LEGISLATIVE PHYSICIAN FOR THE DAY

Dr. James H. Coddington, Humboldt, Iowa.

OPENING REMARKS BY THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR done

Lieutenant Governor Neu addressed the Senate as follows:

In 1972, prior to the start of the Sixty-fourth General Assembly's Second Session, a few political observers even questioned the need for a session. In fact, the session adjourned after just 75 days, and it was the shortest session since 1882.

One newspaper editorialized, then, that "legislative leaders had given early adjournment a high priority at the session's start—so much so that it looked like accomplishment might be of slight concern."

I have yet to hear anyone suggest the lack of necessity for this year's session. Nor, unfortunately, can I prophesy a 75-day session for 1974.

There is much work to be accomplished this year. There are many substantive issues to be debated and voted upon. This notwithstanding, the legislative leadership is committed to the earliest adjournment date possible.

There certainly is no cause for me to present a long list of priority items. Governor Ray will present a thorough list of his recommendations tomorrow morning, in his State of the State message. And, based upon our several meetings with him, the legislative leadership undoubtedly will be in general accord with these recommendations.

I do want to take a few moments, however, to stress the depth of my feelings for a short session. In my judgment, a tradition of short second-year sessions is critical to the maintenance of a strong citizen legislature.

As you know, several states—California and New York among them—have moved toward professional legislatures. Those states have legislators who serve full-time and are paid accordingly.

However, as shown in a recent study by three California political scientists, such professionalism does not insure either efficiency or productivity. States like ours, still adhering to the tradition of citizen legislatures, have just as great, or greater, efficiency and productivity.

Legislating as an avocation rather than as a vocation is important. Were all of us here legislators only, our perspectives would be reduced greatly.

Rather, we are farmers, bankers, homemakers, business people, laborers and lawyers. And, as such, we bring to the General Assembly a wide range of ideas, values and interests. That is as it should be.

It was very discouraging for me in 1972 to see so many of my colleagues from both sides of the aisle retiring from legislative service. I sincerely hope that the same thing does not happen in 1974—and especially not because of two successive, long sessions.

In closing, let me simply make a plea for bipartisan cooperation. Traveling around the state these last few months, I have had many people comment to me about the bipartisanship and the harmoniousness of the first session.

Several of you, of course, already are candidates for higher office. And the temptation to score partisan points sometimes will be great. But please remember, cooperation across the aisle accomplishes far more—and instills far greater confidence in the public.

Besides, the fewer partisan speeches on the floor, the sooner we adjourn . . . and the sooner we adjourn, the more time for campaigning before the June 4th primary . . .

Thank you.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The following communication has been received from Serge H. Garrison, director of the Legislative Service Bureau:

Many legislators requested bill drafts to be prepared prior to the convening of the legislative session. The Legislative Service Bureau will be notifying all legislators whose bills are completed of such fact within the next day or two. It will take a day or two to clear the completed bills from the Bureau offices. If at all possible, legislators are requested to delay inquiries as to the status of bills for a day or two in order that completed bill drafts can be cleared from the offices of the Legislative Service Bureau and to prevent confusion which might result from so many inquiries at one time. Once the completed bills are cleared from the Legislative Service Bureau, it will be much easier to handle inquiries as to the status of other requests. Requests for additional bill drafts will be handled at any time.

"A study has been under way to determine, among other possible alternative actions, advisability of outright purchase of lands in the reservoir that are presently under easement. Additionally, we propose to initiate a complete and comprehensive re-study of the Coralville Lake in Fiscal Year 1974 as a part of our ongoing Iowa-Cedar River Basin Survey."

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 101 duly adopted, the Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate and the Sergeant-at-Arms.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and House Concurrent Resolution 101 duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Neu presiding.

Senator Lamborn moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed.

President Neu announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Shaff moved that a committee of six consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House be appointed to notify Governor Ray that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

The motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senators Rabedeaux, Coleman and Burroughs, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Fisher of Greene, Tofte and Cusack, on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Ray and escorted him to the Speaker's station. President Neu then presented Governor Ray, who delivered the following state of the state message:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Senators and Representatives, State Officials, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Before I begin my message, I would first like to pause for a moment in remembrance of one of your colleagues, Senator Vernon H. Kyhl, who served six sessions and was re-elected for two more. I think all us will remember this person as a very dedicated and devoted public servant. We will miss him.

When your predecessors of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly met in these chambers some sixty years ago, this beautiful State Capitol was surrounded by a great many old and unpainted shacks and buildings.

From the railroads below where hundreds of thousands of people passed by each month, only the dome was visible.

Big signs fronted this building on the west and the north—signs such as "Old Tavern Beer," "Twenty Mule Team Borax" and "Certainty Pancake Flour."

It was the Thirty-fifth General Assembly which acted to acquire more land for the Capitol grounds to clear the slums around this building, and as you can imagine, their act was controversial. The $3 million land acquisition program stirred opponents throughout this state. But the legislature went ahead.

Governor George W. Clarke, who had called for the program in his inaugural message, backed the legislators. In a speech defending their action, he said:

"But what must be said of a statesmanship that does not look into the future? We are yet laying foundations in this new world. They ought to be so laid that coming centuries can build thereon."

Governor Clarke was talking about buying a few acres of land around a building. But his words offer us an inspiration more than a half century later.

In my inaugural message a year ago, I reported to you that planning had begun for a Conference on Iowa—Iowa's Future—Iowa in the Year 2000. This enterprise is developing in accordance with your wishes through the joint resolution of the Sixty-fourth General Assembly.

Today I can tell you the "Iowa 2000" project is well underway. Many of you saw the stimulating television program devoted to "Iowa 2000" Sunday evening. In the next few weeks, thousands of our Iowa people will be meeting together, in small groups, to consider the kind of state they want to have during the remainder of this century.

This promises to be truly an exciting and significant effort. It will be much more than a series of meetings or a collection of documents. "Iowa 2000" can strengthen an awareness in each of us of the need to think about our future, about Iowa's future and to consider our actions today in the broad context of the years and the decades to come.

What is really significant as we look at the venture of "Iowa 2000" is not merely that some planning will be done, but that individual Iowans will be doing it.

And this is exceedingly healthy. A governmental system that is based on participation by its citizens can easily shrivel without it.

So often the simple truth can best be expressed by a young person:

A Waterloo eighth grader, Philip Gassman, summed up precisely the concept of "Iowa 2000" in a letter to me: "In order to make Iowa's future the best it can be, we will have to have everyone working together in the planning of it."

To intelligently consider the future, we must take inventory of the present. That brings me to the Condition of the State of Iowa this January 15, 1974.

We are living in an age when even predicting twelve months in advance is not easy—let alone trying to forecast the next two decades with accuracy.

Perhaps you have read the same newspaper editorial that came to my attention the other day. It reads:

"It is a gloomy moment in the history of our country. Not in the lifetime of most men has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time.

"The domestic economic situation is in chaos. Our dollar is weak throughout the world. Prices are so high as to be utterly impossible.

“The political cauldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty . . .

It is a solemn moment. Of our troubles no man can see the end.”

That editorial appeared in Harper's Weekly in 1857. Then, as now—to some—the problems of the day seemed insurmountable. But we have survived as a people and as a nation. And each year we have had new experiences which have helped prepare us to handle our next year's problems more wisely and better.

Even today as we are preoccupied with problems of inflation, the energy shortage, and an atmosphere of scandal and mistrust in Washington, let us not lose our perspective.

Little heralded in 1973 in the midst of all of these troubles was the fact that agriculture in Iowa . . . still the core of our economy . . . experienced record levels of production. Our economists report that cash value of farm marketings in Iowa is expected to place Iowa number one in the nation.

In the last twelve months, industrial development—the good kind—set a new record in Iowa creating more jobs and more capital investment than in any other year in our history.

Unemployment in Iowa in 1973 averaged less than 3 percent, the lowest in years and nearly half of the national average.

Increased earnings and income are reflected in a heartier financial condition of our state treasury.

But what of 1974? Economists were forecasting an economic slowdown for this year, even before the energy crisis became household words.

We remain in the midst of that chain of events that has not run its course. We are called upon to exercise foresight and be prepared to undertake our common tasks with a degree of creativity and skill, using our best judgment tempered with what caution is necessary.

You face a very exciting adventure. To succeed at it will earn you the respect of the people who sent you here. They sent you not to play games, but to do a hard job of work.

Already in this biennium you can point to a wide range of exceptionally important legislative accomplishments.

In your first session, the elderly and low income Iowans received an honest tax break. You continued our attack on property taxes; you supported a well-balanced educational system; you established a concept of community-based corrections; you expressed faith in young people by providing majority rights for them; you recognized the sacrifices of our Vietnam veterans; you enacted strong consumer protection legislation, and you gave us a tough new campaign finance law, just to name a few.

This background of achievement should give you confidence that this current session can also be tremendously productive.

The same constitutional section that requires the Governor to report to you on the Condition of the State also provided that he recommend such matters “as he shall deem expedient.”

This I will now do. Next Tuesday I will again address you relative to the issues of energy and transportation with some specific recommendations.

Let me say at the outset there is one thing everyone in this General Assembly can agree upon—and that is: we do have a surplus in the state treasury. The question to be asked—not only by you but by every citizen of this state—is: “How are we going to use it wisely?”

You will be handed the Comptroller’s Document entitled 1973-75 Governor’s Budget Supplement that will show at the end of this first year a balance of $154.2 million and at the end of the biennium, $64.4 million. Some people will think these estimates are too conservative; some will think they are overly optimistic. We believe they are realistic, not exaggerated.

I would like to insert a word of praise for some people who have worked very diligently to compile this information so that we can present recommendations and that is the State Comptroller, Marvin Selden, and his staff who have worked untold hours without rest.

This is also a good time to mention my small staff—these people do not know what a forty hour work week is and they too have worked many hours.

We are thankful for the real economic growth which has increased this balance above original projections. But there are two other influences on the total growth. One is inflation. The other is what we term “windfall revenue” caused by enormous surges in our economy during the year 1973.

As we look ahead to this session I would ask that you consider two “ifs.” First, what would we do, knowing the economy has produced this additional tax revenue, if we did not have annual sessions?

And, second, how could state government respond to inflationary pressures if we did not have this extra money?

The answer to both questions is obvious: state government could not fulfill its responsibilities and obligations to our citizens.

Fortunately, we do have this session—and, we do have additional revenue.

In preparing this budget supplement, we considered all kinds of suggestions for using this money. And I am sure many of them will also be made by you during this session. Some will have merit, like the concept of a stabilization fund. We believe, however, we are offering the wisest course with the projected funds available.

Those of you who have followed the budgets I have recommended since I have been Governor and who know my philosophy about government’s obligations and spending practices know that I believe first, in fulfilling the commitments government has made to people; second, in looking for ways to accomplish those projects of government without burdening our people with additional taxes; and third, in taking those steps to prevent government from spending more than is actually required to meet those needs and commitments.

This three-part philosophy is reflected in the recommendations I am making to you today on how Iowa can best benefit from this additional state revenue.

My budget calls for increasing the amount of state aid to local schools in order that school boards are in a position to meet the needs of teachers and other school employees hit by inflation. I would urge you to move quickly as these local boards look to you for leadership with spring contract time approaching.

We have also provided for additional salary help for our employees in the Regents institutions, area schools and state departments.

Our aim in this action is to give these people a cost of living allowance in the range of 6½ percent.

As difficult as it is, our state agencies are cooperating by absorbing non-payroll inflationary costs. But higher food and fuel costs at our state institutions are beyond any such capability and there must be an adjustment for these increases.

The viciousness of inflation particularly victimizes our elderly and our dependent children for whom government has a responsibility. My recommendations include a 6½ percent increase in the state aid programs that serve these people as well as additional funds for the care of the elderly receiving nursing and medical services.

I am also asking for an allocation to insure that there will be no loss of care and funding for old age recipients who are or might be adversely affected by the federal takeover of the old age benefit program.

We are covering possible losses of federal funds in the field of health sciences at our Regents institutions. These are the programs which you have endorsed previously as a priority need of this state—namely, an increase in the number of doctors, dentists, and nurses.

These budget considerations include agency appropriations that were not made for the second year of the biennium.

The next category of budget revisions I propose to you today are those of a one-time, non-recurring nature.

These are of two types: capital improvements for education, conservation and administration—and a special action to lift the 10 percent millage reduction limitation from our school aid plan.

Let me explain this second non-recurring expenditure first. Some school districts have not been able to realize all the decrease in the local tax millage from the school aid plan to which they are actually entitled. By applying $6 million to those districts affected, the full impact of the foundation aid program can be realized this year. With funds available, this is the fair thing to do.

Now to capitals.

Not only is it imperative that we make the capital improvements that are absolutely essential, it is important that we do it while the money is available. Otherwise, you would be asking our citizens to carry, unnecessarily, the burden of increased costs and additional interest expense for years into the future.

Moreover, in the case of such vital areas as conservation, we can ill afford to miss the chance to preserve our rich, God-given natural resources.

These capital expenditures also act as a safety valve in the event of a critical economic decline for they are one-time appropriations.

Let me list for you some of these items, not in any special order of priority:

Substantial funding for our conservation Open Spaces Program.

Funds to rapidly accelerate the completion of Iowa's present conservation and recreational plan and to acquire the land for a state-controlled resort-type lodge.

Funds to assure statewide coverage of our educational television network through installation of towers and transmitters.

The research coal mine.

A meat lab and architectural design center at Iowa State University and a power plant addition at the University of Iowa.

An appropriation for a new agricultural building and a supplement for the new state office building.

A long-needed addition to our liquor warehouse to provide space to handle increased sales and inventories.

Having shown you the ways we can meet the obligations state government should not ignore, I want to turn your attention to another responsibility we have to every citizen of this state who has contributed to this surplus.

Over the recent years, we have steadfastly sought to improve the fairness and the mixture of our basic tax structure.

In 1969 and 1970, we withstood pressures and demands to raise state taxes. In 1971, in spite of a downturn in the economy, we proposed and insisted that this state have a school aid formula that would check spiraling property taxes by shifting the burden of school support to more rapidly growing state taxes. While accomplishing this, the progressivity of the income tax was improved and an increase in sales tax and the imposition of a local income tax were avoided.

In 1972, property taxes levied in Iowa were actually less than the year before.

And last year, 1973, we lightened the property tax load by an average of 2 mills when the state assumed the basic local costs of welfare. We provided property tax relief to some 125,000 elderly homeowners and renters and eased the income tax for low income people. Again, we did not raise taxes!

Now the State of Iowa is in the enviable position of being able to remove the sales tax from food and prescription drugs without raising any other taxes to do it.

This is not simply a rebate or a political gimmick. This is substantive; it is real; it is helpful and if you follow my budget, it can be done.

Here is what I can also see that is so important about this. Iowa state government can now effectively exist without requiring a tax on something as fundamental as food and prescription drugs. And this money that government does not collect is money that government will not spend.

There are other attainable goals to be accomplished this session. As you know, there is no way to include in this message all pieces of legislation that will be worthy of your deliberation, but there are some I want to mention.

A DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION—How often in recent days have you heard people—legislators and others—say we need to do something for railroad passenger or freight service; or that certain communities can't get along without mass transit; or that our grain backs up at the Mississippi River because we can't move it quickly enough; or that we have too many highways or not enough highways; or that we should find a way to save our branch line railroads; or that we should have longer and heavier trucks.

Even though much of this conversation is prompted by the energy crisis, much of the problem has long been foreseeable. While we have outstanding individuals who have devoted their time and knowledge and effort in coping with our transportation problems, we still are void of a structure to give us what this state needs.

Much of what we can only talk about doing today in transportation could already be happening had action been taken four years ago, or three years ago, or two years ago, or even last year. It wasn't, but it can be. Please—don't pass up the opportunity again.

55 MPH SPEED LIMIT—Notwithstanding my energy message next week, I must bring to your attention at this time the need for immediate passage of a 55 MPH speed limit. This will bring us in compliance with federal legislation and prevent the loss of federal highway funds. Instead of fighting and resisting this action, realize it is not for convenience but for the conservation of energy. Jobs can be protected and crops can be planted with fuel saved by this move.

LAND USE POLICY—In 1972, the Iowa legislature enacted the nation's first soil conservancy law. Many of you were here, pioneering the concept that our land, though held privately, is still a public trust. Now, after careful legislative study, take the next step by establishing a commission for effective land use planning.

HOUSING AUTHORITY—Iowans are among the best housed people in the world, but there are also those among us who simply do not have a place to go. Many poor, elderly and handicapped have fallen through the gap between what is offered by private enterprise and federal government. Iowa should have a Housing Authority to fill this void. It is needed. We can have it if you will support this move.

CRIMINAL CODE REVISION—It has been five years since your committee began the huge task of recodifying our criminal statutes. Though portions of this effort are certain to provoke controversy, now is the time to tackle it—point by point if need be.

SPECIAL EDUCATION—Isn't it enough that a youngster be handicapped—mentally, physically or both—let alone never have a chance for education, or training or to learn and to live? Let us not be a party to further penalizing these human beings. You will have before you a proposal to modernize our delivery system for special education. It will make available to these young people, whoever they might be and wherever they might live, an opportunity to learn and be recognized as someone who belongs. Debate it, however long it takes, but pass it.

UNIFORM CONSUMER CREDIT CODE—Much work has been done by your committee on the Uniform Consumer Credit Code. It is clear the present statute is too restrictive. I would support your umbrella approach, but I have concluded the argument is not strong enough to risk an unlimited ceiling for the interest charged in retail credit. The use of retail credit is not a visible, tangible commodity like hardware or clothing where quality and price are easily compared.

WORKABLE BIDDING LAW—Iowa State government has been successfully operating under a bidding law that assures openness and fair play in the expenditure of public funds. A similar law would work equally well for local governments and protect against abuses and conflicts of interest. I recommend that such a reasonable bidding law be enacted.

INVESTMENT IN MEDICAL SERVICE—It is quite apparent Iowa needs more family doctors. The Iowa University Medical School has a family practice program. Given enough time, it will hopefully produce more doctors for Iowa, but it is not enough of a solution to meet immediate needs. The Iowa Osteopathic School is training doctors who can provide medical service in many of our communities—particularly in our rural areas. A wise investment will be to offer financial incentives to this school for graduates who establish their practices in Iowa. Implementation for this is included in the budget.

HOME RULE—A recent district court decision has clouded the intent of the constitutional Home Rule Amendment adopted by the people of Iowa. This decision is being appealed but I suggest that you originate a corrective constitutional amendment in this session to avoid several years of delay. In the event of a favorable Supreme Court decision later, follow-up action by the next General Assembly won't be necessary.

NO FAULT INSURANCE—With the turn of recent events, insurance companies are enjoying increased margins between premiums and claims. This would be an ideal time for companies to include first-party coverage for medical expense and loss-of-earnings payments regardless of who is at fault in an accident. This can be done—and should be—without curtailing a victim's rights to recover from a wrongdoer. I, therefore, urge you to require such first-party coverage.

COUNTY SPENDING LIMITS—I encourage you to proceed with your local funding committee's proposal to combine forty-two funds now identified in county budgets into five basic funds. Most money spent by county government falls into three classes; secondary roads, county general, and human resources. Flexibility of such an improved structure would increase efficiency within spending limitations and allowable growth.

I have gone into some detail with the proposals I just made to you.

In the interest of time I shall not do that with a number of others that I also believe need your consideration and favorable action.

Please understand that because they are not explained more fully in this message does not mean they lack importance. In a number of cases I have spoken and repeatedly asked for their passage.

In others, the arguments are well-known to members of this body or they need little additional explanation. They include:

- Collective Bargaining for public employees.
- A commission to consider minimum standards and outline the orderly development of cable TV.
- A redefinition of personal property for tax purposes.
- Upgrading standards for elevator safety and inspection.
- A law to require mobile home tie-down.
- Construction of a new Law Enforcement Academy building.
- Combining the two existing agencies dealing with problems of alcoholism.
- Functional classification of roads.
- A property tax break for people who improve their homes.
- Public representation on our professional licensing boards.
- Strengthening the Civil Rights Commission with the power of subpoena, subject to court approval.
- Supporting the momentum we have started to provide library services in our seven regions.
- Amending Iowa's new Sunday liquor sales and gambling laws to conform to legislative intent.
- Permitting sales of liquor in franchised private outlets in our smaller communities in lieu of establishing state-owned facilities.
- Broadening the scope of Iowa's successful industrial revenue bond law to extend its benefits to agricultural-related industries and warehousing.
- Authorizing the Commerce Commission to prevent a second utility rate increase from being put in under bond while a first increase is already pending.

—Tightening Iowa's securities law on intra-state sales.

No doubt you will also be discussing such things as additional legislation that might be needed in the field of child abuse or day care services and standards.

In addition, you will have before you the Department of Social Services' recommendations on reorganization in response to the law you passed last session. As you analyze and evaluate their proposals, I would ask that you work in concert with the Department of Social Services.

My experience tells me there are those of the legislature and the press who like to keep a check list. If you do, you might be interested to know that we have counted forty-four specific points in this legislative program. There will be several more in the message next Tuesday.

You and I have something in common and something for which we can be very thankful and grateful. That is, we have been asked by some of the greatest people in the world to represent them.

These people, our constituents, have one major overriding concern about their government at all levels. If you were to say it is taxes, you would be wrong, though—indeed—this is a big concern. The issues of energy, inflation, environment, drug abuse, law enforcement, education and human rights are all extremely important. But none of these, as much as they deserve our attention, can be said to be number one in the minds of our people.

When it comes to government, the issue most concerning our people today involves the basic element of trust and confidence.

In the same constitution which requires the Governor to deliver this message is a section in the article that deals with the Legislative branch and I quote it in part to you: "The doors of each House shall be open . . ."

There is much more than a literal meaning in this section. It tells us our forefathers understood straightforwardness, sincerity, and openness.

Today these qualities are more needed than ever before.

In order for people to believe in their government, they must first believe in their own ability to influence the kind of government they receive.

Our people do not clamor for radical changes in our system, what they want is performance from the system we have.

The solutions to the problems we face as a state aren't going to come from the grandstander or the shouter. They will come from knowledgeable people who understand the meaning of decency, courtesy, cooperation and honesty.

Yours can be the leadership that draws our people to problem-solving efforts that will take us into the Year 2000 and that will make our young people living here today want to live here in the Year 2000.

Above all, you can help lead our people by telling them the truth and entrusting them with it.

Governor Robert Ray was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

On motion of Representative Holden, the joint convention was dissolved.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed regular session, President Neu presiding.

On motion of Senator DeKoster, the Senate recessed until the fall of the gavel.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Senate reconvened, President Neu presiding.

The following communication has been received and placed on file in the office of the Secretary of the Senate from:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

A copy of Senate Resolution 4, adopted by the Senate of Texas on December 18, 1973, memorializing the Congress of United States that constructive action by the federal government is needed to deal with both short and long range energy problems and calling on those states whose legislatures, regulatory agencies and environmentalists have effectively prevented offshore drilling for oil and gas, construction of petrochemical plants, refineries and offshore terminals, to redirect their attention toward positive approaches to the solution of the energy problem, such as exploration off the east and west coasts, including the Santa Barbara Channel, which contains oil reserves of hundreds of millions of barrels.

- S. F. 1034 State government

MOTION TO RECONSIDER

MR. PRESIDENT: I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate File 1026 passed the Senate.

JAMES W. GRIFFIN, SR.

EXPLANATIONS OF VOTES

MR. PRESIDENT: I was absent from the Senate chamber on Thursday, January 17, testifying at a congressional hearing at Maquoketa, Iowa, with respect to the cattle prices.

Had I been present, I would have voted "Nay" on Senate File 1013. My reason for opposing this bill is based on principle. I object to the Federal Government using our share of the Highway Trust Fund as a leverage to secure state legislation.

JAMES F. SCHABEN

MR. PRESIDENT: I voted "Nay" on Senate File 606 because it limits benefits to an employee who loses both eyes, or both extremities, and for the further reason that benefits for total permanent disability "may" instead of "shall" be extended. I did not notice the latter point until the vote on Senate File 606 was in progress and I would recommend the House consider an amendment substituting "shall" for "may" with respect to same.

TOM RILEY

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Senator Schwieger submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee on human resources to which was referred House File 388, a bill for an act relating to public employee leave of absence with pay, begs leave to report it has had the same under consideration and recommends the same do pass.

BARTON L. SCHWIEGER, Chairman

Ordered passed on file.

President Neu took the chair at 9:55 a.m.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 102, duly adopted, the Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate and the Sergeant-at-Arms.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 102, duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Neu presiding.

Senator Lamborn moved that the roll call be dispensed with and the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed.

President Neu declared a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Lamborn moved that a committee of six consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House be appointed to notify Governor Ray that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

The motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senators Shaw, Taylor and Doderer, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Bortell, Hill and Carr, on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Ray and escorted him to the Speaker's station. President Neu then presented Governor Ray, who delivered the following special message on energy and transportation:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Senators and Representatives, State Officials, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The theme of this message today revolves around the two words that have taken on more importance to our people in the last year than many ever thought possible.

They are "energy" and "transportation."

Especially energy. Seldom is the word used alone. Usually it is part of a phrase such as energy shortage, or energy situation, or energy dislocation, or—most familiar of all—energy crisis.

Whatever terminology you choose . . . it still describes the same fact: a complex, new problem for our people and for our government.

It cannot be ignored. You will not wish it away. You will not debate it out of existence. It is real. It is here. It is serious. And it is going to be with us for some time.

It is true you can stand on the floor of this General Assembly, as some of you already have, and debate whether there is enough oil or gasoline in this country or some other country. You can question the extent and the present severity or who is to blame.

You can say what you think, you can declare what you believe, you can argue what you suspect.

And while you argue about what you think, you let opportunities pass that you should know can help solve the problems.

It is a little like the doctor who warns his patient that he has a heart condition and his days could be limited if he does not now reduce or alter his present pattern of living.

Only a very foolish person would stand and argue with the doctor, particularly after the patient has felt a few sharp pains in the chest.

We have felt a few pains already in our energy supplies.

On January 11, 1973—a year ago—I told this General Assembly in my inaugural message: "Today we are getting a glimpse into not only Iowa's future, but our country's future as we face a very genuine fuel crisis. It is clearly a warning. Our energy resources are limited; they are rapidly becoming exhausted. This country will have to become as conscious of energy management in the 1970's as we became environmentally conscious in the 1960's."

The fuel oil shortage we faced and successfully dealt with in this state last winter was an early warning . . . a symptom something was wrong.

We are being warned again. The latest pang in the nation's chest is the pinch of gasoline and heating oil supplies, aggravated by the Middle East oil embargo.

Iowa's emergency pool—the first ever set up by any state government—has already this season distributed more than five million gallons of heating oil to Iowans in 155 communities who otherwise would have had to do without.

And since December 1, some 2,000 Iowans have been put out of work because of energy shortages.

That you debate the validity of the energy crisis should not surprise me. For your questions reflect the bewilderment in the minds of thousands of Iowans and people all over this country.

Even so, I can report to you that there has been excellent cooperation in state government with the Executive Order I signed November 9 which officially put energy conservation measures into effect.

And, the voluntary response from Iowans to my Energy Proclamation has been tremendous.

People have turned down their thermostats, turned lights off and driven at slower speeds.

Chambers of Commerce, local governments, labor unions, and individual business firms all around this state have joined the effort, a great many without a lot of fanfare or publicity.

The news media, clubs and civic organizations have pitched in to promote and practice cutting energy waste.

Our educators, and especially our young people, have devoted much time, both in and out of the classroom, to energy awareness and savings.

We have not asked anyone to get rid of their cars or stop heating their homes or close their businesses. What we have asked is sensible energy conservation. This activity has been more than just talk. It has been working.

Ironically, conservation has led to some of the skepticism we have today. The voluntary response has actually kept the situation from being as bad as it might otherwise have been. And the weather has been a big factor, particularly the mild winter up to the first of the year.

Some wonder if Washington has been crying wolf. Several months ago I was advised by federal energy chief William Simon that the government forecast was intentionally made the bleakest it could be in event that the Mideast embargo would be totally effective, the weather would be particularly severe and voluntary energy conservation would not take hold.

So, while it might have been worse, that does not mean we still don't have a problem. Now is no time to walk away from it.

In the President's energy message to the nation Saturday, he quoted Winston Churchill who was asked during World War II: "Why is England fighting Hitler?"

Churchill replied: "If we stop, you will find out."

Now is no time for us to stop, not even to pause.

I compliment the Senate for its quick action to lower speed limits. I was disappointed to see that the House deferred action.

I heard some of the debate. It is one thing to defy the Congress, and to stand up and say you don't want the federal carrot, it is another thing to have the good sense to realize the time has come to conserve gasoline—to travel at slower speeds.

Let me give an example of what conservation with slower speeds can mean. In one month's time reducing average driving speed from 70 to 55 m.p.h. in Iowa could conserve 24 million gallons of gasoline. That's as much as it takes to plant and harvest 2.5 million acres of corn. Translated into other forms of energy, this is enough to provide heat for an entire winter for 12,900 average-sized Iowa homes.

But you might say that everyone doesn't drive all the time at that speed. O.K. So cut the figures in half. It's still a lot of gallons, a lot of acres and a lot of homes.

As well as saving gasoline, there could well be another special benefit—the saving of lives.

On October 31, the 1973 traffic death toll was running ahead of the death rate for the same months in 1972. By December 31, after two months of voluntary slowdown, traffic deaths in Iowa were sixty-four fewer than in 1972.

So far in 1974 there has been a drop in the fatality rate compared to the same period last year of ten deaths—or one life saved every other day.

There is no danger in cutting the speed limits; there is considerable risk in not doing it.

Many would dismiss the entire energy crisis as nothing more than a conspiracy. Don't do that.

America's petroleum energy demand is presently at 18 million barrels a day. We produce 11 million barrels a day to fill that need domestically; the balance must come from imports. It is projected now that foreign imports will fall short by 2.7 million barrels a day in the first three months of this year.

Senator William Proxmire, who has about as much affection for Standard Oil as Ralph Nader has for General Motors, held lengthy hearings, with witnesses ranging from oil company executives to outspoken consumer advocates. Listen to Proxmire's conclusion:

"We have a genuine shortage. No question of that."

This does not mean to say there might not have been or might not be any conspiracy among major oil suppliers.

Senator Proxmire believes it should be investigated. We believe it should be investigated. Dr. Sam Tuthill even testified for us before the federal Oil Policy Hearing Committee as early as June 13, 1973, urging that the possibility of conspiratorial action in oil supplies and prices be investigated. We have offered to assist in any way we can the Attorney General of the United States in any such investigation.

Some argue the crisis will soon be over as we develop new energy sources. They shouldn't.

Many pin their hopes on the Alaskan pipeline. Even if all goes well, construction will take five years. And the proven reserves of oil in the northern slopes could only satisfy America's total petroleum appetite for nineteen months.

Some look to the day when we will harness the sun and the tides, draw power from nuclear breeder reactors or from the heat deep in the earth.

No doubt all of this may take place—years from now. These are long-range answers.

What we have an opportunity to do in Iowa is find a middle-range solution.

I am submitting to you a proposal that the State of Iowa establish, purchase, and operate an experimental research coal mine.

We believe it will be possible to develop the necessary knowledge to demonstrate that Iowa's vast coal reserves can be profitably mined, marketed and used to produce a great source of energy without creating adverse effects on Iowa's air, our water, and, of course, on our rich natural resource, Iowa's topsoil.

This is an exciting project. We should undertake it rather than shy away because it is new or different or because we hope the federal government might someday get around to it.

Today, Iowa gets from outside of the state 98.2 percent of all the energy we consume. In years ahead we see an opportunity for Iowa to become a producer of energy. This would not only make us more self-sufficient in energy, but would revitalize an industry and keep in Iowa many dollars we will be spending for energy.

We achieved the status we enjoy in agriculture today because we were not afraid to be innovative. We can also be innovative in energy development.

I want to propose another measure to deal with the immediate energy situation.

For over a year now we have utilized on energy projects the services of people such as Maurice Van Nostrand, Chairman of the Commerce Commission; Dr. Sam Tuthill, State Geologist, and Don Hinman, Director of Civil Defense. These people and their staffs have worked around the clock to see that Iowans are not frozen out of their homes, are not stranded on a highway, and that farmers have fuel to harvest their crops. This work is not a part of their normal job descriptions.

Not only have these people become experts in this complex interdependent field, but they are recognized in Washington and all around this country as leaders in the new business of energy management.

There is a limit to what they can do without help.

Heretofore, Iowa has been a leader and an innovator in meeting the emergencies. Now, however, the federal government has stepped into the picture.

We are confronted with a multitude of rules, regulations and policies as well as changes in federal laws. Where we once had responsibility for heating oil only, the state now must take on the additional chores of allocating limited gasoline, propane and heavy residual oil supplies.

Should gasoline rationing occur, we have been told that the state will play a major role in administering it.

In addition, the changes in the many facets of energy management are happening so swiftly it would be impossible to run to the legislature with a proposed bill each each time something new happens.

We need a mechanism with sufficient authority to respond to necessary changes. That authority, I believe, would be best exercised by a Council heading an Iowa Office of Energy Management—an office not to continue a day beyond its usefulness.

I recommend that this be an eleven-member Council consisting of the State Geologist, the Comptroller, the Director of Civil Defense, the Chairman of the Commerce Commission, the Director of the Department of Environmental Quality, four members of the General Assembly and two additional public representatives.

This Council will be charged with the responsibility to develop energy policies.

It will administer the state reserves under the federal mandatory fuel allocation program.

It will handle the gasoline rationing program if one is imposed.

It will give this state an office to coordinate and develop the many energy programs and to tie together research—including inquiry into possible conspiratorial practices.

This office can also work toward and encourage the use of energy efficient modes of transportation.

I ask that you establish this Office of Energy Management.

In my budget supplement that I presented to you one week ago, you might have noticed we provided $4.5 million from the General Fund for special energy and transportation needs.

This breaks down into the following recommendations for your action:

1. $1.3 million so that we can begin now to upgrade branch railroad lines instead of merely talking about it.
2. $1 million for railroad freight subsidy projects knowing that it is possible to move material by rail with less than one-third the amount of fuel it takes to move the same goods over highways.
3. $1.8 million to encourage development of mass transit and other energy-efficient people-moving systems in Iowa and railroad passenger subsidy possibilities.
4. $400,000 to fund the energy management programs and office and to cover original costs for the establishment of a Department of Transportation.

Much of this work could be done in a Department of Transportation—when we have one. Once a Department of Transportation is established, those special efforts relating to transportation would be transferred to it. In the meantime they can be administered by the Office of Energy Management.

Let me again re-emphasize to you that a Department of Transportation is urgently needed in Iowa. You can provide for it this session.

A Department of Transportation is not offered as a panacea. It is proposed as a realistic, rational approach to doing something about transportation needs in this state. If you want to do something about using our navigable streams; if you want to do something about retention and revitalization of Iowa's railroads; if you want to do something about maintaining and building highways where they are needed, then the right way is through a DOT.

If you want to think about Amtrak, about the location of our airports and the need for mass transit, then I hope you, too, will support a Department of Transportation.

If we are serious about a balanced transportation system in Iowa, then the next logical step is a DOT. But let us not kid anyone. Iowa is a highway state with a relatively small population spread over a broad area. We still need cars; we still depend heavily on trucks; and we will continue to need a reliable system of roads and highways.

You can quickly see the practical need for a Department of Transportation when you look at just a few of the hard questions you face this session. One is truck length.

We have given considerable thought to the possible energy savings that might be realized by permitting longer or heavier trucks—or both—on Iowa's highways. Claims of energy efficiency must be balanced against additional stress on our roads, traffic congestion, safety factors, and availability of fuel.

We can see some value to both Iowa industry and to energy efficiency if additional length only could be utilized by trucks originating at, or destined to, points in Iowa.

But what has been proposed by some is longer trucks—and by other heavier trucks—to travel across Iowa as a bridge state on a highway—Interstate 80—that we are told is already over-traveled and suffering from excessive wear and tear.

Using trucking industry figures, a length increase would bring another 95,000 big trucks across Iowa each year on a road that was built with 90 percent federal funds, but which is now maintained at Iowa's expense.

Truck traffic across Iowa is presently increasing about 11 percent a year. This statistic, coupled with the prospect of still another 95,000 trucks, raises the vital questions of how we could possibly tolerate the additional traffic on the roads and stretch Iowa's limited allocation of motor fuel.

We are talking about fuel that could well be taken away from Iowans; particularly fuel that might be taken away from farmers necessary to plant their crops next spring.

The longer trucks coming into the commercial zones of our border cities do not pose the problems I have just discussed with you. Therefore, this is a reasonable proposal.

Another hard question is revenue to our road fund.

I have consistently opposed the use of taxes or non-cost related price increases of oil products to force people to use less. This, of course, is different from legitimate user taxes necessary for reasonable construction, repairs and maintenance of roads.

I know one of your committees has recommended an increase in fuel taxes. This seems premature without knowing what the road use revenue is doing. So far, monthly receipts into the road use fund have actually been increasing, indicating there may be a shift taking place in energy use. Conservation of heating fuels, for example, may very well be freeing more fuel for transportation even though demand still exceeds supply.

Also, before any such raise, our people should know we first have established a Department of Transportation so there will be assurance that their contributions to revenue will be used most wisely.

When it comes to the energy problem, there is no one who has all the answers. At the same time there isn't anyone who can't do something about solving it.

The majority of our Iowans are responding positively in helping get through this emergency period.

They will be willing to follow you in your positions of public leadership if you too will respond and follow through in an equally positive fashion.

How often have you heard people use the word "they" in reference to those who make decisions.

When you think about it, that is symptomatic of our present condition. There is a temptation to shrug off responsibility by saying "they" take the action or "they" should solve the difficulty.

The answers to our energy problems will not all come easily, nor will they all come cheaply or quickly.

Fortunately, in Iowa, our people are much more willing to do what we ourselves can do rather than wait for the leadership to come from somebody else.

"They" alone won't solve our problems. "We" will.

On motion of Representative Holden, the joint convention was dissolved.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed regular session, President Neu presiding.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE
 REPORT OF THE SUPREME COURT IN THE MATTER OF THE RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

To the 1974 Regular Session of the Sixty-fifth General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Pursuant to Sections 684.18 and 684.19, Code 1973, the Supreme Court of Iowa has prescribed and hereby reports to the General Assembly changes in the existing Rules of Civil Procedure as follows:

Rule 9. ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST THE STATE.

That Rule 9 be amended by striking the following sentence:

"It may be sued as provided by any statutes in force at the time."

Rule 49. TOLLING LIMITATIONS.

That Rule 49 be stricken and the following substituted:

"49. TOLLING LIMITATIONS. For the purpose of determining whether an action has been commenced within the time allowed by statutes for limitation of actions, whether the limitation inheres in the statutes creating the remedy or not, the following shall be deemed a commencement of the action, to-wit:

(a) The delivery of the original notice to the sheriff of the proper county with the intent that it be served immediately (which intent shall be presumed unless the contrary appears).

(b) The filing of the original notice with the Secretary of State as provided in Section 617.3 provided that service is completed as required by said section.

(c) The filing of the original notice with the commissioner of public safety as provided by Section 321.498 provided that service is completed as provided in said section."

RULE 56. PERSONAL SERVICE.

That Rule 56 be amended by adding the following:

"(n) If service cannot be made by any of the methods provided by this rule, any defendant may be served as provided by Court Order, consistent with due process of law."

Rule 68. ALLOWABLE PLEADINGS.

That Rule 68 be stricken and the following substituted:

"68. ALLOWABLE PLEADINGS. There shall be a petition and an answer; a reply to a counterclaim denominated as such; an answer to a cross-claim, if the answer contains a cross-claim; a third-party petition, if a person who was not an original party is summoned under the provisions of Rule 34; and a third-party answer, if a third-party petition is served."

Rule 73. REPLY.

That Rule 73 be stricken and the following substituted:

"73. REPLY. The court may order a reply to an answer or a third-party answer."

Rule 82. FILING, COPIES, DELIVERY.

That Rule 82 be stricken and the following substituted:

"82. SERVICE AND FILING OF PLEADINGS AND OTHER PAPERS.

(a) WHEN SERVICE REQUIRED. Everything required by these rules to be filed, every order required by its terms to be served, every pleading subsequent to the original petition unless the court otherwise orders because of numerous defendants, every paper relating to discovery required to be served upon a party unless the court otherwise orders, every written motion other than one which may be heard ex parte, and every written notice, appearance, demand, offer of judgment, designation of record on appeal, and similar paper shall be served upon each of the parties. No service need be made on parties in default for failure to appear except that pleadings asserting new or additional claims for relief against them shall be served upon them in the manner provided for service of original notice in Rule 56.

In an action begun by seizure of property, in which no person need be or is named as defendant, any service required to be made prior to the filing of an answer, claim, or appearance shall be made upon the person having custody or possession of the property at the time of its seizure.

(b) SAME: HOW MADE. Service upon a party represented by an attorney shall be made upon the attorney unless service upon the party himself is ordered by the court. Service upon the attorney or upon a party shall be made by delivering a copy to him or by mailing it to him at his last known address or, if no address is known, by leaving it with the clerk of court. Delivery of a copy within this rule means: handing it to the attorney or to the party; or leaving it at his office with his clerk or other person in charge thereof; or, if there is no one in charge, leaving it in a conspicuous place therein; or, if the office is closed or the person to be served has no office, leaving it at his dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein. Service by mail is complete upon mailing.

(c) SAME: NUMEROUS DEFENDANTS. In any action in which there are unusually large numbers of defendants, the court, upon motion or of its own initiative, may order that service of the pleadings of the defendants and replies thereto need not be made as between the defendants and that any cross-claim, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense contained therein shall be deemed to be denied or avoided by all other parties and that the filing of any such pleading and service thereof upon the plaintiff constitutes due notice of it to the parties. A copy of every such order shall be served upon the parties in such manner and form as the court directs.

(d) FILING. All papers after the petition required to be served upon a party shall be filed with the court either before service or within a reasonable time thereafter. Whenever these rules require a filing within a certain time said filing shall be deemed timely if service is made within said time and filing is completed within a reasonable time thereafter.

(e) FILING WITH THE COURT DEFINED. The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court as required by these rules shall be made by filing them with the clerk of the court, except that the judge may permit the papers to be filed with him, in which event he shall note thereon the filing date and forthwith transmit them to the office of the clerk.

(f) NOTICE OF ORDERS OR JUDGMENTS. Immediately upon the entry of an order or judgment the clerk shall serve a notice of the entry by mail in the manner provided for in Rule 82 upon each party who is not in default for failure to appear, and shall make a note in the docket of the mailing. Such mailing is sufficient notice for all purposes for which notice of the entry of an order is required by these rules; but any party may in addition serve a notice of such entry in the manner provided in Rule 82 for the service of papers. Lack of notice of the entry by the clerk does not affect the time to appeal or relieve or authorize the court to relieve a party for failure to appeal within the time allowed, except as permitted in Rule 335(a).

(g) PROOF OF SERVICE: Proof of service of all papers required or permitted to be served, shall be filed in the Clerk's office promptly, and, in any event, before action is to be taken thereon by the court or the parties. The proof shall show the time and manner of service and may be by written acknowledgment of service, by certification of a member of the bar of this state, by affidavit of the person who served the papers, or by any other proof satisfactory to the court."

Rule 83. FAILURE TO FILE COPIES.

That Rule 83 be stricken and the following substituted:

"83. ENLARGEMENT; ADDITIONAL TIME AFTER SERVICE BY MAIL.

The motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senators Miller of Marshall, Bergman and Scott, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Crabb, Crawford and Higgins, on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Senator McCartney and escorted him to the Speaker's station. President Neu then presented

Senator McCartney who addressed the joint convention as follows:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Distinguished Members of the General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am again deeply honored, as I was last year, to be asked to speak to this joint assembly on the occasion of the one hundred sixty-fifth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth President of our Country.

I don't lightly undertake this task because lip service simply won't do—we are commemorating the birth of a giant of intellect and integrity and courage.

Carl Sandburg was a towering poet, a giant in American letters and a scholar of the first order. Sandburg said of Lincoln:

“Not often in the story of mankind does a man arrive on earth who is both steel and velvet, who is as hard as rock and soft as drifting fog, who holds in his heart and mind the paradox of terrible storm and peace unspeakable and perfect.”

Mark Van Doren, the playwright, said much the same thing:

“To me (said Van Doren) Lincoln seems, in some ways, the most interesting man who ever lived. He was gentle but this gentleness was combined with terrific toughness, an iron strength.”

What was there about Lincoln that has laid such hold on men's hearts and minds down through the years.

Common people the world over have seen in Lincoln the same struggler that they themselves were and are—nothing ever came easy for Lincoln. He struggled through ignorance and brutal frontier life, through lack of education and of family, he struggled to make his living, he struggled with his deep depressions that were sometimes so massive as to be almost manic; he struggled with the death of his beloved sons and he finally was left to face, alone, the greatest struggle the greatest country in the world ever endured. And throughout, this gentle man never lost his deep-seated compassion, his humor, his innate decency and modesty.

He told a person assigned to write his campaign biography—“You can tell it all with one line from Gray's Elegy—‘The short and simple annals of the poor’.” He distributed political handbills that read “I am humble Abraham Lincoln”.

As Sandburg says—“In the mixed shame and blame of the immense wrongs of two crashing civilizations, often with nothing to say he said nothing, slept not at all, and on occasions he was seen to weep in a way that made weeping appropriate, decent, majestic.”

At Gettysburg he spoke of “the brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far beyond our poor power to add or detract.” He did not refer to northern dead or southern dead, but to the brave men, living or dead.

But as I said a year ago, most of what Lincoln was and thought and believed is reflected in his own words—and his words transcend time and space and appear as fresh today as they did more than 100 years ago and with as much immediacy now as then. And they still lay hold of the hearts and minds of us who live in what he called "the last best hope on earth". And it is in his thoughts that people have come to know and revere him.

John Buchan, later Lord Tweedsmuir, told the American people—"In the merchantry of words we sold you Shakespeare and you have repaid us with Lincoln."

In his first inaugural address he said to the north and south—"We are not enemies but friends—We must not be enemies—Though passion may have strained, it must not break the bonds of our affection."

He said to a crowd: "I have not willingly planted a thorn in any man's bosom".

He wrote: "I shall do nothing through malice; what I deal with is too vast for malice."

His military communications to his generals made them despair. To Joe Hooker he wrote "I would not take any risk of being entangled upon the river, like an ox jumped half over a fence and liable to be torn by dogs front and rear without a fair chance to gore one way or kick the other." Again to Hooker (Hooker gave him considerable trouble) he wrote: "If the head of Lee's army is at Martinsburg and the tail of it on the plank road between Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, the animal must be slim somewhere. Could you not break him?"

He apologized to Grant—He wrote him "When you crossed at Grand Gulf and Bayou I thought you should turn south and join Banks but you went north along the Big Black; you were right and I was wrong." He did however offer advice to Grant: "Hold on with a bull-dog grip and chew and choke as much as possible."

He was sometimes perplexed by his successful generals; to Grant he wrote: "General Sheridan says 'If the thing be pressed I think Lee will surrender.' Well, let the thing be pressed."

Sandburg compares Lincoln to an ancient psalmist when he warned Congress: "We cannot escape history. We will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generation."

And again he met with Congress: "The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate for the stormy present. We must think anew, we must act anew, we must disenthral ourselves."

Lincoln gave a speech in Illinois that is occasionally referred to as the "lost speech"—and it is called that because newsmen covering the speech became so caught up in his words that as he progressed they laid down their pencils in order to better follow, and in so doing did not record it all.

I believe that a portion of a speech given in Illinois cuts to the heart of things. He said, of the signers of the Declaration of Independence—"These representatives said to the whole world of men: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'" Lincoln went on—"this was their wise and noble understanding of the justice of the Creator to his creatures, to all his creatures, to the whole great family of man. In their enlightened belief, nothing stamped with the divine image and likeness was sent into this world to be trodden on, and degraded and imbruted by its fellows. They grasped not only the whole race of men then living but they reached forward and seized upon the farthest posterity. They erected a beacon to guide their children and their children's children." Lincoln developed this theme further for then he said—"Wise statesmen as they were they knew the tendency of prosperity to breed tyrants and so they established these great self-evident truths, that when in the distant future some man, some faction, some interest should set up the doctrine that none but rich men or none but white men, were entitled to life, liberty or the pursuit of happiness, their posterity might look up to the Declaration of Independence and take courage to renew the battle which their fathers began."

Lord Charnwood of England said this of our Lincoln:

"This man had stood alone in the dark—He had done justice, he had loved mercy, and he had walked humbly with his God."

Again thank you for the honor and courtesy you have shown me by allowing me to share these thoughts with you.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 111

By Doderer

1 Whereas, outmoded rate structures and the accounting system
2 used by railroads in this country brought a return to net in-
3 vestment of only 2.95 percent in 1972, a year when the rail-
4 roads handled a record ton miles of freight; and

5 Whereas, the railroad industry faces an impossible task
6 in generating adequate funds for renewal of its plant, includ-
7 ing modernization of terminals, signaling systems and classi-
8 fication yards necessary for railroads to operate according 9 to their capabilities; and

10 Whereas, the railroad, as the most efficient user of fuel
11 in freight and passenger transportation, provides the best
12 foreseeable means to keep the economy moving without con-
13 suming too much energy; and

14 Whereas, rail transportation would, in the case of a
15 severe shortage of fuels in this country, earn a high gov-
16 ernment-imposed priority in any fuel allocation program; and

17 Whereas, the deterioration of railroad tracks, rights-
18 of-way and signal systems has stymied both private and govern-
19 mental efforts to improve rail passenger and freight service
20 in this country; Now Therefore,

21 Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, 22 That the Iowa General Assembly meeting in the 23 year 1974 urges the United States Congress to take immediate 24 action for the acquisition, operation, and ownership of the 25 railroads by the federal government and that any action in 26 the nationalization of railroads include participation by 27 the states in establishing a coordinated and efficient
28 national rail system; and

29 Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be 30 forwarded to the Speaker of the United States House of Repre-

COMMUNICATION

The following communication has been received and placed on file in the office of the Secretary of the Senate from: The State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations.

A copy of Senate Resolution 74-S 2004, Substitute A, adopted by the Senate of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations on February 5, 1974, requesting the managers of all places in which sporting and social events are held to play the national anthem immediately prior to the commencement of any public sporting event or exhibition that is conducted or engaged in primarily for the entertainment of spectators, and further urging that all other states pass similar resolutions.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. PRESIDENT: Due to a previous commitment to give the keynote address at the official opening of the Dubuque-Delaware-Jackson Counties Area Residential Care's Sheltered Workshop in Dubuque at 2:00 p.m., Wednesday, February 20, 1974, it was necessary for me to leave the floor of the Senate at noon in order to meet a plane waiting at the Des Moines Airport. Had I been present, I would have continued my opposition to the concept of bigger trucks on Iowa highways and would have voted NO on final passage. Realizing that an absent vote on final passage has the same effect as a NO vote, in that neither would add toward passage of the proposal, I felt it acceptable to leave for this commitment.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 112

By Blouin

- 1 Whereas, the heating systems of industrial plants have,
 2 in recent years, been converted to utilize cleaner fuels
 3 which are now in short supply; and
 4 Whereas, inadequate insulation of commercial establish-
 5 ments and poor design techniques utilized in the construc-
 6 tion of commercial establishments have contributed to 7 tremendous waste in the use of fuel in this country; and 8 Whereas, methods are available to design industrial 9 equipment and apply current techniques of waste heat manage-
 10 ment which, according to the Institute of Applied Technology,
 11 could realize an average fuel savings of twenty-five percent;
 12 and
 13 Whereas, the energy used to produce steel from scrap is 14 about twenty-five percent of the energy required to produce
 15 it from raw materials; and 16 Whereas, conservation in fuel consumption has proved to 17 be a viable solution to the oil and gas shortage in this 18 country; Now Therefore,
 19 Be It Resolved by the Senate, That the Iowa development
 20 commission is urged to collect and disseminate all pertinent
 21 information relating to methods which may be used by industry
 22 to conserve precious fuel resources and that it encourage 23 the development of and attract to this state all industry
 24 engaged in the recycling of waste material to produce
 25 alternate sources of fuel.

7 insanity or pregnancy.

8 Sec. NEW SECTION. EXECUTION SUSPENDED.

9 If the report does not show the defendant to be insane

Page 10

1 clerk of the district court in which it was rendered
2 shall at once give the defendant or his attorney a
3 certificate under the seal of the court, certifying
4 that fact, and the sheriff or other officer having 5 the defendant in custody must, upon the delivery to 6 him of the certificate, suspend further proceedings
7 on the judgment until final judgment on the appeal is 8 certified to him by the clerk of the supreme court.

9 Sec. NEW SECTION. PROCEEDINGS ON
10 AFFIRMANCE-ISSUANCE OF WARRANT. When such judgment
11 is affirmed, the supreme court must cause a copy of

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE

A copy of the following veto message was received from the Governor and placed on file:

March 2, 1974

The Honorable Andrew Varley
Speaker of the House
Sixty-fifth General Assembly
State Capitol Building
Local

Honorable Members of the House:

I am returning herewith House File 671, an Act relating to the overall length of combinations of vehicles, disapproved and without my signature, to the House of Representatives in accordance with Article III, Section 16, of the Constitution of the State of Iowa.

The primary purpose of this bill is to increase the maximum length of twin trailer trucks from sixty to sixty-five feet for operation in Iowa.

I have heard many arguments in favor of and against this particular piece of legislation. Early in this session, in my special energy and transportation message to the General Assembly, I said there would be “. . . some value both to Iowa industry and to energy efficiency if additional length only could be utilized by trucks originating at, or destined to, points in Iowa.”

Then, as now, I find sympathy with those who are doing business in our state and whose enterprises could gain from increased cargo carrying ability by trucks. However, with this bill, the Legislature has pursued a course that would benefit only a few Iowa-based companies while providing a great advantage for out-of-state trucking firms and competitors at the expense of our Iowa citizens.

I have supported changes in our trucking laws where the benefits to commerce could be realized without overburdening costs and sacrifices to and by our people.

For example, in the last session I approved the change in the Iowa law to permit longer length for auto transports and this session I have supported the measure to permit trucks that are legal in adjoining states to operate in commercial areas of our border cities.

Neither of these measures brings with it the problems of House File 671.

The issue of longer trucks has for the most part been controversial and charged with emotion. This is understandable because this is a subject that involves the life and lifestyles of all the people who use our system of highways as a mode of personal transportation or as a means of sending and receiving goods.

In considering this bill, however, I set the emotional arguments aside and looked at the question of whether to approve or disapprove it on the basis of the best information and facts that I could assemble from proponents and opponents of the bill, weighing both the advantages and disadvantages.

It has been argued that Iowa is the only state in the nation with the limit of sixty feet for twin trailer trucks. It should be pointed out, however, that 19 other states in the nation limit overall length of trucks to not more than 55 feet and some states don't even allow twin trailer trucks.

Some have argued that the present limitation to a sixty-foot truck length is adversely affecting business activity in Iowa. While some might be able to cite an individual case in point, nevertheless the Iowa economy has grown faster than surrounding states, most of which do allow bigger trucks.

Using data from 1972, the most recent available, total personal income (one of the most widely accepted measures of economic growth) advanced in Iowa by 12.6 percent compared to 9.5 percent in the Plains States and 8.9 percent for the United States.

Proponents of longer trucks emphasize the impact on manufacturing. But in 1972, personal income manufacturing grew faster in Iowa than in any state in the Plains Region—12.5 percent compared to 10.3 for the Plains and 9.6 for the United States.

In addition, truck traffic in Iowa—without the extra-sized trucks—has continued to increase during each of the last four years from 11 to 13 percent.

Many different statistics relative to safety records for trucks can be cited. We believe some of the best available data come from the National Safety Council which indicate that twin trailers have fewer accidents than passenger cars comparing the same number of miles driven. But, they have a much higher fatality rate among the accidents that do occur. The 1973 accident facts of the National Safety Council show that these trucks have 2.3 percent of our accidents but account for 6.6 percent of our fatalities. My point in mentioning this at all is that if we have thousands more trucks crossing our state, there will be millions of additional miles driven in Iowa and that does create a genuine concern for safety.

This bill basically opens our state to literally thousands and thousands more trucks per year, most of which will travel on one highway east and west, which is I-80. This highway has been described as one which is already overcrowded, congested and breaking up because of wear and tear.

These interstate highways were built with the use of federal funds, money which has come from the pockets of Iowa citizens as well as others, but the maintenance and repair of them are exclusively borne by state revenues. True, fees each truck pays provide some of that cost, but the Highway Commission advises that each truck does not pay its share of cost of maintaining the highways compared to passenger vehicles. No one can predict exactly how many more trucks would travel across Iowa as a result of this bill, but if this bill were to become law, already we are advised one out-of-state truck company alone plans more than 50,000 additional trips across the State of Iowa.

Our highways are for the purpose of moving people and commerce and there has to be some limitations to maintaining a balance for the use of all.

To keep in perspective the relationship between trucks and passenger cars, it is interesting to note that research shows that one truck with an 18,000 lb. axle limitation creates as much stress on a highway as 5,000 average-sized passenger cars.

Rapidly escalating costs for highway construction and maintenance are already straining the state's ability to keep highways in satisfactory repair. Yet this bill, that would permit thousands more trucks which would create tremendous additional wear and tear, totally ignores the issue of any additional fees for any extra size.

In addition, the wording of this bill has created real division of opinion over whether or not the bigger trucks would be limited to only 4-lane highways or points within 5 miles of 4-lane highways, or in fact these longer trucks could travel indiscriminately on practically any Iowa highway.

If the one opinion should prevail that says this bill limits travel within 4-lane corridors, then the many areas of this state, both large and small, that are not served by 4-lane highways could be severely disadvantaged in any effort to attract new industry. Their ability to entice new development for their communities would be seriously reduced when they would not have access to bigger trucks while other Iowa communities on or close to 4-lane highways would.

Where manufacturing plants already exist, but are not located on approved highways for bigger trucks, these companies would most certainly be put in a competitive disadvantage.

But what if, on the other hand, the opinion should prevail that says these bigger trucks could travel on any highway in our state so long as they would go to some point within 5 miles of a 4-lane highway? This would open our state to the bigger trucks for all of our highways even though the great majority of our roads could not accommodate any of these trucks under any circumstances. This, of course, could be disastrous.

Oddly enough, the Legislature had before it an opportunity to clarify the construction of this confusing and controversial language, but refused to do so. Either construction of this section of the bill, plus the ambiguity, give strong reason to disapprove the entire measure.

It is unfortunate that Iowa does not have a Department of Transportation which could have been so helpful in ascertaining the desirability of any change of the size of trucks that are allowed in our state. A DOT would be charged with the responsibility of determining our overall transportation needs and tolerances. In any event, that kind of counseling was not available to either the Legislature or me as Governor.

In my special energy and transportation message to the Legislature, I mentioned that the General Assembly should also consider from where the fuel would come for the many thousands more trucks that this bill would invite.

Since that time a number of events have transpired, including a truck strike, and a response from the federal government to the strike and to the truckers. The Director of the Federal Energy Office has assured the truckers that they will have 100 percent of their fuel needed. Consequently, I am assuming that Mr. Simon's word would be kept and that the Federal Energy Office would make fuel available for additional trucks even though we do not know from where or from whom that fuel would come.

Nevertheless, I have not been very impressed with the arguments of those who claim that the reason we should allow these many extra larger trucks into our state is in the interest of energy efficiency. If energy conservation were the genuine motive of those who favored longer trucks, then someone might well have offered to make the legislation effective for the duration of the energy emergency as the Legislature did with the 55 miles per hour speed limit. But no one did.

For the many reasons I have touched upon in this letter, I hereby respectfully disapprove of this House File 671.

Sincerely,
ROBERT D. RAY
Governor

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. PRESIDENT: Because of my attendance at a hearing held by the State Highway Commission in my district, I was absent from the Senate on Friday, March 1. Had I been present, I would have voted "aye" on the following: the Willits' motion to reconsider Senate File 327; the motion that the Senate insist on its amendments 1, 2 and 3 to the House amendment on Senate File 126; and the appointment of Cecil Dunn as Superintendent of Banking. EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE FILE 1121

When the Willits amendment S—2326 to House File 1121 was undergoing debate, I was out of the Senate chamber to meet with and answer questions of forty-nine Cub and Boy Scouts from Harrison, Taft and Roosevelt Schools in Cedar Rapids, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Vopelka and other adults. Normally, the doorman notifies me under those circumstances that a roll call is in progress but inadvertently did not and I was unaware the roll call on the amendment was taking place. Had I been in the Senate chambers I would have voted “no” on the amendment, given the present information on revenues and built-in expenditures for the next biennium.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE FILE 1163

I shall vote “present” on amendment S—2252 by Orr, et al., to Senate File 1163 and invoke Senate Rule 24 for the reason that the “Joint County School Systems of Benton, Cedar, Iowa, Johnson, Linn and Washington Counties” is currently a client of the law firm of Simmons, Perrine, Allbright and Elwood, in which I am a general partner, and said client is an interested party in the outcome of the vote on amendment S—2252. Thus, my law firm’s present representation of the aforesaid Joint County School System in litigation pending in Linn County District Court poses a conflict of interest which compels me to be neutral on the issue of the autonomy vis-a-vis merger of the existing Joint County School Systems.

10 agreed upon by the public employer and the employee
11 organization, shall be deemed to be the collective bargaining

WILLIAM H. HARBOR, Chief Clerk

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 117

By Committee on Agriculture

- 1 Whereas, the movement of grain from the producer to market
 2 is essential to the economy of Iowa; and
 3 Whereas, the lack of energy sources has greatly hampered
 4 the movement of grain and other Iowa products from the point
 5 of production to the market places; and
 6 Whereas, railroads have the capability of moving products
 7 without expending energy sources in as large a degree as other
 8 modes of transportation; and
 9 Whereas, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad
 10 Company, commonly known as the Rock Island Railroad is an 11 integral part of rail transportation in Iowa but is in need 12 of financial assistance; and 13 Whereas, efforts of the Rock Island Railroad to merge with 14 the Union Pacific Railroad Company, which merger would add new 15 financial vitality to the Rock Island Railroad and benefit the 16 state of Iowa, are being deterred by failure of the Interstate
 17 Commerce Commission to act favorably on such merger proposal;
 18 Now Therefore,
 19 Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate
 20 Concurring, That the General Assembly of the state of Iowa
 21 strongly urges the Interstate Commerce Commission to act
 22 favorably upon the request of the Rock Island Railroad for 23 the appropriate authority to merge with the Union Pacific
 24 Railroad; and
 25 Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be 26 forwarded to the United States Secretary of Commerce and to 27 each member of the Iowa congressional delegation.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. PRESIDENT: I voted against Senator Glenn's motion to suspend the rules and place Senate File 1016 on the Senate calendar for the reason that suspending the rules establishes a precedent which would encourage similar efforts by other Senators on other bills now in committee. Our Senate calendar carries seven pages of bills on the calendar awaiting Senate action. There are approximately 1,000 other bills in committee. If the Senate suspended the rules on Senator Glenn's motion, we would undoubtedly spend days of debate hereafter on similar efforts by other Senators. There are a number of bills that I would like to see on the Senate calendar which have not yet received committee action. The proper procedure to follow is to utilize rather than suspend the rules. The rules provide for a discharge petition when a majority of the Senate wishes action on a bill which is not receiving committee approval. I circulated such a discharge petition on the collective bargaining bill in a previous session, obtained the necessary signatures, and without even having to file same, provided psychological impetus to get the collective bargaining bill on the Senate calendar. In the case of Senate File 1016, I might well have signed a discharge petition after having an opportunity to study the matter, vis-a-vis having to reach a decision on short notice and in contravention of Senate rules.

TOM RILEY

TOM RILEY, Chairman

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. PRESIDENT: We the undersigned members of the Senate voted "no" on final passage of House File 1028, as a protest to the ways and means committee amendment. This amendment as finally adopted delays the school foundation plan by one year and will cause an increase in local property taxes by over eight and one-half million dollars. With a probable $200 million surplus in the treasury, we are opposed to a property tax increase.
