LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

On request of Darrah of Franklin leave of absence was granted Nichols of Hardin until noon.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER.

McFerren of Hamilton presented the name of Hon. M. B. Pitt of Harrison as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

We are at the threshold of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly. Never in the history of the state of Iowa have her citizens taken more interest in the organization of the House of Representatives than at the present time.

Economy and efficiency have been demanded by the people of a great state. The election of a speaker portends to some extent the policies that will be pursued and enforced. If policies are to become of any value to the people, they must be enforced. A firm and steady hand should guide the ship of state. The power of the speaker of the House of Representatives is greater than that of any other member of that body, therefore, he should have the requisites that go to make a man of leadership and power.

He should have ability and wisdom and he should be able to discern the sentiment of the times, with fairness and without prejudice, and to recognize the rights of friend and foe alike. He should have ability to grasp the commercial and the moral side of humanity.

He should be guided by the experience of the past and the needs of the present, and all in the light of a prophetic vision of the future. Law making is not for a day only, but it is for the ages. It has its roots in the beginning of government and its influence lasts until the end of social organization. We are not only concerned in legislation that is for the good of those who live in the present but for those who are to come after us.

He should have honor and patriotism. During the past fifty years mad commercialism has hovered over the destinies of the American people. Like a great bird of prey, it has sought with telescopic eye every effort of human industry. Likewise it has sought out every channel of government administration. There are some who look upon the wealth of the state of Iowa as a prodigal son looks upon the wealth of a rich father and wherever there exists a public fund, or wherever a public fund can be created they look upon it as the legitimate prey of business endeavor, but I believe that we are approaching a new era of honor where old glory and patriotism will be placed high above the greed of the world.

The speaker of the House should have courage. It is not difficult to find men of ability. It is not difficult to find men of honor, but to find men of ability, honor and courage have been problems of the past. In my judgment the crowning attribute of greatness is courage.

It is given to me at this time to place in nomination a man who answers the requirements I have named. I make no apology for his ability, nor his wisdom, nor his honor, nor his patriotism. I take great pleasure in nominating for speaker of the House of Representatives that noble and conscientious citizen, the Honorable M. B. Pitt of Logan, Iowa.

Rogers of Carroll was recognized and presented the name of Hon. George W. Crozier of Marion as minority candidate for Speaker.

Crozier of Marion moved that the nomination of Mr. Pitt be made unanimous. Motion prevailed and Hon. M. B. Pitt was declared unanimously elected Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly.

Shortess of Tama moved that a committee of two be named to escort the Speaker to the chair. Motion prevailed and the following committee was named: Shortess of Tama and Rogers of Carroll.

Upon being sworn and assuming the chair, Speaker Pitt made the following remarks:

Gentlemen of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly—This is to me a very important moment. By your action you have conferred upon me a great honor and also grave responsibilities. I hope that as the session proceeds you will all have occasion for increasing confidence in my desire to carry out the mandates and will of the people of Iowa.

We are gathered together here, from every corner of this great state, to act as is consistent with the greatest good of the greatest number and I hope and believe that you may all be moved solely by the desire to carry out the instructions of your constituents to the fullest possible extent.

If there is any feeling of prejudice left in the hearts of any of you, as a result of the strenuous contest through which we have just passed, I want to ask you to dismiss it, in the interests, not of myself or of yourselves, but of the great constituency which we all represent, the people of this great state of Iowa. For my part I can assure you most sincerely that I retain no feeling of ill will towards any member and I hope to be able to work with all of you most harmoniously and effectively.

The time of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly will pass quickly, and if this session is to be remembered after we have returned to our homes, it will be because we have acted with an eye solely to the public welfare. That should be the guiding star for the action of every member of this assembly. So I urge upon you that in every action you take you think not of your own, but of the common good.

Just a brief mention of what I hope you may do. Our laws are at present and for a considerable time past have been a bewildering legal maze, in which even the most trained mind becomes confused. Not only should we do nothing to aggravate this intolerable condition, but we should make it our purpose to straighten out such tangles as exist and to write our laws so clearly and plainly that their intent and meaning will be perfectly clear the moment they appear in the Journal of the House. I shall regard the strongest member of this body, he who gives his efforts toward facilitating prompt and efficient action instead of retarding it. Only in that manner can we hope to dispose of the important matters before us in a short period. Only by acting together in such a spirit of unity can we finish the business within the period of seventy days to which this session should be limited.

I want to impress upon you the fact that if I should have any influence on the deliberations and actions of this House it will be along the line of facilitating your work in general, rather than on specific measures; in promoting our common action as an organization rather than that of individuals.

I have not the ability to express my gratitude to you fittingly, but again I thank you all for the great honor you have conferred upon me. It shall be my highest ambition to prove as worthy of it as I can. Gentlemen, we will now proceed with our deliberations. (Applause.)

Wichman of Hancock moved that temporary chief clerk W. C. Ramsay be made the permanent chief clerk of the House. Motion prevailed and W. C. Ramsay was declared elected permanent chief clerk.

ELECTION OF PERMANENT OFFICERS.

Gray of Calhoun moved that the following list of temporary officers be made permanent:

Assistant Clerk, Frank S. Vetter.

Reading Clerk, Scott H. McClure.

Journal Clerk, Lillian Leffert.

Assistant Journal Clerk, Minnie L. Truax.

Engrossing Clerk, Ora Greer.

Enrolling Clerk, Mabel Elwood.

File Clerk, Charles A. Lindenau.

Assistant File Clerk, F. H. Howard.

Bill Clerk, L. M. Black.

Assistant Bill Clerk, J. P. Raymond.

Assistant Postmistress, Mrs. Fred H. Gresham.

Sergeant-at-Arms, H. Armstrong.

Chief Doorkeeper, W. H. Easterly.

Assistant Doorkeepers—Henry Murray, A. W. Crans, H. A. Hoffman, L. L. Crouse, J. A. Weiss, J. N. Wymore, L. M. Rander, Samuel Kling, Clark Wilson, Albert Goff, I. L. Rerick.

Pages—Donald Flenniken, Joe Cohen, William Cansdale, Brayton Harkness, Orbie Cavender, Ben Griffith, Leland Holmquist, George E. McKim, Raymond Harrison, William Wright.

Telephone Messenger, Louis King.

Chief Janitor, William Tomlin.

Assistant Janitors—William Givens, Harry B. Burnaugh, Ben H. Jones, Henry McCraven, Richard Windsor, Fred V. Miller.

Motion prevailed and the temporary officers as designated were declared elected as permanent officers of the House.

Griffin of Woodbury moved that the rules of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly be in full force and effect until the report of the committee on rules has been adopted. Motion prevailed.

Jones of Cerro Gordo moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Governor that the House is duly organized and ready to receive any communications he may desire to transmit. Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Jones of Cerro Gordo, Giltner of Monroe and Horchem of Dubuque.

Meredith of Jasper moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House is duly organized and ready to receive any communications that it may desire to transmit. Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Meredith of Jasper, Epps of Wapello and Mowery of Jefferson.

Johnston of Lucas offered the following concurrent resolution:

Be it Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That a joint convention of the two houses of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly be held January 9, 1917, at 2:00 o'clock p. m.

Be it further Resolved, That Governor Clarke be invited to read his message at this joint meeting of the two houses of the General Assembly, and that the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House be designated to deliver the invitation to him.

Be it further Resolved, That at this joint convention the vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor be canvassed and the result announced and recorded, as provided by law.

Unanimous consent having been given for the immediate consideration of the resolution, Mr. Johnston moved its adoption. Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

ELECTION OF A SPEAKER PRO TEM.

Neff of Pottawattamie placed in nomination the Hon. Arch W. McFarlane of Black Hawk as candidate for speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly and moved that the election of Mr. McFarlane be made unanimous. Motion prevailed and Mr. McFarlane was declared unanimously elected Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly.

Murray of Buena Vista moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort the speaker pro tempore to chair. Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Murray of Buena Vista and Reed of Guthrie.

Mr. McFarlane was escorted to the chair as speaker pro tempore and after taking the oath of office, made the following remarks:

Members of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

I am indeed grateful for the faith you have placed in me by electing me speaker pro tem of this assembly. I wish to assure you that I will at all times work in harmony with every member of this legislative body. I heartily agree with the Speaker if you please, when he said that we should get down to business and get through in sixty or seventy days, and I want to say that if it is in my power at any time to hurry legislation along, and at the same time make it successful, I shall certainly do it.

I am indeed grateful, perhaps more so than if I had sought this position, but I had not asked a single member to vote for me for Speaker pro tem, and as it has come absolutely unsolicited, I am going to try and prove to my friends that they have made no mistake in according me this honor.

Speaker pro tempore in the chair.

Klinker of Crawford moved that a committee of three be appointed to assign committee rooms to the various standing committees of the House. Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Klinker of Crawford, Larson of Montgomery and Baldwin of Johnson.

Wigdahl of Palo Alto offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to arrange with different ministers of the state for opening the sessions with prayer.

Unanimous consent having been given for immediate consideration, Mr. Wigdahl moved the adoption of the resolution. Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted. The following committee was named: Wigdahl of Palo Alto, Turner of Iowa and Anderson of Davis.

Kimberly of Scott offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the maximum number of committee clerks employed by the House shall be fifty-four, of which four shall be assigned to the minority and the balance to the majority. Such clerks shall be provided with badges, and in order to draw per diem, shall be on duty between the hours of 8:30 and 5:30 p. m., unless otherwise excused by the House. A special committee of three shall be appointed to determine the qualifications of candidates for the positions of committee clerks and assign them to committees. Only expert typists and stenographers shall be considered qualified.

Unanimous consent having been given for the immediate consideration of the resolution, Mr. Kimberly moved its adoption.

Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted. The following committee was named: Kimberly of Scott, Griffin of Woodbury and Rogers of Carroll.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

A committee from the Senate announced that the Senate was duly organized and ready to receive any communications from the House.

Richards of Muscatine moved that the Speaker and the Chief Clerk each be allowed a page. Motion prevailed.

Shaff of Clinton offered the following motion:

I move that the assignment of seats to the members of the House be made a special order for this afternoon at two o'clock, and that the names of the members be placed in a hat and drawn by the chief clerk, and as the names are called the members shall select their seats and remain in the same until the drawing is completed. Members with defective sight and hearing shall be permitted to select special seats in front. The members of the minority shall be permitted to select their seats in the northeast section of the House, if they so desire. Motion prevailed.

Miles of Jackson moved that a committee of three be appointed to determine the amount of mileage due each member and report the same to the House. Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Miles of Jackson, Boies of Buchanan and O'Donnell of Dubuque.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Klinker of Crawford asked for and obtained unanimous consent for the suspension of the rules governing the introduction of bills. Unanimous consent having been granted, he introduced the following bill:

House File No. 1 by Klinker of Crawford.

A BILL FOR AN ACT

To Repeal Paragraph Five (5) of Section One Hundred Thirty-eight (138) of the Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, and to Enact a Substitute Therefor; to Provide for the Preparation, Printing and Distribution of a Classified Index to Legislative Bills and Making Appropriation to Defray the Expense Thereof; and to Provide for the Preparation, Printing, Publication, Distribution and Sale of the Acts and Resolutions of the General Assembly and Making an Appropriation to Defray the Expense Thereof: all Relating to the Subject of Public Printing and Binding.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That Paragraph five (5) of Section one hundred thirty-eight (138) of the Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof, to-wit:

"5. All Senate and House bills shall be printed on the lightest possible paper suitable for such purpose, to be determined by the State Document Editor. The size of the paper shall be approximately eight (8) inches by ten (10) inches, so as to cut with the minimum amount of waste from standard stock size. The type used shall be ten point, and of the largest face practicable, as directed by the document editor. The lines shall be leaded with pica slugs. Each line of each section shall, on the left margin thereof, be consecutively numbered, commencing with the numeral one (1) for each section. Said bills shall be so printed that each line of the typewritten original bill shall constitute a line of the printed bill. For printing House and Senate bills, five hundred (500) or less, the State Printer may charge one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per page, said charge to include composition and press work, and twenty cents ($.20) for each additional one hundred (100) copies for each form of eight (8) pages or less. When the state printer is advised by the document editor that a bill issuing from one house of the general assembly may also issue from the other, he shall keep the type standing for a period of three (3) days after the printing of the same is completed, and the second order for copies thereof shall be treated as additional copies and charged for accordingly, save that, for each form of four (4) pages or less, a re-imposition fee of forty cents ($.40) shall be allowed. No temporarily bound copies of either the journal or of the bills shall be furnished except to the members of the general assembly, the governor, the lieutenant governor, the law librarian, the curator of the historical building, the attorney general and the law reporter, and to such other state officers or employees as the chairman of the committee on printing of either house may in writing during the session designate to the document editor."

SEC. 2. It is hereby made the duty of the document editor, at the direction of the committee on printing of either house, to prepare a classified index of bills, giving detailed information as to the status of all pending legislation, and to have the same printed in concise pamphlet form at such intervals and in such numbers as such committee shall designate, the same to contain such information and data, arranged under both serial number and subject, as will give to the members of the legislature the status of each bill. The said index shall be promptly printed and bound by the state printer and binder, respectively, under the direction of the document editor. Subsequent editions of said index during the same session shall be issued in a cumulative form, and the separate index of Senate and House bills may be bound in one volume. For the purpose of the employment of such assistance as may be required by the document editor in the preparation of said index, there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per month during each legislative session. Said appropriation for the work attending the preparation of the index for the present session shall be available immediately upon the taking effect of this act, and for subsequent sessions upon the legal organization of the two houses.

SEC. 3. Immediately upon the taking effect of this act, and at the beginning of each legislative session thereafter, the reporter of the Supreme Court, under the direction of the judges of the Supreme Court, shall commence and continue throughout the session, and thereafter as far as necessary, the preparation of manuscript copy of all laws, acts, joint resolutions and memorials passed thereat, arranging the same in chapters, in the order in which they are filed in the office of the secretary of state, and indicating on each the number of the House or Senate file. The state printer shall print the same as fast as manuscript is furnished to him by the reporter, and in the same size, style, type and appearance as the official edition of the Code, except that each line of each section of each act shall be consecutively numbered on the left hand margin thereof, and, with all possible dispatch, shall deliver a copy of the final corrected volume to the said reporter, who shall prepare and cause to be printed therewith an index thereto. The state binder shall bind the said volume as herein directed.

SEC. 4. In the preparation of said volume, the reporter shall have the same right to the possession of the original rolls and the same right to necessary supplies as now possessed by him in the preparation of the biennial supplemental supplement.

SEC. 5. The secretary of state shall prepare and deliver to said reporter for insertion in said volume a correct list of state officers, judges of supreme, district, superior and municipal courts, members of the general assembly and commissioners for this state in other states. There shall also be inserted therein the statement of the condition of the state treasury, as provided by the Constitution, which statement shall be furnished by he state auditor.

SEC. 6. To each volume shall be attached the certificate of said reporter that the acts, laws, joint resolutions and memorials therein contained have been prepared from the original rolls in the office of the secretary of state and are correct, which certificate shall be presumptive evidence of their correctness.

SEC. 7. Six thousand (6,000) copies of said volume shall be printed and bound in board covers, and shall be distributed as provided in Section forty-two (42) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, and to county officers and mayors of cities and towns as provided by Section forty-three (43) of said Supplement; and otherwise, the handling, management and sale of said volumes shall be as provided in Sections forty-three (43) to forty-six (46), inclusive, of said Supplement, except that all volumes shall be sold to residents of this state at fifty cents ($.50) per volume, and to all others at one dollar ($1.00) per volume.

SEC. 8. There is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of providing the necessary clerical assistance in preparing the volume of the Acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, the sum of one thousand two hundred dollars ($1,200.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary, which sum shall be wholly available for said purpose, immediately upon the taking effect of this act. There is hereby further appropriated out of any of such funds a like amount and for the same purpose for each special or regular session of the general assembly subsequent to the present session, which amount shall be wholly available for each session immediately upon its legal organization. Said appropriations shall be expended under the direction of the judges of the Supreme Court. The proper bills for printing and binding said volume shall be paid as provided by law.

SEC. 9. Section two hundred twenty-four-j (224-j) of the Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, is hereby amended as follows: By striking out the comma following the word "Supplement," where it appears in the fifth line preceding the close of said section, and by inserting a period in lieu of said comma, and by striking out all that part of said section which follows said inserted period.

SEC. 10. Section two hundred twenty-four-l (224-l) of the Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 11. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Capital and in the Des Moines Register, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

Read first and second time.

Unanimous consent having been granted, Klinker of Crawford offered the following motion:

I move that House File No. 1 be referred to a committee of three designated by the chair, which committee is to report back to the House within three days. Motion prevailed, and the following committee was appointed: Klinker of Crawford, Roberts of Ringgold and Anderson of Greene, and House File No. 1, was referred to the above committee.

The committee appointed to notify the Governor that the House was duly organized and ready to receive communications, returned and reported that the duty had been performed. Report was accepted and committee discharged.

The committee appointed to notify the Senate that the House was duly organized and ready to receive communications, returned and reported that the duty had been performed. Report was accepted and committee discharged.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has passed the following resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, That a joint committee consisting of six members of the Senate be appointed by the President, and six members of the House be appointed by the Speaker, to arrange for the inauguration of the Governor and the Lieutenant Governor.

THOMAS WATERS, JR., Secy.

Weaver of Polk asked unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution and moved that the House concur. Motion prevailed. The Speaker appointed the following committee: Starzinger of Polk, Weaver of Polk, Wormley of Plymouth, Hall of Taylor, Shaff of Clinton and Andre of Des Moines.

Wilson of Mitchell moved that the House adjourn to 1:30 p. m. this afternoon. Motion prevailed and the House adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Pitt in the chair.

Wilson of Mahaska moved that the chief clerk be authorized to assign desks in the press gallery to accredited members of the press. Motion prevailed.

Tucker of Clinton offered the following concurrent resolution:

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That the secretary of state be requested to furnish each member of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly and representatives of the press a copy of the code and supplement thereto and the supplemental supplement.

After unanimous consent had been given for immediate consideration of the same, Mr. Tucker moved the adoption of the resolution. Motion prevailed.

Moved by Randall of Linn that the members of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly be permitted to hold the seats which they occupied during the Thirty-sixth General Assembly, if they so desire. Motion lost.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Time for special order having arrived, the members were requested to vacate their seats. The members who desired to take advantage of the clause relative to defective sight and hearing made their selection and the drawing of seats proceeded, with the following results:

On request of Wilson of Mitchell leave of absence was granted Richards of Muscatine until Thursday morning.

On request of Weaver of Polk leave of absence was granted Flenniken of Jones until Thursday morning.

RECONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION.

Lee of Sac moved that the House reconsider the resolution with regard to the maximum number of committee clerks.

Moved by Shortess of Tama, seconded by Rayburn of Powshiek, that the question be laid on the table. Motion prevailed and the motion was laid on the table.

Speaker pro tem McFarlane in the chair.

COMMITTEE CLERKS REPORTED.

Kimberly of Scott, chairman of the committee on committee clerks, submitted the following report:

Your committee on the selection of committee clerks report that we have examined and recommend the selection of the following named applicants:

Elizabeth Plagman.
Helen M. Anderson.
Ruby Norman.
Agnes Brennan.
Neva K. McKinnon.
Jennie Gregg.
Frances Chapman.
Mae McClean.

Bess Bollinger.
Letha M. Cook.
Ada Stout.
Blanche Thompson.
Rua States.
Vera Low.
Marguerite Slaughter.
Nettie Carlson.

D. W. KIMBERLY,
T. F. GRIFFIN,
DOUGLAS ROGERS,
Committee.

Kimberly of Scott moved the adoption of the report. Motion prevailed and the report was adopted.

The following committee clerks took and subscribed to the following oath:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and of the State of Iowa, and that I will faithfully perform the duties of my office to the best of my ability, so help me God:

Elizabeth Plagman.
Blanche Thompson.
Letha M. Cook.
Bess Bollinger.
Agnes Brennan.
Mae McClean.
Ruby Norman.
Neva K. McKinnon.

Marguerite Slaughter.
Jennie R. Gregg.
Ada Stout.
Frances Chapman.
Rua States.
Nettie Carlson.
Helen M. Anderson.
Vera A. Low.

Speaker Pitt announced the appointment of Hertha L. Zabel as Speaker's clerk, who took and subscribed to the required oath.

Speaker Pitt also announced the appointment of Powell Rayburn as Speaker's page, who took and subscribed to the required oath.

On motion of Hall of Taylor the House adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Pitt in the chair.

Helming of Allamakee moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House is ready to receive it. Motion prevailed. The Speaker appointed as such committee Helming of Allamakee, Wichman of Hancock and Baldwin of Johnson.

The committee appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it reported that it had so acted. Report adopted and committee discharged.

The members of the Senate appeared and took seats on the west side of the House.

JOINT CONVENTION.

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint session was called to order, Hon. W. L. Harding, President of the Senate, presiding.

The roll was then called and the following members responded:

Those absent were: Ball, Chase, Enger, Fellows, Frailey, Flenniken, Helmer, Laffer, Richards, Stone—10.

The President declared a majority of the General Assembly present at the joint convention.

Senator Proudfoot of Warren moved that a committee of two from the House and one from the Senate be appointed to notify the Governor that the joint convention was in session. Motion prevailed. The President appointed Senator Proudfoot of Warren on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Peters of Dallas and Rogers of Carroll on the part of the House, as members of the committee.

The committee waited upon the Governor and escorted him to the Speaker's desk.

The President of the joint convention then presented Governor George W. Clarke, who read his message as per previous invitation.

GOVERNOR'S BIENNIAL MESSAGE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

It would not be possible for me to more fully comply with the constitutional mandate laid upon me to communicate to you "The condition of the State" than to refer you to the exhaustive reports of all of the departments and commissions of the State Government. These and the budget, submitted this year for the first time, contain absolutely everything that will throw any light on the question and they will illuminate it for every candid, investigating mind.

The financial situation for the next biennium, so far as it can be reasonably estimated, can be succinctly stated as follows:

The taxable value of all property subject to general levies for State and County purposes for the year 1916 was $957,759,442.00. The amount of moneys and credits returned was $303,504,592.00. The State received approximately one-thirteenth of the tax levied on this sum. It may be assumed that for the next two years the situation will not be materially changed. According to an opinion expressed by the State Auditor and State Treasury Department there will be little, if any, balance in the general fund on July 1, 1917, the beginning of the next appropriation period.

The estimated receipts of the general revenue for the two years beginning July 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1919, are $13,721,400.00.

The estimated expenditures for the period beginning July 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1919, are $12,803,660.00.

Excess of receipts over expenditures $917,740.00.

This balance will, of course, be understood as remaining after estimated expenditures for the next biennium are paid. Good business requires that a large portion of this sum remain in the treasury as a working balance. You should provide such a condition as would not permit the exhaustion of the treasury at any time. If you provide for any additional expenditures above the balance above stated, after leaving a reasonable treasury balance, you will, of course, have to provide for additional revenue. You should also make your appropriations available at such times as the treasury is in receipt of funds and not create demands that may be made upon it at any time of the year. I suggest that you consult the treasurer and auditor about this matter as it is very important.

THE BUDGET.

The statute provides that for the purpose of preparing a budget the departments and commissions must submit statements by the 15th day of November. This does not give time enough for a careful study and preparation of a budget. A day should be fixed much earlier. Besides, it is almost impossible for the Governor to work out satisfactory statements and estimates. In other states this whole matter is submitted to experts for preparation and submission to the Governor. I suggest that you amend the law by creating a budget committee to be composed, perhaps, of the chief clerk in the revenue department in the Auditor's office, the State Accountant and the Secretary of the Executive Council, and that the budget be required to be printed and submitted to the Governor for his examination and study by December first prior to the meeting of the General Assembly. This year, because of the delay of reports, it could not be had prior to five days before the opening of the session, and therefore careful consideration has been impossible. I desire here to acknowledge the great assistance of Mr. W. H. Williams, Chief Clerk in the Revenue Department in the Auditor's office; Mr. Frank H. Paul, State Accountant, and Mr. Ora Williams, Document Editor. To these officials is due the real credit for the preparation of the budget.

There has been abstracted for your easy reference and study, and printed as a part of the budget, a brief statement of increases or changes in appropriations asked for in the different departments. You will observe that there is quite a general request for increases of salaries. The greatest trouble about the salary question is the inequalities that exist. Of two persons holding equally responsible positions and rendering practically equivalent service there may be considerable difference in compensation. This may be due in some measure to the practice of allowing department heads in some cases to fix the compensation. I do not regard this as sound policy. It invites to favoritism. It may be due, to some extent, also, to legislative carelessness. Some salaries are fixed by law, some by joint resolution. In some cases they are paid out of a general appropriation to a department, in others out of the general fund. I recommend as to salaries that you endeavor to equalize them upon some sort of equitable, classified basis, that the salaries be fixed and that they be paid out of the general fund. In this re-adjustment you can determine as well as I as to whether the general level paid should be raised and, as to that, therefore, I make no recommendation, except that I think you should take into consideration the cost of living, especially as applied to those who have families to support.

You will find some continuing annual appropriations are asked for. I very much doubt the wisdom of such appropriations, except, possibly, in undertakings of great magnitude which necessarily would extend over a number of years. As a general proposition I hardly think such appropriations are consistent with the budgetary system that has been adopted. It contemplates that the General Assembly shall provide for the next biennial period and no more. Besides, no one can foresee what contingencies and necessities may arise—conditions which may command large expenditures of funds which large continuing annual appropriations may handicap. It may be laid down as a general truth, also, that such an appropriation will almost certainly be spent. It invites to extravagance. My recommendation is that you provide for the years which are yours and leave to your successors the duty of providing for theirs, when they confront, face to face, all the conditions that may then exist.

Some of you may be astounded at the amount of money asked. It is nothing unusual at all. It is quite likely that each department and institution views everything from its standpoint alone and not in its relations to the needs and welfare of the State as a whole. You will not, therefore, be expected, except possibly in rare instances, to grant any such sums as are asked for. You should, first of all, be careful to provide sufficiently for maintaining all of the State institutions and departments at their present standards of efficiency, and to continue and perfect undertakings already entered upon. After that you should proceed with great care. Always new buildings and extensions are asked for at State institutions. The asking, as a rule, cover the extreme of the desirable. As individuals, many things appeal to us as very desirable, indeed, but conditions, sane living, freedom from excesses forbid indulgence. It is for you to say in considering these things what the policy of the State under the present abnormal business conditions shall be. You should, in my judgment, cut down these requests by very large amounts, using care, however, that the pruning knife is not used in the wrong place.

The budget, with the abstract of requests for appropriations, increases and changes, so that you are advised at once of exact conditions, ought to enable the appropriations committees to proceed immediately with their work and ought to enable you to do unusually efficient and discriminating work. There can be no excuse now for delay until the end of the session.

PARDONS AND PAROLES.

It is the mandate of the constitution that I shall report to you every case of reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, with the reasons therefore and also all remission of fines and forfeitures. It is hardly practicable to make report in full herein so I content myself with setting out the substance in a separately printed report in full which will appear on your desks.

Upon the question of granting a pardon I have referred eight cases to the Board of Parole for investigation and recommendation. Two of these cases have not yet been reported upon, one was withdrawn by the applicant himself from consideration by the Board, one died while his case was under investigation, in two cases the Board recommended commutation of sentence to fifty years, in one case recommended suspension of sentence and in one recommended a pardon. All these recommendations by the Board were granted.

Prior to 1915 I referred two applications for pardons to the Board which were not reported upon during my first term of office, but later they reported adversely to granting either of them. I nevertheless granted both.

I also granted a pardon in one indeterminate sentence case on recommendation of the Board, and also in one county jail case upon recommendation of the trial judge and the county attorney.

I have granted thirty-five suspensions upon recommendation of the Board, one upon recommendation of the trial judge, and one hundred and seventeen from county jails.

I have restored to citizenship forty-six paroled men and, upon recommendation of the Board, two hundred and eighty. There have been eight revocations, thirty-two commutations and eighteen remissions of fines and forfeitures.

THE OFFICE OF BEE INSPECTOR.

The State Inspector of Bees informed me a year ago that it was his judgment that the work of the office should be reorganized and placed under the direction of the State College. In his last annual report he outlines his reasons, which seem entirely sufficient. I suggest, therefore, that his recommendations be adopted.

Two years ago I submitted to the legislature that the beekeepers of the State felt that their bees should be taxed. They ask consideration from the State and are willing, as I understand it, to reciprocate by having the exemption removed and assessors directed to list their bees for taxation thus adding a million dollars to the assessed valuation of property.

CONSOLIDATION.

There are in several departments some overlapping of work and duplication of reports made. This appears, for instance, in the department of Industrial Commissioner and Commissioner of Labor, notably with reference to accidental injuries and perhaps in other particulars. In several States these departments are administered under one department head. I suggest the advisability of an examination of the laws of those States for the purpose of determining whether a change could be made in our methods which would promote efficiency or reduce expenditures.

The inspectors under the Food and Dairy Department make inspection of hotels for some purposes. It would seem that while they were at it, their inspection might just as well be for all purposes of inspection required by the law, or, vice versa, the regular hotel inspectors might inspect for all purposes. I hardly see any reason for two corps of inspectors.

Under the county accounting department the examiners visit every county in the State. It is their duty to check up the accounts between the county and city treasurers. No reason is perceived why at the same time (and it would take very little additional time) they should not check up the cities which are under the examination of the State Municipal Department. It is not discoverable that there is any excuse for such a condition. I recommend that you carefully examine into all these matters in the interest of efficiency and economy.

TUBERCULOSIS.

I take this opportunity to commend the campaign which the State Board of Control has carried on against tuberculosis. That progress has been made is shown not only by the general knowledge which our people have in its prevention, but the decrease of the mortality and incidence of this disease. However, there is one aspect of this campaign to which I desire to direct particular attention. That of bovine tuberculosis. The tuberculosis cow is responsible for an appreciable amount of tuberculosis, especially among children. It is manifest, therefore, that repressive measures should be established to control, not only the animal herself, but milk and milk products as well. And if the tuberculosis dairy cow, as a source of infection to human beings, were alone considered, it would be sufficient cause for drastic legislative action, but beyond this there is a point of interest of vast economic consequence.

Tuberculosis is a serious threat to the live stock and packing interests of our State. It imposes a heavy tax upon these industries. The following statistics submitted from some of the abattoirs operating in Iowa, are illuminating:

(Exhibit "A") Total hogs killed in a six months period, 182,049; the live weight was 39,693,840 lbs. Cost $3,930,512.72. The average price paid per hundred pounds was $9.90. Of the total number killed, 1.87 per cent were condemned on account of tuberculosis, as unfit for food. The live weight of the condemned animals was 707,485 opunds. The loss of $51,291.93, or 13c per hundred live weight killed.

(Exhibit "B") 161,334 Iowa hogs killed in the period of one year, of which 25.4 per cent were sent to the retaining rooms, and 2.12 per cent were condemned as unfit for food on account of tuberculosis. This imposed a tax of 32.2 per hog, or a loss of 13.32 cents per cwt.

The report of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Federal government, discloses a most disquieting situation. For the year ending June 30, 1916, a total of 285,605 cattle were slaughtered by Iowa plants where federal meat inspection is maintained. Of the 285,605 killed, 11,099 carcasses were retained on account of tuberculosis. Of this number 1,584 carcasses were condemned as unfit for food on account tuberculosis.

There were, January 1, 1916, 9,069,000 swine in Iowa. It is apparent that not one-fourth of Iowa hogs slaughtered are packed by Iowa industries. The surplus hogs are shipped largely to Chicago, Sioux City, Omaha, St. Louis and eastern markets, and possibly it may be only a question of time when the entire packing business of the nation will discriminate against the Iowa hog. Already tuberculosis is imposing a tax of 13c per hundred pounds on Iowa hogs, over $2,000,000.00 annually.

January 1, 1916, there were 4,128,000 head of cattle in Iowa, of which number 1,391,000 were milk cows. The federal reports show that eight-tenths of one per cent of all the beef cattle slaughtered in Iowa, were condemned on account of tuberculosis, as unfit for food, but no one imagines the extent of this disease to be that low in dairy and breeding cattle.

It is also demonstrated that the prevalence of tuberculosis in the dairy districts is vastly greater than in other sections of the state. Tuberculosis cattle transmit the disease to the swine. If the control of tuberculosis in dairy and breeding cattle is established by the state the problem may be considered to be in process of solution. The stock and dairy interests of our state are of great importance, and the approach to this question involves not only the bovine itself, but dairy products as well. It is not wise for an intelligent people to tolerate so great a financial drain, or to subject her people to the imminent perils of the tuberculosis cow.

I recommend that legislation be devised by which to control this increasingly serious situation in our state. Three main points may be suggestive. The testing with tuberculin of all dairy and pure bred cattle,—partial compensation to owners of all condemned animals,—and the ownership by the state of all animals so condemned. I am informed that the Federal government will divide the responsibility with the state of Iowa, and will co-operate in any progress devised to eradicate tuberculosis.

RECOMMENDATIONS HERETOFORE MADE.

Some recommendations I have heretofore made I desire to repeat. I repeat them because I thoroughly believe in them and believe they should be adopted. Of nothing whatever am I more thoroughly convinced than that from whatever standpoint it may be viewed the house of representatives and the senate of this State ought each to be reduced in numbers one-half. I doubt very much if there could be found anywhere any argument in support of such numbers in State legislative bodies by anyone of commanding ability or by a recognized student of State governments. I sincerely hope you will not carelessly pass this suggestion by but that you will give it most sincere consideration. Rising above all considerations of self, of political preferment, come to the question as if it were an original one in Iowa government. Let it be provided in a proposed amendment to the constitution, in a proper form, that it shall be in force and effect at a time far enough in the future to disturb no one now in office.

I have heretofore recommended that the office of Railroad Commissioner should be appointive. I am more and more convinced of it.

I have urged before that there ought to be created the office of business manager of the affairs of the county. I hardly think that anyone could give a good reason why this should not be done. Thousands of dollars could be saved to the people. His salary would be as nothing compared to his value. A budgetary system could be worked out by him and the business of the county put upon a business basis. Now nobody gives any real attention or any really sincere expenditure of time to county affairs. No genuinely business institution would tolerate such a condition of affairs one day.

As to court procedure: I say again in my judgment the law ought to provide for majority verdicts in civil cases.

The time for taking appeals ought to be reduced. What reason can be given for hanging up a civil or criminal case for six months in which to appeal?

Interminable latitude in the examination of jurors for the trial of a cause should not be permitted. Taking days, sometimes weeks in selecting a jury is ridiculously absurd. The court should be given control of this matter.

On appeal, prejudice should not be presumed and there should be no reversal unless the court could say the jury was probably misled by the error of the court.

If a witness in a criminal case declines to become a witness in his own behalf and explain the facts tending to establish his guilt, counsel should be privileged to comment on that fact to the jury and the law forbidding it should be repealed.

I believe the grand jury should be abolished, the law providing, however, that in exceptional cases of great public interest and concern the District Court should be authorized to convene a grand jury to make investigation.

Two years ago I urged the necessity of establishing a Medical Department in the State Library and gave what then seemed to me cogent reasons for so doing. I repeat the recommendation and sincerely hope you will not fail to favorably consider a matter of such great importance.

Twice before, for the most part, I have made these recommendations and I respectfully refer you to what was then said in support of them.

THE IOWA INSURANCE RATING LAW.

The law was enacted by the Thirty-sixth General Assembly. During the first year of its existence it was subjected to much adverse criticism. Much of this has subsided, or at least, is quiescent. However, criticism is still lodged against it and its repeal has been suggested. When the natural conservation of the human mind and the advantages gained by some, under old methods, are considered this is not surprising. All progress has ever met and ever will meet with such opposition. The importance of this matter to the people of the State, it seems to me, justifies a brief consideration here.

I desire to call your most careful attention to the holding of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of The German Alliance Insurance Company vs. Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Kansas, 233 U. S. 389, because of the clearness and conclusiveness of the discussion by which it determines that the business of insurance is affected with a public interest and that its contracts and rates may be subjected to governmental regulation in the interest of the public welfare. It is put upon exactly the same ground that the regulation of railway, water, light, gas, electricity and public warehouse rates is put, viz., that a business which is of public concern may be regulated in the interest of the public. In enacting the insurance law, then, the legislature, within its province, determined that it was for the common good and the court held that it violated no constitutional provision.

Not only has the law this support in principle, but it had almost nation-wide consideration of the most careful, kind by experts in insurance matters, chosen from the supervising officials of ten of the great States of the Union, from New York to Idaho, by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners from the Insurance Departments of all of the States. This Committee, so chosen, held meetings in different parts of the country for more than a year at which there were heard representatives of insurance companies and persons engaged in rate-making. "The economic basis of fire insurance rates, the methods of making rates and the relation between rate-making and other problems of fire insurance," were carefully and exhaustively studied. The recommendations of this committee to the convention after such prolonged study may certainly be said not to contain anything not reasonably mature and sound and not in accord with their honest convictions. It certainly represented what in its judgment was necessary to protect the insuring public and its recommendations are embodied in the Iowa law. The Insurance Commission of Ontario, Canada, refers in its report to this convention as "the most important non-legislating association in the United States so far as insurance matters are concerned" and says "much more than ordinary importance should be attached to their findings, and further says as to the Iowa law that it is believed "it presents a measure more nearly akin to the interests and requirements of this Province than any other" the commissioner has seen. Mr. Herman L. Ekern, former Insurance Commissioner of Wisconsin, and an eminent authority, in an address a few months ago said "The Iowa law probably reflects most closely the public sentiment of the United States on the regulation of fire insurance rates. Not only did this State follow the recommendations substantially of the convention referred to but so also did Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma and Kentucky and, in part, Michigan and Pennsylvania" and Kansas has a like law. The law, therefore, rests upon a sound legal principle, it represents the careful, mature judgment of the most competent men upon the subject under consideration to be found and it has had the legislative approval of eight States. It would seem to rest as to its general features and purposes upon an unshakable foundation. Besides, the State of Iowa should never relinquish the principle of rate regulation of a business affected by a public use, as it would do in part by a repeal of this law.

Not only has it all these things to commend it but actual experience also should commend it to every unprejudiced mind. Prior to its enactment rates were merely something to be juggled with by agents, rested upon no scientific basis, embodied no principle of uniformity or equity, some paying more and some less than warranted by the risk. They were simply subjects of dickering between the agent and the insured. The premiums paid on insurance constitute the fund out of which the enormous fire losses of the country are paid. The people must have insurance but no one should contribute more or less to said fund than his risk would warrant so far as it is reasonably possible to determine. This law provides for rate-making bureaus paid by the companies who, after surveys made and the application of years of observation and experience, establish in the first instance, rates in conformity with the hazard. Classification of risks are made. These are based on such considerations, among others, as kind of building, condition, location, occupancy, and fire fighting facilities available. To illustrate; A town without water protection falls in a higher class rate than one well supplied. Like hazard, like risk. Hence the law contemplates uniformity, equity. There can be no discrimination any more. Just as there can be no discrimination in freight rates or passenger fares any more. Besides, this law tends to reduce fire loss. It stimulates better, safer building, correction of fire danger, better facilities for suppressing fires because these things reduce the hazard and the rate. The law is flexible as between the companies and bureaus and permits variation from bureau rates and thus competition, but there can be no variation except on notice and the whole, bureaus and companies, are under the direct supervision of the Insurance Commissioner. Any person may carry a complaint to him and may appeal from him to the district court. In the beginning of the operation of this law some predicted that millions of dollars more would be taken from the people in premiums. This is only the reception that forward-moving, constructive legislation always receives. The fact is, as shown by the records, that the average rate paid in 1915 was lower than ever before in the history of the State. It is simply the old question of regulating in the interest of the whole people, business which is of public concern and which question it had been thought was settled in Iowa. Certainly the public welfare requires that the law in all its essential features and purposes be retained.

NEW COMPANIES.

A very proper subject for your consideration in connection with insurance is the matter of the regulation and control, so far as can be done, of new companies prior to the time they receive their license and enter upon an actual insurance business. I do not know of any ground for criticism of any company in the promotion stage in Iowa, but in some other States methods have obtained which occasioned the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to purchasers of promotion stock. The organization of new companies are on every hand throughout the country. Capital stock may be sold at two or three for one and such portion of the surplus as may be desired by the promoters appropriated for promotion expenses—such as payment of salaries, commissions for sales of stock, rents, equipment, supplies, anything. Sometimes the whole scheme has seemed to be organized for the purposes of fleecing the public. "The Western Underwriter," published in Chicago, in a recent article discussing this question said "the time has arrived when a law should be enacted giving the State Insurance Department regulation over companies in process of promotion" and that such a law should be "one of the earliest to be passed at the next session of the legislation." An Insurance Journal published at Atlanta, Georgia, was at about the same time suggesting the same thing. In this State from the time when the articles of incorporation are filed to the time when license to begin business is granted the State has no jurisdiction over the company. If it never gets to the point of writing insurance the stockholder has no protection. The insurance laws of this State, in my judgment, are to be very highly commended, except in this omission to place the new company under the jurisdiction of the Insurance Department immediately upon the approval of its articles of incorporation. The law should limit the percentage to be paid on commissions, salaries, etc. It should require that the subscription contract specifically define the proportion which may be used for expenses. It should require that copies of all contracts, advertisements, literature and other papers be filed with the Commissioner and that the promotion of the company in general be under his supervision. This would be some protection to the public while otherwise there is practically none against any one who might conceive the idea of promoting an insurance company. I recommend that the law be so amended. No honest, high-minded organizer and promoter of a company could or would criticize such a provision but rather would commend it as placing insurance upon a high plane and establishing it in the confidence of the people.

THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL.

There is an overlapping, or, at least to some extent, a similiarity of work done and results attained in the office of the Fire Marshal and the Department of Insurance. In the matter of fire prevention they are closely related. The rating law is a very potent factor for reducing fire hazards because through its operation the inspection of rated risks in cases of complaint is necessary and because its natural tendency and purpose is to eliminate dangers from fire and prompt the installation of equipment to prevent fire loss. An inspector, understanding the rating system, could at the same time suggest improvements in the way of reducing both the fire hazard and insurance rates. This service would enlarge that now done from the office of the Fire Marshal and at no greater expense. In fact, it seems to me that the duties of the Fire Marshal naturally belong to the Department of the Insurance Commissioner and should be administered by it. In some States this is done. Considerable money is expended in the way of prosecutions connected with suspicious fires and a question may be raised as to whether it is justified by results. The real value to the people comes through the work of inspection and fire prevention and the reduction of the cost of insurance must depend upon the reduction of the amount of fire waste. I believe it would be to the advantage of both departments and to the State if they were consolidated and I so recommend. The ferreting out of arson cases could and should be a part of the duties of the State Agents.

THE BOARD OF PAROLE.

The law makes it the duty of the Board of Parole to render such assistance as may be necessary to the success of the parole system in procuring employment for paroled prisoners. A large part of the success of the system has been to the patient, earnest work of the Board in this particular. A sympathetic oversight and constant interest is maintained in the man resulting in great helpfulness to him as long as he is under parole. He is sustained by the consciousness that the State is interested in his welfare.

During 1916 the Board granted 385 paroles from prison and 27 on the recommendation of judges and county attorneys. All these men were furnished employment and, so long as under parole, have the care, helpfulness and advice of the Board.

I recommend that the law be amended so that it will require that all paroles granted by Judges be to the Board of Parole. Then the paroled man will immediately come under its supervision, a spirit of helpfulness and personal interest will immediately surround him. If, however, he is paroled to some individual, charged with no particular duty toward him, it is often the case that he drifts, little is known of him and little encouragement extended. The work of the Board is so organized that it is ever in communication with him and that to help. For this reason I make this recommendation.

THE GOOD ROADS QUESTION.

The public highway question has been an urgent one for fifteen years, or more. Every session of the legislature has dealt with it to some extent. The law has grown better all the time and there has been constant improvement in the roads, very rapid in the last four or five years. The question will doubtless receive consideration by you. I see no reason why it should not be approached in the unanimous desire to find and do the best thing for the progress and good name of the State. Why should such a question involve bitter feelings? It is unthinkable that any one could be found who does not hold good roads to be very desirable and essential to the economic interests of the State. It is simply a question of methods. All appreciating the inestimable value of a result, shall it fail of attainment because of an unseemly contention about ways and means? Especially should anything of this kind occur when noboddy anywhere is proposing to lay an additional burden to the extent of one dollar upon anybody? Should anything of this kind occur when the law already fully provides means for financing all that is desired and hoped for in good roads? Should there be any such result when the application of business methods to the expenditure of funds would save their dissipation and secure them for permanent enjoyment? Should there be any such result when it seems clear that in those communities of the State where the people have gone ahead and built roads, surfaced with gravel after approved plans, that lands have advanced more rapidly in value, and especially where the consolidated school has been added, than in other parts of the state where there has been opposition or refusal to advance? Should a contention about ways and means result in failure to go forward in the face of the testimony of four hundred farmers in letters to the Better Roads Commission of the increased value of land and other advantages where such roads as are proposed in Iowa have been built? Could there really be left anything to contend about when the roads themselves demonstrate the wonderful improvement under the Highway Commission, when 15,000 permanent bridges and culverts speak with eternal voice in approval of methods, when an annual saving to the people of $4,000,000.00 is realized by the Commission and when only by the retention of it can the more than two million dollars be secured from the government and when the wisdom and efficiency of the law is appealing to other States as a model? Wherefore, seeing that we are compassed about with by so great a cloud of witnesses what manner of persons ought we to be? Have not all movements of mankind toward betterment been opposed? Has not all progress cost something? Is it not the settled conviction of all men that it has been worth infinitely more than it cost?

Nobody, so far as I know, has ever at any time advocated a bonded indebtedness of any amount to raise money for road construction. What has been suggested is that any county should be allowed at its option to anticipate its highway revenues already provided for by issuing serial bonds running over a brief period of years and using the money thus secured in a comprehensive and economical sort of way in road construction. This it could thus do and the economy of it would more than cover the interest out-lay on the money. This would be doing business in a large way and realizing upon it at once and not in a "gimlety" way with corresponding results. This would be spending your money and having something for it at once. This is the way the business of the world has ever been done by men of energy and foresight and success. It is the way that every county represented here today has built bridges court-houses and school houses. It is the way cities have been built. It is the way the great business of this city and every other on earth, has been established and developed. But for this principle and method the great railway systems of this country would not have been possible. But for it, many times, a railway could not increase or renew its engines and cars. But for it the great liners would not be plowing the ocean. But for the invocation of this principle of credit the whole Mississippi Valley and the Great West would be a slightly developed land and the life we enjoy impossible. The fact is that the whole vast domain west of the Great River and east of it as well is pledged and has been, since a people endowed with unshakable courage came into it, to the building of a great nation now and enjoying it now in its beneficence and power rather than wait the slow progress of the ox and be chained everlastingly to the life and methods of the prairies and the woods a century ago. The whole thing as it is today is based upon an anticipation of revenues.

A vast majority of the farmers of Iowa, I venture to say, acquired their farms, in whole or in part, by an anticipation of revenues from them. They paid part down, mortgaged, or bonded them, in anticipation of what they could be made to produce, and went to work and from the revenues paid off the mortgages and in the meantime owned and enjoyed them for five or ten years, the length of the mortgages. Is there anything alarming in all this? Is there anybody anywhere that has not been benefited or who has not profited by the anticipation of revenues by the great business enterprises of the country? Of course good business judgment and foresight is always to be exercised in anticipating future possibilities but here are the road revenues. Their income is certain. No element of chance can intervene. Why fear to apply the principle here, applied everywhere else? Why not authorize townships and counties that desire to do so to proceed in this way? If there is nothing compulsory about it what can be the objection? The highway question is of the greatest importance to the State. It is the opening of a new era in the development of this country. I pray you do not allow any retrogression. Think out carefully and dispassionately whatever you do.

I commend to your careful consideration both the report of the Better Roads Commission and the separate and additional suggestions of Mr. James C. Davis of that Commission. These will reach your desks. These gentlemen, at my request, cheerfully served on this commission wholly in the interest of the public welfare and entirely at their own expense. I want in this public way to convey to them my personal appreciation and thanks and I am sure, also, that of disinterested, unselfish citizenship everywhere. In view of their work I need do nothing more than refer to the Federal Aid Act.

The Congress passed an act to provide aid by the United States to the States in the construction of roads. Under this Act I have been notified by the Department of Agriculture that there has been apportioned to this State for 1917, the sum of $146,175.60 and that it is estimated that during the next four years the apportionment will be as follows: For 1918, $292,351.20; 1919, $438,526.80; 1920, $584,702.40; and for 1921, $730,878.00, or a total in five years of $2,192,634.00.

The Act provides, however, that no money apportioned under it shall be expended in any State until its legislature assents to its provisions, except that until the final adjournment of the first regular session of the legislature held after its passage the assent of the Governor shall be sufficient. On August 12th last I filed with the Department of Agriculture formal assent to the provisions of the Act. The question, therefore, as to whether this State will avail itself of these provisions is for you to determine before adjournment. If assent by formal act is given by you it must be understood that the State will make available sufficient funds to match the federal apportionment in its co-operation with the Department of Agriculture in the construction of any roads agreed upon between that Department and the State Highway Department. It is, as I suppose, entirely immaterial from what source the State pledges these funds in advance—whether from direct appropriations or from tax levies already provided for or from funds derived from automobile licenses. There was expended in the State in 1915 for road and bridge construction purposes approximately $13,525,364.00. A small portion of this would meet all the requirements of the Federal Act. Assuming that the automobile licenses for 1917 and from year to year will aggregate $2,000,000.00 the Federal apportionment could be secured by pledging a portion of this fund, and, in this way, it seems to me, you should meet the government requirement.

Mr. James C. Davis in his discussion already herein referred to has made such a clear and complete analysis of the duties of the State in order to avail itself of the provisions of the Act of Congress that, with his permission, I embody the same herein and make it a part hereof with my urgent recommendation that you enact such legislation as may be necessary to that end.

He says:

- 1st. Accept the provisions of the Act by legislative enactment.
- 2d. Have a State Highway Commission or State Highway Department.
- 3d. Have a definite, comprehensive, and practicable plan of road improvement covering a five-year period.
- 4th. Such plan as the State may adopt must be submitted for the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.
- 5th. There must be an agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the State Highway Commission as to the character of the proposed road construction.
- 6th. The work must be done, as provided by the State laws, under the supervision of the State Highway Commission.
- 7th. The State must adopt a reasonable plan for the maintenance of roads receiving Federal aid.

THE CAPITOL GROUNDS.

The Executive Council in developing the grounds ordered purchased by the Thirty-fifth General Assembly has proceeded in all respects as directed to do by the law and not otherwise. The law itself submitted a plan and, so far as the work has proceeded, it has followed that plan. The wisdom of the law is revealed in many particulars but in none more than that the development of the grounds was not to be left to hap-hazard, or diversified notions of succeeding legislatures but to the genius of a world-renowned landscape architect. When the whole is completed and the years have given the growth of grass and flowers and shrubs and trees, interspersed by walks and drives, the far-vision of that legislature, doing a work for all the centuries, will be approved by larger and larger numbers even as it is now. Interference in any respect with the plan is, it seems to me, to mar it. It rests in the mind of the architect as a whole. Each thing in the plan has relation to the whole. Should the untrained, the unskilled, take for instance, the sculptor's work, out of his hands to give it better expression, or should the artist surrender his picture, nearing completion, to the painter of houses to bring out the fine lineaments of the face and put the light in the eyes? Among men and women who have given their lives to the study of landscape art and the relation of buildings to each other and to monuments and of monuments to each other, and who have visited these grounds or examined the plans there is no difference of opinion, all concurring that the plans are artistically correct.

The law was wise in providing funds through a sufficient number of years to perfect the work as planned. It is sincerely to be hoped that no diversion will be ordered until the work is some further years advanced if ever at all. The tax levy ordered per annum is not burdensome, not exceeding four and one-fourth cents per thousand dollars of assessed valuation. May not Iowa become famous for having made one spot out of her millions of acres supremely attractive and beautiful and that at the seat of her government, surrounding splendid buildings to come in the near and also in distant years, themselves a part of the satisfying whole? The appeal, gentlemen, is to you and those who shall succeed you. The voice is of the present; it is the cry, also, of the future.

A NEW BUILDING AT THE CAPITOL.

A new building on the capitol grounds for the State's business is an imperative necessity. Other buildings may have been needed heretofore at other places and may be now for State purposes but never at any time could there have been a more compelling necessity than exists here at this moment. Every effort has been made by the Executive Council to house the business of the State and it has succeeded in only the most unsatisfactory and inconvenient way. It simply cannot be done any longer. It could not have been done as it is if the State, in extending the grounds, had not bought some buildings, once residences, that could be used. They are not adapted to the uses to which they are put. The Capitol building proper is crowded beyond its capacity. Use for storage purposes is practically everywhere and confusion reigns. The Executive Council has partitioned, made doorways, gone out into the rotunda and disfigured it, as you have observed, until the limit has been reached, indeed, far exceeded. Some of the buildings outside are old, unsuitable, and constantly in danger from fire. Fore instance, the building occupied by the Dairy and Food Commissioner is an old dilapidated flat. The State Architect, reporting upon its condition, says it may justly be called a "fire-trap." The two old hot air furnaces are a "source of danger." "The plastering is old and much of it is ready to fall at any time if the building or floors are suddenly jarred, as when packages are moved or dropped." "The outer walls are badly cracked in all fronts" and "the structure, as a whole, is in bad condition." And yet the equipment and fixtures used in the building are conservatively valued at $15,000.00. Much of the same could be said of the buildings north of the Capitol occupied by the State.

The great law and reference library in this building, hardly surpassed anywhere, worth half a million dollars, is, in the upper galleries, disintegrating in the extremely dry heat that necessarily prevails under such conditions. It is almost criminal recklessness to continue such a situation.

Nobody calls in question the great need, but something of a controversy has arisen as to whether the new building should be known as an "Office Building" or a "Judiciary Building or Temple of Justice." Into this discussion I shall not enter. I shall only say that this General Assembly will greatly fail of its duty if it does not provide for a new building here, or the commencement of one at the earliest possible day.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

The nomination of candidates for public office in this State by a primary election has been in vogue for a period of ten years—a long enough time to give its efficiency and adaptability to the purposes designed by its advocates a reasonable test. Results from the beginning have not been entirely satisfactory. Changes from time to time have been made in the hope of making it an approved instrument of popular government. No improvement has been perceived. It seems to have been continually losing ground in the minds of thoughtful men sincerely interested in good government. To test the public mind of the State on the subject I some weeks ago sent out quite a large number of letters to men of all parties and former factions asking whether they were satisfied with the law, not simply in theory, but in its practical application, and if not why, and whether they would recommend a change, and if so in what particulars. Almost all responded and not one said he was entirely satisfied. All but two or three expressed thorough dissatisfaction and disappointment. Nearly all recommended very radical changes, many denounced it as subversive of representative government and favored its repeal. Many of those who were its staunchest advocates in the beginning and who were in considerable measure responsible for its enactment were as severe in their criticism of results as many of those who never regarded it with favor.

A wave of popular discontent, which swept over the country something like a decade ago and had a very substantial foundation, occasioned much legislation in many States based upon the thought that the people should participate more directly in matters of government, going to the extent in some States of enacting provisions which might practically abdicate the functions of the legislature. This was thought to be demanded by the exigency of the time and entirely justifiable in a democracy. This whole matter opens a very interesting field for study and discussion which, of course, cannot be entered upon here, inviting as it is. It must suffice to say that ours is not a pure democracy. We have a democratic republic. James Madison referring to this question in the Federalist said: "Such democracies have ever been spectacles of turbulence and contention; have ever been found incompatible with personal security or the rights of property; and have in general been as short in their lives, as they have been violent in their deaths." Further he said: "By a republic I mean a government in which the scheme of representation takes place. The two great points of difference between a democracy and a republic, are, first, the delegation of the government, in the latter, to a small number of citizens elected by the rest; secondly, the greater number of citizens and greater sphere of country over which the latter may be extended." I suppose, however, a republic might extend over any extent of territory. But a pure democracy is clearly incompatible with such a vast extent of country as the United States. To my mind it is just as clearly impossible of ultimate success in a continued high order of government in a State such as Iowa, with a population of 2,358,066 people, containing more than 684,000 entitled to vote. It was clearly possible in New England colonial town meetings. It is still successful in such ventures. Switzerland is often referred to, but Iowa is three and a half times as large as Switzerland. Besides, Switzerland is divided into twenty-five cantons, each sovereign and each but little larger than one Iowa county. In the canton of Zurich, next to the largest in population in the confederation and probably the most intelligent, in ninety-two successive instances of measures submitted by referendum to the people only 77 per cent, on an average, of the total vote was cast and of this twenty per cent was invalid or blanks, leaving only fifty-seven per cent valid votes cast and twenty-three per cent of the voters not voting at all. Of the votes cast one-fourth of them were cast by persons who either felt they were not well enough informed to vote, or, in general, they were lacking in intelligence, and twenty-three per cent had not interest enough to vote at all. Therefore, the issues in these cases were determined by a majority of the fifty-seven per cent voting or, doubtless, by a small minority of the voters of the canton. This was the result in a unit of government but little larger than an Iowa county. This manifests the want of interest and intelligent grasp of the questions involved by reason of failure and even impossibility of the people informing themselves. This may easily result in government by a minority. This is the result in the best and longest tried democracy and this ever has been and ever will be the result. It is simply impossible to ultimate otherwise. I cannot but reach the conclusion that those who see in our primary laws a tendency toward the destruction of the representative principle upon which this government was built are right. They lead away from the moorings cast by the fathers and in this we may well pause. It was Lord Chatham, one of the most profound statesmen in English history, who said of them

"For solidity of reason, force of sagacity and wisdom of conclusion under a complication of difficult circumstances no nation or body of men can stand in preference," and that estimate for more than one hundred and twenty-five years of our experience as a democratic republic, has stood unchallenged as the judgment of all the earth. They were the representatives of the people laying the foundations of a republic in a new world. They were ordaining a constitution that was to forever protect the people against themselves, that was to be the fortress of protection for the minority. As representatives they said, "We the people of the United states * * * do ordain and establish this constitution." But if it had gone, on a referendum, to the people we know now and they knew then that it never would have been adopted and we never should have had that great instrument.

As to the further practical operation of the primary laws it may be said that nobody is responsible for results. Nobody nominates candidates for public office. They select themselves. The question of fitness is not discussed and passed upon by anybody. They are found in the field. Multiplied thousands of voters know nothing about their qualifications and do not and cannot take the time to investigate. If they could, to whom could they go? To everybody only. And everybody is nobody. The voter simply ratifies the candidate's selection of himself. He has nothing to do with selecting the agents of his government. The most intelligent voter does not know how to mark his ballot below the head of the ticket. It is manifest that it would be better if candidates were selected by representatives chosen by the people in small units of government. Then there could be some canvass as to fitness. Then responsibility could be located. Then the people would indeed select their candidates. That would be democratic. It is not democratic where the voter expresses no opinion as to nearly the whole of the ticket he casts. He makes no selection. He votes blindly. He simply makes a thrust in the dark. Why insist that he wait until he is twenty-one years of age before he does this? He could do it as well at fourteen. Or why insist that the voter be a male? A sixteen year old girl could make a stab at the field with just as much certainty of impaling the best man. That it is mostly a chance, a lottery, was humiliatingly admitted when the legislature ordered a rotation of the names on the ballot. That it could be nothing else was conclusively demonstrated when no better results followed. There could not possibly be a greater delusion than that a repeal of the primary laws would deprive the people of their power, of direct participation in their government. The fact is that the primary prevents that very thing. The people cannot proceed with the greatest efficiency, precision and intelligence by multitudes. All experience establishes with unshakable certainty this fact, not only in government but in business and every other department of life where large issues are involved. This principle is recognized and acted upon everywhere else but in government where it ought to obtain with greatest force.

When this new plan and departure from the original plan and structure of our government is carefully thought out, it seems to me, if I am not thinking crookedly, that it does not afford security against misgovernment; that its tendency is not beneficent; that it is constantly toward mediocrity; that it will grow more in efficient and unsatisfactory with the passing years; that self-government, genuine, orderly, capable government; that its tendency is not beneficent; that it is constantly toward the multitude about an array of self-selected, self-imposed candidates. The thought of the office seeking the man, an ideal once cherished, has already perished and is held in contemptuous derision. Discussion and deliberation as to party policy and candidates are not possible at the polls—not possible where the electors number hundreds of thousands. The people may in fact be left without any potential voice in the destiny of their country or themselves. There may be nobody on board capable of navigating the ship especially in the violence of a storm. In a great emergency—and we cannot conclude it will never arise—could there be any certainty, under the primary system, that a great, strong, forceful man, lost in his devotion to his country, its inspiring traditions and his belief in its great destiny could be chosen. The primary tends to exclude the best, most unselfish and capable men. The rule is that they will not undergo the methods which seem necessary to success: The meaningless circulation of petitions, the harassing and long-drawn out primary campaign within the party, tending to disrupt and weaken the party, a great evil where government must proceed by parties, the enormous and disgraceful expenditure of money, all tending to corrupt public morals, lower and contaminate the political and public ideals of youth—all this with reference to questions that must touch every citizen, really the most momentous questions with which he has to do. Then must follow the campaign for the general election with all of the convulsion and disappointment and bitterness of the primary campaign carried over into it. The tendency of it all is to develop the demagogue, lower to debasement the tone of our political life, deprive the country of great leadership, inspired only by a desire for the common good, for a commonwealth that shall be an example and attract the admiration of the whole country—a leadership that is not based upon and which would scorn to appeal to the prejudices and want of vision of men, but which is on fire, with the great things of life which develop great citizenship and build States upon enduring foundations. Let this be called Ideal. It is the hope of America. In our smug contentment and great prosperity we dislike to be disturbed. But yonder is the distant day. Yonder is the great population of hundreds of millions. There lie the great questions of the future. We have had nothing like them yet. It is not too early to cry back to the people, back to them in their strong representative capacity where they can speak in their potent, discriminative, really democratic, selective, elective force, a thing which they do not and cannot now do.

Any system will have its imperfections and can be abused and has always been, because men are imperfect, selfish, ambitious. But calm, constructive thinking—the thought and foresight that has moved the world along in all the ways that have marked its advancement—in the ways that have developed beneficent governments has not been the thought of the multitude or the product of the multitudinous mind.

The tendency of our present system is to grow worse. Such has been the result. A new movement having the approval of great numbers brings with it a pride in its success which seems to start it well, but its inherent weakness is sure to develop. Hence it has come about that in more States than one, dead men have been voted for as candidates. In other instances men of notorious weakness in character and mind have polled thousands of votes for important State offices, putting the public service in actual peril—indeed there is a constant peril. Besides, it has been demonstrated that the less intelligent voters, those whose personal prejudices are most easily aroused, vote with the greatest unanimity. Thus an analysis of a primary vote in Michigan reveals the fact that “in the seven counties containing the most foreign-born and illiterate voters the republican vote has been far above the percentage for the State, in the last three primaries exceeding the party membership; while in the seven counties containing the least such vote the percentage has been considerably below that for the State. In Detroit the vote in the four wards conceded to be the ‘worst’ has always been markedly heavier than in the best wards and in 1914 the republican vote in the worst wards was over twice the party membership. The voting is quantitatively best where the electorate appears to be qualitatively worst.” I think this would be found to be generally true under the primary system.

So far as the presidential preference primary law is concerned it has been rightly called a farce. It has already demonstrated that the people can and will actually trifle with the great question of selecting a president of the United States, voting in great numbers for men having absolutely no qualifications, natural or acquired, for the great office, and not claiming to have, and men of whom no candid, thoughtful citizens, anxious for his country's welfare, would ever think. This experience strikingly betrays the weakness and danger of the direct primary system.

The non-partisan judiciary law, as it stands, has also demonstrated its utter futility to effect its purpose. It has moved the judiciary into politics. It invites into a political game that has not one thing to commend it, but everything to condemn it. It starts the candidate for the office of judge out as a suppliant. He must appeal to people whom he may soon have before him as litigants and who have extended the helpful influence. If he rises into the region where the recollection of favors do not abide, those before him may be on a lower level where the memory is ever alert and suggestive. So far as it is humanly possible the Judge should be placed beyond every suggestion or suspicion of bias. If he were nominated by a convention he would be very much farther, although not altogether, removed from this; but selecting himself as a candidate and appealing to the people, he is subjected to every sort of obligation and entanglement in the primary. The field is open for every mediocre to become a candidate. It invites to the arts of the demagogue to gain a judgeship. It may easily lead eventually to the loss of fitness, ability and courage on the bench.

It has been said of this matter by a great lawyer of nation wide renown: "Those ripest in wisdom are not willing to engage in a campaign where the arts of demagogue and the use of money are such potential factors; and we must make up our minds that unless we withdraw our judicial nominations from these strenuous primaries, our judges, in time, will be our most skillful politicians rather than our most learned lawyers." This law ought to be repealed. The presidential preference law should be repealed. The office of Judge should be appointive. It is so in every country on earth, but Switzerland and the United States and is so in eight of our states.

While there may be and have been abuses under every system the opportunity and temptation ought to be made difficult, as possible. The trouble with the old caucus system which naturally aroused public indignation was, that it was not born of the law, was subjected to no regulation. Capable of being a sound basis for popular government it was, nevertheless, often made the instrument of unrestrained, self-interested, self-seeking, shrewdly designing men to compass selfish purposes and sometimes defeat the popular will. It was the basis, yet was the weakest point in the whole party structure and movement. From it the people in disgust fled to the method I have been describing with which the public mind is now just as much disgusted. Is it not possible to devise a method of party procedure and government that will realize the distinctive purposes and genius of our form of government? It has not been done yet in its best sense. This is the question for this legislature. Once a believer in the direct primary, experience and reflection have forced me to the conclusions already expressed. My interest in the progress and future good government of this commonwealth forces me to recommend its repeal. Not an attempt to patch it up, for that would be unsatisfactory, but a start on a new basis.

I should like to see Iowa assume leadership back to true, popular representative government. This legislature should provide a law for a primary in the township or precinct where all the voters can have a direct vote, at which all candidates for township or precinct offices could be nominated and, if deemed best, county officers. At this primary election delegates to the county convention and alternates should be elected and their election properly certified to the county convention. For this primary the law should fix a day for all parties, uniform throughout the State, strictly regulated as to notice, time of opening and closing, method of selecting judges and clerks, the right to participate, providing, perhaps, that ten days before, the voter should declare his party affiliation and that having once voted at a primary and thus fixed his party affiliation he could not vote in any other, unless thirty days prior he had filed a declaration, under oath, of change of party affiliation; and, providing also that no name of a candidate of one party could be written, printed or pasted upon the ballot of another under penalty of rejection of the ballot; and providing also the ratio of representation in the selection of delegates to the county convention, fixing the date of such convention and its time of meeting, uniform throughout the State, to nominate county officers, if not nominated at the township and precinct primary, and to nominate State representatives and to select delegates and alternates to Senatorial, Judicial and Congressional conventions, fixing a uniform time throughout the State for holding them and selecting delegates and alternates to the State convention and fixing the time for holding and declaring the ratio of representation to all these conventions. The delegates to all these conventions should be properly certified and be required to attend and no proxies should be permitted. In the case of absence or inability of a delegate to attend, an alternate to take his place, the law fixing the order in which alternates would be permitted to take the place of regular delegates, and no other persons should have any voice or vote in any convention. The law should also provide that these delegates and alternates shall be regarded as officers, their tenure being from the time of their election until the next election of delegates so that in the event of need, any convention could be re-assembled on notice and another campaign and expense avoided. Under this kind of legalized procedure it is hard to see how there could be any of the old time manipulations, sharp practices and packing of caucuses and conventions and, in my judgment, it should be worked out and the principle and purpose developed as your combined wisdom may dictate. The legislative branch of the government should be made as strong as possible because its power is almost unlimited and I believe its candidates should be carefully selected by delegate conventions.

Another consideration, slight, however, in comparison with the reasons already given why the laws referred to should be repealed is the cost of the elections in Iowa.

IN MEMORIAM.

Since the adjournment of the last General Assembly the death of several of the most noted men in the history of the State has occurred. Each one of them was ripe in years and in long, valuable service to the commonwealth and the whole country as well. As a token of respect on the part of the State and as an expression of the people's appreciation of their worth, example and service, I speak of them on this, an occasion of the people.

Major General Grenville M. Dodge died at Council Bluffs on the 3d day of January, 1916. He was one of the most distinguished men in Iowa history. Not only in Iowa, but throughout the nation, he was distinguished as a great civil engineer and railway builder; as a commanding figure in the business world; as a leader of armies in the war for the Union; as a friend and counselor of many of the most noted public men in the country for a half century; as the sympathetic and wise adviser of all who might appeal to him; as devoted to his country and as having an ever-increasing love for Iowa—a life distinguished as consecrated to the highest ideals of American citizenship.

It is in the minds and hearts of the people of Council Bluffs to cause to be erected in that city which he called "home" and where so many of the years of his life were passed, a monument in commemoration of his life and public services. Because his name was a familiar one throughout the whole country it has been suggested by the people of his home city, and I deem it a high privilege to recommend and urge, that this General Assembly provide promptly for the appointment of a commission to serve without expense to the State in the matter of providing for and erecting said monument. Because he was essentially and all his life a public character this purpose of the citizenship of Council Bluffs should have this public recognition and endorsement of the people of Iowa.

Hon. William Peters Hepburn died at Clarinda, Iowa, February 7th, 1916. He was a pioneer in the State. Sixty years ago he was county attorney of Marshall County and fifty-nine years ago was clerk of the House in the Seventh General Assembly. For three years he was district attorney for the Eleventh Judicial District, resigning that position to enter the Civil War. He distinguished himself as a soldier, being promoted from time to time until he was placed in command of the Second Brigade, Cavalry Division of the Sixteenth Army Corps, serving until the close of the war. After 1860 he served the people many years in congress from the Eighth Iowa District. His public service was a notable one and he will pass into Iowa history as a man of forceful character, strong in his convictions, a lawyer of ability, a splendid soldier, a great debater, devoted to his country.

Rev. Henry Wallace died in the city of Des Moines, February 22d, 1916. He was a scholar, teacher, preacher, editor, author, publisher, farmer, a friend of man, interested in all benevolent enterprises, a helper of the world. The influence of Henry Wallace was greater even than that of very many very influential men. His work was equally and eminently successful in very many fields of activity. He was one of Iowa's most useful men and leaves a memory cherished by her entire citizenship.

Hon. Charles Clinton Nourse died at his winter home in Sierre Madre, California, on the 31st day of December 1916, at the age of eighty-seven years. Judge Nourse came to Iowa sixty-five years ago and during nearly all of that time was prominently connected with the legal, political and general development of the State. He was prosecuting attorney in his district in 1852, was Chief Clerk of the Iowa House of Representatives sixty-two years ago and Secretary of the Senate two years later, and fifty-four years ago was Attorney General of the State and a little later a judge of the District Court. He was long an active practitioner of the law in central Iowa with his home in Des Moines. His distinction was as an eminent lawyer, politician in the best sense, orator and excellent high-minded citizen.

CONCLUSION.

Now I come to the conclusion of my term of service in a public capacity for the people of Iowa. It has been a measurably long one in different positions.

I have made mistakes. They are as apparent to me as they are to the people. But on the whole the people are generous and kind. I have had what is no doubt the usual experience. I have known the pleasurable feeling and encouragement that sympathy and approbation bring and I have known, also, the severity of disapprobation and I have felt the keen, rapier thrusts of bitter criticism. I beg to say that these last were soon out of my mind and I have nothing today in my heart but gratitude to all of the people and an inspiring hope for the increasing growth of the greatness of the State and the constant improvement of her moral and political life and ideals. Men come and go and so, officially, the record is closed and with every good wish and hope it is mine to say, Good-bye.

IOWA STATE BUDGET.

Governor Clarke also presented to the General Assembly, as a part of his message, the following budget and statement:

The tables herein have been made as concise as possible with a view to giving the main facts regarding the finances, transactions and needs of all the different departments of the state government.

The column of appropriations for the biennial period gives the amounts available for each department for each specific purpose as provided in the code or by the Thirty-sixth General Assembly for the biennium ending June 30, 1917. The authority for each appropriation is indicated.

The next column gives the expenditures actually made for each department, divided as to specific purposes, so far as possible, for the first year of the biennial period under this appropriation. The succeeding column gives that which will be expended or which is available for use in the second year of the period. Where there has been expenditure and where further expenditures are possible, but no specific sum indicated as an appropriation, it is because of a continuing or indefinite appropriation dependent entirely on the needs of the department for this particular item.

Under the head of estimated expenditures is given two columns in which is set forth the estimate of the department or office or board as to that which is needed or will be used or should be made available for the specific items indicated for the biennial period which the Thirty-seventh General Assembly will provide for. It will be borne in mind that these estimates are from the heads of departments made to the governor or recommended to the legislature. They are given to indicate what the department estimates as actually necessary for the work to be done.

In many cases footnotes are appended by the department indicating the peculiarities of appropriations or needs for that department, or explaining briefly the purpose of changes in the appropriations suggested.

It will be noted that the statement of appropriations and expenditures given by these departments does not in all cases correspond to the books of the state auditor or state treasurer, but the discrepancies are of minor importance and indicate only a difference in keeping the accounts.

Attention should be called, also, to the fact that appropriations are made in two different ways. Some of them are embodied in the code itself and thus have a measure of permanency, while others are made for each biennium by an omnibus appropriation bill. There are, also, two kinds of appropriations provided for in the code. Some of them are limited or specific in the amounts stating exactly how much a salary shall be or an expenditure shall be and fixing the limit thereof beyond which the department does not go. Sometimes this is for a two-year period and in other cases for each year of the two-year period. Other appropriations are unlimited in amount and indefinite and the amount which can be expended under these appropriations is left to the discretion or the needs of some office.

A study of the column of citation for authority of expenditures discloses, also, that as to salaries there is a distinction. In some cases, salaries are fixed in the code and in others, the same class of salaries are fixed by joint resolution. In some departments the clerks and stenographers have salaries fixed specifically in the code or in the session laws, while in others, persons holding similar positions are paid according to the decision of the head of the department, the appropriation being in general form. In some cases, the compensation of the officers or clerks is paid out of their general appropriation, while in others the salaries are paid out of the general funds of the state aside from the appropriation of the office or department. These things make it difficult to compare departments or salaries or expenditures.

In the estimates an increase in salary of $25 per month has been added for each inspector in service for at least one year; the same additional monthly increase has been included in the estimate for Deputy Commissioner; there has also been added at the present rate of pay two additional inspectors which are absolutely necessary if the work contemplated by the statutes is to be performed; there has also been added one statistician at $1,500 per year, and this addition is highly important because of the great amount of statistical material now coming into the office and which cannot be handled by the present number of clerks.

*The charges for additional janitors were authorized by the committee on retrenchment and reform of the 36th G. A. This should come under the custodian's regular pay roll, and it is included in the estimates for that purpose.

†The recommendation of increasing the salary of the chief engineer from $1,600, to $1,800, is thought advisable as a first class engineer in this position is worth fully that salary to the State of Iowa.

‡As the first assistant to the engineer must be a man able to take the place of the engineer in nearly all places, to give him the prestige which he should have and make a place that worthy men are willing to work for his salary should be greater than that of the second assistant engineer and should have an increase of one hundred dollars per year in his salary.

§The electrician and machinist must be a man who thoroughly understands his business, is working at dangerous work most of the time and should be given the prestige which he should have in his department, and he should have one hundred dollars more salary than his assistant.

¶Taking it for granted that the custodians' department would have charge of all the Capitol extension grounds during the next fiscal year, I have an estimate to include one additional night watch to take care of the outside work and think that this will be very necessary.

‡Firemen and wardens. I desire to especially call attention to this item as the appropriation allows the full sum of one thousand dollars per annum to be paid to each of these men, but on the recommendation of the chief engineer that this was above the wages paid for like work in other capacities, the full sum has not been paid for the past period. The estimate is just the same as the appropriation that was made by the last Legislature.

¶Florist and Yard men. I have secured the services of a first class florist and yard man but it is practically with the understanding that he will receive an increase in salary during the next fiscal year and I have therefore in the estimate for his position figured the same at twelve hundred dollars per year. I have also in this item figured that the custodian's department would have full charge of all the grounds now being prepared in the extension grounds and that in order to give it very meager care that it will require the assistance of two additional yard men and have estimated their salaries at eight hundred and forty dollars per year, each.

Expected increase in the numbers of employers and employees under the Compensation Law will call for an expansion of the service, and make need of all or practically all of the Department's $40,000.00 biennial appropriation. Expansion to be by way of Deputy Commissioner and additional office help. The increase of work and force will, of course, increase the general expense of the department.

It is impossible at this time to make any estimates for the reason that the Federal Government passed what is known as the "National Defense Act," which will require the State of Iowa to greatly increase the strength of the Guard, but until the War Department regulations are issued specifying the organization it is impossible to tell just what State appropriations will be needed to carry out the same.

†The above estimate of $21,000.00 for each year during the coming biennial period does not, as formerly, include any estimated expense for the department of commerce counsel who has, we understand, filed an estimate for his department.

Added employes should be given to the Commission, in order that it may do its work more efficiently. It may be advisable to take care of their expenses by special assessment on the utilities regulated, as is customary in other states, where adequate inspection is undertaken by the State.

The first, second and third assistants were given, under the Code, respectively $1,100, $1,000 and $900 a year, and they were allowed each $100 a year additional by the committee on retrenchment and reform. The same committee provided for the janitor and two apprentices, that for the janitor to cover an omission in the committee's report to the 36th G. A. As a matter of necessity the provision for the janitor and two apprentices should be included in the regular appropriations.

*Paid to chiefs fire departments, mayors, and township clerks for reporting fires, and also mileage to township clerks.

The department asks for a third assistant at $1,500.00 a year, and that the salaries of two others be increased from $1,500.00 and $1,420.00 a year to $1,900.00. The additional $1,000.00 for expenses is desired in case of the authorization of a third assistant. The salary of the chief clerk and stenographer should be increased from $1,200.00 to $1,300.00 a year and $600.00 is needed for extra clerical work. The increases asked call for an increase of the appropriation by $3,200.00.

*The department believes but one fund should be appropriated for the work of the Animal Health Commission and the Veterinary Department and all fees collected should be turned over to the State. The Animal Health Commission is a reliable and responsible body and might well be trusted with the entire appropriation for the payment of assistants' per diem and expenses, together with all expenses of the department; also salaries and expenses of the members of the animal health commission and the stenographic help needed. This general appropriation should be $100,000.00 per year.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE IOWA STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND MECHANIC ARTS TO THE GENERAL AS-SEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA, JANUARY 8, 1917.

To the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

GENTLEMEN—I beg leave to submit herewith the report required by Chapter 104 of the laws of the Thirtieth General Assembly. It shows:

First—The balances in the hands of the College and the State Treasurer at the beginning of the biennial period commencing July 1, 1914, available for college purposes.

Second—The additional funds which become available during each of the two years of the biennial period.

Third—The amounts expended in each of the two years for buildings and improvements, repairs, administration, maintenance and equipment of departments, and for the general expense of the institution.

Fourth—The balances to the credit of the different funds at the close of the biennial period.

Fifth—Hospital receipts and sales of departments listed separately as required by law.

Sixth—The number of professors and instructors employed by the college, and the number of students enrolled in each course during each year of the biennial period.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Klinker of Crawford, from the special committee on House File No. 1, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your special committee, to whom was referred House File No. 1, a bill for an act to repeal Paragraph five (5) of Section one hundred thirty-eight (138) of the Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, and to enact a substitute therefor; to provide for the preparation, printing and distribution of a classified index to legislative bills and making appropriation to defray the expense thereof; and to provide for the preparation, printing, publication, distribution and sale of the acts and resolutions of the general assembly and making an appropriation to defray the expense thereof: all relating to the subject of public printing and binding, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

First. That Section two (2) of said bill be amended by adding after the period (.) following the word "bill" in line nine (9) of said bill the following:

"The engrossing clerks of the Senate and House shall furnish to the document editor at the close of each day's session a transcript of the entries of their respective records for the day."

Second. That Section two (2) of said bill be amended by striking from the eighteenth (18) line of said section the following words and figures:

"one hundred dollars ($100.00)" and by inserting in lieu thereof the following words and figures:

"eighty dollars ($80.00)"

Third: That Section seven (7) of said bill be stricken out and that the following be substituted therefor, to-wit:

"Section 7. Five thousand (5,000) copies of said volume shall be printed and all shall be bound in board covers. All volumes shall be sold to residents of this state at fifty cents ($.50) per volume, and to all others at one dollar ($1.00) per volume."

Fourth: That said bill be further amended by adding thereto the following section, to-wit:

"Section 8. That Section forty-two (42) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

Sec. 42. The secretary of state shall distribute the laws aforesaid as follows: To the state library for exchange purposes, one hundred fifty (150) copies; to the law library of the state university for exchange purposes with the law libraries of other state and territorial universities or colleges, fifty (50) copies; to the state historical department and the state historical society, each ten (10) copies; to all judges of the Supreme, district and superior courts of Iowa and judges of the United States district courts in Iowa, one (1) copy each; to each municipal judge, as provided in Section six hundred ninety-six-c (696-c) of the Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, one (1) copy; to the clerk of the Supreme court of Iowa and to each clerk of the United States district court in Iowa, one (1) copy; to the state institutions and state officers, two (2) copies each; to the separate departments of the principal state offices, members of permanent state boards or commissions, offices of permanent state boards or commissions, when maintained at the seat of government, members of the thirty-seventh and succeeding general assemblies, chief clerk of the House, secretary of the Senate, colleges and public libraries within the state, each, one

(1) copy; to each county officer, one (1) copy; to each of the following officers, one (1) copy, on written request only: justices of the peace, township clerks, and mayors of cities or towns."

Fifth: That said bill be further amended by adding thereto the following section, to-wit:

"Sec. 9. That Section forty-three (43) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof, to-wit:

"Sec. 43. The county auditor shall make requisition upon the secretary of state for the number of copies needed for gratuitous distribution and for sale purposes, and the secretary of state shall deliver to the county auditor the number so ordered, charging him therewith upon the books of his office. Upon receipt thereof, the county auditor shall execute his receipt in duplicate therefor, one of which shall be filed in his office and the other immediately forwarded to the secretary of state. The county auditor shall, in delivering copies, take receipts in duplicate therefor, one of which shall be filed in his office and the other forwarded to the secretary of state, along with the annual report provided for in Section forty-five (45) hereof."

Sixth: That said bill be further amended by adding thereto the following section, to-wit:

"Sec. 10. That Section forty-four (44) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof, to-wit:

"Sec. 44. The secretary of state shall pay the proceeds arising from all such sales made by him into the state treasury each month. The county auditor shall pay the proceeds arising from all such sales made by him into the county treasurer for the use of the state revenue, on or before the first Monday of January in each year, taking a receipt in duplicate therefor, one of which shall be immediately forwarded to the secretary of state."

Seventh: That said bill be further amended as follows:

"(a) By renumbering Sec. 8 of said original bill as Sec. 11.

"(b) By renumbering Sec. 9 of said original bill as Sec. 12.

"(c) By renumbering Sec. 10 of the said original bill as Sec. 13.

"(d) By renumbering Sec. 11 of the said original bill as Sec. 14."

and when so amended the bill do pass.

P. J. KLINKER, Chairman.

Administration of oath of office to Governor William L. Harding and Lieutenant Governor Ernest R. Moore elect, by Chief Justice Frank R. Gaynor.

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

In a spirit of humility and reverence, the duties and responsibilities of Chief Executive of this commonwealth are today assumed. Mindful of personal limitations, aid and counsel of the Eternal Builder of the Universe is earnestly sought. The confidence of the electorate, so generously bestowed, is gratefully acknowledged.

In assuming this first responsibility, and in performing this first, and pleasant, duty, I trust I shall not lose sight of the fact that I am speaking to a co-ordinate branch of the government, wisely protected, in the performance of its functions, from undue influence, and interference, by its peers. In what I shall say, therefore, I do not presume to outline a complete legislative program but to voice as best I may, as the representative head of the whole people, my conception of how we may best accomplish that which will redound to the benefit and happiness of the whole people.

There are not here, as in many commonwealths, natural geographical, or artificial trade, conditions, by force of which one section of the state is arrayed in interest against others. We are a homogeneous people, with no problem or condition in any section, or among any class, which does not exist equally in all; and legislative action, for the benefit of any interest in the state, need work no injury to the whole people.

In the wealth of material things, we are rich beyond belief; an empire of thriving cities and smiling farms, and of its wealth, and of the happiness and future of its people, you are the chosen guardians. In your action lies the possibility of opening higher fields of endeavor, in which shall ripen the golden grain of individual effort into a glorious harvest of social justice.

Government is not an ideal, but a necessity, and representative government was instituted among men for the purpose of protecting the individual in the enjoyment of the fruits of his toil and skill, and for carrying, by united effort, common burdens too heavy for individual strength.

Governments may properly notice economic conditions which exert such pressure of material necessity upon the individual that he has no real choice as to the conditions under which he shall labor for his bread. In the past, we have made legislative effort to afford men a safe place in which to work. Might we not well look to see if we may, by the same means, afford him and his family a decent place in which to live? We have said by law that the rent for money cannot justly be more than 8 per cent; that its use can have no greater value than that. Why should we permit the same money, invested in a shack, to produce 100 per cent in rent for its use? We spend millions to care for the derelicts these places launch, but we do practically nothing to prevent the conditions which produce them.

The home is the rock upon which the whole structure of society rests: If it shall be driven, by greed, to the hovel and the tenement, none shall be safe from the plague which will rise, and spread, from those depths.

We have done something in a related matter. The spread of tuberculosis has been checked, but not stopped, by the machinery which was employed against it a few years since. The existence of this disease, both human and bovine, is a serious menace to health and property, the extent of which it would not be proper to enlarge upon here. I would urge upon you that you be selfishly generous in appropriating funds to carry on the work of eradication; taking care, however, that no elaborate machinery, or new functionaries, shall be created, and that no color be given for petty oppressions or arbitrary action.

By operation of law, you have before you a proposed amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

By token of the platforms of the political parties of the State, in one of which all of us have membership, we are pledged to a submission of this amendment to a vote of the people.

I recommend that you proceed at once to take such steps as shall insure the submission of this amendment to such vote.

I urge upon you, in this connection, the gravity of the matter, involving, as it does, the fundamental law of the commonwealth, and that you surround the passage of this amendment through your body, and its submission to the people, with every safeguard and precaution necessary to avoid any technical defect or irregularity, and to secure a free and fair expression of the will of the people.

Recent events have demonstrated our total lack of preparedness to withstand assault from without. Every male citizen, without reference to his station in life, should be made to understand that he has a duty to his country, and should be trained to perform that duty well. The burden of defense should not rest wholly on the shoulders of those who shall volunteer, nor should we depend upon that accident to secure the training necessary to discharge that burden efficiently. Might it not be possible to make our present common school system the agency by which this may be accomplished, in connection with the National Guard, which should be preserved?

The fires of patriotism cannot be lighted too early nor fed too frequently. Might not the public school system adopt a course by which the impulses, which make efficiency in this respect a glad duty, would be inculcated in the breasts of the youth?

It has been seriously proposed by some that the primary principle be abandoned by this commonwealth, and that election laws embodying that principle be repealed. The same proposal has been made touching the same principle as applied to the non-partisan selection of the judiciary.

When the Fathers drew the Declaration of Independence and framed the Constitution, upon which our liberties rest, they declared a new confidence in the individual, and in the capacity of the average man to have his share of power and responsibility in framing the laws of his government, and in choosing the men who should administer them.

Since those great days in the history of freedom, every piece of machinery which has been designed to enlarge that participation by the people, has justified itself, by the capacity which it has developed in the people for its employment to that end, and the force of public opinion is a vital one in just the degree that such machinery has been developed for its exertion.

The primary principle is fundamental. By it, the unit for the expression of public opinion has been reduced from the mass meeting to the individual, and no man's voice need be drowned by the crowd. His right to be heard, and to be counted, has been transferred from the will of the presiding officer to the quiet protection of the ballot box, and this right to be so heard in the preliminary selection accomplished by the primary is as sacred to the individual, and as valuable to the commonwealth, as the major right of suffrage.

The arguments for repeal are fundamental, and of great antiquity. Their base is the distrust which the Tory of all ages has felt of the populace. That feeling has made war upon every enlargement of the franchise. It is the essential belief of those who hold that the people must be trusted, that a confession that they cannot be is a confession that our form of government is doomed. This does not assert that the people make no mistakes, but that they learn to use power rightly by being given it to use.

The use of the primary will better it. Even now, there speaks for its retention one great fact which outweighs all objections made—that it is better for the State, that those who administer its affairs cannot know with dangerous exactness where their redeemer liveth—that he is best guarded against giving what he has in trust, to satisfy a sense of obligation, who is obliged to unknown thousands.

If you shall feel, as I do, that the preservation of this principle is vital, I am sure you will, no more than I, hear with patience, pleas for saving money by abolishing the machinery by which it is given play.

No saving of money which involves curtailing the liberty and power of the individual citizen is an economy.

A statement that one favors "good roads" is no contribution to political thought, and no guide to solving the problem of how best and most economically to get them. We all want the best roads we can pay for. We all want every dollar of our money to produce a dollar's worth of permanent betterment in road conditions.

In the recent campaign which has resulted in our occupying our respective stations in the public service, one issue was dominant, and the voice of the people as to it had no uncertain tone. That issue was whether the state, or any of its governmental divisions, should enter into any long-time indebtedness, under any guise, for extensive work in experimental road building. The verdict of the electorate was unmistakably against any such course, and for making our road improvements out of funds previously raised by normal taxation, and in such manner and to such extent as should be determined by those who must furnish the money to pay for them.

To the extent that I have power in my office, it shall be employed in all legitimate ways to enforce this program for which I believe the people have spoken—and I hope for your co-operation.

There are honest differences as to the details of the legal machinery which shall be employed to that end, and the adjustment of these differences is essentially a legislative function, to be performed by you without interference by the executive, unless your adjustment of them shall violate these principles, to which I conceive this administration to be pledged.

With this thought, I am content to leave this problem, for the present, for your patriotic endeavor, and with confidence that it will be solved by you with a decent regard for the convictions of the people whose servants you are, rather than by consulting the dictum of theorists and irresponsible publicists, whose inspiration is less a secret than a scandal.

Congress had appropriated moneys from the Federal Treasury, to be used, under certain conditions, by states and smaller governmental divisions for the improvement of highways, and these funds may be secured by the states, or its agencies, when they shall have raised for themselves certain other sums, to be applied upon the same work. This is called "Federal Aid." In my opinion it is a form of lottery for the extraction of money from the pockets of the people, under conditions only temporarily painless. It is a sedative, administered to the taxpayer, under the influence of which he pays for the prize out of his own pocket.

To the extent that permitting our public agencies to participate in the distribution of these funds is an encouragement to further activities of this sort by the Federal government, or by the state, accepting such aid as a dangerous expedient, while not availing ourselves of it involves the patent injustice of contributing to a fund from which we get no benefit. Our choice, therefore, lies between two evils, and I trust to your wisdom to choose a course in this respect which will not lend encouragement to this wasteful form of appropriation and expenditure, while securing to ourselves some crumbs from the feast we have been forced to spread.

Ours is a government of laws, and bottomed on a profound, and just, distrust of vesting large discretion in any executive officer. Least of all, should there be discretion in any one charged with the duty of enforcing the policy of the State, deliberately embodied in its statutes by its representatives in legislative assembly.

Euphonious phrases, used to qualify law enforcement, are but excuses, lacking humility, employed by those charged with sacred trust, to divert attention from their lack of courage. The term "law enforcement" cannot be qualified.

An executive officer has no proper concern with possible reaction occasioned by honest and uniform enforcement of law. To say that to enforce a law may lead to its repeal is but to say that we live in a Republic, and that the citizen is sovereign.

You will be responsible for the existence of every statute which shall be in effect when you adjourn, and as fully so as if you had enacted it originally.

The question of law enforcement rests primarily with this legislature, for, so far as it lies in the power of this administration, no officer shall usurp the power of repeal, by inaction, or resolve any doubts against the wisdom or virtue of any law which shall remain upon the statute books when you shall have adjourned.

You will be derelict in your duty, therefore, if you do not vest in those charged by the Constitution, and yourselves, with the duty of carrying your will into effect, every power necessary to discharge that duty.

The method by which you shall accomplish this is, under the Constitution, for you to determine. I have but to say that real law enforcement will be worth whatever it shall cost, and to urge you to let no false economies stand between you and the accomplishment of this prime purpose of government.

If I have any skill to read the public mind, it seems to me that men and women in every walk of life feel heavily the burden of our too many laws, and that there is practical unanimity against the tendency which has filled our statute books with hastily drawn and half-digested measures of every sort. There is a feeling that governmental activities touch the individual almost daily, in innumerable petty ways, without having produced any substantial betterment in living conditions, or in standards of conduct.

What the people of this State want is fewer laws, plainly written, easily understood, and well enforced. They expect you to reduce the number of laws; expect you to put them in such shape as that the average man may read as he runs, and patriotically obey. This is a task too large for a single session. I therefore recommend that a body be provided by this legislature, to report to the succeeding one, in harmony with this thought, their findings for action.

When our laws shall be reduced to readable limits, they will be understood, and respected, and, so, easily enforced.

In the same way, and evidenced in the same way, is a demand for reduction of public expenditures, and for economies in the expenditure of such funds as shall be necessarily expended.

They expect you to reduce the number of persons employed in governmental activity, wherever possible, and to reduce, or at least to not increase, the present burden of taxation.

Legislation during the past few years has resulted in an enlargement of the activities of the state government. There are instances in which the same powers are being exercised by representatives of the central government and by the local governing bodies. The limit of the activities of these officers should be well defined. In the interest of economy there should not be two sets of officers to perform a single function. I suggest this subject for your consideration and that you correct this condition where you find it.

Public attention has been drawn to the system by which the printing and binding for the State is being done. In my opinion, based upon some study of the matter, the present system is an improper one. It is asserted, not only that the system is wasteful and unduly costly, but that abuses of it exist, resulting in further loss to the State. I suggest that you take steps to inform yourselves thoroughly in this matter and to check any waste, and to improve the system.

There is a defect in our present system, of taxation through which an increase of valuation has resulted in putting into the public treasury millions of dollars not contemplated by the levies which produced the money.

No dollar of money can be raised by taxation in this state without your express permission and authority. You are responsible, therefore, for the total expenditure in the state, and I recommend such change in our laws in this respect as shall insure that no permission to raise money by taxation shall be given, by the legislature, to any governmental agency until the legislature shall have before it in dollars and cents the total amount of proposed and necessary expenditure to be made by such agencies. The rate of levy should be gauged by that estimate, and be required to be made upon a valuation then fixed.

The provision of our Constitution that legislative, judicial and executive power shall not be exercised by the same officer or tribunal is not a mere phrase or dogma, but a fundamental principle of representative government. I recommend that you go carefully over the laws creating our various public agencies, and remedy this condition wherever you find it in any degree.

A legislative assembly is a deliberative body, and can perform real service only by a close study of existing law, in connection with such new ones as shall be proposed, and the measure of its service is not the number of bills passed, but the care with which those that pass shall be drawn and the consideration and study they shall receive before passage, and the benefit they may be to all the people. In this view, and in the present state of the public mind to which I have referred, the distinction of having introduced the most bills in this session will not be an enviable one.

The people of this commonwealth expect this legislature to do a few big things, and then adjourn. You will not, if you desire to regard the opinion of the people, be here more than seventy days.

Music—T. Fred Henry's Orchestra.

The minutes of the joint session were read and approved.

Senator Helmer of Carroll moved that the joint convention be dissolved. Motion prevailed.

HOUSE RESUMED SESSION.

L. L. Couse and Henry Murray, assistant doorkeepers, took and subscribed to the required oath.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

Joint Resolution agreeing to a proposed amendment to article one (1) of the constitution of Iowa by adding thereto a provision prohibiting the manufacture, sale or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, within this state.

Whereas, by senate joint resolution number six (6) of the resolutions of the thirty-sixth general assembly, which resolution was approved

March 8, 1915, an amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa was proposed, and,

Whereas, the said proposed amendment was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the house of representatives of said thirty-sixth general assembly and entered upon its journal at page five hundred eighty-nine (589) thereof, and was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the senate of said general assembly and entered upon its journal at pages three hundred and twenty-six (326) and three hundred and twenty-seven (327) thereof, and,

Whereas, the said resolution has been published as provided by law and has now been referred to this, the thirty-seventh general assembly, now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

That the proposed amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa as contained in and proposed by said senate joint resolution number six (6) of the resolutions of the thirty-sixth general assembly, which resolution; including its title, was and is in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

"Joint resolution proposing to amend article one (1) of the constitution of Iowa by adding thereto a provision prohibiting the manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, within this state.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

That the following amendment to article one (1) of the constitution of the state of Iowa be and the same is hereby proposed: To add thereto following section twenty-six (26) thereof and as section twenty-seven (27) of article one (1) of said constitution the following, to-wit:

'Sec. 27. The manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale, as a beverage, of intoxicating liquors, including ale, wine and beer, shall be forever prohibited within this state. The general assembly shall by law prescribe regulations for the enforcement of the prohibition herein contained, and shall provide suitable penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof.'

Resolved further, that the foregoing proposed amendment be and the same is hereby referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election for members of the next general assembly, and that the secretary of state cause the same to be published for three months previous to the day of said election, as provided by law." be and the same is hereby agreed to, enacted and adopted.

Report adopted.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

McFerren of Hamilton offered the following concurrent resolution, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration, and moved its adoption:

Be it Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That the Secretary of State be requested to furnish each news reporter in the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, a copy of the code, a copy of the supplement to the code, 1913, and a copy of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915.

Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

RESOLUTIONS.

McFerren of Hamilton offered the following resolution, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration, and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to procure badges for such employes of the House as require badges.

Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Epps of Wapello offered the following concurrent resolution: Directing an Investigation of Causes of the Present High Price of Bituminous Coal.

Be it Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring:

Whereas, In many sections of the state of Iowa the price of bituminous coal has been greatly increased beyond precedent within the last few months, and

Whereas, It further appears that the price of said coal has been raised to the consumer far beyond the proportion of the increase, if any, of the wages paid to the miner or other laborers engaged in its production without any apparent or reasonable cause therefor, and

Whereas, Said increase in the price of coal has been so sudden and rapid as to create a reasonable suspicion in the minds of many that the laws of Iowa regulating pools, trusts and combinations are being violated, especially Sections 5059, 5060, 5061, 5065, 5066 and 5067 of the Code of 1897 of Iowa, and Sections 5062, 5067-a, 5067-b, 5067-c of the Supplement of the Code of 1913, now therefore

Be it Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of three (3) to act in conjunction with a like committee to be appointed by the Senate to communicate and consult with the Attorney General and through his office with the various county attorneys in the counties of the state in which there exists reasonable grounds of a violation of the law having been and is taking place, with a view of ascertaining as to whether evidence can be procured of the violation of the above cited sections of the code and code supplement, commonly known as the Pools, Trusts, Combination and Conspiracy Law, and

Resolved, That wherever it appears to said committee and Attorney General that there is probable cause to believe there can be found or procured evidence in any county of the state of a violation of the above cited law, then said Attorney General is hereby instructed and directed through the assistance of the various county attorneys to bring actions, both criminal and civil, against said violators so apprehended, and that all corporations organized under the laws of the state of Iowa apprehended in violating said Pools, Trusts, Combination and Conspiracy Law, especially unlawfully pooling in, raising and increasing the price of any of the necessities of life, or apprehended in discriminating and showing preference in sales of said commodities, be cited to show cause, if any, why their charter should not be revoked, and

Resolved, This question being of vital interest and importance to all the people of the state and especially the wage earner and persons of limited means, we urge that immediate attention be given this matter.

Passed on file.

Turner of Iowa offered the following concurrent resolution:

Relating to the number of House and Senate journals furnished to the members of the general assembly and their use.

Resolved, by the House, the Senate concurring, That the document editor be instructed to have five copies of the corrected House Journal and five copies of the corrected Senate Journal placed on the desk of each member of the general assembly on the morning following their correction.

That the committee clerks be instructed to clip from said journals all action taken on bills and paste them in the House and Senate bill books of said members.

Passed on file.

On motion of Starzinger of Polk, Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, joint resolution relating to the selection of additional employees of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly of the State of Iowa, fixing their compensation and defining their duties, was taken up and considered, and the resolution was read for information of the House.

Mr. Starzinger moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed and the reading just had be considered the third reading, which motion prevailed.

On the question, "Shall the resolution pass?"

Ayes—82.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

Rogers of Carroll called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to the printing in pamphlet form of the list of officers and standing committees of the Senate and House, and moved that the House concur.

Motion prevailed.

Concurrent resolution directing the state printer to print in pamphlet form a list of the officers and standing committees of the Senate and House.

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, That the state printer is hereby instructed to print in pamphlet form a list showing, as to each House:

1. Officers.
2. Alphabetical list of members with seat number and home county.
3. Standing committees with room number and membership.
4. Members and their respective committees.
5. City addresses and phone numbers of members.
6. Committee clerks with address and phone numbers.

Pamphlet to be approximately three by five and a half inches in size corresponding in general make up to that used at the last session; six hundred copies thereof to be promptly printed for the use of the Senate and nine hundred thereof for the House. The desk forces of the respective Houses to promptly prepare the copy.

Weaver of Polk called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to the services of the Iowa National Guard, and moved that the House concur. Motion prevailed.

Expressing Appreciation of the Services of the Iowa National Guard in Connection with Mexican Border Service.

Whereas, conditions in Mexico and along the Mexican border of the United States have been of such serious disturbance as to require the presence of a large number of United States troops to maintain order and preserve the lives and property of American citizens, and

Whereas, on the call of the President of the United States for volunteer soldiers to make up this army of protection and defense the Iowa National Guard was among the first to respond to the call, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly of Iowa, That we, for the people of Iowa, hereby express our appreciation of the services of our citizens who compose the National Guard. They come from the very best classes of citizenship in this state. Men of ability, education, and accomplishment at home, they unhesitatingly sacrificed family and business relations, disregarded opportunities for success and attainment in civil life, and with genuine patriotism of the highest order known to any country went to the defense and honor of the Flag. These Iowa officers and men in active service on the Mexican border have proven their soldierly qualities in every way. They have first established a record for health and sanitation in army life that has no equal; they have proven their efficiency on the march, in the camp and in every kind of maneuvers. They have served faithfully as soldiers of the general government and have always striven to maintain the highest honor and reputation of the citizenship of Iowa.

These Iowa troops, many of them, are now returned to this state and are about to be mustered out of the Federal service. Other troops may soon follow them back from the southland. Therefore, we, the representatives of the people of Iowa, desire now to tender to those patriotic and devoted citizens of our state and country the appreciation and commendation of all our people for what they have done.

We appreciate the sacrifice of home ties and business which they have made; we regard their willingness to undergo the discomforts of camp life, of routine of drill and soldierly training, and finally to offer their very lives in defense of their country to be worthy of such recognition as this state should make to soldiers who have accomplished heroic results.

Resolved, that these resolutions be made a part of the records of this state, and that copies of the same, suitably printed for preservation, be made under the supervision of the Adjutant General of Iowa, so that every soldier returning from the border and now serving there or in Mexico, may receive a copy of said resolutions directed to him or his family with his own name and rank and the organization to which he belonged written over them.

COMMUNICATION FROM DOCUMENT EDITOR.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk,
House of Representatives.

Dear Sir: In reply to the House resolution of today requiring the document editor to have placed on the desks of members of the House copies of the House rule book of the thirty-sixth general assembly, will say that it will be impossible to comply with the same, as the document department has no such copies and none were turned over to me with other documents at the time of the transfer last year.

The record shows that 400 copies were printed and were to be distributed by the officers of the House.

Yours,

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

McFerren of Hamilton, from the committee on judiciary, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on judiciary to whom was referred House File No. 16, a bill for an act fixing the compensation of referees in partition, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be indefinitely postponed.

RUBE MCFERREN, Chairman.

Report adopted and House File No. 16 was indefinitely postponed.

Klinker of Crawford, from the committee on constitutional amendments, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on constitutional amendments to whom was referred Senate joint resolution No. 3, a joint resolution agreeing to a proposed amendment to article one (1) of the constitution of Iowa by adding thereto a provision prohibiting the manufacture, sale or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, within this state, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have unanimously instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be adopted.

P. J. KLINKER, Chairman.

CORRECTION IN MILEAGE REPORT.

I hereby certify that an error was made in the report of the committee on mileage as to the amounts due Representatives O'Donnell and Horchem of Dubuque county. They received the sum of $22.20 each, and their correct amount should be $20.60 each. I also certify that they have refunded to the state treasurer the sum of $1.60 each.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The following communication was received from the secretary of state and ordered printed in the journal:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

GREETING—I have the honor to submit herewith a statement of the amount of fees received and the amount of money expended in the administration of the provisions of chapter 13-b of the supplemental supplement to the code, and as required by section 1920-u4 of said chapter:

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES UNDER HOUSE FILE NO. 351, KNOWN AS THE BLUE SKY LAW, FROM APR. 28, 1915, TO AND INCLUDING DEC. 31, 1916.

RECEIPTS.

Filing fees	$ 178.00
Inspection fees	1,705.83
Annual fees	1,052.00
Agents' licenses	615.00
Brokers' licenses	125.00

EXPENDITURES.

Salaries	$5,327.55
Furniture and fixtures	138.65
Printing, binding and supplies.....	180.19
Postage	24.77
	$5,671.16

(Note. Of the amount paid for furniture and fixtures, $120.15 was paid for under the old law, which was repealed; likewise, $52.05 for printing and binding; making a total of $172.20, thus leaving a net deficiency under the present act of $1,813.13.)

It will be seen that the law is not self-supporting, its administration entailing an expense over receipts of approximately $1,000.00 per year.

On December 30, 1916, the close of the first biennial period under the operation of the present law, 89 permits for the sale of stocks, bonds and securities were issued, for which fees amounting to $1,833.83 were received; $615.00 was received from the sale of agents' or stock salesmen's licenses.

Only three brokers' licenses were issued, for which $125.00 was received, but as one of these was a renewal, only two of these licenses were in force at one and the same time.

As to the beneficial effects of the law in protecting the people of the state from imposition and fraud, there can be no question, and it is confidently believed that many times the cost of administering the law has been saved to the people of the state by the deterrent effect of having such a law on our statute books.

Several applications have been rejected outright, and evidence of the grossest fraud has come to light, fully justifying the position taken by this department.

No honest and worthy enterprise need fear the effects of a full compliance with the law.

The law can be improved and made more clear and workable by a few minor changes, but if amended at all should be only on the advice of those best posted as to the changes needed.

In conclusion allow me to express the opinion that in my judgment practically every state in the union will in a few years enact similar laws to meet the growing demands of its people.

W. S. ALLEN,
Secretary of State.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RULES.

Klaus of Delaware, from the committee on rules, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on rules begs leave to report that it has had under consideration the matter recommending rules for the House of Representatives of the thirty-seventh general assembly, and that it has instructed me to report to the House that it recommends the adoption of the rules hereinafter specified or referred to, to-wit:

JAS. F. JOHNSTON, Chairman.

Report adopted and House File No. 112 was indefinitely postponed.

On motion of Hall of Taylor, the supplemental sub-committee report on House File No. 112 was ordered printed in the journal.

To the Chairman of the Roads and Highways Committee:

We, your sub-committee to whom was referred House File No. 112, a bill for an act to regulate the tread and width of sleds or sleighs used, sold or manufactured within the state of Iowa and providing a penalty therefor, beg leave to report that we have had the said bill under advisement, and after due consideration recommend as follows:

To this committee so your records say,
A bill's referred to widen out the sleigh.
With due deliberation and with strength of will,
We've sought a way to order out the bill.

But scenes of other days our memory throbs,
Of Christmas times and sleigh rides in bobs,
Of grey haired mothers and of yuletide joys,
That seem to take us back when we were boys.

And conscience seems to say, it would be wrong
 To change a custom which has stood so long,
 That its a law, and changing thus prevent
 Our youths from having pleasures we have spent.

Should we these sleds and sleighs much wider make,
 It would the hearts of lads and lassies break,
 For if the seat too wide would be for two,
 How could your lassie "cuddle doon" to you.

You'd miss the thrill that comes with winter moons
 When loves sweet bud into a full rose blooms,
 Ah, such a bliss wherein contentment lies,
 Such waters bright and founts of paradise.

Nay! nay! wise solons, this we cannot do,
 Our poor hearts fail, we pass the buck to you
 And thus our lack of courage having owned,
 We recommend that this bill be indefinitely postponed.

J. M. WORMLEY, Chairman.

A. L. RICHARDS.

R. W. ANDERSON.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Griffin of Woodbury, from the committee on insurance, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on insurance to whom was referred House File No. 22, a bill for an act to amend section seventeen hundred fifty-nine-a (1759-a) of the supplement to the code, 1913, granting to mutual fire, tornado and hailstorm assessment insurance associations authority to write insurance against theft under the provisions of chapter five (5) of title IX of the supplement to the code, 1913, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same do pass.

T. F. GRIFFIN, Chairman.

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 1.

The hour having arrived for the consideration of Special Order No. 1, on motion of Roberts of Ringgold, Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, joint resolution agreeing to a proposed amendment to article one (1) of the constitution of Iowa by adding thereto a provision prohibiting the manufacture, sale or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, within this state, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

The joint resolution was read for the information of the House.

Roberts of Ringgold offered the following amendment:

Amend Senate joint resolution No. 3 by striking from line three of the resolution the date "March 8, 1915," and by substituting therefor the date "March 6, 1915," for the purpose of making said resolution recite the true date on which Senate joint resolution No. 6 of the thirty-sixth general assembly was approved by the governor, to-wit: March 6th, 1915.

Amendment adopted.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Roberts moved that the joint resolution be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the joint resolution was read a third time.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 3.

Joint Resolution agreeing to a proposed amendment to article one (1) of the constitution of Iowa by adding thereto a provision prohibiting the manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, within this state.

Whereas, by senate joint resolution number six (6) of the resolutions of the thirty-sixth general assembly, which resolution was approved March 6, 1915, an amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa was proposed, and,

Whereas, the said proposed amendment was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the house of representatives of said thirty-sixth general assembly and entered upon its journal at page five hundred eighty-nine (589) thereof, and was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the senate of said general assembly and entered upon its journal at pages three hundred and twenty-six (326) and three hundred and twenty-seven (327) thereof, and,

Whereas, the said resolution has been published as provided by law and has now been referred to this, the thirty-seventh general assembly, now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

That the proposed amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa as contained in and proposed by said senate joint resolution number six (6) of the resolutions of the thirty-sixth general assembly, which resolution, including its title, was and is in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

“Joint resolution proposing to amend article one (1) of the constitution of Iowa by adding thereto a provision prohibiting the manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, within this state.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

That the following amendment to article one (1) of the constitution of the state of Iowa be and the same is hereby proposed: To add thereto following section twenty-six (26) thereof and as section twenty-seven (27) of article one (1) of said constitution the following, to-wit:

‘Sec. 27. The manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale, as a beverage, of intoxicating liquors, including ale, wine and beer, shall be forever prohibited within this state. The general assembly shall by law prescribe regulations for the enforcement of the prohibition herein contained, and shall provide suitable penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof.’

Resolved, further, that the foregoing proposed amendment be and the same is hereby referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election for members of the next general assembly, and that the secretary of state cause the same to be published for three months previous to the day of said election, as provided by law.”

be and the same is hereby agreed to, enacted and adopted.

On the question, “Shall the joint resolution be adopted?”

Ayes—100.

Anderson of Greene presented the following petition from the voters of Greene county :

To the Honorable Members of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly of Iowa:

Whereas, many women of Iowa desire the ballot to be able to perform a larger duty to the state, and to enjoy freedom based on justice, and,

Whereas, more than 160,000 men voted to enfranchise the women of Iowa, June 5, 1916, and,

Whereas, an investigation of the election made by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, showing gross irregularities, leads us to believe that if the election had been properly safeguarded, the women of the state would have been enfranchised by a large majority, therefore,

We, the undersigned, ask your support in behalf of a resolution to submit to the voters of Iowa an amendment to enfranchise the women of our state.

Referred to committee on constitutional amendments.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Weaver of Polk offered the following concurrent resolution:

Concurrent resolution of the thirty-seventh general assembly of the state of Iowa providing for an inquiry as to the existence of an illegal combination of the manufacturers of cement used in highway bridge and culvert construction, directing the attorney general to make an investigation and report as to any violation of the state anti-trust law, and requesting an investigation by the senators and representatives of the state in the congress of the United States, as to violation in that connection of the federal statutes:

Whereas, the people of Iowa are engaged at this time in a statewide movement for the improvement of the highways of the state and particularly for the construction of permanent bridges and culverts costing millions of dollars to the tax payers of Iowa, and,

Whereas, in such construction an enormous amount of cement is demanded as to a very substantial portion of which the counties of the state have the right to, under existing law, and must of necessity, purchase for all bridge and culvert construction which is to be done, by day labor, and,

Whereas, pursuant to statute the boards of supervisors are granted the further right in certain contingencies and in the event of rejection of bids made by contractors to do all such construction work by day labor, such provision operating by the intention of the statute to secure lower bids by the contractors than would otherwise obtain; and,

Whereas, it is of the utmost importance that the counties as arms of the state and as responsible purchasers shall be able to make necessary any purchases of cement at the lowest market price and at such times as will best secure that end, and,

Whereas, facts have come to the knowledge of the general assembly of the state of Iowa which tend to show the existence of a combination among the manufacturers of cement to increase and maintain prices thereof in this and adjacent states, and whereby the boards of supervisors of the various counties of the state are refused the right to purchase cement in stated amounts for delivery through the season for work which such counties may desire or find necessary or advisable to do by day labor, unless such counties shall first designate the particular structure in which such cement is to be used, the amount of cement needed for each structure, and with the further restriction that each such structure shall consume at least a minimum car load of 106 barrels of cement; and,

Whereas, many such structures consume much less than such minimum car load, and it being impossible for the counties in most cases to know beforehand or designate the particular structure or structures that it will desire to thus build, or find necessary to build by day labor by reason of rejection of exorbitant bids, the result is the imposition of impossible conditions upon the public, and to compel the counties to buy their cement at retail at the season when prices are highest and tends to throw the bridge and culvert work into the hands of the contractors to the great detriment of the tax payers of this state; and,

Whereas, since the establishment of said new rules by said manufacturers, the price of concrete construction was advanced in Iowa from $11.06 per cubic yard in the first half of 1915, to $16.24 per cubic yard in the second half of 1916, an increase of about 47%; and,

Whereas, prior to 1916 the said manufacturers made no such restrictions as are set out above but sold to the counties such amounts of cement at market prices and at such times and for such delivery as was desired by the counties but have refused to continue so to do notwithstanding the repeated written protests and demands of the state highway commission, as shown by correspondence on file with the department, to the effect that such prices are exorbitant and that such restrictions operate squarely in the interest of the contractors and are against public policy and the best interests of the tax payers of the state; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring:

1st. That the attorney general of the state of Iowa be and he is hereby directed and authorized to inquire into the existence of such combination to maintain prices, and to inquire as to whether there are sought to be imposed upon the tax payers of Iowa, illegal restrictions by said cement manufacturers in restraint of trade and in violation of law and public policy, and to the detriment of the public interest, and to report his conclusions to the general assembly by written opinion and in the event such combination and restrictions contrary to law are found to exist, to proceed with the prosecution of the guilty parties; and that in such investigation the attorney general be and he is hereby empowered to compel the production of documents and to call and examine witnesses under oath as to the facts.

2nd. That an engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to the senators and representatives of the state of Iowa in the congress of the United States with request that an investigation be made as to violation in this connection of the federal statutes and for such action by the legal department of the government as may be deemed necessary in the premises.

Laid over under Rule 34.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title was agreed to.

On motion of Boies of Buchanan, Calendar No. 29, House File No. 106, a bill for an act to repeal the law as it appears in sections fifteen hundred seventy-d (1570-d) and fifteen hundred seventy-e (1570-e), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the rebate of the highway tax for the use of wide tired wagons, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Randall of Linn offered the following amendment:

Amend House file 106 by striking out all of the said bill following the enacting clause, and enacting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That section fifteen hundred seventy-d (1570-d) supplement to the code, 1913, be amended by adding after the period at the end of the said section the following: That all persons who shall use wagons on the public highways of this state with tires less than two inches in width or hauling loads exceeding eight hundred pounds in weight, shall be required to pay the sum of five dollars per annum for each and every wagon so used. And it is hereby made the duty of the assessor at the time of making the assessment in each year, to make inquiry of the persons assessed, as to whether or not such wagon or wagons have been so used, and to enter the information so obtained as a part of his return.

Giltner of Monroe offered the following amendment to the amendment:

Amend the amendment to House file No. 106 by adding thereto the following words: "provided further that said wagon shall be covered with two coats of fresh green paint."

Amendment adopted.

Lenoecker of Madison moved the previous question as applied to the amendment as amended. Motion prevailed.

Amendment lost.

Rogers of Carroll offered the following amendment:

Amend House file No. 106 by striking out the figures "1570-d and 1570-e" where the same appear in the second line of section one and substituting in lieu thereof the words and figures "fifteen hundred seventy-d (1570-d) and fifteen hundred seventy-e (1570-e)".

Amendment adopted.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Boies moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title was agreed to.

Walrath of Fayette moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House is ready to receive it. Motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed as such committee, Walrath of Fayette, Wigdahl of Palo Alto and Lewis of Clarke.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Epps of Wapello called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to the investigation of the car shortage and the high price of coal, and moved that the House concur.

Whereas, throughout the state there has been and is a car shortage and farmers and shippers are unable to obtain cars, and,

Whereas, there has been a great loss of money by the farmers and shippers for the reason that they are unable to procure cars, and,

Whereas, a committee has already been appointed to investigate the cause of the high price of coal, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That they be directed to investigate also the cause of the said car shortage and ascertain if possible the remedy therefor and report the same together with the report upon the increase in the price of coal.

The committee appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it here appeared and reported that it had performed its duty. Report received and committee discharged.

The sergeant-at-arms announced the arrival of the President of the Senate and the honored body of the Senate.

The Speaker directed the sergeant-at-arms to escort the President of the Senate to the Speaker's station, and to seat the members of the Senate on the west side of the House chamber.

The president then announced the joint convention duly organized with a quorum of members present .

Anderson of Winnebago moved that a committee of two from the House and one from the Senate be appointed to notify the governor that the joint convention is duly organized and ready to receive any communications he may desire to transmit. Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee, Senator Rule of Cerro Gordo on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Anderson of Winnebago and Krouse of Wayne on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon the governor and escorted him to the Speaker's chair.

The president of the joint convention then presented Governor Harding, who read his message as per previous invitation.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

In addressing you for the first time, I made reference to the campaign which resulted in our presence here. I believed then, as I do now, that our mandate from the people was clearer in some respects than is common in such cases. Speaking for myself, I can say that I do not look upon this mandate as an embarrassment, and your conduct since you have been in session has convinced me that you do not, and are making a sincere effort to carry it out. It will not be an easy nor pleasant task, for any change in established practice is instinctively opposed not only by those who are beneficiaries of the existing system, but at first by a natural conservatism which I have no disposition to discourage or discredit.

Confident as I am that we are in substantial agreement as to the end to be reached, I am encouraged to make some suggestions touching the methods by which it shall be accomplished.

Our governmental machinery was designed in days of greater simplicity and for a comparatively small volume of business. Without stopping now to speak of the wisdom of having entered into many new governmental activities which a changing social conscience has seemed to demand, it is clear that in many cases we have provided for their exercise without any effort to employ existing machinery, or without an effort to co-ordinate the new machinery to that already available.

We are definitely pledged, I believe, to reduce the number of persons and public bodies now employed in the public business; to see that there are not two or several officers or public bodies unnecessarily engaged in the same work; to see that there are not state officers and public bodies performing public business which can as well and more cheaply be performed by long established local officers, to the existence of which the people are accustomed.

I believe that an intelligent study of the scope of these activities, and of the possibilities of reducing expense and conflict of authority by elimination of unnecessary bodies, and by combining the functions of others, should be undertaken in a comparative leisure which the ordinary length of a legislative session does not afford. I believe that this program should not only be carried out, but that it should be carried out by you in the two years which the people have given you for that purpose, and not by a succeeding legislature.

Without attempting to place blame, for all of us may have some measure of it, we have in the past been ready and willing victims to the delusion that anything can be accomplished by law, and the length and multiplicity of our statutes is a daily and depressing reminder of our folly. We are under definite pledge to reduce our laws to readable limits. We must not only have time for this task, but technical skill and concentrated effort, to the employment of which the ordinary business of the session is an insuperable obstacle.

In some of the foregoing may be found part of the cause for the increased burden of taxation. Taxation is a burden which can never be lifted, but it may be lightened. Our system of raising money by taxation is in urgent need of revision. It is now impossible for even the most intelligent citizen to know in what amount or for what purpose public funds are to be expended and nearly as difficult to learn, after the event, for what and in what amount they have been expended. There are two things that contribute to this condition. One is that public expenditures are so gauged as to exhaust levies instead of levies being so framed as to provide for public expenditures. Another is that the amount of money to be raised by any levy is not intelligible because it is expressed in terms of so many mills to the dollar rather than a sum of money in dollars and cents. I have already referred in first addressing you to the defect in our system by which levies can be inflated by subsequent increases in valuation.

Our public business, while immense in volume, is simple. It is entirely possible to accurately forecast the probable necessary public expenditure for any given period. No public body should be permitted to secure money by taxation until it submits a detailed estimate of its probable necessary expenditures for a given period and of its probable income from every source. This, too, is a matter which must have careful study, which I do not believe to be possible under pressure which is upon you now.

I am firmly of the opinion that this legislature, as it is now composed, owes it to the people of the state to accomplish something definite and constructive in these matters; revision of methods of raising revenue, reducing the volume of laws, and elimination of overlapping activities of different departments and officers, and abolition of departments and officers whenever possible.

What has been said shows that it is impossible, or at least inadvisable, to deal with the matter except by a careful examination of the whole subject.

After consultation with many members of the assembly, I believe I can suggest a method by which this can be accomplished at practically no added expense to the state or members of the assembly.

My suggestion and recommendation is that you proceed now to make the necessary appropriations for the biennial period, and to the consideration of general important measures not inherent in the matters heretofore discussed, neglecting, as you proceed, no opportunity for repeal of obsolete or unworkable laws; take up the question of how best to handle the state printing and binding and go carefully into the various road measures which are and will be before you. Among these is the question of extension of the right of suffrage to women, pending before you. The question presented is not a local one, nor transitory, but involves consideration of fundamental political and civil rights which should be considered, debated and voted on in a spirit of deepest concern for reaching a right result. If you shall give these matters, as I know you will, the attention and study they deserve, your time will be fully taken up for a reasonable period.

At the end of such period as shall be reasonably necessary for the disposition of these matters, I urge that you provide for a recess to a day certain, and this recess time be employed in investigation of the larger matters first touched on herein, and in formulating a definite plan for dealing with them.

I suggest a committee from your membership, selected as you shall determine, to take up the problem of revising the system of raising revenue, a similar committee to take up the problem of overlapping authority, and the appointment of a small number of skilled and competent persons, trained in the law, to edit the existing codes and to clarify and simplify them. The result of their labors can be placed before the assembly within a reasonable time, say sixty days, before the day set for reconvening, and a short session thereafter can dispose of them in such manner that we shall have a record of accomplishment in our labors, and a fulfilment of our pledges.

As I read our constitution, it prohibits any member of this assembly from receiving any additional pay for these services in recess, but I am confident that you are proceeding in a spirit which will give no thought to that, if you shall be convinced that a service to the state can be rendered by the method proposed.

Under an act of congress, passed some three years ago, the Interstate Commerce Commission is engaged in a valuation of all the property of the railways. The investigation is of the most comprehensive character, and is intended as a permanent basis for fixing interstate freight and passenger rates. That body will report in detail as to each piece of property owned or used by the companies, the original cost to date, the cost of reproduction new, the cost of reproduction less depreciation, and will furnish an analysis of the methods by which these several costs are obtained, and the reason for their differences, if any. It will report separately other values and elements of value, if any, of the property, and an analysis of the methods of valuation employed, and of the reasons for any differences between any such value, and the cost values. It will report in detail, and separately from improvements, the original cost of all lands, rights of way, and terminals owned or used, as of the time and dedication to public use, and the present value of the same, and separately the original and present cost of condemnation and damages of purchase in excess of such original cost or present value. The report will cover the organization and financing of every corporation which has ever operated the property, together with the net and gross earnings. The report will show the amount and value of any aid, gift, grant of right of way or donation made to existing companies or their predecessors by the United States, any state, county or municipal government, or by individuals, or associations, together with the grant of land by the federal, state, county or municipal governments, and the amount of money derived from sale of such grants.

The act of congress provides that this valuation, when finally established, shall be "prima facie evidence of the value of the property in all proceedings under the act to regulate commerce as of the date of the fixing thereof, and in all proceedings for the enforcement" of it and "in all judicial proceedings brought to enjoin, set aside, annul, or suspend, in whole or in part, any order of the Interstate Commerce Commission." These provisions do not have such effect, directly, upon the action of our state courts, or other tribunals having jurisdiction where such values can be the subject of controversy, but the investigation upon which they were fixed, will always be available as an hypothesis upon which experts can base value, and as such will surely be asserted as a basis for taxation and for fixing freight and passenger rates in this state.

I have gone somewhat into detail to demonstrate, first, that it is unnecessary for us to undertake a complete, independent valuation, and, second, to show how vitally we may be affected by the result.

The act of congress further provides:

"Whenever the commission shall have completed the tentative valuation of any common carrier, as herein directed, and before such valuation shall become final, the commission shall give notice by registered letter to the said carrier, the attorney general of the United States, the governor of any state in which the property so valued is located * * * stating the valuation placed upon the several classes of property of said carrier, and shall allow thirty days in which to file a protest of the same with the commission. If no protest is filed within thirty days, said valuation shall become final as of the date thereof.

"If notice of protest is filed, the commission shall fix a time for hearing the same, and shall proceed as promptly as may be to hear and consider any matter relative and material thereto which may be presented in support of any protest so filed as aforesaid. If after hearing any protest of such tentative valuation under the provisions of this act, the commission shall be of the opinion that its valuation should not become final, it shall issue an order making such corrected tentative valuation final as of the date thereof."

These provisions throw upon the governor a direct, and peculiarly personal, responsibility. Under my oath it is a duty which I cannot shirk, either by neglecting adequate provision for it or by placing it upon others. It is but fair to me, and necessary to the protection of the vast interests of the state involved, that I should be placed in a position to deal with the subject intelligently and have fair opportunity and funds to inform myself.

The railways concerned are conducting a parallel investigation and valuation. In a matter so vitally affecting their income, it is not unnatural that the railways affected should seek to guard against any valuation which could be used as a lever for reduction of their rates. At the same time it is necessary that the state should guard against any valuation which would improperly increase the rates of transportation. The companies affected are preparing themselves to protest against a valuation which might be adverse to their interests. The state should be prepared at the same time to effectually protest if its interests should be adversely affected.

It is not impossible that the time available to us may prove so short that we shall be compelled to seek relief by asking congress for an extension of the time in which to protest, or that failing, suffer irreparable injury by being compelled to make but a cursory and ineffective investigation with a small part of our funds, rather than dissipate a large sum in an effort foredoomed to failure, but it is unthinkable that we should be unprepared for any effort which may prove possible and seem reasonably probable of success.

I therefore request an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars, to be expended under my direction in such investigation, or other course, as shall be found necessary for the protection of our interests in the matter, and to be given express authority to call to my assistance therein, for work under my direction, any officer or employe of the state whose service can be employed to advantage.

It should not be out of place for me to say here that I have been deeply touched by the spirit of friendly helpfulness you have manifested toward me, and that your help and counsel have lightened my labor and made it pleasant.

With confidence that you will meet the situation here presented in a spirit which will give no play to strife of faction or pride of opinion, I leave it for your consideration.

Journal of the joint convention was then read and approved.

On motion of Senator Price the joint convention was dissolved.

K. M. LeCOMPTE,
Chairman of the Senate Rules Committee.
S. W. KLAUS,
Chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Report adopted.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

On request of Klinker of Crawford, unanimous consent having been given, House File No. 1, a bill for an act to repeal paragraph five (5) of section one hundred thirty-eight (138) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and to enact a substitute therefor; to provide for the preparation, printing and distribution of a classified index to legislative bills and making appropriation to defray the expense thereof; to provide for the preparation, printing, publication, distribution and sale of the acts and resolutions of the general assembly and making appropriation to defray the expense thereof; and to repeal sections forty-two (42), forty-three (43) and forty-four (44) of the supplement to the code, 1913, and enact substitutes therefor: All relating to the subject of public printing and binding, with Senate amendments, was taken up and the amendments read and considered.

SENATE AMENDMENTS.

That House file No. 1 be amended by striking out all after the enacting clause and enacting the following in lieu thereof:

"SECTION 1. Immediately upon the taking effect of this act, and at the beginning of each legislative session thereafter, the reporter of the supreme court, under the direction of the judges of the supreme court, shall commence and continue throughout the session, and thereafter as far as necessary, the preparation of manuscript copy of all laws, acts, joint resolutions and memorials passed thereat, arranging the same in chapters, in the order in which they are filed in the office of the secretary of state, and indicating on each the number of the house or senate file. The state printer shall print the same as fast as manuscript is furnished to him by the reporter, and in the same size, style, type and appearance as the official edition of the code, except that each line of each section of each act shall be consecutively numbered on the left hand margin thereof, and, with all possible dispatch, shall deliver a copy of the final corrected volume to the said reporter, who shall prepare and cause to be printed therewith an index thereto. The state binder shall bind said volume as herein directed.

"SECTION 2. In the preparation of said volume, the reporter shall have the same right to the possession of the original rolls and the same right to necessary supplies as now possessed by him in the preparation of the biennial supplemental supplement.

"SECTION 3. The secretary of state shall prepare and deliver to said reporter for insertion in said volume a correct list of state officers, judges of the supreme, district, superior and municipal courts, members of the general assembly and commissioners for this state in other states. There shall also be inserted therein the statement of the condition of the state treasury, as provided by the constitution, which statement shall be furnished by the state auditor.

"SECTION 4. To each volume shall be attached the certificate of said reporter that the acts, laws, joint resolutions and memorials therein contained have been prepared from the original rolls in the office of the secretary of state and are correct, which certificate shall be presumptive evidence of their correctness.

"SECTION 5. Four thousand (4,000) copies of said volume shall be printed and all shall be bound in board covers. All volumes shall be sold to residents of this state at fifty cents ($.50) per volume, and to all others at one dollar ($1.00) per volume.

"SECTION 6. That section forty-two (42) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"SEC. 42. The secretary of state shall distribute the laws aforesaid as follows: To the state library for exchange purposes, one hundred fifty (150) copies; to the law library of the state university for exchange purposes with the law libraries of other state and territorial universities or colleges, fifty (50) copies; to the state historical department and the state historical society, each ten (10) copies; to all judges of the supreme, district and superior courts of Iowa and judges of the United States district courts in Iowa, one (1) copy each; to each municipal judge, as provided in section six hundred ninety-six-c (696-c) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, one (1) copy; to the clerk of the supreme court of Iowa and to each clerk of the United States district court in Iowa, one (1) copy; to the state institutions and states officers, two (2) copies each; to the separate departments of the principal state offices, members of permanent state boards or commissions, offices of permanent state boards or commissions, when maintained at the seat of government, members of the thirty-seventh and succeeding general assemblies, chief clerk of the House, secretary of the Senate, colleges and public libraries within the state, each one (1) copy; to each county officer, one (1) copy; to each of the following officers, one (1) copy, on written request only: justices of the peace, township clerks, and mayors of cities or towns.'

"SECTION 7. That section forty-three (43) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof, to wit:

"SEC. 43. The county auditor shall make requisition upon the secretary of state for the number of copies needed for gratuitous distribution and for sale purposes, and the secretary of state shall deliver to the county auditor the number so ordered, charging him therewith upon the books of his office. Upon receipt thereof, the county auditor shall execute his receipt in duplicate therefor, one of which shall be filed in his office and the other immediately forwarded to the secretary of state. The county auditor shall, in delivering copies, take receipts in duplicate therefor, one of which shall be filed in his office and the other forwarded to the secretary of state, along with the annual report provided for in section forty-five (45) hereof.'"

"SECTION 8. That section forty-four (44) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof, to wit:

"SEC. 44. The secretary of state shall pay the proceeds arising from all such sales made by him into the state treasury each month. The county auditor shall pay the proceeds arising from all such sales made by him into the county treasury for the use of the state revenue, on or before the first Monday of January in each year, taking a receipt in duplicate therefor, one of which shall be immediately forwarded to the secretary of state."

"SECTION 9. There is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of providing the necessary clerical assistance in preparing the volume of the acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly, the sum of one thousand two hundred dollars ($1,200.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary, which sum shall be wholly available for said purpose, immediately upon the taking effect of this act. There is hereby further appropriated out of any such funds a like amount and for the same purpose for each special or regular session of the general assembly subsequent to the present session, which amount shall be wholly available for each session immediately upon its legal organization. Said appropriations shall be expended under the direction of the judges of the supreme court. The proper bills for printing and binding said volumes shall be paid as provided by law.

"SECTION 10. Section two hundred twenty-four-j (224-j) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, is hereby amended as follows: By striking out the comma following the word "Supplement", where it appears in the fifth line preceding the close of said section, and by inserting a period in lieu of said comma, and by striking out all that part of said section which follows said inserted period.

"SECTION 11. Section two hundred twenty-four-i (224-i) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 12. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Capital and in the Des Moines Register, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa."

Also amend the title by striking out all after the word "Bill" and inserting the following:

For an act to provide for the preparation, printing, publication, distribution and sale of the acts and resolutions of the general assembly and making appropriations to defray the expense thereof, and to repeal sections forty-two (42) forty-three (43) and forty-four (44) of the supplement to the code, 1913, and enact substitutes therefor—all relating to the subject of public printing and binding.

Mr. Klinker moved that the House concur in the Senate amendments.

On the question, "Shall the House concur?"

RESOLUTION.

Randall of Linn, from the committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions relative to the present national emergency, submitted the following report and moved its adoption.

House of Representatives of Iowa.

Whereas, the president of the United States has been moved by the conditions confronting him, to sever the diplomatic relations heretofore existing between the United States and a former friendly nation. And,

Whereas, we most earnestly and sincerely deplore the sanguinary conflict now in progress in the Old World. And,

Whereas, we desire peace, not only for our own nation, but for the world, so long as it can be maintained without the sacrifice of our national honor or dignity. And,

Whereas, in the furtherance of this purpose we desire that any step and every course of action which looks or tends toward the destruction of that condition or the disruption of the cordial relations between this nation and another, be entered upon with the utmost caution. And,

Whereas, we are abidingly confident that in this or any time of crisis the nation owes a patriotic duty which can be second to none other, to support the president in any step deemed necessary by him to preserve the dignity of our nation, the integrity of our principles and the honor of our flag, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That we, the House of Representatives of the thirty-seventh general assembly of the state of Iowa, do hereby most emphatically assure the president of the United States, that we, as a body and as representing the citizenship of the great commonwealth of Iowa, do pledge ourselves and all our resources to sustain, support, uphold and protect our president, our nation and our flag, in this grave crisis.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be printed in the journal and that the chief clerk be instructed to transmit an engrossed copy to the president of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

MAC J. RANDALL,
F. S. FINLEY,
E. A. BALDWIN,
W. W. EPPS,
J. W. COAKLEY,
Committee.

Randall of Linn requested a roll call on the resolution.

So the House reconsidered the vote by which the House concurred in the Senate concurrent resolution relative to the publication and distribution of the legislative manual.

Tucker of Clinton offered the following amendment to the Senate concurrent resolution:

Amend Senate concurrent resolution relative to publication of legislative manual, as appearing on page 363 of the journal of February 5th, by inserting after the word "Iowa" in the fourth line of the resolution the words "at a cost not exceeding that which would be paid for the same class of work, if done by the state printer."

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

The hour having arrived for Special Order No. 2, on motion of Meredith of Jasper, House File No. 26, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in sections ten hundred seventy-two (1072) and twenty-seven hundred forty-two (2742), supplement to the code, 1913, and in section twenty-seven hundred thirty-four-b (2734-b), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, relating to the election, compensation and qualification of county superintendent, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Harrington of Kossuth offered the following amendment to the amendment filed by him, to be found on page 321 of the journal:

Amend the amendment to House File No. 26, found on page 321 of the journal, by striking out the word "or" in the third line of the amendment as printed in the journal, and also by inserting after the word "said" and before the word "special" in the tenth line the words "general or".

Amendment to the amendment adopted.

Harrington of Kossuth moved the previous question as applied to the amendment as amended. Motion prevailed.

Johnston of Humboldt demanded a roll call on the amendment as amended. Seconded by Tucker of Clinton.

On the question, "Shall the amendment as amended be adopted?"

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

House resumed consideration of Senate concurrent resolution relative to the publication and distribution of the legislative manual.

Tucker of Clinton moved the adoption of the amendment to the resolution as offered by him. Motion prevailed and the amendment was adopted.

Tucker of Clinton moved the adoption of the concurrent resolution as amended. Motion prevailed.

SENATE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 6, a joint resolution recognizing the grave crisis of the nation and expressing the attitude of this general assembly in sustaining the President and Congress in protecting this neutral country and its citizens against any belligerent nation that shall infringe upon the rights of neutrals or the citizens of our nation consistent with national honor and humanity.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules prohibiting the second and third reading of bills on the same day, on motion of Elwood of Howard, Senate Joint Resolution No. 6, a joint resolution recognizing the grave crisis of the nation and expressing the attitude of this general assembly in sustaining the President and Congress in protecting this neutral country and its citizens against any belligerent nation that shall infringe upon the rights of neutrals or the citizens of our nation consistent with national honor and humanity, was taken up and considered.

Elwood of Howard offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend Senate joint resolution No. 6 by striking out the first two lines of the last paragraph and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "The governor of the state is instructed to tender by telegraph to the president of the United States, the military".

Motion prevailed and the amendment was adopted.

Unanimous consent having been obtained, Mr. Elwood moved that the joint resolution be read a third time, which motion prevailed and the joint resolution was read a third time.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 6.

A joint resolution recognizing the grave crisis of the nation and expressing the attitude of this general assembly in sustaining the president and congress in protecting this neutral country and its citizens against any belligerent nation that shall infringe upon the rights of neutrals or the citizens of our nation consistent with national honor and humanity.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

Whereas despite every effort on the part of our government and nation to preserve neutrality in the present deplorable conflict raging in Europe, and despite the sincere desire of the people of our nation to remain at peace with the world and to further every effort to bring to a close the present world's war, it appears that our relations with the belligerent nations have become extremely delicate and that decisive action has been taken by the president of the United States for the assertion and protection of our national rights and our national honor, now, therefore,

Be It Resolved That the general assembly of Iowa hereby expresses the hope that war may be averted if possible, but that the State of Iowa will sustain the President of the United States and Congress in standing firmly and determinedly in protecting the citizens of this neutral nation and the national honor against any belligerent nation which shall infringe upon such rights.

The Governor of the State is instructed to tender by telegraph to the President of the United States, the military and financial resources of the State of Iowa in support of his stand for preservation of national rights and dignity.

On the question, "Shall the joint resolution be adopted?"

Ayes—94.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
DES MOINES, IOWA, FEBRUARY 7, 1917.

House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Pitt in the chair.

Prayer was offered by Rev. O. J. Fix, pastor of the Methodist Church, Pulaski, Iowa.

Journal of February 6th corrected and approved.

Helming of Allamakee submitted the following statement on a point of personal privilege and, on motion of Richards of Muscatine, the same was ordered printed in the journal.

To My Fellow Representatives:

Feeling deeply certain criticisms which I have heard voiced against me during the past day or two by some of the members of this House, who, I feel sure, have not stopped to consider the circumstances in which I have been placed by recent national developments of vital interest to ourselves and our fellow citizens, I desire at this time to present a few words for your consideration.

I believe that members of this House who have known me for years have respected me as a true American citizen. I was born in America and I have always been proud of my country and its citizens.

I have, too, a love for the country of my fathers, which, like America, is a great country, with a great people.

I do not believe that I can be blamed for possessing a heartfelt sympathy with that land, which has been engaged for nearly three years in a death struggle with other nations. I make no apology for this sympathy, and I should deplore to the utmost any eventuality which would bring our country into the conflict which is now raging in Europe.

Most of you have no doubt read certain statements attributed to me which were printed in a Des Moines paper last night. In regard to them I wish to say that the words of my mouth have been twisted and misquoted until the article as published is not recognizable to me as any fair account of anything I actually said. I did not authorize the publication of that interview, in fact, specifically told the reporter who talked to me that I did not wish to tell him anything to be quoted. The article contains much which I did not say, and certainly does not contain many things which I did say, and which, if quoted, would have given an entirely different impression to all than did the article to which I refer.

I have been criticised, too, for failure to vote upon two resolutions which have recently been adopted by this House. I hope you will believe me when I tell you that I did not fail to vote upon these resolutions because of any lack of loyalty to my country. I would be the first man to pledge myself unreservedly in the service of this nation if it should come to pass that we are embroiled in war with Germany or any other country.

But I am hopeful, even now, that this country will be spared war. I would not willingly lend my influence in word or deed to any action which would bring us nearer to war.

The events in Europe of the past three years should be enough to convince all of us that peace is to be maintained if it can be done with honor, and I do not believe that the honor of the United States required a break with Germany at the present juncture. This is a matter of opinion which I believe I may hold without forfeiting your respect.

I have not always agreed with our President in matters of national policy. This is true, I believe, of a majority of members of the House. But I would be the last to be disloyal to this nation because I did not agree entirely with its head.

Let us remember, while we are on the verge of what might prove the greatest misfortune which has ever befallen this land, that there are millions of citizens of this great republic who are as loyal as any of us, but who are torn by conflicting emotions.

I cannot forget that war with Germany would mean the aligning of brother against brother and father against son all over this land of ours. And, with this in my mind more keenly, perhaps, than can be the case with you who have no ties with the nation from which my fathers came, I believe that I can appeal, without loss of dignity, for a thoughtful consideration rather than a hasty condemnation if my views are not always identical with yours.

I do not believe that it is necessary or proper that I should protest my loyalty to this country. The men in America of German birth or descent have too often demonstrated their loyalty in the past to be hastily condemned in the present crisis.

But if you ask me to vote upon any resolution which requires a straightforward expression of patriotism or loyalty to the United States, unhampered by questions of policy or expedience, as the ones which we have considered have been, I shall be found in my seat ready to vote "aye" at every opportunity.

OTTO A. HELMING.

ALFRED WENSTRAND,
Chairman House Committee.

BENJ. J. GIBSON,
Chairman Senate Committee.

Report adopted.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Tucker of Clinton offered the following concurrent resolution:

Whereas, it is of vital interest to every member of the general assembly of the state of Iowa, to know from where the various state funds are received, and,

Whereas, no record is compiled of the automobile tax paid in by the several counties, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring: That the secretary of state be and is hereby ordered to furnish such information on or before February 19, 1917, to the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Laid over under rule 34.

Lake of Woodbury offered the following concurrent resolution:

Being an investigation of the receipts and disbursements and general conduct of the Iowa Department of Agriculture, and the Iowa State Fair and Exposition.

Be it Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring:

Whereas, the legislature of the state of Iowa is called upon from time to time to appropriate large sums of money for the so called State Fair located in Des Moines.

Whereas, the tax payers of the state of Iowa, who furnish these various sums of money for the aforesaid fair and exposition, are entitled to know and be fully acquainted with the facts in regard to the disbursements and receipts of said fair, and business conduct of the fair.

Whereas, the said Iowa Department of Agriculture and the Iowa State Fair and Exposition issues annually to the State Agricultural Department, what purports to be an itemized statement of the receipts and disbursements; but in many instances said statement is vague and indefinite as to the disposition of funds so expended, with the result that the people of the state of Iowa are considerably in doubt as to the handling of the finances of the said Iowa Department of Agriculture and the Iowa State Fair and Exposition. Now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That the speaker of the House appoint a committee of three to act in conjunction with a like committee from the Senate, and this joint committee communicate with the officials of the above said Iowa Department of Agriculture and the Iowa State Fair and Exposition; and said officials be required to place at the disposal of the joint committee, all books, records, etc., pertaining to said Fair, and that said officials are hereby ordered to appear before said committee and furnish such information as the committee deems necessary.

Resolved, That as there are now pending before the House and Senate, bills authorizing large appropriations for the said Iowa State Fair and Exposition, this matter be given immediate attention.

Laid over under rule 34.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

The Speaker of the House announced that, as Speaker of the House, he had signed in the presence of the House, the following bill:

House File No. 72.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

On motion of Wilson of Mahaska, Calendar No. 36, House File No. 119, a bill for an act to authorize the property owners to select the character of pavement or other street improvement to be made in front of their property, with report of committee recommending passage as amended was taken up, considered, and the committee amendments were adopted.

Tucker of Clinton offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House File No. 119 by striking out the word "five" at the end of the fourth line of section 1 of the amended bill as printed in the House journal of February 3d, and inserting the word "ten" in lieu thereof. Also by striking out the quotation after the word "improvement" in the tenth line of said section 1, and adding the words "if the property owners do not so petition for a specified material, then and in that case, the city council or commission may let the contract to the lowest responsible bidder for such material as the council or commission may choose. Upon petition of property owners representing a majority of the linear feet frontage of property subject to assessment for any proposed improvement, the council or commission shall advertise for bids on such material as the petitioners may desire.”

Santee of Black Hawk moved that action on House File No. 119 be deferred and that it retain its place on the calendar. Motion prevailed.

By striking out section 7 of said bill; and when so amended the bill do pass.

RUBE McFERRIN, Chairman.

Also:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on judiciary, to whom was referred House File No. 134, a bill for an act to amend the laws of Iowa as they appear in title twenty-one (21), chapter three (3), of the code of 1897, relating to actions for the forcible entry and detention of real property, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

That all following the enacting clause be stricken out and the following be inserted in lieu thereof:

SECTION 1. That section four thousand two hundred eleven (4211) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

The district, municipal and superior courts within the county, and justices of the peace within the township where the subject matter of the action is situated, shall have concurrent jurisdiction of actions for the forcible entry or detention of real property, and the court first acquiring jurisdiction of an action therefor shall retain the same until judgment, unless it is transferred as hereinafter provided. By agreement of the parties, it may be transferred from a justice's court to a municipal, superior or the district court, or from a superior or a municipal to the district court, and all such actions in which judgment is rendered in a justice's court may be appealed to the district or superior court, as provided by law.

SECTION 2. That section four thousand two hundred twelve (4212), of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

The action must be by petition, which must be sworn to, and when brought before a justice of the peace, and there is none present or qualified to act in the township where the subject thereof is situated, it may be brought in any adjoining township in the county. In any such action a change of place of trial may be had as in other cases. When brought in municipal court or before a justice of the peace the petition must be on file at the time the defendant is required to appear by the notice.

SECTION 3. That section four thousand two hundred fourteen (4214), of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following is enacted in lieu thereof:

The time for appearance and pleading if in justice's court or municipal court, must be not less than two or more than six days from the time of completed service of the notice. If in district or superior court, the same time as is required in ordinary actions.

SECTION 4. That section four thousand two hundred sixteen (4216), of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following is enacted in lieu thereof:

The question of title can only be investigated in the district court, and can be pleaded in a municipal court or a justice's court only as provided in sub-section three of section forty-two hundred and eight of this chapter. When so put in issue in a justice's court or municipal court, the justice or the judge of the municipal court shall forthwith, without further proceedings, certify the cause and the papers with a transcript of his docket, showing the reason of such transfer to the district court, where the same shall be tried on the merits. Such cause shall not be dismissed because of error in transferring the same. When title is put in issue, the cause shall be tried by equitable proceedings. The appearance term shall be the trial term, and no continuance shall be granted for the purpose of taking the testimony in writing. Nothing herein contained shall prevent a party from suing for trespass or from testing the right of property in any other manner.

Also strike out the title of said bill and insert in lieu thereof the following:

To repeal section four thousand two hundred eleven (4211), section four thousand two hundred twelve (4212), section four thousand two hundred fourteen (4214), section four thousand two hundred sixteen (4216), of the code, and to enact substitutes in lieu thereof, relating to actions for the forcible entry and detention of real property; and when so amended the bill do pass.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

My hope is that your patience will not be tried by my too frequent appearance before you. As opportunity offers for me to secure information relative to the affairs of the state, I feel it my duty to bring them before you for your consideration and action, as your judgment may dictate.

I have before me the condition of the state treasury for the six months beginning January 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1917. This information is furnished by the state treasurer and state auditor, and is certified to by them. It shows that there was cash on hand January 1, 1917, in the amount of $116,247.00, and that the revenues available up to June 30, 1917, including this cash, will be $4,239,447.00. It also shows that there has already been appropriated by former legislatures, subject to warrant, for the same six months' period, the sum of $5,724,958.00. This will leave a deficit June 30, 1917, of $1,486,511.00. A copy of this report is hereto attached for your information. This deficit is a heritage to this legislature and this administration from former legislatures and administrations, and must be met by us. If appropriations are made, they must be paid. These appropriations have been made and will have to be provided for by this legislature in order that the treasury of the state may be in a condition that will meet the approval of the business sense of the people of the state. Your problem is to meet this deficit and at the same time take care of the just needs of, and the just demands that are made upon, the state in a financial way. The state already has large investments and undertakings of an educational and eleemosynary nature that must be cared for.

As I view the matter, there are two avenues open by which to meet the situation that confronts us at this time. One is by reducing the expenses we are already under, by consolidation of departments and institutions, and a reduction of the overhead expense incident to carrying on the various departments and institutions. The other is by reduction of the appropriations for the biennial period beginning July 1, 1917. True, there is a third avenue open, and that is to increase the levy and leave conditions as they now exist. This does not meet my approval, and I am confident it does not meet yours, and will not meet the approval of our constituents.

There are two conflicting opinions in circulation at this time about public finances. One is to "pay as you go" and the other is to "go in debt, issue bonds and let future generations pay if they can". I am a disciple of the "pay as you go" doctrine, and confident that this is the prevailing thought of a very large percentage of our people. I have not the time here for a discussion of municipal, school, and county indebtedness, but I am confident that if the figures were before us, they would be most startling.

"Pass it on to others" seems to have become almost a watchword. I do not care to convey the impression that there is not justification, under proper circumstances and conditions, for public indebtedness, but I do want to emphatically impress upon you that the public business ought not to be carried on under the installment plan system. In private affairs, the individual who pledges his future barter at a disadvantage, and the same rule holds true in public affairs. Indeed, there should be progress, but it should be in keeping with the "state of the treasury" and the ability of the people to pay.

With a deficit of practically a million and a half staring us in the face, we ought to be busy with the prosaic subject of "ways and means". The average citizen does not object to paying taxes, providing the thing for which he pays is a governmental function and that function is administered economically and efficiently. If there is not efficiency in state governmental affairs, we cannot rightfully expect that there will be in the affairs of lesser governmental divisions. I am not unmindful of the peculiar conditions under which we labor at this time. Nearly everything which the state is under obligation to purchase has increased in cost. We must meet these conditions in a fair, frank way and take the public into our confidence in these matters. If we live beyond our income in days of plenty and prosperity, what will the condition be if reverses in the business world overtake us? In these days of plenty, we ought to give heed for the tomorrow. The dark shadow on the horizon caused by our international relations, I am sure must sober the mind of every citizen on the problems of which I speak. Serious attention should be given by you to ways and means of securing new revenues to meet these just demands, and if possible to do this without increasing the burden upon those who are already contributing to the support of the state. I am sure that you will not feel you have done your whole duty in this particular unless you carefully search to find if there are not legitimate sources of revenue from property that has heretofore escaped the attention of the tax collector.

I want to suggest that you devote time to the matter of reducing expenses. The state does not owe any citizen a job. Every citizen who has a job with the state owes it to the state to render the same service he would if working for a private party and ought to surrender the position willingly if it appears that there is opportunity for economy. This requires a spirit of patriotism on the part of the individual who is affected, but I am sure from the expressions that have come to me that such a feeling prevails among the employes of the state. In private affairs everywhere, the modern idea is to consolidate departments, eliminate unnecessary executives, curtail in bookkeeping, systemize in records, and reduce general expenses. The opportunity is before you to make a great saving in this field for the state.

Naturally, all the activities of the state group themselves under four or five different heads, such as education, public welfare, labor, industries. These are not given with the thought of suggesting names for departments, for names are but an incident, but to convey to you how more naturally one executive, with a much smaller force and much less expense, could conduct all these activities under one of these groupings, than under the plan as now, with several heads all equipped with a retinue of officers, stenographers, supplies, and the like. As an example, take the subject of public welfare. We have certain matters of law enforcement, various lines of inspection such as the food and dairy department, hotel inspection, the oil department, public health, and matters of this character. One executive sitting at a single desk could handle all of these subjects at a great saving to the state. There would be a saving in desk room, supplies, stenographers, postage, traveling expenses, and salaries.

I desire to suggest in this connection that by a slight change in the statutes giving the state authority to use local officers, and making it their duty to act, a further reduction in expense could be made without impairing the efficiency of the service now had.

Your attention is directed to the condition of the treasury, the opportunity for increased revenue, the advisability for extreme care in appropriations, and the possibility for reduction in expenses without impairing efficiency, confident that these suggestions will be received in the friendly spirit in which they are given.

We are all mindful of the gravity of our international relations. In a time like this, the thought of all should be in unison for the single purpose of a united country supporting those in authority. There should be neither bickering nor small words. I am sure I speak the sentiment of every citizen of this state when I say that the resources and the men within our borders are at the command of the president, not to fight a nation or a people, but to maintain our national honor and sovereign rights among all the nations of the world.

HOUSE RESUMED SESSION.

House reconvened, Speaker Pitt in the chair.

RESOLUTION.

Epps of Wapello offered the following resolution, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration and moved its adoption :

Whereas, in view of the information just laid before this body by special message from his Honor, Governor Harding, in reference to a deficit in the treasury; therefore,

Be It Resolved, That a committee of three members of the House be appointed by the speaker, with authority to act and investigate the cause of said deficiency, and when and how the same occurred, and that the matters and information be laid before this body, and that this committee be authorized and directed to investigate and have access to any public offices and records of the state and call to their aid, if need be, any of the officers or employes of the state charged with the duty of handling public funds; that they further be directed to report upon the amount or amounts of money borrowed from time to time by the state, if any, and the rates of interest charged and paid.

Be It Further Resolved, That they be directed to investigate and report as to the use of funds for various departments and where and in what places they are deposited.

Motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed as such committee, Epps of Wapello, Wilson of Mitchell and Lenoeker of Madison.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Klaus of Delaware called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to the adoption of a joint rule and moved its adoption:

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, That the following is adopted as a joint rule:

"No. 16. That all bills hereafter introduced shall be typewritten, on legal-cap paper, double spaced and each line, except first and last lines of paragraphs, shall contain not less than five and one-half inches of typewritten matter."

Motion prevailed and joint rule No. 16 was adopted.

Rowley of Van Buren called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to the appointment of a committee to investigate the deficit in the state treasury, and moved its adoption.

Whereas, the message by Governor Harding delivered to the joint assembly of the legislature February 9th, 1917, reveals the startling fact that there will exist on July 1st, 1917, a deficit in the state treasury in excess of the revenues available up to that date amounting to approximately $1,500,000.

And, Whereas, the 37th general assembly is called upon to meet and deal with this unusual condition with which it is confronted and to devise ways and means by which said deficit may be taken care of, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, That there be a committee of five, two from the Senate and three from the House, appointed by the presiding officers of the respective Houses, with authority to act and investigate the cause of said deficiency and when and how the same occurred and that this committee be authorized and directed to investigate and have access to any public records of the state and to call to their aid any of the officers or employes of the state charged with the duty of handling public funds, and that they be further directed to investigate the amount or amounts of money borrowed from time to time by the state, if any, and the rates of interest charged and paid therefor.

And further, that they be directed to investigate as to the use of funds for various departments and where and in what place such funds are deposited and if the state derives any interest from funds so deposited;

And further, that they be directed to lay all information, facts and matters derived from said investigation before the Senate and House for their consideration and action thereon.

Motion lost.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Lake of Woodbury called up House concurrent resolution relative to appointing a committee to investigate the expenditures and receipts of the Iowa State Fair and moved its adoption.

Wilson of Mitchell and Kern of Warren demanded a roll call.

On the question, "Shall the resolution be adopted?"

RESOLUTION.

Crozier of Marion offered the following resolution, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration and moved its adoption:

Whereas, it having been officially communicated to this body by the governor of the state that there is a deficit of funds in the state treasury; and

Whereas, it is the duty of this body to provide the necessary funds for the administration of the affairs of the state, without unnecessarily excessive taxation; and

Whereas, it is claimed by many, and was asserted with much confidence prior to the election of 1916, that the state was supporting an unnecessary number of commissions, to the members and employes of which large salaries were paid without adequate return;

Now, Therefore, Resolved, that the committee on retrenchment and reform be directed to make full and thorough investigation as to the several commissions within the state, and that it report to the House the number of such commissions, the number of officers and employes in each, and their respective salaries, and report the same to the House as soon as such investigation is completed, and recommend such measures as in the judgment of said committee should be taken by the general assembly in relation thereto.

Gilbert of Marshall offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House File No. 93 by adding thereto the following:

SECTION 3. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Times Republican of Marshalltown, Iowa, and the Des Moines Register, newspaper published in the city of Des Moines, Iowa.

Amendment adopted.

Epps of Wapello offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House File No. 93 by adding thereto as section 3 the following:

"SECTION 3. That there be appropriated out of any money not heretofore appropriated the sum of forty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay each dependent old soldier the sum of twelve and 50/100 dollars per month to sustain them at their own homes."

Also that section 3 be numbered as section 4.

Rayburn of Poweshiek moved the previous question as applied to all pending amendments. Motion lost.

Randall of Linn offered the following amendment to the amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend the amendment to House File No. 93 by striking out the same and inserting in lieu thereof the following as section 3:

SECTION 3. The board of control is hereby authorized to expend not to exceed forty thousand dollars ($40,000) for the temporary relief or such persons as are eligible for admission to the soldiers' home but cannot be admitted for lack of room.

McFerren of Hamilton moved that action be deferred on House File No. 93 and that it be allowed to retain its place on the calendar. Motion lost.

Klaus of Delaware moved that House File No. 93 and all pending amendments be re-referred to the committee on appropriations. Motion lost.

Klinker of Crawford moved the previous question as applied to the amendments and the main question. Motion prevailed.

Amendment to the amendment lost.

Amendment by Epps of Wapello lost.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Gilbert moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ENROLLED BILLS.

Wenstrand of Page, from the committee on enrolled bills, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

Your committee on enrolled bills respectfully report that they have examined, and find correctly enrolled, the following bill:

House File No. 69, an act to amend section three hundred and three-a, supplement of the code, 1913, relating to the appointment of assistant county attorneys and their compensation.

ALFRED WENSTRAND, Chairman.

Report adopted.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE ON ENROLLED BILLS.

Wenstrand of Page, from the joint committee on enrolled bills, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

Your joint committee on enrolled bills respectfully report that they have examined, and find correctly enrolled, the following bill:

House File No. 69.

ALFRED WENSTRAND,
Chairman House Committee.

BENJ. J. GIBSON,
Chairman Senate Committee.

Report adopted.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

The Speaker of the House announced that, as Speaker of the House, he had signed in the presence of the House, the following bill:

House File No. 69.

Elwood of Howard moved that the House adjourn until 10:00 a. m. Monday.

Nicholson of Winneshiek moved to amend the motion by substituting 1:30 p. m. today instead of 10:00 a. m. Monday.

Amendment prevailed.

Motion as amended prevailed and House adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House reconvened at 1:30 p. m., Speaker Pitt in the chair.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Becker of Clayton called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to a joint session to commemorate Washington's birthday, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration and moved that the House concur:

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Whereas, the people of the greatest republic are now confronted with most grave and far reaching dangers, and

Whereas, our people deprecate war and love peace, but will protect our citizens and maintain our rights, and

Whereas, in this eventful year we may well turn for guidance to the lasting integrity and wisdom of the ages expressed by him who was "first in war" and "first in peace", and should to that end properly celebrate the one hundred and eighty-fifth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and

Whereas, the thirty-seventh general assembly should for such purpose hold a joint session, now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That a joint session of both houses of the assembly be held in the House chamber at eleven o'clock a. m., February 22, 1917, and that a joint committee on arrangements for such celebration be appointed, consisting of three members of the Senate, to be appointed by the president of the Senate, and three members of the House, to be appointed by the speaker of the House.

Motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed on the part of the House, Becker of Clayton, Larson of Montgomery and Lewis of Clarke.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

On request of Rayburn of Poweshiek, unanimous consent having been given, House File No. 281, a bill for an act establishing a state banking department and providing for the appointment and removal, salary and expenses of a superintendent of banking; for the appointment and removal, salary and expenses of examiners and clerks in said department; providing quarters, furniture and supplies for such department; and relieving the auditor of state of all duties in connection with the management of the banking department of the state, with senate amendments, was taken up and the amendments read and considered.

SENATE AMENDMENTS.

Amend House File No. 281 by striking out in line two of section 5 the words "at his pleasure, who" and inserting in their stead the words: "for a term of two years but removable at the pleasure of the said superintendent, and said examiners".

Amend House File No. 281, section 5, line six from top of the page by striking out the words "the Executive Council" and inserting the word "him".

Amend House File No. 281, section 5, line twelve from the top of the page by striking out the words "the Executive Council" and inserting the word "him".

Mr. Rayburn moved that the house concur in the Senate amendments.

On the question, "Shall the House concur?"

Ayes—79.

Unanimous consent having been granted to call up at this time, on motion of Knickerbocker of Linn, Calendar No. 122, House File No. 292, a bill for an act to legalize an ordinance of the incorporated town of Zearing, Iowa, granting a franchise to C. L. Beldon and Son, to erect, maintain and operate an electric light and power plant in said town, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Rogers of Carroll offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House File No. 292 by striking out all of section 2 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 2. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Cedar Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the Des Moines News, a newspaper published at Des Moines, Iowa, said publication to be without expense to the state of Iowa.

Amendment adopted.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Knickerbocker moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

Ayes—92.

AMENDMENTS FILED.

Elwood of Howard and Mackie of Benton asked for and obtained unanimous consent to have the following amendment to House File No. 353 printed in the journal:

Amend House File No. 353 by striking out all following the enacting cause and inserting the following in lieu thereof:

"Section 1. The state of Iowa, through its legislature, hereby accepts the proposal of the United States as set forth in the Act of Congress, approved July eleventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen (1916), entitled 'An Act to provide that the United States shall aid the states in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes,' thirty-ninth United States Statutes at Large, page three hundred and fifty-five, and assents to the provisions of said Act of Congress. For the construction and maintenance of rural post roads the good faith of the state is hereby pledged to cause to be made available funds sufficient to equal the sums apportioned to the state by or under the United States Government during each of the five years for which Federal funds are apportioned by Section 3 of the said Act and to maintain the roads constructed with the aid of funds so appropriated, and to make adequate provisions for carrying out such maintenance.

Section 2. The state highway commission is hereby authorized and directed to enter into and complete negotiations with the secretary of agriculture to secure the full apportionment from the federal aid fund for and on behalf of the state of Iowa and the several counties thereof, and is further authorized to enter into all contracts and agreements with the United States government relating to the survey, construction and maintenance of roads under the provisions of the said act of Congress, to submit such plan or program of construction and maintenance as may be required by the secretary of agriculture and do all other things necessary to fully carry out the cooperation contemplated and provided for by the said act.

Section 3. All sums received under the said Federal aid act shall be apportioned among the several counties in the same ratio and on the same basis as the apportionment of the motor vehicle funds, provided there may be expended in each county, in any one year, a larger or smaller amount as may be demanded to meet the conditions, contracts and agreements between the highway commission and the Federal government, but in no case shall the total amount expended from the Federal aid fund in any county exceed the proportion hereinbefore specified. The fund to be set aside by any county to meet the requirements of the Federal aid act shall be taken from the funds received from the motor vehicle apportionment, and if the same is not sufficient, any additional funds required for bridge work shall be taken from the bridge fund, and any additional fund required for road work shall be taken from the road fund, but no additional levy shall be made to provide such funds.

Section 4. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s two (1527-s2), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

'The duties of said state highway commission shall be:

1st. To devise and adopt plans of highway, bridge and culvert construction and maintenance suited to the needs of the different counties of the state, and furnish standard plans to the counties in accordance therewith.

2nd. To disseminate information and instruction to county supervisors and other highway officers, answer inquiries and advise such supervisors, township trustees and officers on questions pertaining to highway improvements, construction and maintenance and of reasonable prices for materials and construction.

3d. To keep a record of all important operations of the highway commission, and to annually report the same to the governor by the first day of January, which report shall be printed as a public document; but the summary report of the county highway engineers shall be reported not later than February first.

4th. To appoint such assistants as are necessary to carry on the work of the commission, define the duties and fix the compensation of each, and terminate at will the terms of employment of all employees, provide for the necessary bonds and fix the amount of same.

5th. To make investigation as to conditions in any county upon their own initiative, or upon complaint, in writing, of five citizens of the county. If, upon said investigation, they shall find any violation of duties enjoined by this act, whether of omission or commission, they shall report the same to the attorney general, who shall take such steps as are by him deemed advisable to cause the provisions of this act to be fully complied with.

6th. To have general supervision of the various county officers named in this act, with reference to the performance of the duties herein enjoined, and shall have full power and authority to enforce the provisions of this act.

7th. To make surveys, plans and estimates of cost for the elimination of danger at railroad crossings on highways and streets, and to confer with local officials, railroad officials, and the Iowa Railroad Commission in the elimination of such dangers at railroad crossings.

8th. In any case where complaint is made as provided in the fifth paragraph hereof, the state highway commission shall have full power to investigate the acts of township officers named in this act and to enforce the provisions of the same to the extent as provided in relation to county officers in paragraph five hereof.

9th. The state highway commission shall assist the county board of supervisors and the attorney general in the defense of patent suits relative to road or bridge construction, make surveys for the state board of control when so requested, and perform all other duties required by law.'

Section 5. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s three (1527-s3), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The board of supervisors of each county shall employ from time to time, a competent engineer and such assistants as may be necessary to perform the work laid out by them, at such compensation, to be paid out of the county funds, as may be fixed by the board of supervisors. Such engineer and assistants shall work under the direction and instruction of the board of supervisors in the performance of his or their duties as hereinbefore provided, and each shall give bonds for the faithful performance of his duties in a sum not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00).

The tenure of office for any engineer or assistants may be terminated by the board of supervisors whenever, in their judgment, such action be deemed advisable, or by the state highway commission for incompetency or inefficiency.

The highways now designated as county roads by the plans and records now on file in the county auditor's office of each county and all county highways from time to time added thereto, shall be known as the county road system. All other highways in the county shall be known as the township road system.

The system of road construction herein provided shall apply only to highways outside of the limits of cities and towns; provided, however, that whenever any public highway, located along the corporate line of any city or town is partly within said city or town and partly without the same, the said highway or any part thereof, may be included in and made a part of the county road system, and when so included it may be improved by the board of supervisors as are other parts of the county road system.

The system of bridge and culvert work herein provided for shall apply to all highways throughout the county outside of the limits of cities of the first class; provided, however, that when any part of any public highway located along the corporate line of a city of the first class is included in the county road system, as herein provided, the board of supervisors and city council shall meet jointly and adopt plans and specifications with the approval of the highway commission for the construction of bridges and culverts, one-half of the cost of the same to be paid by the city, and one-half by the county, and in case the city council and the board of supervisors are unable to agree upon any question or questions involved in the construction of same, it shall be referred to the state highway commission, whose decision therein shall be final and binding upon each party.

In matters involving highway improvements upon or across state lines or in determining continuous routes for interstate roads, the state highway commission shall be authorized to confer with the authorities of bordering states and to agree upon proper connections or plans and the apportionment of costs of such improvements."

Section 6. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s seven (1527-s 7), supplement to the code, 1913, and section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s twenty1-one-a (1527-s21-a), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eight (1527-s8), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same are hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"As soon as any part of said approved map is returned to the county auditor, showing the final designation of county roads, the engineer shall, in writing, divide said roads into sections, designating each section by some appropriate number, name or letter and clearly designating the starting point and terminus of each such section, and such designation shall be recorded at length in a county road book, whereupon the engineer shall commence, as hereinafter provided, to survey said roads and report to the board of supervisors the plan for the road, bridge, tile and culvert work thereon, unless same has been done. Such surveys, plans and reports hereafter made shall include a detailed estimate of the cost of the proposed improvement, but such surveys and reports shall be made only upon such sections of the roads and bridges as may be ordered and directed by the board of supervisors as hereinafter provided. Such survey and report shall be on the basis and with the object in view of the permanent improvement of said county roads, both as to bridges, culvert, tile and road work. Said survey and report shall consist of an accurate plan and profile of said roads, showing cuts and fills and outline of grades, with careful attention to surface, and lateral drainage, and sub-drainage, and shall show the location of all lines of tile and size thereof and of all bridges and culverts, their length, height and width, and foundation soundings, and an estimate of the watershed relating to each bridge and culvert.

Culverts constructed under the provisions of this act shall have a clear roadway of not less than twenty (20) feet.

Proper bench marks shall be established on each permanent bridge and culvert, which shall be duly recorded on both profile and plan of road, for future reference. The engineer shall clearly designate and credit on said plan and profile all existing permanent bridges, culverts and grades, unless the same has been done.

The board of supervisors shall, at the September meeting of each year, determine what sections, if any, of the county highway system shall be permanently improved during the coming year and shall designate the character of such improvement, and the county engineer shall not draw plans or profiles for permanent improvements on other than such designated sections except by express direction of the board, the intention being to save the expense of surveys and plans to be carried out at a more remote time.

The survey and report of each section or any portion thereof, as soon as completed and approved by the board of supervisors, shall be submitted to the state highway commission, and the board of supervisors may designate to the said commission what sections or portions thereof, in their estimation, should be first passed upon by said state highway commission.

The said commission is hereby charged with the duty of forthwith passing upon such reports and plans, and in so doing, shall take into consideration the thoroughness, feasibility and practicability of such plans, and may approve or modify the same, except as otherwise provided by law.

In all cases wherein plans, specifications and profiles are submitted to the state highway commission, proposing and setting forth plans and specifications for improving any portion of a road system, if, except as to cuts, fills and decreases in inclines, such plans and specifications meet with the approval of the state highway commission, the said commission shall not refuse to approve such plans and specifications in full if the proposed cuts, fills or decreases in inclines set forth in such plans propose to decrease the hills or inclines at least twenty per cent of the existing inclines, unless the said commission recommend cuts and fills of a less degree which would require the longitudinal moving of a smaller quantity of earth or material, in which case the said recommendation made by the highway commission shall become a part of the plans and specifications.

After such survey and plan for each section is passed upon by the state highway commission, they shall be immediately returned to the county auditor with full and explicit directions as to modifications, if there be any. The county auditor shall, upon the receipt of the approved and modified survey and plans, record the same at length in a county road book, and the board of supervisors shall, at the time of construction, proceed in accordance therewith, and as provided by law.

When, in the judgment of the board of supervisors, conditions of any road to be graded are such as to render work commonly known as back cutting practicable, they shall order the engineer to amend the plans and specifications so as to provide for such back cutting.

And where any such plans or designated improvements contemplate the moving of a considerable yardage of earth or other material or the hauling and placing of gravel or other surfacing material within a locality or distance readily accessible to the same labor, the same shall be grouped in the engineer's plans as a unit of work, and when the estimated cost thereof exceeds one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), the same shall be advertised for a public letting, as provided in section eight of this act.

The duty to maintain and construct all bridges and culverts throughout the county is imposed upon the board of supervisors. All culverts and bridges shall be paid for out of the county bridge fund, except as provided in section fifteen hundred seventy-one-m thirty-two (1571-m32), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915.

Where conditions are such as to warrant or necessitate the same, the board of supervisors shall furnish township trustees metal or other temporary culverts authorized by the state highway commission to be placed by them on their township road system. Said culverts to be purchased by the board of supervisors and paid for out of the county bridge fund and shall not exceed in size thirty-six (36) inches in diameter or its equivalent.

The county, however, shall be at no expense for placing, filling or transportation of said temporary culverts other than their delivery at a railroad station to be designated by the board of supervisors.

Immediately upon the completion by the board of supervisors of any bridge or culvert situated upon the township road system, or the installation of a temporary culvert furnished to the township by the board of supervisors, it shall be the duty of the township trustees to properly fill over with dirt all such culverts, and fill in and uniformly grade the approaches to all such bridges.

Should the trustees fail, for a period of two weeks after notification, to make such fill, or fail to fill in and grade over such culvert, as herein provided, the board of supervisors shall proceed to do so, and the engineer shall report the actual cost of so doing and such amount, not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) for any bridge or culvert, shall be certified by the board of supervisors to the county treasurer who shall transfer said amount to the county road cash fund from the first collection of road funds belonging to said township.

The county road fund, the county road building fund, the county drainage fund, and all other moneys received by the board of supervisors for road purposes, except as otherwise provided, shall be placed in the county road cash fund, and shall be paid out only on order of the said board of supervisors for the purchase of tools, machinery and equipment, or for tile and tiling, or for filling on culverts and bridge approaches as herein provided, or for work done on the county road system or for the elimination of dangers at railroad crossings on both county and township roads, at the discretion of the board of supervisors, on an adjustment of such dangerous conditions by negotiations between the railroad and the board of supervisors, or upon an order and finding of the railroad commission.

All money received by the township trustees for road purposes shall be expended for and upon the township road system, or for the elimination of dangers at railroad crossings on the township roads, at the discretion of the township trustees, on an adjustment of such dangerous conditions by negotiations between the railroad company and the township trustees, or upon an order and finding of the railroad commission.

Whenever it may become necessary in grading the highways to make a cut which will disturb or destroy, or a fill which will cover up a government or other established corner, it shall be the duty of the engineer to establish permanent witness corners, and make a record of the same, which shall show the distance and direction the witness corner is from the corner disturbed or covered up. A failure to perform this duty shall subject the engineer to a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00), to be collected on his bond."

Sec. 7. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven s-ten (1527-s10), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"All bills for road work, tile and tiling, culvert and bridge construction or for repairs designated by the engineer shall be filed in itemized form and certified to by the engineer before being allowed by the board and before warrants in payment therefor are drawn by the county auditor.

Before any warrant shall be issued by the county auditor upon the funds of the county road system in payment for any work or construction of bridges, culverts, or highways, except for dragging, maintenance, emergency repairs or other repairs not designated by the engineer, he must secure on this bill the certificate of the engineer employed by the board of supervisors, that such improvement has been made in accordance with the plans and specifications as herein provided, and when so endorsed warrants may be drawn for the amount so certified by the county engineer and the engineer shall not certify any bill for final payment to any contractor for the construction of bridges or culverts until such contractor has removed all obstructions to the waterway and rendered the same free from dirt, earth, soil, weeds, brush or any material that will, in any manner, prevent the free discharge of surface water unless it has been otherwise provided by the contract providing for such construction, but if said engineer make said certificate when said work was not done in accordance with the plans and specifications, and the same be not properly made good, without additional cost, then the full cost of making same good, may be recovered upon said engineer's bond, and his bond shall be liable therefor.

Partial payments may be allowed by the board on contract work on the basis of the engineer's certified estimates and the percentages specified in the standard specifications of the state highway commission.

Repair work shall be defined as follows:

- (a) Work not designated by the county highway engineer;
- (b) All road construction work costing not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per mile;
- (c) Work of a temporary character, including construction of township roads to natural grade by blade graders, regardless of whether the same costs in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per mile;
- (d) All work of immediate necessity to maintain finished roads completed under this act.

Emergency repair work shall be defined as any work of immediate necessity required to make a road safe for travel and which may be done at an expense of not more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) on each such emergency. Whenever the necessity for any emergency repair work shall arise on any section of the county highway system, or on any bridge or culvert on either the county or township system, and such fact is called to the attention of any member of the board of supervisors by any citizen of the community in which such emergency repair work is required, the member of the board so notified, without the necessity of consulting the county engineer or any member of such board, shall forthwith proceed to have such emergency repair work done, and may employ in the making of such repairs township trustee or trustees, or any other persons. If the board of supervisors, or such member as is notified fails, for a period of thirty-six hours to order such work done, any township trustee may order the same done at the expense of the county.

A sworn itemized statement of the work done and the material furnished, and that the same was for emergency work under the provisions of this act, shall be filed with the county auditor. When such sworn statement is accompanied by the written approval of the member of the board of supervisors of the township trustee who authorized such emergency work the county auditor shall, upon presentation, issue a warrant in payment of such emergency claim, without the necessity of the approval of the board of supervisors, or county engineer. All claims filed with the county auditor or paid by him under the provisions of this act shall be passed upon by the board of supervisors at their first meeting following such filing or payment, and shall be made a matter of record as provided for in the allowance and payment of other claims."

Sec. 8. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven s-eleven (1527-s11), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"Standard specifications for all bridges and culverts, catch basins and tile drains directly connected therewith, used to eliminate culverts which shall be classified as bridge construction work, and paid for as such, and for railroad overhead crossings or subways, shall be furnished without cost to the counties and railroad companies, by the state highway commission, and work shall be done in accordance therewith, and when said bridge and culvert work is completed and approved, a duplicate statement of the cost thereof shall be filed with the state highway commission by the county auditor, as a part of the county engineer's report.

All culverts and bridge construction, tile and tiling and repair work designated by the engineer, or materials therefor, of which the engineer's estimated cost shall be one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or less, may be advertised and let at a public letting, or may be let privately at a cost not to exceed the engineer's estimate, or lowest bid, if bids were received, or may be built by day labor and at a cost not to exceed the engineer's estimate or the lowest bid received, provided bids have been received.

All culverts, bridge and road construction, grading, tile and tiling and repair work, or materials therefor, of which the engineer's estimated cost shall exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) shall be advertised and let at a public letting, provided that the board shall have the power to reject all bids, in which event they may re-advertise or let privately by submitting contract to the state highway commission for approval, provided the same is within the lowest bid, or build by day labor at a cost not to exceed the lowest bid received.

All bids received shall be publicly opened, at the time and place specified in the advertisement, and shall be recorded in detail, in a book kept for that purpose, by the county auditor; said book shall be at all times open to the public for inspection.

Any proposed contract which shall exceed the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00) for any one bridge or culvert, or repairs thereon, or for any one mile of road, shall be first approved by the state highway commission before the same shall be effective as a contract.

Before beginning the construction of any permanent bridge or culvert by day labor or by contract, the plans, specifications, estimate of drainage area, estimates of cost, and their specific location shall be filed in the county auditor's office by the engineer.

Bridges erected over drainage ditches shall, where necessary, be so constructed to allow the superstructure to be removed for cleaning said ditches with as little damage to the removal and permanent parts of said bridge as practicable.

On completion, a detailed statement of cost, and of any additions or alterations to the plans shall be added to the above records of the engineer, all of which shall be retained in the county auditor's office as permanent records, and when said work is completed and approved, a duplicate statement of the cost thereof shall be filed at once with the state highway commission by the county auditor, provided said structure costs in excess of two thousand dollars, otherwise report shall be filed by the county auditor as a part of the engineer's annual report, unless reports are oftener demanded by the commission.

The board of supervisors may authorize the county auditor to draw warrants for the amount of pay rolls for labor furnished under the day labor system, when said pay rolls are certified to by the engineer in charge of the work. Said bills shall be passed upon by the board at the first meeting following said payment.

The county board of supervisors and county engineers are charged with the duty of repairing and dragging the county road system as may be required to keep the same in proper condition, and of keeping the openings to all culverts, bridges, or other drains upon the county road system free from weeds, brush and other materials that may, in any way, prevent the free discharge of surface water, but such duties may be delegated to a road patrolman, or may be performed by a township trustee or trustees, or any other person employed for such purpose, and the board shall adopt such other methods as are necessary to maintain continuously in the best condition practicable, the entire mileage of this system.

No member of the highway commission, their deputies or assistants, or any other person in the employ of such commission, no county supervisor, township trustee, county engineer, road superintendent or any person in their employ or one holding an appointment under them shall be, either directly or indirectly, interested in any contract for the construction or building of any bridge, or bridges, culvert or culverts, or any improvement of any road or parts of road coming under the provisions of this act, except the board of supervisors may employ a township trustee or trustees to perform labor upon the county highway, bridge and culvert system or contract with them as individuals the same as any other person with reference to road, bridge, and culvert repair or construction work.

It is hereby made the imperative duty of the board of supervisors in undertaking road work in late summer or fall to carefully take into consideration weather and soil conditions to the end that as far as possible work shall not be undertaken which may be left in an incomplete condition at the end of the season.

It is further made the duty of the board of supervisors to prevent contractors or day laborers from commencing more road construction work than can be completed within a reasonable length of time. And no contractor or day laborer shall, on a job under construction, commence new grading or construction work, the nature of which obstructs or partially obstructs travel, until work of a similar character, previously begun, in the same job has been completed so as to render the crown surface of the road free from sod, stone or other material which impedes travel.'

Sec. 9. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s sixteen (1527-s16), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"Not later than the first day of January, or at any time upon the demand of the township trustees, the township clerk shall report the work accomplished on the township road system in his township, including number of culverts installed, location thereof and the number and size of culverts on hand and not installed.

Said township trustees shall prepare a list of the culverts and bridges which in their judgment should be constructed by the board of supervisors in their township during the succeeding year, giving the proposed location of such culverts, the material of which such culverts should be constructed, and the approximate size of same, together with any and all recommendations concerning such culverts as the board of township trustees see fit to give, which list, report and recommendation shall be filed on or before the first day of January each year, or oftener if the emergency requires, in the office of the county auditor, and copy of the same shall be forthwith mailed by the township clerk to each member of the board of supervisors.

But no culverts or bridges shall be constructed upon the township road system other than as recommended as hereinbefore provided, except by consent of the township board."

Sec. 10. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eighteen (1527-s18), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The board of supervisors shall require all contractors to give bond for the faithful performance of the contract, in such sum as the board of supervisors may deem necessary.

The surety of any bond given to guarantee the faithful performance and execution of any work shall be deemed and held, any contract to the contrary notwithstanding, to consent without notice:

To any extension of time to the contractor in which to perform the contract when each particular extension does not exceed sixty days:

To any change in the plans, specifications or contract when such change does not involve an increase of more than twenty per cent. of the total contract price, and shall be released only as to such excess increase.

No provision in a bond or contract shall be valid which seeks to limit the time to less than five years in which an action may be brought upon the bond covering concrete work, nor less than one year upon the bond covering other work. But such bond shall be valid for the period of time herein named and for such additional time as may be provided by the terms of the bond. Unless otherwise specifically stated, in contracts for the construction of bridges or culverts, it shall be the duty of the contractor to remove all obstructions to the waterway and render the same free from earth, weeds, brush or any other material which will in any manner prevent the free discharge of surface water."

Sec. 11. The contractor shall, as a part of the performance of the contract, provide and instal the necessary notices, warnings, and barriers to protect travelers upon the public highway from dangers due to work in the process of construction. In cases where work is being done under the direct supervision of the board of supervisors, by day laborers, it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to provide such notices, warnings and barriers for the protection of the public and in all cases it shall be their duty to see that such notices, warnings and barriers for the protection of the public are in position. A plain warning sign of sufficient size to be easily read shall also be posted at the road crossing or corner on each side of said construction and nearest thereto, stating whether the road is entirely closed or partially closed, and indicating the detour to be made to avoid the obstruction. Any person who shall be guilty of removing or disturbing barriers placed by said contractors, or by the county authorities, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00)."

Sec. 12. That section fifteen hundred seventy-one-m-thirty-two (1571-m32), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out all of lines three and four of said section and inserting the following in lieu thereof:

"Ninety-seven per cent. of all moneys paid into the said treasury pursuant to the provisions of this act, less the running expenses of the motor vehicle department, as hereinafter specified shall be apportioned among the several counties."

Also by striking out of line forty-five of said section the words "Five per cent" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Three per cent" and by striking out of line forty-eight of said section the words "five per cent" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "three per cent". And that the said section be further amended by striking out all of said section following the period in the 54th line of said section, and by inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"At the end of each biennial period ending January first of odd numbered years, the funds remaining in the highway maintenance fund shall be placed to the credit of the motor vehicle fund. The salaries and actual running expenses, including the cost of number plates, stamps and other incidental expenditures of the automobile registration department, shall be paid out of the motor vehicle fund upon warrants drawn by the auditor of state upon the filing with the auditor itemized vouchers covering the same and certified to by the secretary of state."

Sec. 13. From and after the taking effect of this act, members of the state highway commission, county engineers and assistants shall be subject to removal from office as provided in section twelve hundred fifty-eight-b (1258-b), supplement to the code, 1913.

Sec. 14. Sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-f (1527-f), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-g (1527-g), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-h (1527-h), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-i (1527-i), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-j (1527-j), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-k (1527-k), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-l (1527-l), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-m (1527-m), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-o (1527-o), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-q (1527-q) and fifteen hundred twenty-seven-r (1527-r), be and the same are hereby repealed.

Sec. 15. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall be in full force and effect upon publication in the Des Moines Register, the Des Moines Capital, and the Des Moines Daily News."

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

On motion of Grason of Pottawattamie, Calendar No. 100, Senate File No. 9, a bill for an act to amend section 1989-a-38, supplement to the code, 1913, granting to cities and towns authority to issue funding bonds to take up and pay assessments made against such cities and towns under provisions of chapter 2-a of title X of the supplement to the code, 1913, with report of committee recommending passage as amended was taken up, considered, and the committee amendments were adopted.

Mr. Grason moved the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

Ayes—94.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title was agreed to.

On motion of McFarlane of Black Hawk, Calendar No. 105, House File No. 224, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred fifty-one (2551), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, relating to the protection of game by providing a closed season for prairie chickens until the year nineteen hundred twenty-two, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Lee of Sac offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House File No. 224 by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

That the law as it appears in section two thousand five hundred fifty-one (2551), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby amended as follows:

Strike out lines four, five and all that part of line six preceding the semicolon following the word "following" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "No person shall trap, shoot or kill any pinnated grouse or prairie chicken between the fifteenth (15th) day of December and the fifteenth (15th) day of October next following";

That section two thousand five hundred fifty-two (2552), supplemental supplement to the code, be amended by striking from the seventh line the word "eight" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "four".

McFerren of Hamilton moved the previous question as applied to all pending amendments. Motion prevailed.

Amendment lost.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. McFarlane moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 8.

The hour having arrived for Special Order No. 8, on motion of McFerren of Hamilton, House File No. 255, a bill for an act for the greater security of trust funds in the hands of guardians and trustees was taken up and considered.

Crozier of Marion offered the following amendment as a substitute for the two pending amendments filed by Elwood of Howard on February 10th and Jones of Cerro Gordo on February 14th, and moved its adoption:

Strike out all after sub-division b of section one and all of section two of the original bill and insert in lieu thereof the following:

c. In any other securities or investments, provided the court having jurisdiction of the funds shall on a full showing approve the same.

d. In real estate, when ordered or directed by the court, but such order shall be made only upon the finding of the court that such investment is to the benefit of the ward or beneficiary, and on proceedings such as are prescribed in sections 3206, 3207 and 3208 of the code.

SEC. 2. Nothing in this act shall prevent the expenditure of funds for support or education of the ward when such expenditures are ordered, directed or approved by the court having jurisdiction thereof.

SEC. 3. No trustee, guardian, administrator or other person holding funds or property in trust for another shall speculate therein or invest the same (unless expressly permitted by the instrument creating said trust), other than is provided herein, and any person guilty of so doing, or who shall report any funds coming into his hands as loaned pursuant to statute or order of court when no such loan has been made, or make false report as to the terms of any loan made by him, shall forfeit to the school fund the sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), which may be recovered by civil action against him and the sureties on his bond.

Jones of Cerro Gordo offered the following amendment to the substitute amendment offered by Crozier of Marion and moved its adoption:

Amend the substitute amendment to House File No. 255 by striking out all of section 2 thereof and substituting the following in lieu thereof.

"SECTION 2. Should any such guardian or trustee use said funds or invest the same in any securities other than those specified in section 1 hereof or in other securities not approved by the court, he and his bondsmen shall account to the ward or beneficiary under the trust for said funds with interest at six (6) per cent per annum, payable annually, for such time as the same shall have been used by said guardian or trustee or shall have been invested in securities other than provided in section 1 hereof."

Anderson of Davis moved the previous question as applied to the amendment to the substitute amendment. Motion prevailed.

Jones of Cerro Gordo and Johnston of Humboldt demanded a roll call.

Concurrent resolution relative to the investigation of the clothing controversy in the Third Iowa Regiment.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Griffin of Woodbury, from the committee on insurance, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on insurance, to whom was referred House File No. 79, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in chapter eight-a (8-a), title XII, supplement to the code, 1913, creating a liability on the part of employers to compensate their employes and dependents for personal injury sustained by such employes in their line of duty, irrespective of the fault of either party; fixing the compensation to be paid; securing the payment thereof; providing the means and methods of enforcing such liability; creating the office of industrial commissioner and deputy industrial commissioner and providing for an arbitration committee defining their powers and duties, and providing for a review of their orders, decisions and awards; appropriating money to carry out the provisions of the act; and repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

That sections 8-2, 9, 9-2, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, be re-numbered as 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20 respectively.

By substituting the word "Any" for the word "No", in the fifth line of section 16 of the printed bill.

By adding thereto at the end thereof and as sections 20 and 21, respectively, the following:

SECTION 20. The provisions of section twelve (12) of this act, shall be in full force and effect from and after the date when this act becomes effective by publication, but all other provisions of this act shall take effect from and after July 1, 1917.

Nothing in this act shall be held to in any manner effect litigation now pending, or to apply to any case in which the injury occurred prior to July 1, 1918.

That the following be added to said bill as section twenty-one (21):

SECTION 21. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in the city of Des Moines, Iowa.

By striking from said bill section 15 found on page 7 thereof and by substituting in lieu thereof and as section 17, the following:

SECTION 17. Strike out all of section 15 as it appears on page 7 of the printed bill, and substitute in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 15. That the law as it appears in section twenty-four hundred seventy-seven-m-33 (2477-m-33), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

Any party in interest may present a certified copy of an order or decision of the commissioner, or an award of an arbitration committee from which no claim for review has been filed within the time allowed therefor, or a memorandum of agreement approved by the commissioner, and all papers in connection therewith, to the district court of the county in which the injury occurred, whereupon said court shall render a decree in accordance therewith and notify the parties. Such decree, in the absence of an appeal from the decision of the industrial commissioner, shall have the same effect and in all proceedings in relation thereto shall thereafter be the same as though rendered in a suit duly heard and determined by said court. Upon the presentation to the court of a certified copy of a decision of the industrial commissioner, ending, diminishing or increasing a weekly payment under the provisions of this act, the court shall revoke or modify the decree to conform to such decision.

No order or award of an arbitration committee is appealable direct to the courts, but if any party in interest is aggrieved thereby, he may within five (5) days from the date thereof apply to the industrial commissioner for a review of the same by such industrial commissioner in the manner as hereinbefore provided. If any such party is aggrieved by reason of an order or decree of the Iowa industrial commissioner, such party may appeal therefrom to the district court of Iowa, only in the manner and upon the grounds following:

Within thirty (30) days from the date of such order or decree of the industrial commissioner, the party aggrieved may file an application in writing with the Iowa industrial commissioner asking for an appeal from such order or decree, stating generally the grounds upon which such appeal is sought. In the event such application is filed as herein-before provided, the industrial commissioner shall, within thirty days from the filing of same, cause certified copies of all documents and papers then on file in his office in the matter, and a transcript of all testimony taken therein, to be transmitted with his findings and order or decree to the clerk of the district court of Iowa in and for that county wherein the injury occurred. The application for such appeal may thereupon be brought on for hearing before said district court upon such record by either party on ten (10) days written notice to the other; subject, however, to the provisions of law for a change of the place of trial or the calling of another judge. The findings of fact made by the industrial commissioner within his powers shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive, but upon such hearing the court may confirm or set aside such order or decree of the industrial commissioner, if he finds:

(1) That the industrial commissioner acted without or in excess of his powers; or

(2) That the order or decree was procured by fraud; or

(3) That the facts found by the industrial commissioner do not support the order or decree.

(4) That there is not sufficient competent evidence in the record to warrant the industrial commissioner in making the order or decree complained of.

No order or decree of the industrial commissioner shall be set aside by the court upon other than the grounds just stated.

Upon the setting aside of any such order or decree, the court may recommit the controversy to the industrial commissioner for further hearing or proceedings, or it may enter the proper judgment upon the findings, as the nature of the case may demand. Such decree shall have the same effect and in all proceedings in relation thereto shall thereafter be the same as though rendered in a suit duly heard and determined by said court. An abstract of the judgment entered by the trial court upon the appeal from any order or decree shall be made by the clerk thereof upon the docket entry of any judgment which may hereinbefore have been rendered upon it. Such order or decree and transcript of such abstract may thereupon be obtained for like entry upon the dockets of the courts of other counties within the state.

Any party in interest who is aggrieved by a judgment entered by the district court upon the appeal of an order or decree, may appeal therefrom within the time and in the manner provided for in appeal from the orders, judgments and decrees of the district court of Iowa; but all such appeals shall be placed on the calendar of the supreme court and brought to a hearing in the same manner as criminal causes on such calendar.

No fee shall be charged by the clerk of any district court for the performance of any official service required by this act, except for the docketing of judgments and for certified copies of transcripts thereof. In proceedings on appeal from an order or decree, costs as between the parties shall be allowed or not, in the discretion of the court.

And by striking out the period following the word "thereof" of section nine (9) of said bill, and inserting in lieu thereof a comma, and adding the following words: That the word "and" between the word "casual" and the word "not" in the twelfth line of section twenty-four hundred seventy-seven-m16 (2477-m16) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be stricken out and the word "or" inserted in lieu thereof.; and when so amended the bill do pass.

C. A. HALL, Chairman.

Also:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on ways and means, to whom was referred House File No. 116, a bill for an act to fix the method of estimating and determining the rate of tax required to be levied for any purpose authorized by law, etc., beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

First: That said bill be amended by striking out all following the enacting clause, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. That hereafter in all taxing districts in the state, including townships, school districts, cities, towns and counties, when by law then existing the people are authorized to determine by vote, or officers are authorized to estimate or determine, a rate of taxation required for any public purpose, such rate shall in all cases be estimated and based upon the adjusted taxable valuation of such taxing district for the preceding calendar year.

"SECTION 2. That when any authorized tax rate within any taxing district of the state, including townships, school districts, cities, towns and counties, shall have been thus determined as provided by law, the officer or officers charged with the duty of certifying said authorized rate to the county auditor or board of supervisors shall, before certifying the same, compute upon the adjusted taxable valuation of such taxing district for the preceding calendar year, the amount of tax said rate will raise, stated in dollars, and shall certify said computed amount in dollars, and not by rate, to the county auditor and board of supervisors.

"SECTION 3. When the valuations for the several taxing districts shall have been adjusted by the several boards, as provided by law, for the current year, the county auditor shall thereupon compute and spread upon the records such a rate, not exceeding the rate authorized by law, on said adjusted taxable valuations for the current year, as shall raise the amount required for each taxing district within the county, as theretofore determined under the provisions of this act, and no larger amount; provided, however, that if in adjusting the rate to be levied in any taxing district to conform to this act, such rate shall make necessary the levying of a fraction of a mill in excess of one-half of one-tenth of a mill, said fractional excess may be computed as one-tenth of a mill, which latter shall be the smallest required to be spread upon the tax lists for any purpose except rates applicable to state purpose.

"SECTION 4. On the determination by the auditor of the necessary rates as herein directed, it is made the duty of the supervisors by resolution, to enter a record of such rates for each taxing district, upon its record of proceedings.

"SECTION 5. It is hereby made a misdemeanor for the board of supervisors to authorize, or the county auditor to carry upon the tax lists for any year, an amount of tax for any public purpose in excess of the amount certified or authorized as provided by this act.

"SECTION 6. All acts and parts of acts, if any, in conflict with the provisions of this act, are hereby amended so as to conform to the requirements hereof, and the provisions of this act, and the methods of computation, certification and levy herein provided, shall be obligatory on all officers within the several counties of the state upon whom devolves the duty of determining certifying and levying taxes.

"SECTION 7. It is hereby made the duty of the secretary of the executive council at once, in the passage of this act, to send to each county auditor in the state a copy thereof with instructions explaining the operation of said act, and each county auditor shall send to the taxing officers in his county a copy of such instructions explaining the operation of said act, and each county auditor shall send to the taxing officers in his county a copy of such instructions and in case any taxing body in any county shall have made its levy and certificate to the board of supervisors before receiving such instructions, it is hereby authorized to correct the same to comply with this act.

Second: That the title to said act be amended by inserting the word "taxable" after the word "adjusted" wherever the latter word occurs in said title, and by striking out the period at the end of said title, inserting a comma in lieu thereof, and adding the following words: "and to provide for the issuance of instructions to the county auditors and taxing officers as to the provisions of this act"; and when so amended the bill do pass.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Shaff of Clinton, from the committee on military, called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to the clothing controversy of the Third Iowa Regiment.

Report and resolution of the special joint committee on military affairs of the Senate and House of Representatives of the thirty-seventh general assembly relative to the clothing controversy of the Third Iowa regiment.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

Your special committee appointed from the committees on military affairs, of the Senate and House of Representatives of the thirty-seventh general assembly, to investigate and report to the thirty-seventh general assembly, relative to the clothing controversy, now existing in the mustering out of the Third Iowa regiment, herewith submit the following report and resolution:

STATEMENT OF FACTS.

Your committee has thoroughly investigated the facts, evidence and circumstances surrounding the said clothing controversy and find them to be as follows:

The Third Iowa regiment, together with all other state troops and regiments, in federal service on the Mexican border, are governed by what is known as the United States army regulations. Upon the muster in of any state troops into the service of the federal government, said troops immediately come under all the sections and provisions of said regulations. Section 5, article 460, of the said regulations, provides as follows:

"5. No clothing will be charged to the enlisted men except that which may subsequently be supplied from time to time by the United States after muster in." (U. S. Army Regulations, 1913, page 94.)

The meaning of this is that until such enlisted men are mustered into service of the federal government, the said federal government cannot, under the regulations, charge such enlisted men for clothing in their possession at the time of muster in.

Clothing is furnished the enlisted man from a clothing allowance. In the state service, the clothing is furnished to him but does not become his property and he uses it during the time that he is a member of the guard. If, at any time, the guard becomes a part of the federal force, the uniform he has is taken by him into the federal service.

The military code of the army is the army regulations, and according to paragraph 460, section 5, of the army regulations, hereinbefore cited, the uniform that a man takes into the federal service from the state service is entered on his clothing allowance and marked, "no charge." This paragraph specifically states that the clothing will be a gratuitous issue. The clothing that he takes into the federal service from the state was paid for by the state out of its annual appropriation from the federal government at the full value thereof, when issued by the federal government to the state. Army regulations require that one uniform of this sort be taken into the federal service and no charge is to be made for same, but a return of clothing in kind will be made by the federal government to the state. Rulings of the department of the south of the war department were to the effect that this clothing would not be charged against a man's clothing allowance.

Company commanders are required to see that the men are not extravagant with their clothing allowance, and if overdrawn that it will not be so much but what their pay for the current month would cover same. Such care was exercised and since the last January no clothing has been drawn by the men of the Third Iowa regiment, but on February 9th, 1917, a ruling of the judge advocate general of the army was published specifying that this clothing brought into the federal service from the state must be charged for on a man's clothing allowance at the full rate at which the clothing was originally issued, irrespective of the condition of the clothing. In this ruling, it was specified that section 5, paragraph 460, should not have been in the regulations, as by compliance with that paragraph a man would receive double allowance, his regular clothing allowance, and a gratuitous issue of clothing brought into the federal service from the state. Nevertheless, section 5 of paragraph 460 constituted a portion of the contract under which every man entered federal service, and in affairs of civil life would be an inviolable contract.

We are not informed and are unable to receive any information as to whether the ruling of the judge advocate general has been concurred in by the war department. The war department promulgated the army regulations and instituted the judge advocate general's department, and we are at a loss to understand how an agent, or creature of the war department, can set aside a regulation adopted by the war department itself.

The federal government has already received its pay in full for clothing issued to the state, and brought by the enlisted men into federal service, and will by this method be paid twice for the same clothing; once by the state and once by the enlisted men. Men are required to return the uniforms issued them on their clothing allowance, although paid for, but it is in accord with army regulations, and understood by all, when they enter service that uniforms drawn from the federal government remain the property of the federal government, and title to same does not pass from the federal government.

The bulk of the clothing taken into federal service from the state service, at the time the state troops were called into federal service, was subject to condemnation and should have had no value placed upon it normally at the time of issue. In a number of instances, company commanders still have the identical clothing on hand, not issued to any members of their command, for the reason that said clothing was worn out and worthless. A portion of said clothing was the old style khaki which is not now regulation, and the men would not have been permitted to wear same in the federal service. Much of the clothing drawn at that time from the state was at least fifteen years old; yet, under the ruling of the war department, the men of the command were charged full value for all clothing possessed as of the date of its original issue. The result is, most of the men had their clothing allowance drawn to the limit, or overdrawn, and this additional charge will deprive them of all the money due them for the last twenty days of their service; in most instances leaving them indebted to the government upon final settlement. The men will be required to draw money from home to settle same and in all probability company commanders will be held personally for such amounts as are not paid by the men.

The average amount that will be charged against the men of the Third Iowa regiment, for the state clothing already paid for, will be approximately $14.35. One complete uniform will be allowed each man to wear to his home station and a memorandum receipt of the company commander will be taken for such uniforms; for, strange as it may seem, each soldier must relinquish and return to the government the uniform he wears home, and which he has already paid for.

The astounding reason assigned by the officers of the regular army, upon which the ruling of February 9th, 1917, heretofore referred to, was issued, was merely that the men would receive double pay on their clothing allowance. From that standpoint, a man would receive his regular clothing allowance, and what they are pleased to term a "gratuitous" issue of state clothing.

The final and important fact, brought out in this investigation, is that a grave injustice is worked upon regiments mustered out subsequent to February 9th, 1917, because prior to that date regiments mustered out were not charged with the state clothing, as has been done in the instance of the Third Iowa regiment.

CONCLUSIONS.

Based upon the foregoing statement of facts, the authenticity of which we have found to be beyond question, your committee has arrived at the following conclusions:

1. It is the opinion of your committee that the promulgation of the order of February 9th, 1917, is in direct conflict with and violation of section 5, article 460, of the United States army regulations, 1913, and is, therefore, illegal and of no effect. We do not believe that a subordinate in the military service can, by an arbitrary order, abrogate the fundamental law and code of the army, nor that a creature can nullify the acts of his creator. Furthermore, it is in direct violation of the sacred contract entered into between every enlisted man and the government of the United States, at the time such enlisted man took the oath when mustered in and volunteered his service to our government.

2. Waiving the question of legality, this action upon the part of the war department is absolutely unwarranted and in bad faith for the reason that the clothing of the enlisted men of the Third Iowa regiment has already once been paid for. This clothing was paid for by the state of Iowa at the time it was issued to said state by the federal government. At the time Iowa guard organizations entered federal service, this paid for clothing, in most instances, was worn out and worthless. New clothing was, from time to time, issued to the enlisted men by the federal government, and this clothing was paid for by the men at the time of issue. The subterfuge of the officers of the war department, in refusing to comply with section 5, article 460, that the men will thereby obtain a gratuitous issue of clothing, is a matter that does not concern them, and is strictly none of their business. This is not a matter between the war department and the enlisted men, but a matter between the enlisted men and the state of Iowa, and the only party to this controversy, that could justly raise this question, is the state of Iowa itself.

By no process of reasoning can the officers of the regular army justify or defend the monstrous proposition that this clothing should be paid for twice, when it has already been paid for once, and then at a value much greater than the actual worth of the clothing itself.

3. At this time, when a grave crisis confronts this nation, we need the united support of every citizen. We believe the aforesaid treatment of the Third Iowa regiment will have an injurious effect, that is far reaching, upon the patriotic ardor of all those who, at such times, have ever been ready to offer themselves as a sacrifice in defense of the flag. We deplore such conduct on the part of the war department—and declare same to be unfair, unjust and un-American.

4. We believe that the order of February 9th, 1917, was deliberately issued by the judge advocate general of the United States army for the purpose of causing dissatisfaction, dissension and discontent in the national guard of Iowa, with the end in view that such discontent would discredit the guard organization of this state. It is a fact known to every person, who has followed the history of the troops at the border, that on every conceivable occasion some officers of the regular army have by every sinister means attempted to belittle and discredit the service of the volunteer soldier. The troops of Iowa, who volunteered and saw service on the border, were unexcelled in efficiency by any troops utilized by the government during the past summer. They rendered service of which the state of Iowa is justly proud, and will long remember with gratitude.

Before the volunteer forces of the United States were called into service, the regular army amply demonstrated to the people of this nation its utter incapacity to cope with the Mexican border situation. To save the face of the regular army, it was necessary to call into service the national guard organizations of this country, and it was only through the service of such organizations that the face of the regular army was saved. The regiments from Iowa did their full share of this work, and now that their services are no longer needed, it comes with but poor grace from the officers of the regular army to hide themselves behind the machinations of red tape, for which they have been so deservedly famous since the war of 1812, for the purpose of insulting and humiliating the very troops and enlisted men who saved their military reputations in the recent concentration of troops at the border.

5. At this critical time the nation's history, when it is the earnest desire of every thinking and patriotic citizen of this country to inculcate in every heart a spirit of patriotism, and if need be by sacrifice for the nation's welfare, it is indeed a short sighted policy, upon the part of the war department, to announce, by their action herein, to the people of the state of Iowa, and to the country, that the reward our youth may expect, after having given their full measure of devotion to their country and flag, is that upon their return home they shall be stripped of their clothes, and subjected to the humiliation of petty bickerings that they have been subjected to.

The war department spends every year thousands of dollars for the purpose of having printed gaily colored lithographs, depicting life in the regular army, and having these posted on every bill board in the country, for the purpose of enticing into the regular army the youth of the land; and yet, when our youth of their own accord, gladly volunteer in the service of their country whenever needed, this same department penuriously refuses, in a matter involving a few paltry dollars, to allow our citizen soldiery to retain the very uniforms that by their own acts they have so nobly honored, therefore

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring:

That the thirty-seventh general assembly of Iowa hereby adopts and confirms as its sentiment, opinion and belief, the foregoing statement of facts and conclusions; and be it further resolved,

That an engrossed copy of the foregoing statement of facts, conclusions and this joint resolution be and the same is hereby ordered transmitted to the President of the United States, the Secretary of War and to Hon. Albert B. Cummins, and Hon. William S. Kenyon, Senators from the state of Iowa, and that the said statement of facts, conclusions and joint resolution be and the same is hereby ordered printed in the journals of the Senate and House of Representatives of this assembly.

Griffin of Woodbury in the chair.

Weaver of Polk submitted the following statement and amendment and moved that the amendment be adopted :

No man has a greater pride than I in the Iowa troops, but while agreeing unreservedly that the action of the war department complained of in the resolution passed by the Senate on February 20th, 1917, in the matter of regulations of the department with respect to the clothing of the troops recently in service on the border, is grossly unwarranted and unjust, and while desiring to unite in condemnation of such action in no unmistakable terms, I cannot agree that the "conclusions" which are a part of the resolution are in all respects couched in suitable language. Such "conclusions" contain statements in which I cannot unreservedly concur, which statements are in my judgment calculated to injure the Iowa troops, the standing of the state, and the best interests of the nation, particularly at this time. I feel also that some of the language used is not such as should be addressed to the president of the United States, as the representative of the nation, and that the language hereinafter complained of is due to the fact that the resolution was written with haste and under great feeling:

I therefore move the following amendments to the "conclusions", which are by the terms of the resolution made a part thereof, to-wit:

1st: I move to strike from the first sentence of paragraph 2 of "conclusions" the words "and in bad faith."

2nd: I move to strike from the fifth sentence of paragraph 2 of the "conclusions" the word "subterfuge" and insert the word "contention" in lieu thereof, and to strike from the same sentence the words "and is strictly none of their business."

3rd: I move to strike out paragraph 3 of the "conclusions."

4th: I move to strike from paragraph 4 of the "conclusions" the sentence beginning "It is a fact known to every person", and to strike out all of said section 4 beginning with the words "before the volunteer forces, etc."

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on public health, to whom was referred House File No. 88, a bill for an act to provide for the preliminary examination of all persons who may hereafter desire to practice medicine, surgery, dentistry, osteopathy, or any other form of the healing art, in the state of Iowa; to designate of whom the board of preliminary examination shall consist, and to define its powers and duties; to provide compensation for the members thereof, and to prescribe penalties for all violations of this act, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend that the same be amended as follows:

By striking out all following the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

COMMITTEE AMENDMENT.

SECTION 1. That the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred eighty-three-a (2583-a), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Any person holding a diploma from a legally incorporated school of osteopathy, chiropractic or other school which teaches the science of healing and which shall be recognized as of good standing by the state association of such schools, and wherein the course of study comprises a term of at least three (3) years of at least nine (9) months each in actual attendance at such school, and which shall include instruction in the following branches, to-wit: Anatomy, including dissection of a full lateral half of the cadaver, physiology, chemistry, histology, pathology, bacteriology, gynecology, obstetrics, symptomatology, hygiene and sanitation, shall upon presentation of such diploma to the state board of medical examiners and satisfying such board that he is the legal holder thereof, be granted by such board an examination in the branches herein named. The fee for said examination, which shall accompany the application shall be ten dollars ($10.00), and the examination shall be conducted in the same manner and at the same place and on the same date that other physicians are examined, as prescribed by section twenty-five hundred seventy-six (2576), supplement to the code, 1913. The same general average shall be required as in cases of other physicians, providing, that any person now practicing the healing art in this state without major surgery or internal use of drugs and who does not possess a certificate issued by the state board of medical examiners authorizing him to practice, but who has been graduated from any organized school or college of chiropractic or other school teaching the healing art and who has been engaged in actual and bona fide practice within the state of Iowa for at least one (1) year prior to the passage of this act, and who shall furnish satisfactory evidence that they possess the degree of skill and knowledge contemplated by this act, and are regarded as reputable and successful practitioners in their respective communities, shall be granted certificate signed by the president and secretary of said board, which certificate shall authorize the holder thereof to practice the healing art without the use of major surgery or the internal use of drugs in the state of Iowa, and shall designate the school of practice which the holder desires to follow. All applicants shall make application to the state board of medical examiners for license within ninety (90) days after the taking effect of this act. Provided, however, that after July 1, 1919, no person shall be entitled to take an examination under the provisions of this act who does not hold a diploma from a school teaching the science of healing, recognized as of good standing by the state board of medical examiners, having a course of study comprising a term of four (4) years of at least eight (8) months each which shall include instructions in the branches herein specified, and who shall possess a high school education or its equivalent.

SEC. 2. Any person holding a certificate to practice any healing art under the provisions of this act, and who has recorded such certificate as herein provided shall be entitled to perform any act or service which other physicians are now by law authorized to perform; provided, however, that any person practicing any healing art as provided for in this act shall not practice any form of such healing art in the essential sciences of which they have not passed the required examination before the state board of medical examiners."

SEC. 3. The provisions of section twenty-five hundred eighty-two (2582) and twenty-five hundred eighty-two-a (2582-a), supplement to the code, 1913, which relate to admission to the practice of medicine in this state of persons previously admitted to practice in another state, shall apply to the class of practitioners covered by this act, except that in determining the qualifications of applicants from other states who come within the class covered by this act, the standard of requirement as to educational qualification shall not be higher than that for persons who take an examination under the provisions of this act after July 1, 1919.

SEC. 4. That the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred eighty-three-e (2583-e), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out of said section all that part thereof after the comma (,) following the word "osteopathy" in line two (2) and before the word "who" in line three (3) of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "obstetrics, chiropractic, or any form of the healing art without major surgery or the internal use of drugs, or who professes to treat, cure or heal diseases, ailments or injury by any such method or methods"; by striking out the word "osteopath" following the word "itinerant" in line six (6) of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the word "healer"; and by striking out the word "osteopath" following the word "itinerant" in line seven (7) of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the word "healer".

SEC. 5. That the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred eighty-three-d (2583-d), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by inserting after the word "surgery" and before the word "or" in line eight (8) of said section the following: "chiropractic or any other form of the art of healing"; by inserting after the word "surgery" and before the word "or" in line eleven (11) of said section the following: "chiropractic or any other form of the art of healing."

SEC. 6. Any practitioner of osteopathy, chiropractic, or any other form of the healing art without the internal use of drugs, holding a certificate from any medical examining board of any other state, territory, or the District of Columbia, imposing requirements equal to those established by this act may on presentation of said certificate with a diploma from a reputable osteopathic, chiropractic, or other school teaching the healing art be granted a license within the state of Iowa, without examination, on payment of a fee to be fixed by said board, said fee not to exceed twenty-five dollars ($25.00).

SEC. 7. Nothing in the provisions of this act, shall be construed to apply to the exercise of prayer, supplication or any spiritual or religious process for the prevention of disease or the relief of the sick.; and when so amended the bill do pass.

A. W. SLAUGHT, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Richards of Muscatine, from the committee on agriculture, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on agriculture, to whom was referred House File No. 312, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section sixteen hundred eighty-three-b (1683-b), of the supplement to the code, 1913, and to repeal section sixteen hundred eighty-three-k (1683-k) and section sixteen hundred eighty-three-l (1683-l), supplement to the code, 1913, and to enact a substitute therefor, relating to boards of supervisors granting aid to farm improvement associations, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

By striking from line (2) of the title the words "of the", and by striking from line (2) section (1) the words "of the", and by striking from line (2) section (2) the words "of the".

Also by striking from line eight of section (2) the word (a) as it appears after the word "has" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "among its" and by striking from said line of said section the word "of" as it appears after the word membership, and by striking from said line of said section the word "persons" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "farmers or farm owners"; and when so amended the bill do pass.

A. L. RICHARDS, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

SENATE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

Senate File No. 207, a bill for an act to amend section two hundred seventy-five (275) of the code, relating to the compensation of shorthand reporters in superior courts.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on compensation of public officers.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE.

The following communication was received from the commissioner of insurance and ordered printed in the journal:

HON. MILTON B. PITT,
Speaker of the House,
House Chamber.

FEBRUARY 23, 1917.

SIR—In compliance with the request made in the resolution adopted by the Senate on February 3, 1917, I have caused a tabulation to be made from the official records of the insurance department showing the name of each company and association, other than county mutuals, transacting a fire insurance business and authorized to operate in the state of Iowa, together with the amount of risks written in the state, the premiums collected by each company, the losses paid, the percentage that the losses bear to the premiums collected, and the average rate per $1,000 of risks written by each company, for the years 1914, 1915 and 1916 respectively, as shown by the annual statements made under oath and filed in the insurance department of Iowa.

I am unable to comply with the request contained in the resolution for a comparative statement for the years named of the expenses other than losses paid for business transacted in the state of Iowa, because of the fact that this information is not reported to the department by the companies divided as to states, the total amount of expenses for all purposes for all states being shown in the annual statements filed. I am unofficially advised that various legislative investigations of operations of stock fire insurance companies have disclosed that the average ratio of expense to premiums is very close to 40%.

Not all of the annual statements covering business transacted in the year 1916 have yet been filed, and therefore the figures for that year are incomplete. With the reports of twenty-two companies not yet received, I am unable to submit to you on this date the 1916 experience of 117 stock companies and nineteen state mutual associations which is shown complete for the years 1914 and 1915 upon all companies and for 1916 with the exception of the companies noted, which omission will be supplied as soon as the annual statements of these companies are filed and the information is available.

Summarizing the results of the tabulation shown upon sheets No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 submitted herewith and now in your hands the following comparative statement for the years indicated is shown, to-wit:

STOCK COMPANIES.

Year	Risks Written	Premiums Received	Losses Paid	Average Rate per $1000	Per cent of Losses to Premiums
1914..	$826,513,077.56	$8,564,768.76	$4,954,122.54	$10.36	58%
1915..	867,469,687.16	8,774,333.77	5,298,741.01	10.12	60%
ON 117 STOCK COMPANIES (22 NOT FILED)
1914..	732,750,213.56	7,482,362.36	4,483,226.74	10.21	59%
1916..	842,612,989.12	8,368,140.01	4,211,968.11	9.93	50%
19 STATE MUTUAL ASSOCIATIONS.
1914..	71,090,723.00	637,358.34	346,169.33	8.96	54%
1916..	90,641,348.53	742,733.29	353,018.88	8.19	47%

Trusting that the information herewith submitted is sufficiently adequate for the purposes desired, I am,

Yours very truly,

EMORY H. ENGLISH,
Commissioner of Insurance.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate was asked:

House File No. 149, a bill for an act to amend section eight hundred ninety-four (894), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, relating to the levying of special taxes by cities and towns.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate was asked:

House File No. 7, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section ten hundred seventy-six (1076) supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, relating to the registration of voters in cities and villages.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

On motion of McFarlane of Black Hawk, Calendar No. 125, House File No. 131, a bill for an act to amend section fifteen hundred seventy-one-m seventeen (1571-m-17), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the operation of motor vehicles upon the public highways and requiring that certain lights on such vehicles be shaded, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

McFarlane of Black Hawk offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House File 131 by striking out all after the fifth line of the printed bill and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"Provided, however, that it shall be unlawful for any person operating a motor vehicle upon the public highway in this state to use any lighting device of over four candle power, equipped with a reflector, unless the same shall be so designed, deflected or arranged that no portion of the beam of the reflected light, when measured seventy-five feet or more ahead of the light shall rise above forty-two inches from the level surface on which the vehicle stands under all conditions of load. Spot lights shall not be used except when projecting the rays directly on the ground and at a distance not exceeding thirty feet in front of the vehicle."

Amendment adopted.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. McFarlane moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

Ayes—87.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Slaughter of Wapello, from the committee on public health, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on public health, to whom was referred House File No. 288, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred eighty-three-n (2583-n) and section twenty-five hundred eighty-three-r (2583-r), supplement to the code, 1913, regulating the practice of optometry and providing penalties for the violation thereof, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

By striking from lines four (4) and five (5) in section two (2), the words "to constitute a public nuisance", and inserting in lieu thereof the word "unlawful"; and when so amended the bill do pass.

A. W. SLAUGHT, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Peters of Dallas, from the committee on police regulations, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on police regulations, to whom was referred House File No. 327, a bill for an act to amend section five thousand and forty (5040) of the code, relative to observance of the Sabbath, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

By striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That section five thousand forty (5040) of the code be and the same is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"Provided, further, that the provisions of this section shall not be held to prohibit the maintenance and operation of railroads, street and inter-urban railways, telephone and telegraph service, heating and lighting plants, waterworks and other public services, livery-stables, undertaking establishments, automobile garages and service stations, hotels, eating-houses and drug stores; nor the sale and delivery of milk and ice; nor the publishing, sale and delivery of newspapers; nor the sale of periodicals; nor the giving of concerts of music and the opening of public libraries and museums. Nor shall the provisions of this section be held to prohibit in cities and towns the maintenance and operation of bakeries, confectionery stores, fruit stores, cigar stores, shoe-shining stands, flower stands, bath houses, boat houses, amusement parks, baseball games, theatres and moving picture shows, but cities and towns shall have the power by ordinance to prohibit the same on Sunday and provide penalties for violations thereof." and when so amended the bill be placed on the calendar.

JAS. PETERS, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Meredith of Jasper, from the committee on drainage, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on drainage, to whom was referred House File No. 14, a bill for an act to amend section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a-sixty-one (1989-a-61) of the 1915 supplemental supplement to the code, relating to the transfer of certain drainage districts to local boards of trustees, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be indefinitely postponed.

DAVID MEREDITH, Chairman.

Also:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee on drainage, to whom was referred House File No. 217, a bill for an act to repeal section 1989-a-52-a, section 1989-a-52-f, of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and to enact substitutes therefor and to repeal section 1989-a-52-e of the supplement to the code, 1913, and to enact substitutes therefor, etc., beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows:

Strike out all after the enacting clause and substitute the following:

SECTION 1. That the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-a (1989-a-52-a) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following is enacted in lieu thereof:

That in all drainage or levee district having or operating a pumping station or maintaining a levee, or both, heretofore established, or which may hereafter be established under the laws of the state of Iowa, at any time after the completion of the contract for the original construction has been accepted by the board of supervisors, any three or more persons who own land within the district which has been assessed for benefits, may file in the office of the county auditor of the county or counties in which the district is located a petition signed by a majority of the persons owning land within the district which has been assessed for benefits, asking that said district be placed under the control and management of three (3) trustees, residents of the county or counties in which the said district is located, and land owners in said district, to be elected by the persons owning lands in said district that has been assessed for benefits."

SECTION 2. That section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-b (1989-a-52-b), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following is enacted in lieu thereof:

"Upon filing of said petition the board of supervisors, or the joint boards of supervisors of the counties wherein said district is located, shall at a regular or special meeting canvass the same and if it shall be determined that the same is signed by a majority of all the persons owning land in said district that has been assessed for benefits, the board, or joint boards of supervisors, shall order an election to be held at some convenient place in the district at some time not less than thirty (30) days, nor more than sixty (60) days from the date of the canvass of said petition, for the election of said trustees, and shall name from the residents of the district three judges and two clerks of election and shall cause notice of said election together with the time and place of holding the same to be published for two consecutive weeks in one newspaper in each county into which said district extends, in which the official proceedings of the boards of supervisors are published."

SECTION 3. That the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a fifty-two-c (1989-a-52-c), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"On the day designated for said election, the polls shall open at eight o'clock a. m., and remain open until seven o'clock p. m., and the judges of election shall canvass the vote, and certify the same to the boards of supervisors and deposit the ballots cast and the poll books showing the names of the voters with the county auditor. The owner of each tract of land over twenty-one years of age, without regard to sex, and any railroad or corporation owning property in said district and assessed for benefits, shall be entitled to at least one vote, provided, however, that if a petition asking for the right to vote in proportion to their assessment at all elections for any purpose thereafter to be held within said district, signed by sixty per cent of the land owners owning land within said district is presented to said trustees, then in all elections thereafter, held within said district under the provisions of this act, anyone whose land is assessed for benefits in a sum exceeding $10.00, without regard to age, sex or condition, shall be entitled to one vote for each $10.00 of the original assessment for benefits against the land actually owned by him in said district at the time of the election and which has been assessed for benefits in said district, but in order to have his ballot counted for more than one vote, he shall write his name upon his ballot. The vote of any resident of a county in which the district is located, in whole or in part, must be cast in person. The vote of any owner of land, including railroads and corporations, assessed within the district is located in whole or in part, may have his or its vote cast by some resident taxpayer of the district or agent of such railroad or corporation who is authorized by a power of attorney signed and acknowledged by such non-resident land owner or duly authorized officer of such railroad or corporation to cast the vote for him, but the power of attorney in such case shall be filed with the county auditor, at least five (5) days prior to the election at which it is to be effective. The vote of any person who is a minor, insane or under other legal disability shall be cast by the parent, guardian or other legal representative. The canvass of the returns shall be on Monday following said election and the county auditor shall issue a certificate to the trustees of their election."

SECTION 4. That section nineteen hundred-eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-e (1989-a-52-e) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"Elections shall be held biennially in such district upon the first Monday of the month in which the first election was held, or on a date which shall be the choice of a majority of the electors of such district expressed by ballot, for the election of trustees, which shall be called by the trustees, held and the returns certified in the same manner as the first election. The term of such trustees shall be for two years or until their successors are duly elected and qualified."

SECTION 5. That the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a fifty-two-f (1989-a-52-f) supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The trustees shall qualify in the same manner as township trustees and also by giving a bond in the sum of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars each, conditional for the faithful discharge of their duties, and the said bond to be duly approved by the county auditor of the county in which the greater portion of the district is located. The trustees shall have control and supervision of said district with all of the same powers that are now conferred on the board or boards of supervisors for the control or supervision of drainage and levee districts under the drainage and levee laws of Iowa, and they shall promptly and faithfully look after all of the business of the district. If a reclassification and readjustment of the assessments of property or any important change of the district shall be deemed advisable by the said trustees, they shall submit the question of the reclassification and readjustment of the assessments of property, or change of district to the vote of the electors of said district by ballot, at the next regular election of trustees, or they shall have the power to demand a special election therefor. Should the proposition receive the sanction of the majority of the voters at said election, then the trustees shall proceed in the same manner in the reclassification and readjustment of the assessments as are now provided for governing the actions of the board or boards of supervisors. All costs and expense necessary to carry out the powers and duties hereby conferred upon said trustees shall be levied and collected upon the land in said district in the same manner as the same are now levied and collected, upon certificate by the trustees to the board or boards of county supervisors of the amount necessary therefor. The said fund when so levied and collected shall be held by the county treasurer of the county in which the same is collected, subject to the order of the trustees of said district, and shall be expended only upon their order upon warrants bearing a legal rate of interest, drawn by the county auditors upon certificates approved by the said board of trustees, signed by the president of the board. The said trustees shall have power to issue drainage or levee bonds when necessary, said bonds to be approved by a judge of the district court of the county or counties in which said district lies. The said trustees shall have power, if in their judgment, it is necessary to employ a clerk for said district, and to fix his compensation. The members of the board of trustees shall receive three dollars ($3.00) per day each for time actually spent in looking after the affairs of the district, and necessary traveling expenses.

This act being deemed of immediate importance shall be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register, a newspaper published in Des Moines, Iowa, and the Muscatine Journal, a newspaper published in Muscatine, Iowa, without expense to the state.

And that the title to said bill be amended by striking out all of said title and inserting the following in lieu thereof:

A bill for an act to repeal section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-a, (1989-a-52-a) supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and enact a substitute therefor; to repeal section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-b, (1989-a-52-b), supplement to the code, 1913, and enact a substitute therefor; to repeal section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-c, (1989-a-52-c), supplement to the code, 1913, and enact a substitute therefor; to repeal section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-e, (1989-a-52-e), supplement to the code, 1913, and enact a substitute therefor; to repeal section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a, fifty-two-f (1989-a-52-f) supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and enact a substitute therefor, relating to the creation of trustees for drainage districts; the method of electing same and their qualifications and compensation.; and when so amended the bill do pass.

DAVID MEREDITH, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Santee of Black Hawk called up House concurrent resolution offered by him relative to stamps being furnished the members of the general assembly.

Rogers of Carroll moved that the resolution be laid upon the table. Lee of Sac seconded the motion.

The Speaker announced that inasmuch as the code states that no stamps shall be provided for legislators, the resolution was out of order.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
DES MOINES, IOWA, MARCH 9, 1917.

House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Pitt in the chair.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Howland Hanson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Des Moines, Iowa.

Journal of March 8th corrected and approved.

RESOLUTION.

Tucker of Clinton offered the following resolution, asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration and moved its adoption:

Whereas, it has been customary since the establishment of representative government for the citizens to inform their representatives in legislative bodies as to their wishes on matters pending, which affect their welfare; and

Whereas, the people of Iowa in following this custom are petitioning their representatives as to their wishes on various matters now pending; and

Whereas, it is the wish of the members of this body to do the will of their constituents; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives of the thirty-seventh general assembly that all petitions affecting measures which are now before this body or may be taken up during this session, shall be filed and made a matter of record not later than twenty-four hours succeeding the receipt thereof, in order that we may thus become acquainted with the wishes of those, whose servants we are, and thus be enabled to carry out their mandates. And,

Be It Further Resolved, That all petitions now in the hands of representatives be filed at once.

Resolution adopted.

Amend the amendment to House File No. 353, by Elwood and Mackie, by striking out all of section one, two and three and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s (1527-s) and fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s1 (1527-s1), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and are hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The office of state highway commissioner is hereby created and located at the capitol of the state. Said commissioner shall be appointed by the governor immediately upon the taking effect of this act, for a term of two years from July first, nineteen hundred seventeen, and the term of said office thereafter shall be for two years. He shall be a graduate of a reputable school of civil engineering and shall have had not less than five years actual experience in engineering and highway and bridge construction. He shall give a bond in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for the faithful performance of his duties, which bonds shall be approved by the executive council and filed with the secretary of state. He shall receive for his services an annual salary of four thousand dollars ($4,000) and his necessary traveling and other expenses incurred while in the performance of his duty as commissioner.

SECTION 2. The attorney general shall act as attorney for the commissioner and shall advise him upon all legal questions arising with reference to the duties of said commissioner. Said commissioner shall be subject to all the provisions of title VI, chapter VIII, supplement to the code, 1913, and acts amendatory thereto.

SECTION 3. Said commissioner shall perform all the duties of the state highway commission as provided by the statutes of this state and shall have all the rights and privileges conferred by law upon the state highway commission."

McFerren of Hamilton moved that the House now take a recess until 1:30 p. m. Motion prevailed.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Shaff of Clinton called up Senate concurrent resolution relative to inviting Col. N. P. Hyatt, commander of the second Iowa regiment, to pass his troops in review before the governor and members of the general assembly on Saturday afternoon, asked for and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

Whereas, the Second Iowa Regiment of the National Guard has returned from the Mexican border and is now stationed at Fort Des Moines waiting muster out of the federal service, and

Whereas, the guardsmen are entitled to official and public recognition for their loyalty and patriotism in answering the call to the colors, and

Whereas, the seven months of intensified training they received on the border has made them the equal of any military organization that was sent to the border, and

Whereas, the officers of this commonwealth should officially inspect the guardsmen that they may see the fighting men that constitute the state's military force and that the guardsmen may be accorded official recognition of their services, therefore,

Be It Resolved, That the thirty-seventh general assembly invite Col. N. P. Hyatt, commander of the Second Iowa Regiment, to pass his troops in review before the governor and his staff and the members of this assembly on the capitol grounds Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Shaff moved that the House concur in the resolution. Motion prevailed.

Larson of Montgomery and Shortess of Tama offered the following as a substitute for House File No. 353 and all pending amendments:

SUBSTITUTE FOR HOUSE FILE NO. 353 AND ALL PENDING AMENDMENTS.

To provide for the acceptance of the proposal made by the United States relating to federal aid in the construction of rural post roads, as set forth in the Act of Congress, approved July eleventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen (1916); to amend the law as it appears in sections four hundred three (403), four hundred sixty-eight-a (468-a), supplement to the code, 1913, and sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s five (1527-s5), fifteen hundred seventy-one-m thirty-two (1571-m32), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915; to repeal the law as it appears in sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s seven (1527-s7), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eighteen (1527-s18) supplement to the code, 1913, and sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s two (1527-s2), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s three (1527-s3), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eight (1527-s8), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s ten (1527-s10), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eleven (1527-s11), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s thirteen (1527-s13), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s sixteen (1527-s16), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and to enact substitutes therefor; and to repeal the law as it appears in sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-f (1527-f), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-g (1527-g), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-h (1527-h), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-i (1527-i), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-j (1527-j), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-k (1527-k), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-l (1527-l), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-m (1527-m), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-o (1527-o), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-q (1527-q), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-r (1527-r), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s fifteen (1527-s15), supplement to the code, 1913, and fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s thirteen-a (1527-s13a), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915; all relating to public highways, and to the powers and duties of the state highway commission, county board of supervisors, township trustees, and others, with reference to such highways and bridges.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. The state of Iowa, through its legislature, hereby accepts the proposal of the United States as set forth in the Act of Congress, approved July eleventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen (1916), entitled, "An Act to provide that the United States shall aid the states in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes," thirty-ninth United Statutes at Large, page three hundred and fifty-five, and assents to the provisions of said Act of Congress. For the construction or improvement of rural post roads the good faith of the state is hereby pledged to cause to be made available funds sufficient to equal the sums apportioned to the state by or under the United States Government during each of the five years for which federal funds are apportioned by sections three of the said Act, and to maintain the roads so constructed with the aid of funds so appropriated, and to make adequate provisions for carrying out such maintenance.

SECTION 2. The state highway commission is hereby authorized and directed to enter into and complete negotiations with the secretary of agriculture to secure the full apportionment from the federal aid fund for and on behalf of the state of Iowa and the several counties thereof, and is further authorized to enter into all contracts and agreements with the United States government relating to the survey, construction or improvement of roads under the provisions of the said act of Congress, to submit such plan or program of construction or improvement as may be required by the secretary of agriculture, and do all other things necessary to fully carry out the co-operation contemplated and provided for by the said act.

SECTION 3. All sums received under the said federal aid act shall be apportioned among the several counties in the same ratio as the apportionment of the motor vehicle funds, provided there may be expended in any county, in any one year a larger or smaller amount as may be demanded to meet the conditions, contracts and agreements between the highway commission and the federal government, but in no case shall the total amount expended from the federal aid fund in any county exceed the proportion hereinbefore specified. The public funds necessary to be set aside by any county to meet the requirements of the federal aid act shall be taken from the funds received from the motor vehicle apportionment, and if the same is not sufficient, any additional funds required for bridge work shall be taken from the bridge funds, and any additional fund required for road work shall be taken from the road fund, but no additional levy shall be made to provide such funds.

SEC. 4. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s two (1527-s2), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The duties of said state highway commission shall be:

1st. To prepare and adopt plans of highway, bridge and culvert construction and maintenance suited to the needs of the different counties of the state, and furnish standard plans to the counties in accordance therewith, and to furnish special plans for bridges and culverts upon the request of the board of supervisors.

2d. To keep a record of all important operations of the highway commission, and to annually report the same to the governor by the first day of January, which report shall be printed as a public document; but the summary report of the county highway engineers shall be reported not later than February first.

3d. To disseminate information and instruction to county supervisors and other highway officers, to answer inquiries and advise such supervisors, township trustees and officers on questions pertaining to highway improvements, construction and maintenance, and shall each month, or upon request, furnish the board of supervisors a schedule of prevailing prices of all materials used in road, bridge and culvert construction.

4th. To appoint such assistants as are necessary to carry on the work of the commission, define the duties and fix the compensation of each, and terminate at will the terms of employment of all employees, provide for the necessary bonds and fix the amount of same; provided, however, that the engineers employed in field or inspection work shall not be assigned permanently to any specific district or division of the state.

5th. To make investigation as to conditions in any county upon their own initiative, or upon complaint, in writing, of five citizens of the county. If, upon said investigation, they shall find any violation of duties enjoined by this act, whether of omission or commission, they shall report the same to the attorney general, who shall take such steps as are by him deemed advisable to cause the provisions of this act to be fully complied with.

6th. To have general supervision of the various county officers named in this act, with reference to the performance of their duties herein provided, and shall have full power and authority to enforce the provisions of this act.

7th. In any case where complaint is made as provided in the fifth paragraph hereof, the state highway commission shall have full power to investigate the acts of township officers named in this act and to enforce the provisions of the same to the extent as provided in relation to county officers in paragraph five hereof.

8th. The state highway commission shall assist the county board of supervisors and the attorney general in the defense of patent suits relative to road or bridge construction, make surveys for the state board of control when so requested, and perform all other duties required by law.

9th. To acquire knowledge of the latest methods of road and bridge construction and collect such other information as will be of value to the highway officers of the state and transmit same to such officers.

10th. To attend county road meetings upon request of the board of supervisors and confer with road officials on any matters pertaining to road work, but shall not incur any expense to the state for road lectures."

SECTION 5. That section fifteen hundred and twenty-seven-s three (1527-s3), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The board of supervisors of each county shall employ, from time to time, a competent engineer and such assistants as may be necessary, and at such compensation, to be paid out of the county funds, as may be fixed by the board of supervisors. Such engineer and assistants shall work under the direction and instruction of the board of supervisors in the performance of his or their duties as hereinafter provided, and each shall give bonds for the faithful performance of his duties in a sum not less than two thousand dollars ($2,000.00), nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), to be determined and approved by the board of supervisors.

The tenure of office of any engineer or assistants may be terminated by the board of supervisors whenever, in their judgment, such action be deemed advisable, or by the highway commission for incompetency or inefficiency. Said engineer and assistants shall not be related to any member of the board of supervisors or to any member of the state highway commission.

The highways now designated as county roads by the plans and records now on file in the county auditor's office of each county and all county highways from time to time added thereto, shall be known as the county highway system. All other highways in the county shall be known as the township road system.

The system of road construction herein provided shall apply only to highways outside of the limits of cities and towns; provided, however, that whenever any public highway, located along the corporate line of any city or town is partly within said city or town and partly without the same, the said highway or any part thereof, may be included in and made a part of the county road system, and when so included it may be improved by the board of supervisors as are other parts of the county highway system.

The system of bridge and culvert work herein provided for shall apply to all highways throughout the county outside of the limits of cities of the first class; provided, however, that when any part of any public highway located along the corporate line of a city of the first class is included in the county highway system, as herein provided, the board of supervisors and city council shall meet jointly and adopt plans and specifications with the approval of the highway commission for the construction of bridges and culverts, one-half of the cost of the same to be paid by the city and one-half by the county, and in case the city council and the board of supervisors are unable to agree upon any question or questions involved in the construction of same, it shall be referred to the state highway commission, whose decision therein shall be final and binding upon each party.

In matters involving highway improvements upon or across state lines or in determining continuous routes for interstate roads, the state highway commission shall be authorized to confer with the authorities of bordering states and to agree upon proper connections or plans and the apportionment of costs of such improvements.

Boards of supervisors of adjoining counties shall confer with each other to determine and secure continuity of roads leading from the principal points in one county to the principal points in the other county. In case the boards of the two counties cannot agree in designating which road or roads, running between their respective counties or across their dividing lines, shall become a part of the county highway system in order to maintain continuity, either party may appeal to the state highway commission who shall thoroughly investigate the roads in dispute and shall decide which road or roads shall become a part of the county highway system of each county, and its decision shall be final."

SECTION 6. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s five (1527-s5), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out all following the word "commission" in line eleven thereof, and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"Provided that the board of supervisors of any county shall notify such highway commission of any change or modification of the established road, when such change is proposed for the purpose of eliminating, from such road, dangerous railroad crossings, road crossings, curves, bridges, culverts, or when such change would materially decrease the cost of improving and maintaining the road."

SECTION 7. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s seven (1527-s7), supplement to the code, 1913, and section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eight (1527-s8), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same are hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"As soon as any part of said approved map is returned to the county auditor, showing the final designation of county roads, the county engineer, upon and under the direction of the board of supervisors, shall, in writing, divide said road into sections designating each section by some appropriate number, name or letter, and clearly designating the starting point and terminus of each said section, and such designation shall be recorded at length in a county road book, whereupon the engineer shall proceed to survey said roads from established corners and report to the board of supervisors the plan for road, bridge, tile and culvert work thereon. Such survey and report shall be made on the basis and with the object in view of the permanent improvement of said county roads, both as to bridge, culvert, tile and drainage work. Said survey and report shall consist of an accurate plan and profile of said roads showing cuts and fills and outline of grades with careful attention to surface and lateral drainage, and sub-drainage, and shall show the location of all lines of tile and size thereof, and of all bridges and culverts, their length, height and width, and foundation soundings, and an estimate of the water shed relating to each bridge and culvert. Culverts constructed under the provision of this act shall have a clear roadway of not less than twenty feet. Proper bench marks shall be established on each permanent bridge, which shall be duly recorded on both profile and plan of roads, for future reference. The engineer shall clearly designate and credit on said plan and profile all existing permanent bridges, culverts and grades. The board may cause all sections to be fully surveyed and a report made thereon before proceeding with the improvements contemplated by this act, or, in order to enable the board to proceed with the most necessary and urgent work, said board may designate the order in which the different sections shall be surveyed and planned, and may order the engineer to survey and report on certain named sections before completing the survey and report on all sections.

The board of supervisors shall, at the September meeting of each year, determine what sections, if any, of the county highway system shall be permanently improved during the coming year and shall designate the character of such improvement, and the county engineer shall not draw plans or profiles for permanent improvements on other than such designated sections except by express direction of the board, the intention being to save the expense of surveys and plans to be carried out at a more remote time.

The survey and report of each section or any portion thereof, as soon as completed and approved by the board of supervisors, shall be submitted to the state highway commission, and the board of supervisors may designate to the said commission what sections or portions thereof, in their estimation, should be first passed upon by said state highway commission.

The said commission is hereby charged with the duty of forthwith passing upon such reports and plans, and in so doing, shall take into consideration the thoroughness, feasibility and practicability of such plans, and may approve or modify the same, except as otherwise provided by law.

After such survey and plan for each section is passed upon by the state highway commission, they shall be immediately returned to the county auditor with full and explicit directions as to modifications, if there be any. The county auditor shall, upon the receipt of the approved and modified survey and plans, record the same at length in a county road book, and the board of supervisors shall, at the time of construction, proceed in accordance therewith, and as provided by law.

When, in the judgment of the board of supervisors, conditions of any road to be graded are such as to render work commonly known as back cutting practicable, they shall order the engineer to amend the plans and specifications so as to provide for such back cutting.

And where any such plans or designated improvements contemplate the moving of a considerable yardage of earth or other material or the hauling and placing of gravel or other surfacing material within a locality or distance readily accessible to the same labor, the same shall be grouped in the engineer's plans as a unit of work, and when the estimated cost thereof exceeds one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), the same shall be advertised for a public letting, as provided in section ten of this act.

The duty to maintain and construct all bridges and culverts throughout the county is imposed upon the board of supervisors. All bridges and culverts shall be paid for out of the county bridge fund, except as provided in section fifteen hundred seventy-one-m thirty-two (1571-m32), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, as amended by this act.

Where conditions are such as to warrant or necessitate the same the board of supervisors shall furnish township trustees metal or other temporary culverts authorized by the state highway commission to be placed by them on their township road system. Said culverts to be purchased by the board of supervisors and paid for out of the county bridge fund and shall not exceed in size thirty-six (36) inches in diameter or its equivalent.

The county, however, shall be at no expense for placing, filling or transportation of said temporary culverts other than their delivery at a railroad station to be designated by the board of supervisors.

Immediately upon the completion by the board of supervisors of any bridge or culvert situated upon the township road system, or the installation of a temporary culvert furnished to the township by the board of supervisors, it shall be the duty of the township trustees to properly fill over with dirt all such culverts, and fill in and uniformly grade the approaches to all such bridges. Should the trustees fail, for a period of two weeks after notification, to make such fill, or fail to fill in and grade over such culvert, as herein provided, the board of supervisors shall proceed to do so, and the engineer shall report the actual cost of so doing and such amount, not exceeding one hundred fifty dollars ($150.00), for any bridge or culvert, shall be certified by the board of supervisors to the county treasurer who shall transfer said amount to the county road cash fund from the first collection of road funds belonging to said township.

The county road fund, the county road building fund, the county drainage fund, and all other moneys received by the board of supervisors for road purposes, except as otherwise provided, shall be placed in the county road cash fund, and except as herein otherwise provided shall be paid out only on order of the said board of supervisors for the purchase of tools, machinery and equipment, or for tile and tiling, or for filling on culverts and bridge approaches as herein provided, or for work done on the county road system, or for the elimination of dangers at railroad crossings on both county and township roads at the discretion of the board of supervisors, on an adjustment of such dangerous conditions by negotiations between the railroad companies and the board of supervisors, or upon an order and finding of the railroad commission.

All culverts having a span of four feet or less may be classified as road work and may be paid for out of the county road funds. All bridges having a clear span of less than sixteen feet shall be classified as culverts. All culverts over four feet and all bridges shall be paid for out of the county bridge fund. All moneys received by the township trustees for road purposes shall be expended for and upon the township road system.

Permanent work as contemplated by this act shall include all bridges constructed of steel, concrete or stone, all culverts constructed of concrete or stone, and all roads built and improvements completed on the public highways, done under and according to the plats approved as herein before filed in the office of the county auditor. All other work shall be known as temporary work.

All money received by the township trustees for road purposes shall be expended for and upon the township road system, or for the elimination of dangers at railroad crossings on the township roads, at the discretion of the township trustees, on an adjustment of such dangerous conditions by negotiations between the railroad company and the township trustees, or upon an order and finding of the railroad commission.

Whenever it may become necessary in grading the highways to make a cut which will disturb or destroy, or a fill which will cover up a government or other established corner, it shall be the duty of the engineer to establish permanent witness corners, and make a record of the same, which shall show the distance and direction the witness corner is from the corner disturbed or covered up. A failure to perform this duty shall subject the engineer to a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00), to be collected on his bond."

SECTION 8. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s ten (1527-s10), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"All bills for road work, tile and tiling, culvert and bridge construction or for repairs designated by the engineer, shall be filed in itemized form and certified to by the engineer before being allowed by the board and before warrants in payment therefor are drawn by the county auditor.

Before any warrant shall be issued by the county auditor upon the funds of the county highway system in payment for any work or construction of bridges, culverts, or highways, except for dragging, maintenance, emergency repairs or other repairs not designated by the engineer, he must secure on this bill the certificate of the engineer employed by the board of supervisors, that such improvement has been made in accordance with the plans and specifications as herein provided, and when so endorsed warrants may be drawn for the amount so certified by the county engineer and the engineer shall not certify any bill for final payment to any contractor for the construction of bridges or culverts until such contractor has removed all obstructions by the waterway and rendered the same free from dirt, earth, soil, weeds, brush or any material that will, in any manner, prevent the free discharge of surface water unless it has been otherwise provided by the contract providing for such construction, but if said engineer make said certificate when said work was not done in accordance with the plans and specifications, and the same be not properly made good, without additional cost, then the full cost of making same good, may be recovered upon said engineer's bond, and his bond shall be liable therefor.

Partial payments may be allowed by the board on contract work on the basis of the engineer's certified estimates and the percentages specified in the standard specifications of the state highway commission.

Repair work shall be defined as follows:

- (a) Work not designated by the county highway engineer.
- (b) All road construction work costing not in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per mile.
- (c) Work of a temporary character, including construction of township roads to natural grade by blade graders, regardless of whether the same costs in excess of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per mile.
- (d) All work of immediate necessity to maintain finished roads completed under this act.

Emergency repair work on the county highway, bridge and culvert system shall be defined as any work of immediate necessity required to make a road safe for travel and which may be done at an expense of not more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) on each such emergency.

The board of supervisors at each January meeting hereafter shall make arrangements with the township trustees in the respective townships to do such emergency repair work as may from time to time arise on any county highway system including bridges or culverts on both the county and township system when the necessity for any such emergency repair work is called to the attention of any member of the board of township trustees by any citizen of the community in which such emergency repair work is required, the member of the board of trustees so notified shall forthwith proceed to have such emergency repair work done, and may employ in the making of such repairs, any other person or persons. Any township trustee undertaking to do or causing to be done any such emergency repair work shall forthwith notify the county auditor of the existence of the emergency, and the exact location of the emergency work to be done.

The county board of supervisors, or any member of such board, shall upon notification of the existence of any necessity for emergency repair work not already reported to the county auditor, cause same to be done, either by delegating such repair work to the township trustee or trustees of the township in which such emergency exists, or under direct supervision of the board of supervisors or any member thereof.

In any case where necessity for an emergency repair exists on any highway, bridge or culvert located on a township line, any trustee of either township shall have power to make the repair, as provided in this act.

A sworn itemized statement of the work done and the material furnished, and that the same was for emergency work under the provisions of this act, shall be filed with the county auditor. When such sworn statement is accompanied by the written approval of a member of the board of supervisors or township trustees, who authorized such emergency work, the county auditor shall upon presentation issue a warrant in payment of such emergency claim without the necessity of the approval of the board of supervisors or county engineer. All claims filed with the county auditor or paid by him under the provisions of this act shall be passed upon by the board of supervisors at their first meeting following such filing or payment, and shall be made a matter of record as provided for in the allowance and payment of other claims.

Emergency repair work arising on the township road system shall be done by or under the direction of the township trustees: and when the necessity for any such emergency repair work is called to the attention of any member of the board of township trustees by any citizen of the community in which such emergency repair work is required, the member of the board so notified shall forthwith proceed to have such emergency repair work done, and may employ in the making of such repairs, any other person or persons."

Sec. 9. That section four hundred sixty-eight-a (468-a), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

Provided, however, that nothing herein shall be construed to prevent such supervisors or trustees from making emergency repairs and recovering from his county or township the reasonable value of his services not exceeding his regular per diem and not exceeding twenty-five dollars ($25.00), for each such emergency repair."

Sec. 10. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s-eleven (1527-s11), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"Standard specifications for all bridges and culverts, catch basins and tile drains directly connected therewith, used to eliminate culverts which shall be classified as bridge construction work, and paid for as such, and for railroad overhead crossings or subways, shall be furnished without cost to the counties and railroad companies, by the state highway commission, and work shall be done in accordance therewith, and when said bridge and culvert work is completed and approved, a duplicate statement of the cost thereof shall be filed with the state highway commission by the county auditor, as a part of the county engineer's report.

All bridge and culvert construction, tile and tiling and repair work designated by the engineer, or materials therefor, of which the engineer's estimated cost shall be one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) or less, may be advertised and let at a public letting, or may be let privately at a cost not to exceed the engineer's estimate, or lowest bid, if bids were received, or may be built by day labor and at a cost not to exceed the engineer's estimate, or the lowest bids received, provided bids have been received.

All road, bridge and culvert construction, grading, tile and tiling and repair work, or materials therefor, of which the engineer's cost shall exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) shall be advertised and let at a public letting, provided that the board shall have the power to reject all bids, in which event they may re-advertise or let privately by submitting contract to the state highway commission for approval, provided the same is within the lowest bid, or build by day labor at a cost not to exceed the lowest bid received.

All bids received shall be publicly opened, at the time and place specified in the advertisement, and shall be recorded in detail, in a book kept for that purpose, by the county auditor; said book shall be at all times open to the public for inspection.

Any proposed contract which shall exceed the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00) for any one bridge or culvert, or repairs, thereon, or for any one mile of road, shall be first approved by the state highway commission before the same shall be effective as a contract. Before beginning the construction of any permanent bridge or culvert by day labor or by contract, the plans, specifications, estimate of drainage area, estimates of cost, and their specific location shall be filed in the county auditor's office by the engineer.

Bridges erected over drainage ditches shall, where necessary, be so constructed to allow the superstructure to be removed for cleaning said ditches with as little damage to the removal and permanent parts of said bridge as practicable.

On completion, a detailed statement of cost, and of any additions or alterations to the plans, shall be added to the above records of the engineer, all of which shall be retained in the county auditor's office as permanent records, and when said work is completed and approved, a duplicate statement of the cost thereof shall be filed at once with the state highway commission by the county auditor, provided said structure costs in excess of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00); otherwise, report shall be filed by the county auditor as a part of the engineer's annual report, unless reports are oftener demanded by the commission.

The board of supervisors may authorize the county auditor to draw warrants for the amount of pay rolls for labor furnished under the day labor system, when said pay rolls are certified to by the engineer in charge of the work. Said bills shall be passed upon by the board at the first meeting following said payment.

The county board of supervisors and county engineers are charged with the duty of repairing and dragging the county highway system as may be required to keep the same in proper condition, and of keeping the openings to all bridges, culverts, or other drains upon the county highway system, free from weeds, brush and other materials that may, in any way, prevent the free discharge of surface water, but such duties may be performed by a township trustee or trustees, or any other person employed for such purpose, and the board shall adopt such other methods as are necessary to maintain continuously in the best condition practicable, the entire mileage of this system.

No member of the highway commission, their deputies or assistants, or any other person in the employ of such commission, no county supervisor, township trustee, county engineer, road superintendent, or any person in their employ, or one holding an appointment under them, shall be, either directly or indirectly, interested in any contract for the construction or building of any bridge, or bridges, culvert, or culverts, or any improvement of any road or parts of road coming under the provision of this act, except the board of supervisors may employ a township trustee or trustees to perform labor upon the county highway, bridge and culvert system or contract with them as individuals the same as any other person with reference to road, bridge, and culvert repair or construction work, and except as to emergency repair work, as provided in section nine of this act.

It is hereby made the imperative duty of the board of supervisors in undertaking road work in late summer or fall to carefully take into consideration weather and soil conditions to the end that as far as possible work shall not be undertaken which may be left in an incomplete condition at the end of the season.

It is further made the duty of the board of supervisors to prevent contractors or day laborers from commencing more road construction work than can be completed within a reasonable length of time. And no contractor or day laborer shall, on a job under construction, commence new grading or construction work, the nature of which obstructs or partially obstructs travel, until work of a similar character, previously begun in the same job, has been completed so as to render the crown surface of the road free from sod, stone or other material which impedes travel."

Sec. 11. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s thirteen (1527-s13), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"At every February meeting, or as soon thereafter as possible, the township trustees of each township shall select from its township road system the roads to be dragged for the year to be known as draggable roads, and shall employ a superintendent or superintendents of the township roads, whose term of office and compensation shall be at the discretion of the township trustees, and shall give bond for the faithful performance of their duties in such sum as the township trustees may direct. Said superintendent or superintendents shall have the general supervision of all dragging on the township road system, and shall annually file a report with the township clerk of the work performed on the township road system for the year. Each superintendent shall see that the approaches to all the bridges in the district of his charge on said roads are maintained in such manner as to present smooth and uniform surfaces, and keep the openings to all culverts and ditches free from weeds, brush and other material that will in any manner prevent the free discharge of surface water. He shall have charge of all draggable roads of the township system, and make contracts for dragging, and shall see that all draggable roads, which shall include all rural mail routes and school wagon routes in consolidated school districts and all other roads in the township where dragging is practicable, are properly dragged at such times as are necessary to maintain such roads in a smooth condition, at a price to be fixed by the township trustees. For this purpose there shall be expended, under the direction of the township trustees, through the road superintendent upon the township road system as much of the one mill drag tax now authorized by law as is required to maintain said roads in a smooth condition. Any unused balances in the drag fund of any township at the end of each year, may, by unanimous resolution of the township trustees, be placed to the credit of the township road fund. The township trustees shall not allow any bills for dragging, maintenance or repair work, nor shall any warrants in payment therefor be drawn by the township clerk upon the funds of the township road system, until itemized bills therefor shall have been certified thereto by the township trustees or road superintendent having such work in charge. A violation of this section shall render the township clerk liable on his bond for the amount of said warrant. The compensation for such superintendent for all duties including any dragging actually performed by him, and the cost of all equipment for drainage, shall be paid for out of the township road funds."

Sec. 12. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s thirteen-a (1527-s13a), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 13. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s fifteen (1527-s15), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 14. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s sixteen (1527-s16), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"Not later than the first day of January, or at any time upon the demand of the township trustees, the township clerk shall report the work accomplished on the township road system in his township, including number of culverts installed, location thereof and the number and size of culverts on hand and not installed.

Said township trustees shall prepare a list of the culverts and bridges which in their judgment should be constructed by the board of supervisors in their township during the succeeding year, giving the proposed location of such culverts, the material of which such culverts should be constructed, and the approximate size of same, together with any and all recommendations concerning such culverts as the board of township trustees see fit to give, which list, report and recommendation shall be filed on or before the first day of January each year, or oftener if the emergency requires, in the office of the county auditor.

But no bridges or culverts shall be constructed upon the township road system other than as recommended as hereinbefore provided, except by consent of the township board."

Sec. 15. That section fifteen hundred twenty-seven-s eighteen (1527-s18), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof.

"The board of supervisors shall require all contractors to give bond for the faithful performance of the contract, in such sum as the board of supervisors may deem necessary.

The surety of any bond given to guarantee the faithful performance and execution of any work shall be deemed and held, any contract to the contrary notwithstanding, to consent without notice:

To any extension of time to the contractor in which to perform the contract when each particular extension does not exceed sixty days:

To any change in the plans, specification or contract when such change does not involve an increase of more than twenty per cent of the total contract price, and shall be released only as to such excess increase.

No provision in a bond or contract shall be valid which seeks to limit the time to less than five years in which an action may be brought upon the bond covering concrete work, nor less than one year upon the bond covering other work. But such bond shall be valid for the period of time herein named and for such additional time as may be provided by the terms of the bond. Unless otherwise specifically stated, in contracts for the construction of bridges or culverts, it shall be the duty of the contractor to remove all obstructions to the waterway and render the same free from earth, weeds, brush or any other material which will in any manner prevent the free discharge of surface water."

SECTION 16. The contractor shall, as a part of the performance of the contract, provide and install the necessary notices, warnings, and barriers to protect travelers upon the public highway from dangers due to work in the process of construction. In cases where work is being done under the direct supervision of the board of supervisors, by day laborers, it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to provide such notices, warnings and barriers for the protection of the public and in all cases it shall be their duty to see that such notices, warnings and barriers for the protection of the public are in position. A plain warning sign of sufficient size to be easily read shall also be posted at the road crossing or corner on each side of said construction and nearest thereto, stating whether the road is entirely closed or partially closed, and indicating the detour to be made to avoid the obstruction. Any person who shall be guilty of removing or disturbing barriers placed by said contractors or by the county authorities, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00)."

SECTION 17. That section fifteen hundred seventy-one-m-thirty-two (1571-m32), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out all of lines three and four of said section and inserting the following in lieu thereof:

"Ninety-seven per cent of all moneys paid into the said treasury pursuant to the provisions of this act, less the running expenses of the motor vehicle department as hereafter specified, shall be apportioned among the several counties."

Also by striking out of line forty-five of said section the words "five per cent" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "three per cent" and by striking out of line forty-eight of said section the words "five per cent" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "three per cent." And that the said section be further amended by striking out all of said section following the period in the fifty-fourth line of said section, and by inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"At the end of each biennial period ending January first of odd numbered years, the funds remaining in the highway maintenance fund shall be placed to the credit of the motor vehicle fund. The salaries and actual running expenses, including the cost of number plates, stamps and other incidental expenditures of the automobile registration department, shall be paid out of the motor vehicle fund upon warrants drawn by the auditor of state upon the filing with the auditor, itemized vouchers covering the same and certified to by the secretary of state."

SECTION 18. From and after the taking effect of this act, members of the state highway commission, county engineers and assistants shall be subject to removal from office as provided in section twelve hundred and fifty-eight-b (1258-b), supplement to the code, 1913.

SECTION 19. Sections fifteen hundred twenty-seven-f (1527-f), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-g (1527-g), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-h (1527-h), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-i (1527-i), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-j (1527-j), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-k (1527-k), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-l (1527-l), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-m (1527-m), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-o (1527-o), fifteen hundred twenty-seven-q (1527-q), and fifteen hundred twenty-seven-r (1527-r), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same are hereby repealed.

SECTION 20. All acts, or parts of acts, in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

SECTION 21. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall be in full force and effect upon publication in the Des Moines Register, the Des Moines Capital, and the Des Moines Daily News, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

MR. SPEAKER—In explanation of my vote, I wish to state that personally I am opposed to this bill, House File No. 353, but, being absolutely convinced that a great majority of my constituents are in favor of abolishing the highway commission with its large powers and to honestly represent that majority, I vote "aye".

STANLEY R. SMITH.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER FILED.

MR. SPEAKER—I move to reconsider the vote by which House File No. 353 failed to pass the House.

RUBE McFERRIN.

I second the motion.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title was agreed to.

On motion of Weaver of Polk, Calendar No. 164, House File No. 116, a bill for an act to fix the method of estimating and determining the rate of tax required to be levied for any purpose authorized by law, to require such rate to be computed upon the adjusted valuation for the preceding calendar year, to require the certification of the amount of the required tax in dollars and not by rate, and to provide for the final adjustment of the rate by the county auditor to the adjusted valuation for the current year, with report of committee recommending passage as amended was taken up and considered.

Weaver of Polk offered the following amendments to the committee amendments:

I hereby move that the amendment by the committee on ways and means to House File No. 116, be amended as follows:

1st: By inserting in parenthesis, after the word "year" in the eighth line of section 2, the words "not including monies and credits and other monied capital taxed at a flat rate, as provided in section thirteen hundred ten (1310), supplement to the code, 1913."

2nd: By inserting after the word "year" in line six of section 3 of said amendment, the following words in parenthesis: "not including monies and credits and other monied capital taxed at a flat rate, as provided in section thirteen hundred ten (1310), supplement to the code, 1913."

3rd: By striking out the period at the end of section 3 of said amendment, inserting a comma in lieu thereof and adding thereafter the following words: "provided, however, that nothing herein shall be construed as interfering with the right of any taxing district to receive its due proportion of the taxes on monies and credits and other monied capital taxed at a flat rate as provided in section thirteen hundred ten (1310), supplement to the code, 1913."

4th: By striking out section 4 of said amendment and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 4. On the determination by the auditor of the necessary rates as herein directed, it is made his duty to enter a record of such rates for each taxing district upon the permanent records of his office in a book to be kept for that purpose."

5th: By striking out the period at the end of section 6 of said amendment, and inserting the following words at the end of said section 6: "after the taking effect of this act."

6th: By striking from section 7 of said amendment the following words, beginning in the sixth line of said section 7, to-wit: "and each county auditor shall send to the taxing officers in his county a copy of such instructions."

Rogers of Carroll moved that further action on House File No. 116 be deferred, that the bill retain its place on the calendar and that the amendments offered by Weaver of Polk be printed in the journal.

Motion prevailed.

On motion of Wenstrand of Page, Calendar No. 165, House File No. 159, a bill for an act to repeal the law as it appears in section twenty-two hundred forty-seven (2247) and twenty-three hundred eight (2308), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the levy of taxes for the support of the poor and insane and to provide for an additional levy in the general county fund, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Wenstrand moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION CONSIDERED.

Mantz of Audubon asked and obtained unanimous consent to consider at this time Senate concurrent resolution relative to the exchange of House and Senate calendars, and moved that the House concur:

Whereas, it is highly desirable that the presiding officers, secretaries, and members of each House of the present general assembly together with the newspaper reporters, should be furnished with the calendars of both Houses in order to be advised what measures are being considered from day to day by each House, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring: That the secretary of the Senate and chief clerk of the House be and they are hereby authorized and directed to each legislative morning lay upon the desks of the presiding officers and chief clerks of each House and the desk of each member of both Senate and House, together with the recognized newspaper reporters in each chamber, a copy of each of the Senate and House calendars.

Motion prevailed and the House concurred.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

Secretary Watters presented the following message from the Senate:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate File No. 274, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section sixteen hundred eighty-three-b (1683-b), of the supplement to the code, 1913, and to repeal section sixteen hundred eighty-three-k (1683-k) and section sixteen hundred eighty-three-l (1683-l), supplement to the code, 1913, and to enact a substitute therefor, relating to boards of supervisors granting aid to farm improvement associations, and repealing section sixteen hundred eighty-three-q (1683-q), supplement to the code, 1913.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title was agreed to.

Unanimous consent having been granted to consider at this time, on motion of Rowley of Van Buren, Calendar No. 266, House File No. 447, a bill for an act to provide for evening schools when necessary for adult persons or other persons, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Rowley moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now.

Rogers of Carroll moved that further action on House File No. 447 be deferred and that the bill retain its place on the calendar. Motion prevailed.

On motion of Meredith of Jasper, Calendar No. 179, House File No. 286, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a12 (1989-a-12), supplemental supplement, 1915, relating to the assessment of costs and damages on account of the construction of drainage improvements, and the apportionment thereof, with report of committee recommending passage was taken up and considered.

Unanimous consent having been granted to suspend the rules, Mr. Meredith moved that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

Ayes—97.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

I changed my vote from "no" to "aye" on Senate File No. 274 in order that I might file a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed as I do not believe there is any occasion for such legislation at this time as there is already a provision by which, by a majority vote of the people this tax may be levied.

A. L. RICHARDS.

MR. SPEAKER—In explanation of my vote on Senate File No. 274, I wish to say that I am far from being convinced that its enactment will result in anything beneficial to the farming interests as is claimed by its friends in this House, but inasmuch as the matter is left optional with the several boards of supervisors I am willing to leave the matter to their judgment, and therefore vote aye.

GEO. W. CROZIER.

MR. SPEAKER—I favor letting the people say whether or not they shall have a county agent and therefore vote "No" on Senate File No. 274, as the people can now have the agent if they so desire.

GEO. F. TUCKER.

On motion of McFarlane of Black Hawk the House adjourned until 1:15 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House reconvened, Speaker Pitt in the chair.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

The House resumed consideration of Calendar No. 189, House File No. 3.

On motion of Tucker of Clinton the committee amendments to House File No. 3, were taken up, considered and adopted.

Jones of Cerro Gordo offered the following amendment:

Amend House File No. 3 by striking out the words "or town" wherever the words appear in sections one and two, and insert in the first line of sections one and two in the place of the words "or town" the words "over twenty thousand inhabitants".

Lee of Sac offered the following amendment:

Amend the amendment to House File No. 3, offered by Jones of Cerro Gordo, by substituting "fifty thousand" for "twenty thousand" where the same appear in the amendment.

Starzinger of Polk offered the following amendment:

Amend House File No. 3 by adding thereto the following: "Provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to cities of a population of 50,000 and over."

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 19.

The hour having arrived for Special Order No. 19, on motion of Larson of Montgomery, House File No. 62, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section two hundred eight-a (208-a) supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the powers and duties of the governor and to the powers and duties of the attorney general by authorizing them to require the services of peace officers and to employ the services of other persons from time to time as such services may be required for the proper enforcement of the laws or the performance of their duties, and to prescribe the powers and duties of such officers, and to appropriate funds for their compensation and expenses, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up and considered.

The following substitute for House File No. 62 was offered by the committee on appropriations and was read the first and second times:

A bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section two hundred eight-a (208-a), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the powers and duties of the governor and to the powers and duties of the attorney general by authorizing them to require the services of peace officers and to employ the services of other persons from time to time as such services may be required for the proper enforcement of the laws or the performance of their duties, and to prescribe the powers and duties of such officers, and to appropriate funds for their compensation and expenses.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That the law as it appears in section two hundred eight-a (208-a), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto at the end thereof the following:

"10. Whenever, in the judgment of the governor or the attorney general, the interests of the state require it, they or either of them may call to their aid any peace officer in the state for the purpose of rendering assistance in procuring evidence, ferreting out crime, prosecuting law violators or otherwise enforcing the law and for such purposes they or either of them may also employ the services of any person, provided, however, that not to exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) shall be expended for the compensation and expenses of such officers or persons whose services are so required in any one year, which compensation and expenses shall be paid by the state from funds not otherwise appropriated. All items of expense incurred by any person appointed or employed by the governor shall be certified to by him, and all items of expense incurred by persons appointed or employed by the attorney general shall be certified to by him, and in either event claims for such expenses shall be passed upon by the board of audit."

SEC. 2. It is hereby made the duty of any peace officer of the state to comply with the request of the governor or that of the attorney general or either of them, and to render to either of them such assistance as may be required in any part of the state. Such peace officers when so called, or other persons when so appointed, shall have the same powers in any part of the state as the sheriff of the county in which such peace officer or person is acting.

SEC. 3. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall be in full force and effect upon its passage and publication in The Des Moines Register and The Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.
