FOR RELEASE

March 6, 2024

Auditor of State Rob Sand today released a report on the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board for the year ended June 30, 2021.

The Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board is charged with promoting the public's trust and confidence in government by ensuring integrity of political campaigns, the ethical standards for officials and employees of the executive branch of state government and lawful conduct of executive branch lobbyists.

AUDIT FINDINGS:

Sand reported two findings pertaining to the receipt of taxpayer funds. The findings can be found on pages 3 and 4 of this report. The findings address a lack of segregation of duties over financial transactions, reconciliations and reports and campaign penalties and enforcement. Sand provided the Board with recommendations to address the findings.

One of the two findings discussed above is repeated from the prior year. Board management have a fiduciary responsibility to provide oversight of the Board's operations and financial transactions. Oversight is typically defined as the "watchful and responsible care" a governing body exercise in its fiduciary capacity.

A copy of the report is available for review on the Auditor of State's website at Audit Reports – Auditor of State.

Report of Recommendations to the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board

June 30, 2021

Findings Reported in the State's Report on Internal Control:

No matters were reported.

Other Finding Related to Internal Control:

Segregation of Duties

Criteria – Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control. A good system of internal control provides for adequate segregation of duties so no one individual handles a transaction from its inception to completion. In order to maintain proper internal control, duties should be segregated so the authorization, custody and recording of transactions are not under the control of the same employee. This segregation of duties helps prevent losses from employee error or dishonesty and maximizes the accuracy of the Board's financial statements.

Condition – Generally, one individual has control over the following area for which no compensating control exists:

1. Responsibilities for maintaining detailed accounts receivable records are not segregated from collections and records postings.
2. Mail is not opened by someone other than accounting personnel. In addition, the initial listing of collections does not have documentation of an independent review.

Cause – The Board has a limited number of employees and procedures have not been designed to adequately segregate duties or provide compensating controls through additional oversight of transactions and processes.

Effect – Inadequate segregation of duties could adversely affect the Board's ability to prevent or detect and correct misstatements, errors or misappropriation on a timely basis by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions.

Recommendation – We realize segregation of duties is difficult with a limited number of employees. However, the Board should review its control procedures to obtain the maximum internal control possible under the circumstances utilizing currently available staff to provide additional control through review of financial transactions, reconciliations and reports.

Response – We will continue to explore options for segregating duties and for independent reviews, though the limited resources of the Board make most options impractical.

Conclusion – Response accepted.

Findings Related to Statutory Requirements and Other Matters:

(1) Campaign Penalties and Enforcement

Per Chapter 68B.32A of the Code of Iowa, the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board is responsible for establishing and imposing penalties, and recommendations for discipline of persons who are subject to penalties of or discipline by the Board or by other bodies, for the failure to comply with the requirements of Chapters 68A, 68B, or Section 8.7.

Penalties range from $20 for a late-filed campaign finance disclosure report to a maximum amount of $2,000 per violations following the conclusion of a contested case.

During the year ended June 30, 2021, the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board issued penalties for both minor and major violations. The Board would send a notice letter when a penalty was assessed; however, no attempts were made to follow-up or enforce payment of the penalty. The notice letter did not include information on how to pay the penalty and it did not include language requesting payment within a certain time frame. Once the initial notice letter was sent there were no attempts made to follow-up on the unpaid penalties. This resulted in penalties not being paid. As of June 30, 2021, there were approximately $41,000 unpaid campaign penalties.

During the 2023 legislative session, the Board began an effort to reform how they handle unpaid penalties. A bill was drafted to codify a deadline for payment and provide consequences if a committee refused to pay; however, this bill was never passed.

In addition, the Board updated the notice letters with new language requesting payment within 30 days and provides information on how to pay and where to send the payment. The Committee's request to dissolve is no longer approved if the committee has any outstanding penalties. The Board has also moved to a unified tracking system within their Web Reporting System (WRS) to ensure information is accurate and accessible for all staff and members of the public. The WRS system now sends automated penalty letters, with second and third notices, if needed. The Department does not have the ability to mandate payment or take action against a committee if they do not pay.

Recommendation – The Board should continue to seek Legislative action to set a deadline for the payment of penalties and consequences for not paying timely.

Response – Another bill, HF 2168, is currently alive in the House for the 2024 legislative session that we are trying to get passed. This would solve the problems we have and is the second attempt after last year's failed efforts.

Conclusion – Response accepted.
