAL

13905 Doubt as to sanity—procedure.
13906 Method of trial.
13907 Finding of insanity—discharge.

13906 Method of trial. Such trial shall be conducted in all respects, so far as may be, as the prosecution itself would be, except the defendant shall hold the burden of proof, and first offer his evidence and have the opening and closing argument. [R60, §5017; C73, §4622; C97, §5541; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13906.]

13908 Restored to reason—return to custody.
13909 Insanity after commitment to jail.

13908 Restored to reason—returned to custody. If the accused is committed to the department for the criminal insane, as soon as he becomes mentally restored, the person in charge shall at once give notice to the sheriff and county attorney of the proper county of such fact, and the sheriff, without delay, must receive and hold him in custody until he is brought to trial or judgment, as the case may be, or is legally discharged, the expenses for conveying and returning him, or any other, to be paid in the first instance by the county from which he is sent, but such county may recover the same from his estate, or a relative, or another county or municipal body bound to provide for or maintain him elsewhere, and the sheriff shall be allowed for his services the same fees as are allowed for conveying convicts to the penitentiary. [C51, §§3264-3267; R60, §§5020-5023; C73, §§4625-4628; C97, §§5543; C24, 27, 31, 35, §§13908.]

Referred to in §13909

CHAPTER 649
JURY AFTER SUBMISSION

13910 Papers taken by jury.
13911 Report for information.
13912 Discharge of jury—grounds.

13910 Papers taken by jury. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury may take with it all papers which have been received in evidence, except depositions, and copies of such parts of public records or private documents as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession, also any notes of the testimony or other proceedings taken in the trial by themselves or any of them. [C51, §§3021, 3022; R60, §§4817, 4818; C73, §§4452, 4453; C97, §§5397; C24, 27, 31, 35, §§13910.]

Similar provision, §§11499, 11500

Similar provision, §§11506

13912 Discharge of jury—grounds. If, after retirement, one of the jury is taken sick so as to prevent further deliberation, or any other accident or cause occurs to prevent its being kept together, the court may discharge it; otherwise the jury cannot be discharged after the cause is submitted to it until it has agreed upon its verdict and rendered it in open court, unless, by the consent of both parties entered upon the record, or unless, at the expiration of such time as the court may deem proper, it satisfactorily appears that there is no reasonable probability that it can agree. [C51, §§3024, 3025; R60, §§4820, 4821; C73, §§4455, 4456; C97, §§5399; C24, 27, 31, 35, §§13912.]

Similar provisions, §§11499, 11500

13913 Retrial—when allowed. In all cases where a jury is discharged or prevented from giving a verdict, except where the defendant is discharged during the progress of the trial, or after submission to it, the cause may be again tried at the same or another term of the court. [C51, §3026; R60, §§4822, 4823; C73, §§4457; C97, §§4000, C24, 27, 31, 35, §§13913.]

Similar provision, §§11501

13914 Adjournment pending deliberation—effect. While the jury is absent, the court may adjourn from time to time as to other business, but it shall be nevertheless deemed open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury until a verdict is rendered or the jury is discharged, but a final adjournment of the court discharges the jury. [C51, §§3027, 3028; R60, §§4823, 4824; C73, §§4458, 4459; C97, §§4001; C24, 27, 31, 35, §§13914.]

Similar provision, §§11504

13931 Defendant discharged on acquittal.
13932 Acquittal on ground of insanity—commitment.
13915 General and special verdicts. The jury must render a general verdict of "guilty" or "not guilty", which imports a conviction or acquittal on every material allegation in the indictment, except upon a plea of former conviction or acquittal of the same offense, in which case it shall be "for the state" or "for the defendant", and except in cases submitted to determine the grade of the offense and, when authorized, fixing the punishment therefor. [C51, §§3052-3087; R60, §§4828-4833; C73, §§4463, 4464, 4474-4477; C97, §5405; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13915.]

13916 Answers to interrogatories. It must also return with the general verdict answers to special interrogatories submitted by the court upon its own motion, or at the request of the defendant, fixing the punishment therefor. [C73, §4467; C97, §5408; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13916.]

In civil cases, §11513

13919 Finding offense of different degree. Upon an indictment for an offense consisting of different degrees, the jury may find the defendant not guilty of the degree charged in the indictment, and guilty of any degree inferior thereto, or of an attempt to commit the offense, if punishable by indictment. [C51, §2918; R60, §4855; C73, §4465; C97, §5406; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13919.]

13920 Finding included offense. In all other cases, the defendant may be found guilty of an offense included in that with which he is charged in the indictment. [C51, §3059; R60, §4836; C73, §4466; C97, §5407; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13920.]

13921 Verdict against one of several. On an indictment against several, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, it may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom it does agree, upon which a judgment shall be entered accordingly, and the case as to the rest may be tried by another jury. [C51, §3040; R60, §4837; C73, §4467; C97, §5408; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13921.]

Similar provisions, §§11508, 11509

13925 Verdict rendered. When the members of the jury have answered to their names, the court or the clerk shall ask them whether they have agreed upon the verdict, and if the former answers in the affirmative they must declare the same. [C51, §3031; R60, §4827; C73, §4462; C97, §5404; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13925.]

13928 Certainty in verdict required. No judgment of conviction can be given unless the jury expressly finds against the defendant upon the issue, or judgment is given against him upon a special verdict. [C51, §3042; R60, §4839; C73, §4469; C97, §5410; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13928.]

13929 Jury polled. When a verdict is rendered, and before it is recorded, the jury may be polled on the requirement of either party; in which case each member thereof shall be asked whether it is his verdict, and if anyone answers in the negative the jury must be sent out for further deliberation. [C51, §§3043; R60, §4840; C73, §4470; C97, §5411; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13929.]

Similar provision, §11509

13930 Reading and entry of verdict — disagreement. When the verdict is given and is such as the court may receive, the clerk may immediately enter it in full upon the record, and must read it to the jury, and inquire of the members thereof whether it is their verdict. If any juror disagrees, the fact must be entered upon the record and the jury again sent out. But if no disagreement is expressed, the verdict is complete and the jury must be discharged from the case. [R60, §4841; C73, §4471; C97, §5412; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13930.]
§13933, Ch 651, T. XXXVI, EXCEPTIONS 2038

Similar provisions, §§11508, 18922

13931 Defendant discharged on acquittal. If judgment of acquittal is given on a general verdict, and the defendant is not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the judgment is given. [C51, §3045; R60, §4843; C73, §4473; C97, §5413; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13931.]

13932 Acquittal on ground of insanity—commitment. If the defense is insanity of the defendant, the jury must be instructed, if it acquits him on that ground, to state that fact in its verdict. The court may thereupon, if the defendant is in custody, and his discharge is found to be dangerous to the public peace and safety, order him committed to the insane hospital, or retained in custody, until he becomes sane. [C51, §3044; R60, §4842; C73, §4472; C97, §5414; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13932.]

CHAPTER 651

13934 What constitutes record—exceptions unnecessary.

13935 Grounds for exceptions.

13936 Action affecting substantial right.

13937 Bill by judge.

13938 Bill by bystanders.

13939 Time to approve bill.

13940 Modification of bill.

13941 Time allowed to prepare bill.

13933 Bill of exceptions—purpose. The office of a bill of exceptions is to make the proceedings or evidence appear of record which would not otherwise so appear. [R60, §4846; C73, §4481; C97, §5416; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13933.]

13934 What constitutes record—exceptions unnecessary. All papers pertaining to the cause and filed with the clerk, and all entries made by him in the record book pertaining to them, and showing the action or decision of the court upon them or any part of them, and the judgment, are to be deemed parts of the record, and it is not necessary to except to any action or decision of the court so appearing of record. [R60, §4847; C73, §4482; C97, §5417; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13934.]

13935 Grounds for exceptions. On the trial of an indictment, exceptions may be taken by the state or by the defendant to any decision of the court upon matters of law, in any of the following cases:

1. In disallowing a challenge to an individual juror.

2. In admitting or rejecting witnesses or evidence on the trial of any challenge.

3. In admitting or rejecting witnesses or evidence.

4. In deciding any matter of law, not purely discretionary on the trial of the issue. [C51, §3046; R60, §4848; C73, §4483; C97, §5418; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13935.]

C97, §5418, editorially divided.

13936 Action affecting substantial right. Exceptions may also be taken to any action or decision of the court which affects any other material or substantial right of either party, whether before or after the trial of the indictment, or on the trial. [R60, §4849; C73, §4484; C97, §5419; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13936.]

Similar provision, §11508.

13937 Bill by judge. Either party may take an exception to any decision or action of the court, in any stage of the proceedings, not required to be and not entered in the record book, and reduce the same to writing, and tender the same to the judge, who shall sign it if true, and if signed it shall be filed with the clerk and become a part of the record of the cause. [C51, §3047; R60, §4848; C73, §4483; C97, §5418; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13937.]

C97, §5418, editorially divided.

13938 Bill by bystanders. If the judge refuses to sign it, such refusal must be stated at the end thereof, and it may then be signed by two or more attorneys or officers of the court or disinterested bystanders, and sworn to by them, and filed with the clerk, and it shall thereupon become a part of the record of the cause. [R60, §4848; C73, §4483; C97, §5418; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13938.]

13939 Time to approve bill. The judge shall be allowed one clear day to examine the bill of exceptions, and the party excepting shall be allowed three clear days thereafter to procure the signatures and file the same. [R60, §4849; C73, §4484; C97, §5419; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13939.]

13940 Modification of bill. If the judge and the party excepting can agree in modifying the bill of exceptions, it shall be modified accordingly. [R60, §4850; C73, §4485; C97, §5420; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13940.]

13941 Time allowed to prepare bill. Time must be given to prepare the bill of exceptions when it is necessary; if it can reasonably be done, it shall be settled at the time of taking the exception. [R60, §4851; C73, §4486; C97, §5421; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13941.]

C97, §5421, editorially divided.
CHAPTER 652

NEW TRIAL

13942 Definition. A new trial is a re-examination of the issue in the same court before another jury, after a verdict has been given. [C51, §3050; R60, §4852; C73, §4487; C97, §5422; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13942.]

13943 Application—when made. The application for a new trial can be made only by the defendant, and must be made before judgment. [C51, §3053; R60, §4855; C73, §4490; C97, §5425; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13943.]

13944 Grounds. The court may grant a new trial for the following causes, or any of them:

1. When the trial has been had in the absence of the defendant, if the indictment be for a felony.
2. When the jury has received any evidence, paper, or document out of court not authorized by the court.
3. When the jury have separated without leave of the court, after retiring to deliberate upon their verdict, or have been guilty of any misconduct tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case.
4. When the verdict has been decided by lot, or by means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors.
5. When the court has misdirected the jury in a material matter of law.
6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence; but no more than two new trials shall be granted for this cause alone.
7. When the court has refused properly to instruct the jury.
8. When from any other cause the defendant has not received a fair and impartial trial. [C51, §3052; R60, §4854; C73, §4489; C97, §5424; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13944.]

13945 Effect of a new trial. The granting of a new trial places the parties in the same position as if no trial had been had; all the testimony must be produced anew and the former verdict cannot be used or referred to either in the evidence or in argument. [C51, §3051; R60, §4853; C73, §4488; C97, §5423; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13945.]

CHAPTER 653

ARREST OF JUDGMENT

13946 “Motion in arrest” defined—grounds.

13947 Time of making motion. A motion in arrest of judgment is an application to the court in which the trial was had, on the part of the defendant, that no legal judgment be rendered upon a verdict against him, or on a plea of guilty, and shall be granted when upon the whole record no legal judgment can be pronounced. [C51, §3054; R60, §4856; C73, §4491; C97, §5426; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13946.]

13948 On motion of court. The motion may be made at any time before or after judgment, during the same term. [R60, §4859; C73, §4494; C97, §5429; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13947.]

13949 Defendant held to answer. If the court is of opinion from the evidence on the trial that the defendant is guilty of a public offense of which no legal conviction can be had on the indictment, he may be held to answer the offense in like manner as upon a preliminary examination. [C51, §3057; R60, §4858; C73, §4493; C97, §5428; C24, 27, 31, 35, §13949.]

§13951 Judgment of conviction—time for. Upon a plea of guilty, verdict of guilty, or a special verdict upon which a judgment of conviction must be rendered, the court must fix a time for pronouncing judgment, which must be at least three days after the verdict is rendered, if the court remains in session so long, or, if not, as remote a time as can reasonably be allowed; but in no case can it be pronounced in less than six hours after the verdict is rendered, unless defendant consent thereto. [C51,§3065; R60,§4870; C73,§4503; C97,§5431; C24, 27, 31, 35,§13951.]

Suspension of sentence, §8800 et seq.

§13952 Presence of defendant. When judgment is pronounced, if the conviction be for a felony, the defendant must be personally present; if for a misdemeanor, he need not. [C51,§3065; R60,§4863; C73,§4497; C97,§5432; C24, 27, 31, 35,§13952.]

§13953 Forfeiture of bail—warrant of arrest. If the defendant has been discharged on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear for judgment when his personal appearance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the undertaking of bail or money deposited, may make an order directing the clerk, on the application of the county attorney at any time thereafter, to issue a warrant into one or more counties for his arrest, which may be substantially in the following form:

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at my office in . . . , in said county, this . . . day of . . . , A . . .

14009 Rules of procedure. The record and case may be presented in the supreme court by printed abstracts, arguments, motions, and petitions for rehearing as provided by its rules; and the provisions of law in civil procedure relating to certification of the record and the filing of decisions and opinions of the supreme court shall apply in such cases. [C97, §§5461; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14009.]

14010 Decision of supreme court. If the appeal is taken by the defendant, the supreme court must examine the record, without regard to technical errors or defects which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties, and render such judgment on the record as the law demands; it may affirm, reverse, or modify the judgment, or render such judgment as the district court should have done, or order a new trial, or reduce the punishment, but cannot increase it. [C51, §§3097, 3098; R60, §4925; C73, §4538; C97, §5462; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14010.]

In case the judgment of the trial court is reversed or modified in favor of the defendant, on the appeal of defendant, he shall be entitled to recover the cost of printing abstract and briefs, not exceeding one dollar for each page thereof, to be paid by the county from which the appeal was taken. [C97, §5462; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14011.]

14012 Decisions in appeals by state. If the state appeals, the supreme court cannot reverse or modify the judgment so as to increase the punishment, but may affirm it, and shall point out any error in the proceedings or in the measure of punishment, and its decision shall be obligatory as law. [R60, §4926; C73, §4539; C97, §5463; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14012.]

14013 Reversal—effect. If a judgment against the defendant is reversed, such reversal shall be deemed an order for a new trial, unless the supreme court shall direct that the defendant be discharged and his bail exonerated, or if money be deposited instead, that it be refunded to him. [C51, §§3099; R60, §4927; C73, §4540; C97, §5464; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14013.]

14019 Compromisable offenses.

14020 Procedure. When a defendant is prosecuted in a criminal action for a misdemeanor, for which the person injured by the act constituting the offense has a remedy by a civil action, the offense may be compromised as provided in section 14020, except when it was committed:

1. By or upon an officer while in the execution of the duties of his office;
2. Riotously; or,
3. With an intent to commit a felony. [R60, §5107; C73, §4710; C97, §5624; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14021.]

14024 Delay in trial. [C51, §8249; R60, §5008; C73, §4614; C97, §5536; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14024.]

14025 Discharge on undertaking. If the defendant be not indicted or tried as above provided, and sufficient reason therefor is shown, the court may order the prosecution continued from term to term, and discharge the defendant from custody on his own undertaking, or on the undertaking of bail for his appearance to answer the charge at the time to which the same is continued, but no continuance under this section shall be extended beyond the following three terms of the court. [C51, §3250; R60, §5009; C73, §4615; C97, §5537; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14025.]

14027 Dismissal by court—effect. The court, upon its own motion or the application of the county attorney, in the furtherance of justice, may order the dismissal of any pending criminal prosecution, the reasons therefor being stated in the order and entered of record, and no such prosecution shall be discontinued or abandoned in any other manner. Such a dismissal is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense if it is a misdemeanor; but it is not a bar if the offense charged be a felony. [C51, §§3251, 3252; R60, §§5011–5013; C73, §§4617–4619; C97, §5539; C24, 27, 31, 35, §14027.]

STATUTES AND RULES
REGULATING PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE IN THE
SUPREME COURT OF IOWA

ORGANIZATION

CODE 12801 The supreme court shall consist of nine judges, five of whom shall constitute a quorum to hold court, but one alone thereof may adjourn from day to day or to a certain day or until the next term.

DIVISION OF COURT

CODE 12802 The supreme court may be divided into two sections in such manner as it may by rule prescribe. Said sections may hold open court separately and cases may be submitted to each section separately, in accordance with such rules as the court may adopt.

Rule 1 The supreme court shall be divided into two divisions to be known as the first and second. Each division shall consist of four judges and the chief justice. The personnel of the divisions shall not be permanent, but may be changed from time to time by the chief justice as exigencies may arise, or by affirmative vote by a majority of the justices.

Rule 2 Each division shall, except as hereinafter provided, hear and determine all motions and cases submitted to it, and all petitions for rehearing in cases decided by it, including motions for decrees to retax costs, and all other interlocutory matters.

Rule 3 All cases or other matters passed to another period shall go to and be heard by the division to which the cause was originally assigned; and causes or other matters "passed to last period" shall also be heard by the division to which the case was originally assigned, save where the matter is for the full bench, when it shall be passed to the last period and be heard at that time. The parties waive oral argument in all cases passed from one period to another of the term, except cases ordered submitted to the full bench.

Rule 4 Should there be a difference of opinion among the members of either division as to how a case should be decided, or as to the facts or the rules of law applicable thereto, any member of that division, or the chief justice, on his own motion, may call the other division and the division thus called in shall consider the case and take part in the decision.

Rule 5 Should a member of a division get behind, make such a division of the cases for any period as will equalize matters between the two divisions.

Rule 6 Consultation may be had between the divisions at any time upon cases pending on motions, for original submission, or upon petitions for rehearing, upon request of any member of the court.

Rule 7 Where a chief justice retires and is re-elected, he shall take his place with the division from which his successor comes, and, if a new man takes his place, he too shall be assigned to the division from which the then chief justice is taken.

CHIEF JUSTICE

CODE 12804 Of the elected judges whose terms of office first expire, the senior in time of service shall be chief justice for six months and so on in rotation until all such judges shall have been chief justice. If two or more judges, who would otherwise be entitled to the position, are equal in time of service, then the right to the position and the order in which they shall serve shall be determined by seniority in age. At the last term of each year, the supreme court shall determine and enter of record who, under this statute, shall be chief justice for the six months' period beginning on January first thereafter. Likewise at the May term in each year and on or before June thirtieth, the supreme court shall determine and enter of record who, under this statute, shall be chief justice for the last six months of the year.

The presiding chief justice shall appoint one of the other members of the court to act in his place and stead in case of his absence or inability to act and, when so acting, such member shall have all the rights, duties and powers given by statute to the chief justice of the supreme court.

Rule 7-a In case the chief justice is absent or ill or from any other disability is unable to act, he shall select some other member of the court to act as chief during his absence or disability, and in the event he is unable to make such selection, the court shall select one of its other members to act during the pendency of such disability.

In case the judge determined to be eligible as chief justice under the provisions of code section 12804, waives his right to the position and declines to act as chief justice, then the next judge eligible to said position under the provisions of said section of the code shall be selected to such position for the period of six months, and shall then be succeeded by the next judge entitled to said position under said statute.

FULL BENCH

Rule 8 All cases involving constitutional questions shall, upon timely application by either litigant, be heard by the full bench.

Rule 9 Any case may upon motion supported by showing be ordered by the court or the chief justice submitted to the full bench, or the court may, on its own motion, order such submission.

Rule 10 Assignment shall also be made of all motions, cases for original submission, and petitions for rehearing which are to go to the full bench, all under the orders and directions of the chief justice.

JURISDICTION

CONST., ART. V, Sec. 4 The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction only in cases in chancery, and shall constitute a court for the correction of errors at law, under such restrictions as the general assembly may by law prescribe; and shall have power to issue all writs and process necessary to secure justice to parties, and exercise a supervisory control over all inferior judicial tribunals throughout the state.

CODE Sec. 12822 The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction over all judgments and decisions of all courts of record, except as otherwise provided by law.

CODE Sec. 12823 An appeal may also be taken to the supreme court from:
1. An order made affecting a substantial right in an action, when such order, in effect, determines the action and prevents a judgment from which an appeal might be taken.
2. A final order made in special actions affecting a substantial right therein, or made on a summary application in an action after judgment.
3. An order which grants or refuses, continues or modifies, a provisional remedy; grants or refuses, dissolves or refuses to dissolve, an injunction or attachment; grants or refuses a new trial; sustains or overrules a demurrer in a law action; or sustains or overrules a motion to dismiss in an equitable action.
4. An intermediate order involving the merits or materially affecting the final decision.
5. An order or judgment on habeas corpus.

CODE Sec. 12824 If any of the above orders or judgments are made or rendered by a judge, the same are reviewable the same as if made by a court.

CODE Sec. 12828 The supreme court on appeal may review and reverse any judgment or order of the municipal, superior, or district court, although no motion for a new trial was made in such court.

CODE Sec. 12831 The court may issue all writs and processes necessary for the exercise and enforcement of its appellate jurisdiction.

CODE Sec. 12879 The supreme court may enforce its mandates upon inferior courts and officers by fine and imprisonment, which imprisonment may be continued until obeyed.

CODE Sec. 12885 All objections to the jurisdiction of the court to entertain an appeal must be made in written form stating specifically the ground thereof and served upon the appellant or his attorney of record not less than ten days before the date assigned for the submission of the cause.

TERMS

CODE Sec. 12805 The supreme court shall be held at the seat of government, and shall convene and hold three regular terms each year. The first term shall begin with the second Tuesday of January and end with the first Monday of May; the second shall begin with the first Tuesday after the first Monday of May and end with the third Monday of September; and the third shall begin with the first Tuesday after the third Monday of September and end with the third Saturday of December.

CODE Sec. 12806 Each of said terms of court shall be for the submission and determination of causes, and for the transaction of such other business as shall properly come before the court. All causes on the docket shall be heard at each term, unless continued or otherwise disposed of by order of the court. The court shall remain in session, so far as practicable, until it is determined what the opinion of the court shall be in all causes submitted to it, except in causes where reargument is ordered. Judgments of affirmation, rulings, and orders in causes submitted, and orders authorized by law may be made and entered by the court at any time, regardless of the terms of court.

Rule 11 Each term shall be so divided into periods that the last shall be for the consideration, by the full bench, of all motions, cases on original submission, petitions for rehearing, and other matters properly referable thereto; and all other periods shall be so divided that one division shall sit on the first Tuesday of the period for the submission of such motions, cases, and petitions for rehearing and other matters, as may be assigned to it, and the other shall sit for the hearing of matters assigned to it, on the second Tuesday of each period. And, to equalize the work, cases assigned for each period shall be disposed of as nearly as practicable, into two equal parts, save that all cases and other matters for consideration by the entire bench shall be assigned for the last period of the term.

APPEALS IN CIVIL CASES

CODE Sec. 12832. Appeals from the district, superior, and municipal courts may be taken to the supreme court at any time within four months except as hereafter provided from the date of the entry of record of the judgment or order appealed from, and not afterwards; but, when a motion for new trial, or in arrest of judgment, or for judgment notwithstanding the verdict has been filed, such time for appeal shall be automatically extended so as to permit the same at any time within sixty days after the entry of the ruling upon such motion.

CODE Sec. 12832.1 If the action challenges the legality, validity or constitutionality of a proposed constitutional amendment, notice of appeal may be taken within three days from and after the entry of the decree in district court, and not afterwards.

Code Sec. 12833 No appeal shall be taken in any cause in which the amount in controversy between the parties as shown by the pleadings does not exceed one hundred dollars, unless the trial judge shall, during the term in which judgment or order is entered, certify that the cause is one in which the appeal should be allowed. Upon such certificate being filed the same shall be appealable regardless of the amount in controversy. Said limitation shall not affect the right of appeal in any action in which an interest in real estate is involved, nor shall the right of appeal be affected by the remission of any part of the verdict or judgment returned or rendered.

Code Sec. 12828 The supreme court on appeal may review and reverse any judgment or order of the municipal, superior, or district court, although no motion for a new trial was made in such court.

Code Sec. 12834 A part of several coparties may appeal, but in such case they must serve notice of such appeal upon those not joining therein, and file proof thereof with the clerk of the court from which the appeal is taken.

Code Sec. 12835 Coparties, refusing to join in an appeal, cannot afterwards appeal, or derive any benefit therefrom, unless from the necessity of the case, but they shall be held to have joined, and be liable for their proportion of the costs unless they appear and object thereto.

Code Sec. 12837 An appeal is taken and perfected by the service of a notice in writing on the adverse party, his agent, or any attorney who appeared for him in the case in the court below, and by filing said notice with return of service indorsed thereon or attached thereto with the clerk of the court wherein the proceedings were had, stating the appeal from the same, or from some specific part thereof, defining such part.

Code Sec. 12838 When such service cannot be made the trial court or judge on application shall direct what notice shall be sufficient.

Code Sec. 12839 Notice of appeal shall not be held insufficient because served before the clerk of the trial court has spread the judgment entry upon the court record if it shall appear that such entry has been made in proper form before the appellant's abstract was filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court.

Code Sec. 12840 A notice of appeal shall be served and return made thereon in the same manner as an original notice in a civil action.

Code Sec. 12841 All other notices connected with or growing out of the appeal shall be served and the return made in like manner, and filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court.

Code Sec. 12842 All notices provided for in sections 12840 and 12841 become a part of the record in the case on being filed.

Code Sec. 12884 The death of one or all of the parties shall not cause the proceedings to abate, but the names of the proper persons shall be substituted, as is provided in such cases in the district court, and the case may proceed. The court may also, in such case, grant a continuance when such a course will be calculated to promote the ends of justice.

Rule 12 The attorneys and guardians ad litem of the respective parties in the court below shall be deemed the attorneys and guardians of the same parties respectively in this court until others are retained or appointed and notice thereof served on the adverse party.

Supersedeas Bonds

Code Sec. 12858 No proceedings under a judgment or order, or any part thereof, shall be stayed by an appeal, unless the appellant executes a bond with one or more sureties, to be filed with and approved by the clerk of the court in which the judgment or order was rendered or made, to the effect that he will pay to the appellee all costs and damages that shall be adjudged against him on the appeal; and will satisfy and perform the judgment or order appealed from in case it shall be affirmed, and any judgment or order which the supreme court may render, or order to be rendered by the inferior court, not exceeding in amount or value the original judgment or order, and all rents of or damages to property during the pendency of the appeal out of the possession of which the appellee is kept by reason of the appeal.

Code Sec. 12859 If the bond is intended to stay proceedings on only a part of the judgment or order, it shall be varied so as to secure the part stayed alone.

Code Sec. 12860 When thus filed and approved, the clerk shall issue a written order requiring the appellee and all others to stay all proceedings under such judgment or order, or so much thereof as is superseded thereby.

Code Sec. 12861 No appeal or stay shall vacate or affect such judgment or order.

Code Sec. 12865 If a party has perfected his appeal, and the clerk of the lower court refuses for any reason to approve the bond, or requires an excessive penalty, or unjust or improper conditions, he may apply to the district court or judge thereof, who shall fix the amount and conditions of the bond and approve the same. Pending the application, the judge may, by a written order, recall and stay all proceedings under the order or judgment appealed from until the decision of the application. The bond thus approved shall be filed with the clerk, who shall issue a written order to stay proceedings.

Code Sec. 12866 The appellee may move the court rendering the judgment or making the order appealed from, or the supreme court, or a judge of either court, if in vacation, upon ten days' notice in writing to appellant, to discharge the bond on account of defect in substance or insufficiency in security, which motion if well taken shall be sustained, unless appellant shall, within a day to be fixed in the order made and filed therein, give a new and sufficient bond as required by said order. If the new bond is not given, proceedings shall be had in the lower court as though no bond had been given, but a new and sufficient bond may be given at any time with like effect and results as though given in the first instance.

CODE Sec. 12867 If the judgment or order is for the payment of money, the penalty shall be in at least twice the amount of the judgment and costs. If not for the payment of money, the penalty shall be sufficient to save the appellee harmless from the consequences of taking the appeal, but in no case shall the penalty be less than one hundred dollars.

CODE Sec. 12872 The supreme court, if it affirms the judgment, shall also, if the appellee asks or moves therefor, render judgment against the appellant and his sureties on the appeal bond for the amount of the judgment, damages, and costs referred to therein in case such damages can be accurately known to the court without an issue and trial.

DOCKETING OF CAUSES

CODE Sec. 12880 The cause on appeal shall be docketed as it was in the court below, and the party taking the appeal shall be called the appellant, and the other party the appellee.

CODE Sec. 12843 The clerk shall docket the causes as they are filed in his office and shall, under order of the chief justice, arrange and set a proper number for trial for each day of the term, placing together as far as practicable those from the same judicial district, and shall cause notice thereof to be published and distributed as the court may direct.

CODE Sec. 12844 No case shall be docketed until the fees [$3.00] provided by law therefor have been paid.

CODE Sec. 12848.1 If the abstract is filed forty days before the convening of the first term which follows the taking and perfecting of the appeal, the cause shall be placed on the calendar for said first term, and shall come on for hearing; unless otherwise ordered by the court.

CODE Sec. 1456 An appeal may be taken to the supreme court [in a workmen's compensation case] from any final order, judgment, or decree of the district court, but such appeal shall be docketed, placed upon the term calendar, and submitted in the same time and manner as criminal cases in said court.

Rule 13 Immediately after the time expires during which causes may be docketed for trial at a term of court, the clerk shall make and cause to be printed, without delay, the docket for the term, which shall give all causes, whether continuances or appearances, for trial at such term, and which shall designate the number, the party appealing, the court and county from which the appeal is brought, the counsel of the parties, the period for which each cause is assigned for trial, whether noticed for oral argument, the causes continued by reason of the provisions of Rule 15, and such other matter for the information of the court and attorneys as may be conveniently given, and so assign motions and petitions for rehearing as that the same will be submitted to and reach the proper divisions. He shall forward to each judge of the court, to each attorney having causes at the term, and to the clerk of the district, municipal, and superior courts of each county, a copy of said docket.

ADVANCING CAUSES

Rule 14 If a cause involves the decision of a question of public importance, or rights which are likely to be lost or greatly impaired by delay, the court shall, in its discretion, upon motion supported by affidavit duly served, order the submission of the cause at a term in advance of that at which it would otherwise be submitted.

ABSTRACTS

CODE Sec. 12845 Printed abstracts of the record shall be filed by the appellant in the office of the clerk of the supreme court.

CODE Sec. 12845.1 Abstracts shall be presumed to contain the record, unless denied or corrected by subsequent abstracts.

CODE Sec. 12845.2 Denials of abstracts, additional abstracts and transcripts may also be filed.

CODE Sec. 12847 An abstract must be filed within one hundred twenty days except file he­after provided after the appeal is taken and perfected unless further time is given before the expiration of said time by the supreme court or a judge thereof for good cause shown.

CODE Sec. 12847.1 If the action challenges the legality, validity or constitutionality of a proposed constitutional amendment, an abstract of record shall be filed within five days after the service of notice of appeal, unless additional time, not to exceed three days, be granted by the chief justice.

Rule 14-a1 An extension of time within which to file abstract will be granted only upon reasonable notice to the adverse party or his attorney, proof of which service shall accompany the application; provided that any justice, may, for good cause in his discretion, grant such extension conditionally within the statutory time without notice, subject to the right of the opposing litigant to have such order set aside upon a showing that sufficient ground for refusal of such order existed at the time the order was made.

Rule 15 In making up the docket for the term, the clerk shall place thereon all cases in which the abstract has been served and filed forty days or more before the first day of said term, without otherwise ordered by the court; but all cases, in which abstracts have not been served and filed seventy days or more before the time designated by the clerk for the hearing of causes from the judicial district in which said cause was tried, shall ipso facto stand continued until the next term of this court and shall be so marked by the clerk upon the docket. There shall be no waiver of oral argument by reason of such continuance, herein mentioned, if notice in writing or in print, of intention to argue the case orally be served upon an attorney for the adverse party and filed with the clerk of this court at least twenty days before the first day of the term to which continued.

Rule 15-a The appellant shall serve upon each appellee or his attorney a copy of the abstract, which shall be prepared according to these rules. In case of cross-appeals, the party first giving notice of appeal shall under this rule be considered the appellant. Appellant shall also file with the clerk eighteen copies of said abstract, including the service copy. This rule as to number of copies to be filed, including service copy, shall also apply to all denials and additional abstracts, appellant's brief and argument, appellee's brief and argument, the reply, petition for rehearing and the resistance to the same.
Service of abstracts or of any of the other aforesaid documents may be made as follows:

(1) By delivering copy to the opposing litigant or to his attorney of record;

(2) By mailing copy properly addressed to the proper post-office address of such counsel, with postage prepaid, and by registered mail;

Proof of service and the method thereof may be made by appropriate acceptance or affidavit indorsed upon one printed copy and filed as the "service copy" with the clerk of this court. If service be by registered mail receipt thereof shall be attached as a part of the affidavit of service.

Rule 16 If it appear from an inspection of the abstract that the appellant has negligently or intentionally failed to comply with the rule requiring only so much of the record as may be necessary to a full understanding of the question presented for decision to be included therein, the court may, in its discretion, order a new abstract prepared in conformity with such rule or affirm the judgment of the lower court without considering the appeal.

Rule 17 Every denial shall point out as specifically as the case will permit the defects alleged to exist in the abstract. A denial by appellee shall be taken as true unless the appellant sustains his abstract by a certification of the record. Should the appellee deem the appellant's abstract incorrect or unfair he may prepare such additional abstract as he shall deem necessary to a full understanding of the questions presented to the court for decision. A denial by the appellant of such additional abstract, if not confessed, will be disregarded unless sustained by a certification of the record. The appellee shall serve one printed copy of his additional abstract or denial on each appellant or his attorney and deliver eighteen printed copies thereof, including the service copy, to the clerk within fifteen days after receiving appellant's argument, and a denial by the appellant shall be served on the appellee and eighteen printed copies thereof, including the service copy, shall be delivered to the clerk within five days after service of the additional abstract.

Rule 18 Abstracts of record shall be made in substantially the following form:

NOTICE OF APPEAL

On the . . . . day of . . . . . . . . . . . . . . , the plaintiff perfected an appeal to the supreme court of the state of Iowa, by serving upon the defendant and the clerk of the district court of Van Buren county a notice of appeal.

If supersedeas bond was filed, state the fact.

INDEX

Abstracts and all amendments thereto must be accompanied by a brief index of their contents. The pleadings should be indicated therein, not alphabetically, but in the order of their filing.

The names of witnesses should be set forth therein, not alphabetically, but in the order in which their testimony appears in the abstract.

All exhibits must be referred to in the index by letter or number and a brief description of each exhibit shall be included therein.

This outline is presented for the purpose of indicating the character of the abstract contemplated by the rule, which, like all the rules, is to be substantially complied with. Of course, no formula can be laid down applicable to all cases. The rule to be observed in abstracting a case is: Preserve everything material to the question to be decided and omit everything else.

CERTIFICATION OF RECORD

CODE SEC. 12849 Any party may cause a certified copy of the record in the lower court or any part of the same to be filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court for its consideration.

CODE SEC. 12850 Upon application to the supreme court or any judge thereof, the clerk of the court from which appeal is taken may be ordered to file such certified copy.

CODE SEC. 12850.1 The shorthand reporter's translation of his report of a trial, duly certified by said reporter as correct, and from which an abstract, or an amendment to the abstract, has been prepared and served on appeal, shall be filed with the clerk of the district court immediately after said abstract or amendment is served on the opposite party, and be deemed a public record for the use of all parties to the appeal.

CODE SEC. 12851 The original transcript of evidence may be sent up, but shall be returned to the clerk of the proper county after the cause has been determined by the supreme court.

CODE SEC. 12854 Where a view of an original paper or exhibit in the action may be important to a correct decision of the appeal, the court or any judge thereof may order the clerk of the court below to transmit the same, which he shall do in the manner provided for the transmission of certifications of the record.

CODE SEC. 12857 The lower court, the supreme court, or a judge of either court, may make any necessary orders to secure a perfect record or transcript thereof; upon a showing by affidavit or otherwise, and upon such notice as it or he may prescribe.

DISMISSAL OF APPEALS, OR AFFIRMANCE OF JUDGMENTS

CODE SEC. 12848 If the abstract is not filed within one hundred twenty days after the appeal is taken and perfected or is not filed within the further time as fixed by the court or judge, the appellee may file an abstract of such matters of record as are necessary, or may file a copy of the final judgment or order appealed from, or other matters required, certified to by the clerk of the trial court, and cause the case to be docketed, and the appeal upon motion shall be dismissed, or the judgment or order affirmed.

CODE SEC. 12886 Where appellant has no right, or no further right, to prosecute the appeal, the appellee may move to dismiss it, and if the grounds of the motion do not appear in the record, or by a writing purporting to have been signed by the appellant and filed, they must be verified by affidavit.

CODE SEC. 12887 The appellee may, by answer or abstract filed and verified by himself, agent, or attorney, plead any facts which render the taking of the appeal improper or destroy the appellant's right of further prosecuting the same, to which the appellant may file a reply, or abstract likewise verified by himself, his agent, or attorney, and the question of law or fact therein shall be determined by the court, upon such evidence and in such form as it may prescribe.

MOTIONS

CODE SEC. 12870 All motions must be in writing and entered upon the motion book, and be heard upon such notice and argument, if any, as the court by rule may prescribe, but no motion shall be submitted without being publicly called by the court, unless the parties otherwise agree.

Rule 19 Motions must be served by copy of the same and of all affidavits or documents upon which they are based, upon the opposite party or attorney, ten days before the morning on which the causes for the district are set for hearing. Such opposite party shall then have five days to file papers in resistance to the same, copies of which must be served upon the other party or attorney, and no papers will be regarded which do not appear to have been so served. This rule shall not apply to motions the causes whereof arise after the filing of the abstract, but in such cases timely notice of such motions shall be given to the opposite attorneys. Nor shall this rule apply, as to time of service, to motions for continuance, or to advance.

Rule 20 Motions made in a cause after judgment rendered by the supreme court, or after the time assigned for the hearing of causes from the district from which it was appealed, will be heard only upon proof of service of reasonable notice of such motion upon the adverse party or his attorney. Service of all other motions shall be such as is prescribed by the court or a judge thereof.

Rule 21 Arguments in support of motions, if any, must be in writing or print, and shall be filed before the morning of the day set for the hearing of the cause, and served by copy upon the opposite party or attorney when the motion is served; and the arguments in resistance, if any, must be in writing or print and filed before the morning of the day set for the hearing of the cause, and served by copy on the opposite party or attorney when the papers in resistance are served.

Rule 22 If a difference of opinion should arise upon the disposition of a motion, the chief justice shall call in the other division, which shall take part in the determination thereof.

Rule 23 Tuesday of each period shall be "motion day" for the submission of motions to the proper division of the court, or to the full bench.

BRIEFS AND ARGUMENTS

Code Sec. 12871 The parties to an appeal may be heard orally and in writing, subject to such rules as the court may prescribe; and all causes docketed, not continued by consent or upon cause shown, shall be submitted in the order assigned, unless otherwise directed by the court or the judges thereof. * * *

Code Sec. 12871.1 If the action challenges the legality, validity or constitutionality of a proposed constitutional amendment, the appellant shall file a written argument within ten days after the filing of the abstract and appellee shall file his argument within ten days thereafter, and appellant shall then file his reply within three days. The cause shall then be submitted to the supreme court in regular or special full bench session as soon thereafter as the chief justice may order.

Rule 24 When the appeal presents only questions of law upon rulings of the court below, appellant shall open and close the argument, and must, at least forty days before the day assigned for the hearing of the case, serve upon an attorney for each appellee copies of his brief of points, authorities and argument. If appellee desires to be heard, he shall, at least fifteen days prior to the time set for hearing, serve upon an attorney for each appellee copies of his brief or argument; and the printed reply, if any, shall be served at least three days before the case is to be finally submitted. If the trial in the supreme court is de novo, and appellant has the burden, he shall observe the foregoing rules. If appellee has the burden, he may waive his right to open to the argument; and if he fails to serve and file his brief within the time hereinbefore provided, he shall be held to have waived the right. Appellant will then be entitled to open the argument, and must serve copies of his brief upon an attorney for each appellee fifteen days before the hearing. Appellee may then, and at least three days before the submission, serve upon an attorney for each appellant copies of his argument, which must be strictly confined to matters in reply to appellant's argument. A failure to comply with the above requirements will entitle the party not to default, unless the court shall, for sufficient cause, otherwise order, to a continuance or to have the case submitted at his option upon the briefs and arguments on file when the default occurred.

Rule 25 All printed briefs and arguments, except upon motions, shall be prepared as required by these rules, and each party shall file with the clerk eighteen printed copies of each brief and argument, including the service copy.

Rule 26 Notice in writing, or in print, of intention to argue a case orally, shall be served upon an attorney for the adverse party and filed with the clerk of this court twenty days before the first day of the term, and the party who fails to serve and file such notice shall not be entitled to argue orally, except in reply to an oral argument for the adverse party.

Rule 27 If the case is triable upon errors assigned and not de novo and appellant has given notice of oral argument, he will be entitled to open and close. If appellee alone gave the notice he will be entitled to open the argument and appellant must confine his remarks strictly to a reply. If the cause is triable de novo the party upon whom rests the burden of the proof may, if he has given the requisite notice, open and close the argument. If he has not given notice he will be confined strictly to an answer to the argument for the other side. No oral argument shall exceed one-half hour in length, unless an extension of time be granted before the argument is commenced or it becomes apparent during the course of the argument that more time is necessary, whereupon the court may grant additional time. On original submission two attorneys may be heard on each side; but in the event counsel opening the argument is not entitled to reply, but one attorney shall be heard for either party. Reply arguments shall be limited to fifteen minutes. On petitions for rehearing only one attorney shall be heard. The respondent may order to have not exceeding twenty and the respondent not more than fifteen minutes, unless extensions be granted by the court.

Rule 28 Oral argument shall be confined to a discussion of the proposition and authorities contained in the briefs. Failure to discuss any argument properly made in the briefs shall not be deemed a waiver of such points, but they will be fully considered in determining the cause.

Rule 29 Before taking up the assignment for the several periods a preliminary call of all causes included in that assignment will be made; but the submission of a cause shall not be made on this call if any party thereto objects. The court will hear all causes included in the assignment and take the submission thereof in the order in which they are assigned, excepting those which have been continued or otherwise disposed of.

Rule 30 The brief of the appellant shall contain a short and clear statement showing:
First. The nature of the action. For example: A suit on a promissory note.
Second. The nature of the defense. For example: A plea of payment and defense.
Third. How the case was decided.
Fourth. A brief statement of the main facts as claimed by the appellant.
Fifth. The appellant shall then state his first error relied upon for a reversal, and shall set out so much of the record as refers thereto, together with the ruling of the court thereon; and shall then point out specifically and in concise language, the complaint against the ruling of the court. This shall be followed by a brief of authorities in support of his contention, without quotation therefrom. Then shall follow his argument, in the usual form, supporting the errors thus claimed, in which, among other things, reference to and quotations from the authorities set out may be made or elaborated. This shall constitute the first division of his brief and argument.

Appellant shall then pass to the next error relied upon for reversal, which shall be stated in like manner as above specified and supported by citation of authorities and argument.

Appellant shall proceed thereafter in the same manner as to each and all claimed errors relied upon for reversal, setting out each error, together with brief and argument thereon, in separate divisions.

A compliance with the following form, as nearly as practicable, will be deemed sufficient:
First. NATURE OF THE ACTION.
Suit on a promissory note.

Second. NATURE OF THE DEFENSE.
Plea of forgery and plea of payment.

DECISION

In favor of the plaintiff on the verdict of the jury.

STATEMENT OF FACT

Plaintiff's evidence tends to show that he sold a horse to the defendant for $150 and took defendant's promissory note therefor. Defendant's testimony, while admitting the purchase of the horse, tends to show that he did not execute a promissory note therefor, and the signature on the note introduced by the plaintiff was a forgery; and, further, that he paid cash for the horse.

DIVISION I

During the trial, the court erred in not admitting the testimony of John Smith as to the genuineness of the defendant's signature. This witness was asked whether or not, in his opinion, the signature of John Smith attached to the note in controversy was the genuine signature of John Smith. The objection thereto was that the witness was incompetent because it was not shown that he was qualified to testify as an expert. (Abs. p.... l....)

That this witness was duly qualified so to testify, see Abs. p.... 1.... [Set out the record showing qualification.]

Due exception was taken to the ruling of the court. (Abs. p.... l....) [Here set out authorities relied upon to support this claimed error.]

ARGUMENT

DIVISION II

The court erred in giving instruction No. 3, reading as follows: [Here set out the instruction. Abs. p.... l....]

Due exception was taken thereto. (Abs. p.... l....)

This instruction was erroneous in that it told the jury that the burden of proof was upon the defendant to show the genuineness of the signature in the face of the fact that the signature was denied under oath.

(See ground 3, motion for a new trial, Abs. p.... l....) [Here set out authorities on this proposition.]

ARGUMENT

DIVISION III

The court erred in overruling ground 3 of defendant's motion for a directed verdict on the question of payment, which was as follows: [Here set out the ground.]

The error consists in the refusal of the court to direct a verdict in favor of the defendant on the plea of payment because the testimony of the defendant is in no way contradicted by the plaintiff.

[Here set out authorities on the proposition.]

ARGUMENT

DIVISION IV

The court erred in overruling ground 3 of the defendant's motion in arrest of judgment, which is as follows: [Set out this ground of the motion. Abs. p.... l....]

For the reason that the petition of the plaintiff does not contain the allegation that the plaintiff made, executed, and delivered said note, or that the same was due and unpaid.

[Here set out what is wanting. Cite authorities.]

ARGUMENT

DIVISION V

The court erred in holding that the evidence was not sufficient to carry the case to the jury on the defendant's plea of payment.

(See ground 4 of motion for a new trial. Abs. p.... l....)

Because there was no evidence in the case tending to show payment on the part of the defendant. (Abs. p.... l....)

[Citation of authorities.]

ARGUMENT

And so continuing, treating each error claimed in a separate division, following, as nearly as practicable, the form herein set out.

Where the same error occurs at different places in the proceedings, or where several errors are occurred which are related to each other and are controlled by the same rules of law, they may be treated in one division, but so much of the record as is necessary to an understanding thereof shall be set out and the page and line of the abstract where the error occurred shall be specified.

Any error relied upon for reversal, not argued in the argument in chief, shall be deemed to have been waived.

After the above has been complied with, the appellant may add a division or divisions summarizing his argument or elaborating thereon; and the appellee shall have the privilege of doing the same.

Rule 31. The appellee's brief shall, in form, correspond to that of the appellant. Each division of the appellant's argument shall be answered in a separate division by the appellee, first pointing out any omission or inaccuracy in the appellant's statement of the record, followed by a short and clear statement of the proposition by which appellee seeks to meet each alleged error, or by which such error is claimed to be obviated, followed by a citation of authority and then by argument.

After the divisions of the appellant's argument are thus met, the appellee shall then, in separate divisions (following the form hereinbefore marked out), set out the parts of the record, if any, followed by any new proposition or propositions, stated in separate divisions, which he claims are controlling in the case, together with his citation of authority and argument on each proposition separately. The briefs and arguments of appellee on cross-appeal, shall be treated in the same manner as required of appellant's brief and argument, and the brief and argument of appellee, in answer to the cross-appeal, shall be prepared in the same manner as required of appellee in his brief and argument to appellant's original brief and argument. Reply briefs and arguments may be filed, which shall, in separate divisions, meet any of the propositions advanced by the appellee.

Rule 31-a Stricken by the court.

Rule 31-b In the appeal of equity actions, two conditions may arise. (See, The Exchange Bank v. Potter, 96 Iowa 354.)

First. Where issues of fact have been joined and evidence taken, and the case is triable anew in this court, then the party having the burden of proof shall make a brief and argument in the following manner:

(a) State the nature of the action.

(b) The nature of the defense.

(c) How the case was decided.
(d) A statement of the main facts relied upon.

He shall then state, in separate divisions, each of the propositions of law or fact which he claims sustain his position, and, following each proposition, he shall set out authorities and follow with an argument on the propositions urged. He shall also, when referring to fact propositions, refer to the pages and lines of the abstract where the same may be found. The answer, and reply briefs and arguments, shall follow, as nearly as practicable, the provisions of Rule 31 hereof. When the appeal is triable de novo, no errors need be assigned.

Second. Where the appeal is for the correction of errors of law only, the errors must be pointed out, and the method of making a brief and argument thereon shall be the same as provided in Rule 30 hereof.

APPEALS IN CRIMINAL ACTIONS

CODE SEC. 13994 The mode of reviewing in the supreme court any judgment, action, or decision of the district court in a criminal case is by appeal. Either the defendant or state may appeal.

CODE SEC. 13995 An appeal can only be taken from the final judgment, and within sixty days thereafter.

CODE SEC. 13996 When several defendants are indicted and tried jointly, any one or more of them may join in taking the appeal, but those of their codefendants who do not join shall take no benefit therefrom, yet they may appeal afterwards.

CODE SEC. 13997 An appeal is taken and perfected by the party or his attorney serving on the adverse party or his attorney of record in the district court at the time of the rendition of the judgment, a notice in writing of the taking of the appeal, and filing the same with such clerk, with evidence of service thereof indorsed thereon or annexed thereto.

CODE Sec. 13997.1 When an appeal has been taken by the defendant in a criminal case, all filings by the appellant on appeal shall be served on the attorney general.

CODE SEC. 13998 When an appeal is taken, the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered shall:
1. Forthwith prepare and transmit to the attorney general a certified copy of the notice of appeal, together with the date of the service and filing thereof.
2. Promptly prepare and transmit to the clerk of the supreme court a transcript of all record entries in the case, together with copies of all papers in the case on file in his office, except those returned by the examining magistrate on the preliminary examination, all duly certified under the seal of his court.

CODE Sec. 14000 If a defendant in a criminal cause has perfected an appeal from a judgment against him and shall satisfy a judge of the district court from which the appeal is taken that he is unable to pay for a transcript of the evidence, such judge may order the same made at the expense of the county where said defendant was tried.

CODE SEC. 14001 An appeal taken by the state in no case stays the operation of a judgment in favor of the defendant.

CODE SEC. 14002 An appeal taken by the defendant does not stay the execution of the judgment, unless bail is put in; but where the judgment is imprisonment in the penitentiary, and an appeal is taken within the time provided after judgment is rendered, and the defendant is unable to give bail, and that fact is satisfactorily shown to the court or judge thereof, it may, in its discretion, order the sheriff or officer having the defendant in custody to detain him in custody, without taking him to the penitentiary, to abide the judgment on the appeal, if the defendant desires it.

CODE SEC. 14003 When an appeal is taken by the defendant, and bail is given, the clerk must give to the defendant, or his attorney, a certificate, under the seal of the court, that an appeal has been taken and bail given, and the sheriff or other officer having the defendant in custody must, upon receiving it, discharge the defendant from custody and cease all further proceedings in execution thereof, and forthwith return to the clerk of the court who issued it the execution under which he acted, with his return thereon; and if it has not been issued, it shall not be until after final judgment on the appeal.

CODE SEC. 14004 The party appealing is the appellant, the adverse party the appellee, but the title of the action shall not be changed on the appeal, and the cause shall be so docketed at the commencement of the period assigned for trying causes from the judicial district from which the appeal comes, which causes shall take precedence of all other business, be tried at the term at which the transcript is filed, unless continued for cause or by consent of the parties, and be decided, if practicable, at the same term.

CODE SEC. 14005 The personal appearance of the defendant in the supreme court on the trial of an appeal is in no case necessary.

CODE SEC. 14006 An appeal shall not be dismissed for any informality or defect in taking it, if corrected in a reasonable time; and the supreme court must direct how it shall be corrected.

CODE SEC. 14007 No assignment of error is necessary.

CODE SEC. 14008 The defendant is entitled to close the argument.

CODE SEC. 14009 The record and case may be presented in the supreme court by printed abstracts, arguments, motions, and petitions for rehearing as provided by its rules; and the provisions of law in civil procedure relating to certification of the record and the filing of decisions and opinions of the supreme court shall apply in such cases.

CODE SEC. 14010 If the appeal is taken by the defendant, the supreme court must examine the record, without regard to technical errors or defects which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties, and render such judgment on the record as the law demands; it may affirm, reverse, or modify the judgment, or render such judgment as the district court should have done, or order a new trial, or reduce the punishment, but cannot increase it.

Code Sec. 14011 In case the judgment of the trial court is reversed or modified in favor of the defendant, on the appeal of defendant, he shall be entitled to recover the cost of printing abstract and briefs, not exceeding one dollar for each page thereof, to be paid by the county from which the appeal was taken.

Rule 32 If the appellant desires to submit a criminal case upon a printed abstract and brief and argument, he shall serve on the attorney general and upon the clerk of this court a notice to that effect and shall file the same with the clerk of this court before the day set for the submission of said case, and said case shall then be automatically continued for submission to the next succeeding term of this court. In the event the appellant shall serve and file his abstract and brief and argument at least 30 days before the day assigned for the submission of said cause, and the appellee shall serve and file its denial or amendment to the abstract and its brief and argument at least 15 days before the day assigned for the submission of said cause. If no such notice, as herein provided, is served, or if the appellant fails to serve and file his abstract and brief and argument as provided herein said cause shall be submitted upon the record unless an extension of time to file has been previously granted.

The provisions of the code and rules of this court in civil procedure relating to the printing, serving, and filing of abstracts, denials, arguments, petitions for rehearing, notice thereof and of oral arguments, motions and resistances thereto, the certification of the record and the filing of decisions and opinions, shall apply in criminal cases insofar as the same are consistent with section 14004 of the code and this rule, and section 12847 of the code shall apply to the filing of the abstract in a criminal case.

Code Sec. 14012 If the state appeals, the supreme court cannot reverse or modify the judgment so as to increase the punishment, but may affirm it, and shall point out any error in the proceedings or in the measure of punishment, and its decision shall be obligatory as law.

Code Sec. 14013 If a judgment against the defendant is reversed, such reversal shall be deemed an order for a new trial, unless the supreme court shall direct that the defendant be discharged and his bail exonerated, or if money be deposited instead, that it be refunded to him.

Code Sec. 14014 On a judgment of affirmance against the defendant, the original judgment shall be carried into execution as the supreme court shall direct, except as otherwise provided.

Code Sec. 14016 The decision of the supreme court, with any opinion filed or judgment rendered, must be recorded by its clerk, and, after the term of the court at which the opinion is decided until the written decision is filed with the clerk.

Code Sec. 12871 * * * The court may reverse, modify, or affirm the judgment, decree, or order appealed from, or render such as the inferior court should have done. No cause is decided until the written decision is filed with the clerk.

Code Sec. 12810 When the court is equally divided in opinion, the judgment of the court below shall stand affirmed, but the decision is of no further force or authority, but in such cases opinions may be filed.
Code Sec. 12813 The decisions of the court on all questions passed upon by it, including motions and points of practice, shall be specifically stated, and shall be accompanied with an opinion upon all such as are deemed of sufficient importance, together with any dissent therefrom, which dissent may be stated with or without an opinion. All decisions and opinions shall be in writing and filed with the clerk, except that rulings upon motions may be entered upon the announcement book.

Code Sec. 12814 The records and reports must in all cases show whether a decision was made by a full bench, and whether any and, if so, which of the judges dissented from the decision.

Rule 36 Each and every opinion shall show, on its face, what judges participated therein.

Rule 37 No procedendo shall issue in any case until the expiration of thirty days from the filing of the opinion, except upon an order of the court, or a judge thereof, upon cause shown, and except in criminal cases and cases where petitions for rehearing have been overruled.

REHEARINGS

Code Sec. 12881 Written notice of intention to petition for a rehearing shall be served on the opposite party or his attorney and the clerk of the supreme court within thirty days after the filing of the opinion, or within such time as the court may by rule prescribe.

Code Sec. 12882 Such petition shall be printed, and, with proof of service thereof on the opposite party or his attorney, shall be filed with said clerk within sixty days after the opinion is filed.

Code Sec. 12883 The petition may be made the argument or a brief of authorities relied upon for rehearing. The adverse party may file a printed argument in response. If the party applying for a rehearing shall give notice of oral argument in his petition, then both parties shall be entitled to be heard orally, unless the party giving notice waives argument.

Code Sec. 12880 If a petition for rehearing is filed, it shall suspend the decision, if the court or one of the judges upon its presentation so order, until after the final decision on the rehearing.

Rule 38 The petition shall include a copy of the opinion or decision of the court to which objection is made, or reference to the volume and page of the Northwestern Reporter in which it has been printed. Eighteen copies of the petition and argument in support thereof, including service copy, shall be filed with the clerk.

Rule 39 If there be a printed argument in resistance to the petition, a copy thereof shall be served upon the opposing litigant or his attorney, and filed ten days before the day fixed for the hearing of the cause, and eighteen copies, including the service copy, shall be filed with the clerk of this court.

Rule 40 The cause shall be placed on the docket for hearing at the next period commencing not less than thirty days after the service and filing of the petition, and shall be heard by the division to which the case was originally submitted.

EXECUTIONS

Code Sec. 12875 If the supreme court affirms the judgment or order, it may send the cause to the court below to have the same carried into effect, or may issue the necessary process for this purpose, directed to the sheriff of the proper county, as the party may require.

Code Sec. 12876 If remanded to the inferior court to be carried into effect, such decision and the order of the court thereon, being certified thereto and entered on the records thereof, shall have the same force and effect as if made and entered during the session of that court.

Code Sec. 12877 If, by the decision of the supreme court, the appellant becomes entitled to a restoration of any part of the money or property that was taken from him by means of such judgment or order, either the supreme court or the court below may direct execution or writ of restitution to issue for the purpose of restoring to him such property or its value.

Code Sec. 12888 Executions issued from the supreme court shall be like those from the district court, attended with the same consequences, and returnable in the same time.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRINTED MATTER

Rule 41 The clerk shall make the following distribution of all printed abstracts, denials of abstracts, briefs, and arguments received under the foregoing rules: One copy to each judge of the court, one copy to the state library, one copy to the law department of the state university, one copy to the law department of Drake university, and the remainder shall be placed in his office, one copy of which shall remain permanently among the files.

RETURN OF PAPERS AND EXHIBITS

Code Sec. 12856 If a new trial is granted by the supreme court, the clerk, as soon as the cause is at an end therein, shall transmit to the clerk of the court below all original papers or exhibits certified up from said court, and may at any time return any such papers when no new trial is awarded.

Rule 42 If decree is entered in this court, either party desiring to withdraw any of the said files may, by motion, showing proper grounds therefor, and upon five days' notice to the other party or his attorney, secure an order from the court or a judge thereof, allowing him to do so upon filing a receipt for the same with the clerk of this court.

COSTS

Code Sec. 12874 The supreme court must provide by rule for taxing as costs all printing authorized upon the trial of appeals. The court shall also tax the costs of any translation of the shorthand notes filed as provided in this chapter, and also any translation of the shorthand notes which has been made of record in the court below, upon the certificate of the clerk of such court as to the amount of such costs.

Code Sec. 12846 If any denial or abstract is filed without good and sufficient cause, the costs of the same or any part thereof, and of any transcript thereby made necessary, shall be taxed to the party causing the same.

Rule 43 When the parties or their attorneys shall furnish printed abstracts, denials of abstracts, amendments, briefs, arguments, or petitions for rehearing in conformity to these rules, the clerk will tax the actual cost of printing the same, which shall not exceed one dollar for each page embraced in a single copy thereof, and when not so prepared and printed shall not exceed the sum of one dollar for every three hundred and seventy-five words, which in no event shall exceed one dollar per page, against the unsuccessful party not furnishing the document, to be collected and paid to the successful party as other costs. It is made the duty of every party who files any printed matter for which cost of printing is claimed, to state at the end of the document in writing or in print and have certified by his attorney as being correct, the true and actual cost of the printing of the same and no costs will be taxed for such printing unless this statement and certificate be made.

Rule 44 Whenever the translation of the shorthand notes is required to be filed in this court, the clerk shall tax as part of the costs in the case the expense of procuring the same, which shall not exceed the rate of five cents per hundred words. If the amount paid or agreed to be paid is not stated in the translation so filed, the clerk shall tax at the statutory rate.

Rule 45 All other taxable fees and costs shall abide the result of the appeal and be taxed to the unsuccessful party, unless otherwise ordered.

Rule 46 Written notice of intention to petition for a rehearing shall be served on the opposite party, or his attorney, and the clerk of this court, and filed with the clerk within thirty days after filing of the opinion or decision, and if no such notice is served a petition for rehearing shall not be filed after the expiration of such thirty days.

Rule 47 Immediately after it is determined by this court which cases shall be submitted at the succeeding term thereof, the clerk of this court shall promptly notify all the attorneys, who have appeared in any pending case, of the cases which are to be thus submitted.

2. No person shall be appointed to more than four successive terms.

QUALIFICATIONS DETERMINED BY ATTORNEY GENERAL AND CLERK

Rule 103 The attorney general and clerk of this court, subject to review by the board or the court, shall determine the general educational qualifications of the applicants for examination before allowing them to enter upon the examination as to their legal attainments, and for that purpose may require such of them as do not otherwise show their qualifications, to submit to tests as to their knowledge of the subjects of Orthography, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, English, Grammar, United States and English History, Elementary Algebra, Elementary Physics, Elementary Economics and Civil Government, and such other subjects as may be deemed necessary.

Rule 105 The board of law examiners and clerk of this court shall prepare such forms as may be necessary for application for examination, and the board may make such rules and regulations, in the rules of this court, with reference to the method of conducting the examinations herein provided for, as they may deem expedient.

Every applicant for admission to the bar shall make application, under oath, and upon the form prescribed which will be furnished by the clerk of the supreme court, upon request, and shall file his application with the clerk of the supreme court at least forty-five (45) days before the first day of the next bar examination. A new and complete application shall be filed for each examination for admission.

Proof of residence and age shall be by affidavits of at least two witnesses, and the applicant shall also make affidavit as to his age and place of residence. Proof of his term of study shall be by affidavit of the member of the bar or judge with whom he pursued his studies; and when he has studied at a law school, such fact, and his term of study, shall be shown by the affidavit of one or more of the professors or instructors of such school; such affidavits must show that the applicant has actually, and in good faith, pursued the study of law in the manner, and for the time prescribed by statute and the rules of the supreme court; and must also show that the affiant is a practicing lawyer or judge of a court of record, or professor or instructor at a law school at which the applicant studied.

Credit for study completed in a law school not so approved may, in the discretion of the board of examiners, be allowed, provided:

(1) Such school, which is designated a full-time
law school, shall have a three-year course of at least thirty-six (36) weeks each year requiring students to devote substantially all of their working time to their studies.

(2) Such school, which is designated a part-time law school, shall have a course of not less than four years of at least thirty-six (36) weeks each year, equivalent in the number of working hours to the course of study of a full-time law school.

(3) No credit for study completed in schools other than the above shall be allowed, nor shall any credit be allowed for law study pursued through correspondence. A year of study in a part-time law school shall be considered the equivalent of three-fourths of a year of study in a full-time law school. Shorter periods of study in a part-time law school may be credited upon a like basis.

STUDY IN A LAW OFFICE

Rule 109 1. In addition to all other requirements, the following rule shall govern allowance of credit for study pursued in a law office, after January 1, 1939, but does not apply to students having certificates on file prior to said date, showing that they were then engaged in such study.

2. No credit shall be given for study in the office of a member of the bar unless such member is an attorney engaged in the general practice of law, maintaining an office open to the public generally, or is a judge of a court of record other than a police court.

3. A student pursuing such study shall actually engage in the study of the law and in the general practice work of such office during usual office hours for not less than forty-eight weeks in each year, for at least three full years.

4. No credit shall be given for study carried on by correspondence, or privately outside a law office, or when merely supervised by a member of the bar while the student is engaged in outside occupation or employment.

5. No credit shall be given any applicant for time of study in an office unless there shall be filed with the clerk of the supreme court at the beginning of such study a certificate signed by an attorney in regular practice and in good standing, or a judge of a court of record other than a police court, certifying that such student of law has entered the office of such attorney or judge for the purpose of studying law, and with the understanding that such attorney or judge will give such student supervision and instruction in the study of law, and with the further understanding that such student will be and remain in regular attendance at said office for such purpose. Said certificate of such attorney shall give the actual date the student entered his office for such purpose, and his address.

6. The affidavit of the attorney or judge certifying to such study, in addition to all other requirements of the statutes and rules, shall set forth facts showing compliance with the requirements of this rule and shall be filed in the office of the clerk of this court at the close of such period of study.

SCOPE OF EXAMINATION

10909 Examinations. Every such applicant shall also be examined by the court, or by a commission of not less than five members constituted as hereinafter provided, as to his learning and skill in the law; and the court must be satisfied, before admitting to practice, that the applicant has actually and in good faith devoted the time hereinbefore required to the study of law, and possesses the requisite learning and skill therein, and has also the general education required by this chapter. The sufficiency of the general education of the applicant may be determined by examination before the commission, or in such other manner as the supreme court may by rule prescribe.

NUMBER DRAWN BY APPLICANT AT BEGINNING OF EXAMINATION

Rule 110 Each applicant permitted to take the law examination at the capitol at Des Moines, shall draw a number at the beginning of the examination, by which number he shall be known throughout such examination. Said number shall be furnished by the clerk of the supreme court.

LIST SHOWING NUMBER DRAWN PREPARED BY CLERK

Rule 111 Said clerk shall prepare a list of the applicants showing the number drawn by each at the beginning of the examination, certify to such facts, seal said list in an envelope immediately after the beginning of said examination and retain the same sealed, in his possession unopened until after the written examination has been completed, and the average made by each applicant set out. On such completion the envelope shall be opened in the presence of the attorney general and the correct name entered opposite the number drawn by each applicant, in the presence of the clerk of the supreme court and a representative of the attorney general's office.

LIST AT STATE UNIVERSITY PREPARED BY DEAN

Rule 112 At each law examination held at the state university, the method of designating the applicants outlined in Rule 111 shall be followed with the exception that the dean of the college of law shall perform the duties required to be performed in Rule 111 by the clerk of the supreme court.

EMPLOYMENT OF CHARACTER INVESTIGATION SERVICE OF NATIONAL BAR CONFERENCE PERMITTED

Rule 113 The attorney general or the clerk of the supreme court is authorized to employ the character investigation services of the national conference of bar examiners. Such character investigation and report shall be procured in all cases where application for admission on motion is made, and where the required investigation fee has been paid by the applicant. Such service may be utilized in cases of applications for admission upon examination where the same is deemed necessary by the clerk of the supreme court or the board of law examiners. The clerk of the supreme court is authorized to pay the cost of such service, not exceeding the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) in each case, to the investigation service of the national conference of bar examiners from investigation fees paid by applicants for admission to the bar.

TIME ELAPSING BEFORE NEXT EXAMINATION—NUMBER PERMITTED

Rule 114 1. No candidate for admission to the bar having failed to pass the examination, shall be permitted to take another examination until at least ten months shall have elapsed since such failure.

2. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, no candidate shall be permitted to take more than three examinations.

PASSING ON SUFFICIENCY OF APPLICATIONS

Rule 115 The authority to pass on the sufficiency of applications for permission to take the bar examination is vested in the attorney general and the clerk of this court, "ex officio," subject, however, to review by the board or the court.

INVESTIGATION TO BE MADE BY CLERK

Rule 116 1. Immediately upon the filing of the application the clerk of the court shall notify the president of the local bar association of the county in which the applicant resides of the filing of such application. It shall be the duty of the local bar association to investigate the standing and character of the applicant, and report the same to the clerk of the supreme court at least fifteen days before the date of the holding of the examination.

2. If there be no local bar association, or if the local bar association fails to act, then the clerk shall notify the county attorney of the county in which the applicant resides, and it shall be his duty to make said investigation and said report as provided herein.

FEES REQUIRED

10914 Fees—how used. Every applicant for admission shall pay to the clerk of the supreme court an examination fee of five dollars, payable before the examination is commenced. Practitioners from other states seeking admission to practice in this state as provided by law shall pay an admission fee of ten dollars. The fees thus paid to the clerk shall be retained by him as a special fund to be appropriated as otherwise provided; and any amount thereof remaining in his hands unappropriated on the thirtieth day of June of each year shall be turned over to the state treasury.

INVESTIGATION FEE

Rule 117 Every applicant for admission to the bar upon examination shall, as a part of his application, remit to the clerk of the supreme court an investigation fee in the amount of ten dollars ($10.00). This fee shall be in addition to any charge or fee otherwise required, and shall be paid for each examination.

ADMISSION OF ATTORNEYS FROM OTHER JURISDICTIONS

10916 Practitioners from other states. Any person a resident of this state having been admitted to the bar of any other of the United States may, in the discretion of the court, be admitted to practice in this state without examination or proof of period of study, as hereinafter provided, on proof of the other qualifications required by this chapter, and on satisfactory proof that he has practiced law regularly for not less than one year in the state where admitted to practice, after having been admitted to the bar according to the laws of such state, or on satisfactory proof that he has taught law regularly for one year in a recognized law school in the state of Iowa, after admission to the bar of any other of the United States.

RECIROCITY—PERIOD OF PRACTICE—FEES

Rule 118 From and after January 1, 1939, a member of the bar of any other of the United States, the territories thereof, or the District of Columbia, in his application for admission to practice law in this state, in addition to all other requirements of law, shall establish: That he has practiced law five (5) full years under license in such jurisdictions within the seven (7) years immediately preceding the date of his application and still holds a license, provided that the teaching of law as a full-time instructor in a college or school approved by the American Bar Association and Admissions to the Bar of the American Bar Association in this state or some other state shall, for the purposes of this rule, be deemed the practice of law. In addition to the admission fee of ten dollars ($10.00) now required by law, such applicant shall pay to the clerk of the supreme court at the time of filing application, an investigation fee in the amount of forty dollars ($40.00), no part of said fee to be refunded to any applicant.

1. A proceeding for reinstatement as a member of the bar must be commenced by a written application to this court, which must be filed with the clerk of this court, and it shall state the age of the applicant, the date of the original admission, the date of disbarment, or date of surrender of certificate of applicant, and same shall be verified by the oath of the applicant as to the truth of the statements made therein, and shall be accompanied by a recommendation of at least three reputable practicing attorneys practicing in the judicial district in which the applicant then lives, and has lived at least one year prior to filing application. If the applicant lives in a judicial district other than the district in which he lived at the time of the disbarment or surrender of his certificate, he shall file a recommendation of three reputable practicing attorneys of such district.

2. Upon filing of such application and recommendations with the clerk of this court, the clerk shall give written notice thereof to the attorney general; to the county attorney of the county in which the applicant resides; and to the county attorney where applicant resided at the time of disbarment or surrender of certificate; and to each of the judges of the district in which the applicant resided at the time of disbarment or surrender of certificate; and to the president of the State Bar Association, and to the president of the County Bar Association, if there be any, of the residence of the applicant, and of the county where applicant resided when disbarred or surrendered his certificate.

Table of Corresponding Sections of the Forty-Sixth Extra, and Forty-Seventh General Assemblies

This table shows the sections of the code which correspond in subject matter with the sections of the acts of the 46th extra, and 47th general assemblies which constituted new or substituted legislation. The table also shows the sections of the code which contain the amendments of said general assemblies.

[An asterisk (*) indicates that the session law citation thus marked is an amendment to some section of the code, and that the code section indicated in the right-hand column shows such section of law as amended by said session law citation, plus such changes as are indicated in the right-center column. The session law citations which are not marked with an asterisk consist of either new or substituted legislation.]

The omission of a chapter or section number from either of the two left-hand columns, unless otherwise indicated, shows that the same is temporary, special, legalizing, or repealing in character and, therefore, does not appear in the code.

An entry in the right-center column shows an amendment, substitute, or repeal of the session law citation in the left-hand column.

"A." indicates an amendment; "R&S." indicates a repeal and substitution.

CORRESPONDING SECTIONS
FORTY-EIGHTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY

This table shows the sections of the code which correspond in subject matter with the sections of the acts of the 48th general assembly, which constituted new or substituted legislation. The table also shows the sections of the code which contain the amendments of said general assembly.

[The omission of a chapter or section number from the left-hand column, unless otherwise indicated, shows that the same is temporary, special, legalizing or repealing in character and does not appear in the code.

An asterisk (*) indicates that the session law citation thus marked is an amendment to some section of the code, or acts of the 46th extra, or 47th general assembly, and that the section indicated in the right-hand column shows such section of the law as amended by said session law citation. The session law citations which are not marked with an asterisk consist of either new or substituted legislation.]

Table of Corresponding Sections

This table shows the sections of the code of 1935 which were amended, repealed, or substituted by the 46th extra, 47th, and 48th general assemblies, and the sections or sections in the code of 1939 which correspond in subject matter.

This table, however, is not to be used for the purpose of finding legislation of the 46th extra, 47th, and 48th general assemblies, in the code, 1939, as there are special tables for this purpose (pp. 2065-2078) preceding this table. The omission of a section number in the left-hand column indicates that the omitted section appears in the code, 1939, in identically the same form as in the code, 1935.

["A." indicates an amendment; "R&S." indicates a repeal and substitute; "R." indicates repeal.]

INDEXER'S PREFATORY NOTE TO CODE OF 1939

FOREWORD. Indexing is a variable and indefinable subject, as will appear from an examination of the different indexes in the various codes. Indexers appear to have followed two theories: (1) to break up the subject into, and index it under its many small component parts, or (2) to use fairly comprehensive titles and to try to secure a logical index arrangement of the component parts under those titles, with ample cross references from other places in the index.

The first plan, while making certain limited phases of the law quickly accessible, requires the searcher to look in many places to find all of the law—and then there is the ever present uncertainty as to whether or not all has been located.

The theory of the second plan has been followed in the index to the 1939 Code and should ultimately be more resultful, though possibly requiring the searcher to follow one cross reference, for example, "DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION, 11980-12040, For detailed index see main head PROBATE LAW, subhead DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION", to lead him to that position in the index where all the law on this subject will be found. Under each main head there will also be found specific cross references to such other topics as are related but which may be sufficiently distinguished to merit being indexed elsewhere. At other places throughout the entire index where a searcher might be expected to begin, cross references are inserted to indicate the place where the law has been indexed. In the long run, this plan should both save the searcher's time and lend certainty to his efforts.

INDEX OBJECTIVES. Our endeavor has been (1) to harmonize the index classifications with those in other legal publications as to subjects, such as INSURANCE, MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS, TAXATION, etc., whenever susceptible to this disposition, (2) to group the law together, having in mind that if the searcher had to do less looking for the law where the law might have been he could better afford to scan the broad subject under which it has been treated, for example, PROBATE LAW, knowing that the aim in indexing has been either to place under that main head or to account for by means of cross references, all the law pertinent to that subject, (3) to utilize and follow the desires and helpful suggestions received from numerous members of the bar, so as to construct an index useful to both lawyers and other users of the code, and (4) to anticipate, provide for, and secure future index suggestions by including the index notation sheet at the end of the code.

GENERAL CLASSIFICATIONS. The index has been revised to conform generally to the more or less standard classifications of the law found in the commonly used legal digests, except perhaps for such main heads as COUNTY OFFICERS AND DEPARTMENTS, STATE OFFICERS AND DEPARTMENTS, CIVIL PROCEDURE, and CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

Most of the following titles as used in the index are in reality standard classifications of the law in many legal publications, and their newness in the index lies chiefly in the extent to which they have been amplified. Only a few of the main heads and their scope in the detailed index will be noted.

ANIMALS: The laws relating to domestic animals, including poultry, because there are statutes applying to both. Wild animals are indexed under FISH AND GAME.

BANKS AND BANKING: Banking laws relating to all banks, including trust companies.

CIVIL PROCEDURE: The law generally applicable in civil proceedings from the time a party determines jurisdiction and serves the original notice to judgment, except appellate procedure, special actions, such as Mandamus, etc., and such subjects as COSTS, DAMAGES and EXECUTIONS which, though related to procedure, seemed preferably indexed separately as main heads. This title and CRIMINAL PROCEDURE were adopted with the view of facilitating the use of the procedural subjects in the index—in other words, just the difference between searching over the main heads throughout several hundred pages in the entire index for actions, evidence, trial, etc., or having these subjects collected with many others in about thirty pages of index, while yet appearing in the same alphabetical order as if scattered through the index. Look first in these titles for general matters of practice and procedure.

CORPORATIONS: Corporation law—profit corporations, nonprofit corporations, and foreign corporations.

COUNTY: General county law.

COUNTY OFFICERS AND DEPARTMENTS: All county officers and departments (except clerk of court, which is found under DISTRICT COURT) collected together but in the same alphabetical arrangement as if scattered throughout the index—with the law generally applying to all state, county, and city officers indexed under PUBLIC OFFICERS.

CRIMES: All of the crimes are listed here except the miscellaneous violations pertaining to particular subjects which are listed under the respective subjects, as "penal provisions."
CRIMINAL PROCEDURE: This main head, together with the main head CRIMES, includes all the general criminal law and procedure.

ELECTIONS: Election law and its generally related phases, except such election law as specifically applies to cities, which is indexed under MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS, and to schools which is under SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL DISTRICTS.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY: The law pertaining to the legislature.

HIGHWAYS: All the road law.

INSURANCE: All law relating to insurance.

JURY: The law relating to juries is completely indexed here because of its overlapping nature as to both civil and criminal cases and procedure.

LABOR LAWS: New title which, with the main heads UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION and WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION, indexed separately, covers the subject of labor.

MINORS: The law relating to persons under twenty-one years of age.

MOTOR VEHICLES and MOTOR VEHICLE CARRIERS: Two main heads containing the motor vehicle law.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS: All the law relating to cities and towns, and their functions and departments, indexed (1) by subjects, so that all the laws on "ordinances", for example, appear under that subhead, and (2) according to the type of city, so that the laws on "cities under commission plan", for example, may be found there.

PROBATE COURT and PROBATE LAW: Two main heads, containing the law relating to probate. Guardianships, although connected with probate in many procedural matters, are indexed under GUARDIANS.

RAILROADS: The railroad law, including interurban railways, but not including STREET RAILWAYS, which are indexed under that main head.

REAL PROPERTY: The law pertaining to real property except such subjects as BOUNDARIES, FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER, LANDLORD AND TENANT, MORTGAGES, and those subjects which are only incidental to real estate, such as WEEDS, or ZONING LAW.

RELIGION: The law relating to churches, clergymen, and other related subjects.

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The school law.

SOCIAL WELFARE: Law relating to child welfare, emergency relief, old-age assistance, social welfare boards, and related subjects.

SOLDIERS, SAILORS, MARINES, AND WAR NURSES: All provisions relating to veterans of all wars, and their organizations. The national guard law is under NATIONAL GUARD.

STATE INSTITUTIONS: The institutions maintained by the state, under either the board of education or the board of control and the law governing those boards.

STATE OFFICERS AND DEPARTMENTS: Law relating to all officers, boards, commissions, and departments of the state, collected together, but in the same alphabetical order as if scattered throughout the index. Cross references, with inclusive section numbers added, direct the searcher to this title from other places in the index where the names of the officers appear. Certain general laws applying to all state, county, and city officers are indexed under PUBLIC OFFICERS.

TAXATION: The laws relating to taxes of all kinds, either indexed in detail or inadequately cross referenced.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION: The unemployment compensation act. Many other main heads, while not mentioned above, have been similarly covered. As has been stated, the aim in indexing has been to collect in one place, wherever possible, all the law on the one subject, or to insert a specific cross reference to the main head (and subheads, if necessary) where a related subject may be found. Such subjects as might appropriately appear in more than one place have sometimes, where the topic was not large, observed in each place, otherwise indexed in one of the places where it was thought the searcher would commonly expect to find it and cross references have been inserted in the other places.

Because the lawyers are the largest single group of users of the code, a letter was sent to each attorney in the state to get his specific suggestions as to where and how he thought the index could be improved. A very satisfactory response followed, and many valuable, specific suggestions were received—practically all of which have been assimilated in the index. For instance, the use of the general classifications of the law in the main heads, e.g., MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS; the use of ample cross references to avoid running into "blind alleys"; the use of inclusive sections in conjunction with cross references; and the use as entries of such commonly used terms as "dead man statute", "cost bond", etc., are attempts to follow the trend of these suggestions. The list of codes and session laws appearing in the fore part of the book, and the index notation sheet at the end of the volume have been inserted in response to lawyers' suggestions which dealt with matters other than indexing. Owing to the favorable comment on the 1897 Code index, it has been thoroughly checked and many useful items secured therefrom. Although the press of work in preparing the code for publication has so far prevented acknowledging the receipt of the various suggestions, due credit and thanks must be and they are now given for the many helpful suggestions received.

MAIN HEADS. The main heads in the index are set up in large black face capitals like the following style of type: PROBATE LAW. As mentioned above, the aim has been to make the main heads inclusive of all appropriate law. Some groupings may, at first thought, appear to be improperly joined, but a closer inspection will reveal some regulatory laws that are common to all, or some other purpose will become apparent which makes the consolidation desirable. For example, poultry is included as a subhead under the main head ANIMALS. This may seem a little strange until it is noted that some laws relating to animals, such as the regulations as to feeds and tonics, and the domestic animal fund law, apply to poultry as well as to domestic animals generally. Since it would be impractical to repeat these laws under the heading for each animal or fowl to which it applies, the solution seemed to be the grouping under ANIMALS. Of course, if the poultry law were indexed under POULTRY, a cross reference from POULTRY to such other main heads, as COMMERCIAL FEEDS, or DOMESTIC ANIMAL FUND could be made, but since this would require the searcher to look elsewhere, as well as under Poultry, for part of the pertinent law, it is better to turn at once to ANIMALS and find all of these matters indexed there. In the end it is felt that this will save time for the searcher. Other comparable situations have been handled similarly under main heads, such as BANKS AND BANKING, ELECTIONS, INSURANCE, MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS, TAXATION, and others.

SUBHEADS. The subheads in the index are set up in smaller black face capitals like the following style of type: NOTICE OF DISHONOR.

SUB-SUBHEADS. The sub-subheads, or a subdivision under a subhead, are set up in bold face print like the following style of type: Devises and bequests.

CROSS REFERENCES. Here are explanatory examples of cross reference uses (Intermediate index entries are omitted. Numbers shown do not appear in the index, but are used only for reference purposes herein). Although to most users of the index the purpose of the following cross references will be apparent, yet for clarity they are explained below.

CROSS REFERENCES TO MAIN HEADS:

1. DOCTORS, See main head PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS
   This example, number 1, illustrates the use and appearance of a general cross reference from one main head to another main head under which the subject is indexed.

2. DOCKETS
   Supreme court, See main head SUPREME COURT
   Here is an illustration, example number 2, of the use and appearance of a general cross reference from an index entry under one main head to another main head where the law is indexed. In this instance the searcher seeking the law relating to dockets of the supreme court and following the cross reference to the main head SUPREME COURT, will thereunder find the word, "docket", as the catchword leading to his topic. This identity of catchwords and continuity of thought has been used as frequently as possible. In those situations where, under the main head to which the searcher is referred, the catchwords are different or vary, they are so indicated in the cross reference as much as possible—see example number 4 below.

CROSS REFERENCES TO SUBHEADS:

3. WILLS, See main head PROBATE LAW, subhead WILLS
   This example, number 3, shows a cross reference from a main head to a subhead and indicates that the subject of "wills" is indexed as a subhead under PROBATE LAW.

4. MOTOR VEHICLE CARRIERS
   Chauffeurs' licenses, See main head MOTOR VEHICLES, subhead LICENSES TO OPERATE VEHICLES
   This example, number 4, informs the searcher that the subject of chauffeurs' licenses for motor vehicle carriers is indexed under the main head MOTOR VEHICLES, under the subhead of "licenses" rather than "chauffeurs' licenses". Vagueness is eliminated and the searcher's time is saved. He need not make a second search through the main head to which he is referred (as the usual cross reference in many indexes necessitates) but he may turn directly to the point where the desired topic is covered in the index.

5. RAILROADS
   Condemnation, See subhead EMINENT DOMAIN below
   A cross reference like example 5 directs the searcher to a different part of that same main head he is then examining. Its purpose, while directing the searcher to that part of the main head under which his topic is indexed, is to save the searcher's time by avoiding speculation as to synonyms under which the topic may have been indexed and then searching for them when no entry is found at various places where a searcher might look. The latter routine is customary in using indexes where cross references such as this are not used. Many of these cross references have been used to aid the searcher. The purpose in using this cross reference is also applicable to examples 6, 8, 9, and 10 below.

6. PROBATE LAW

   WILLS:

   Foreign estates, See subhead ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION above

   Cross references like this example, number 6, from within one subhead to a different subhead under the same main head have been used to direct the searcher quickly to the place where, within the title he is then examining, his desired topic is indexed. Although ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION was chosen as the entry under which to index this topic, some searchers may think of “foreign” as the catchword to look for. Cross references such as this, contemplate and relieve this situation, since the topic could not be indexed in every such possible place.

   While many lawyers have indicated a desire for an abundance of cross references between related titles and within the detailed index of each subject, other lawyers prefer to find a section number reference instead of the cross reference. Because a detailed index of the law under each related or similar title (for example, under absentees, administrators, bequests, descent and distribution, estates, executors, legatees, probate, wills, etc.) would make the size of the index prohibitive, we have endeavored to meet both of the above desires by collecting the law together in one place, with cross references to it from the other related or equivalent titles, but also at each cross reference wherever possible a section number reference to the general subject matter will be found. For example, the above mentioned related subjects have been indexed at one place under the consecutive titles of PROBATE COURT and PROBATE LAW. As an illustration of section numbers joined with a cross reference to refer to one of these main heads, see example number 7:

   7. DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION, 11980-12040, For detailed index see main head PROBATE LAW, subhead DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION

   A searcher looking for the law on descent and distribution, and examining the index under the letter “D” finds this entry as shown at 7. For those wishing a detailed index, the cross reference is furnished. For those who wish to turn directly to the general subject matter, the section references, as shown, have been added wherever possible. However, since references to many miscellaneous additional sections scattered throughout the code will usually be found in the detailed index, it is suggested that the better practice will be to follow the cross reference and examine the detailed index.

   CROSS REFERENCES TO SUB-SUBHEADS:

   8. BEQUESTS, See main head PROBATE LAW, subhead WILLS, thereunder see “Devises and bequests”

   A searcher desiring the law on bequests, and looking for it under the letter “B” finds this entry as shown at 8. The law there indexed does not lend itself well to a section reference as with the example number 7 above, but with a reference to both the main head and the subhead, the searcher may turn directly to his specific subject without examining other undesired parts of the title. Moreover, other related law indexed under the same main head is convenient and can be found if desired.

   9. PROBATE LAW

   Legacies, See subhead WILLS below, thereunder see “Devises and bequests”

   This cross reference serves the same purpose as explained under example number 4 above, except that it goes one step further and tells the searcher not only the subhead but also the sub-subhead where his topic is indexed.

   10. MOTOR VEHICLES

   Registration:

   Manufacturers’ plates, See “Special plates” below, under this subhead REGISTRATION

   Cross references like this example number 10 are used to direct the searcher to the index on the specific topic he seeks, and to simultaneously inform him that it is under the same subhead he is then examining. The catchwords “manufacturers’ plates” in the entry are ones which a searcher might logically expect to find, although the legislation involved uses the phrase, “special plates”. The entry serves a purpose similar to examples numbers 5 and 6 above.

INDEX ENTRIES AND INDEX SET-UP. The index entries are set in ordinary eight point roman type, as was the 1935 Code index. Whenever possible the entries were phrased to bring out the noun or main thought as the first word in the entry. Specimens, from two different pages of the index, showing the page set-up and the appearance and use of the cross references follow: (see opposite page)

In certain titles, a subhead GENERAL PROVISIONS, has been used for a grouping of entries referring to provisions applicable generally to the entire subject covered by the main head. For example, in COUNTY OFFICERS AND DEPARTMENTS, the entries under GENERAL PROVISIONS apply equally to each of the several county officers. Unless grouped in this manner the entries would have to be repeated many times. When using the index, the searcher should examine both the specific subject or officer desired and the “general provisions” where such subhead exists. Cross references will indicate whenever this is necessary.

DESCRIPTIVE FOLIO LINES. At the top of each page of the index the phrase “detailed index” used in the 1935 Code has been omitted, and substituted in its place is a line of bold-face type indicating what subject matter of the index appears on that page—an aid in quickly locating the general index classifications.

INDEX NOTATION SHEET. At the rear of the book there has been provided a detachable index notation sheet on which the lawyers and other users of the index may make notations as to desired index entries and improvements. The lawyers and other users of the index are urged to use this sheet and to send either their index suggestions therefrom, or this notation sheet with their index notations thereon, to the Code Editor prior to the publication of the next code, so that these suggestions may be considered and utilized.

CONCLUSION. It is hoped that the plan of following the general classifications of the law will be acceptable, and that the utility of the code will be increased by the use of this index, though doubtless many occasions for its improvement will be found. The cooperation of the members of the bar in making suggestions can be of great value in making future improvements.
