SEC. 4557. In a prosecution against a railway company for obstructing a highway or any private way, proof that any such way is in an unsafe condition or that it is inconvenient for travel at the place of its intersection with such rail- way, shall be presumptive evidence that such company has obstructed such way.

Where one of two defendants, in a criminal cause, testifies on behalf of the other, he is liable to impeachment as a witness, under the same conditions as he would be if he were not himself upon trial. The State v. Hardin & Henry, 46 Iowa, 623.

Prior to the enactment of chapter 168, laws of 1878, a defendant in a criminal case was not a competent witness on his own behalf. The State v. Darrington, 47 Id., 318, 320; The State v. Laffer, 38 Id., 422; The State v. Bixby, 39 Id., 465.

SEC. 4558. [Rape.].—Proof of actual penetration into the body is sufficient to sustain an indictment for rape.

An instruction defining the crime of rape in the language of the statute to the effect that the defendant must have ravished and carnally known the prosecutrix by force and against her will, but that proof of actual penetration was sufficient, held correct. Approved in The State v. Tarr, 28 Iowa, 397, 400.

SEC. 4559. [Accomplice.].—A conviction cannot be had upon the testimony of an accomplice, unless he be corroborated by such other evidence as shall tend to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration is not sufficient if it merely show the commission of the offense or the circumstances thereof.

An accomplice cannot be corroborated in his testimony against the defendant, by the failure of the latter to introduce the testimony of witnesses present at the trial, who, if the testimony of the accomplice had been false might have contradicted him. The State v. Hull, 26 Iowa, 292.

The defendant, in such case, has a right to stand upon the law, requiring the testimony of the accomplice, to be corroborated by "other evidence" and no basis for a presumption in favor of the testimony of the accomplice, can arise from the failure of the defendant to controvert it. Id.

The corroboration of the testimony of an accomplice to warrant a conviction, must not merely relate to the commission of the offense charged, or the circumstances thereof, but must tend to connect the defendant with the commission of the criminal act. The State v. Thornton, 26 Id., 79; Upton v. The State, 5 Id., 465, 521.

The fact that one has received stolen property from the thief, knowing the same to have been stolen, does not constitute such receiver an accomplice in a burglary by which the possession of the goods was obtained. The State v. Hayden, 45 Id., 11.

The corroboration of the testimony of an accomplice is not limited to the testimony of witnesses, but may be by circumstantial evidence. The State v. Stanley, 48 Id., 221.

It is not necessary that the testimony of an accomplice be corroborated as to every material fact to which he testifies; if corroborated as to some of such facts, the jury may believe that he speaks the truth as to all. The State v. Hennesy, 55 Id., 299; The State v. Allen, 57 Id., 431.

A conviction cannot be had on the testimony of an accomplice, unless it is corroborated by other testimony tending to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense. But where there is such testimony, its sufficiency is for the jury to determine. The State v. Deitz, 67 Id., 220.

Where on a trial for robbery a witness testified that the defendant and himself committed the crime and that one S. was implicated in it, held, that this testimony was not enough to convict the defendant, without other evidence tending to connect him with the crime. State v. Mikesell, 70 Id., 176.

SEC. 4560. [Of females: on whom rape was perpetrated.].—The defendant in a prosecution for a rape, or for enticing or taking away an unmarried female of previously chaste character for the purpose of prostitution, or aiding or assisting therein, or for seducing and debauching any unmarried woman of previously chaste character, cannot be convicted upon the testimony of the person injured, unless she be corroborated by other evidence tending to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense.

See, as to observations in respect to the corroborating evidence contemplated by the statute. Andre v. The State, 5 Iowa, 389; Upton v. State, Id., 465.

The corroborative testimony required by the statute should be of a character to strengthen and corroborate the testimony of the injured person, and to point out the defendant as the person who committed the offense. Andre v. The State, supra. See, also, The State v. Willis, 9 Id., 582; The State v. Tulley, 18 Id., 88.

Where one indicted for rape was shown to have stated, before the commission of the offense became publicly known that he would under certain circumstances, named, "get clear" this was held a sufficient corroboration of the statements of the prosecutrix. The State v. Comstock, 46 Id., 265.

In the trial of an indictment for seduction, a fact which is testified to by the person injured, is not admissible to corroborate her. The State v. Kingsley, 39 Id., 439.

The fact that the crime of rape has been committed may be established by the evidence of the person injured, but the defendant cannot be convicted upon her testimony unless it be corroborated by other evidence tending to connect the accused, with the commission of the crime. The State v. McLaughlin, 44 Id., 82.

Where bruises are found upon the person of the prosecutrix, it should be left to the jury to determine whether or not they are sufficient to corroborate her testimony to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense. Id.

In the trial of an indictment for seduction, the infant alleged to be the fruit thereof cannot be offered in evidence to corroborate the prosecutrix by reason of a supposed resemblance between the child and the accused. The State v. Danforth, 48 Id., 43.

Proof of having opportunity for having sexual intercourse does not constitute evidence corroborative of the prosecuting witness on a trial for seduction. The evidence to be corroborative, must tend to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense. The State v. Painter, 50 Id., 313.

On the trial of an indictment for seduction, evidence that the defendant had opportunity to employ acts, deception and false promises is not sufficient as corroborating evidence, to connect him with the commission of the offense charged. The State v. Araah, 55 Id., 258. See also, The State v. Smith, 54 Id., 743; The State v. Wells, 48 Id., 671.

The defendant's confession that he was guilty of sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix, taken with other evidence referred to in the opinion, held to be sufficient corroboration of the testimony of the prosecutrix, under this section of the code. The State v. Fitzgerald, 63 Id., 268.

As to corroboration of prosecutrix in case of rape, see The State v. McIntire, 66 Id., 339.

SEC. 4561. [Subpœnas.].—A magistrate, in any criminal proceeding before him may issue subpœnas subscribed by him with his name of office for witnesses within the state in behalf of either party thereto.

SEC. 4562. [Same.].—The clerk of the court in which any criminal case is pending must, at all times, upon the application of the defendant or his attorney, issue as many blank subpœnas under the seal of the court, subscribed by him, for witnesses within the state, as may be required by the defendant. He must also issue subpœnas, on the part of the state, when required.

SEC. 4563. [Who to serve.].—A peace officer must serve within his town or county, as the case may be, any subpœna delivered to him for service on the part of either the state or defendant, and must make a written return of the service subscribed by him and state the time and place of service, without delay. A subpœna may, however, be served by any other person.

SEC. 4564. [How made.].—The service of a subpœna must be by delivering a copy and showing the original to the witness personally.

SEC. 4565. [May break door.].—If a witness conceal himself to avoid the service of a subpœna, the officer may break open doors or windows for the purpose of making service.

SEC. 4566. [Disobedience.].—Disobedience to a subpœna, or refusal to be sworn or to answer as a witness, may be punished by the court or magistrate as a contempt.

SEC. 4567. [Witness, when liable.].—A witness willfully disobeying a subpœna in a criminal case without good cause, shall be liable to the party injured for the amount of the damages sustained by such party.

SEC. 4568. [Forfeiture of bond.].—The undertakings of witnesses in criminal cases may be forfeited and enforced like the undertaking of bail.

SEC. 4569. [Subpœna.].—A subpœna in a criminal case, runs into any part of the state.

SEC. 4570. [Impeachment.].—In cases of impeachment, subpœnas may be issued on behalf of either party by the secretary of the senate.

SEC. 4571. [Witness examined conditionally.].—A defendant in a criminal case, either after preliminary information, indictment, or information, may examine witnesses conditionally or on commission in the same manner and with like effect as in civil actions.

SEC. 4572. [Perpetuating testimony.].—A person apprehensive of a criminal prosecution, may perpetuate testimony in his favor, in the same manner, and with like effect, as it may be done in apprehension of any civil action.

CHAPTER 38.

OF BAIL, UPON BEING HELD TO ANSWER BEFORE INDICTMENT.

SECTION 4573. [Who may admit.]—When the defendant has been held to answer for any bailable offense, bail must be taken by the magistrate who held him to answer, or by any judge of the supreme, district or circuit courts, or by the court to which the papers on the preliminary examination are to be returned by the magistrate who held him to answer, or by the clerk of such court, or by any magistrate of the county in which the offense is triable.

SEC. 4574. [How given.]—Bail is put in by a written undertaking, executed by one or more sufficient sureties (with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the court, clerk, or magistrate acknowledged before and accepted by the court, clerk or magistrate taking the same, and may be substantially, in the following form:

COUNTY OF.....

An order having been made on the.....day of.....A. D. 18.., by A. B. a justice of the peace of the township of...., (or as the case may be), that C. D. be held to answer upon a charge of (stating briefly the nature of the offense), upon which he has been duly admitted to bail, in the sum of.... dollars.

We, E. F. (stating his place of residence and occupation), and G. H. of (stating his place of residence and occupation), hereby undertake that the said C. D. shall appear at the district court of the county of....., at the next term thereof, and answer said charge, and abide the order and judgment of said court, and not depart without leave of the same, or if he fail to perform either of these conditions, that we will pay to the state of Iowa the sum of.....dollars (inserting the sum in which defendant is admitted to bail).

E. F.
G. H.

Acknowledged before, and accepted by me as.....in the township of..... in the county of....., this.....day of....., A. D., 18..

I. J., justice of the peace,
(or, as the case may be).

It is not necessary, under this section, that a defendant in a criminal case, who furnishes bail for his appearance, should sign the bond with his sureties. State v. Patterson, 23 Iowa, 575.

The use of the word "he" in a bail bond drawn to the form prescribed in this section, in place of "we will pay," etc., is manifest clerical error, and should be disregarded. Id.

The appearance of the defendant in a criminal action, to answer to the charge, does not discharge the sureties on his bond. They are liable for any failure to obey the orders of the court before surrender or discharge. The liability is a continuing one which can be discharged only by surrendering the accused as provided by statute, or by obtaining the discharge of the accused. State v. Brown, 16 Iowa, 314.

The objection that a bail bond, filed and approved by the clerk, was not also marked "accepted" by him, as specified in this section of the code, is technical and cannot affect the right of the state to recover on the bond. State v. Emily, 24 Id., 24.

A recognizance for the appearance of the accused at a specified term of court, binds the sureties therein for his appearance at the succeeding term, even though no action is taken or order made at the term specified. State v. Ryan, 23 Id., 406; following State v. Brown, 16 Id., 314.

Under section 3219 of the code of 1851, it was held that a recognizance to appear and answer to an indictment might be acknowledged in open court. State v. Elgin, 11 Id., 216.

It was held not necessary to the validity of the recognizance that its approval or acceptance should be written thereon. If by the determination of the proper officer, the bond was regarded by him as sufficient to authorize the discharge, this amounts to a sufficient acceptance; and after such discharge has taken place, such determination will, in the first instance, be presumed. State v. Wright, 37 Id., 522.

In an action on a forfeited recognizance, it is not necessary to allege in the petition, as a consideration of the bond, that the prisoner was released from the custody thereunder. This is presumed, and the contrary must be shown by way of defense. Id.

SEC. 4575. [Qualifications of bail.]—The qualifications of bail are as follows:

1. Such bail must be a resident and householder, or freeholder, within the state;
2. Such bail must be worth the amount specified in the undertaking, exclusive of property exempt from execution, but the court, clerk or magistrate taking the bail, may allow more than one bail to justify severally in amounts less than that expressed in the undertaking, if the whole justification be equivalent to one sufficient bail.

SEC. 4576. [Justification.]—The bail must in all cases justify, by affidavit taken before the court, clerk, or magistrate, as the case may be, taking such bail, and the affidavit must state that they each possess the qualifications prescribed in the last section.

SEC. 4577. [Same.]—The district attorney, or the court, clerk or magistrate, as the case may be, may thereupon further examine the bail upon oath, concerning their sufficiency, in such manner as may be deemed proper.

SEC. 4578. [Same.]—The court, clerk, or magistrate, may also receive other testimony, either for or against the sufficiency of the bail.

SEC. 4579. [Order.]—When the examination is closed, the court, clerk, or magistrate, must make an order, either allowing or disallowing the bail, and must forthwith cause the same, with the affidavits or justification, and the undertaking of bail, to be filed with the clerk of the court to which the papers on the preliminary examination are required to be sent.

SEC. 4580. [Order of discharge.]—Upon the allowance of the bail and the execution of the undertaking, the court, clerk, or magistrate, must make an order, signed with his name of office, for the discharge of the defendant, to the following effect.

THE STATE OF IOWA:

To the sheriff of the county of

C. D., who is detained by you on commitment, to answer a charge for the offense of (here designate it generally), having given sufficient bail to answer the same, you are commanded forthwith to discharge him from custody.

Dated at, in the township of, in the county of, this day of, A. D., 18...

K. L., justice of the peace,
(or as the case may be).

SEC. 4581. [Disallowed.]—If the bail be disallowed the defendant must be detained in custody until other bail be put in and justify.

CHAPTER 39.

OF BAIL UPON AN INDICTMENT BEFORE CONVICTION.

SECTION 4582. [For misdemeanor.]—When the offense charged in the indictment is a misdemeanor, the officer serving the bench warrant, if therein required, must take the defendant before a magistrate in the county in which it was issued, or in which he is arrested, or before the clerk of the district court of either of such counties for the purpose of giving bail.

SEC. 4583. [Felony.]—If the offense charged in the indictment be a felony, the officer arresting the defendant must deliver him into custody according to the command of the warrant.

SEC. 4584. [By whom taken.].—When the defendant is so delivered into custody, if the felony charged be bailable, bail must be taken by that court, or the clerk of that court, or by any magistrate in the same county.

A recognizance entered into before the clerk of the district court of one county for the appearance of the defendant before the court in another county wherein the indictment is pending, and where the recognizance is filed, is not thereby rendered invalid. State v. Wells, 36 Iowa, 238.

Nor would the failure of the clerk to indorse the approval of the recognizance, invalidate it. Nor in the absence of an averment or showing that it was acknowledged, prevent a recovery in an action thereon. Nor need it appear in the action that the sureties in the bond were called and their default entered. This is necessary only as to the person indicted. Id.

A recognizance entered into by a person indicted for the crime of seduction, otherwise in due form, which does not describe or designate the offense with which the principal is charged more definitely than by the use of the word "seduction," is sufficient to create a liability. State v. Marshall, 21 Id., 143.

SEC. 4585. [Form of undertaking.].—The bail must be put in by a written undertaking, executed by one sufficient surety, with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the court, clerk, or magistrate, acknowledged before and accepted by the court, clerk or magistrate taking the same, and may be substantially in the following form:

COUNTY OF.....

"An indictment having been found in the district court of the county of....., on the.....day of....., A. D. 18...., charging A. B. with the crime of (designating it as in the bench warrant), and he having been duly admitted to bail in the sum of... .dollars:

We, A. B., of (stating his place of residence and occupation), and C. D., of (stating his place of residence and occupation), and E. F., of (stating his place of residence and occupation), hereby undertake that the said A. B. shall appear and answer the said indictment, and abide the orders and judgment of said court, and not depart without leave of the same, or if he fail to perform either of these conditions, that he will pay to the state of Iowa the sum ofdollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant is admitted to bail.)

A. B.,
C. D.,
E. F.

Acknowledged before and accepted by me, at in the township of....., in the county of....., this.....day of....., A. D., 18....

G. H., justice of the peace,
(or as the case may be).

A bail bond or recognizance entered into before the clerk of the district court of one county for the appearance of the defendant before the court in another county wherein the indictment is pending, and where the bond is filed, is valid. The State v. Wells, 36 Iowa, 238.

Nor would the failure of the clerk to indorse an approval of the bond invalidate it. Nor the absence of an averment or showing that it was acknowledged, prevent a recovery in an action thereon. Id.

In an action upon a bail bond it need not be shown that the sureties were called and their default entered. This is necessary only as to the person indicted. Id.

The clerk of the court to which a criminal cause is removed by change of venue has the same power to take a recognizance as the clerk of the court where the indictment is found. The State v. Merrihew, 47 Id., 112.

The liability of sureties is not affected by the failure to take a forfeiture at the term succeeding the execution of the bond; a continuance would continue the liability, and, no continuance appearing of record, the cause stands continued by operation of law. Id.

The arrest and detention in another county of one who is under bond for his appearance, does not have the effect to release the sureties on his bond. Id.

SEC. 4586. [Provisions of previous chapter applies.].—The provisions of the preceding chapter, subsequent to the form of the undertaking relative to the qualifications of bail, the justification, the examination, receiving other testimony against the sufficiency, and the order of allowance or disallowance thereof, and the filing of the undertaking with the affidavits, and all proceedings incidental thereto, in the cases therein provided for, apply also to the cases provided for in this chapter.

CHAPTER 40.

OF BAIL, UPON AN APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT, AFTER CONVICTION.

SECTION 4587. [When bail taken.—After conviction upon an appeal to the supreme court, the defendant must be admitted to bail as follows:

1. If the appeal be from a judgment imposing a fine, upon the undertaking of bail that will pay the same, or such part of it as the supreme court may direct, and in all respects abide the orders and the judgment of the supreme court upon the appeal;

2. If the appeal be from a judgment of imprisonment, upon the undertaking of bail that he will surrender himself in execution of the judgment and direction of the supreme court, and in all respects abide the orders and judgment of the supreme court upon the appeal. The bail may be taken, either by the court where the judgment was rendered, or the judge thereof, or the district court of the county in which he is imprisoned, or the judge thereof, or the judge of the circuit court of either of such counties, or by the supreme court, or a judge thereof, or by the clerk of either of such courts.

SEC. 4588. [Qualifications of.—The bail must possess the qualifications, must justify, and must be put in and taken in the manner prescribed in chapter thirty-eight of this title, and the same proceedings had in all respects, as nearly as applicable, varying to suit the case, and the undertaking of the bail must be, in effect, as prescribed by the preceding section.

CHAPTER 41.

OF DEPOSIT OF MONEY INSTEAD OF BAIL.

SECTION 4589. [With whom, and effect.—The defendant, at any time after an order admitting him to bail, instead of giving bail, may deposit with the clerk of the district court to which the undertaking, in case of bail, is required to be sent, the sum mentioned in the order, and upon delivering to the officer in whose custody he is, a certificate under seal from said clerk of the deposit, he must be discharged from custody.

SEC. 4690. [After giving bail.—If the defendant has given bail, he may, at any time before the forfeiture of the undertaking, in like manner deposit the sum mentioned in the undertaking, and upon the deposit being made the bail shall be exonerated.

SEC. 4591. [Bail after deposit of money.—If money be deposited as provided in the last section, bail may be given in the same manner as if it had been originally given upon the order for admission to bail at any time before the forfeiture of the deposit. The court or magistrate before whom the bail is taken shall thereupon direct in the order of allowance that the money deposited be refunded by the clerk to the defendant, and it shall be refunded accordingly.

Where an appeal is taken from the order of a justice of the peace taxing the costs in a criminal prosecution against the prosecuting witness, the district court is to determine simply whether or not the justice abused the discretion which the law reposes in him in such cases, and, for the purpose of doing this, it must put itself as nearly as possible in the place of the justice, by considering the evidence only that was before the justice, as shown by his transcript (corrected if necessary), and new or additional evidence is not admissible. State v. Kerns, 64 Iowa, 306.

SEC. 4592. [Money: how applied.]—When money has been deposited, if it remain on deposit at the time of a judgment against the defendant, the clerk shall, under the direction of the court, apply the money in satisfaction of so much of the judgment as requires the payment of money, and after paying the same shall refund the surplus, if any, to the defendant, unless an appeal be taken to the supreme court, and bail put in, in which case the deposit shall be returned to the defendant.

CHAPTER 42.

OF SURRENDER OF THE DEFENDANT.

SECTION 4593. [When and how done.]—At any time before the forfeiture of their undertaking, the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the officer to whose custody he was committed at the time of giving bail, in the following manner:

1. A certified copy of the undertaking of bail must be delivered to the officer, who shall detain the defendant in his custody thereon as upon a commitment, and must, by a certificate in writing, acknowledge the surrender;

2. Upon the undertaking and the certificate of the officer, the district court in which the indictment is pending, or was tried, at the next term after the surrender, or, if during term time, at the same term, and upon three clear days' notice thereof to the district attorney, with a copy of the undertaking and certificate, may order the bail to be exonerated.

In contemplation of law an accused party admitted to bail is in the custody of his sureties who are considered his keepers. If they have grounds to apprehend an escape, it is their privilege to have the accused re-arrested and surrendered back into the custody of the law, and themselves discharged. The State v. Holmes, 23 Iowa, 458, 460.

The sheriff has no authority to receive and hold in custody one bailed, unless the latter is delivered to him as prescribed by the statute, or placed in his custody in the presence of, and with the knowledge and sanction, or by order of, the magistrate. The State v. Tieman, 39 Id., 474.

A surety for one charged with a public offense is not released from the obligation of his undertaking by a simple surrender of the accused to the sheriff, in the presence of the court. He is bound not only that the party bailed shall appear at the time and place specified, but also that he shall abide the order and judgment of the court, and not depart without leave. Id.

To exonerate himself the bail must arrest and surrender the party indicted to the sheriff, upon presenting him with a copy of the bond. The State v. Kramer, 50 Id., 582.

The failure of the sheriff to arrest the party indicted when the bail presents a copy of the bond, will not exonerate the bail from liability upon his undertaking. Id.

SEC. 4594. [Arrest by bail.]—For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the bail, at any time before they are finally charged, and at any place within the state, may themselves arrest him, or by a written authority indorsed on a certified copy of the undertaking may empower any person of suitable age and discretion to do so.

SEC. 4595. [On surrender, money returned.]—If money has been deposited instead of bail, and the defendant, at any time before the forfeiture thereof, shall surrender himself to the officer to whom the commitment was made, or directed in the manner prescribed in this chapter, the court in which the indictment is pending, or was tried, at the next term after the surrender, or, if during the term, at the same term, must order a return of the deposit to the defendant, upon producing the certificate of the officer showing the surrender, and upon three clear days notice to the district attorney, with a copy of the certificate.

CHAPTER 43.

OF FORFEITURE OF THE UNDERTAKING OF BAIL, OR DEPOSIT OF MONEY.

SECTION 4636. [How forfeited.]—If the defendant fail to appear for arraignment, trial or judgment, or at any other time when his personal appearance in court may be lawfully required, or to surrender himself in execution of the judgment, the court must direct an entry of such failure to be made on the record, and the undertaking of his bail, or the money deposited instead of bail, as the case may be, is thereupon forfeited.

The liability of the surety is not affected by the failure to take a forfeiture at the term succeeding the execution of the bond; a continuance will continue the liability, and no continuance appearing of record, the cause is continued by operation of law. The State v. Merrihew, 47 Iowa, 112.

The death of the principal two years after a bond was forfeited in a criminal case is no defense to an action against the surety on the bond. The State v. Scott, 20 Id., 63.

The district court is not authorized, on the failure of a defendant to appear when called, to order a forfeiture of his undertaking when it is not on file in the office of the clerk, and is not in possession of the court. State v. Clingman, 14 Id., 404.

The appearance of the defendant in a criminal action, to answer to the charge, does not discharge the sureties on his recognizance. They are liable for any failure to obey the orders of the court before surrendered or discharged. Their liability is a continuing one which can be discharged only by surrendering the accused as provided by statute or by obtaining his discharge. The State v. Brown, 16 Id., 314.

SEC. 4597. [Discharge of.]—If, before the final adjournment of the court for the term, the defendant appear and satisfactorily excuse his failure, the court may direct an entry to be made on the record, that the forfeiture of the undertaking or deposit be discharged.

If a defendant after default appear, at the same term of the default and excuse his failure to appear, the court may discharge the forfeiture, but his re-arrest and holding for trial after default has been entered, does not affect the right of the state to recover on the forfeiture already taken. State v. Emily, 24 Iowa, 24.

SEC. 4598. [When not.]—If the forfeiture is not discharged, the district attorney may, at any time after the adjournment of the court for the term, proceed by civil action only upon the undertaking of the bail.

SEC. 4599. [Action on undertaking.]—The action on undertaking must be in the court in which the defendant was, or would have been required to appear by the undertaking; provided, that when the undertaking requires the defendant to appear before a justice of the peace or a court of limited jurisdiction, or before an examining magistrate, it shall be the duty of said justice, or court, or examining magistrate, upon the forfeiture of the undertaking, and within thirty days thereafter, to file the same, together with a copy of all his official entries in relation thereto, in the office of the district court of the county; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the district attorney to proceed to collect the same by a civil action in the district court of said county, or any other court of said county, having jurisdiction equal to the penalty of said bond.

Where a bond or undertaking is entered into for the appearance of defendant before a magistrate, suit thereon may be brought in the district court. State v. Emerson, 16 Iowa, 206, 208.

The remission of the whole or any part of a forfeited bond, after the defendant has been surrendered, rests in the discretion of the court, and his action will not be reversed unless an abuse of discretion is shown. The State v. Kraner, 50 Id., 575.

When a bond for the appearance of a defendant at the district court of a particular county is taken in the name of the state, an action on a forfeiture thereof may be brought in the name of the county. Shelby County v. Simmonds, 33 Id., 345.

Where a bond was given for the appearance of the defendant in a criminal action in the court of a certain county, and the venue was afterwards changed to another county, it was held that an action on the bond should be brought in the latter county, and when so brought, it was error for the court to sustain a motion for a change of venue to the court of the former county on the ground that the residence of the defendant was in such county. Lucas County v. Wilson, 59 Id., 354.

SEC. 4600. [Surrender before judgment: effect.]-If, before judgment is entered against the bail, the defendant be surrendered or arrested, the court may, in its discretion, remit the whole or any part of the sum specified in the undertaking.

The court may, in its discretion, remit the whole or any amount of the recognizance before judgment is entered, if the defendant be surrendered; but the action of the court in such case will not be reversed unless an abuse of discretion be clearly shown. The State v. Kraner, 50 Iowa, 582; Same v. Hirronemas, Id., 545.

The arrest and detention of a defendant who is under bond for his appearance, does not release the sureties on his bond. The State v. Merrihew, 47 Id., 112.

Nor will the fact that the defendant was in the military service of the United States, in another state, the officers of which prevented the surety from bringing him and surrendering him to the court in the discharge of his undertaking, be any defense in an action on the bond. The State v. Scott, 20 Id., 63.

CHAPTER 44.

ON THE RE-COMMITMENT OF THE DEFENDANT AFTER GIVING BAIL OR DEPOSITING MONEY.

SECTION 4601. [Re-committed.]-The district court in which a criminal action is pending, or during the pendency of an appeal from its judgment in such action, or in which a judgment is to be carried into effect, may, by an order entered on the record, direct the defendant to be arrested and committed to jail until legally discharged, after he has given bail, or deposited money instead thereof, in the following cases:

1. When by reason of his failure to appear, he has incurred a forfeiture of his bail, or money deposited instead thereof;

2. When it satisfactorily appears to the court that his bail, either by reason of the death of one or more of them, or from any other cause, is insufficient, or have removed from the state;

3. When upon the finding of an indictment, the court deems the bail taken by the committing magistrate insufficient.

This section confers the power upon the district court to cause a defendant, after forfeiture of his undertaking for a default in failing to appear, to be re-arrested and committed to jail until legally discharged. The State v. Holmes, 23 Iowa, 458, 460.

When a person is held to answer a criminal charge by a justice of the peace, and an indictment is subsequently found against him, whereupon the court directs a warrant to issue for his arrest, the surety is discharged when the arrest is made and the accused is taken into custody. The State v. Orsler, 48 Id., 343.

The remission of the whole or any part of a forfeited bond, after the defendant has been surrendered, rests in the discretion of the court, and this action will not be reversed unless an abuse of discretion is shown. The State v. Kraner, 50 Id., 575.

SEC. 4602. [Order: its requisites.]-The order for re-commitment of the defendant must recite generally the facts upon which it is founded, and must direct that the defendant be arrested and committed to the custody of the sheriff of the county where the depositions and statements were returned, or the indictment was found, or the conviction was had, as the case may be, to be detained until legally discharged.

SEC. 4603. [Arrest.]-The defendant may be arrested pursuant to the order upon a certified copy thereof, in any county in the state.

SEC. 4604. [Committal.]-If the order recite as the ground on which it is made, the failure of the defendant to appear for judgment upon conviction, the defendant must be committed according to the requirements of the order.

SEC. 4605. [New bail.]-If the order be made for any other cause and the offense be bailable, the court may fix the amount of bail, and may cause a direction to be inserted in the order that the defendant be admitted to bail in the sum fixed, which must be specified in the order.

OF UNDERTAKINGS OF BAIL WHEN LIENS.

SECTION 4606. [On real estate.]—Undertakings of bail, from the time of filing the same in the office of the clerk of the district court in which they are required to be filed, shall be, and may be made, liens upon real estate of the person acknowledging the same, in the same manner, to the same extent, and with like effect, as in judgments in civil actions.

SEC. 4607. [Same.]—They shall, when filed, be immediately docketed and indexed by the clerk of the court in which they are filed, as judgments in civil actions are required to be docketed and indexed.

SEC. 4608. [Same.]—Attested copies of such undertakings may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which the real estate is situated, in the same manner, and with like effect, as attested copies of judgments, and shall be immediately docketed and indexed in the same manner.

CHAPTER 46.

OF JUDGMENTS FOR FINES WHEN LIENS, AND HOW EXECUTIONS THEREON STAYED.

SECTION 4609. [On real estate.]—Judgments for fines, in all criminal actions rendered, are, and may be made, liens upon the real estate of the defendant, in the same manner, and with like effect, as judgment in civil actions.

SEC. 4610. [Stay of execution.]—The defendant may have a stay of execution for the same length of time, and in the same manner, as provided by law in civil actions, and with like effect, and the same proceedings may be had therein.

OF THE LIBERATION OF POOR CONVICTS.

SECTION 4611. [When and on what conditions.]—When any person convicted of a criminal offense is sentenced to pay a fine and costs only, and stand committed until sentence be performed, if the sentence be not complied with by payment of the sum due within thirty days next following, the sheriff may liberate him from prison if committed for no other cause, and if he be unable to pay such fine and costs, upon his giving his promissory note for the amount due, payable to the treasurer of the county where he was committed, on demand with interest, accompanied with a written schedule, containing a true account of all his property, of every kind, and by him signed and sworn to; which note and schedule, must be by such sheriff delivered without delay to treasurer for the use of the county.

When a defendant, sentenced to imprisonment in default of the payment of a fine entered against him substantially complied with sections 4881 and 5005 of the revision (now sections 4509, 4611 of the code) by suffering imprisonment for the time provided, and executing his note to the treasurer as therein, held, not only entitled to be discharged from custody, but to have the judgment against him satisfied. State v. Van Vleet, 23 Iowa, 168; State v. Peck, 37 Id., 342; The City of Keokuk v. Dressell, 47 Id., 597, 601, 602.

Actual imprisonment for thirty days is necessary to entitle a prisoner to the right to be liberated as a poor convict, upon the making of the oath, schedule and notes as provided by this section. Constructive imprisonment is not sufficient. In re Cufley, 34 Ill., 184.

Authority to imprison for non-payment of costs as well as fine is not expressly given by the statute and will not be inferred, and therefore a court cannot lawfully sentence a person to stand committed until a fine and costs are paid. State v. Erwin et al, 44 Ill., 637.

In an action on a bail bond, the introduction of the record of forfeiture is admissible, even though it fail to show that the defendant was called in open court. State v. Hirronemas, 50 Ill., 545.

SEC. 4612. [False schedule.]—If such convict knowingly and willfully make any false schedule on oath, relating to the amount or nature of his property, he is guilty of perjury.

CHAPTER 48.

OF THE DISMISSAL OF CRIMINAL ACTIONS BEFORE AND AFTER INDICTMENT FOR WANT OF PROSECUTION OR OTHERWISE.

SECTION 4613. [When.]—When a person has been held to answer for a public offense, if an indictment be not found against him at the next regular term of the court at which he is held to answer, the court must order the prosecution to be dismissed unless good cause to the contrary be shown.

SEC. 4614. [If tried in certain time.]—If a defendant indicted for a public offense, whose trial has not been postponed upon his application, be not brought to trial at the next regular term of the court in which the indictment is triable after the same is found, the court must order it to be dismissed unless good cause to the contrary be shown.

SEC. 4615. [Discharged on his own undertaking.]—If the defendant be not indicted or tried as provided in the last two sections, and sufficient reason therefor shown, the court may order the action to be continued from term to term, and in the meantime may discharge the defendant from custody on his own undertaking, or on the undertaking of bail for his appearance to answer the charge at the time to which the action is continued, but no such continuance can be extended beyond three terms of the court.

SEC. 4616. [Discharge of.]—If the court direct the action to be dismissed, the defendant must, if in custody, be discharged therefrom, or if admitted to bail, his bail must be exonerated, and if money has been deposited instead of bail it must be refunded to him.

SEC. 4617. [By court or district attorney.]—The court may, either upon its own motion or upon the application of the district attorney, and in furtherance of justice, order an action after an indictment to be dismissed, but in such case the reason of the dismissal must be set forth in the order, which must be entered upon the record.

When a party is put upon trial for a criminal offense, it is not within the scope of the authority of either the district attorney, or of the court, to take the case from the jury, by their own arbitrary will, and without a peremptory and controlling cause, and again hold him to trial on the same charge, although it be merely presented; and such a proceeding amounts to an acquittal and may be pleaded as such. State v. Calendine, 8 Iowa, 288.

SEC. 4618. [Nolle prosequi.]—The entry of nolle prosequi is abolished, and neither the attorney general nor the district attorney shall hereafter discontinue or abandon a prosecution for a public offense except as provided in the last section.

SEC. 4619. [Bar.]—An order for the dismissal of the action as provided in this chapter, is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense if it be a misdemeanor; but it is not a bar if the offense charged be a felony.

CHAPTER 49.

OF THE INSANITY OF A DEFENDANT BEFORE TRIAL OR AFTER CONVICTION.

SECTION 4620. [Trial.]-When a defendant appears for arraignment, trial, judgment, or on any other occasion when he is required, if a reasonable doubt arise as to his sanity, the court must order a jury to be impaneled from the trial jurors in attendance at the term, or who may be summoned by the direction of the court, as provided by this code, to inquire into the fact.

An inquiry as to the sanity of the prisoner under this and the following four sections, should be limited to the time when he appears for arraignment, or to the occasion which renders such inquiry proper, and should not relate to the time at which the offense of which he is accused is committed. The State v. Arnold, 12 Iowa, 479.

SEC. 4621. [Suspension.]-The arraignment, trial, judgment or other proceedings, as the case may be, must be suspended until the question of insanity is determined by the verdict of the jury.

SEC. 4622. [Order of procedure.]-The trial for the question of insanity must proceed in the following order:

1. The counsel of the defendant must offer the evidence in support of the allegation of insanity;
2. The district attorney must then offer the evidence in support of the case on the part of the state;
3. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting evidence only, unless the court, for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case;
4. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted on either side, or both sides, without argument, the district attorney must commence, and the defendant's counsel conclude the argument to the jury;
5. If more than one counsel on each side argue the case to the jury, they must do so alternately;
6. The court shall then, on motion of either party, charge the jury. The provisions of this code, so far as the same are applicable and not herein changed, shall regulate the trial of the question of insanity.

SEC. 4623. [If sane.]-If the jury find the defendant is sane, the proceedings on the indictment shall be resumed.

SEC. 4624. [If insane.]-If the jury find the defendant insane, the proceedings on the indictment shall be suspended until he becomes sane, and the court, if it deem his discharge dangerous to the public peace or safety, may order that he be in the meantime committed by the sheriff to the Iowa Insane Hospital, and that upon his becoming sane, he be delivered by the superintendent of the hospital to the sheriff.

SEC. 4625. [Bail released.]-The commitment of the defendant, as provided in the last section, exonerates his bail, or entitles a person authorized to receive the property of the defendant, to a return of the money he may have deposited instead of bail.

SEC. 4626. [Detained in hospital.]-If the defendant be received into the hospital, he must be detained there until he becomes sane. When he becomes sane, the superintendent of the hospital must give notice of that fact to the sheriff and to the district attorney of the proper district. The sheriff must thereupon, without delay, bring the defendant from the hospital, and place him in the proper custody until he be brought to trial or judgment as the case may be, or be legally discharged.

SEC. 4627. [Expenses.]-The expense of sending the defendant to the hospital, bringing him back, and any other expense incurred, are to be paid in the first instance by the county from which he was sent, but the county may recover from the estate of the defendant, if he have any, or from a relative, or another county, town, township or city, bound to provide for or maintain him elsewhere.

SEC. 4628. [Same.—]—Sheriffs for delivering persons found to be insane, under the provisions of this chapter, are entitled to the same fees therefor as are allowed for conveying convicts to the penitentiary.

It is only where persons are found to be insane in proceedings under the provisions of chapter 49, title 25, of the code, that a sheriff is entitled to the same fees for conveying them to the insane hospital as are allowed for conveying convicts to the penitentiary. Harding v. The County of Montgomery, 55 Iowa, 41.

CHAPTER 50.

OF SEARCH WARRANTS, AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON.

SECTION 4629. [Search warrant: definition.—]—A search warrant is an order in writing, in the name of the state, signed by a magistrate, directed to a peace officer, commanding him to search for personal property, and bring it before the magistrate.

SEC. 4630. [Upon what grounds issued.—]—It may be issued upon either of the following grounds:

1. When the property was stolen or embezzled, in which case it may be taken on the warrant from any house or other place in which it is concealed, or from the possession of the person by whom it was stolen or embezzled, or of any other person in whose possession it may be;

2. When it was used as the means of committing a felony; in which case it may be taken on the warrant from any house or other place in which it is concealed, or from the possession of the person by whom it was used in the commission of the offense, or of any other person in whose possession it may be;

3. When it is in the possession of any person with the intent to use it as the means of committing a public offense, or in the possession of another to which he may have delivered it for the purpose of concealing it or preventing its being discovered; in which case it may be taken on the warrant from such person, from a house or other place occupied by him or under his control, or from the possession of the person to whom he may have so delivered it.

SEC. 4631. [Same.—]—No search warrant can be issued but upon probable cause, supported by affidavit, naming or describing the person, and particularly describing the property and the place to be searched.

SEC. 4632. [Complaint examined.—]—The magistrate must, before issuing a warrant, examine on oath the applicant therefor, and any witnesses he may produce, and take their affidavits in writing, and cause each affidavit to be subscribed and sworn to before him by the person making it.

SEC. 4633. [Affidavit must set forth.—]—The affidavit must set forth the facts tending to establish the grounds of the application, or probable cause for believing that they exist.

SEC. 4634. [Magistrate issue.—]—If the magistrate be thereupon satisfied of the existence of the grounds of the application, or that there is probable cause to believe their existence, he shall issue a search warrant, signed by him with his name of office, directed to any peace officer in the county, commanding him forthwith to search the person or place named for the property specified, and bring it before him.

SEC. 4635. [Jurisdiction.—]—The local jurisdiction of magistrates, in exercising the powers conferred on them by this chapter, is as defined in this code.

SEC. 4636. [Form of warrant.]—The warrant may be, substantially, in the following form:

COUNTY OF.... .

THE STATE OF IOWA:

“To any peace officer of said county:

“Proof, by affidavit, having been this day made before me by (naming every person whose affidavit has been taken) that (stating the particular grounds of the application according to section four thousand six hundred and thirty of this chapter; or, if the affidavit be not positive, that there is probable cause for believing that (stating the ground of the application in the same manner); you are therefore commanded, in the day time (or at any time of the day or night, as the case may be, according to section four thousand six hundred and thirty of this chapter) to make immediate search on the person of C. D., or, in the house situated (describing it or any other place to be searched, with reasonable particularity, as the case may be), for the following property (describing it with reasonable particularity); and if you find the same, or any part thereof, to bring it forthwith before me, at (stating the place).

“Dated at.... ., this.....day of.....A. D. 18..

E. F., justice of the peace,”

(or, as the case may be).

SEC. 4637. [By whom served.]—A search warrant may in all cases be served by any of the officers mentioned in its direction, but by no other person except in aid of the officer, on his requisition, he being present and acting in its execution.

SEC. 4638. [Officer may break open doors.]—The officer may break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, or any part of the house, or anything therein, to execute a warrant, if, after notice of his authority and purpose, he be refused admittance.

SEC. 4639. [Same.]—He may break open any outer or inner door or window of a house for the purpose of liberating a person, who, having entered to aid him in the execution of the warrant, is detained therein, or when necessary, for his own liberation.

SEC. 4640. [Must be served in day time.]—The magistrate must insert a direction in the warrant that it be served in the day time, unless the affidavit be positive that the property is on the person, or in the place to be searched; in which case he may insert a direction that it may be served at any time of the day or night.

SEC. 4641. [Return: in what time.]—A search warrant must be executed and returned to the magistrate by whom it was issued within ten days after its date. After the expiration of such time, the warrant, unless executed, is void.

SEC. 4642 [Officer receipt for property.]—When the officer takes any property under the warrant, he must give a receipt for the property taken, specifying it in detail, to the person from whom it was taken or in whose possession it was found, or, in the absence of the person, he must leave it in the place where he found the property.

SEC. 4643. [Return with inventory.]—The officer must forthwith return the warrant to the magistrate, and at the same time deliver to him a written inventory of the property taken, made publicly or in the presence of the person from whose possession it was taken and of the applicant for the warrant, if they be present, verified by the affidavit of the officer at the foot of the inventory and taken before the magistrate, to the following effect: “I, the officer by whom the annexed warrant was executed, do swear that the above inventory contains a true and detailed account of all the property taken by me on the warrant.”

SEC. 4644. [Magistrate give copy.].—The magistrate, if required, must deliver a copy of the inventory to the person from whose possession the property was taken, and to the applicant for the warrant.

SEC. 4645. [Take testimony.].—If the grounds on which the warrant was issued be controverted, the magistrate must proceed to take testimony in relation thereto.

SEC. 4646. [Same.].—The testimony given by each witness must be reduced to writing and authenticated by the magistrate.

SEC. 4647. [Property restored.].—If it appear that the property taken is not the same as that described in the warrant, or that there is no probable cause for believing the existence of the grounds on which the warrant was issued, the magistrate shall cause it to be restored to the person from whom it was taken.

SEC. 4648. [Same.].—If the property taken by virtue of a search warrant was stolen or embezzled, it must be restored to the owner, upon his making satisfactory proof to the magistrate of his ownership thereof, or of his right of possession thereto, as provided in the next chapter. If it was taken on a warrant issued on the grounds stated in the second and third subdivisions of section four thousand six hundred and thirty of this chapter, the magistrate must retain it in his possession, subject to the order of the court to which he is required to return the proceeding before him, or of any other court in which the offense which the property taken was used as a means of committing, or so intended to be, is triable.

SEC. 4649. [Disposition of papers.].—The magistrate must annex together the affidavits taken before the issuing of the warrant, the warrant, the return, and the inventory, and return them to the next district court of the county, at or before its opening, on the first day of the next term thereof.

SEC. 4650. [Malicious suing out.].—Whoever, maliciously and without probable cause, procures a search warrant to be issued and executed, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 4651. [Excess of authority.].—A peace officer who, in executing a search warrant, willfully exceeds his authority, or exercises it with unnecessary severity, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 4652. [Searching person charged with felony.].—When a person charged with a felony is supposed by the magistrate before whom he is brought to have upon his person a dangerous weapon or anything which may be used as evidence of the commission of the offense, the magistrate may direct him to be searched in his presence, and the weapon or other things to be retained, subject to his order, or the order of the court in which the defendant may be tried.

SEC. 4653. [Property kept for evidence.].—When any officer, in the execution of a search warrant, shall find any stolen or embezzled property, or shall seize any other things for which a search is allowed by this chapter, all the property and things so seized shall be safely kept by the direction of the court or magistrate, so long as shall be necessary for the purpose of being produced as evidence on the trial; and as soon as may be afterwards, all such stolen and embezzled property shall be restored to the owner thereof, and all other things seized by virtue of such warrant shall be destroyed under the direction of the court or magistrate.

See The State v. Mullen, cited in note to section 4659, post.

CHAPTER 51.

OF THE DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY STOLEN OR EMBEZZLED.

SECTION 4654. [Held by officer.]—When the property alleged to have been stolen or embezzled comes into the custody of a peace officer, he must hold the same subject to the order of the magistrate authorized by the next section to direct the disposal thereof.

SEC. 4655. [Delivered to owner.]—On satisfactory proof of title by the owner of property, the magistrate before whom the information is laid, or who shall examine the charge against the person accused of stealing or embezzling the same, may order it to be delivered to the owner, on his paying the reasonable and necessary expenses incurred in the preservation and keeping thereof, to be certified by the magistrate. The order shall entitle the owner to demand and receive the property.

SEC. 4656. [Same.]—If the property stolen or embezzled come into the custody of a magistrate, it must be delivered to the owner on satisfactory proof of his title, and on his paying the necessary expenses incurred in its preservation, to be certified as before provided.

SEC. 4657. [Same.]—If the property stolen or embezzled has not been delivered to the owner, the court before which a conviction is had, may, on proof of his title, order its restoration.

SEC. 4658. [When not claimed.]—If the property stolen or embezzled be not claimed by the owner before the expiration of six months from the conviction of the person for stealing or embezzling it, the magistrate or other officer having it in his custody, must, on payment of the necessary expenses incurred for its preservation, deliver it to the auditor of the county to be applied under the direction of the board of supervisors thereof for the benefit of the poor of the county.

SEC. 4659. [Officer give receipts for property.]—When the money or other property is taken from the defendant arrested upon a charge of a public offense, the officer taking it shall, at the time, give duplicate receipts therefor, specifying particularly the amount of money and the kind of property taken; one of which receipts he must deliver to the defendant, and the other he must forthwith file with the clerk of the district court of the county where the depositions and statements are to be sent by the magistrate.

Sections 4633 and 4659 of the code simply direct the care and disposition to be made of stolen property when taken by the officer, and the receipt to be given by him therefor does not affect or limit the competency on either side. State v. Mullen, 30 Iowa, 203.

A justice of the peace may issue a search warrant for property alleged to be stolen or embezzled; and upon the return of the warrant, the right to possession of the property may be determined, and delivery thereof made accordingly. State v. Akien, 71 Id., 216.

CHAPTER 52.

OF PROCEEDINGS AND TRIALS BEFORE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

SECTION 4660. [Jurisdiction.]—Justices of the peace have jurisdiction of, and must hear, try, and determine all public offenses less than felony, committed within their respective counties, in which the punishment described by law does not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment thirty days.

Where the defendant was indicted for, and convicted of, stealing personal property of less than twenty dollars in value, in a dwelling house in the day time, held, that the district court had jurisdiction of the offense, and the same was not cognizable by a justice of the peace. State v. Dawson, 17 Iowa, 584.

The jurisdiction of justices of the peace in criminal matters is co-extensive with the county. State v. Kinney, 41 Id., 424.

SEC. 4661. [Action commenced by information.].—Criminal actions for the commission of a public offense must be commenced before a justice of the peace, by an information subscribed and sworn to, and filed with the justice.

SEC. 4662. [Information must contain.].—Such information must contain:

1. The name of the county and of the justice where the information is filed;
2. The names of the parties, if the defendant be known, and if not, then such names as may be given him by the complainant;
3. A statement of the acts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language, and the time and place of the commission of the offense as near as may be.

An information is not sufficient if it merely charge the commission of an offense by its technical name. It must contain a statement of the facts constituting the offense intended to be charged. State v. Murray et al., 41 Iowa, 580.

An information may be amended upon application to any extent which the court may deem consistent with the orderly conduct of judicial business, with the public interest, and with private rights. State v. Doe, 50 Id., 541.

The rule of the statute, that words used to define a public offense need not be strictly pursued in an indictment, but other words having the same meaning may be used, applies to an information before a justice of the peace. State v. Mohr, 53 Id., 261. See code, § 4304. For form of information held sufficient see Devine v. The State, 4 Id., 443.

An information is amendable, and the signature of the prosecuting witness, inadvertently omitted, may be attached on appeal in the district court, the fact that it was sworn to being shown. State v. Merchant, 33 Id., 375.

An information for assault and battery which charges that defendant "did then and there beat, bruise and ill treat the said J. C. contrary" etc., sufficiently complies with this section of the code. State v. Boynton 38 N. W. Rep., 505.

SEC. 4663. [Form of.].—The information may be substantially in the following form:

.....county,
 The State of Iowa, } Before justice.....(here insert the name of against } justice).
 A.....B.....defendant. }

The defendant is accused of the crime (here name the offense):

For that the defendant, on theday of.....A. D. 18.., at the (here name the city, village, or township) in the county aforesaid (here state the act or omission constituting the offense as in an indictment).

An information under section 1562 of the revision (section 1540 of the code, which charged "that the defendant on, etc., at, etc., did sell intoxicating liquors in violation of the laws of the state of Iowa," without stating to whom the sale was made, was held insufficient. State v. Allen 32 Iowa, 491.

An information charging a defendant with inhumanly whipping and beating his own child is sufficient as an information charging an assault and battery; but it should set out the name of the person on whom the offense was committed. State v. Bitman, 13 Id., 485.

SEC. 4664. [Justice must file.].—The justice must file such information, and mark thereon the time of filing the same.

SEC. 4665. [Warrant may issue.].—Immediately upon the filing of such information, the justice may, in his discretion, issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant, directed in the same manner as a warrant of arrest upon a preliminary information, and may be served in like manner.

SEC. 4666. [Service.].—The officer who receives the warrant must serve the same by arresting the defendant, if in his power, and bringing him without unnecessary delay before the justice who issued the same.

SEC. 4667. [Appearance.].—When the defendant is brought before the justice the charge against him must be distinctly read to him, and he shall be asked whether he is presented by his right name, and be required to plead. If he objects that he is wrongly named in the information, he must give his right name, and if he refuses to do so, or does not object that he is wrongly named, the justice shall make an entry thereof in his docket, and he is thereafter precluded from making any such objection.

SEC. 4668. [Pleading.]-The defendant may plead the same pleas as upon an indictment. His pleas must be oral, and shall be entered on the docket of the justice.

SEC. 4669. [Same.]-Upon a plea other than a plea of guilty, if the defendant do not demand a trial by jury, the justice must proceed to try the issue, unless a change of venue be applied for by the defendant.

A justice of the peace has no authority to try a prisoner after he has demanded a jury trial, and has no right to render judgment against him until he has been found guilty by a jury in the manner provided by law. Dupont v. Downing, 6 Iowa, 172.

A party arrested and brought to trial in the police court of a city of this state for a violation of a city ordinance, is not entitled to a jury trial. Zelle v. McHenry, 51 Id., 572.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

SEC. 4670. [Change of venue.]-If a change of venue be applied for, an affidavit must be filed stating that the justice is prejudiced against the defendant, or is of near relation to the prosecutor upon the charge, or the party injured or interested, or is a material witness for either party, or that the defendant cannot obtain justice before him, as the affiant verily believes.

SEC. 4671. [Same.]-If such affidavit be filed the change of venue must be allowed, and the justice must immediately transmit all the original papers, and a transcript of all his docket entries in the case to the next nearest justice in the township, unless said justice be a party to the action, or is related to either party by consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree, or where he has been attorney for either party in the action or proceeding, and in such case the justice before whom such action or proceeding is commenced, shall transmit all the original papers, together with a transcript of all his docket entries to the next nearest justice in the county against whom none of the above objections exist, who may require the defendant to plead as provided in section four thousand six hundred and sixty-seven of this chapter, if he has not already done so, and shall proceed to try the case, unless a jury trial be demanded, but no more than one change of venue in the same case shall be allowed.

Where a justice of the peace, to whom a criminal case comes by change of venue, refuses to act, no other justice of the peace can take jurisdiction and try the case. Connell v. Stelson, 33 Iowa, 147.

Where a change of venue is granted in a criminal cause pending before a justice of the peace, the fact that the next nearest justice is a material witness for the defendant, is no reason why the cause should not be sent to him as this section requires. The State v. McEvoy, 68 Id., 355.

In this section, the clause providing that the justice before whom the cause is commenced shall transmit the papers, etc., "to the next nearest justice in the county against whom none of the above objections exist," refers only to the objections enumerated in this section, and not those named in section 4670, which are required to be made by affidavit as a ground for change of venue. Accordingly where the defendant included in his affidavit for change of venue, an allegation that he could not obtain justice before the other justice of the same township, he being the next nearest justice, such allegation was properly stricken out, on motion, and there being no legal objection the cause was properly sent to the next nearest justice, and he thereby acquired jurisdiction thereof. Albertson v. Kriechbaum, Sheriff, 65 Id., 11.

SELECTION OF JURY.

SEC. 4672. [Jury trial.]-Before the justice has heard any testimony upon the trial the defendant may demand a trial by jury.

SEC. 4673. [Jury: how obtained.]-If a trial by jury be demanded, the justice shall direct any peace officer of the county to make a list in writing of the names of eighteen inhabitants of the county having the qualifications of jurors in the district court, from which list the prosecutor and defendant may each strike out three names.

When a justice of the peace is about to issue a venire for a jury in a criminal cause to a certain peace officer, the prosecutor may properly file a motion, supported by affidavit, showing that such officer is prejudiced against the prosecution, and is likely to select jurors to the prejudice of the state, and asking that the venire be issued to some other officer; and in such case it is the duty of the justice to institute an inquiry, and investigate the truth of the charge, and be governed accordingly. Rainbow v. Benson et al., 71 Iowa, 391.

SEC. 4674. [Same.]—In case the prosecutor or the defendant neglect or refuse to strike out such names, the justice shall direct some disinterested person to strike out the names for either or both of the parties so neglecting or refusing, and upon such names being struck out, the justice may issue a venire directed to any peace officer of the county, requiring him to summon the twelve persons whose names remain upon the list, to appear before such justice at the time and place named therein, to make a jury for the trial of the cause.

SEC. 4675. [Jurors summoned.]—The officer to whom such venire is delivered must forthwith summon such jurors, and return the venire to the justice within the time therein specified, naming the persons summoned and the manner of service.

SEC. 4676. [Selection of jury.]—The names of the persons returned as jurors shall be written on separate ballots, folded each in the same manner as nearly as possible, and so that the name be not visible, and shall, under the direction of the justice, be deposited in a box or other convenient thing.

SEC. 4677. [Same.]—The justice must then draw out six of the ballots successively, and if any of the persons whose names are drawn do not appear, or are challenged, or are set aside, such further number must be drawn as will make a jury of six, after all legal challenges have been allowed.

SEC. 4678. [Challenges.]—The same challenges may be taken by either party to any individual juror as on the trial of an indictment for a misdemeanor, but no challenge to the panel is allowed.

SEC. 4679. [Talesmen.]—If any of the jurors named in the venire cannot be found, or do not attend, or are challenged by either party, so that a sufficient number cannot be obtained, the justice may direct the officer to summon any bystander or others who may be competent, and against whom no sufficient cause for challenge appears to act as jurors.

SEC. 4680. [Failure to return: new venire.]—If the officer by whom the venire is received do not return it as required, he may be punished by the justice as for contempt, and the justice shall issue a new venire for the summoning of the same jurors, upon which the same proceedings shall be had as upon the one first issued.

SEC. 4681. [Six a jury.]—When six jurors appear and are accepted, they shall constitute the jury.

SEC. 4682. [Oath.]—The justice must thereupon administer to them the following oath or affirmation: You do swear (or you do solemnly affirm, as the case may be), that you will well and truly try the issue between the state of Iowa and the defendant, and a true verdict give according to the evidence.

TRIAL AND JUDGMENT.

SEC. 4683. [Proceedings of jury.]—After the jury are sworn, they must sit together and hear the proof and allegations of the parties, which must be delivered in public. After which, they may either decide in court or retire for consideration.

SEC. 4684. [Retire with officer: oath.]—If they do not immediately agree they must retire with the officer, who shall be sworn to the following effect: "You do swear that you will keep the jury together in some private and convenient place, without meat or drink, unless otherwise ordered by the court; that you will not permit any person to speak to them, nor speak to them yourself, unless it be to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and that you will return them into court when they have so agreed."

SEC. 4685. [Verdict.]-When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must deliver it publicly to the justice, who shall enter it on his docket.

SEC. 4686. [Kept together.]-The jury must be kept together after the cause is submitted to them, until they have agreed upon and rendered their verdict, unless, for good cause, the justice sooner discharge them.

SEC. 4687. [Discharged.]-If the jury be discharged as provided in the last section, the justice may proceed again to the trial in the same manner as upon the first trial; and so on till a verdict is rendered.

SEC. 4688. [Judgment.]-When the defendant pleads guilty, or is convicted, either by the justice or by a jury, the justice shall render judgment thereon, of fine, or imprisonment, as the case may require, being governed by the rules prescribed for the district court, as far as the same are applicable, in rendering such judgment.

SEC. 4689. [Same.]-A judgment that the defendant pay a fine may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine is satisfied.

The judgment of a justice of the peace committing a defendant to prison until the payment of the fine imposed, is not void because it does not specify the extent of the imprisonment, the limit in such case being fixed by the statute. Jackson v. Boyd, 53 Iowa, 536. But a justice of the peace has no authority to commit a defendant for non-payment of a fine for contempt, unless the judgment imposing the fine provides for imprisonment, and he is liable for damages in an action of tort to a person so illegally committed. Lanpher v. Dewell et al., 56 Id., 153.

SEC. 4690. [Defendant discharged.]-When the defendant is acquitted, either by the justice, or by a jury, he must be immediately discharged.

SEC. 4691. [Costs: appeal: notice: justice make statement: transcript: papers filed: court compel correction.]-When the defendant is acquitted, the justice shall, if he is satisfied that the prosecution is malicious or without probable cause, tax the costs against the prosecuting witness and render judgment therefor, from which he may appeal to the district court by there giving notice to the justice that he claims such appeal, and the fact of the giving of such notice shall be entered on his record by the justice. If notice of appeal is given as herein contemplated, the justice shall, without delay, make out, sign and file in the case a full and true statement of all the testimony admitted on the trial, and on which he bases his finding that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, and shall, without delay, make out a transcript of his docket entries, and shall file it, together with the statement of the testimony as aforesaid, and all other papers on file in the case, in the clerk's office of the district court of the county. And such appeal shall stand for hearing in said court at the term thereof commencing next after said papers are filed. And said court shall have full power to compel the correction by said justice of any error made apparent in his transcript, said statement of testimony, or in any papers returned by him, or may itself make the necessary correction therein, and may, on the papers, in case they shall be submitted to it, either affirm or reverse the judgment of the justice, or render such judgment as the justice should have rendered in the case.

The power conferred by this section upon a justice of the peace to tax the costs against a prosecuting witness, when satisfied that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, may also be exercised by the district court on a trial of the case on appeal, though such order had not been made by the justice before whom it was tried. In re Trenchard, 16 Iowa, 52.

This power may be exercised without the hearing of any evidence on the part of the state in addition to that submitted on the trial of the cause, if that is sufficient to show the want of probable cause; and when the evidence given on the trial is not embraced in the record, the supreme court will presume that it was sufficient. Id.

The person who files an information in a criminal action is considered the prosecuting witness. Id.

A prosecuting witness, who has been adjudged by a justice of the peace to pay the costs of prosecution, may, in the name of the state, appeal from the judgment of the justice to the district court. The State v. Roney, 37 Iowa, 30.

A justice of the peace may legally tax the costs in a criminal prosecution, dismissed by him; before final trial, for reason of a failure of the prosecuting witness to appear and prosecute to the state, to be paid by the county. Cassady v. Palo Alto Co., 58 Id., 125; Palo Alto Co. v. Moncrief, Id., 131. In the absence of any counter showing it will be presumed that in thus taxing the costs to the state to be paid by the county, in such a case that the discretion of the justice was properly exercised. Id.

Where an appeal is taken from the order of a justice of the peace taxing the costs in a criminal prosecution against the prosecuting witness, the district court is to determine simply whether or not the justice abused the discretion which the law reposes in him in such cases, and, for the purpose of doing this, it must put itself as nearly as possible in the place of the justice, by considering the evidence only that was before the justice, as shown by his transcript (corrected if necessary), and new or additional evidence is not admissible. The State v. Kerns, 64 Id., 306.

SEC. 4692. [Certificate of conviction.]—Whenever a conviction is had upon a plea of guilty, or upon a trial, the justice must make and sign with his name of office, a certificate of such conviction, in which it shall be sufficient briefly to state the offense charged and the conviction and judgment thereon, and if any fine has been collected, the amount thereof.

SEC. 4693. [Judgment: how executed.]—The judgment shall be executed by a peace officer of the county where the conviction is had, by virtue of a warrant under the hand of the justice specifying the particulars of such judgment.

SEC. 4694. [Fine.]—If a fine be imposed, and paid before commitment, it shall be received by the justice, and by him paid over to the county treasurer, within thirty days after the receipt thereof, for the use of the schools of the county, as provided by law.

SEC. 4695. [Same.]—If the defendant be committed for not paying a fine, he may pay it to the sheriff of the county but to no other person, who must in like manner, within thirty days after the receipt thereof, pay it into the county treasury, for the use of the schools in the county, as provided by law.

SEC. 4696. [Same.]—If the fine, or any part thereof, is paid to the justice or sheriff, he must execute duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he must file without delay, with the county auditor.

SEC. 4697. [How taken.]—The justice rendering a judgment against the defendant, must inform him of his right to an appeal therefrom, and make an entry on the docket of the giving of such information, and the defendant may thereupon take an appeal, by giving notice orally to the justice, that he appeals, and the justice must make an entry on his docket of the giving of such notice.

The district court can acquire no appellate jurisdiction of a criminal case by the mere filing of an appeal bond. The appeal can be taken only by giving the notice required by this section to the justice who rendered the judgment. The State v. Leyden, 13 Iowa, 433.

Under section 5094 of the revision, the state, in a criminal trial before a justice of the peace, had the right of appeal to the district court as well as the defendant. The State v. Tait, 22 Id., 140 but that section has been omitted from the code.

That section (5094) was afterwards held to be in conflict with that clause of the constitution of the state declaring that "no person shall after acquittal be tried for the same offense" in The State v. Van Horton, 26 Id., 402.

An appeal will lie to the district court from the judgment of the mayor of a town, incorporated under the general law, for the violation of a town ordinance. State for use, etc., v. Hoag, 46 Id., 337.

A prosecuting witness who has been adjudged by a justice of the peace to pay the costs of a criminal prosecution, may, in the name of the state, appeal from the judgment of the justice to the district court. The State v. Roney, 37 Id., 30.

A writ of error does not lie from the district court to an inferior court in criminal cases. The only mode of review is by appeal. The State v. Flinn, 51 Id., 133; The City of Ottumwa v. Schaub, 52 Id., 515.

Where on a conviction before a justice of the peace, the justice informs the defendant of his right to appeal, and the defendant gives the requisite notice the appeal is taken. Anderson v. Park, 57 Id. 69.

SEC. 4698. [Bail: form of bond.]-The justice must thereupon enter an order on his docket, fixing the amount in which bail may be given by the defendant, and the execution of the judgment against the defendant, shall not be stayed, unless bail in that amount be put in, by an undertaking substantially in the following form:

County of.....

A. B. having been convicted before C. D., a justice of the peace of said county, of the crime of (here designate it generally as in the information), by a judgment rendered on the.....day of....., A. D., 18.., and having appealed from said judgment to the district court of said county:

We, A. B., and E. F. (or I, E. F.) or (we, E. F. and G. A.), hereby undertake that the said A. B. will appear in the district court of said county, at the term thereof to which the appeal is returnable, and abide the judgment of said court, and not depart without leave of the same, or that we (or I, as the case may be) will pay to the state of Iowa the sum of....dollars (the amount of bail fixed).

A. B.
E. F.

(as the case may be).

Acknowledged before, and accepted by me, at ..., in the township of....., this ...day of...., 18..

C. D.,

Justice of the Peace.

The condition of an appeal bond in a criminal case, should be, that the defendant will appear, will not depart from the court without leave, and will abide the judgment of the court. A bond conditioned that the defendant will pay whatever amount may be adjudged against him, cannot be required. The State v. Beneke, 9 Iowa. 203.

SEC. 4699. [Qualifications.]-The bail must possess the qualifications, must justify, and must be taken in the same manner prescribed in chapter thirty-eight of this title, and the same proceedings had in all respects, as nearly as applicable, except in this chapter otherwise provided.

SEC. 4700. [By whom taken.]-The bail may be taken by the justice who rendered the judgment, or by any magistrate in the county who has authority to admit to bail, or by the district court or the clerk thereof.

SEC. 4701. [Witness bound over.]-When an appeal is taken, the justice must cause all material witnesses to enter into an undertaking, as in a case where a defendant is held to answer on a preliminary examination, to appear and testify on the trial of the appeal in the district court, at the term at which it is returnable, and shall as soon as practicable, and at least ten days before the first day of such term, of the district court of the county, file in the office of the clerk thereof a certified copy of the entries on his docket, together with all the undertakings and papers in the case.

TRIAL IN DISTRICT COURT.

SEC. 4702. [Trial when appealed.]-The cause, when thus appealed, shall stand for trial anew in the district court, in the same manner that it should have been tried before the justice, and as nearly as practicable as an issue of fact upon an indictment, without regard to technical errors or defects which have not prejudiced the substantial rights of either party; and the court has full power over the case, the justice of the peace, his docket entries, and his return, to administer the justice of the case accordingly.

An appeal from the judgment of a justice of the peace in a criminal action is a waiver of irregularities in the justice's court, the cause then standing in the district court for a trial de novo upon its merits. State v. McCombs, 13 Iowa, 426.

When the the record discloses that in the trial before the justice, the defendant was present and asked for a jury, a plea of "not guilty" will be presumed, if the justice has failed to enter it upon his docket. Id.

In such cases the district court may, under section 3586 of the code, order a plea of "not guilty" to be supplied as an omission apparent on the face of the records. Id.

SEC. 4703. [Appeal not dismissed.—No appeal from the judgment of a justice of the peace in a criminal case shall be dismissed.

SEC. 4704. [District court.—If any proceedings be necessary to carry the judgment upon the appeal into effect, they shall be had in the district court.

SEC. 4705. [Either party may appeal.—Either party may appeal from the judgment of the district court, to the supreme court, in the same manner as from a judgment in a prosecution by indictment, and the defendant may be admitted to bail in like manner, and similar proceedings shall be had on the appeal in all respects, as nearly as applicable.

SEC. 4706. [Judgment upon appeal.—The same proceedings shall be had to carry into effect the judgment of the supreme court upon the appeal, as if it had been taken from a judgment prosecuted by indictment.

CHAPTER 53.

OF PROCEEDINGS BEFORE POLICE AND CITY COURTS IN INCORPORATED CITIES AND TOWNS.

SECTIONS 4707. [Proceedings in police court.—The proceedings in police and city courts in incorporated cities and towns, in criminal cases within their jurisdiction, shall be regulated by the provisions of this code, when not otherwise regulated by law.

A party brought to trial in a police court of a city of this state charged with a violation of a city ordinance is not entitled to jury trial; nor is he entitled to demand a change of venue. Zelle v. McHenry, 51 Iowa, 572.

CHAPTER 54.

ON COMPROMISING CERTAIN OFFENSES BY LEAVE OF THE COURT.

SECTION 4708. [Offense may be compromised: exceptions.—When a defendant is prosecuted in a criminal action for a misdemeanor, for which the person injured by the act constituting the offense has a remedy by a civil action, the offense may be compromised as provided in the next section, except when it was committed:

1. By, or upon an officer while in the execution of the duties of his office;
2. Riotously; or,
3. With an intent to commit a felony.

SEC. 4709. [Same: court may stay proceedings.—If the party injured in such a case, appear before the court to which the papers on a preliminary examination are required to be returned, at any time before trial, on an indictment for the offense, or the trial of an appeal in the district court, and acknowledge in writing that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the court may in its discretion, on payment of the costs incurred, order all proceedings to be stayed upon the prosecution, and the defendant to be discharged therefrom. But in that case the reason for the order must be set forth therein, and entered upon the minutes.

SEC. 4710. [Order: bar.].—The order authorized by the last section is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

SEC. 4711. [Public offense not compromised.].—No public offense can be compromised, nor can any proceedings for the prosecution or punishment thereof, upon a compromise, be stayed, except as provided in this chapter.

CHAPTER 55.

OF PARDONS AND THE REMISSION OF FINES AND FORFEITURES.

SECTION 4712. [Governor may remit fines and forfeitures.].—The governor shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper. After conviction of murder in the first degree no pardon shall be granted by the governor until he shall have presented the matter to, and obtained the advice of, the general assembly thereon. Before presenting the matter to the general assembly for their action, he shall cause a notice containing the reasons assigned for granting the pardon to be published in two newspapers of general circulation, one of which shall be published at the capital and the other in the county where the conviction was had, and if there be no such paper in such county, then in some adjoining county, for four successive weeks, the last publication to be at least twenty days prior to the commencement of the session of the general assembly to which the matter shall be presented.

The governor of the state has the power to annex to a pardon any condition precedent or subsequent, provided it be not illegal, immoral, or impossible to be performed. Arthur v. Craig, 48 Iowa, 264.

Where a pardon was granted by the governor upon certain conditions, and it was stipulated therein that upon any violation of such conditions the person pardoned should be liable to summary arrest, and to confinement in the penitentiary for the remainder of the term for which he had been sentenced, and it was further stipulated that the judgment of the executive should be conclusive as to the violations of the conditions of the pardon, held, that upon the violation of the conditions of the pardon the legal status of the party became the same as it was before the pardon was granted. Id.

A general pardon from the governor to a convict does not operate as a remission of the judgment for costs against him. Estep v. Lacy, 35 Id., 419.

SEC. 4713. [Application for pardon.].—When an application is made to the governor for a pardon, reprieve, or commutation, or for the remission of a fine or forfeiture, he may require the judge of the court, or the district attorney, or attorney-general, by whom the action was prosecuted, or the clerk of such court, to furnish him without delay a copy of the minutes of the evidence taken on the trial, and of any other facts having reference to the propriety of his exercise of his powers in the premises. He may also take the testimony of such persons bearing upon such application as he may deem advisable, and for this purpose is authorized to administer the necessary oath. Any person who, in giving such testimony, shall swear falsely, and any person who shall knowingly and corruptly make any false statements in an affidavit intended to be used in connection with an application for pardon, or for remission of fine or forfeiture, shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be punished therefor as provided by law.

SEC. 4714. [When officer to make return to secretary of state.].—Whenever any convict is pardoned, or reprieved, or his sentence commuted, or any fine or forfeiture is remitted, it is the duty of the officer to whom the warrant is directed, as soon as may be after executing the same, to make a return in writing thereon to the secretary of state of his doings under the same, and sign the same with his name of office, and must also file in the office of the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had, or in which it was to have been enforced, a certified copy of the warrant and return, the proper entries in relation to which shall be made by such clerk.

OF ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN.

SECTION 4715. [Complaint may be made.]—When any woman residing in any county of the state is delivered of a bastard child, or is pregnant with a child, which, if born alive, will be a bastard, complaint may be made in writing by any person to the district court of the county where she resides, stating that fact, and charging the proper person with being the father thereof. The proceedings shall be entitled in the name of the state against the accused as defendant.

The mother of an illegitimate child may, by a fair settlement, founded upon a reasonable consideration with the putative father, preclude herself and the county from the right to maintain a proceeding under the provisions of the statute relating to bastardy to secure to her the maintenance of the child. Black Hawk County v. Cotter, 32 Iowa, 125; Holmes v. The State, 2 G. Greene, 501.

In a proceeding in bastardy, under this section, a defendant may be found guilty upon the unsupported evidence of the prosecutrix. Such an action is triable by ordinary proceedings, and a preponderance of evidence, only, is necessary to a conviction. The State v. McGlothlen, 56 Id., 544.

The circuit court has no power to order that the defendant in a bastardy proceeding shall pay specified sums at fixed periods for the maintenance of the child. This power is reserved to the district court. Id.

[This decision was made under the statute as it stood prior to the code of 1873. Under the code it would seem that the circuit court has no jurisdiction whatever in bastardy cases.

The statute respecting proceedings to enforce the support of bastard children by their fathers are merely local police regulations, and cannot be enforced beyond the limits of the state; but where the local jurisdiction has attached, and the courts of the state have taken cognizance and rendered judgment for the penalty prescribed by the statute, such judgment is entitled to full faith and credit in every other state. The State of Indiana, ex rel. Stone, v. Helmer, 21 Id., 370. As to the jurisdiction of the county court in bastardy cases, see Mills County v. Hamaker, 11 Id., 206.

A man who marries a woman known by him to be enceinte is regarded by the law as adopting the child into his family at its birth, and he becomes liable for its support as a parent, and an action against the natural father for its support as a bastard will not lie, but this rule of adoption does not apply in cases involving questions of heirship and inheritance. The State v. Shoemaker, 62 Id., 343.

SEC. 4716. [Filing: notice to be given.]—Upon the filing of the complaint, the clerk shall cause notice to be given to the person so charged as in an ordinary action.

SEC. 4717. [Lien created.]—From the time of the filing of such complaint, a lien shall be created upon the real property of the accused in the county where the action is pending, for the payment of any money and the performance of any order adjudged by the proper court.

SEC. 4718. [When complaint verified district judge to issue attachment.]—If the complaint is verified, the district judge may order an attachment to issue thereon without bond, which order shall specify the amount of property to be seized under the attachment, and may be revoked at any time by such judge or the district court, on a showing made to either for a revocation of the same, and on such terms as such court or judge may deem proper in the premises.

SEC. 4719. [District attorney prosecute.]—The district attorney, on being notified of the facts justifying a complaint as contemplated in section four thousand seven hundred and fifteen of this chapter, or of the filing of such complaint, shall prosecute the matter in behalf of the complainant.

SEC. 4720. [Issue how tried.]—The issue on the trial shall be “guilty” or “not guilty,” and shall be tried as an ordinary action.

In a proceeding in bastardy, under this section, a defendant may be found guilty upon the unsupported evidence of the prosecutrix. Such an action is triable by ordinary proceedings, and a preponderance of evidence only is necessary to a recovery. The State v. McGlothlen, 61 Iowa, 312.

SEC. 4721. [Judgment and execution.]—If the accused be found guilty, he shall be charged with the maintenance of the child in such sum or sums, and in such manner as the court shall direct, and with the costs of the suit; and the clerk may issue execution for any sum ordered to be paid immediately, and afterwards, from time to time, as it shall be required to compel compliance with the order of the court.

Under this section the defendant in a bastardy proceeding is not liable for the lying in expenses of the mother, and a judgment against him even for costs was held erroneous, there being no liability except such as the statute provides. State v. Beaty,

SEC. 4722. [Court may enlarge, diminish or vacate order.]—The court may, at any time, enlarge, diminish or vacate any order or judgment rendered in the proceeding herein contemplated, on such notice to the defendant as the court or judge may prescribe.

TITLE XXVI.

OF THE DISCIPLINE AND GOVERNMENT OF PRISONS, AND OF THE PENITENTIARY, ITS GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE.

CHAPTER 1.

OF IMPRISONMENT FOR PUBLIC OFFENSES, AND THE DISCIPLINE OF PRISONS.

SECTION 4723. [Jails: for what used.—The common jails now erected, or which may hereafter be erected in the several counties in this state, in charge of the respective sheriffs, are to be used as prisons:

1. For the detention of prisoners charged with an offense, and duly committed for trial or examination;

2. For the detention of persons who may be duly committed to secure their attendance as witnesses on the trial of any criminal cause;

3. For the confinement of persons pursuant to sentence upon conviction for any offense, and of all other persons duly committed for any cause authorized by law;

4. The provisions of this section extend to persons detained or committed by authority of the courts of the United States as well as the courts and magistrates of this state.

SEC. 4724. [Keeper's duty.—It is the duty of the keeper of the jail of the county to see that the same is constantly kept in a cleanly and healthy condition, and he must pay strict attention to the personal cleanliness of all the prisoners in his custody as far as may be. Each prisoner must be furnished daily with as much clean water as may be necessary for drink and for personal cleanliness, and with a clean towel and shirt once a week, and must be served three times each day with wholesome food, which must be well cooked, and in sufficient quantity.

SEC. 4725. [Sheriff's duty.—The sheriff of the county must keep a true and exact calendar of all prisoners committed to any prison under his care, which calendar must contain the names of all persons who are committed, their place of abode, the time of their commitment, the time of discharge, the cause of commitment, the authority that committed them, and description of their person; and when any prisoner is liberated, such calendar must state the time when, and the authority by which such liberation took place; and if any person escape, it must state particularly the time and manner of such escape.

SEC. 4726. [Calendar for district court.—At the opening of each term of the district court within his county, the sheriff must return a copy of such calendar under his hand to the judge of such court; and if any sheriff neglect or refuse so to do, he shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 4727. [What furnished prisoners.—The keeper of each jail must furnish necessary bedding, clothing, fuel and medical aid for all prisoners under his charge, and keep an accurate account of the same.

SEC. 4728. [When jail takes fire.—Whenever, by reason of any jail being on fire, or any building contiguous or near to a jail being on fire, there be reason to apprehend that the prisoners confined in such jail may be injured or endangered thereby, the sheriff or keeper of such jail may, at his discretion, remove such prisoners to some safe and convenient place, and there confine them so long as may be necessary to avoid such danger.

RELATING TO SEPARATE APARTMENTS IN JAILS AND PRISONS FOR FEMALES.

An Act providing for a separate apartment in jails and prisons for the detention of females, and making their detention otherwise unlawful.

SECTION 1. [Separate apartments shall be provided in jails and prisons for females.]—Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa: All jails and prisons now erected or which may be hereafter erected in the several counties and cities in this state, shall be provided with a separate apartment for the detention of females in such jail or prison.

SEC. 2. [Females shall be detained in separate apartments.]—All females detained in such jail or prison shall be so detained only in the female apartment thereof, and it shall be unlawful for any sheriff or keeper of any jail to detain at the same time both males and females in the same apartment.

Approved, April 13, 1886.

INSPECTOR OF JAILS.

SEC. 4729. [Who constitute.]—In each county of this state the judge of the circuit court and district attorney are inspectors of the jails respectively, and have power, from time to time, to visit and inspect the same, and inquire into all matters connected with the government, discipline and police of such prisons.

SEC. 4730. [Their duty.]—It is the duty of such inspectors to visit and inspect such prisons twice each year, and at the next district court which is thereafter held in their county, to present to such court on the first day of its sitting, a detailed report of the condition of such prisons at the time of such inspection.

SEC. 4731. [Report.]—Such report must state the number of persons confined in such prison, and for what cause respectively, the number of persons usually confined in one room, the distinction, if any, usually observed in the treatment of the prisoners, the evils, if any, found to exist in such prisons; and particularly whether any provisions of this chapter have been violated or neglected, and the cause of such violation or neglect.

SEC. 4732. [Rights to inspect given fully.]—The keepers of such prisons shall admit the said inspectors, or any of them, into any part of such prisons, to exhibit to them on demand, all the books, papers, documents and accounts pertaining to the prison or to the prisoners confined therein, and to render them every other facility in their power to enable them to discharge the duties above prescribed.

SEC. 4733. [May swear officers.]—For the purpose of obtaining the necessary information to enable them to make such reports as is above required in this chapter, the said inspectors have power to examine on oath, to be administered by either of them, any of the officers of such prison, or any of the prisoners therein.

SEC. 4734. [Refractory prisoners.]—If any person confined in any jail upon a conviction or charge of any offense, is refractory or disorderly, or if he willfully destroy or injure any article of bedding, or other furniture, door or window, or any other part of such prison, the sheriff of the county, after due inquiry, may chain and secure such person, or cause him to be kept in solitary confinement not more than ten days for any one offense; and during such solitary confinement he may be fed with bread and water only, unless other food is necessary for the preservation of his health.

SEC. 4735. [Expenses of jail.]—All charges and expenses of safe keeping, and maintaining convicts and persons charged with public offenses and committed for examination or trial to the county jail, shall be paid from the county treasury, the accounts therefor being first settled and allowed by the board of supervisors; except prisoners committed or detained by the authority of the courts of the United States, in which case the United States must pay such expenses to the county.

A sheriff may procure the articles he is required by the statute to furnish for the use of the prisoners in his custody on the credit of his county, and the persons furnishing the same may maintain an action directly against the county for the purchase price. The person thus supplying articles for prisoners is bound to know that the articles supplied are suitable for the purpose, and possibly that they are necessary, but he is not required to determine beyond that whether or not the sheriff has properly exercised the discretion vested in him by the statute. Fildenheimer v. The County of Woodbury, 56 Iowa, 379.

This section was not intended to fix the fees or compensation of the sheriff for any services performed by him in, and about the keeping of, prisoners in the county jail, but its object and purpose was to designate the source from whence the money should come to pay all legal charges and expenses connected with the safe keeping and maintenance of prisoners in the county jails. Grubb v. Louisa County, 40 Id., 314.

The sheriff who employs a jailor, and not the county, is liable for the payment of his services. McDonald v. Woodbury County, 48 Id., 404.

The sheriff has power to bind the county for necessities of a prisoner in his custody awaiting preliminary examination; and where a prisoner cannot be confined in the jail, the county is responsible for the necessities furnished him while in custody elsewhere. Miller v. Dickinson County, 68 Id., 102.

HARD LABOR.

SEC. 4736. [Who by: and when labor must be performed.]—Any able bodied male person over the age of sixteen years and not over the age of fifty years, now or hereafter confined in any jail in this state, under the judgment of any court of record or of any other tribunal authorized to imprison for the violation of any law, ordinance, by-law, or police regulation, may be required to labor during the whole or part of the time of his sentence, as hereinafter provided, and such court or other tribunal, when passing final judgment of imprisonment, whether for non-payment of fine or otherwise, shall have the power to determine, and shall determine whether such imprisonment shall be at hard labor or not.

One sentenced to pay a fine for the violation of a city ordinance may be confined at hard labor, but the term of his imprisonment cannot exceed one day for every three and one-third dollars of the fine, and he will be entitled to a credit of one dollar and fifty cents upon the judgment for each day's labor. The City of Keokuk v. Dressell, 47 Iowa, 597. To the same effect is The State v. Jordan, 39 Id., 387.

SEC. 4737. [On highways, public grounds, and buildings.]—Such labor may be on the streets or public highways on or about public buildings or grounds, or at such other places in the county where confined, and during such reasonable time of the day as the person having charge of the prisoners may direct, and not exceeding eight hours per day.

SEC. 4738. (As amended by ch. 153 21st g. a.) [When sheriff to superintend.]—In case the sentence be for the violation of any of the statutes of the state, the sheriff of the county where the imprisonment is, shall superintend the performance of the labor herein contemplated, and shall furnish the tools and materials, if necessary, to work with, at the expense of the county in which the convict is confined, and such county shall be entitled to his earnings. [Such labor shall be performed under the direction of the board of supervisors and in accordance with such regulations as said board shall make, not inconsistent with section 4737 of the code and such labor shall not be leased.]

SEC. 4739. [When marshal shall.]-When the imprisonment is pursuant to the judgment of any court, police court, police magistrate, mayor, or other tribunal of any incorporated city or town, for the violation of any ordinance, by-law, or other regulation, the marshal shall superintend the performance of the labor herein contemplated, and shall furnish the tools and materials, if necessary, at the expense of the city or town requiring the labor, and such city or town shall be entitled to the earnings of its convicts.

SEC. 4740. [Officers to prevent escapes.]-The officer having charge of any convicts for the purpose specified in this chapter, may use such means as, and no more, than are necessary to prevent escape, and if any convict attempt to escape, either while going from or returning to the jail, or while at labor, or at any time, or if he refuse to labor, the officer having him in charge, after due inquiry may, to secure such person, or to cause him to labor, use the means authorized by section four thousand seven hundred and thirty-four of this chapter; provided, such punishment shall be inflicted within the jail or jail enclosure for refusal to work and shall not be considered as any part of the time for which the prisoner is sentenced.

SEC. 4741. [Prisoners credited for labor.]-For every day's labor performed by any convict under the provisions hereof, there shall be credited on any judgment for fine and costs against him, the sum of one dollar and fifty cents, and no person shall be entitled to the benefits of the law providing for the liberation of poor convicts, if, in the opinion of the sheriff, the judgment may be satisfied by the labor of the person as herein authorized.

If a defendant sentenced to pay a fine be also sentenced to be committed at labor until the fine is paid he is entitled to a credit of one dollar and a half on the judgment, but the power of the court to direct the imprisonment is limited to one day for every three and one-third dollars of the fine, under section 4092 of the code. A sentence of imprisonment until the fine is paid by labor at the rate of one dollar and a half per day, is erroneous. The State v. Jordan, 39 Iowa, 387; The City of Keokuk v. Dressell, 47 Id., 517.

If a sheriff in his answer in a habeas corpus proceeding for the discharge of a prisoner under sentence until a fine is paid, admits facts entitling him to a discharge under this section, he is not deprived of the right to be discharged by the filing of a substituted answer, by the sheriff, averring that in his opinion the judgment may be satisfied by the labor of the prisoner. In re Jordan, 39 Id., 394.

SEC. 4742. [Cruel treatment of prisoner.]-If any officer or other person treat any prisoner in a cruel or inhuman manner, he shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding twelve months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 4743. [Duty of officers in charge of prisoners.]-The officer having such a prisoner in charge shall protect him from insult and annoyance, and communication with others while at labor, and going to and returning from the same, and he may use such means as are necessary and proper therefor; and any person persisting in insulting and annoying, or communicating with any prisoner, after being commanded by such officer to desist, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding three days.

CHAPTER 2.

OF THE PENITENTIARY OF THE STATE, AND THE GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE THEREOF.

SECTION 4744. [At Ft. Madison.]—The penitentiary at Fort Madison, in the county of Lee, shall be maintained as the penitentiary of this state, in which convicts sentenced for life or any period of time shall be confined, employed, and governed as hereinafter provided.

WARDEN.

SEC. 4745. [Warden.]—It shall be governed by a warden, subject to the supervision of the governor of the state.

SEC. 4746. (As amended by ch. 17, 20th g. a.) [How chosen and term of office: duties.]—The warden shall be elected by joint ballot of the general assembly of the state of Iowa, and shall hold his office for two years [from the first day of April following his election], and until his successor is elected and qualified. He shall be the general financial and superintending agent of the state for said institution, and shall be held responsible for its government and disciplinary regulations, for the receipt and disbursement of all moneys that may be appropriated for building construction, general support, the payment of indebtedness, or salaries of his under-officers, or for any other purpose whatever in connection with said institution.

SEC. 4747. [To give bond and take oath: conditions of.]—Before entering upon the discharge of his duty, he shall execute a bond, payable to the state of Iowa, in the penal sum of fifty thousand dollars, with not less than five freehold securities, to be approved by the governor, conditioned that he will faithfully discharge all of his duties as general superintendent and financial agent of the state for said institution, that he will faithfully apply any and all moneys that may come into his hands by virtue of his office, to the purpose for which they are appropriated, and none other; that he will cause to be kept a fair, intelligible, and business-like record of all the transactions of a monetary character connected with the institution; that he will impartially, and to the best of his ability, administer the disciplinary regulations of the institution so as to contribute to the health, safe keeping, and profitable employment of the convicts; that he will appoint no one to the office of clerk, deputy warden, or guard, through favoritism or other personal consideration; and no one without due and proper regard to their qualification for said stations; that he will render a faithful account of all the transactions of the institution to the governor, or his lawfully authorized agent, every thirty days, and as much oftener as he may be required; that he will not become directly or indirectly interested in any contract for supplying materials, labor, provisions, clothing, or any other thing for the use of said penitentiary, whereby any profit may inure to him privately; and that at the expiration of his official term he will surrender all books, papers, records, moneys, or other property or securities belonging to said institution to his successor in office. Said warden shall also take and subscribe an oath or affirmation, which shall be indorsed on the back of said bond, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Iowa, and that he will scrupulously observe all the stipulations and conditions of said bond, and faithfully discharge all his duties agreeably to law, according to the best of his ability, which bond shall be filed with the secretary of state.

SEC. 4748. [Reside in penitentiary: appoint clerk.—The warden must not carry on nor be concerned in the business of trade or commerce during his continuance in office; he must reside constantly within the precincts of the prison, and shall take charge of the penitentiary, and of all the interests of the state therewith connected, and shall appoint some suitable person as clerk, who shall also act as commissary under the direction of the warden, and one deputy, and as many guards as may be necessary to the safe keeping and government of the convicts, not exceeding one for every ten convicts under his charge, provided that at no time shall there be less than thirteen guards.

SEC. 4749. [To make report to governor.—The warden shall render to the governor of state, between the first and tenth day of every month, and as nearly as practicable every thirty days, and as much oftener as the governor may require, a statement under oath, of all the transactions of the institution, including the receipts and disbursements of funds, for which disbursements he shall, in all cases, present the proper voucher, the entering into or discharging contracts, the reception and discharge of convicts, the construction, altering or repairing the buildings, walls, etc., and all of his official acts and doings for thirty days next preceding the presentation of said monthly report, which statement must contain an exact account of all moneys received, together with a copy of all proposals received by him and from what source, and on what account, and of all moneys paid out, and for what purpose the same were expended, and a succinct account of all his doings as warden during the said period, and a reference to his authority for such action.

SEC. 4750. (As amended by ch. 82, 22d g. a.) [Report preceding each meeting of general assembly.—The warden shall, in addition to the monthly report provided for in the preceding section on or before the (fifteenth) day of (September) next preceding the commencement of any regular session of the general assembly, report to the governor, under oath, all his acts and doings for the preceding two years, and the general condition of the institution, financially and otherwise, together with the estimates necessary for the next succeeding two years, specifying distinctly the items for which those estimates and the basis upon which his calculations are made, and the governor may require a like or any other report before any special session of the general assembly.

SEC. 4751. [Must enforce discipline.—The warden shall see that the laws and disciplinary rules and regulations of the institution are faithfully executed by his under-officers, and obeyed by the convicts; and it shall be his duty, upon failure or refusal of any clerk, deputy warden, or guard, to discharge their respective duties agreeably to law, forthwith to discharge such delinquent, and fill the vacancy by the appointment of another person; and disobedience of the convicts shall be punished by the infliction of such penalties as are now provided for by law, and the rules which are now or may hereafter be prescribed for the government of said institution; provided, that it shall be the duty of the warden to keep a register of all punishments inflicted on any convict for disobedience, disorderly conduct, indolence, and of the cause for which they were inflicted.

CLERK.

SEC. 4752. [Appointment.—The clerk of the penitentiary shall receive his appointment from and hold his office during the pleasure of the warden, and be in all things responsible to said warden. Before he enters upon the discharge of his duties he shall give bond to the state of Iowa in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, with two or more free-hold securities, to be approved by the governor, conditioned that he will keep a fair, honest, impartial, and faithful record of the affairs of the penitentiary, written in a fair round hand, with proper indices, upon a system of book-keeping which shall enable him at all times to present in a plain and intelligible style the financial condition of the institution, that he will discharge all his duties of clerk and commissary faithfully, and with direct reference to the best interests of the penitentiary, agreeably to law; and that he will not become interested directly or indirectly in any contract for furnishing supplies of any nature, kind or description for the use of said institution, and that he will yield strict and implicit obedience to the laws rules and regulations of the institution, and to all the legal orders of the warden. He shall, also, take and subscribe an oath, which shall be indorsed on the back of said bond, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Iowa, and that he will scrupulously observe all the conditions, stipulations, and requirements of his bond, and will faithfully discharge his duty as clerk and commissary during his continuance in office agreeably to law according to the best of his judgment and ability; which bond shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and suit thereon may be brought for the violation of any of its conditions in the name of the state, for the use of the warden or any other person injured by such violation.

SEC. 4753. [Accounts kept by clerk.]—Among other entries to be made in the books of the institution, the clerk shall open a separate account in said books with the state, and he also shall have a cash, prisoners' fund, construction, repairing, provision, bedding and lights, fuel, salaries, hospital, and miscellaneous accounts, and account with the lessees of convict labor, and an account with each officer and guard; and all the entries belonging to any one of the classes, whether they are debits or credits, shall be made under the appropriate head; and, in order to enable the warden to render his statements herein provided for to the governor, the clerk shall, whenever required by the warden, make out a complete balance sheet and swear to the same.

DEPUTY WARDEN.

SEC. 4754. (As amended by ch. 154, 18th g. a.) [Appointed by warden: bond and oath of: duties defined.]—The deputy warden shall receive his appointment from the warden, and shall hold his office during the pleasure of the warden; and he shall give bond and security for a like amount, and in the same manner; and take a like oath, and be in all respects subject to like responsibilities with the clerk, so far as the same are applicable. He shall keep a regular time table of the convict labor and record the same in a book to be kept for that purpose, and he shall, moreover, keep a record of all the business under his control, and return an account thereof, together with an account of the convict labor to the clerk at the close of each day.

GUARDS.

SEC. 4755. [Appointed by warden: bond and oath.]—Each of the guards, when appointed, shall give bond to the warden, with security to be approved of by said warden, in the penal sum of one thousand dollars, conditioned that he will faithfully discharge his duty as such guard, agreeably to law and the rules and regulations of the prison, and the lawful orders of the warden; and shall also take and subscribe an oath, which shall be indorsed on the back of the bond that he will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Iowa, and that he will scrupulously observe all the conditions and stipulations of his bond; which bond shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the penitentiary, and a note thereof made on the record as to the date, amount, and name of the principal and his securities.

SEC. 4756. [Term of office.]—Guards thus appointed and qualified shall hold their office during the pleasure of the warden.

CHAPLAIN.

SEC. 4757. [Warden to appoint: duties.]—The warden shall appoint some suitable, discreet, minister of the gospel, chaplain of the penitentiary, who shall hold his office at the pleasure of the warden, and who shall give as much of his time as the condition and employment of the convicts will reasonably justify, in giving them moral and religious instruction, and who shall at all times, when, in the opinion of the warden, the necessary labor of the convicts or the safety of the prison do not forbid it, have access to the convicts for that purpose; and should any of the convicts be illiterate, the chaplain should so instruct them as that he may sustain the character among them of teacher as well as spiritual adviser and minister.

PHYSICIAN.

SEC. 4758. [Duties.]—The physician of the penitentiary, shall visit the prison once every day, and oftener if necessary; examine personally all sick or complaining prisoners reported to him, and prescribe such treatment as in his judgment their cases require.

SEC. 4759. [Keep record: same.]—He shall keep a book, to be called the hospital record, in which he shall accurately record the name of the patient, the age, occupation, symptoms, disease and treatment.

SEC. 4760. [Examine prisoner on reception.]—He shall examine every prisoner upon his reception, and make a record of his condition, as to age, constitution, habits, health, ability or disability.

SEC. 4761. [Post mortem examination.]—When a prisoner dies, the physician may have the privilege of a post mortem examination, unless objection be made by the relatives of such patient, and shall record the result of it, making reference in the record of treatment.

SEC. 4762. [Purchase medicines, etc.]—He shall have power and authority to purchase by concurrence with and assent of the warden, such medicines and other things as, in his judgment, are necessary for the use of the hospital, and furnish the clerk immediately with the bills of purchase, who shall compare them with the articles received.

SEC. 4763. [Must conform to rules.]—He shall, when visiting the prison, strictly conform to the rules and regulations thereof; he shall express no opinion of the ability or disability of a prisoner except in his record, which shall be authority.

SEC. 4764. [Graduate of medical school.]—He shall be a graduate of some regularly established medical college, and must be possessed of surgical instruments sufficient to perform any surgical operation liable to be required.

SEC. 4765. [Warden to appoint.]—He shall receive his appointment from the warden, with the concurrence of the governor of the state.

SEC. 4766. [Steward: duties of.]—There shall be a steward nominated by him, who shall receive his appointment from the warden, and whose duty it shall be to dispense the medicine prescribed by the physician, and to do all other things necessary to carry out the treatment as directed. He shall act as guard or keeper of the prisoners in the hospital, and shall receive the same wages as other day guards or keepers, and be subject to the same rules and regulations.

PENALTIES.

SEC. 4767. [Officers receiving perquisites.—No officer or other person employed in or about the penitentiary shall be permitted to receive in any way, perquisites for themselves or families, except that the warden shall keep his office, and reside with his family in the penitentiary, and shall be furnished with a garden of a quarter of an acre, and with fuel, lights, provisions for his family and guests, and stationery from the stock provided for the use of the prison. Nor shall they be permitted to receive any compensation or reward from any contractor, under penalty of dismissal from their office, and forfeiture of one month's pay; and if any officer procure the escape of any convict, or connive at, aid or assist in the escape of any convict from the penitentiary, whether such convict escape or not, he shall be guilty of felony, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for any term not less than one nor more than three years.

SEC. 4768. [Officers not interested in contracts.—No officer of the Iowa penitentiary shall be interested directly or indirectly in contracts for furnishing such penitentiary with provisions, clothing, or other necessaries, to be used in any manner by the inmates of such penitentiary, or for the use of such penitentiary, nor shall any or either of such officers be concerned or interested in any manner in contracts for buildings of any kind connected with such penitentiary, or for materials to be used in any such buildings of any kind connected with such penitentiary, or for materials to be used in any such buildings, or in any contract for the labor of any convict.

SEC. 4769. [Punishment for.—Should any officer, in the contemplation of the preceding section, be, or become, in any manner interested in contracts for furnishing provisions, clothing, or other necessaries for the use of such penitentiary, or be, or become, in any manner interested in contracts for buildings, or the construction of buildings of any kind, in any way connected with such penitentiary, or for furnishing material of any kind for the construction of such buildings, or in any contract for the labor of convicts, such officer so interested shall, on proof being made of his being so interested, be removed from office, and shall forfeit any interest he may have in any such contract, and on conviction of being so interested by a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be fined in any sum not more than two thousand dollars nor less than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 4770. [Hard labor.—All punishment in the penitentiary by imprisonment must be by confinement to hard labor, and not by solitary imprisonment; but solitary imprisonment may be used as a prison discipline for the government and good order of the convicts.

SEC. 4771. [Prisoners of U. S.—Convicts sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for life, or any term of time by any court of the United States held within this state, must be received into the prison by the warden thereof, when delivered by the authority of the United States, and there kept in pursuance of their sentences.

SEC. 4772. [Process executed.—The warden or his deputy shall serve, execute, and return all process within the precincts of the prison, and such process may be directed to him or his deputy accordingly, and for the doings of his deputy, the warden, as well as the deputy, is answerable.

SUPPLIES FURNISHED ON CONTRACT.

SEC. 4773. (As amended by ch. 186, 17th g. a.) [Estimates to be made.—All articles of food, clothing, bedding, raw materials for manufacture, fuel, and other articles that may be necessary for the use of the prisoner, must be contracted for by the year, when such contracts can be advantageously made, in the following manner: The warden shall annually make an estimate of the quantity of each article necessary for the next ensuing year, commencing on the first day of October of each year, and ending on the last day of September thereafter, and advertise that he will receive sealed proposals for furnishing and delivering at the prison such articles, or any of them, until the first day of October, payments to be made quarterly, stating the quantity and quality of each article required, the time when each article must be delivered, and the terms of payment; which advertisement he shall cause to be inserted in any one or more of the papers published in Fort Madison, and in any one or more of the papers published at the seat of government of this state, three weeks successively, the last publication to be at least one month before the first day of October in each year: [Provided, that the estimates of the warden shall first be submitted to, and approved by the governor and council before advertisement thereof; and provided further, that all bills shall be submitted to the executive council, and that the awards of contracts for supplies shall be approved by such council.]

SEC. 2. The provisions of section 4773 of the code, and the amendment herein contained, are hereby made to govern all contracts for supplies for the additional penitentiary at Anamosa.]

SEC. 4774. [Warden to take bills of supplies.—The warden must take bills of the quantity and price of the supplies furnished for the prison at the time of delivery, and must exhibit the same to the clerk, who must compare the same with the articles delivered; if the bills are found correct he must enter them with the date in a book to be kept for that purpose; in like manner, bills shall be taken and entered of all services rendered for the prison; if any such bill be found incorrect the clerk shall omit to enter it, and immediately give notice to the warden that the error may be corrected.]

SEC. 4775. [Contractor to give security.—No contract can be accepted by the warden unless the contractor give satisfactory security for the performance of it.]

ESCAPE—DISCHARGE.

SEC. 4776. [When prisoner escapes.—When any convict escapes from the penitentiary, the warden shall take all proper measures for his apprehension; and for that purpose he may offer a reward not exceeding fifty dollars, to be paid by the state, for the apprehension and delivery of such convict.]

SEC. 4777. [No discharge until full term is served.—No convict can be discharged from the penitentiary until he has remained the full term for which he was sentenced, to be computed from and including the day on which he was received into the same, exclusive of the time he may have been in solitary confinement for any violation of the rules and regulations of the prison, unless he be pardoned or otherwise released by legal authority.]

SEC. 4778. [Warden to take care of property of convict.—The warden shall receive and take care of any property that a convict may have with him at the time of his entering the penitentiary, and, when it may be convenient to place the same at interest for the benefit of such convict; of which property the warden must keep an account, and pay the same to such convict on his discharge, or, in case of his death, to his representatives, unless the same have been otherwise taken and legally disposed of.]

SEC. 4779. (As amended by ch. 48, 15th g. a.) [Clothing, etc., furnished.—When any convict is discharged from the penitentiary, the warden shall furnish transportation to said convict to any point within this state that is nearest to his former home or friends. [Or may furnish such transportation to any point of a like distance without the state.] Said transportation shall be furnished by means of tickets for passage, an account of which shall be kept by the warden and paid by the state. The warden shall also furnish to said convict a suit of common clothing and a sum of money not less than three nor more than five dollars.

SEC. 4780. [Visitors.—The warden shall demand and receive of each person, not exempt by law, except relatives of a convict confined therein, who visits the prison for the purpose of viewing the interior or precincts, a sum of twenty-five cents, of which the warden must keep an account, and which money shall be applied for the purchase of books for the use of the prison, under the direction of the inspectors.

SEC. 4781. [Who has a right to visit.—The following persons are authorized to visit the penitentiary at pleasure: The governor, secretary, auditor and treasurer of state, members of the general assembly, judges of the supreme, district and circuit courts, district attorneys of any of the districts of the state, and all regular officiating ministers of the gospel; and no other person shall be permitted to go within the walls of the prison where convicts are confined except by special permission of the warden.

SEC. 4782. [Monthly report.—The warden shall see that rigid economy is practiced in all matters pertaining to the prison and the employment of the convicts, and that duplicate receipts be taken for all expenditures made on account of the prison, one copy of which must be forwarded to the auditor of state monthly.

APPROPRIATION—SUPPORT OF CONVICTS.

SEC. 4783. (As substituted by ch. 200, 18th g. a.) [Salaries of officers.]—[There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, so much as may be necessary to pay monthly to the persons herein named the following sums, to-wit: To the warden one hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty-seven cents, to the deputy warden one hundred dollars, to the clerk, seventy dollars, to the surgeon fifty dollars, to the chaplain who shall perform the duties of teacher, seventy dollars, to the hospital stewards, fifty dollars, to the turnkey, wall guards, shop guards and night guards, fifty dollars. Provided, that the warden shall be furnished, in addition to the above, with house rent, fuel and lights for himself and family, at the expense of the state, but no further perquisites or allowances of any character shall be permitted; and provided, that on the last of each month the warden shall make and file with the auditor of state an affidavit that during said month he has not, directly or indirectly, converted to his own use any provisions, supplies, waste or materials belonging to the state, nor permitted the same to be done by any officer or person except as herein provided, which said affidavit must be filed before any warrant shall issue to the warden for his own compensation as provided in this section, and provided further, that the salaries and compensation allowed in this section shall also apply to the additional penitentiary at Anamosa, and that the warden be authorized to appoint a deputy.

(Took effect by publication in newspapers April 6, 1880.)

SEC. 4784. [How paid.—The above sums shall be paid to the warden on his requisition, monthly, accompanied with a detailed statement, in such form as the auditor shall prescribe, of the number and kinds of guards employed; and each statement shall also exhibit the payments made by the money drawn on the previous requisition.

SEC. 4785. (As amended by ch. 91, 19th g. a.) [Support of convicts.—For the general support of the convicts, there is hereby appropriated the monthly sum of [nine] dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary to each convict in said prison, to be estimated by the average number for the preceding month, subject, however, to a deduction from the whole amount for the month of the sum charged to the contractors for convict labor for that month.

SEC. 4786. [How Paid.]-The sum appropriated by the last section shall be paid on the requisition of the warden, accompanied with a statement of the number of convicts in his charge, and the amount charged to the contractors for that month.

SEC. 4787. [When contractors fail to pay.]-If, for any reason, the amount charged to the contractors for any month cannot be collected in time to be available for such support, the governor may, by his order, direct the payment of the whole or any part of the eight and one-third [seven] dollars per month.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 4788. [Auditor of state to collect debts due.]-The state auditor is required to take immediate steps to cause to be collected and accounted for all those debts owing to the state on account of the penitentiary, or in any manner connect therewith, and all outstanding claims of any nature which the state may have on that account, and to that end he may, if he finds it necessary, place any claim in the hands of the attorney-general for prosecution.

SEC. 4789. [Warden to collect debts by suit.]-In all cases where claims have accrued, or may hereafter accrue, in favor of the warden of the penitentiary of this state, which the warden shall deem it advisable to collect by law, the district attorney of the first judicial district shall bring suit upon and collect the same; and in case the governor of the state shall so direct, the attorney-general of the state shall also give his personal attention to said suits.

SEC. 4790. [Property sold under for such claims.]-Judgments now or hereafter rendered in favor of the warden of the penitentiary, shall be collected upon execution, and the attorney-general, or district attorney, shall have the same power to bid upon and purchase property upon such executions as is given where judgments are in favor of the state, and the property shall be held and disposed of for the use of the penitentiary by the governor, in the same manner.

SEC. 4791. [Actions on contracts made with warden and for injuries to property.]-All actions founded on contract made with the warden in his official capacity, may be brought by or against the warden for the time being; and any action for injuries done or occasioned to the real or personal property belonging to the state and appropriated to the use of the prison, or being under the management of the warden thereof, may be prosecuted in the name of the warden for the time being, and no such action shall abate by the warden's ceasing to be in office but his successor, upon notice, is required to assume the prosecution or defense of the same. In any such action the warden is a competent witness, and his property shall not be taken or attached in any such suit, nor shall any execution issue against him on any judgment thereon, but such judgment shall stand as an ascertained claim against the state; and whenever a new warden is appointed, all the books, accounts and papers belonging to the prison shall be delivered to him, and he shall be vested with all the powers and subject to all the obligations with regard to any contract or any debts due to or from the prison that his predecessor would have been if no change had taken place in the office.

SEC. 4792. [When office of warden is vacant.]-Whenever the office of warden is vacant, or he is absent from the prison, or unable to perform the duties of his office, the deputy warden has the power to perform the duties and shall be subject to all the obligations and liabilities of the warden.

SEC. 4793. [Overseers.]-Persons having suitable knowledge and skill in the branches of labor and manufacture carried on in the prison, may, when practicable, be employed as overseers; and they must respectively superintend such portions of the labor of convicts for which they are most suitably qualified, and which shall be assigned to them by the warden; and all of them as well as the other subordinate officers of the prison, must perform such service in the management, superintending and guarding of the prison, as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations, or directed by the warden.

SEC. 4794. [Delinquency of officer.].—If any subordinate officer of the prison is guilty of negligence or unfaithfulness in the discharge of his duties, or of a violation of any of the laws or rules and regulations for the government of the prison, the warden may deduct from the pay of such officer a sum not exceeding his pay for one month.

SEC. 4795. [Pestilence among convicts.].—In case of any pestilence or contagious sickness breaking out among the convicts in the prison, the warden may cause the convicts confined therein, or any of them, to be removed to some suitable place of security, where such of them as are sick shall receive all necessary care and medical assistance. Such convicts must be returned as soon as may be to the penitentiary, to be confined according to their respective sentences if the same be unexpired.

SEC. 4796. [Negligence of officers.].—If any officer or other person employed in the prison or its precincts, negligently suffer any convict confined therein to be at large without the precincts of the prison, or out of the cell or apartment assigned to him, or to be conversed with, relieved or comforted contrary to law or the rules and regulations of the prison, he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

SEC. 4797. [Resistance to authority.].—If a convict sentenced to the penitentiary resist the authority of any officer, or refuse to obey his lawful commands, it is the duty of such officer immediately to enforce obedience by the use of such weapons or other aid as may be effectual; and if in so doing any convict thus resisting be wounded or killed by such officer or his assistants, they are justified and shall be held guiltless.

SEC. 4798. [Insurrection.].—It is the duty of all the officers and other citizens of the state, by every means in their power, to suppress any insurrection among the convicts sentenced to the penitentiary, and to prevent the escape or rescue of any such convict therefrom, or from any other legal confinement, or from any person in whose legal custody they may be; and if in so doing or in arresting any convict who may have escaped, such officer or other person wound or kill such convict, or other person aiding or assisting such convict, they shall be justified and held guiltless.

SEC. 4799. [Governor to visit penitentiary: duty of.].—The governor shall visit said penitentiary personally, as often, at least, as once in three months, to inspect the books, papers and records of the clerk and deputy warden, and strictly to inquire into the official conduct of the warden, to examine into the general, economical, sanitary, and disciplinary regulations of the prison; and to alter and amend the same in any manner which may be best calculated to promote economy in expenditure, and the health, safe keeping and obedience of convicts, and all such alterations and amendments shall be reduced to writing, and signed by the governor, and filed by him with the clerk, who shall forthwith record the same. And in case it is impracticable at any time for the governor to make such visit and inspection personally, he may appoint some suitable person to perform that service and report to him; but such person so appointed shall not have the power to make any alteration in the government of the institution, but may report to the governor only; and it is hereby made the duty of the governor to perform the service personally, if practicable.

SEC. 4800. [Governor may appoint visitor.].—In making the appointment of visitor, as provided for in the preceding section; the governor shall take care that no one is appointed who may be supposed to be under the influence surrounding said penitentiary, or any of its officers, nor shall any one be appointed who had hitherto been officially connected therewith, nor shall the same person be appointed twice in succession.

SEC. 4801. [Governor may remove warden and fill vacancy.].—Should the governor at any time become satisfied that the warden is guilty of official negligence or malfeasance, in any particular, so that the safety or health of the convicts is endangered, or any funds appropriated for said institution, illegally invested or misapplied, or that said warden is in any manner conducting the affairs of the prison contrary to law and good faith, he shall forthwith remove said warden, notifying him of the specific causes for his removal, and also reporting to the next session of the general assembly, specifying his reasons therefor. He shall also appoint a warden to fill the vacancy thus occasioned, who shall qualify in the same manner as the regularly elected warden, but shall hold his office only until the next succeeding general assembly.

SEC. 4802. [To fill vacancy.].—The governor shall also fill all vacancies that may occur in the office of warden by death, resignation or otherwise, between the sessions of the general assembly, but no appointment thus made shall last over a session of the general assembly.

SEC. 4803. [Governor to be allowed traveling expenses.].—For the services herein required of the governor, he shall be allowed out of the state treasury his traveling expenses, and he shall present a bill therefor, under oath, to the auditor of state, which bill, thus sworn to, shall be a sufficient voucher for the auditor to issue his warrant on the treasury of the state for the amount so claimed.

SEC. 4804. [Compensation of visitor.].—Should the governor be compelled to appoint any person or persons to visit the penitentiary, as herein provided, such person shall render to the governor an account of his traveling expenses and time employed under said appointment, which account shall be sworn to, and the governor shall determine the amount to which said person is entitled, not exceeding three dollars per day and expenses, and shall give him a certificate thereof, which certificate shall authorize the auditor to issue his warrant on the treasurer of state for said amount in favor of the person entitled thereto.

SEC. 4805. [Penalty for failure of duty.].—Should any person required to perform any duty relative to the penitentiary, willfully fail or refuse obedience thereto, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and shall forfeit his office, and should said willful failure or refusal result in the escape of any of the convicts, or in loss of any of the funds appropriated to the use and benefit of the penitentiary, provided said sum so lost shall exceed the amount of twenty dollars, he shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not less than two or more than ten years.

SEC. 4806. [Penitentiary at Anamosa.].—Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to repeal or in any way affect chapters forty-three or one hundred and eight of the fourteenth general assembly, providing for an additional penitentiary at or near Anamosa, in the county of Jones.

An Act to equalize the good time that may be earned by convicts at the penitentiaries, amendatory of section 4754 of the code, and of chapter 43 of the general and public laws of the fourteenth general assembly, chapter 40 of the sixteenth general assembly, and chapter 187 of the acts of the seventeenth general assembly.

SECTION 1. [Deputy warden to keep books.]—Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Iowa: That the deputy warden of the penitentiary of the state at Fort Madison, and the warden of the additional penitentiary at Anamosa, shall each keep a book in which shall be entered a record of every infraction by a prisoner of the published rules of discipline, with the name of the prisoner guilty. Every prisoner sentenced to either of said penitentiaries for a term of years, or less, who shall have, at the end of the first month, no infraction of discipline recorded against him, shall be entitled to diminution of one day from the time he was sentenced to such penitentiary, and if at the end of the second month no infraction of the rules to be recorded against him he shall be entitled to two additional days of diminution from his sentence; and if he shall continue to have no such record against him for the third month, his time shall be shortened three additional days; and if he shall so continue to have no such record against him for the fourth month, his time shall be shortened four addition days; and if he shall so continue for subsequent months, he shall be entitled to five days diminution of his time from each month he shall so continue his good behavior, and if any prisoner shall so pass the whole term of his service he shall be entitled to a certificate thereof from the warden, and upon presentation thereof to the governor he shall be entitled to a restoration of the rights of citizenship that may have been forfeited by his conviction and sentence; and it shall be the duty of the warden to discharge such convict from such penitentiary when he shall have served the time of his service less the number of days he may be entitled to have deducted therefrom, in the same manner as if no such deduction had been made.

SEC. 2. [Construction of.]—This act shall not be construed so as to increase the good time earned by prisoners in the penitentiary of the state at Fort Madison prior to the act going into effect: Provided, however, that prisoners transferred to said penitentiary from the additional penitentiary at Anamosa shall be entitled to the same allowance for good time that they would have been allowed at said additional penitentiary.

SEC. 3. Section 4754 of the code is amended by striking therefrom all after the word "day" in the tenth line thereof; and section 1 of chapter 187 of the acts of seventeenth general assembly is amended by striking therefrom all after the word "day" in the ninth line thereof; section 12 of chapter 43 of the general and public laws of the fourteenth general assembly is hereby repealed.

(CHAPTER 69, LAWS OF 1888.)

DEPARTMENT OF CRIMINAL INSANE, MANAGEMENT.

An Act to organize and manage the department for criminal insane at the penitentiary at Anamosa, and to fix the compensation of the officers.

SECTION 1. [Government.]—Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa: The department for the criminal insane in the penitentiary at Anamosa shall be governed by the warden as a part of the penitentiary.

SEC. 2. [Transfer of convicts.]—Whenever the building now being constructed for this department is ready for occupancy the warden shall notify the governor, who shall order all convicts now being held in the asylums at Mount Pleasant and Independence, to be transferred from such asylums to the department for criminal insane at the penitentiary at Anamosa, the state to pay the expense of such transfer.

SEC. 3. [Certificate of physician.]—Whenever any convict at the penitentiary at Fort Madison shall have become insane, the governor, upon receipt of a certificate from the physician of said penitentiary at Fort Madison, that such convict is insane, shall order him transferred to the penitentiary at Anamosa to be kept in the department for criminal insane for treatment.

SEC. 4. [Unexpired term of cured convicts.]—Whenever a convict who has been transferred from the penitentiary at Fort Madison is confined in the department for the criminal insane, and who shall be pronounced cured before his time has expired, he shall be held in the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve out his unexpired sentence.

SEC. 5. Whenever a convict in the penitentiary at Anamosa is pronounced insane by the physician of said penitentiary the warden shall place him in the department for criminal insane for treatment.

SEC. 6. [Examination at end of term of sentence.]—No insane convict shall be discharged from the hospital apartment, provided for the criminal insane, until such convict shall be restored to reason, except as hereinafter provided. At the expiration of the term of sentence of such convict, an examination shall be made by competent physicians, and if it shall be found that such convict has not been restored to reason, such fact shall be certified to the governor; thereupon the governor shall investigate the matter and if in his discretion, such insane convict should be transferred to one of the hospitals for the insane, he may order said convict to be transferred, or he may order that said convict shall be retained in the hospital apartment of the prison for criminal insane.

SEC. 7. [Physician.]—The physician for the penitentiary at Anamosa shall also be the physician for the department for criminal insane, and his salary is fixed at one hundred dollars per month, for his entire services as a physician for the penitentiary and the criminal insane.

SEC. 8. [Rooms used.]—Whenever the department for criminal insane is ready for occupancy, the warden may use one ward for female convicts until such time as the department for female convicts is completed; also a portion of the building may be used for hospital purposes for the main prison, until such time as the hospital is built; provided, however that the use of said rooms shall not interfere with the comfort of the criminal insane.

SEC. 9. The warden shall be governed by the same law in appointing guards for the department for insane, as he is in appointing them for the penitentiary.

SEC. 10. [Assistant deputy.]—Whenever the department for criminal insane is completed the warden may appoint an assistant deputy who shall give a bond to the state in the sum of three thousand dollars to be approved by the governor; said assistant deputy to have charge of the department for criminal insane, under the direction of the warden and deputy, and to assist the deputy in other work if desired, and who shall receive for his services eighty-three and one-third dollars per month.

Approved, April 10, 1888.

(CHAPTER 40, LAWS OF 1876.)

ADDITIONAL PENITENTIARY.

An Act to amend chapter 43 of the acts of the fourteenth general assembly, and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. [Expiration of present term of officers.]—Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa: That the present term of office of the commissioners and warden of the additional penitentiary at Anamosa, shall terminate on the first day of April, next.

SEC. 2. [Warden shall be elected.]*—*The warden of said penitentiary shall be elected by the general assembly, and shall hold his office for two years from the first day of April, 1876, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

SEC. 3. [Salaries of officers.]*—*The provisions of the statute relative to the appointment and salary of clerk, physician and hospital steward, for the Fort Madison penitentiary shall also apply to the additional penitentiary at Anamosa; provided, that until the number of prisoners shall reach two hundred the salary of the physician shall not exceed thirty dollars per month, and the warden shall employ some suitable person who shall act as religious adviser and teacher, at a salary not to exceed forty dollars per month.

SEC. 4. [Warden, his powers and duties.]*—*The warden, under the direction of the executive council, shall have charge of the erection of the walls, and buildings of said penitentiary, according to the plans and specifications already adopted.

He may, with consent of the executive council, employ and discharge a superintendent, whose duty it shall be to superintend the work on the walls and buildings.

He may, with the approval of the executive council, also employ, or authorize the superintendent to employ such foreman or assistants as he may deem necessary on the buildings and at the quarries.

He may call on the architect, whenever they may deem it necessary, to visit the premises and give such instructions as may be proper.

He shall, with the approval of the executive council, purchase or cause to be purchased, all material necessary to carry out the provisions of this act; provided, that all stone used in the construction of said walls and buildings shall be taken from the state quarries whenever it can be done without loss to the state.

SEC. 5. The provisions of the statute in regard to the warden of the penitentiary at Fort Madison shall apply to the warden of the additional penitentiary so far as they do not conflict with the provisions of this act; and he shall safely guard and cause the prisoners to perform labor, and work in the preparation of material for and in the erection of said work as directed by the executive council, as to the mode and manner of work; provided, that he shall not appoint a deputy warden.

SEC. 6. [Clerk: duties: salary.]*—*The clerk of the penitentiary shall keep all accounts of expenditures and disbursements on account of said work, for which he may be paid such additional salary as the executive council may direct; provided, that his whole salary shall not exceed one thousand dollars per annum.

SEC. 7. [Warden to keep account of convict labor.]*—*The warden shall keep an accurate account with each convict, showing the number of days' labor performed by each, and the value thereof in cash, not exceeding two dollars per day for each day of ten hours; and for each and every one hundred dollars of labor, in excess of three hundred dollars, performed in any one year, by any convict not sentenced for life, there shall be commutation of sentence of such convict, upon the recommendation of the warden, of fifty days time; and the third part of such excess shall be paid him, out of the state treasury, upon his discharge, upon the certificate of the amount due, by the warden.

SEC. 8. [Grade of prisoners to be kept.—The additional penitentiary at Anamosa, Jones county, shall be maintained as a penitentiary of the state of Iowa, in which such convicts sentenced for life, or any period of time, as the executive council may designate, shall be confined, employed and governed according to the provisions of law relating to the government and discipline of the penitentiary at Fort Madison, county of Lee, so far as the same do not come in conflict with the provisions of this act; providing, that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to authorize the leasing of the convict labor.

SEC. 9. All resolutions, acts and parts of acts, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.

Approved March 4, 1876.

(CHAPTER 187, LAWS OF 1878.)

GOVERNMENT OF THE ADDITIONAL PENITENTIARY.

An Act to amend chapter 40 of the acts of the sixteenth general assembly, relating to the additional penitentiary at Anamosa.

SECTION 1. [Chapter 40, sec. 7, 16th g. a., amended.—(Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa: That section seven (7), chapter 40, of the laws of the the sixteenth general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof is enacted the following:

SEC. 7. [Warden shall keep time-table of convict labor.—The warden shall keep a regular time-table of the convict labor and record the same in a book to be kept for that purpose; and he shall moreover keep a record of all the business under his control and return an account thereof, together with an account of the convict labor, to the clerk at the close of each day. He shall also keep a book in which shall be entered a record of every infraction of the published rule of discipline, with the name of the prisoner so guilty. And every prisoner who shall at the end of the month have no infraction of discipline recorded against him shall for the first month be entitled to a diminution of one day from the time he was sentenced to the penitentiary; and if at the end of the second month no infraction of the rules is recorded against him, two additional days of diminution from his sentence; and if he shall continue to have no such record against him for the third month, his time shall be shortened three additional days; and if he shall so continue to have no such record against him for the fourth month, his time shall be shortened four additional days; and if he shall so continue for subsequent months he shall be entitled to five days of diminution time from his sentence for each month he shall so continue his good behavior; and if any prisoner shall so pass the whole time of his service, or the remainder of his service, this act to apply to all the convicts now confined in the additional penitentiary at Anamosa, whose conduct entitles them to its benefits from the date of their commitment forward, he shall be entitled to a certificate thereof from the warden; and upon the presentation thereof to the governor, the governor may, without compliance with the requirements of section 4712 and 4713 of the code, issue to him a pardon, in which shall be recited the reasons therefor; and it shall be the duty of the warden to discharge such convict from the penitentiary when he shall have served the term of his service less the number of days he may be entitled to have deducted therefrom, in the same manner as if no such deduction had been made.

HOSPITAL FOR INSANE AT CLARINDA, COMMISSIONERS AND TRUSTEES.

An Act relating to the hospital for the insane at Clarinda, to the board of commissioners thereof, and providing trustees therefor.

SECTION 1. [Name.]*—Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa:—*That the hospital for the insane, located at Clarinda, in Page county, shall be known by the name of the Iowa Hospital for the Insane at Clarinda.

SEC. 2. [Trustees.]*—*That said hospital shall be under the charge and control of five trustees, one of whom may be a woman, one of whom shall be a resident of Page county, three of whom shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; but three affirmative votes shall be necessary to carry any measure, and no member of the general assembly shall be eligible to that office.

SEC. 3. [Terms of office.]*—*That said trustees shall be elected by the twenty-second general assembly, two of whom shall be elected for two years, two of whom shall be elected for four years, and one of whom shall be elected for six years, their term of office to commence on the second Wednesday of March, 1888.

SEC. 4. [Duties and powers.]*—*The duties and powers of said trustees shall be as the duties and powers of the trustees of the hospitals for the insane located at Mount Pleasant and Independence, provided in chapter 2, of title 11, of the code, and all amendments made thereto.

SEC. 5. [Qualification.]*—*That said trustees shall qualify in manner as the trustees for the hospitals at Mt. Pleasant and Independence, and shall convene at Clarinda, Iowa, on the second Wednesday of March 1888, and perfect their organization, take possession of the property of the state, and enter upon the discharge of their duties.

SEC. 6. [Office of commissioners vacated.]*—*That when said trustees have qualified and entered upon the discharge of their duties, the board of commissioners, who now have charge of said hospital, shall cease to act and their offices shall therefrom be vacated and thereafter the powers and duties of said board of commissioners, as provided in chapter 201 of the acts of the twentieth general assembly, shall devolve upon, and be exercised by the trustees aforesaid.

SEC. 7. [Commissioners' final report.]*—*The said board of commissioners shall on or before the first Wednesday of May, 1888, make their final report to the governor in manner as by law required.

SEC. 8. [Publication.]*—*This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect from and after its passage and publication in the Iowa State Register, and the Des Moines Leader, newspapers published at Des Moines, Iowa.

Approved Feb. 16, 1888.

(CHAPTER 47, OF REVISION OF 1860.)

SWAMP LANDS.

ARTICLE I.

AN ACT in relation to the swamp lands within the state of Iowa.

Commissioner
lands.

SECTION 918. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the commissioner of the state land office is authorized to take such steps as he thinks necessary, in order to secure to the state, the swamp lands granted by the act of congress of the 28th of September, 1850, entitled "An act to enable the state of Arkansas, and other states, to reclaim the swamp lands within their limits."

Commissioner to direct county
to examine.

SEC. 919. (2.) For this purpose the commissioner, when he has reason to believe there is any tract of swamp land within this state not reported as such by the United States surveyor, sufficient to justify a more particular examination, he shall direct the county surveyor of any county, in which said lands may be located, to make the examination, and provide the proofs necessary to secure such lands to the state, a list of which shall be returned to the land commissioner, or the authority acting in that capacity, verified by affidavit, for which services the surveyor is entitled to two dollars per day for each and every day actually employed; and for the purposes of this act, any unorganized county attached to another for election purposes in which an election precinct is organized, is declared to be a part of such organized county.

governor.

SEC. 920. (3.) Previous to the election and qualification of the commissioner of the land office, the duties above prescribed shall devolve upon the governor, whose duty it shall be to procure from the surveyor general's office a list of the lands returned to that office as swamp lands, and take other steps in the premises as in his opinion are necessary to secure the best interests of this state.

Compensation.

SEC. 921. (4.) All compensation for services rendered, or expenses incurred, in carrying out the provisions of this act, must be made out of the proceeds and sales of said swamp lands.

Levies.

SEC. 922. (5.) Subject to the approval of the governor, the county surveyor is authorized to contract with individuals or companies for making the levies or drains necessary to reclaim any of the swamp lands of the state, by giving them a portion of the lands thus reclaimed or a portion of the proceeds thereof.

Commissioner
lands.

SEC. 923. (6.) The commissioner may dispose of any of the swamp lands of the state, for such price as he may think them worth, as herein provided; for the purpose of ascertaining said value, the county surveyor and sheriff in any county in which such lands are located, may, upon the direction of the commission, appraise such lands in such manner as the school lands are now appraised, for which they are to receive a sum not exceeding two dollars per day each, for all the time actually and necessarily expended in making examination and appraisement.

Proceeds.

SEC. 924. (7.) The proceeds of the sales of such lands after paying all expenses incurred in selecting, appraising, selling and reclaiming such lands as are deemed worthy of reclaiming, shall be paid into the state treasury, subject to the disposition of the general assembly.

ARTICLE II.

AN ACT to dispose of the swamp and overflowed lands within the state, and to pay the expenses of selecting and surveying the same.

[Passed January 13, 1853; took effect February 2, 1853; laws of fourth general assembly, chapter 13.]

SECTION 925. (1.) Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That all the swamp and overflowed lands granted to the state of Iowa by the act of congress, entitled "An act to enable the state of Arkansas and other states to claim the swamp land within their limits," approved September 28, 1850, be, and the same is hereby granted to the counties respectively in which the same may lie, or be situated, for the purpose of constructing the necessary levees and drains, to reclaim the same—and the balance of said lands, if any there be after the same are reclaimed as aforesaid, shall be applied to the building of roads and bridges, when necessary, through or across said lands, and if not needed for this purpose, to be expended in building roads and bridges within the county.

Swamp lands granted to the counties where situated.

SEC. 926. (2.) Whenever it shall appear that any of the lands granted to the state by the aforesaid act of congress, shall have been sold by the United States since the passage of that act, it shall be lawful for the said counties to convey said lands to the purchasers thereof. The deed shall be made by the county court as such and countersigned by the clerk of said court, with the official seal thereof affixed, and on delivering said deed to the purchaser, the county court shall take from him an assignment of all his rights in the premises, and as such assignee, the said court shall be authorized to receive from the United States the purchase money of said land; and whenever any lands embraced by the said act have been located by county land warrants, since the passage thereof, it shall be lawful for such county in which the same are situated, to convey the same in the manner aforesaid, to the person or persons who located said warrant, and take an assignment of the same to the county court which shall thereupon be considered as grantee of the state, and as such may locate said warrant upon any of the public lands belonging to the United States within the limits of said county.

When lands have been sold by U. S.

Deed to purchaser.

When located by warrant.

SEC. 927. (3.) In all those counties where the county surveyor has made no examinations and reports of the swamp lands within his county, in compliance with the instructions from the governor, the county court shall at the next regular term thereof, after the taking effect of this act, appoint some competent person, who shall as soon as may be thereafter, after having been duly sworn for that purpose, proceed to examine said lands and make due report, and plats, upon which the topography of the country shall be carefully noted, and the places where drains or levees ought to be made, marked on the said plats, to the county courts respectively, which courts shall transmit to the proper officers, lists of all said swamp lands in each of the counties in order to procure the proper recognition of the same on the part of the United States, which lists, after an acknowledgment of the same by the general government shall be recorded in a well bound book provided for that purpose, and filed among the records of the county court.

Care and charge of lands. SEC. 928. (4.) The said lands shall be under the care and superintendence of the county courts (board of supervisors*) of the counties respectively, in which the same are situated, and at the next April election, there shall be elected an officer to be styled drainage commissioner of the county of....., who shall within twenty days after his said election, enter into a bond with good security, to be approved by the county court, payable to the people of the state of Iowa, for the use of the inhabitants of the county of....., in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of all the duties required of him, or which may hereafter be required of him by law.

Election of drainage commissioner.

Duty of county surveyor. SEC. 929. (5.) It shall be the duty of the surveyors of the several counties in this state who have surveyed, or shall survey, the swamp and overflowed lands in their respective counties, to make out plats of all the swamp and overflowed lands in the several townships, and fractional townships, within their counties, noting distinctly upon the same every tract, or parcel of swamp and overflowed land in each township, the quantity and quality thereof, as to whether the same be first, second or third rate, and it shall be his duty to return the same as soon as practicable, and in reasonable time to the clerk's office of the county court, and the said court, at some regular term thereafter, or sooner if deemed necessary, shall fix a valuation upon each tract, according to its quality, but in no case shall any of said land be valued at less than twenty cents per acre, and the plat with the description and valuation marked thereon shall be recorded in said book, and filed away among the records of the office.

Plats.

Return.

Court may fix time of sale; order sale of lands. SEC. 930. (6.) After the surveyors have returned the plats aforesaid, the valuations have been made, and recorded as aforesaid, the said court shall fix upon the proper time for selling said lands, which shall in all cases be at the county seat, and at the court-house door of the several counties. The said courts may order the whole of said lands to be sold, and the sale continued from day to day, or they may order a part only of said lands to be sold from time to time, as they may deem expedient, and all such orders, so made by them, shall be entered on record in said book.

Notice of sale. SEC. 931. (7.) The said drainage commissioner shall be notified in writing by the clerk, of all such orders, and within reasonable time thereafter, not exceeding ten days, he shall give at least forty days notice of the time and place of sale thereof, by publishing the same in some newspaper printed in the county; or if there be no such newspaper, then by posting up two notices thereof in each election precinct in the county, for the like period of forty days before said day of sale. The said notices shall contain an accurate description of the lands to be sold, and shall specify the time, place and terms thereof, and that the sale will be at public auction, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and five o'clock p. m. of the day fixed therefor, and that the same will be continued from day to day, if deemed necessary.

Contents of notice.

Order of sale. SEC. 932. (8.) In conducting the sales the said commissioner shall sell the same in such order as may be directed by the county court. No tract shall be sold for less than its valuation, and the same shall be cried separately, and long enough to enable any one to bid who desires it.

* See chapter 8, laws, extra session of the eighth general assembly, post.

SEC. 933. (9.) The terms of selling said lands shall be to the highest bidder, for cash, the amount of which, however, may be discharged by the purchaser in labor, to be performed, in manner and according to the terms hereinafter specified.

SEC. 934. (10.) Upon closing the sales each day, the purchasers shall each pay, or secure the purchase money, according to the terms of sale, or in case of his failure so to do by ten o'clock the succeeding day, the tract purchased shall be again offered at public sale on the same terms as before, and if the valuation shall be bid, the same shall be stricken off, but if the valuation be not bid, the tract shall be set down as not sold. If sale is not made, the former purchaser shall be required to pay the difference between his bid and the valuation of the tract, and in case of his failure to make such payment, the drainage commissioner may forthwith institute an action of debt or assumpsit in his name for the use of the inhabitants of the proper county, for the required sum, and upon making proof, shall be entitled to judgment, with costs of suit, which when collected shall be applied as other moneys arising from the sale of lands.

SEC. 935. (11.) Upon the completion of every sale by the purchaser, the commissioner shall enter the same in a sale book kept for that purpose, and shall deliver to the purchaser a certificate of purchase, stating therein the name and residence of the purchaser describing the land sold and the price paid therefor, which certificate shall be evidence of the facts therein stated, and when presented to the county court, it shall be the duty of said court to execute to him a deed in fee simple for the land therein described, signed in the official capacity of said court, and countersigned by the clerk of said court with the official seal thereto affixed, which said deed shall vest in the purchaser an absolute title in fee simple of said land therein described.

SEC. 936. (12.) The said county courts shall cause said lands to be drained by the construction of proper levees and drains necessary to reclaim the same, and when it becomes necessary in the construction of levees and drains to pass through private property, a just compensation shall be made to the owner or owners thereof, if damage has been done such property, to be ascertained in the same manner as provided in the road law now in force in cases of roads.

SEC. 937. (13.) The surveyors employed to locate said swamp land, shall also report to the county courts all the lands in their respective counties which are susceptible of being drained or reclaimed, in all cases where said information cannot be satisfactorily had in some other way, with an estimate of the probable cost thereof, and at some regular term after said reports are received the said courts shall divide all such drainable lands in their counties into sections numbered one, two, three, etc., and whenever there shall be a sufficiency of lands sold to complete one or more sections, the same shall be as soon as practicable put under contract, and operation commenced thereon, and in like manner shall the work progress until the avails of said lands are exhausted or the work completed.

SEC. 938. (14.) The said county court shall cause the work to be done on the said sections to be let out at public sale to the lowest responsible bidder, and it shall be the duty of the drainage commissioner, on being ordered by said court so to do, to give at least four week's notice of the time and place of such lettings, by putting up notices thereof in six of the most public places in the county, and in case there shall be a newspaper printed in the county, then, by causing a similar notice thereof to be published in the same, for a like period of four successive weeks before the day of such lettings, and the said notices shall contain specifications of the work to be done, to be made out under the direction and control of the county court, provided that two or more counties may reclaim swamp lands in conjunction, and in such case each county shall make payment in proportion to the amount of lands reclaimed in said county.

Bond.

SEC. 939. (15.) The persons to whom said lettings shall be struck off shall enter into bond, with good security, payable to said commissioner, for the use of the inhabitants of the county, in the penal sum of double the value of his bid, conditioned for the faithful performance of the work so undertaken by him, according to the specifications thereof, and on a failure to comply with the condition thereof, said bond shall be forfeited, and suit brought upon the same to recover damages for non-compliance.

Paying by labor.

SEC. 940. (16.) The said county courts, in laying off said work into sections as aforesaid, shall make such division thereof as will enable purchasers of land to pay for the same in necessary work, and if said purchasers shall be the lowest bidders at the lettings, the land so purchased shall be paid for in work; but if any other responsible person or persons shall be lower bidders, the same shall be struck off to him or them, and the purchasers aforesaid shall be forthwith required to pay for their lands in cash, or credit by giving mortgage and good security for the purchase money, at the discretion of the said drainage commissioner. But no such credit shall be given for a greater length of time than twelve months, and shall draw interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Sales limited.

SEC. 941. (17.) The said county courts shall not dispose or sell any more of said lands than shall be absolutely necessary to complete the reclaiming, and draining of the same, and in all cases where there are any lands remaining unsold after the completing of said draining in any county, they shall be expended in the building of roads and bridges through or across said swamp lands, under the direction and superintendence of the drainage commissioner, and if said lands are not needed for this purpose, then to be disposed of in the construction of roads and bridges within the county.

Roads and bridges.Embezzlement.

SEC. 942. (18.) If any drainage commissioner, or other person shall embezzle, or appropriate to their own use any money, bonds, bills, notes or mortgages belonging to the drainage fund of any county in this state, he, she, or they shall be liable to indictment, and on conviction shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary of this state, for a period not less than one, nor more than five years, and such conviction shall work a forfeiture of office in all cases.

Private sale.

SEC. 943. (19.) All lands not sold at public sales as herein provided for shall be subject to sale at any time thereafter at the valuation, and the clerk of the county court is authorized and required to sell all such lands at private sale upon the terms upon which they were offered at public sale, the money to be paid over to the drainage commissioner, and his receipt taken therefor.

Terms.Accounts verified.

SEC. 944. (20.) The surveyor shall be required to file in the office of the clerk of the county court an affidavit setting forth the number of days he was actually and necessarily employed, and the number of days that each person (naming such person) was actually and necessarily employed by him, and when a team was employed, the number of days such team was actually and necessarily employed in examining the swamp and overflowed lands, and in making out plats and descriptions of the same.

SEC. 945. (21.) When accounts are proved and filed in such manner as shall be satisfactory to the county courts, the clerk of said court is hereby authorized and required to issue a county order for the amount thereof, in favor of the persons entitled thereto, or on their written order, the amounts authorized by this act to be paid are hereby appropriated: provided, that the clerk of the county court shall charge the several amounts so paid to the drainage fund of the several counties, and the same shall be a debt due and owing from such fund to the counties, and it is hereby made the duty of the drainage commissioners to pay out of the first moneys received from the sale of lands, to the treasurers of the several counties, the said amounts so charged by the clerk against such drainage fund as aforesaid.

SEC. 946. (22.) Each and every person who on the twenty-eighth day of September, 1850, was the owner of any improvement, or who since that date has become the owner of any improvement on any of the said swamp, or overflowed lands, with a view to a residence, and occupation of said land for agricultural purposes, shall have the right to purchase, at the appraised value thereof, a quantity of land including his said improvement, to be bounded by the leading subdivisions, not exceeding one quarter section, to consist of the quarter-quarter, half-quarter, or quarter section: provided, that any person claiming the right to purchase under this act shall, within three months after the taking effect of this act, file in the clerk's office of the county court of the proper county, a notice of his, her, or their claims, describing the land by its numbers, and proving the facts in relation to such claim to the satisfaction of such clerk: and provided further, that any person, claiming the right to purchase as aforesaid, shall within twelve months from the day set for selling the swamp lands in the neighborhood in which his improvement is situated, pay to the drainage commissioner the consideration money for the land claimed, or the person so claiming shall be allowed to pay the same in labor, according to the provisions of this act, which payment shall entitle him, her, or them, to a deed conveying an estate in fee simple; but in case of failure to make such payment, or to pay in labor as aforesaid, the right to make the purchase shall cease.

SEC. 947. (23.) All business in relation to the swamp and overflowed lands shall be transacted at the regular term of the courts, except on extraordinary occasions, when said county courts shall have power to appoint special terms for the transaction of such business. And the county courts shall have power to allow the drainage commissioners, surveyors, clerks, and all others employed, such fees as they may deem just and right, to be paid out of the county treasury and charged to the drainage fund.

SEC. 948. (24.) It shall be the duty of all constables, coroners, sheriffs, justices of the peace, county surveyors and grand jurors to take notice of all trespasses committed on such lands, either by cutting timber, or otherwise, and to take all legal steps under the laws of this state to bring such offenders to punishment.

district court, by giving bond and security to the satisfaction of the county judge, in the usual penalty and condition, with the further condition that he will not, in the meantime, and until the decision of said district court in the matter, commit further waste or trespass as above specified.

All state lands. SEC. 972. (8.) The foregoing provisions are extended to all school, university, or other lands belonging to the state, so far as the same may be applicable.

Preemption. SEC. 973. (9.) Any person who shall have a bona fide claim, by actual settlement or improvement upon any of the swamp or overflowed lands in this state, which shall have been selected, and the returns thereof made to the county judge, as specified in the first section of this act; and any bona fide assignee of such person shall be allowed to enter the same by paying into the county treasury of the proper county the sum of one dollar and a quarter per acre therefor, as hereinafter provided: provided, that such person, or his assignee, shall first prove such claim, before the proper county judge, within ninety days after the first day of March, 1855: provided further, that in any county in which the proper returns shall not have been made to the county judge thereof, by the selecting officer, such person shall have ninety days after the time at which said returns shall be made, wherein to prove his said claim.

Perfecting right of preemption. SEC. 974. (10.) Any person desirous of perfecting his said claim, and of receiving the benefit of a preemption right to any swamp or overflowed lands above specified, shall be entitled to the same, by proving his claim, within the time specified in the eighth section of this act to the satisfaction of the proper county judge, by any testimony which shall be satisfactory to said judge; and in case the claimant's right is contested by another, said judge shall appoint a day, when he will hear the evidence on both sides, and he shall make such decision in the case as he may deem right, and award costs in his discretion; and he shall give to the successful claimant a certificate of preemption: provided, that no person shall receive a certificate for more than one hundred and sixty acres of land, which may be situate in two distinct tracts, one to consist of prairie, and one of timber: provided, that the timber tract shall not exceed eighty acres. The provisions of this, and the preceding section, are hereby extended to any person who shall hereafter acquire a bona fide claim, as above specified: provided, he shall prove the same according to the provisions of this act, within sixty days after acquiring the same.

Amount.

Certificates. SEC. 975. (11.) The said certificate shall entitle the holder thereof to perfect his title to the land mentioned therein, whenever the proper returns of the Iowa swamp lands are made, so as to complete the title of the several counties thereto; and the several county judges shall give public notice thereof, and require the several claimants holding certificates, to pay the entrance money into the treasury of the proper county; whereupon said claimant shall be entitled to receive a patent for the land mentioned in their respective certificates.

Appeal. SEC. 976. (12.) Any person feeling aggrieved by the decision of the county judge, under the ninth section of this act, may appeal therefrom to the district court of the proper county, which shall have final jurisdiction over the matter, and shall make such decision in the premises as justice and equity may require.

[Section (13) is repealed by the section 473.]

SEC. 977. (14.) All acts and parts of acts, in relation to swamp lands, inconsistent herewith, are repealed.

SWAMP LANDS.

Title. AN ACT to authorize the governor and board of county supervisors to appoint agents in regard to swamp lands belonging to the state of Iowa, and defining their duties.

Gov. appoint agents. SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the governor is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint an agent or agents to make a settlement with the commissioners of the general land office, for the lands enuring to the state of Iowa by an act of congress, entitled "An act to enable the state of Arkansas and other states to reclaim the swamp and overflowed lands within their limits," approved September 28th, 1850.

Land scrip. SEC. 2. That when the general government shall have issued the land scrip and refunded the money to this state, as provided in the act of congress approved March 2d, 1855, said land scrip shall be deposited with the state treasurer, subject to the order of the board of supervisors of the county to which said money or land scrip shall belong, as hereinafter provided.

Scrip transferred. SEC. 3. That as soon as any of the land scrip, referred to in the second section hereof, shall be received by the register of the state land office, he shall immediately notify the governor of such fact; when it shall be the duty of the governor to appoint an agent or agents to receive and locate said scrip; and the appointment of the governor with the great seal of the state attached, shall be sufficient authority for the register of the state land office to transfer to the person so presenting said appointment, any of the land scrip referred to in this act.

SEC. 4. When the agent contemplated in the third section hereof, shall by virtue of his office, receive any of the land scrip herein referred to, it is hereby made his duty to proceed to the most convenient land office at which said land scrip can be located, and make selections of the number of acres of land named in the scrip he may then have in his possession, and make his return in writing, accompanied with the certificate of the register of the land office where said location may be made, to the register of the state land office. But if there should not be a sufficient number of acres of land subject to be selected by said agent in any one of the government land offices to which said agent may apply, he is authorized to apply to any or all of such offices wherein said scrip can be located, until the scrip in his possession shall be disposed of.

Agents to locate scrip.

SEC. 5. As soon as any agent contemplated by this act shall deliver his return as provided in this act, to the register of the state land office, it is hereby made the duty of said register to file and record the same according to law, and immediately thereafter send a certified copy thereof to the commissioner of the general land office, and demand and receive from said commissioner a patent for the lands thus located, and when such patent shall have been received by said register in his office, he is hereby required to notify the governor of the receipt thereof, when it shall be the duty of the governor to deed the same to the county or counties to which it belongs, and mail the same to the clerk of the board of supervisors of such county.

Register to obtain patent.

Gov. to deed to counties.

SEC. 6. Before any agent contemplated by this act will be authorized to enter upon the discharge of the duties herein assigned him, he shall execute a bond to the state of Iowa, in a penal sum to be fixed by the governor and register of the state land office, and with sureties to be approved by them, which approval shall be in writing on the back of said bond, and signed by the governor and register, which said bond after being so approved shall be by them deposited and recorded in the office of the secretary of state, and shall be for the benefit of any party injured by a breach thereof.

Bond of agent.

SEC. 7. That the agent or agents appointed by virtue of the provisions of the first section of this act, shall act under and by virtue of written instructions given them by the governor and register of the state land office. But in no case shall said agent be instructed or empowered to receive from the general government any portion of the money due from the government to this state.

Agents act under instructions.

SEC. 8. It shall be the duty of the register of the state land office upon the information that the money due this state, or any part thereof can be obtained, to notify the state treasurer, with information to what county it belongs, when it shall be the duty of said treasurer to receive and collect the same.

Register to notify state treasurer.

SEC. 9. The state treasurer shall, as soon as any of the said money comes into his hands by virtue of this act, notify the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county to which said money belongs, and upon the receipt of such information by any such clerk in this state, it shall be his duty to communicate such information to the supervisors of his county at their first regular meeting thereafter, and when the board of supervisors of any such county shall by an agent appointed by them, present an order to the state treasurer for the money belonging to their county, certified to by the clerk of said board, with the county seal thereto attached, to the state treasurer, he shall pay over to such agent the money belonging to said county, and their order so presented shall be a sufficient voucher to the treasurer for the payment by him of said money.

Counties draw their money from state treasury.

County agents to give bond.

SEC. 10. The board of supervisors of any county in this state or the clerk thereof, shall not deliver to any agent appointed by them to receive the money due to any such county, as contemplated in this act, any order or orders to draw such money until such agent or agents shall have executed a bond to such county in a penalty equal to double the amount of money to be drawn by him, with sureties to be approved by said board for the faithful discharge of his said trust.

Compensation
agents.

SEC. 11. That the agents appointed by the board of supervisors by virtue of this act shall receive in full compensation for their services three dollars per day for the time actually employed by them on said services, said compensation to be paid by the counties receiving said lands or money, and such further sums of money to pay the traveling expenses of said agent while acting in the discharge of his duties as may be agreed upon by and between said agent and the board of supervisors of the county or counties for whose benefit he is acting.

of state agent.

SEC. 12. The agent or agents appointed by the governor under the provisions of this act shall receive as a full compensation for the services rendered, and expenses incurred by virtue of said appointment, the sum of four dollars per day, which said compensation shall be paid by the state; but the amount so paid shall be divided pro rata among the several counties, according to the amount in value of the money and lands secured to such county by the provisions of this act, the land to be valued at $1.25 per acre, and the amount so found due by each county to the state shall be paid before such county shall receive its share of the money and lands which may be obtained under the provisions of this act.

agent.

SEC. 13. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this act, the board of supervisors of any county, for the purpose of expediting a settlement of the claim of such county, may nominate to the governor a suitable person or special agent to settle said claim; and the governor shall thereupon appoint such person the special agent of the state to make such settlement with the United States for the swamp lands within the territorial limits of such county. The proceeds of such settlement may be received by such agent, and shall be delivered to the said board of supervisors for the use of the county. The costs, expenses and compensation of such special agent shall be paid by the county requesting appointment thereof.

SEC. 14. All acts and parts of acts coming in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Approved, April 18, 1862.

DISPOSITION TO BE MADE OF SWAMP LAND INDEMNITY FUND NOW HELD BY THE TREASURER OF STATE.

Title.	AN ACT to authorize the treasurer of state to pay to the several counties the amount of the swamp land indemnity fund that has been withheld by him and his predecessors in office under the provision of section 12, chapter 160 of the acts of the ninth general assembly.
---------------	---

WHEREAS, The treasurer of state has, by authority granted in section 12, chapter 160 of the acts of the ninth general assembly, retained from time to time out of [the] swamp land cash indemnity fund belonging to the several counties of the state, and passing through his office, a percentage of said fund to reimburse the state for supposed expenses incurred in securing the payment of said cash indemnity from the United States; and,

Preamble.

Part of fund retained to pay expenses of state.

WHEREAS, The money thus retained now lies idle in the treasury for want of lawful authority to use the same; therefore,

But never used.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That the treasurer of state shall pay to the treasurer of each county the amount of the swamp land indemnity fund that has been retained by him or his predecessors in office under the provision of section 12, chapter 160 of the acts of the ninth general assembly, and take a receipt therefor of said county treasurer in triplicate, one of which he shall retain in his office, and file one with the auditor of state, and one with the auditor of the county receiving the money.

And amount shall be paid to county treasurer.

SEC. 2. Upon the receipt from the treasurer of state of the receipt of the county treasurer, the auditor of the county shall notify the board of supervisors at their first meeting thereafter of the amount so paid, and they shall make such disposition of the money thus received as shall be just and equitable and for the best interest of the county.

Disposition to be made of money by county.

SEC. 3. Hereafter, on the receipt of any money from the United States in payment of cash indemnity for swamp lands, the treasurer of state shall pay to the county entitled thereto the full amount received by him for such county in accordance with the provisions of chapter 160 of the acts of the ninth general assembly, and shall not retain any part thereof to reimburse the state.

Treasurer of state shall not hereafter retain any part of fund.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect from and after its publication according to law.

Publication.

Approved, March 25, 1878.

I hereby certify that the foregoing act was published in the Iowa State Register and Iowa State Leader, April 4, 1878.

LEGALIZING DEEDS BY COUNTIES FOR SWAMP LANDS.

AN ACT to legalize deeds by counties of swamp and other lands owned and conveyed by such counties.

Title.

WHEREAS, Prior to the taking effect of the revision of 1860 all conveyances of real estate owned by counties were required to be executed in the name of the county, by the county judge in his official capacity, with the county seal attached; and,

Prior to 1860 real estate conveyed by county judge.

WHEREAS, By the revision of 1860, conveyances of swamp land were required to be executed by the county court, and countersigned by the clerk of said court, with the seal of the county attached; and,

Revision of 1860 new rule.

WHEREAS, In many counties of this state deeds conveying swamp and other lands have been executed without having the county seal attached, and others without being countersigned by the clerk with the seal of the county attached or affixed thereto; and,

Conveyances without county seal.

WHEREAS, Doubts have arisen as to the validity of said deeds; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That all deeds heretofore executed by a county judge, or county court, or the chairman of the board of supervisors of any county, and to which the officer executing the same has failed or omitted to affix the county seal, and all deeds where the clerk has failed or omitted to countersign when required so to do, be and the same are hereby legalized and made valid the same in all respects as though the law had in all respects been fully complied with.

All conveyances legalized.

Approved, March 26, 1880.

AMEND SECTION 5, CHAPTER 171, ACTS NINETEENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

AN ACT to Amend Section 5, of Chapter 171, of the Laws of the Nineteenth General Assembly, Relating to the Sale of Indemnity Lands.

*Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:*Sec. 5, acts 19 General As-
amended.

SECTION 1. That section 5 of chapter 171 of the laws of the Nineteenth General Assembly be amended by striking out the words "in three years thereafter with eight per cent interest," in the fifth and sixth lines of said section and inserting after the word "payable" in the fifth line thereof the words "at such time, not exceeding ten years thereafter, as the board of supervisors may determine, with interest not less than six per cent."

(CHAPTER 171, LAWS OF 1882.)

DISPOSAL OF INDEMNITY SWAMP LAND.

Title. AN ACT to authorize the sale and conveyance of "indemnity swamp-land" so called.

May be sold. SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, That in all cases where the title to any "indemnity swamp-land," so called, is vested in any county of this state, it shall be competent for the board of supervisors of such county to sell and dispose thereof as herein set forth.

Appraisalment. SEC. 2. The board of supervisors shall first cause all tracts or parcels of said land, except as herein otherwise provided, to be appraised by three disinterested persons, to be appointed by said board, who shall go upon the land to be appraised, and make return to the county auditor, under oath, of the fair value thereof.

Bids to be invited. SEC. 3. The county auditor shall, after the receipt of said appraisal, and within such time as the board of supervisors may direct, cause public notice to be given, for three successive weeks, in some newspaper published in the county where said land is located, inviting bids, in writing, for the purchase of said land, and specifying therein within what time such bids are to be filed with him.

Highest bid to be accepted if equal to appraised value. SEC. 4. At the next regular or special meeting of the board of supervisors said bids shall be opened, and the highest bid for each and every tract of land so advertised shall be accepted by resolution of said board, entered upon the minutes, with the yeas and nays upon the passage thereof therein expressed: Provided, said bid is equal to, or exceeds, said appraised value. And said board shall, by such resolution, direct the auditor of said county, upon the compliance with the next succeeding section hereof by said bidder, to execute, in the name of said county, a deed of conveyance for the land so sold said bidder.

Deed. SEC. 5. Within ten days after the acceptance of such bid, the person whose bid is so accepted must deposit with the county treasurer one-third of the amount of said bid in cash and take his receipt therefor, and execute his notes to said county for the balance, payable in three years thereafter, with eight per cent interest, payable annually; said notes to be secured by mortgage, duly acknowledged, on said land, which notes and mortgage shall be as valid in law as if made to an actual person; and thereupon said auditor shall deliver said deed for said land, signed and acknowledged by him, with the seal of his office attached, which deed shall have incorporated the resolution aforesaid; and the same shall be effectual in law to pass to said grantee the entire right and title of said county in and to the land therein named, and be admitted to record and read in evidence without further proofs.

Payments. SEC. 6. Nothing in this act contained shall be held to require an appraisal of any parcel of land of less than eighty acres, but as to all parcels of land of less than eighty acres said sale and conveyance may be made without such appraisalment upon compliance herewith in all other respects.

Conveyance. SEC. 7. No part of this act shall be construed so as to prevent the board of supervisors from rejecting any or all bids received, and whenever any portion of said lands has been advertised the board of supervisors shall have the right to sell the same at any time thereafter, provided the price received be not less than the appraised value thereof.

Parcels of less than eighty acres need not be appraised. (Took effect, March 30, 1882.)

May be rejected.

ORGANIC LAWS.

ORGANIC LAW OF MICHIGAN.

AN ACT to divide the Indiana territory into two separate governments. Title.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the thirtieth day of June next, all that part of the Indiana territory which lies north of a line drawn east from the southerly bend or extreme of Lake Michigan until it shall intersect Lake Erie, and east of a line drawn from the said southerly bend through the middle of said lake to its northern extremity, and thence due north to the northern boundary of the United States, shall, for the purpose of temporary government, constitute a separate territory, and be called Michigan.

Michigan set off.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That there shall be established within the said territory a government in all respects similar to that provided by the ordinance of congress, passed on the thirteenth day of July, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, for the government of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio; and by an act passed on the seventh day of August, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine, entitled "an act to provide for the government of the territory northwest of the river Ohio"; and the inhabitants thereof shall be entitled to and enjoy all and singular the rights, privileges and advantages granted and secured to the people of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio, by the said ordinance.

Its government.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the officers for the said territory, who by virtue of this act shall be appointed by the president of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall respectively exercise the same powers, perform the same duties and receive for their services the same compensations, as by the ordinance aforesaid and the laws of the United States, have been provided and established for similar officers in the Indiana territory; and the duties and emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs shall be united with those of the governor.

Powers and compensation of officers as in Indiana.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed so as, in any manner, to affect the government now in force in the Indiana territory, further than to prohibit the exercise thereof within the said territory of Michigan from and after the aforesaid thirtieth day of June next.

Suits pending.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process and proceedings which, on the thirtieth day of June next, shall be pending in the court of any county, which shall be included within the said territory of Michigan; and also all suits, process and proceedings which, on the said thirtieth day of June next, shall be pending in the general court of the Indiana territory in consequence of any writ of removal or order for trial at bar, and which had been removed from any of the counties included within the limits of the territory of Michigan aforesaid, shall, in all things concerning the same, be proceeded on and judgments and decrees rendered thereon in the same manner as if the said Indiana territory had remained undivided.

Seat of government.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That Detroit shall be the seat of government of the said territory, until congress shall otherwise direct.

Approved, January 11, 1805.

ORGANIC LAW OF WISCONSIN.

Title.

AN ACT establishing the territorial government of Wisconsin.

What country shall constitute the Wisconsin territory.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the third day of July next the country included within the following boundaries shall constitute a separate territory, for the purposes of a temporary government, by the name of Wisconsin; that is to say: Bounded on the east by a line drawn from the northeast corner of the state of Illinois, through the middle of Lake Michigan, to a point in the middle of said lake, and opposite the main channel of Green Bay, and through said channel and Green Bay to the mouth of the Menomonie river; thence through the middle of the main channel of said river, to that head of said river nearest to the Lake of the Desert; thence in a direct line to the middle of said lake; thence through the middle of the main channel of the Montreal river, to its mouth; thence with a direct line across Lake Superior, to where the territorial line of the United States last touches said lake northwest; thence on the north, with the said territorial line, to the White-earth river; on the west, by a line from the said boundary line following down the middle of the main channel of White-earth river to the Missouri river, and down the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river to a point due west from the northwest corner of the state of Missouri; and on the south, from said point, due east to the northwest corner of the state of Missouri; and thence with the boundaries of the states of Missouri and Illinois, as already fixed by acts of congress. And after the said third day of July next, all power and authority of the government of Michigan in and over the territory hereby constituted, shall cease; provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now appertaining to any Indians within the said territory so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished by treaty between the United States and such Indians, or to impair the obligations of any treaty now existing between the United States and such Indians, or to impair or otherwise to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulations respecting such Indians, their lands, property or other rights, by treaty, or law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent for the government to make if this act had never been passed; provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing the territory hereby established into one or more other territories, in such manner and at such times as congress shall in its discretion deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

Proviso.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over the said territory shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for three years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within the said territory, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs, and shall approve of all laws passed by the legislative assembly before they shall take effect; he may grant pardons for offenses against the laws of the said territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States, until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Appointment and powers of governor.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of the said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings on or before the first Monday in December in each year to the president of the United States; and at the same time, two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives for the use of congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation or necessary absence of the governor from the territory, the secretary shall have, and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform, all the powers and duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence.

Secretary, his duties.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power shall be vested in a governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of thirteen members, having the qualifications of voters as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue four years. The house of representatives shall consist of twenty-six members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for the members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue two years. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties, for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the said members of the council and house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the district for which they may be elected. Previous to the first election, the governor of the territory shall cause the census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties in the territory to be taken and made by the sheriffs of the said counties, respectively, and returns thereof made by said sheriffs to the governor. The first election shall be held at such time and place, and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall, at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties is entitled under this act. The number of persons authorized to be elected having the greatest number of votes in each of said counties for the council, shall be declared, by the said governor, to be duly elected to the said council; and the person or persons having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county may be entitled, shall also be declared, by the governor, to be duly elected: provided, the governor shall order a new election when there is a tie between two or more persons voted for, to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place on such day as he shall appoint; but, thereafter, the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties to the council and house of representatives, according to population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the annual commencement of the session of the said legislative assembly; but no session, in any year, shall exceed the term of seventy-five days.

Proviso.

Who shall be eligible to office.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male citizen of the United States, above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been an inhabitant of said territory at the time of its organization, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said territory; but the qualifications of voters at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be determined by the legislative assembly: provided, that the right of suffrage shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States.

Proviso.

Powers of the legislature.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands of other property of residents. All the laws of the governor and legislative assembly shall be submitted to, and, if disapproved by the congress of the United States, the same shall be null and of no effect.

What officers are to be elected by the people.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township officers and all county officers, except judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs and clerks of courts, shall be elected by the people, in such manner as may be provided by the governor and legislative assembly. The governor shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, shall appoint, all judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs and all militia officers, except those of the staff, and all civil officers not herein provided for. Vacancies occurring in the recess of the council shall be filled by appointments from the governor, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the legislative assembly; but the said governor may appoint, in the first instance, the aforesaid officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the said legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office created or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased whilst he was a member, during the term for which he shall have been elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission under the United States, or any of its officers, except as a militia officer, shall be a member of the said council, or shall hold any office under the government of the said territory.

tions for office.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of the said territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate judges, any two of whom shall be a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of the said territory, annually, and they shall hold their offices during good behavior. The said territory shall be divided into three judicial districts; and a district court or courts shall be held in each of the three districts, by one of judges of the supreme court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts, and of the justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law: provided however, that the justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter of controversy, when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed exceeds fifty dollars. And the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each district court shall appoint its clerk, who shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held, and the said clerks shall also be the registers in chancery; and any vacancy in said office of clerk happening in the vacation of said court, may be filled by the judge of said district, which appointment shall continue until the next term of said court. And writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals in chancery causes, shall be allowed in all cases, from the final decisions of the said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case removed to the supreme court, shall a trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court may appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court by which he shall have been appointed. And writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of the said supreme court shall be allowed and taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner, and under the same regulations, as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, shall exceed one thousand dollars. And each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States. And the first six days of every term of the said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws. And writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of the said courts, in all such cases, shall be made to the supreme court of the territory, in the same manner as in other cases. The said clerks shall receive, in all such cases, the same fees which the clerk of the district court of the Judiciary.

Proviso.

United States in the northern district of the state of New York receives for similar services.

Attorney to be appointed.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be an attorney for the said territory appointed, who shall continue in office four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the Michigan territory. There shall also be a marshal for the territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, who shall execute all process issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States. He shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the northern district of the state of New York; and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars, annually, as a compensation for extra services.

Marshal.

Governor, etc., to be approved by the senate.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate judges, attorney and marshal, shall be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary, to be appointed as aforesaid, shall before they act as such respectively take an oath or affirmation before some judge or justice of the peace in the existing territory of Michigan, duly commissioned and qualified to administer an oath or affirmation, to support the constitution of the United States, and for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person before whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificate shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings. And afterwards the chief justice and associate judges, and all other civil officers in said territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation before the said governor or secretary, or some judge or justice of the territory who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted by the person taking the same to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and, afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified, and recorded, in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars for his services as governor and as superintendent of Indian affairs. The said chief justice and associate judges shall each receive an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day, during their attendance at the sessions thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles' travel in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars, to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the territory, and there shall also be appropriated annually, a sufficient sum, to be expended by the secretary of the territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws and other incidental expenses; and the secretary of the territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said territory shall be entitled to, and enjoy, all and singular the rights, privileges, and advantages, granted and secured to the people of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio, by the articles of the compact contained in the ordinance for the government of the said territory, passed on the thirteenth day of July, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven; and shall be subject to all the conditions and restrictions and prohibitions in said articles of compact imposed upon the people of said territory. The said inhabitants shall also be entitled to all the rights, privileges, and immunities, heretofore granted and secured to the territory of Michigan, and to its inhabitants, and the existing laws of the territory of Michigan shall be extended over said territory, so far as the same shall not be incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified, or repealed, by the governor and legislative assembly of the said territory of Wisconsin; and further, the laws of the United States are hereby extended over, and shall be in force in said territory, so far as the same, or any provisions thereof may be applicable.

Rights, etc., under the territorial compact of July, 1787, extended to Wisconsin.

And also those secured to Michigan.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the territory of Wisconsin shall hold its first session at such time and place in said territory as the governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said session, or as soon thereafter as may by them be deemed expedient, the said governor and legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said territory, at such place as they may deem eligible, which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by the said governor and legislative assembly. And twenty thousand dollars, to be paid out of any money in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, is hereby given to the said territory, which shall be applied by the governor and legislative assembly to defray the expenses of erecting public buildings at the seat of government.

Legislative sessions, when held.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as have been granted to the delegates from the several territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such time and place or places, and be conducted in such manner, as the governor shall appoint and direct. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given to the person so elected.

Delegate to the house of representatives of the United States.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process, and proceedings, and all indictments and informations which shall be undetermined on the third day of July next, in the courts held by the additional judge for the Michigan territory, in the counties of Brown and Iowa; and all suits, process and proceedings, and all indictments and informations which shall be undetermined on the said day of July, in the county courts of the several counties of Crawford, Brown, Iowa, Dubuque, Milwaukee, and Des Moines, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined, in the district courts hereby established, which may include the said counties.

Provisions respecting undetermined suits.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all cases which shall have been or may be removed from the courts held by the additional judge for the Michigan territory, in the counties of Brown and Iowa, by appeal or otherwise, into the supreme court for the territory of Michigan, and which shall be undetermined therein on the third day of July next, shall be certified by the clerk of the said supreme court, and transferred to the supreme court of said territory of Wisconsin there to be proceeded in to final determination, in the same manner that they might have been in the said supreme court of the territory of Michigan.

Five thousand dollars for the purchase of a library.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated to be expended by and under the direction of the legislative assembly of said territory, in the purchase of a library for the accommodation of said assembly, and of the supreme court hereby established.

ORGANIC LAW OF IOWA.

Title. AN ACT to divide the territory of Wisconsin, and to establish the territorial government of Iowa.

Iowa, July 4th, 1838.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That from and after the third day of July next, all that part of the present territory of Wisconsin which lies west of the Mississippi river, and west of a line drawn due north from the head waters or sources of the Mississippi to the territorial line, shall, for the purposes of temporary government, be and constitute a separate territorial government, by the name of Iowa; and that, from and after the said third day of July next, the present territorial government of Wisconsin shall extend only to that part of the present territory of Wisconsin which lies east of the Mississippi river. And after the said third day of July next, all power and authority of the government of Wisconsin, in and over the territory hereby constituted, shall cease: provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now appertaining to any Indians within the said territory, so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished by treaty between the United States and such Indians, or to impair the obligations of any treaty now existing between the United States and such Indians, or to impair or anywise to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulations respecting such Indians, their lands, property, or other rights, by treaty, or law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent to the government to make if this act had never been passed: provided, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing the territory hereby established into one or more other territories, in such manner and at such times, as congress shall, in its discretion deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over the said territory of Iowa, shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for three years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within the said territory, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs, and shall approve of all laws passed by the legislative assembly before they shall take effect; he may grant pardons for offenses against the laws of said territory, and reprieves for offenses against the law of the United States, until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Secretary.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of the said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States, he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first Monday in December in each year, to the president of the United States; and, at the same time, two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, for the use of congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or necessary absence of the governor from the territory, the secretary shall have, and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence, or until another governor shall be duly appointed to fill such vacancy.

To transmit laws.

To act as governor.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power shall be vested in the governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of thirteen members, having the qualifications of voters as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives shall consist of twenty-six members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for the members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. An apportionment shall be made as nearly equal as practicable among the several counties, for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the said members of the council and house of representatives shall reside in, and be inhabitants of the district for which they may be elected. Previous to the first election, the governor of the territory shall cause the census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties in the territory, to be taken and made by the sheriffs of the said counties respectively, unless the same shall have been taken within three months previous to the third day of July next, and returns thereof made by said sheriffs to the governor. The first election shall be held at such time and place, and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties or districts are entitled under this act. The number of persons authorized to be elected having the greatest number of votes in each of the said counties or districts for the council, shall be declared by the said governor to be duly elected to the said council; and the person or persons having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county may be entitled, shall also be declared by the governor to be duly elected: provided, the governor shall order a new election when there is a tie between two or more persons voted for, to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place and on such day as he shall appoint; but thereafter, the time, place, and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties to the council and house of representatives, according to population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the annual commencement of the session of the said legislative assembly; but no session in any year, shall exceed the term of seventy-five days.

to be regulated
by law.

frage.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male citizen of the United States, above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been an inhabitant of said territory at the time of its organization shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said territory; but the qualifications of voters, at all subsequent elections, shall be such as shall be determined by the legislative assembly: provided, that the right of suffrage be exercised only by citizens of the United States.

ers, extent of.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws of the governor and legislative assembly shall be submitted to, and if disapproved by the congress of the United States, the same shall be null and of no effect.

Elective officers.
Judicial, etc.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township officers, and all county officers except judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs, and clerks of courts, shall be elected by the people, in such manner as is now prescribed by the laws of the territory of Wisconsin, or as may, after the first election, be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of Iowa territory. The governor shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, shall appoint all judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs, and all militia officers, except those of the staff, and all civil officers not herein provided for. Vacancies occurring in the recess of the council, shall be filled by appointments from the governor, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the legislative assembly; but the said governor may appoint, in the first instance, the aforesaid officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the said legislative assembly.

Ineligibility.

Judicial power.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold, or be appointed to, any office created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased whilst he was a member, during the term for which he shall have been elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, or any of its officers, except as a militia officer, shall be a member of the said council or house of representatives, or shall hold any office under the government of the said territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of the said territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate judges, any two of whom shall be a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of the said territory annually; and they shall hold their offices during the term of four years. The said territory shall be divided into three judicial districts; and a district court or courts shall be held in each of the three districts, by one of the judges of the supreme court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts which shall be assigned to them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts, and of the justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law; provided, however, that justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter of controversy, when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed exceeds fifty dollars. And the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess a chancery as well as a common law jurisdiction. Each district court shall appoint its clerk, who shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held, and the said clerks shall also be the registers in chancery; and any vacancy in said office of clerk, happening in the vacation of said court, may be filled by the judge of said district, which appointment shall continue until the next term of said court. And writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals in chancery causes, shall be allowed in all cases, from the final decisions of the said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case, removed to the supreme court, shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court may appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court by which he shall have been appointed. And writs of error and appeals from the final decision of the said supreme court shall be allowed and taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, shall exceed one thousand dollars. And each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States. And the first six days of every term of the said courts, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws. And writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of the said courts, in all such cases, shall be made to the supreme court of the territory, in the same manner as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases, the same fees which the clerks of the districts courts of Wisconsin territory now receive for similar services.

- Attorney. SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be an attorney for the said territory appointed, who shall continue in office four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the present territory of Wisconsin. There shall also be a marshal for the territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, who shall execute all process issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States. He shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the present territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.
- Marshal.
- Apportionments by president. SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate judges, attorney, and marshal, shall be nominated, and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary, to be appointed as aforesaid, shall, before they act as such, respectively take an oath or affirmation, before some judge or justice of the peace in the existing territory of Wisconsin, duly commissioned and qualified to administer an oath or affirmation, or before the chief justice or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; which said oath, when so taken, shall be certified by the person before whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificate shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings. And, afterwards, the chief justice and associate judges, and all other civil officers in said territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation, before said governor, or secretary, or some judge or justice of the territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and, afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified, and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars as governor, and one thousand dollars as superintendent of Indian affairs. The said chief judge and associate justices shall each receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each, per day, during their attendance at the sessions thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles travel in going to, and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated annually the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the territory; and there shall also be appropriated annually a sum sufficient to be expended by the secretary of the territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses; and the secretary of the territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said territory shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the territory of Wisconsin, and to its inhabitants; and the existing laws of the territory of Wisconsin shall be extended over said territory, so far as the same be not incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified, or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said territory of Iowa; and, further, the laws of the United States are hereby extended over, and shall be in force in said territory, so far as the same, or any provisions thereof, may be applicable.

Laws of Wisconsin.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the territory of Iowa shall hold its session at such time and place, in said territory, as the governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said session, or as soon thereafter as may by them be deemed expedient, the said governor and legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said territory, at such place as they may deem eligible, which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by the governor and legislative assembly. And the sum of twenty thousand dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby granted to the said territory of Iowa, which shall be applied by the governor and legislative assembly thereof, to defray the expenses of erecting public buildings at the seat of government.

Sessions of legislature.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as have been granted to the delegates from the several territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such time and place or places, and be conducted in such manner as the governor shall appoint and direct. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given to the person so elected.

Delegate to congress.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process, and proceedings, and all indictments and informations, which shall be undetermined on the third day of July next, in the district courts of Wisconsin territory, west of the Mississippi river, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined in the district courts hereby established, which may include the said counties.

Legal proceedings pending.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and all other executive and judicial officers, who shall be in office on the third day of July next, in that portion of the present territory of Wisconsin, which will then, by this act, become the territory of Iowa, shall be, and are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices, as officers of the territory of Iowa, temporarily, and until they or others shall be duly appointed to fill their places by the territorial government of Iowa, in the manner herein directed: provided, that no officer shall hold or continue in office by virtue of this provision, over twelve months from the said third day of July next.

Officers to continue in office.

Causes pending in supreme court of Wisconsin transferred to supreme court of Iowa.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That all causes which shall have been or may be removed from the courts held by the present territory of Wisconsin, in the counties west of the Mississippi river, by appeal or otherwise, into the supreme court for the territory of Wisconsin, and which shall be undetermined therein on the third day of July next, shall be certified by the clerk of the said supreme court, and transferred to the supreme court of said territory of Iowa, there to be proceeded in to final determination, in the same manner that they might have been in the said supreme court of the territory of Wisconsin.

Appropriation for library.

SEC. 18. And be it further enacted, That the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by, and under the direction of the governor of said territory of Iowa, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government, for the accommodation of the governor, legislative assembly, judges, secretary, marshal, and attorney of said territory, and such other persons as the governor and legislative assembly shall direct.

Reorganization of legislature of Wisconsin.

SEC. 19. And be it further enacted, That from and after the day named in this act for the organization of the territory of Iowa, the term of the members of the council and house of representatives of the territory of Wisconsin shall be deemed to have expired, and an entirely new organization of the council and house of representatives of the territory of Wisconsin, as constituted by this act, shall take place as follows: As soon as practicable, after the passage of this act, the governor of the territory of Wisconsin shall apportion the thirteen members of the council, and twenty-six members of the house of representatives, among the several counties or districts comprised within said territory, according to their population, as nearly as may be, (Indians excepted). The first election shall be held at such time as the governor shall appoint and direct, and shall be conducted, and returns thereof made in all respects according to the provisions of the laws of said territory, and the governor shall declare the person having the greatest number of votes to be elected, and shall order a new election when there is a tie between two or more persons voted for, to supply the vacancy made by such tie. The persons thus elected shall meet at Madison, the seat of government, on such day as he shall appoint, but thereafter, the apportioning of the representation in the several counties to the council and house of representatives, according to population, the day of their election, and the day for the commencement of the session of the legislative assembly, shall be prescribed by law.

Temporary arrangements in Iowa.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That temporarily, and until otherwise provided by law of the legislative assembly, the governor of the territory of Iowa may define the judicial districts of said territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said territory, to the several districts, and also appoint the time for holding courts in the several counties in each district, by proclamation to be issued by him; but the legislative assembly, at their first, or any subsequent session, may organize, alter, or modify such judicial districts, and assign the judges, and alter the times of holding the courts, or any of them.

Approved, June 12, 1838.

AMENDMENTS TO THE ORGANIC LAW.

AN ACT to alter and amend the organic law of the territories of Wisconsin and Iowa. Title.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That every bill which shall have passed the council and house of representatives of the territories of Iowa and Wisconsin shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the territory; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But, in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the assembly by adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Acts to be approved by governor, etc.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That this act shall not be so construed as to deprive congress of the right to disapprove of any law passed by the said legislative assembly, or in any way to impair or alter the power of congress over laws passed by said assembly.

Power of congress not affected.

Approved, March 3d, 1839.

AN ACT to authorize the election or appointment of certain officers in the territory of Iowa, and for other purposes. Title.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the legislative assembly of the territory of Iowa, shall be, and are hereby authorized to provide by law for the election or appointment of sheriffs, judges of probate, justices of the peace, and county surveyors, within the said territory, in such way or manner, and at such times and places as to them may seem proper; and after a law shall have been passed by the legislative assembly for that purpose, all elections or appointments of the above named officers thereafter to be had or made shall be in pursuance of such law.

Certain officers may be elected

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the term of service of the present delegate for said territory of Iowa shall expire on the twenty-seventh day of October, eighteen hundred and forty; and the qualified electors of said territory may elect a delegate to serve from the said twenty-seventh day of October to the fourth day of March thereafter, at such time and place as shall be prescribed by law by the legislative assembly, and thereafter a delegate shall be elected, at such time and place as the legislative assembly may direct, to serve for a congress, as members of the house of representatives are now elected.

Approved, March 3d, 1839.

ADMISSION OF IOWA.

- Title. AN ACT for the admission of the states of Iowa and Florida into the union.
- Preamble. WHEREAS, the people of the territory of Iowa did, on the seventh day of October, eighteen hundred and forty-four, by a convention of delegates called and assembled for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government; whereas, the people of the territory of Florida did, in like manner, by their delegates, on the eleventh day of January, eighteen hundred and thirty-nine, form for themselves a constitution and state government, both of which said constitutions are republican; and said conventions having asked the admission of their respective territories into the union as states, on equal footing with the original states:
- Act of March 3, 1845, ch. 76, and ch. 76.
- Iowa and Florida admitted. SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the states of Iowa and Florida be, and the same are hereby declared to be states of the United States of America, and are hereby admitted into the union on equal footing with the original states, in all respects whatsoever.
- Boundaries of Iowa. SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the following shall be the boundaries of the said state of Iowa, to-wit: beginning at the mouth of the Des Moines river, at the middle of the Mississippi, thence by the middle of the channel of that river to a parallel of latitude passing through the mouth of the Mankato, or Blue-earth river, thence west along the said parallel of latitude to a point where it is intersected by a meridian line, seventeen degrees and thirty minutes west of the meridian of Washington City, thence due south to the northern boundary line of the state of Missouri, thence eastwardly following that boundary to the point at which the same intersects the Des Moines river, thence by the middle of the channel of that river to the place of beginning.
- Iowa to have concurrent jurisdiction on the Mississippi and other rivers. SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the said state of Iowa shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the river Mississippi, and every other river bordering on the said state of Iowa, so far as the said rivers shall form a common boundary to said state, and any other state or states now or hereafter to be formed or bounded by the same; such rivers to be common to both; and that the said river Mississippi, and the navigable waters leading into the same, shall be common highways, and forever free as well to the inhabitants of said state, as to all other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor, imposed by the said state of Iowa.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That it is made and declared to be a fundamental condition of the admission of said state of Iowa into the union, that so much of this act as relates to the said state of Iowa shall be assented to by a majority of the qualified electors at their township elections, in the manner and at the time prescribed in the sixth section of the thirteenth article of the constitution adopted at Iowa City the first day of November, anno Domini eighteen hundred and forty-four, or by the legislature of said state. And so soon as such assent shall be given, the president of the United States shall announce the same by proclamation; and therefrom without further proceedings on the part of congress the admission of the said state of Iowa into the union, on an equal footing in all respects whatever with the original states, shall be considered as complete.

Assent of people of Iowa to this act necessary.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That said state of Florida shall embrace the territories of East and West Florida, which by the treaty of amity, settlement and limits between the United States and Spain, on the twenty-second day of February, eighteen hundred and nineteen, were ceded to the United States.

Boundaries of Florida.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the next census and apportionment shall be made, each of said states of Iowa and Florida shall be entitled to one representative in the house of representatives of the United States.

Each one representative in congress.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That said states of Iowa and Florida are admitted into the union on the express condition that they shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the public lands lying within them, nor levy any tax on the same whilst remaining the property of the United States: provided, that the ordinance of the convention that formed the constitution of Iowa, and which is appended to the said constitution, shall not be deemed or taken to have any effect or validity, or to be recognized as in any manner obligatory upon the government of the United States.

Not to interfere with or tax the public lands.

Ordinance of the convention of Iowa not obligatory on United States.

Approved, March 3, 1845.

AN ACT supplemental to the Act for the admission of the States of Iowa and Florida into the Union. Title.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the laws of the United States, which are not locally inapplicable, shall have the same force and effect within the State of Iowa as elsewhere within the United States.

Application of United States laws to Iowa.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said state shall be one district of Iowa; and a district court shall be held therein, to consist of one judge, who shall reside in the said district, and be called a district judge. He shall hold, at the seat of government of the said state, two sessions of the said district court annually, on the first Monday in January, and he shall, in all things, have and exercise the same jurisdiction and powers which were by law given to the judge of the Kentucky district, under an act entitled "an act to establish the judicial courts of the United States." He shall appoint a clerk for the said district, who shall reside and keep the records of the said court at the place of holding the same; and shall receive, for the services performed by him, the same fees to which the clerk of the Kentucky district is by law entitled for similar services.

Compensation of the judge.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be allowed to the judge of the said district court the annual compensation of fifteen hundred dollars, to commence from the date of his appointment, to be paid quarterly at the treasury of the United States.

United States attorney to be appointed.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed in the said district, a person learned in the law, to act as attorney for the United States; who shall, in addition to his stated fees, be paid annually by the United States, two hundred dollars, as a full compensation for all extra services: the said payments to be made quarterly, at the treasury of the United States.

United States marshal to be appointed.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That a marshal shall be appointed for the said district, who shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as are prescribed and allowed to marshals in other districts; and shall, moreover, be entitled to the sum of two hundred dollars annually, as a compensation for all extra services.

Compensation.

Propositions to be submitted to the legislature of Iowa.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That in lieu of the propositions submitted to the congress of the United States, by an ordinance passed on the first day of November, eighteen hundred and forty-four, by the convention of delegates at Iowa City, assembled for the purpose of making a constitution for the state of Iowa, which are hereby rejected, the following propositions be, and the same are hereby, offered to the legislature of the state of Iowa, for their acceptance or rejection; which, if accepted, under the authority conferred on the said legislature, by the convention which framed the constitution of the said state, shall be obligatory upon the United States.

Grant of lands for the use of schools.

1. That section numbered sixteen in every township of the public lands, and, where such section has been sold or otherwise disposed of, other lands equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to the state for the use of schools.

Grant of lands for the use of a university. Act of July 20, 1840, chap. 90.

2. That the seventy-two sections of land set apart and reserved for the use and support of a university by an act of congress approved on the twentieth day of July, eighteen hundred and forty, entitled, "an act granting two townships of land for the use of a university in the territory of Iowa," are hereby granted and conveyed to the state, to be appropriated solely to the use and support of such university, in such manner as the legislature may prescribe.

Grant of lands for completing the public buildings.

3. That five entire sections of land to be selected and located under the direction of the legislature, in legal divisions of not less than one quarter section, from any of the unappropriated lands belonging to the United States within the said state, are hereby granted to the state for the purpose of completing the public buildings of the said state, or for the erection of public buildings at the seat of government of the said state, as the legislature may determine and direct.

Salt-springs granted to the state.

4. That all salt-springs within the state, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining, or as contiguous as may be to each, shall be granted to the said state for its use; the same to be selected by the legislature thereof, within one year after the admission of said state, and the same, when so selected, to be used on such terms, conditions, and regulations, as the legislature of the state shall direct: provided, that no salt-spring, the right whereof is now vested in any individual or individuals, or which may hereafter be confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall, by this section, be granted to said state: and provided also, that the general assembly shall never lease or sell the same, at any one time, for a longer period than ten years, without the consent of congress.

Proviso.

Further proviso.

5. That five per cent of the net proceeds of sales of all public lands lying within the said state, which have been or shall be sold by congress, from and after the admission of said state, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be appropriated for making public roads and canals within the said state, as the legislature may direct: provided, that the five foregoing propositions herein offered are on the condition that the legislature of the said state, by virtue of the powers conferred upon it by the convention which framed the constitution of the said state, shall provide by an ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that the said state shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed upon lands the property of the United States; and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents; and that the bounty lands granted, or hereafter to be granted, for military services during the late war, shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees or their heirs, remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the state, whether for state, county, township, or any other purpose, for the term of three years from and after the date of the patents, respectively.

Five per cent of net proceeds of public lands appropriated for roads and canals.

Proviso.

Iowa not to interfere with disposal of public lands, etc. U. S. lands not to be taxed. Non-residents not to be taxed higher than residents. Bounty lands exempt from taxation for three years.

Approved, March 3d, 1845.

AN ORDINANCE,

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES, NORTH-WEST OF THE RIVER OHIO.

Be it ordained by the United States, in Congress assembled, That the said territory, for the purposes of temporary government, be one district; subject, however, to be divided into two districts, as future circumstances may, in the opinion of congress, make it expedient.

One district.

Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the estates both of resident and non-resident proprietors in the said territory, dying intestate, shall descend to and be distributed among their children, and the descendants of a deceased child, in equal parts; the descendants of a deceased child or grandchild, to take a share of their deceased parent in equal parts among them; and where there shall be no children or

- descendants, then in equal parts to the next of kin, in equal degree; and among collaterals, the children of a deceased brother or sister of the intestate, shall have, in equal parts among them, their deceased parent's share; and there shall, in no case, be a distinction between kindred of the whole and half blood; saving, in all cases, to the widow of the intestate her third part of the real estate for life, and one-third part of the personal estate; and this law relative to descents and dower shall remain in full force until altered by the legislature of the district. And until the governor and judges shall adopt laws, as hereinafter mentioned, estates in the said territory may be devised or bequeathed by wills in writing, signed and sealed by him or her, in whom the estate may be (being of full age), and attested by three witnesses; and real estates may be conveyed by lease and release, or bargain and sale, signed, sealed and delivered by the person, being of full age, in whom the estate may be, and attested by two witnesses, provided such wills be duly proved, such conveyances be acknowledged, or the execution thereof duly proved, and be recorded within one year after proper magistrates, courts and registers shall be appointed for that purpose; and personal property may be transferred by delivery; saving, however, to the French and Canadian inhabitants, and other settlers of the Kaskaskias, Saint Vincents, and the neighboring villages, who have heretofore professed themselves citizens of Virginia, their laws and customs now in force among them, relative to the descent and conveyance of property.
- Dower.
- Wills.
- Conveyances.
- Saving to the French their laws of descent and conveyances.
- Governor. Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That there shall be appointed, from time to time, by congress, a governor, whose commission shall continue in force for the term of three years, unless sooner revoked by congress; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein, in one thousand acres of land, while in the exercise of his office.
- Secretary. There shall be appointed from time to time, by congress, a secretary, whose commission shall continue in force for four years, unless sooner revoked; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein, in five hundred acres of land, while in the exercise of his office. It shall be his duty to keep and preserve the acts and laws passed by the legislature, and the public records of the district, and the proceedings of the governor in his executive department; and transmit authentic copies of such acts and proceedings every six months, to the secretary of congress. There shall be appointed a court, to consist of three judges, any two of whom to form a court, who shall have a common law jurisdiction, and reside in the district, and have each therein a freehold estate in five hundred acres of land, while in the exercise of their offices; and their commission shall continue in force during good behaviour.
- Court.
- Governor and judges to adopt laws. The governor and judges, or a majority of them, shall adopt and publish, in the district, such laws of the original states, criminal and civil, as may be necessary and best suited to the circumstances of the district, and report them to congress from time to time; which laws shall be in force in the district until the organization of the general assembly therein, unless disapproved of by congress; but afterwards the legislature shall have authority to alter them as they shall think fit.
- Governor, commander. The governor for the time being, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia, appoint and commission all officers in the same, below the rank of general officers; all general officers shall be appointed and commissioned by congress.

Previous to the organization of the general assembly, the governor shall appoint such magistrates and other civil officers, in each county or township, as he shall find necessary for the preservation of peace and good order in the same. After the general assembly shall be organized, the powers and duties of the magistrates and other civil officers shall be regulated and defined by the said assembly; but all magistrates and other civil officers, not herein otherwise directed, shall, during the continuance of his temporary government, be appointed by the governor.

Governor to appoint officers until it is organized.

For the prevention of crimes and injuries, the laws to be adopted or made, shall have force in all parts of the district, and for the execution of process, criminal and civil, the governor shall make proper divisions thereof; and he shall proceed from time to time, as circumstances may require, to lay out the parts of the district, in which the Indian titles shall have been extinguished, into counties and townships, subject, however, to such alterations as may thereafter be made by the legislature.

Counties, townships, etc.

So soon as there shall be five thousand free male inhabitants of full age, in the district, upon giving proof thereof to the governor, they shall receive authority, with time and place, to elect representatives from their counties or townships, to represent them in the general assembly: provided, that for every five hundred free male inhabitants, there shall be one representative, and so on progressively with the number of free male inhabitants, shall the right of representation increase, until the number of representatives shall amount to twenty-five, after which, the number and proportion of representatives shall be regulated by the legislature: provided, that no person be eligible or qualified to act as a representative, unless he shall have been a citizen of one of the United States three years, and be a resident in the district, or unless he shall have resided in the district three years, and in either case shall likewise hold in his own right, in fee simple, two hundred acres of land within the same: provided also, that a freehold in fifty acres of land in the district, having been a citizen of one of the states, and being resident in the district, or the like freehold, and two years' residence in the district shall be necessary to qualify a man as an elector of a representative.

When to elect representatives.

Ratio.

Qualification.

The representative thus elected shall serve for the term of two years; and in case of the death of a representative, or removal from office, the governor shall issue a writ to the county or township for which he was a member to elect another in his stead, to serve for the residue of the term.

Term of representative.

The general assembly, or legislature, shall consist of the governor, legislative council, and a house of representatives. The legislative council shall consist of five members, to continue in office five years, unless sooner removed by congress; any three of whom to be a quorum. And the members of the council shall be nominated and appointed in the following manner, to-wit: as soon as representatives shall be elected, the governor shall appoint a time and place for them to meet together, and when met, they shall nominate ten persons, residents in the district, and each possessed of a freehold in five hundred acres of land, and return their names to congress; five of whom congress shall appoint and commission to serve as aforesaid; and whenever a vacancy shall happen in the council, by death or removal from office, the house of representatives shall nominate two persons, qualified as aforesaid, for each vacancy, and return their names to congress; one of whom congress shall appoint and commission for the residue of the term. And every five years, four months at least before the expiration of the time of service of the members of the council, the said house shall nominate ten persons, qualified as aforesaid, and return their names to congress; five of whom congress shall appoint and commission to serve as members of the council five years, unless sooner removed.

Powers of general assembly.	And the governor, legislative council, and house of representatives, shall have authority to make laws, in all cases, for the good government of the district, not repugnant to the principles and articles in this ordinance established and declared. And all bills, having passed by a majority in the house, and by a majority in the council, shall be referred to the governor for his assent; but no bill or legislative act whatever, shall be of any force without his assent. The governor shall have power to convene, prorogue, and dissolve the general assembly, when in his opinion it shall be expedient.
Bills.
Oath of office.	The governor, judges, legislative council, secretary, and such other officers as congress shall appoint in the district, shall take an oath or affirmation, of fidelity and of office; the governor before the president of congress, and all other officers before the governor. As soon as a legislature shall be formed in the district, the council and house assembled, in one room, shall have authority, by joint ballot, to elect a delegate to congress, who shall have a seat in congress, with a right of debating, but not of voting, during this temporary government.
Delegate in congress.
Preamble.	And for extending the fundamental principles of civil and religious liberty, which form the basis whereupon these republics, their laws, and constitutions are erected; to fix and establish those principles as the basis of all laws, constitutions and governments, which forever hereafter shall be formed in the said territory; to provide also for the establishment of states, and permanent governments therein, and for their admission to share in the federal councils, on an equal footing with the original states, at as early periods as may be consistent with the general interest:
Articles of compact.	It is hereby ordained and declared, by the authority aforesaid, That the following articles shall be considered as articles of compact between the original states, and the people and states in the said territory, and forever remain unalterable, unless by common consent, to-wit:
Religion.	ARTICLE 1. No person demeaning himself in a peaceable and orderly manner, shall ever be molested on account of his mode of worship, or religious sentiments, in the said territory.
Common law rights secured.	ART. 2. The inhabitants of the said territory shall always be entitled to the benefits of the writ of habeas corpus, and trial by jury; of a proportionate representation of the people in the legislature, and of judicial proceedings according to the course of the common law. All persons shall be bailable, unless for criminal offenses, where the proof shall be evident, or the presumption great. All fines shall be moderate; and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted. No man shall be deprived of his liberty or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land; and should the public exigencies make it necessary, for the common preservation, to take any person's property, or to demand his particular services, full compensation shall be made for the same. And in the just preservation of rights and property, it is understood and declared, that no law ought ever to be made, or have force in the said territory, that shall in any manner whatever interfere with or affect private contracts or engagements, bona fide, and without fraud previously formed.

ART. 3. Religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged. The utmost good faith shall always be observed towards the Indians; their lands and property shall never be taken from them without their consent, and in their property, rights, and liberty, they never shall be invaded or disturbed, unless in just and lawful wars, authorized by congress; but laws, founded in justice and humanity, shall, from time to time, be made, for preventing wrongs being done to them, and for preserving peace and friendship with them.

ART. 4. The said territory, and the states which may be formed therein, shall forever remain a part of this confederacy of the United States of America, subject to the articles of confederation, and to such alterations therein as shall be constitutionally made; and to all the acts and ordinances of the United States in congress assembled, conformable thereto. The inhabitants and settlers in the said territory shall be subject to pay a part of the federal debts, contracted, or to be contracted, and a proportional part of the expenses of government, to be apportioned on them by congress, according to the same common rule and measure by which apportionments thereof shall be made on the other states; and the taxes for paying their proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the district or districts, or new states, as in the original states, within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled. The legislatures of those districts or new states, shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil by the United States in congress assembled, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers. No tax shall be imposed on lands, the property of the United States; and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. The navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the said territory, as to the citizens of the United States, and those of any other states that may be admitted into the confederacy, without any tax, impost, or duty therefor.

ART. 5. There shall be formed, in the said territory, not less than three, nor more than five states; and the boundaries of the states, as soon as Virginia shall alter her act of cession, and consent to the same, shall become fixed and established as follows, to-wit: the western state in the said territory shall be bounded by the Mississippi, the Ohio, and Wabash rivers; a direct line drawn from the Wabash and Post Vincents, due north to the territorial line between the United States and Canada; and by the said territorial line to the Lake of the Woods and Mississippi. The middle state shall be bounded by the said direct line, the Wabash from Post Vincents to the Ohio, by the Ohio, by a direct line drawn due north from the mouth of the Great Miami, to the said territorial line, and by the said territorial line. The eastern state shall be bounded by the last mentioned direct line, the Ohio, Pennsylvania and the said territorial line: Provided, however, and it is further understood and declared, that the boundaries of these three states shall be subject so far to be altered, that if congress shall hereafter find it expedient, they shall have authority to form one or two states in that part of the said territory which lies north of an east and west line drawn through the southerly bend or extreme of Lake Michigan. And whenever any of the said states shall have sixty thousand free inhabitants therein, such state shall be admitted, by its delegates, into the congress of the United States, on an equal footing with the original states, in all respects whatever; and shall be at liberty to form a permanent constitution and state government: provided, the constitution and government so to be formed, shall be republican, and in conformity to the principles contained in these articles; and so far as it can be consistent with the general interest of the confederacy, such admission shall be allowed at an earlier period, and when there may be a less number of free inhabitants in the state than sixty thousand.

Slavery.

ART. 6. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted: provided always, that any person escaping into the same, from whom labor or service is lawfully claimed in any of the original states, such fugitive may be lawfully reclaimed and conveyed to the person claiming his or her labor or service, as aforesaid.

Repeal.

Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the resolutions of the twenty-third day of April, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-four, relative to the subject of this ordinance, be, and the same are hereby repealed, and declared null and void.

DONE by the United States, in congress assembled, the thirteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of their sovereignty and independence the twelfth.

NATURALIZATION OF ALIENS.

Act of 14th April, 1802, as affected by subsequent acts.

Previous declaration of aliens.

Act of May 26, 1824, § 3, 4.

Renunciation of allegiance.

SECTION 1. Any alien, being a free white person, may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, or any of them, on the following conditions, and not otherwise:

1. That he shall have declared, on oath or affirmation, before the supreme, superior, district, or circuit court, of some one of the states, or of the territorial districts of the United States, or a circuit or district court of the United States, or before the clerk of either of such courts two years at least, before his admission; that it was bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, whatever, and particularly, by name, the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, whereof such alien may, at the time, be a citizen or subject.

2. That he shall, at the time of his application to be admitted, declare on oath or affirmation, before some one of the courts aforesaid, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he doth absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty whatsoever, and particularly, by name, the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty whereof he was a citizen or subject; which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court.

3. That the court admitting such alien shall be satisfied that he has resided within the United States five years at least, and within the state or territory where such court is at the time held, one year at least; and it shall further appear to their satisfaction, that during that time, he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; provided, that the oath of the applicant shall, in no case, be allowed to prove his residence.

Residence, etc.

Any alien who was residing within the limits, and under the jurisdiction of the United States, before the twenty-ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, may be admitted to become a citizen on due proof made to some one of the courts aforesaid, that he has resided two years at least, within and under the jurisdiction of the United States, and one year at least, immediately preceding his application, within the state or territory where such court is at the time held; and on his declaring on oath, or affirmation, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he doth absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty whatever, and particularly, by name, the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty whereof he was before a citizen or subject; and, moreover, on its appearing to the satisfaction of the court, that, during the said term of two years, he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; and where the alien, applying for admission to citizenship, shall have borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, on his moreover making in the court an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility, before he shall be entitled to such admission; all of which proceedings, required in this proviso to be performed in the court, shall be recorded by the clerk thereof.

Exemptions as to residents in U. S. before 29th Jan., 1795.

Any alien, being a free white person, who was residing within the limits, and under the jurisdiction of the United States, at any time between the eighteenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, and the fourteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and two, and who has continued to reside within the same; may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, without a compliance with the first condition specified in the first section of the act, entitled "an act to establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and to repeal the acts heretofore passed on that subject."

Provision relating to the foregoing:

Act of March 26, 1804, § 1.

Nothing in the first section of the act 22d of March, 1816, shall be construed to exclude from admission to citizenship, any free white person who was residing within the limits, and under the jurisdiction of the United States at any time between the eighteenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, and the fourteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and two, and who, having continued to reside therein without having made any declaration of intention before a court of record as aforesaid, may be entitled to become a citizen of the United States according to act 26th of March, 1804.

Residents between 18th June, 1798, and 14th April, 1802.

1816, § 2.

Whenever any person without a certificate of such declaration of intention, as aforesaid, shall make application to be admitted a citizen of the United States, it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that the applicant was residing within the limits, and under the jurisdiction of the United States, before the fourteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and two, and has continued to reside within the same, or he shall not be so admitted. And the residence of the applicant within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States for at least five years immediately preceding the time of such application, shall be proved by the oath or affirmation of citizens of the United States; which citizens shall be named in the record as witnesses. And such continued residence within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, when satisfactorily proved, and the place or places where the applicant has resided for at least five years, as aforesaid, shall be stated and set forth, together with the names of such citizens, in the record of the court admitting the applicant; otherwise the same shall not entitle him to be considered and deemed a citizen of the United States.

Provision as to
tween 14th
April, 1802, and 16th June, 1812.

Any alien, being a free white person, who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, between the fourteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and two, and the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and who has continued to reside within the same, may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, without having made any previous declaration of his intention to become a citizen; provided, that whenever any person, without a certificate of such declaration of intention, shall make application to be admitted a citizen of the United States, it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court that the applicant was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, before the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and has continued to reside within the same, or he shall not be so admitted; and the residence of the applicant within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, for at least five years immediately preceding the time of such application, shall be proved by the oath or affirmation of citizens of the United States; which citizens shall be named in the record as witnesses, and such continued residence within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, when satisfactorily proved, and the place or places where the applicant has resided for at least five years, as aforesaid, shall be stated and set forth, together with the names of such citizens, in the record of the court admitting the applicant; otherwise the same shall not entitle him to be considered and deemed a citizen of the United States.

Act of May 24,

Any alien, being a free white person and minor, under the age of twenty-one years, who shall have resided in the United States three years next preceding his arrival to the age of twenty-one years, and who shall have continued to reside therein to the time he may make application to be admitted to [be] a citizen thereof, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, and after he shall have resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted a citizen of the United States, without having made the declaration required in the first condition of the first section of the act to which this is in addition three years previous to his admission; provided, such alien shall make the declaration required therein at the time of his or her admission; and shall further declare on oath,

Minor.

Act of May 26,

and prove to the satisfaction of the court, that, for three years next preceding, it has been the bona fide intention of such alien to become a citizen of the United States; and shall, in all other respects, comply with the laws in regard to naturalization.

In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship shall have borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application shall be made, which renunciation shall be recorded in the said court; provided, that no alien, who shall be a native citizen, denizen or subject, of any country, state or sovereign, with whom the United States shall be at war at the time of his application, shall be then admitted to be a citizen of the United States.

SEC. 2. And, whereas, doubts have arisen whether certain courts of record in some of the states are included within the description of district or circuit courts: Be it further enacted, that every court of record in any individual state having common law jurisdiction, and a seal and clerk or prothonotary, shall be considered as a district court within the meaning of this act; and every alien who may have been naturalized in any such court shall enjoy, from and after the passage of this act, the same rights and privileges as if he had been naturalized in a district or circuit court of the United States.

What courts competent.

SEC. 3. The children of persons duly naturalized under any of the laws of the United States, or who, previous to the passing of any law on that subject by the government of the United States, under the laws thereof, being under the age of twenty-one years, at the time of their parents being so naturalized or admitted to the rights of citizenship, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens of the United States; and the children of persons who now are, or have been, citizens of the United States, shall, though born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, be considered as citizens of the United States. The right of citizenship shall not descend to persons whose fathers have never resided within the United States. And no person heretofore proscribed by any state, or who has been legally convicted of having joined the army of Great Britain during the war of the revolution, shall be admitted a citizen without the consent of the legislature of the state in which such person was proscribed. Children of persons naturalized before the fourteenth of April, 1802, under age at the time of their parents' naturalization, were, if dwelling in the United States on the fourteenth day of April, 1802, to be considered as citizens of the United States.

Children of citizens and persons naturalized.

When any alien, who shall have complied with the first condition specified in the first section of the said original act [of 14th April, 1802] and who shall have pursued the directions prescribed in the second section of the said act, may die before he is actually naturalized, the widow and the children of such alien shall be considered as citizens of the United States, and shall be entitled to all rights and privileges as such, upon taking the oaths prescribed by law.

Widow and children of aliens.

No person who shall arrive in the United States after February the seventeenth, 1815, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, who shall not, for the continued term of five years, next preceding his admission, have resided within the United States.

Continued residence of five years.

Act of March 3, 1812, § 12.

Aliens, honorably discharged from military service, may become citizens without, etc. Act of July 12, 1862, § 21.

SEC. 4. Any alien, of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, who has enlisted, or shall enlist in the armies of the United States, either the regular or the volunteer forces, and has been or shall be hereafter honorably discharged, may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, upon his petition, without any previous declaration of his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and that he shall not be required to prove more than one year's residence within the United States previous to his application to become such citizen; and that the court admitting such alien shall, in addition to such proof of residence and good moral character as is now provided by law, be satisfied by competent proof of such person having been honorably discharged from the service of the United States as aforesaid.

Rights of American citizens in foreign states. Preamble. Act of July 27, 1868.

WHEREAS, The right of expatriation is a natural and inherent right of all people, indispensable to the enjoyment of the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and, whereas, in the recognition of this principle this government has freely received emigrants from all nations, and invested them with the rights of citizenship; and, whereas, it is claimed that such American citizens, with their descendants, are subjects of foreign states, owing allegiance to the governments thereof; and, whereas, it is necessary to the maintenance of public peace that this claim of foreign allegiance should be promptly and finally disavowed; Therefore, be it enacted as follows:

Right of expatriation declared.

SEC. 5. Any declaration, instruction, opinion, order, or decision, of any officers of this government, which denies, restricts, impairs, or questions the right of expatriation, is hereby declared inconsistent with the fundamental principles of this government.

Protection to naturalized citizens in foreign states.

SEC. 6. All naturalized citizens of the United States, while in foreign states, shall be entitled to, and shall receive from this government, the same protection of persons and property that is accorded to native-born citizens in like situations and circumstances.

Release of citizens imprisoned by foreign governments to be demanded.

SEC. 7. Whenever it shall be made known to the president that any citizen of the United States has been unjustly deprived of his liberty by or under the authority of any foreign government, it shall be the duty of the president forthwith to demand of that government the reasons for such imprisonment, and if it appears to be wrongful and in violation of the rights of American citizenship, the president shall forthwith demand the release of such citizen, and if the release so demanded is unreasonably delayed or refused, it shall be the duty of the president to use such means, not amounting to acts of war, as he may think necessary and proper to obtain or effectuate such release, and all the facts and proceedings relative thereto shall as soon as practicable be communicated by the president to congress.

Facts to be communicated to congress.

Knowingly taking etc., a false oath, required in the naturalization of aliens, to be deemed perjury, and how punished. Act of July 14, 1870.

SEC. 8. In all cases where any oath, affirmation or affidavit shall be made or taken under or by virtue of any act or law relating to the naturalization of aliens, or in any proceedings under such acts or laws, and any person or persons taking or making such oath, affirmation, or affidavit, [who] shall knowingly swear or affirm falsely, the same shall be deemed and taken to be perjury, and the person or persons guilty thereof, shall, upon conviction thereof, be sentenced to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, and not less than one year, and to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars.

SEC. 9. If any person applying to be admitted a citizen, or appearing as a witness for any such person, shall knowingly personate any other person than himself, or falsely appear in the name of a deceased person, or in an assumed or fictitious name, or if any person shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit any oath, affirmation, notice, affidavit, certificate, order, record, signature, or other instrument, paper, or proceeding required or authorized by any law or act relating to or providing for the naturalization of aliens; or shall utter, sell, dispose of, or use as true or genuine, or for any unlawful purpose, any false, forged, ante-dated, or counterfeit oath, affirmation, notice, certificate, order, record, signature, instrument, paper, or proceeding as aforesaid; or sell or dispose of to any person other than the person for whom it was originally issued, any certificate of citizenship, or certificate showing any person to be admitted a citizen; or if any person shall in any manner use for the purpose of registering as a voter; or as evidence of a right to vote, or otherwise, unlawfully, any order, certificate of citizenship, or certificate, judgment, or exemplification, showing such person to be admitted to be a citizen, whether heretofore or hereafter issued or made, knowing that such order or certificate, judgment or exemplification has been unlawfully issued or made; or if any person shall unlawfully use, or attempt to use, any such order or certificate, issued to or in the name of any other person, or in a fictitious name, or the name of a deceased person; or use, or attempt to use, or aid, or assist, or participate in the use of any certificate of citizenship, knowing the same to be forged, or counterfeit, or ante-dated, or knowing the same to have been procured by fraud, or otherwise unlawfully obtained; or if any person, and without lawful excuse, shall knowingly have or be possessed of any false, forged, ante-dated, or counterfeit certificate of citizenship, purporting to have been issued under the provisions of any law of the United States relating to naturalization, knowing such certificate to be false, forged, ante-dated, or counterfeited, with intent unlawfully to use the same; or if any person shall obtain, accept, or receive any certificate of citizenship known to such person to have been procured by fraud, or by the use of any false name, or by means of any false statement made with intent to procure, or aid in procuring, the issue of such certificate, or known to such person to be fraudulently altered or ante-dated; or if any person who has been or may be admitted to be a citizen shall, on oath or affirmation, or by affidavit, knowingly deny that he has been so admitted, with intent to evade or avoid any duty or liability imposed or required by law, every person so offending shall be deemed and adjudged guilty of felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to be imprisoned and kept at hard labor for a period of not less than one year nor more than five years, or be fined in a sum not less than three hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or both such punishments may be imposed, in the discretion of the court. And every person who shall knowingly and intentionally aid or abet any person in the commission of any such felony, or attempt to do any act hereby made felony, or counsel, advise, or procure, or attempt to procure, the commission thereof, shall be liable to indictment and punishment in the same manner and to the same extent as the principal party guilty of such felony, and such person may be tried and convicted thereof without the previous conviction of such principal.

The doing of certain acts in connection with the naturalization of aliens declared felony, and penalty therefor.

Penalty for knowingly and intentionally aiding, etc., the doing of such acts.
Trial, etc.

Penalty for knowingly using any fraudulent, etc., certificate of naturalization.

For fraudulently falsely representing one's self to be a citizen.

This act to apply to all proceedings for naturalization before any court.

Courts of all the United States to have jurisdiction of offenses under this act.

In cities of more than 20,000 inhabitants, judges of circuit court, upon application, to appoint two citizens in each election district.

To supervise registration, voting, etc., in certain elections.

Authority of such persons.

Penalty for obstructing them.

In cities of over 20,000 inhabitants the marshal may appoint special deputies at congressional elections, etc.

Aliens of African nativity and descent may become citizens.

SEC. 10. Any person who shall knowingly use any certificate of naturalization heretofore granted by any court, or which shall hereafter be granted, which has been, or shall be, procured through fraud or by false evidence, or has been, or shall be, issued by the clerk, or any other officer of the court without any appearance and hearing of the applicant in court and without lawful authority; and any person who shall falsely represent himself to be a citizen of the United States, without having been duly admitted to citizenship, for any fraudulent purpose whatever, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, in due course of law, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding two years, either or both, in the discretion of the court taking cognizance of the same.

SEC. 11. The provisions of this act shall apply to all proceedings had or taken, or attempted to be had or taken, before any court in which any proceeding for naturalization shall be commenced, had or taken, or attempted to be commenced; and the courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction of all offenses under the provisions of this act, in or before whatsoever court or tribunal the same shall have been committed.

SEC. 12. In any city having upwards of twenty thousand inhabitants, it shall be the duty of the judge of the circuit court of the United States for the circuit wherein said city shall be, upon the application of two citizens, to appoint in writing for each election district or voting precinct in said city, and to change or renew said appointment as occasion may require, from time to time, two citizens resident of the district or precinct, one from each political party, who, when so designated, shall be, and are hereby, authorized to attend at all times and places fixed for the registration of voters, who, being registered, would be entitled to vote for representative in congress, and at all times and places for holding elections of representatives in congress, and for counting the votes cast at said elections, and to challenge any name proposed to be registered, and any vote offered, and to be present and witness throughout the counting of all votes, and to remain where the ballot-boxes are kept at all times after the polls are open until the votes are finally counted; and said persons and either of them shall have the right to affix their signatures or his signature to said register for the purposes of identification, and to attach thereto, or to the certificate of the number of votes cast, and [any] statement touching the truth or fairness thereof which they or he may ask to attach; and any one who shall prevent any person so designated from doing any of the acts authorized as aforesaid, or who shall hinder or molest any such person in doing any of the said acts, or shall aid or abet in preventing, hindering, or molesting any such person in respect of any such acts, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment not less than one year.

SEC. 13. In any city having upwards of twenty thousand inhabitants, it shall be lawful for the marshal of the United States for the district wherein said city shall be, to appoint as many special deputies as may be necessary to preserve order at any election at which representatives in congress are to be chosen; and said deputies are hereby authorized to preserve order at such elections, and to arrest for any offense or breach of the peace committed in their view.

SEC. 14. The naturalization laws are hereby extended to aliens of African nativity and to persons of African descent.

SEC. 15. Every seaman, being a foreigner, who declares his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States in any competent court, and shall have served three years on board of a merchant ship or ships of the United States subsequent to the date of such declaration, may, on his application to any competent court, and the production of his certificate of discharge and good conduct during that time, together with the certificate of his declaration of his intention to become a citizen, be admitted a citizen of the United States; and every seaman, being a foreigner, shall, after his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, and shall have served three years, be deemed a citizen of the United States for the purpose of manning and serving on board any merchant ship of the United States, anything to the contrary in any previous act of congress notwithstanding; but such seaman shall, for all purposes of protection as an American citizen, be deemed such, after the filing of his declaration of intention to become such citizen.

Seamen, being foreigners, may become citizens by declaring intent and serving three years in, etc. Act of June 7, 1872.

When to be deemed citizens.

Entitled to protection after filing declaration of intent.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their duty to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient suffrance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former system of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained, and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies, at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise; the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others, to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others, to subject us to a jurisdiction, foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws, giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation.

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated governments here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries, to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress, in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by the legislature to extend unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity; and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connexions and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world, for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the state of Great Britain, is, and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and do all other acts and things, which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

WE, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America.

Legislative powers.

ARTICLE 1. SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

Members of house of representatives: how chosen.

SEC. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

Qualification of.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representation and taxation.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative, and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

Vacancies.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

Officers. Impeachment.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Senate.

SEC. 3. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Senators classed.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SEC. 4. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof, but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations except as to the places of choosing senators.

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SEC. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualification of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either houses, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Exclusion from office.	No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.
Bills for revenue.	SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.
Bills: the formalities of their passage.	Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on the journals, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be re-considered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill, shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.
Resolutions, etc., to be approved.	Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.
Powers of congress. Taxes.	SEC. 8. The congress shall have power: To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;
Borrowing.	To borrow money on the credit of the United States;
Commerce.	To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;

Copyright.	To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;
Inferior courts.	To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;
Piracy.	To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;	War.
To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money, to that use, shall be for a longer term than two years;	Army.
To provide and maintain a navy;	Navy.
To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;	Rules for.
To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;	Militia and its organization.
To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;
To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings. And	Exclusive authority over district.
To make all laws which shall be necessary to and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.	General authority.
SEC. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax of duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.	Limitation of powers.
The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, except when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.	Importation of persons.
No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.	Habeas corpus.
No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.	Attainder, etc.

	Limitations on the states.

Of commerce,

No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net proceeds of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and the control of the Congress. No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

The executive.

ART. 2. SEC. 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Electors of.

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector.

And proceedings in the choice of president.

The electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list, the house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors, shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice-president.*

tors.

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

Qualifications for presidency.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

* By an amendment to the constitution, a substitute for this paragraph was adopted. Amendment, Art. 12, Sec. 1. This amendment was proposed in October, 1803, and was ratified before September, 1804. See the amendment, post.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president elected.

Vice-president:
When to act.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive during that period any other emolument from the United States or any of them.

Compensation
of president.

Before he enter upon the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

Oath of office.

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States; and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

Powers of the president.
Commander.

Pardons.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, and other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for and which shall be established by law. But the congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

Treaties.

Appointment of officers.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Fill vacancies.

SEC. 3. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Give informa-
gress, etc.

SEC. 4. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

Impeachment.

ART. 3. SEC. 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Judicial power.

- Tenure. supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.
- Extent of judicial power. SEC. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state, claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens, or subjects.
- Jurisdiction of supreme court. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases, before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the congress shall make.
- Trial by jury. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as congress may by law have directed.
- Treason. SEC. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.
- Attainder. The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.
- Acts, records, etc., of states. ART. 4. SEC. 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.
- Citizenship. SEC. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.
- Fugitives from justice. A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.
- Fugitive slaves. No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.
- New states. SEC. 3. New states may be admitted by the congress into this union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislature of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

Territory of United States.

SEC. 4. The United States shall guaranty to every state in this union, a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

Republican government.

ART. 5. The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress: provided, that no amendment, which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

Amendments
tion.

ART. 6. All debts contracted, and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this constitution, shall be as valid against the United States, under this constitution, as under the confederation.

Former debts recognized.

This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

Supreme law.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

Oath of office
Religious test.

ART. 7. The ratification of the conventions of nine states, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Ratification.

Done in convention, by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Religion,
speech, press,
and petition.

ARTICLE 1. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Bearing arms.

ART. 2. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

Quartering of soldiers.

ART. 3. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Unreasonable searches and seizures.

ART. 4. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ceedings.

ART. 5. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject, for the same offense, to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

Private property taken, etc.

Trial by jury in
ceedings.

ART. 6. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ART. 7. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact, tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law. Same, in suits at common law.

ART. 8. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted. Excessive bail.

ART. 9. The enumeration in the constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people. Rights retained by the people.

ART. 10. The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people. Powers not delegated, reserved.

ART. 11. The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state. States not to be sued.

ART. 12. SEC. 1. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate; the president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president, shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president. Manner of choosing president.

SEC. 2. The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president, shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice-president: a quorum for that purpose, shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. Electors.

SEC. 3. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president, shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States. House of representatives.

Vice-president to act when no choice.

Senate to elect vice-president.

Eligibility.

Slavery, and involuntary servitude prohibited.

Legislation by congress.

Citizens of the United States, are citizens of the state where they reside. States prohibited from passing any law abridging the rights of citizens of the United States.

Representatives apportioned among the several states.

Basis of representation reduced.

Officers who have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States, and who engage in rebellion or insurrection prohibited from holding office. Congress may remove such disability.

The public debt of the United States shall not be questioned.

The United States and any state prohibited from paying any debt incurred in aid of rebellion or insurrection. Legislation by congress. The right to vote not abridged on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Legislation by congress.

ART. 13. SEC. 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SEC. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ART. 14. SEC. 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the state wherein they reside.

No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, representatives in congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in congress, or elector of president and vice-president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But congress may, by a vote of two thirds of each house, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ART. 15. SEC. 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SEC. 2. The congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

The first ten of these amendments were proposed by congress (with others which were not ratified by three-fourths of the legislatures of the several states), by resolution of 1789, and were ratified before 1791. The eleventh amendment was proposed by congress by resolution of the year 1794, and was ratified before 1796. The twelfth article was proposed by congress by resolution of October, 1803 and was ratified before September, 1804. The thirteenth article was proposed by congress, by resolution, of the year 1865, and was ratified before December 18, 1865. The fourteenth article was proposed by congress, by resolution, of the year 1866, and was ratified before the 20th day of July, 1868. The fifteenth article was proposed by congress, by resolution, of the year 1869, and was ratified before the 30th day of March, 1870.

CONSTITUTION OF IOWA.

Preamble.—WE, THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF IOWA, grateful to the Supreme Being for the blessings hitherto enjoyed, and feeling our dependence on him for a continuation of those blessings, do ordain and establish a free and independent government, by the name of the STATE OF IOWA, the boundaries whereof shall be as follows:

Boundaries.—Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river, at a point due east of the middle of the mouth of the main channel of the Des Moines river, thence up the middle of the main channel of the Des Moines river, to a point on said river where the northern boundary line of the State of Missouri—as established by the constitution of that state, adopted June 12th, 1820—crosses the said middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines river; thence westwardly along the said northern boundary line of the state of Missouri, as established at the time aforesaid, until an extension of said line intersects the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river; thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Missouri river to a point opposite the middle of the main channel of the Big Sioux river, according to Nicollett's map; thence up the main channel of the said Big Sioux river, according to the said map, until it is intersected by the parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes, north latitude, thence east along said parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes until said parallel intersects the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence down the middle of the main channel of the said Mississippi river to the place of beginning.

ARTICLE 1.—BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. [Rights of persons.]—All men are, by nature, free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing, and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

The breadth and design of sections one and six, of article one of the constitution, to secure equality to all and the enjoyment of property by all, is fully understood and conceded. But the equality secured to the citizen cannot be exercised to the danger of the lives and property of others; neither can property be acquired enjoyed, and disposed of to the peril of the lives, health happiness and property of others. The constitution does not interfere with the police power of the state to protect the people in their lives, health, and property. The state is clothed with power to prevent injury to these. See constitution article one, section two. The legislature, therefore, may lawfully provide by law for granting permits to persons of good moral character, who are citizens of the county, to sell intoxicating liquors for lawful purposes, and such legislation is not in conflict with section one, of article one, nor with section six of the same article of the constitution. Per BECK, In re Ruth, 32 Iowa, 250.

SEC. 2. [Political power.—All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people, and they have the right, at all times, to alter or reform the same, whenever the public good may require it.

SEC. 3. [Religion.—The general assembly shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; nor shall any person be compelled to attend any place of worship, pay tithes, taxes, or other rates, for building or repairing places of worship, or the maintenance of any minister or ministry.

Section 3, of article 1 of the constitution, was intended to secure the citizen against taxation for religious purposes, and not for the purpose of suppressing religion itself; and it does not afford a ground for enjoining religious exercises in the public schools, where it appears that the burden of taxation is not thereby increased, and that plaintiff's children are not required to be present at, or take part in, such exercises. Moore v. Monroe et al., 64 Iowa, 367.

SEC. 4. [Religious test.—No religious test shall be required as a qualification for any office of public trust, and no person shall be deprived of any of his rights, privileges, or capacities, or disqualified from the performance of any of his public or private duties, or rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity, in consequence of his opinions on the subject of religion; and any party to any judicial proceeding shall have the right to use as a witness, or take the testimony of, any other person, not disqualified on account of interest, who may be cognizant of any fact material to the case; and parties to suits may be witnesses, as provided by law.

Section 3639 of the code is not in conflict with the provisions of this section, that "any party to any judicial proceeding shall have a right to use as a witness * * * any other person not disqualified on account of interest." Donnell v. Braden, 70 Iowa, 551.

SEC. 5. [Dueling.—Any citizen of this state who may hereafter be engaged, either directly or indirectly, in a duel, either as principal or accessory before the fact, shall forever be disqualified from holding any office under the constitution and laws of this state.

SEC. 6. [Law uniform.—All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation; the general assembly shall not grant to any citizen or class of citizens, privileges or immunities, which upon the same terms shall not equally belong to all citizens.

An ordinance of a town, requiring transient merchants doing business within the town to pay a license—the object being to discriminate in favor of resident merchants and against all others—is in conflict with article 1, section 6 of the constitution, and also in conflict with article 1, of section 8 of the constitution of the United States. The Town of Pacific Junction v. Dyer, 64 Iowa, 38.

The word "operation," in the sixth section of the first article of the constitution, which declares that "all laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation," means the practical working and effect of the law. Geebrick v. The State of Iowa, 5 Iowa, 491.

An act of the legislature conferring upon the city council the power to tax "transient merchants," doing business in the city, is not in conflict with section six, article one of the constitution. The City of Mount Pleasant v. Clutch, 6 Id., 547.

An act of the legislature providing that if it be shown to the satisfaction of the court that a defendant in an action is in the actual military service of the United States, any action against him in the state courts shall stand continued during the period of his actual service, is not in conflict with section 6, of article 1 of the state constitution. McCormick v. Rusch, 15 Id., 127.

Section one hundred and fourteen of the code of 1851, and chapter one hundred and ninety-three of the laws of 1857, authorizing the people of the several counties of the state to decide by a majority vote to restrain sheep and swine from running at large (see section 309, code of 1873), is not inconsistent with section 6 of this article. Dalby v. Wolf et al., 15 Id., 228.

The legislature has the constitutional power to pass a curative act legalizing the defective organization of a school district already in existence under the general law. Such an act is not in conflict with section six of article one of the constitution. The State v. Squires, 26 Id., 219, 345.

Chapter 119, of the laws of 1878, prohibiting the sale of malt or vinous liquor within two miles of the corporation limits of cities and towns, is not in conflict with the provision of the constitution requiring all laws of a general character to be of uniform operation. The State v. Shroeder, 51 Id., 197.

Section 1317 of the code which provides for the annual assessment of railroad property for taxation, while real property is assessed only every alternate year, is not repugnant to section six of article one of the constitution, nor to the fourteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States, as discriminating against railroads. Central Iowa R'y Co. v. The Board of Supervisors, etc., 67 Id., 199.

SEC. 7. [Liberty of speech and the press.]—Every person may speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right. No law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech, or of the press. In all prosecutions or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous was true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted.

SEC. 8. [Personal security.]—The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable seizures and searches, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons and things to be seized.

SEC. 9. [Trial by jury.]—The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate; but the general assembly may authorize trial by a jury of a less number than twelve men in inferior courts; but no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.

Where an act provided that a bond executed to stay an execution, should be taken as a judgment confessed, against the persons executing the same, and against their estates, and that execution might issue thereon accordingly, it was held that such act was not void for the reason that it denied or took away a trial in due course of law. Cavender v. The Heirs of Smith, 5 Iowa, 157.

The provisions of the constitution providing for juries of less than twelve men in inferior courts, is not in violation of the second article of the ordinance of 1787. The State v. Beneke, 9 Id., 204.

The accused is entitled to a trial by a jury of twelve men, but may be tried by a jury of a less number in an inferior court, while a trial by a jury of twelve may be secured by an appeal to a higher court. Id.

The right of trial by jury being secured in actions at law, the legislature cannot, by an evasion of this section of the constitution, render that which is in its essence a suit at law, a proceeding to punish for contempt. Ex parte Grace, 12 Id., 208. See, also, The City of Des Moines v. Lyman, 21 Id., 153.

“Due process of law” means ordinary judicial proceedings in court, and has no reference to the lawful exercise of the taxing power, which belongs exclusively to the legislative department. Stewart v. Board of Supervisors, 30 Id., 9; Boyd v. Ellis, 11 Id., 99; Ex parte Grace, 12 Id., 214; Allen v. Armstrong, 16 Id., 512.

This section does not entitle a party to demand that the issues of fact in an equitable action be tried by a jury. The State for the use, etc. v. Orwig, 24 Id., 280.

An act of the legislature authorizing the rendition of a general money judgment in favor of an occupying claimant, for improvements made by him, and a general execution to enforce such judgment is in violation of section 9 of article 1, of the state constitution. Childs v. Shower, 18 Id., 261.

Where there is a great perplexity in the accounts between the parties to an action for the establishment of a claim against an estate, and the examination of the accounts by a jury is practicable, the cause is a proper one for equitable cognizance and, under section 2316 of the code, the court may, on its own motion, refer such a case to a referee to report the testimony, and facts found and the conclusions of law thereon, and since section 9 of article 1 of the constitution does not guarantee a right of trial by jury in causes of equitable cognizance, such reference is not in violation thereof. Burt v. Harrah, Admr., 65 Id., 643.

SEC. 10. [Rights of persons accused.]—In all criminal prosecutions, and in cases involving the life or liberty of an individual, the accused shall have a right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury; to be informed of the accusation against him; to have a copy of the same when demanded; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for his witnesses; and to have the assistance of counsel.

The defendant in a criminal prosecution has a right to be confronted by the witnesses against him, and see them face to face. State v. Reidel, 26 Iowa, 430.

A defendant indicted for a felony may waive this right secured by the constitution to be confronted with the witnesses against him and consent that the testimony taken down in writing in a former trial, based upon the same facts, may be read in evidence to the jury as a substitute for the oral testimony and presence of the witnesses. The State v. Polson, 29 Id., 133.

The provision of this section that a person accused of crime is entitled to be confronted with the witnesses against him, has no reference to record evidence. And so, in a prosecution for bigamy, certified transcripts of marriage records are receivable as evidence of the marriages and the dates thereof. The State v. Matlock, 70 Id., 229.

SEC. 11. [Without indictment.]—All offenses less than felony, and in which the punishment does not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for thirty days, shall be tried summarily before a justice of the peace, or other officer authorized by law, on information under oath, without indictment, or the intervention of a grand jury, saving to the defendant the right of appeal; and no person shall be held to answer for any higher criminal offense, unless on presentment or indictment by a grand jury, except in cases arising in the army or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger.

Since the taking effect of this constitution, a grand jury has no legal authority to inquire into any offense less than felony, and cases in which the punishment does not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for thirty days; these are triable summarily before a justice of the peace without indictment or the intervention of a grand jury. The State v. Kähler, 6 Iowa, 398; The State v. Axt, Id., 511. But this section does not apply to offenses committed before the constitution took effect. Id.

SEC. 12. [By indictment: twice tried.]—No person shall, after acquittal, be tried for the same offense. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, where the proof is evident, or the presumption great.

Where a defendant, indicted for murder in the second degree, was tried and convicted of the crime of manslaughter, and on appeal to the supreme court the judgment was reversed and the case remanded; held, that the conviction for manslaughter was an acquittal of the charge of murder in the second degree, and that the defendant could not again be put on trial on that charge. The State v. Tweedy, 11 Iowa, 350.

When a defendant has been tried and acquitted before a justice of the peace for an offense within the jurisdiction of that officer to try, he cannot be again tried upon appeal to the district court by the state. The State v. Van Horton, 26 Id., 402.

Where a defendant is put upon trial for an offense of a higher degree than he can be legally convicted of under the indictment preferred against him, he cannot be legally convicted of a lesser grade of the offense in that degree. The State v. Tweedy, 11 Id., 350; The State v. Boyle, 28 Id., 522; The State v. Knouse, 29 Id., 118.

A trial and conviction for assault and battery, under an information charging that offense, constitutes no bar to a subsequent indictment and prosecution for assault with intent to commit great bodily injury, based on the same act. The State v. Foster, 33 Id., 525.

A conviction of the proprietor of a billiard saloon for permitting W., a minor, to play billiards in his saloon at a certain specified time, is no bar to a prosecution for permitting M. to play the game at another time. The State v. Derichs, 42 Id., 196.

The judgment of a justice of the peace in a criminal proceeding instituted by the procurement of the defendant, in which a conviction or acquittal is secured by fraud or collusion, may be appealed to the appellate court, or disregarded and treated as void. It is no bar to other proceedings against the same defendant for the same offense. The State v. Greene et al., 16 Id., 239.

Section 12 of chapter 143, laws of 1884, providing for the abatement of liquor nuisances by injunction, is not in conflict with sections 9, 10, 11 and 1, of article 12, of the constitution. Litleton v. Fritz, 65 Id., 488.

SEC. 13. [Habeas corpus.]—The writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, or refused when application is made as required by law, unless in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

SEC. 14. [Military.]—The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be kept up by the state in time of peace; and in time of war, no appropriation for a standing army shall be for a longer time than two years.

SEC. 15. [Quartermen soldiers.—No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war except in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 16. [Treason.—Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies, or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open court.

SEC. 17. [Bail.—Excessive bail shall not be required; excessive fines shall not be imposed, and cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted.

Chapter 143, laws of 1884, in its provisions for fines for the violations thereof is not in conflict with section 17 of article 1 of the constitution, which prohibits the imposition of "excessive fines." Martin v. Blattner et al., 68 Iowa, 286.

SEC. 18. [Property.—Private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation first being made, or secured to be made, to the owner thereof, as soon as the damages shall be assessed by a jury, who shall not take into consideration any advantages that may result to said owner on account of the improvement for which it is taken.

The term "just compensation" as used in this section of the constitution, means a fair equivalent—that the person whose property is taken shall be made whole; and the word "damages" as used in the statute has reference to the just compensation required by the constitution. Sater v. The B. & M. P. R. Co., 1 Iowa, 386; Henry v. The D. & P. R. Co., 2 Id., 288.

Where a jury appointed to assess the damages for a public highway return that the claimant was entitled to no damages, and there was no appeal, no compensation need be paid before opening the road. Connolly v. Griswold, 7 Id., 248.

An order establishing a public road without directing compensation to be made to the land owner, is not in conflict with the constitution, where such owner makes no claim for damages in the manner pointed out by law. Abbott v. The Board of Supervisors, etc., 36 Id., 354.

The constitutional limitations contained in section eighteen of the bill of rights prohibits, by implication, the taking of private property for any private use whatever, without the consent of the owner. Bankhead v. Brown, 25 Id., 540.

This section forbids private property from being compulsorily taken for any but public use, and then only upon just compensation being made, the amount of which is to be assessed by a jury. Bankhead v. Brown, 25 Id., 540.

When the public exigencies demand, the exercise of the power of taking private property for public use is solely a question for the legislature, upon whose determination the courts cannot sit in judgment. Id.

What is such a "public use" as will justify the exercise of the power of eminent domain, is a question for the courts to determine. But if a public use be declared by the legislature, the courts will hold this as public, unless it manifestly appears by the provisions of the act that they can have no tendency to advance and promote such public use. Id.

An act of the legislature for the establishment of private roads directing the taking of private property for such private roads is unconstitutional in that it directs the taking of private property for a "private use." Id.

The legislature may provide that a public way may be established to coal and other mines, and the right to take land for a road demanded for public convenience does not depend upon the length of the road or the number of the persons through whose land it may pass.

It is competent for the legislature under the state constitution to authorize municipal corporations to require the streets to be paved, and the cost thereof assessed upon the abutting lots. Warren v. Henley, 31 Id., 31.

Section 4168 of the revision (code section 3829 as amended), which establishes the maximum of attorney's fee for the defense in criminal cases, appointed by the court, held, not inconsistent with this section of the constitution. Samuels v. The County of Dubuque, 13 Id., 536.

An act providing for the taxation of property by townships, cities and incorporated towns to aid in the construction of railroads is not in conflict with the constitution as taking private property for private use. Stewart v. The Board of Supervisors, etc., 30 Id., 9; The McGregor & S. C. R. Co. v. Birdsall, 30 Id., 255; Bonmifield v. Bidwell, 32 Id., 149.

The right to take private property for right of way for railroads under the power of eminent domain is based upon the ground that the object is a public one, for public use, within the meaning of the constitution. Id.

The taxing power may be exercised for any object that will justify the exercise of the power of eminent domain. Id.

While the right to take private property for public use is conditioned upon making compensation, the taxing power is not thus limited by the constitution; and being one of the sovereign powers vested in the general assembly, the judicial power possesses no authority to thus limit it. Id. Overruling Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Id., 28. BECK, J., dissenting.

The general assembly can pass laws to raise revenue by taxation only for public purposes; and when revenue is raised for a purpose not connected with the public interest, it is no longer taxation, though so denominated. Clapp v. Cedar Co., 5 Id., 15; Ring v. Johnson Co., Id., 274; Stokes v. Scott Co., 10 Id., 171; The State ex rel. v. Wapello Co., 13 Id., 388; McClure v. Owen, 26 Id., 243; Meyers v. Johnson Co., 14 Id., 47; McMillen v. Boyles, Id., 107; Brock v. Wallace, Id., 593; Smith v. Henry Co., 15 Id., 385; Ten Eyck v. The Major, etc., Id 436; Chamberlain v. The City of Burlington; 19 Id., 395; Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Id., 28.

A road or way established under chapter 34, laws of 1874, over the land of another, to connect a mine or quarry with a railroad or highway, is a public way, in the sense that the public may use and enjoy it in the way in which roads and highways are ordinarily used by it, and that the mine-owner who procures it to be established must use the special privilege which the act confers on him in such manner as not to destroy this right of the public, or prevent its enjoyment. It follows, therefore, that said act is not in conflict with those provisions of the constitution of the United States, and of the state of Iowa, which prohibit the appropriation by law of private property to private use. Phillips v. Watson, 63 Id., 28.

Payment by a railway company to the sheriff of the damages awarded by the commissioners under the statute for the right of way over another's land, is not payment to the land-owner, and where the sheriff fails to pay the amount to the land-owner, the failure must be imputed to the railway company, whose agent he is, rather than the agent of the land-owner, and in such case the land-owner may recover the possession of the land for non-payment. White v. The Wabash, St. Louis & P. R'y Co., 64 Id., 281.

Section 817 of the code, providing for the taxation of moneys and credits, etc., held by any one as agent in this state for pecuniary profit, is not repugnant to section 18 of article one of the constitution which provides that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation. Hutchinson v. The Board of Equalization of the City of Oskaloosa, 66 Id., 35.

SEC. 19. [Imprisonment for debt.]—No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action, on mesne or final process, unless in case of fraud; and no person shall be imprisoned for a military fine in time of peace.

It was held in Ex parte Grace, 12 Iowa, 208, that chapter 126 of the revision (chapter three, title eighteen of the code), does not provide for the imprisonment of a debtor in a manner, or under circumstances not fully warranted by section nineteen of the bill of rights.

SEC. 20. [Petition.]—The people have the right freely to assemble together to counsel for the common good; to make known their opinions to their representatives, and to petition for a redress of grievances.

SEC. 21. [Attainder and ex post facto laws.]—No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be passed.

A retrospective law is not necessarily ex post facto. The term ex post facto applies only to criminal laws, such as make acts criminal, which were innocent when committed, or if criminal when committed, aggravate the crime, increase the punishment or reduce the degree of proof. The State ex rel., etc., v. Squires et al., 26 Iowa, 340.

Retrospective laws, as distinguished from ex post facto laws, are not in conflict with the constitution of the United States, nor with the constitution of this state. The State ex rel., etc., v. Squires et al., 26 Id., 340; The Iowa R. R. Land Co. v. Soper, 39 Id., 112.

In the absence of any constitutional inhibition the legislature has the power to pass retrospective laws, and they will be operative unless they interfere with vested rights. The Iowa R. R. Land Co. v. Soper, 39 Id., 112; The State ex rel., etc., v. Squires, 26 Id., 340; Bennett v. Fisher, Id., 497; State v. Kimball, 23 Id., 531; Davis v. O'Farrell, 4 G. Greene, 168, 358; Phares v. Walters, 6 Id., 106; Montgomery v. Chadwick, 7 Id., 114; McMillen v. Boyles, 6 Id., 304; Newman v. Samuels, 17 Id., 523; Boardman, v. Beckwith, 18 Id., 292.

The act of March 31, 1860, providing for the appraisement of property sold under execution, impaired the obligation of contracts in so far as it applied to contracts entered into prior to the taking effect of the statute, and was, as to such contracts, unconstitutional and void. Rosier v. Hale et al., 10 Id., 470. That act was therefore not retrospective in its operation. Landis v. Abrahams, 11 Id., 284.

A statute providing that if it be shown to the satisfaction of the court that a defendant is in the actual military service of the United States, any action pending against him in such court shall stand continued during the period of his actual service, does not impair the obligation of contracts, nor conflict with that clause of the constitution which requires "all laws of a general nature to have uniform operation." McCormick v. Busch, 15 Id., 127.

The constitutional inhibition against laws impairing the obligation of contracts, is not infringed by a judicial decision declaring a contract void which the parties had no legal or constitutional power to make. McClure v. Owen, 26 Id., 243.

The statute of this state abolishing the common law distinction between sealed and unsealed instruments, thereby admitting the defense of want of consideration in all actions upon written instruments made after the passage of the statute does not impair the obligation of the contract, but merely relates to the remedy. Williams v. Haines, 27 Id., 251.

Chapter forty-nine of the laws of 1866 (sections 3169, 3170 of the code), dispensing with motions for new trials in certain cases, relates merely to the remedy, and is not unconstitutional. Johnson v. Semple, 31 Id., 49; Coffin v. City of Davenport, 25 Id., 516; Pressnell v. Herbert, 34 Id., 539.

Laws granting exemptions from execution relate to the remedy and are valid. Helpenstein & Gore v. Cave, 3 Id., 287.

The legislature has power to change the form in which suits shall be instituted, and make it applicable to notes previously executed. Creighton v. Gordon, Morris, 41; Ingerman v. Dooley, Id., 28.

Laws made prior to the formation of a contract, cannot impair its obligation, for existing laws enter into and become a part of the contract when made, and define and determine it. Davis v. Bronson, 6 Id., 410.

A state may say how far the laws of another state may be enforced by her courts; and this without impairing the obligation of contracts. Id.

Contracts which are in evasion or in fraud of the laws of a state or county, or of the rights or duties of its citizens or subjects—against good morals, or against religion, or against public right; and contracts opposed to public policy, or national institutions, are nullities in every country, affected by such contracts, although they may be valid by the laws of the place where made. Id.

A contract made in another state with intent to enable another to sell intoxicating liquors within this state, in violation of the laws of this state, is opposed to the public policy of the state, and cannot be enforced in our courts. Id.

When a rule of decision relating to a remedy is changed by a statute, the new rule is applicable to all cases subsequently tried, though commenced prior to the enactment of the statute. Ballard v. Ridgely & Billon, Morris, 27.

After an action to abate a nuisance by selling intoxicating liquors had been commenced under the prohibitory law, a statute was enacted authorizing the closing of the building for one year, and the taking of an attorney's fee against the defendants. Held, that to apply the new statute in the judgment in such action did not infringe the provision of the constitution forbidding ex post facto laws, and that the attorney's fee taxed under such act is a part of the costs, and not part of the penalty, the statute effecting only the remedy. Drake v. Jordan, 36 N. W. Rep., 653.

SEC. 22. [Aliens hold property.]—Foreigners who are, or may hereafter become residents of this state, shall enjoy the same rights in respect to the possession, enjoyment and descent of property, as native born citizens.

This section of the constitution does not restrict the powers of the legislature to confer the same rights upon other classes, the rule of construction of state constitutions being that the legislature may exercise all rightful legislative powers which are not expressly prohibited or necessarily included in the prohibited powers. Opinion of COLE, J., in Purzell v. Smidt, 21 Iowa, 540. See, also, Crogan v. Kinney, 15 Id., 242; Rheim v. Robbins, 45 Id., which holds a contrary doctrine.

SEC. 23. [Slavery.]—There shall be no slavery in this state; nor shall there be involuntary servitude, unless for the punishment of crime.

SEC. 24. [Reservation.]—No lease or grant of agricultural lands, reserving any rent or service of any kind, shall be valid for a longer period than twenty years.

SEC. 25. [Construction.]—The enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others, retained by the people.

ARTICLE 2.—RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

SECTION 1. [Electors.]—Every white male citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of this state six months next preceding the election, and of the county in which he claims his vote, sixty days, shall be entitled to vote at all elections which are now or hereafter may be authorized by law.

This section of the constitution defines only the qualifications of an elector, and does not prescribe the place of exercising the elective franchise as a test of qualification. The power to fix the place and manner of its exercise is left with the general assembly. Morrison v. Springer, and other cases, 15 Iowa, 304.

The act of September 11, 1862, entitled "an act to amend title IV of the revision of 1860, so as to enable the qualified electors of the state in the military service to vote at certain elections," held, not inconsistent with this section of the constitution, for the reason that it permitted such electors to cast their votes at polls opened and conducted beyond the limits of the county and state of which they claimed to be residents. Id.

While the right to vote of a person possessing the qualifications of an elector, as prescribed by the state constitution, cannot be destroyed or impaired by the legislature, it may, nevertheless, regulate the exercise thereof by enacting reasonable provisions for determining the age, length of residence, etc., of the persons offering to vote. Edmonds v. Banbury et al., 28 Id., 267.

Chapter 171 of the Laws of 1868, known as the "Registry Law," held, not in conflict with the provisions of the constitution. Id.

The supreme court will declare a statute unconstitutional only when it is clearly, palpably and plainly inconsistent with some provision of that instrument. Stewart v. the Board of Supervisors, etc., 30 Id., 9; Morrison v. Springer, 28 Id., 304; Santo v. The State, 2 Id., 208; McCormick v. Rusch, 15 Id., 127; Whiting et al v. City Mt. Pleasant, 11 Id., 482; McGregor v. Bayles 19 Id., 43; Duncombe v. Prindle, 12 Id., 1, and cases cited from other states.

SEC. 2. [Privilege.]—Electors shall, in all cases except treason, felony or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest on the days of election, during their attendance at such elections, going to and returning therefrom.

SEC. 3. [Same.]—No elector shall be obliged to perform military duty on the day of election, except in time of war or public danger.

SEC. 4. [Resident.]—No person in the military, naval or marine service of the United States shall be considered a resident of this state by being stationed in any garrison, barrick or military or naval place or station within this state.

SEC. 5. [Exception.]—No Idiot or Insane person, or person convicted of any infamous crime, shall be entitled to the privilege of an elector.

SEC. 6. [Ballot.] All elections by the people shall be by ballot.

ARTICLE 3. OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. [Departments of the government.]—The powers of the government of Iowa shall be divided into three separate departments: the legislative, the executive and the judicial; and no person charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any function appertaining to either of the others, except in cases hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. [Legislative authority.]—The legislative authority of this state shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives; and the style of every law shall be—"Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa."

The people have no authority in their primary or individual capacity, to make laws; that authority being vested in the general assembly. Santo v. The State, 2 Iowa, 168; Stewart v. Board of Supervisors, 30 Id., 9, 18.

The general assembly cannot legally submit to the people the proposition whether an act shall become a law or not. Id. Geebrick v. The State, 5 Id., 491; The State v. Beneke, 9 Id., 203; The State v. Weir, 33 Id., 134; The State v. King, 37 Id., 462, 466.

A law can no more be repealed than it can be enacted, by a vote of the people in their primary capacity. Geebrick v. The State, 5 Id., 491; The State v. Weir, 33 Id., 134.

The validity or taking effect of a statute cannot be made to depend on a vote of the people, and a section of an act providing for this is unconstitutional. But if the act be complete without such invalid section, it will be declared invalid.

SEC. 2. [Sessions.]—The sessions of the general assembly shall be biennial, and shall commence on the second Monday in January next ensuing the election of its members; unless the governor of the state shall, in the meantime, convene the general assembly by proclamation.

SEC. 3. [Members of the house.].—The members of the house of representatives shall be chosen every second year, by the qualified electors of their respective districts, on the second Tuesday in October, except the years of the presidential election, when the election shall be on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November; and their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next after their election, and continue two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 4. [Eligibility.].—No person shall be a member of the house of representatives who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years; be a free white male citizen of the United States, and shall have been an inhabitant of this state one year next preceding his election, and at the time of his election shall have had an actual residence of sixty days in the county or district he may have been chosen to represent.

SEC. 5. [Senators.].—Senators shall be chosen for the term of four years, at the same time and place as representatives; they shall be twenty-five years of age, and possess the qualifications of representatives as to residence and citizenship.

SEC. 6. [Same, and classed.].—The number of senators shall not be less than one-third nor more than one-half the representative body; and shall be so classified by lot, that one class, being as nearly one-half as possible, shall be elected every two years. When the number of senators is increased, they shall be annexed by lot to one or the other of the two classes, so as to keep them as nearly equal in number as practicable.

SEC. 7. [Elections determined.].—Each house shall choose its own officers, and judge of the qualification, election, and return of its own members. A contested election shall be determined in such manner as shall be directed by law.

SEC. 8. [Quorum.].—A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to transact business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

SEC. 9. [Authority of the houses.].—Each house shall sit upon its own adjournment, keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same; determine its rules of proceedings, punish members for disorderly behavior, and with the consent of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offense; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the general assembly of a free and independent state.

SEC. 10. [Protest.].—Every member of the general assembly shall have the liberty to dissent from or protest against any act or resolution which he may think injurious to the public or an individual, and have the reasons for his dissent entered on the journals; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall, at the desire of any to members present, be entered on the journals.

SEC. 11. [Privilege.].—Senators and representatives, in all cases except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest during the session of the general assembly, and in going to and returning from the same.

SEC. 12. [Vacancies.].—When vacancies occur in either house, the governor, or the person exercising the functions of governor, shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

SEC. 13. [Doors open.].—The doors of each house shall be open, except on such occasions as, in the opinion of the house, may require secrecy.

SEC. 14. [Adjournment.].—Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which they may be sitting.

SEC. 15. [Bills.].—Bills may originate in either house, and may be amended, altered, or rejected by the other; and every bill having passed both houses, shall be signed by the speaker and president of their respective houses.

SEC. 16. [To be approved, etc.].—Every bill which shall have passed the general assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor. If he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter the same upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it; if, after such reconsideration, it again pass both houses, by yeas and nays, by a majority of two-thirds of the members of each house, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the governor's objections. If any bill shall not be returned within three days after it shall have been presented to him (Sunday excepted), the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by adjournment, prevent such return. Any bill submitted to the governor for his approval during the last three days of a session of the general assembly, shall be deposited by him in the office of the secretary of state within thirty days after the adjournment, with his approval if approved by him, and with his objections if he disapproves thereof.

SEC. 17. [Same.].—No bill shall be passed unless by the assent of a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the general assembly, and the question upon the final passage shall be taken immediately upon its last reading, and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal.

SEC. 18. [Receipts, etc.].—An accurate statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public money shall be attached to and published with the laws at every regular session of the general assembly.

SEC. 19. [Impeachment.].—The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, and all impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose, the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

SEC. 20. [Who liable to, and judgment.].—The governor, judges of the supreme and district courts, and other state officers, shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor or malfeasance in office; but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under this state; but the party convicted or acquitted shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial and punishment according to law. All other civil officers shall be tried for misdemeanors and malfeasance in office, in such manner as the general assembly may provide.

SEC. 21. [Members not appointed to office.].—No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office of profit under this state, which shall have been created, or the emolument of which shall have been increased during such term, except such offices as may be filled by elections by the people.

SEC. 22. [Disqualification.].—No person holding any lucrative office under the United States, or of this state, or any other power, shall be eligible to hold a seat in the general assembly. But offices in the militia, to which there is attached no annual salary, or the office of justice of the peace, or postmaster, whose compensation does not exceed one hundred dollars per annum, or notary public, shall not be deemed lucrative.

SEC. 23. [Same.].—No person who may hereafter be a collector or holder of public moneys, shall have a seat in either house of the general assembly or be eligible to hold any office of trust or profit in this state, until he shall have accounted for and paid into the treasury all sums for which he may be liable.

SEC. 24. [Money drawn.].—No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law.

SEC. 25. [Compensation of members.]—Each member of the first general assembly under this constitution shall receive three dollars per diem while in session; and the further sum of three dollars for every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from the place where such session is held, by the nearest traveled route; after which they shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by law; but no general assembly shall have the power to increase the compensation of its members. And when convened in extra session they shall receive the same mileage and per diem compensation as fixed by law for the regular session, and none other.

SEC. 26. [Law.]—No law of the general assembly, passed at a regular session, of a public nature, shall take effect until the fourth day July next after the passage thereof. Laws passed at a special session shall take effect ninety days after the adjournment of the general assembly, by which they are passed. If the general assembly shall deem any law of immediate importance, they may provide that the same shall take effect by publication in newspapers in the state.

Where an act of the legislature is complete and is a law in its language and form as usually expressed in statute it will take effect as a statute according to the provisions of the constitution, notwithstanding a section therein providing for submitting to a vote of the people the question whether it shall become a law or not. Wier v. Cram, 37 Iowa, 649; Santo v. The State, 2 Id., 165.

A statute providing that when the governor deems it necessary that a general law shall take effect earlier than it would by general publication, he may direct its publication in certain newspapers, and it shall take effect from that date, is unconstitutional, for that this power is, by the constitution, lodged in the general assembly, and they cannot delegate it to the governor. Scott v. Clark et al., 1 Id., 70; Pilkey v. Gleason, Id., 521.

The publication of a statute without direction of the general assembly gives it no effect. The State ex rel. v. Calkins, 1 G. Greene, 68.

Where a statute provided as follows: "This act being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect from its publication in the Iowa State Register and the Des Moines Times, newspapers published at Des Moines," held, that the act took effect from the date of such publication, notwithstanding the general provision of section 24 of the revision, now section 33 of the code. Hunt v. Murray, 17 Id., 313.

Printed copies of the approval of the governor of the several laws published in a volume issued by the authority of the state, are not essential to give the laws legal effect. Dishon v. Smith, County Judge, 10 Id., 212.

SEC. 27. [Divorce.]—No divorce shall be granted by the general assembly.

SEC. 28. [Lotteries.]—No lottery shall be authorized by this state; nor shall the sale of lottery tickets be allowed.

SEC. 29. [Acts.]—Every act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith; which subject shall be expressed in the title. But if any subject shall be embraced in an act which shall not be expressed in the title, such act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be expressed in the title.

While an act cannot, under this section, embrace more than one object, which must be expressed in the title, it may, nevertheless, embrace all matters connected therewith. The State v. Squires, 26 Iowa, 340.

If an act embrace a subject not expressed in the title, the act will be void only as to so much thereof as is not thus expressed. Id.

An act entitled "an act in relation to certain state roads named therein," which contained sixty-six sections, in which were established forty-six roads and some others vacated, was held, not in conflict with this section of the constitution. The State ex rel. Weir v. The County Judge of Davis Co., 2 Id., 280. See, also, Morford v. Unger, 8 Id., 82; Whiting v. City of Mt. Pleasant, 11 Id., 482.

Sections 3275 and 3276 of chapter 125, entitled "executions," of the act entitled "the code of civil practice," revision, held, to relate to matters properly connected with the act, and embraced in the title, and are not inconsistent with section twenty-nine, article three, of the constitution. Porter v. Thompson, 22 Id., 391.

A general clause in a statute, repealing so much of a former law as is in conflict with the act which is unconstitutional, does not have the effect to repeal the former law. Childs v. Shower, 18 Id., 261.

A statute designated in its title as an amendment to a city charter, but which embraces objects foreign to the charter, is in conflict with the constitution and is void. Williamson v. The City of Keokuk, 44 Id., 88.

The act entitled "an act providing the place of bringing suits in certain cases," being chapter ninety-five of the laws of 1872 (sections 2582, 2583 and 2584 of the code), held, not vulnerable to the constitutional objection that the subject matter of a part of the act was not embraced in the title. The Farmers Ins. Co. v. Highsmith, 44 Id., 330.

Chapter 119, laws of 1878, prohibiting the sale of malt and vinous liquors within two miles of the corporate limits of cities and towns, is not in conflict with this section requiring every act of the legislature to embrace but one subject and matters properly connected therewith, and the fact that the title of an act contains matter not of the subject of the act does not render it invalid. The State v. Schroeder, 51 Id., 197.

Chapter 143, laws of 1884, relating to the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors, is not repugnant to section 29 of article 3 of the constitution which provides that "every act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith, which subject shall be expressed in the title," nor is said chapter in conflict with section 6 of article 1, which declares that "all laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation; nor is said chapter repugnant to section 23 of article one, which forbids involuntary servitude except for the punishment of crime. Martin v. Blattner, 68 Id., 286.

If it be conceded that section 2 of chapter 109 of the laws of 1880 is unconstitutional because it relates to a subject not embraced in the title of the act, as required by section 29 of article 3, above, yet such objection does not extend to the other sections of the act, and they are not invalidated for that reason. Henkle v. Town of Keota, and three other cases, 68 Id., 334.

SEC. 30. [Local or special laws].—The general assembly shall not pass local or special laws in the following cases:

- For the assessment and collection of taxes for state, county, or road purposes;
- For laying out, opening, and working roads or highways;
- For changing the names of persons;
- For the incorporation of cities and towns;
- For vacating roads, town plats, streets, alleys, or public squares;
- For locating or changing county seats;

In all the cases above enumerated, and in all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, all laws shall be general, and of uniform operation throughout the state; and no law changing the boundary lines of any county shall have effect until upon being submitted to the people of the counties affected by the change, at a general election, it shall be approved by a majority of the votes, in each county, cast for and against it.

This section of the constitution prohibits the enactment of special laws, either for the incorporation of cities and towns, or for the amendment of acts of incorporation in existence, before the adoption of the constitution. Ex parte Samuel Pritz, 9 Iowa, 30.

The "act explanatory of an act entitled an act to create the county of Humboldt and locate the county seat thereof," approved March 11th, 1858, was held, as not relating back to the act of which it was amendatory; and as an independent act it was invalid because it had not been submitted to the vote of the people as required by this section of the constitution. Duncombe v. Prindle, 12 Id., 1.

Chapter sixteen of the laws of 1868, entitled "an act to repeal an act revising and consolidating the laws incorporating the city of Dubuque, and establishing a city court therein," held, within the constitutional prohibition of special legislation, and void. Davis & Bro. v. Woodnough, 9 Id., 104; Baker et al v. The Steamboat Milwaukee, 14 Id., 214.

The act entitled "an act to establish a court at McGregor," approved March 18, 1862, held inconsistent with section 30, of article 3, of the constitution, and void. Town of McGregor v. Baylies, 19 Id., 43.

Section 1141 of the revision (code, section 548), providing for the amendment by cities and towns of the law of their incorporation is not in conflict with this section of the constitution. Von Phul v. Hammer, 29 Id., 222.

A local statute authorizing the building of a railroad from the city of Lyons to the city of Clinton, held, not to be one of the cases where the law must be general and of uniform operation throughout the state as contemplated in this section. The City of Clinton v. The C. R. & M. R. Co., 24 Id., 455.

Although the legislature has not the power, in the cases enumerated in section 30 article 3 of the constitution, to pass local or special laws, and cannot pass a special law incorporating an independent school district, it has nevertheless, the power to pass a curative act legalizing the defective organization of a school district already in existence under the general law for the creation of independent school districts. State ex rel., etc., v. Squires, 26 Id., 340.

While such curative act is a local or special law, it is a case where a general law cannot be made applicable within the meaning of the constitution. Id.

Where a purchaser has paid for land; and, the prior owner is under a moral obligation to convey, the legislature may cure a defective conveyance by retrospective legislation, as against such owner, his widow and heirs, but such legislation cannot affect the title of a subsequent bona fide purchaser. Newman v. Samuels, 17 Id., 528.

So the general assembly may, by retrospective legislation, legalize the assessment and levy of taxes and prescribe the manner in which property may be sold for the satisfaction thereof. Boardman v. Beckwith, 18 Id., 292; The Iowa Railroad Land Co. v. Soper, 39 Id., 112.

Pending the decision of a petition for a rehearing, where no judgment has been rendered upon the filing of the first opinion which declared certain special judgment taxes illegal, the legislature passed an act (March 18, 1874), affirming their legality; held, that the curative act was valid. The Iowa R. L. Co. v. Sac County, 39 Id., 124.

Chapter 180, laws of tenth general assembly, providing for the taxation of express and telegraph companies, held, not in conflict with section 30, of article 3, of the constitution. The U. S. Ex. Co. v. Ellyson, 28 Id., 370.

The general assembly has the power to pass a general law curing defects in the establishment of county roads. Bennett v. Fisher, 26 Id., 479.

Chapter 60, laws of 1882, purporting to legalize an invalid ordinance of the city of Burlington, was held repugnant to that part of section 30 of article 3 of the state constitution which provides that the general assembly shall not pass local or special laws, when a general law can be made applicable. Ind. School District of Burlington v. The City of Burlington, 60 Id., 500.

The legislature may by curative act validate a void order of a county superintendent changing the boundaries of school districts in a case where a general law could not be made to apply but such act cannot be allowed to operate to deprive a school district, from which territory is detached by such order, of taxes which are levied and collectible before the curative act is passed, for such district has acquired a vested right in the taxes which cannot be constitutionally taken away. The Ind. Dist. of Union v. Ind. Dist. of Cedar Rapids, 62 Id., 616.

Chapter 198 of laws of 1884 providing for holding court at Avoca in Pottawattamie county is not in conflict with section 30, article 3, of the constitution, which prohibits the passage of local or special laws in certain cases. Cooper, Adm'r, v. Mills County, 69 Id., 350.

The farmers' Protective Association being a corporation organized, not for pecuniary profit, and being sued for infringement of certain barbed wire patents, the general assembly of 1884 passed an act, chapter 202, appropriating $5,000 to the use of said corporation in defending said suits: Held, that such was not repugnant to section 30 of article 3 of the constitution, the act being necessarily special. Merchants Union Barb Wire Co. v. Brown, Auditor of State et al., 64 Id., 275.

The act of the twentieth general assembly, providing for the holding terms of court at Avoca, in Pottawattamie county, (chapter 198), held not in conflict with section 30 of article 3 of the constitution which prohibits the passage of local or special acts in certain cases. Cooper, Adm'r, v. Mills Co., 69 Id., 350.

SEC. 31. [Extra compensation.]—No extra compensation shall be made to any officer, public agent, or contractor, after the service shall have been rendered, or the contract entered into; nor shall any money be paid on any claim, the subject matter of which shall not have been provided for by pre-existing laws, and no public money or property shall be appropriated for local or private purposes, unless such appropriation, compensation or claim, be allowed by two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the general assembly.

SEC. 32. [Oath of members.]—Members of the general assembly shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Iowa, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of senator (or representative, as the case may be) according to the best of my ability." And members of the general assembly are hereby empowered to administer to each other the said oath or affirmation.

SEC. 33. [Census.]—The general assembly shall, in the years one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and every ten years thereafter, cause an enumeration to be made of all the white inhabitants of the state.

SEC. 34. [Apportionment.]—The number of senators shall, at the next session following each period of making such enumeration, and the next session following each United States census, be fixed by law, and apportioned among the several counties according to the number of white inhabitants in each.

SEC. 35. [Districts.]—The senate shall not consist of more than fifty members, nor the house of representatives of more than one hundred, and they shall be apportioned among the several counties and representative districts of the state according to the number of white inhabitants in each, upon ratios to be fixed by law; but no representative district shall contain more than four organized counties, and each district shall be entitled to at least one representative. Every county and district which shall have a number of inhabitants equal to one-half of the ratio fixed by law, shall be entitled to one representative; and any one county containing in addition to the ratio fixed by law, one-half of that number, or more, shall be entitled to one additional representative. No floating district shall hereafter be formed.

SEC. 36. [Ratio of representation.]—At its first session under this constitution, and at every subsequent regular session, the general assembly shall fix the ratio of representation, and also form into representative districts those counties which will not be entitled singly to a representative.

SEC. 37. [Districts.]—When a congressional, senatorial, or representative district shall be composed of two or more counties, it shall not be entirely separated by any county belonging to another district; and no county shall be divided in forming a congressional, senatorial, or representative district.

SEC. 38. [Elections by general assembly.]—In all elections by the general assembly, the members thereof shall vote viva voce; and the votes shall be entered on the journal.

ARTICLE 4.—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. [Governor.]—The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in a chief magistrate, who shall be styled the governor of the state of Iowa.

SEC. 2. [Election and term.]—The governor shall be elected by the qualified electors at the time and place of voting for members of the general assembly, and shall hold his office two years from the time of his installation, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 3. [Eligibility.]—There shall be a lieutenant governor, who shall hold his office two years, and be elected at the same time as the governor. In voting for governor and lieutenant governor, the electors shall designate for whom they vote as governor, and for whom as lieutenant governor. The returns of every election for governor and lieutenant governor, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government of the state, directed to the speaker of the house of representatives, who shall open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the general assembly.

SEC. 4. [Returns of elections.]—The persons respectively having the highest number of votes for governor and lieutenant governor, shall be declared duly elected; but in case two or more persons shall have an equal, and the highest number of votes for either office, the general assembly shall, by joint vote, forthwith proceed to elect one of said persons governor, or lieutenant governor, as the case may be.

SEC. 5. [Contested elections.]—Contested elections for governor, or lieutenant governor, shall be determined by the general assembly in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 6. [Eligibility.]-No person shall be eligible to the office of governor, or lieutenant governor, who shall not have been a citizen of the United States, and a resident of the state two years next preceding the election, and attained the age of thirty years at the time of said election.

SEC. 7. [Commander.]-The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the militia, the army, and navy of this state.

SEC. 8. [Duties.]-He shall transact all executive business with the officers of government, civil and military, and may require information in writing from the officers of the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 9. [Same.]-He shall take care that the laws are faithfully executed.

SEC. 10. [Vacancies.]-When any office shall, from any cause, become vacant, and no mode is provided by the constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the governor shall have power to fill such vacancy, by granting a commission, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the general assembly, or at the next election by the people.

SEC. 11. [Convening assembly.]-He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the general assembly by proclamation, and shall state to both houses, when assembled, the purpose for which they have been convened.

SEC. 12. [Message.]-He shall communicate, by message, to the general assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the state, and recommend such matters as he may deem expedient.

SEC. 13. [Adjournment.]-In case of disagreement between the two houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the governor shall have power to adjourn the general assembly to such time as he may think proper; but no such adjournment shall be beyond the time fixed for the regular meeting of the next general assembly.

SEC. 14. [Disqualification.]-No person shall, while holding any office under the authority of the United States, or this state, execute the office of governor, or lieutenant governor, except as hereinafter expressly provided.

SEC. 15. [Two years.]-The official term of the governor, and lieutenant governor, shall commence on the second Monday of January next after their election, and continue for two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The lieutenant governor, while acting as governor, shall receive the same pay as provided for governor; and while presiding in the senate, shall receive as compensation therefor, the same mileage and double the per diem pay provided for a senator, and none other.

SEC. 16. [Pardons, etc.]-The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the general assembly at its next meeting, when the general assembly shall either grant a pardon, commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence or grant a further reprieve. He shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; and shall report to the general assembly at its next meeting, each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted, and the reason therefor; and also all persons in whose favor remission of fines and forfeitures shall have been made, and the several amounts remitted.

SEC. 17. [Lieutenant act as governor.]-In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal from office, or other disability of the governor, the powers and duties of the office for the residue of the term, or until he shall be acquitted, or the disability removed, shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor.

SEC. 18. [Further vacancies provided for.]—The lieutenant governor shall be president of the senate, but shall only vote when the senate is equally divided; and in case of his absence, or impeachment, or when he shall exercise the office of governor, the senate shall choose a president pro tempore.

SEC. 19. [Same.]—If the lieutenant governor, while acting as governor, shall be impeached, displaced, resign, or die, or otherwise become incapable of performing the duties of the office, the president pro tempore of the senate shall act as governor until the vacancy is filled, or the disability removed; and if the president of the senate, for any of the above causes, shall be rendered incapable of performing the duties pertaining to the office of governor, the same shall devolve upon the speaker of the house of representatives.

SEC. 20. [Seal of state.]—There shall be a seal of this state, which shall be kept by the governor and used by him officially, and shall be called the great seal of the state of Iowa.

SEC. 21. [Commissions, etc.]—All grants and commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the people of the state of Iowa, sealed with the great seal of the state, signed by the governor and countersigned by the secretary of state.

SEC. 22. [Secretary, auditor and treasurer.]—A secretary of state, auditor of state, and treasurer of state, shall be elected by the the qualified electors, who shall continue in office two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified; and perform such duties as may be required by law.

If section 760 of the code provided for the absolute removal by the governor of an elective state officer before the end of his term it would be reasonable to urge its unconstitutionality; but since it provides only for a suspension of the officer from the performance of his official duties, it is not repugnant to the constitution. Brown v. Duffus, 66 Iowa, 194.

ARTICLE 5.—JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. [Courts.]—The judicial department shall be vested in a supreme court, district court and such other courts, inferior to the supreme court, as the general assembly may, from time to time, establish.

The legislature is limited in this section in the establishment of courts, other than the district court, to those that are inferior to the supreme court. Hetherington v. Bissell, 10 Iowa, 145.

It is the right and duty of the judicial power of the state to declare void all acts of the legislature made in violation of the constitution. McGregor v. Baylies, 19 Id., 43; Reid v. Wright, 2 G. Greene, 15.

The power of the courts to declare a legislative act invalid should not be exercised in doubtful cases, and will be done only when necessary; and the court will, when possible, give such a construction as will avoid the necessity and uphold the act. The State ex rel. Weir v. The County Judge, etc., 1 Id., 280; Whiting v. The City of Mt. Pleasant, 11 Id., 488; Morrison v. Springer, 15 Id., 304.

Chapter 165, laws of 1878, as amended by chapter 2, laws of 1880, which empowers the jury to say whether a defendant found guilty of murder in the first degree shall be punished by death or by imprisonment in the penitentiary for life at hard labor, is not inconsistent with this section of the constitution and is not invalid. The State v. Hackett, 70 Id., 443.

SEC. 2. [Supreme court.]—The supreme court shall consist of three judges, two of whom shall constitute a quorum to hold court.

Where a person who is not a judge under the laws of the state is placed on the bench to try a cause, against the consent of one of the parties, the proceeding is erroneous until the judgment will be reversed. Smith v. Frisbee, 7 Iowa, 486.

Whenever it appears from the record that the duties belonging to the court in the conduct of the trial of a cause have been attempted to be exercised by any person not a judge, an error is at once disclosed sufficient to reverse the case on appeal, although the record be free from error in other respects. Michales v. Hines, 3 G. Greene, 470.

And it will be incompetent for any person other than a judge to preside in the trial of a cause even by consent of parties. Winchester v. Ayers, 4 G. Greene, 104.

SEC. 3. [Judges elected.]—The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state, and shall hold their court at such time and place as the general assembly may prescribe. The judges of the supreme court shall elected shall be classified so that one judge shall go out of office every two years; and the judge holding the shortest term of office under such classification, shall be chief justice of the court during his term, and so on in rotation. After the expiration of their terms of office, under such classification, the term of each judge of the supreme court shall be six years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified, The judges of the supreme court shall be ineligible to any other office in the state, during the term for which they have been elected.

SEC. 4. [Jurisdiction.—The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction only in cases in chancery, and shall constitute a court for the correction of errors at law, under such restrictions as the general assembly may by law prescribe; and shall have power to issue all writs and process necessary to secure justice to parties, and exercise a supervisory control over all inferior judicial tribunals throughout the state.

Section 3173 of the code restricting appeals to the supreme court and providing for the certification of questions of law by the trial court in actions involving less than $100, is not, when applied to equity causes, repugnant to section 4, of article 5 of the constitution. Andrews & Smith v. Burdick & Goble, 62 Iowa, 714.

SEC. 5. [District judge elected.—The district court shall consist of a single judge, who shall be elected by the qualified electors of the district in which he resides. The judge of the district court shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified; and shall be ineligible to any other office, except that of judge of the supreme court, during the term for which he was elected.

SEC. 6. [Jurisdiction.—The district court shall be a court of law and equity, which shall be distinct and separate jurisdictions, and have jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters arising in their respective districts, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. [Conservators of the peace.—The judges of the supreme and district courts shall be conservators of the peace throughout the state.

SEC. 8. [Style of process.—The style of all process shall be "The State of Iowa," and all prosecutions shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of the same.

SEC. 9. [Salaries.—The salary of each judge of the supreme court shall be two thousand dollars per annum; and that of each district judge one thousand six hundred dollars per annum, until the year eighteen hundred and sixty; after which time they shall severally receive such compensation as the general assembly may, by law, prescribe; which compensation shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which they have been elected.

SEC. 10. [Judicial districts.—The state shall be divided into eleven judicial districts; and after the year eighteen hundred and sixty the general assembly may reorganize the judicial districts, and increase or diminish the number of districts, or the number of judges of said court, and may increase the number of judges of the supreme court; but such increase or diminution shall not be more than one district, or one judge of either court, at any one session; and no reorganization of the districts, or diminution of the judges, shall have the effect of removing a judge from office. Such reorganization of the districts, or any change in the boundaries thereof, or any increase or diminution of the number of judges, shall take place every four years thereafter, if necessary, and at no other time.

SEC. 11. [When chosen.—The judges of the supreme and district courts shall be chosen at the general election; and the term of office of each judge shall commence on the first day of January next after his election.

SEC. 12. [Attorney-general.—The general assembly shall provide, by law, for the election of an attorney-general by the people, whose term of office shall be two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

SEC. 13. [Elected: qualification.]-The qualified electors of each county shall, at the general election in the year 1886 and every two years thereafter elect a county attorney, who shall be a resident of the county for which he is elected, and shall hold his office for the term of two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

SEC. 14. [Duty of general assembly.]-It shall be the duty of the general assembly to provide for the carrying into effect of this article, and to provide for a general system of practice in all the courts of this state.

ARTICLE 6.—MILITIA.

SECTION 1. [Who constitute.]-The militia of this state shall be composed of all able-bodied white male citizens, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, except such as are or may hereafter be exempt by the laws of the United States, or of this state; and shall be armed, equipped and trained, as the general assembly may provide by law.

SEC. 2. [Qualifications.]-No person or persons conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms shall be compelled to do military duty in time of peace; provided, that such person or persons shall pay an equivalent for such exemption in the same manner as other citizens.

SEC. 3. [Officers.]-All commissioned officers of the militia (staff officers excepted) shall be elected by the persons liable to perform military duty, and shall be commissioned by the governor.

ARTICLE 7.—STATE DEBTS.

SECTION 1. [Limitation of state indebtedness.]-The credit of the state shall not, in any manner, be given or loaned to, or in aid of, any individual, association, or corporation; and the state shall never assume, or become responsible for, the debts or liabilities of any individual, association, or corporation, unless incurred in time of war for the benefit of the state.

Chapter 202, laws of 1884 is not repugnant to this section of the constitution. Mechant's Union B. W. Co. v. Brown et al., 64 Iowa, 275.

SEC. 2. [Same.]-The state may contract debts to supply casual deficits or failures in revenues, or to meet expenses otherwise provided for; but the aggregate amount of such debts, direct and contingent, whether contracted by virtue of one or more acts of the general assembly, or at different periods of time, shall never exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and the money arising from the creation of such debts, shall be applied to the purpose for which it was obtained, or to repay the debts so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever.

SEC. 3. [Losses to school funds audited.]-All losses to the permanent, school, or university fund of this state, which shall have been occasioned by the defalcation, mismanagement, or fraud of the agents or officers controlling and managing the same, shall be audited by the proper authorities of the state. The amount so audited shall be a permanent founded debt against the state, in favor of the respective fund sustaining the loss, upon which not less than six per cent annual interest shall be paid. The amount of liability so created shall not be counted as a part of the indebtedness authorized by the second section of this article.

SEC. 4. [For what other purposes state may contract debt.]-In addition the above limited power to contract debts, the state may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in war; but the money arising from the debts so contracted shall be applied for the purpose for which it was raised, or to repay such debts, and to no other purpose whatever.

SEC. 5. [Other debts to be authorized.]-Except the debts hereinbefore specified in this article, no debt shall be hereafter contracted by, or on behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by some law for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax, sufficient to pay the interest on such debt, as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt, within twenty years from the time of contracting thereof; but no such law shall take effect until at a general election it shall have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election; and all money raised by authority of such law, shall be applied only to the specific object therein stated, or to the payment of the debt created thereby; and such law shall be published in at least one newspaper in each county, if one is published therein throughout the state, for three months preceding the election at which it is submitted to the people.

SEC. 6. [Legislature may repeal.]-The legislature may, at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time forbid the contracting of any further debt, or liability, under such law; but the tax imposed by such law, in proportion to the debt or liability which may have been contracted in pursuance thereof, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the principal and interest are fully paid.

SEC. 7. [Tax imposed.]-Every law which imposes, continues, or revives a tax, shall distinctly state the tax, and the object to which it is to be applied; and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

ARTICLE 8.—CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. [Corporations, how created.]-No corporation shall be created by special laws; but the general assembly shall provide by general laws, for the organization of all corporations hereafter to be created, except as hereinafter provided.

The eighth article of the constitution refers exclusively to corporations for pecuniary purposes. Ex parte Pritz, 9 Iowa, 30.

SEC. 2. [Property taxable.]-The property of all corporations for pecuniary profit shall be subject to taxation the same as that of individuals.

Chapter 180 of the laws of 1868, providing for the taxation of express and telegraph companies, was held, not to be in conflict with this section of the constitution The U. S. Ex. Co. v. Ellyson, 28 Iowa, 370; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Same, Id., 380.

The ninth section of chapter twenty-six, laws of the fourteenth general assembly, releasing the property of railroad companies from the payment of municipal taxes, held, to be in conflict with the second section of article eight of the constitution, and therefore inoperative and void. The City of Davenport v. C., R. I. & P. R. Co., 38 Id., 633; The City of Dubuque v. The Illinois Central Railroad Company, 39 Id., 56, 88.

SEC. 3. [State not to be a stockholder.]-The state shall not become a stockholder in any corporation, nor shall it assume or pay the debt or liability of any corporation, unless incurred in time of war for the benefit of the state.

Chapter 202 laws of 1884 is not repugnant to this section of the constitution. Merchants Union B. W. Co. v. Brown et al., 64 Id., 275.

SEC. 4. [Corporation not to be a stockholder.]-No political or municipal corporation shall become a stockholder in any banking corporation, directly or indirectly.

The constitution of Iowa confers no power upon the legislature to authorize counties to become stockholders in railroad corporations, nor to borrow money upon their bonds for the purpose of payment upon such stock; and such bonds are therefore void. The State ex rel. v. The County of Wapello, 13 Iowa, 389; McClure v. Owen, 26 Id., 243; Meyers v. Johnson County, 14 Id., 47;

Rock v. Wallace, Id., 593; McMillen v. Boyles, Id., 107; Smith v. Henry County, 15 Id., 385; Ten Eyck v. The Mayor of Keokuk, Id., 486; Chamberlain v. The City of Burlington, Id., 395. But see Stewart v. Board of Supervisors of Polk Co., 30 Id., 9.

This section of the constitution prohibiting the creation of corporations or associations with banking powers, etc., unless ratified by a majority vote of the people, as therein specified, does not apply to, or operate as a limitation upon the repealing power of the legislature. Morseman v. Younkin, 27 Id., 350.

SEC. 5. [Act submitted to people.].—No act of the general assembly, authorizing or creating corporations or associations with banking powers, nor amendments thereto, shall take effect, or in any manner be in force, until the same shall have been submitted, separately, to the people, at a general or special election, as provided by law, to be held not less than three months after the passage of the act, and shall have been approved by a majority of all the electors voting for and against it at such election.

SEC. 6. [State bank.].—Subject to the provisions of the foregoing section, the general assembly may also provide for the establishment of a state bank with branches.

SEC. 7. [Founded on specie basis.].—If a state bank be established, it shall be founded on an actual specie basis, and the branches shall be mutually responsible for each other's liabilities upon all notes, bills and other issues intended for circulation as money.

SEC. 8. [General banking law.].—If a general banking law shall be enacted, it shall provide for the registry and countersigning, by an officer of state, of all bills, or paper credit designed to circulate as money, and require security to the full amount thereof, to be deposited with the state treasurer, in United States stocks, or in interest paying stocks of states in good credit and standing, to be rated at ten per cent below their average value in the city of New York, for thirty days next preceding their deposit; and in case of a depreciation of any portion of such stocks, to the amount of ten per cent on the dollar, the bank or banks owning said stocks shall be required to make up said deficiency by depositing additional stocks; and said law shall also provide for the recording of the names of all stockholders in such corporations, the amount of stock held by each, the time of any transfer, and to whom.

SEC. 9. [Stockholders responsible.].—Every stockholder in a banking corporation or institution shall be individually responsible and liable to its credits, over and above the amount of stock by him or her held, to an amount equal to his or her respective shares so held, for all its liabilities, accruing while he or she remains such stockholder.

SEC. 10. [Bill holders to have preference.].—In case of the insolvency of any banking institution, the bill holders shall have a preference over its creditors.

SEC. 11. [Suspension of specie payments.].—The suspension of specie payments by banking institutions shall never be permitted or sanctioned.

SEC. 12. [General assembly may amend or repeal.].—Subject to the provisions of this article, the general assembly shall have power to amend or repeal all laws for the organization or creation of corporations, or granting of special or exclusive privileges or immunities, by a vote of two-thirds of each branch of the general assembly; and no exclusive privileges, except as in this article provided, shall ever be granted.

The twelfth section of article eight of the constitution confers upon the legislature no power to amend or repeal laws for the organization or creation of municipal corporations, this article relating exclusively to corporations for pecuniary profit. Ex parte Pritz, 9 Iowa, 30.

ARTICLE 9.—EDUCATION AND SCHOOL LANDS.

1.—Education.

SECTION 1. [Board of education.].—The educational interests of the state, including common schools and educational institutions, shall be under the management of a board of education, which shall consist of the lieutenant governor, who shall be the presiding officer of the board, and have the casting vote in case of a tie, and one member to be elected from each judicial district in the state.

The act of the general assembly of March 12th, 1858, entitled "An act for the public instruction of the state," for the establishment of high schools, held to be unconstitutional. The High School, etc., v. County of Clayton, 9 Iowa, 175.

SEC. 2. [Who eligible.].—No person shall be eligible as a member of said board who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and shall have been one year a citizen of the state.

SEC. 3. [How elected.].—One member of said board shall be chosen by the qualified electors of each district, and shall hold the office for the term of four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified. After the first election under this constitution, the board shall be divided, as nearly as practicable, into two equal classes, and the seats of the first class shall be vacated after the expiration of two years; and one-half of the board shall be chosen every two years thereafter.

SEC. 4. [First session.].—The first session of the board of education shall be held at the seat of government, on the first Monday of December, after their election; after which the general assembly may fix the time and place of meeting.

SEC. 5. [Limited to twenty days.].—The sessions of the board shall be limited to twenty days, and but one session shall be held in any one year, except upon extraordinary occasions, when, upon the recommendation of two-thirds of the board, the governor may order a special session.

SEC. 6. [Secretary.].—The board of education shall appoint a secretary, who shall be the executive officer of the board, and perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by the board, and the laws of the state. They shall keep a journal of their proceedings, which shall be published and distributed in the same manner as the journals of the general assembly.

SEC. 7. [Rules and regulations.].—All rules and regulations made by the board shall be published and distributed to the several counties, townships, and school districts, as may be provided for by the board, and when so made, published and distributed, they shall have the force and effect of law.

SEC. 8. [Power to make: general assembly may repeal.].—The board of education shall have full power and authority to legislate and make all needful rules and regulations in relation to common schools, and other educational institutions, that are instituted, to receive aid from the school or university fund of this state; but all acts, rules, and regulations of said board may be altered, or repealed by the general assembly; and when so altered, amended, or repealed, they shall not be re-enacted by the board of education.

SEC. 9. [Governor ex-officio member.].—The governor of the state shall be, ex-officio, a member of the board.

SEC. 10. [Contingent expenses.].—The board shall have no power to levy taxes, or make appropriations of money. Their contingent expenses shall be provided for by the general assembly.

SEC. 11. [State university.].—The state university shall be established at one place without branches at any other place, and the university fund shall be applied to that institution, and no other.

SEC. 12. [Board of education to provide for education.].—The board of education shall provide for the education of all the youths of the state, through a system of common schools, and such schools shall be organized and kept in each school district at least three months in each year. Any district failing, for two consecutive years, to organize and keep up a school, as aforesaid, may be deprived of their portion of the school fund.

SEC. 13. [Compensation.—The members of the board of education shall each receive the same per diem during the time of their session, and mileage going to and returning therefrom, as members of the general assembly.

SEC. 14. [Quorum.—A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but no rule, regulation, or law, for the government of common schools or other educational institutions shall pass without the concurrence of a majority of all the members of the board, which shall be expressed by the yeas and nays on the final passage. The style of all acts of the board shall be, "Be it enacted by the board of education of the state of Iowa."

SEC. 15. [When board may be abolished.—At any time after the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, the general assembly shall have power to abolish or reorganize said board of education, and provide for the educational interest of the state in any other manner that to them shall seem just and proper.

In pursuance of the power conferred in this section, the general assembly by chapter 52 of the laws of 1864, abolished the board of education, so that the 1st subdivision of article 9 of the constitution is no longer of any practical force.

2.—School Funds and School Lands.

SECTION 1. [Under control of assembly.—The educational and school funds and lands, shall be under the control and management of the general assembly of this state.

SEC. 2. [Permanent fund.—The university lands, and the proceeds thereof, and all moneys belonging to said fund shall be a permanent fund for the sole use of the state university. The interest arising from the same shall be annually appropriated for the support and benefit of said university.

SEC. 3. [Lands appropriated.—The general assembly shall encourage, by all suitable means, the promotion of intellectual, scientific, moral, and agricultural improvement. The proceeds of all the lands that have been, or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this state, for the support of schools, which may have been or shall hereafter be sold, or disposed of, and the five hundred thousand acres of land granted to the new states, under an act of congress, distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several states of the Union, approved in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, and all estates of deceased persons who may have died without leaving a will or heir, and also such per cent as has been or may hereafter be granted by congress, on the sale of lands in this state, shall be, and remain a perpetual fund, the interest of which, together with all rents of the unsold lands, and such other means as the general assembly may provide, shall be inviolably appropriated to the support of common schools throughout the state.

SEC. 4. [Fines, etc., how appropriated.—The money which may have been or shall be paid by persons as an equivalent for exemption from military duty, and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws, shall be exclusively applied in the several counties in which such money is paid, or fine collected, among the several school districts of said counties in proportion to the number of youths subject to enumeration in such districts, to the support of common schools, or the establishment of libraries, as the board of education shall from time to time provide.

SEC. 5. [Lands reserved, or granted, or funds accruing from sale thereof to be a permanent fund.—The general assembly shall take measures for the protection, improvement, or other disposition of such lands as have been, or may hereafter be reserved, or granted by the United States, or any person or persons to this state, for the use of the university, and the funds accruing from the rents or sale of such lands, or from any other source for the purpose aforesaid, shall be, and remain, a permanent fund, the interest of which shall be applied to the support of said university, for the promotion of literature, the arts and sciences, as may be authorized by the terms of such grant. And it shall be the duty of the general assembly, as soon as may be, to provide effectual means for the improvement and permanent security of the funds of said university.

SEC. 6. [Who agents of school funds.].—The financial agents of the school funds shall be the same that, by law, receive and control the state and county revenue, for other civil purposes, under such regulations as may be provided by law.

SEC. 7. [Money to be distributed.].—The money subject to the support and maintenance of common schools shall be distributed to the districts in proportion to the number of youths, between the ages of five and twenty-one years, in such manner as may be provided by the general assembly.

The county auditor is the custodian of the notes and mortgages given as securities for the school fund loaned in the county. This is determined upon a consideration of section 6 of article 9, and other provisions of the constitution, and the various statutes bearing on the question, for which see opinion. Madison County v. Tullis, 69 Iowa, 720.

ARTICLE X.—AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1. [Amendments.].—Any amendment or amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the general assembly; and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and shall be published, as provided by law, for three months previous to the time of making such choice; and if, in the general assembly so next chosen as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the general assembly to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people in such manner, and at such time as the general assembly shall provide; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

SEC. 2. [More than one.].—If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for and against each of such amendments separately.

SEC. 3. [Convention.].—At the general election to be held in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and each tenth year thereafter, and also at such times as the general assembly may, by law, provide, the question, “shall there be a convention to revise the constitution, and amend the same?” shall be decided by the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, and in case a majority of the electors so qualified, voting at such election for and against such proposition, shall decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, the general assembly, at its next session, shall provide by law for the election of delegates to such convention.

See notes to amendments to constitution on page post.

ARTICLE XI.—MISCELLANEOUS.

SECTION 1. [Jurisdiction of justice of the peace.]—The jurisdiction of justices of the peace shall extend to all civil cases (except cases in chancery, and cases where the title to real estate may arise), where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars, and by the consent of the parties may be extended to any amount not exceeding three hundred dollars.

SEC. 2. [Counties.]—No new county shall hereafter be created containing less than four hundred and thirty-two square miles; nor shall the territory of any organized county be reduced below that area; except the county of Worth, and the counties west of it along the northern boundary of this state, may be organized without additional territory.

Chapter 192 laws of 1870, creating the county of Crocker, held to be in conflict with this section of the constitution. Garfield v. Brayton, 33 Iowa, 16.

A justice of the peace has jurisdiction of the "first offense" contemplated in section 11 of chapter 143 laws of 1884 in relation to the keeping and sale of intoxicating liquors. Alborton v. Kruckbaum, 65 Id., 12.

SEC. 3. [To what amount county may become indebted.]—No county, or other political or municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner, or for any purpose, to an amount in the aggregate, exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property within such county or corporation—to be ascertained by the last state and county tax list, previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.

A school district township is a political or municipal corporation within the meaning of this section of the constitution, and warrants drawn upon the school treasury, when the corporation is indebted in excess of five per centum of the taxable property in the district, and there is no money in the treasury to pay the same, and the district has no money or assets at the time of creating the indebtedness, are null and void. Winspear v. The District of Holman, 37 Iowa, 542.

Indebtedness beyond the constitutional limit at the time of the injury is no defense to an action against a city for damages for an injury caused by the negligence of the city in the construction and maintenance of the gutters of its streets. Bartle v. The City of Des Moines, 38 Id., 414.

The constitutional restriction upon the creation of municipal indebtedness does not operate upon the municipal authorities, as the agents of the corporation, but upon the corporation itself as principal, and therefore the latter cannot be bound by an act creating such indebtedness. McPherson v. Foster Bros., 43 Id., 48.

That the tax payers have stood by in silence and permitted municipal bonds to be issued, does not estop them to object to their legality in hands of an innocent holder. Id.

The creating of the indebtedness being ultra vires, the assent of all the people of the corporation thereto would not make the debt valid. Id. Mosher v. The Ind. School Dist., etc., 44 Id., 122.

In the absence of power to execute municipal bonds, no subsequent transfer thereof will give them effect, and they are void even in the hands of an innocent holder. Id. Hull & Argalls v. The County of Marshall, 12 Id., 142; Clark v. Des Moines, 19 Id., 200; Smith v. Henry Co., 15 Id., 385; Chamberlain v. Burlington, 19 Id., 404.

Bonds issued by a municipal corporation in excess of the constitutional limit are void, without regard to the good faith with which they were purchased or want of notice of their validity. Mosher v. The Ind. Dist. of Ackley, 44 Id., 122.

That a part of an indebtedness created by a municipal corporation for a certain purpose if within the constitutional limit will not legalize that portion of it which is in excess of such limit. Id.

No indebtedness, for whatever purpose created, is exempt from the inhibition of this provision of the constitution, which may be incurred by municipal corporations to an amount equal to five per centum of their taxable property. French et al. v. The City of Burlington, 42 Id., 614.

The party who becomes the creditor of a municipal corporation must at his peril take notice that its indebtedness is not in excess of the constitutional limitation. Id.

While the revenues which are absolutely certain to be received by collection of taxes may, to some extent at least, be anticipated, the rule should not be so far relaxed as to impair the force of the constitutional provisions or nullify its spirit. Id.

Uncollected taxes and special assessments may be regarded as available up to the time of the annual tax sale; but after that time the burden is on the city to show that they have any value, before they can be estimated in determining the authority to contract a proposed debt. Id.

The charter of the city of Davenport, authorizing unlimited taxation by the city, being inconsistent with section three of article eleven of the constitution, was repealed by sections one and two of article twelve; and the city held, not authorized, after such repeal, to contract or incur any indebtedness beyond the limitation of the constitution. Scott v. The City of Davenport, 34 Id., 208.

That said city was indebted in excess of such limit at the time of the adoption of the constitution containing the limitation, does not change the rule. In such case, while the prior indebtedness is not impaired, the city cannot add thereto. Id.

If a municipal corporation has the funds in its treasury to meet its indebtedness; the issue of warrants on the treasury to an amount larger than five per centum of its taxable property will be no violation of section three of article eleven of the constitution. In such case the corporation would not become indebted by the issue of the warrants within the meaning of that section of the constitution. Dively v. The City of Cedar Falls, 27 Id., 227.

An ordinance authorizing a corporation to construct water works within the city upon certain conditions prescribed, and providing that the city shall have the right, whenever its financial condition may permit, to purchase and control the works, is not an "incurring of indebtedness" within the prohibition of the constitution. It is only the assuming of an obligation which, without further action on the part of the city, will not ripen into a debt that is thus forbidden. The Burlington Water Co. v. Woodward, 49 Id., 58.

It is competent for the city to provide a tax not exceeding five mills, for the maintenance of water works, and a sinking fund to reduce the debt thereon. Id.

The fact that by such a tax, the city may, in time become the owner of the water works, does not render the ordinance open to the objection that it provides a means for accomplishing indirectly what it has not the power to do directly, because none but legal and constitutional means are proposed or employed. Id.

Section three of article eleven, which limits the amount of indebtedness which may be incurred by a municipal corporation, and under which any contract for an indebtedness beyond that limit is void, does not apply to an indebtedness arising upon tort, or against the protest of the creditor. So where a tax was illegally exacted by a city of the plaintiff and paid by him under protest, at a time when the city's indebtedness exceeded the constitutional limit, held, that the debt thereupon arising on the part of the city to the plaintiff was not within the inhibition of the constitution, and that plaintiff might recover the taxes so paid. BECK, J., dissenting. Thomas v. The City of Burlington, 69 Id., 140.

Whether the indebtedness incurred by the issuing of school bonds will exceed the five per cent limit of this section of the constitution must be determined from an examination of the "tax lists," which are not made for any year until after the equalization by the county board in June, and are not completed until after the levy of the taxes in September. Hence, where bonds voted in May, 1885, would be in excess of the five per cent limit, estimated on the tax lists of 1884, their immediate issue was properly enjoined, although estimated upon the assessment rolls for the year 1885, the bonds would not be in excess of the constitutional limit. Wilkinson et al. v. Van Orman et al., 70 Id., 230.

A contract entered into by a city for the building of a sewer, whereby the contractor agrees to accept, in full satisfaction for the whole work, certificates of assessments made upon the property adjacent to the sewer, held, not to create a debt against the city within the meaning of section three of article eleven, of the state constitution limiting the lawful indebtedness of the city to five per centum of the valuation of the taxable property. Davis v. The City of Des Moines, 71 Id., 500.

SEC. 4. [Boundaries.]—The boundaries of the state may be enlarged, with the consent of congress and the general assembly.

SEC. 5. [Oath of office.]—Every person elected or appointed to any office, shall, before entering upon the duties thereof, take an oath or affirmation to support the constitution of the United States, and of this state, and also an oath of office.

SEC. 6. [How vacancies filled.]—In all cases of elections to fill vacancies in office occurring before the expiration of a full term, the person so elected shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term; and all persons appointed to fill vacancies in office, shall hold until the next general election, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 7. [How lands granted may be located.]—The general assembly shall not locate any of the public lands which have been, or may be granted by congress to this state, and the location of which may be given to the general assembly, upon lands actually settled, without the consent of the occupant. The extent of the claim of such occupant so exempted, shall not exceed three hundred and twenty acres.

SEC. 8. [Seat of government.]-The seat of government is hereby permanently established as now fixed by law, at the city of Des Moines, in the county of polk; and the state university at Iowa City, in the county of Johnson.

ARTICLE XII.—SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. [Supreme law of the state.]-The constitution shall be the supreme law of the state, and any law inconsistent therewith, shall be void. The general assembly shall pass all laws necessary to carry this constitution into effect.

SEC. 2. [Laws in force.]-All laws now in force, and not inconsistent with this constitution, shall remain in force until they shall expire or be repealed.

SEC. 3. [Legal process not affected.]-All indictments, prosecutions, suits, pleas, complaints, process, and other proceedings pending in any of the courts, shall be prosecuted to final judgment and execution; and all appeals, writs of error, certiorari, and injunctions, shall be carried on in the several courts, in the same manner as now provided by law, and offenses, misdemeanors, and crimes that may have been committed before the taking effect of this constitution, shall be subject to indictment, trial, and punishment, in the same manner as they would have been had not this constitution been made.

It is only to offenses committed prior to the taking effect of this constitution that the saving clause, section 3, of article 12, applies. The State v. Rollett, 6 Iowa, 534; The State v. Axt, Id., 511.

SEC. 4. [Fines, etc., inure to the state.]-All fines, penalties, or forfeitures due, or to become due, or accruing to the state, or to any county therein, or to the school fund, shall inure to the state, county, or school fund, in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 5. [Bonds in force.]-All bonds executed to the state, or to any officer in his official capacity, shall remain in force and inure to the use of those concerned.

SEC. 6. [First election.]-The first election under this constitution shall be held on the second Tuesday in October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, at which time the electors of the state shall elect the governor and lieutenant governor. There shall also be elected at such election, the successors of such state senators as were elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, and members of the house of representatives, who shall be elected in accordance with the act of apportionment, enacted at the session of the general assembly which commenced on the first Monday of December, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six.

SEC. 7. [Secretary, auditor, etc.]-The first election for secretary, auditor, and treasurer of state, attorney-general, district judges, members of the board of education, district attorneys, members of congress, and such state officers as shall be elected at the April election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven (except the superintendent of public instruction), and such county officers as were elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, except prosecuting attorneys, shall be held on the second Tuesday of October, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight: provided, that the time for which any district judge or other state or county officer elected at the April election in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, shall not extend beyond the time fixed for filling like offices at the October election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

SEC. 8. [Judges of supreme court.]—The first election for judges of the supreme court, and such county officers as shall be elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, shall be held on the second Tuesday of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine.

SEC. 9. [First session general assembly.]—The first regular session of the general assembly shall be held in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, commencing on the second Monday of January of said year.

SEC. 10. [Senators.]—Senators elected at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, shall continue in office until the second Tuesday of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, at which time their successors shall be elected as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 11. [Offices not vacated by new constitution.]—Every person elected by popular vote, by a vote of the general assembly, or who may hold office by executive appointment, which office is continued by this constitution, and every person who shall be so elected or appointed to any such office, before the taking effect of this constitution (except as in this constitution otherwise provided), shall continue in office until the term for which such person has been or may be elected or appointed shall expire; but no such person shall continue in office after the taking effect of this constitution, for a longer period than the term of such office, in this constitution prescribed.

SEC. 12. [State to be districted.]—This general assembly, at the first session under this constitution, shall district the state into eleven judicial districts, for district court purposes; and shall also provide for the apportionment of the members of the general assembly in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

SEC. 13. [Constitution to be voted for August, 1857.]—The constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state at the August election, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty seven, in the several election districts in this state. The ballots at such election shall be written or printed as follows: those in favor of the constitution, "new constitution—yes." Those against the constitution, "new constitution—no." The election shall be conducted in the same manner as the general elections of the state, and the poll books shall be returned and canvassed as provided in the twenty-fifth chapter of the code, and abstracts shall be forwarded to the secretary of state, which abstracts shall be canvassed in the manner provided for the canvass of state officers. And if it shall appear that a majority of all the votes cast at such election for and against this constitution are in favor of the same, the governor shall immediately issue his proclamation stating that fact, and such constitution shall be the constitution of the state of Iowa, and shall take effect from and after the publication of said proclamation.

SEC. 14. [Proposition to strike out the word white.]—At the same election that this constitution is submitted to the people for its adoption or rejection, a proposition to amend the same by striking out the word "white," from the article on the "right of suffrage," shall be separately submitted to the electors of this state for adoption or rejection, in the manner following, viz: a separate ballot may be given by every person having a right to vote at said election, to be deposited in a separate box. And those given for the adoption of such proposition shall have the words, "shall the word 'white' be stricken out of the article on the 'right of suffrage? yes.'" And those given against the proposition shall have the words, "shall the word 'white' be stricken out of the article on the right of suffrage? no." And if at said election the number of ballots cast in favor of said proposition, shall be equal to a majority of those cast for and against this constitution, then said word "white" shall be stricken from said article and be no part thereof.

SEC. 15. Until otherwise directed by law, the county of Mills shall be in and a part of the sixth judicial district of this state.

Done in convention at Iowa City, this fifth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America, the eighty-first.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

By proclamation of the governor, December 8, A. D. 1868, the following amendments were declared to be a part of the constitution of the state of Iowa:

1. Strike the word "white" from section one of article two thereof.
2. Strike the word "white" from section thirty-three of article three thereof.
3. Strike the word "white" from section thirty-four of article three thereof.
4. Strike the word "white" from section thirty-five of article three thereof.
5. Strike the word "white" from section one of article six thereof.
6. By agreement of the two houses of the seventeenth and eighteenth general assemblies, and vote of the people at the annual election in 1880, the following amendment to the constitution was adopted: Strike out the words "free white" from the third line of section four (4) of article three (3) of said constitution, relative to the legislative department.
7. By agreement of the two houses of the eighteenth and nineteenth general assemblies, and a vote of the people on June 27, 1882, the following amendment to the constitution was adopted:

SECTION 26. [Prohibitory amendment.]—No person shall manufacture for sale, or sell, or keep for sale, as a beverage, any intoxicating liquors whatever, including ale, wine, and beer. The general assembly shall by law prescribe regulations for the enforcement of the prohibition herein contained, and shall thereby provide suitable penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof.

The supreme court, in the case of Kähler & Lange v. Hill, 60 Iowa, 543, decided that this last amendment had not been submitted in the manner prescribed in section 1 of article 10 of the constitution, and did not, therefore, become a part of the fundamental law of the state, BECK, J., dissenting.

The following are the holdings in the case:

1. Constitution of Iowa: amendment to proposed by general assembly: evidence of. Under article X, section 1, of the constitution of Iowa, it is necessary that the several houses of the general assembly which first proposes an amendment to the constitution, cause the same to be entered at length upon their respective journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon. It is not necessary that the proposed amendment be enrolled, or signed by the presiding officers of the several houses, or by the governor; but where, as in this case, the proposed amendment was so enrolled and signed, and also entered at length, in substantial compliance with the constitution, upon the journal of the senate, that journal is the primary and best evidence of the proposed amendment, as agreed to by the senate—code, section 3717—while the rolls is, at the best, but secondary evidence thereof; and the parol testimony of members of the senate is not admissible to contradict the senate journal as to the language of the proposed amendment as agreed to by the senate.

2. Recital of in joint resolution by succeeding general assembly: not conclusive upon the courts. Where the eighteenth general assembly proposed an amendment to the constitution, a recital of such proposed amendment by the nineteenth general assembly, in a joint resolution agreeing to the same, is not conclusive upon the courts as to the form of such amendment as originally proposed, nor as to whether the eighteenth general assembly actually agreed to the same in the manner required by the constitution; and such recital does not preclude and estop the courts, in a proper case, from examining the journals of the eighteenth general assembly, to ascertain whether or not the amendment, as originally proposed, was in fact the same as that recited and agreed to by the nineteenth general assembly, and whether or not it was legally and constitutionally agreed to by the eighteenth general assembly.

3. Failure to enter upon journal: variance in form and substance. Where an amendment to the constitution proposed by the eighteenth general assembly, was not entered at length upon the journal of the house, as required by article X, section 1, of the constitution; and where it appeared from the journal of the senate of the eighteenth general assembly, that the amendment agreed to by the senate was different, in language and substance, from that agreed to, and submitted to the electors, by the nineteenth general assembly; held that the amendment so submitted to the electors did not become a part of the constitution, notwithstanding it was approved by a large majority of the electors.

Upon a motion for re-hearing the foregoing propositions were reconsidered and affirmed, and the following additional points were determined.

4. Constitution: amendment to: jurisdiction of the courts to irregularity of. While it is not competent for courts to inquire into the validity of the constitution and form of government under which they themselves exist, and from which they derive their powers, yet, where the existing constitution prescribes a method for its own amendment, an amendment thereto, to be valid, must be adopted in strict conformity to that method; and it is the duty of the courts, in a proper case, when an amendment does not relate to their own powers or functions, to inquire whether, in the adoption of the amendment, the provisions of the existing constitution have been observed, and, if not, to declare the amendment invalid and of no effect.

5. Evidence. A paper purporting to be the original joint resolution which passed the senate and house of the eighteenth general assembly, and which had not been in legal custody, but was produced on the street three years after the action was had, by a person who would not permit his name to be disclosed, and whom the court is not permitted to know, is not entitled to judicial notice; and it is not competent thereby to contradict the journals of the eighteenth general assembly, and to show, notwithstanding these journals, that the constitutional amendment proposed in said joint resolution by the eighteenth general assembly passed both houses of that general assembly in the exact form and words agreed to by the nineteenth general assembly.

By agreement of the nineteenth and twentieth general assemblies, and a vote of the electors on the 4th day of November, 1884, the following amendments to the constitution were adopted:

AMENDMENT 1. The general election for state, district, county and township officers shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.

AMENDMENT 2. At any regular session of the general assembly, the state may be divided into the necessary judicial districts for district court purposes, or the said districts may be reorganized and the number of the districts and the judges of said courts increased or diminished; but no reorganization of the districts or diminution of the judges shall have the effect of removing a judge from office.

AMENDMENT 3. The grand jury may consist of any number of members not less than five, nor more than fifteen, as the general assembly may by law provide, or the general assembly may provide for holding persons to answer for any criminal offense without the intervention of a grand jury.

AMENDMENT 4. That section 13 of article 5 of the constitution be stricken therefrom, and the following adopted as such section.

SECTION. 13. The qualified electors of each county shall, at the general election in the year 1886, and every two years thereafter, elect a county attorney, who shall be a resident of the county for which he is elected, and shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

(CHAPTER 414, LAWS OF 1876.)

RELATING TO PROPOSITIONS TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION.

An Act providing for the publication of propositions to amend the constitution and for other purposes connected therewith.

SECTION. 1. [When proposition has passed.—Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa: That whenever any proposition to amend the constitution has passed the general assembly and [been] referred to the next succeeding legislature as provided in section 1, article ten of the constitution, the secretary of state shall cause the same to be published in two newspapers of general circulation in each congressional district in the state for the time provided in section one, article ten of the constitution; and the fact of such publication having been made shall be verified by the affidavits of the publishers of such newspapers, and such affidavits together with the certificate of the secretary of state that he had designated the newspapers in which the publication was made shall be filed, preserved and recorded in a book kept for that purpose in the office of the secretary of state; and the secretary of state shall report his action in the premises to the next succeeding general assembly.

SEC. 2. (As amended by ch. 7, 10th g. a.) Proposition having passed shall be submitted.—Whenever a proposition to amend the constitution shall have passed the general assembly and been agreed to by the next succeeding general assembly as provided in section one, article ten of the constitution [when no other time is fixed by such general assembly for its submission to the people] the same shall be submitted to the qualified electors at the next ensuing general election; and the ballots relating to such amendment or amendments shall be separate from ballots for officers cast at such election, and shall be deposited in boxes to be provided by the judges of election, separate from said ballots so cast for officers; and there shall be written or printed on such ballots the entire proposed amendment or amendments with the word “for” or “against”—as the elector may desire—preceding each amendment voted upon; and the election may be conducted in the same manner as the election for state officers, except as herein otherwise provided; and the canvass shall be in the same manner, and by the same officers and like returns made thereof as of the ballots cast for the secretary of state; and the board of state canvassers shall declare the result and enter the same of record in the book mentioned in section one of this act, immediately following and in connection with the proofs of publication.

SEC. 3. [Duty of governor.]—Whenever a proposition to amend the constitution is submitted to a vote of the electors, the governor shall include such proposed amendment in his proclamation provided for in section 577 of the code.

SEC. 4. [Expenses.]—Expenses incurred under the provisions of this act, shall be audited and allowed by the executive council and paid out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved, March 15, 1876.

[SEC. 5. (Added by ch. 7, 19th g. a.)—The general assembly to which a proposition to amend the constitution has been referred by the last preceding general assembly, and which has agreed to such proposed amendment, may provide for its submission to the people at a special election for that purpose, at such time as the general assembly may prescribe, proclamation for which election shall be made by the governor, and the same shall in all respects be governed and conducted as prescribed in this act for submission of a constitutional amendment at a general election so far as applicable.]

STATUTES AND RULES REGULATING PRACTICE IN THE
SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF IOWA.

REVISED AND ADOPTED AT THE JUNE TERM 1886.

ORDER OF COURT TUESDAY JUNE 22, 1886.

ORDERED, That the revised rules this day adopted by the court shall be regarded as adopted when transcribed by the clerk, and shall take effect when published by the clerk.

I. OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE SUPREME COURT.

SECTION 1. [Judges of supreme court.]—The supreme court consists of five judges elected in the manner prescribed by law, the senior judge being the chief justice.

SEC. 2. [Quorum: adjournment by a minority.]—The presence of three judges is necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but one alone may adjourn from day to day, or to any particular day, or until next term. [Code § 139.]

SEC. 3. [Officers of court.]—The officers of the court are the attorney-general, the clerk, and the reporter, who are elected in the manner prescribed by law; the bailiffs appointed by the court, and the attorneys and counselors-at-law admitted to practice therein.

II. OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE SUPREME COURT.

SEC. 4. [General appellate jurisdiction.]—The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction over all judgments and decisions of the superior and district courts, from which appeals are allowed by law, as well in cases of civil actions properly so called, as in proceedings of a special or independent character and in criminal cases. [Code, § § 3163, 4520; Laws 1876, ch. 14, 3, 5, 17; Laws 1882, ch. 24, § 7.]

SEC. 5. [What orders may be reviewed on appeal.]—The supreme court may also review the following orders made by the district or superior courts of a city.

1. An order made affecting a substantial right in an action, when such order, in effect, determines the action and prevents a judgment from which an appeal might be taken.

2. A final order made in special proceedings affecting a substantial right therein, or made on a summary application in an action after judgment.

3. When an order grants or refuses, continues or modifies a provisional remedy; or grants, refuses, dissolves or refuses to dissolve an injunction or attachment; when it grants or refuses a new trial, or when it sustains or overrules a demurrer.

4. An intermediate order involving the merits and materially affecting the final decision.

5. An order or judgment on habeas corpus. [Code, § 3164.]

If any of the above orders are made by a judge of the district or superior court, they are in that case reviewable in the same way as if made by the court. [Code, § 3165.]

SEC. 6. [Supreme court may allow appeals from other orders.]—The supreme court may also, in its discretion, prescribe rules for allowing appeals on such other intermediate orders or decisions as they may think expedient, and for permitting the same to be taken and tried during the progress of the trial below; but such intermediate appeals must not retard proceedings in the trial in chief in the court below. [Code, § 3166.]

SEC. 7. The supreme court has a general supervision over the district and superior courts, and all other inferior judicial tribunals, to prevent and correct abuses, where no other remedy is provided by law. [Constitution, Art. 5, § 4.]

SEC. 8. [Power to enforce mandates.]—The supreme court shall have power to enforce its mandates upon inferior courts and officers by fine and imprisonment, which imprisonment may be continued until the mandates are obeyed. [Code, § 3200.]

SEC. 9. [May issue writs.]—The supreme court may issue all writs and process necessary for the exercise and enforcement of its appellate jurisdiction. [Code, § 3172.]

III. OF THE TERMS OF THE SUPREME COURT.

SEC. 10. The supreme court shall be held at the seat of government, and shall convene and hold three terms each year, one of which shall commence on the third Tuesday in January, one on the second Tuesday in May and one on the first Tuesday in October. Each of said terms of court shall be for the submission and determination of causes, and for the transaction of such other business as shall properly come before the court. All causes on the docket shall be heard at each term unless continued or otherwise disposed of by order of the court. The court shall remain in session, so far as practicable, until it is determined what the opinion of the court shall be in all causes submitted to it, except in causes where a re-argument is ordered. Judgments of affirmance, rulings and orders in causes submitted, and orders authorized by law may be made and entered by the court at any time regardless of the terms of court. [Chapter 59, laws of 1886, as amended by chapter 34, of laws of 1888.]

IV. OF APPEALS TO THE SUPREME COURT.

1. In Civil Cases.

SEC. 11. [Time for appeal.]—No appeal to the supreme court shall be taken except within six months from the rendition of the judgment or order appealed from. Unless the case involves an interest in real estate, no appeal, where the amount in controversy as shown by the pleadings does not exceed one hundred dollars, will be considered, except to dismiss the same, unless the trial judge certifies the question of law upon which the decision of this court is desired; and no other question except the one so certified shall be considered. [Code, § 3173.] (This rule, so far as it is in addition to the statute, took effect January 1, 1878.)

SEC. 12. [When perfected.]—An appeal shall not be perfected until the notice thereof has been served upon both the party and the clerk, and the clerk paid or secured his fees for a transcript; whereupon the clerk at the written request of either party shall prepare a transcript of the record in the cause, or of so much thereof as the appellant in writing has directed, to which shall be appended copies of the notices of appeal, and of the supersedeas bond, if any; and shall before the day the cause is set for hearing transmit the same by mail or express to the clerk of the supreme court. But causes shall be submitted upon the abstracts of the parties, except where a controversy arises as to the record. In such case the controversy shall be determined by reference to the transcript; but the appellant shall have a reasonable time after the necessity for a transcript appears, to file a transcript, where one has not already been filed; to submit the same to the court upon the printed abstract of the record hereinafter required, and when such agreement in writing is appended to the printed abstract filed, no transcript of the record shall be filed, or costs therefor be taxed in the cause. In all cases in which the appellee intends to demand judgment upon the supersedeas bond in this court, the bond must be certified to this court, and appended to the transcript, or to the agreed abstract. [Code, § 3179, with the additional provisions adopted by the court.]

SEC. 13. [How taken: notice of.]—An appeal is taken by the service of a notice in writing on the adverse party, his agent, or any attorney who appeared for him in the case in the court below, and also upon the clerk of the court wherein the proceedings were had, stating the appeal from the same, or from the specific part thereof, defining such part. (Code, § 3178.)

SEC. 14. [From part of an order.]—An appeal from part of an order, or from one of the judgments of a final adjudication, or from part of a judgment, shall not disturb or delay the rights of any party to any judgment or part of a judgment, or order, not appealed from, but the same shall proceed as if no such appeal had been taken. (Code § 3177.)

SEC. 15. [Length of service.]—The notices of appeal must be served thirty days and the cause filed and docketed at least fifteen days before the first day of the next term of the supreme court, or the same shall not then be tried, unless by consent of the parties. If the appeal is taken less than thirty days before the term, it must be so filed and docketed before the next succeeding term. [Code, § 3180.]

SEC. 16. [Service of notice.]—In cases in which there was default in the court below, and no personal service on the defendant, and no appearance by him, and plaintiff may appeal, and make service of the notice of appeal in the same manner that service of the original notice is made on non-resident defendants. If the appellee is a non-resident, but has an agent residing in the state, the notice may be served upon such agent, and such service shall take the place of publication in a newspaper. The proof of such service shall be made in the manner prescribed for proof of service of original notice on non-resident defendant. [McClellan v. McClellan, 2 Iowa, 312.]

SEC. 17. [Docket of causes.]—The cause shall be docketed as it was in the court below, and the party taking the appeal shall be called the appellant and the other party the appellee. [Code, § 3171.]

SEC. 18. (As amended June, 1879.) [Appellant must file and deliver abstract of records.]—At least thirty (30) days before the day assigned for the hearing of a cause, the appellant shall serve upon the attorney for each appellee a printed copy of so much of the abstract of record as may be necessary to a full understanding of the questions presented for decision (said abstract to be prepared as required by sections 97, 98 and 99.) He shall also, fifteen (15) days before the first day of the term for which the cause is to be docketed for trial, file with the clerk ten (10) copies of said abstract, and no cause will be heard until thirty (30) days after such service and fifteen (15) days after such filing with the clerk; nor shall it be docketed unless this and other rules shall be complied with. In case of cross appeals the party first giving notice of appeal shall, under this rule, be considered the appellant.

SEC. 19. [Appellee's abstract, when filed and served.]—If the appellee's counsel shall deem the appellant's abstract imperfect or unfair, he may, within ten days after receiving the same, deliver to the appellant's counsel one printed copy, and to the clerk of the court ten printed copies of such further or additional abstract as he shall deem necessary to a full understanding of the questions presented to this court for the decision.

SEC. 20. [The records to be certified.]—In an action by ordinary proceedings, and in an action by equitable proceedings, tried upon oral evidence, all proper entries made by the clerk, and all papers pertaining to the cause and filed therein (except subpoenas, depositions, and other papers which are used as mere evidence), are to be deemed part of the record. But in an action by equitable proceedings tried upon written evidence, the depositions and all papers, which were used as evidence, are to be certified up to the supreme court, and shall be so certified not by transcript, but in the original form. But a transcript of a motion, affidavit, or other paper, when it relates to a collateral matter, shall not be certified, unless by direction of the appellant. If so certified, when not material to the determination of the appeal, the court may direct the person blamable therefor to pay the costs thereof. [Code, § 3184.]

SEC. 21. [Transcript may be waived.]—If the the transcript has not been sent up, or the appellant does not file the same, or does not file an abstract when the same should be filed as herein provided, the appellee may file the transcript, and may on motion, have the appeal dismissed, or the judgment affirmed, as the court from the circumstances of the case may determine; but no appeal shall be dismissed or judgment of the court below affirmed because the cause was not docketed, or transcript or abstract filed, if it be made to appear that the appeal was taken in good faith, and not for the purpose of delay, or if from the conduct of the appellee or his counsel, appellant was induced to believe that no motion to dismiss or affirm would be made. [Code, §§ 3181, 3182, chapter 56, laws of 1874.]

SEC. 22. [Co-parties, appeal by part.]—A part of several co-parties may appeal, but in such case they must serve notice of the appeal upon all the other co-parties, and file the proof thereof with the clerk of the supreme court. (Code, § 3174.)

SEC. 23. [Refusal of co-parties to join in appeal.]—If the other co-parties refuse to join they cannot, nor can any of them, take an appeal afterward; nor shall they derive any benefit from the appeal, unless from the necessity of the case. (Code, § 3175.)

SEC. 24. [Presumed to have joined.]—Unless they appear and decline to join, they shall be deemed to have joined, and shall be liable for their due proportion of costs. (Code, § 3176.)

SEC. 25. [Death of parties does not abate.]—The death of one or all of the parties shall not cause the proceedings to abate, but the names of the proper persons shall be substituted, as is provided in such cases in the district and circuit court, and the cause may proceed. The court may also, in such case, grant a continuance, when such a course will be calculated to promote the ends of justice. (Code, § 3211.)

SEC. 26. [Dismissal when appellant's right ceases.]—Where appellant has no right, or no further right to prosecute the appeal, the appellee may move to dismiss the appeal, and if the grounds of the motion do not appear in the record, or by a writing, purporting to have been signed by the appellant, and filed, they must be verified by affidavit. (Code, § 3212.)

SEC. 27. [Proceedings to show appeals improperly taken.]-The appellee may by answer filed and verified by himself, agent or attorney, plead any facts which render the taking of the appeal improper, or destroy the appellant's right of further prosecuting the same, to which answer the appellant may file a reply, likewise verified by himself, his agent or attorney, and the question of law or fact therein shall be determined by the court. (Code, § 3213.)

SEC. 28. [Service of notice.]-The service of all notices of appeal, or in any way growing out of such right, or connected therewith, and all notices in the supreme court, shall be in the way provided for the service of like notices in the district court, and they may be served by the same person and returned in the same manner, and the original notice of appeal must be returned, immediately after service, to the office of the clerk of the district court where the suit is pending. (Code, § 3214.)

SEC. 29. [Transcript.]-It shall be the duty of the appellant to file a perfect transcript, and to that end the clerk of the court below must at any time, on his suggestion of the diminution of the record, and on payment of fees, certify up any omitted part of the record, according to the truth, as the same appears in his office of record; and such applicant shall not be entitled to any continuance, in order to correct the record, unless it shall clearly appear to the court that he is not in fault, subject to which requirement either party may, on motion, before trial day, obtain an order on the clerk of the court below, commanding him to transmit at once to the supreme court a true copy of such imperfect or omitted part of the record as shall be in general terms described in the affidavit or order. Such motion must be supported by affidavit, unless the diminution be apparent, or admitted by the adverse party, and must not be granted unless the court be satisfied that it is not made for delay. (Code, § 3185.)

SEC. 30. [Court may order.]-Where a view of an original paper in the action may be important to a correct decision of the appeal, the court may order the clerk of the court below to transmit the same, which he shall do in some safe mode, to the clerk of the supreme court, who shall hold the same subject to the control of the court. (Code, § 3209.)

SEC. 31. [Supersedeas.]-An appeal shall not stay proceedings on the judgment or order, or any part thereof, unless a supersedeas is issued, and no appeal or supersedeas shall vacate or affect the lien of the judgment appealed from. (Code § 3186.)

SEC. 32. [Supersedeas bond.]-A supersedeas shall not be issued until the appellant shall cause to be executed before the clerk of the court which rendered the judgment or order, by one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by such clerk, a bond to the effect that the appellant shall pay to the appellee all costs and damages that may be adjudged against the appellant on the appeal; also, that he will satisfy and perform the judgment or order appealed from, in case it shall be affirmed, and any judgment or order which the supreme court may render, or order to be rendered, by the inferior court, not exceeding in amount or value the original judgment or order, and all rents, or hires, or damages to property during the pendency of the appeal, out of the possession of which the appellee is kept by reason of the appeal. If the bond is intended to stay proceedings on only a part of the judgment or order, it shall be varied so as to secure the part superseded alone. When such bond has been approved by the clerk and filed, he shall issue a written order, commanding the appellee and all others to stay proceedings in such judgment or order, or on such part as is superseded, as the case may be. [Code, § 3186.]

SEC. 33. [Motion to discharge.]-If the appellee believe the supersedeas bond defective, or the sureties insufficient, he may move the supreme court, if in sessoin, or in its vacation, on ten day's written notice to appellants, may move any judge of said court, or the judge of the court where the appeal was taken, to discharge the supersedeas; and if the court, or such judge, shall consider the sureties insufficient, or the bond substantially defective in securing the rights of the appellee, the court or such judge shall issue an order discharging the supersedeas, unless a good bond with sufficient sureties be executed by a day by him fixed. The order, if made by a judge, shall be in writing, and signed by him, and upon its filing, or the filing of a certified copy of the order when made in court, in the office of the clerk of the court from which the appeal was taken, execution and other proceedings for enforcing the judgment or order may be taken, if a new and good bond is not filed and approved by the day fixed as aforesaid. [Code, § 3188.]

SEC. 34. [New supersedeas.]—But another supersedeas may be issued by the clerk upon the execution before him of a new and lawful bond, with sufficient sureties as hereinbefore provided. [Code, § 3189.]

SEC. 35. [Amount: penalty.]—If the judgment or order is for the payment of money, the penalty shall be in at least twice the amount of the judgment and costs. If not for the payment of money, the penalty shall be sufficient to save the appellee harmless from the consequences of taking the appeal. But it shall in no case be less than one hundred dollars. [Code, § 3190.]

SEC. 36. [Extent of supersedeas.]—The taking of the appeal from a part of a judgment or order, and the filing of a bond as above directed, does not cause a stay of execution as to any part of the judgment or order not appealed from. [Code, § 3191.]

SEC. 37. [Countermanding execution.]—If execution has issued prior to the giving the bond above contemplated, the clerk shall countermand the same. [Code, § 3192.]

SEC. 38. Property levied upon and not sold at the time such countermand is received by the sheriff, shall forthwith be delivered up to the judgment debtor. [Code, § 3193.]

2. In Criminal Actions.

SEC. 39. [What may be appealed.]—The mode of reviewing in the supreme court any judgment, action or decision of the district court in a criminal cause is by appeal. [Code, § 4520.]

SEC. 40. [Who may appeal.]—Either the defendant or the state may take an appeal. [Code, § 4521.]

SEC. 41. [When appeal may be taken.]—No appeal can be taken until after judgment, and then only within one year thereafter. [Code, § 4522.]

SEC. 42. [How it is taken: notice.]—An appeal is taken, by the party taking it, or the attorney of such party, serving on the adverse party, or on the attorney of the adverse party, who acted as attorney of record in the district court, at the time of the rendition of the judgment, and also on the clerk of the district court, by which the judgment was rendered, a notice in writing of the taking of the appeal from the judgment. [Code, § 4523.]

SEC. 43. [When perfected.]—The appeal is deemed to be taken when the notices thereof, required by the last section, are filed in the office of the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered, with evidence of the service thereof indorsed thereon, or annexed thereto. Code, § 4524.]

SEC. 44. [Transcripts.]—When an appeal is taken, it is the duty of the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered, without unnecessary delay, to make out a full and perfect transcript of all the papers in the case on file in his office (except the papers returned by the examining magistrate on the preliminary examination, where there has been one, and the minutes of the evidence of the witnesses examined before the grand jury), and of all entries made in the record book, and certify the same under his hand and the seal of the court, and transmit the same to the clerk of the supreme court. [Code, § 4525.]

SEC. 45. [Appeal.]—An appeal taken by the state in no case stays the operations of the judgment in favor of the defendant. (Code, § 4527.)

SEC. 46. [Supersedeas.]—An appeal taken by the defendant does not stay the execution of the judgment, unless bail is put in, except as provided in the next section. (Code, § 4528.)

SEC. 47. [Imprisonment in penitentiary.]—Where the judgment is imprisonment in the penitentiary, and an appeal is taken during the term at which the judgment was rendered, and the defendant is unable to give bail, and that fact is satisfactorily shown to the court, it may, in its discretion, order the sheriff or officer having the defendant in custody to detain him in custody, without taking him to the penitentiary, to abide the judgment on the appeal, if the defendant desire it. (Code, § 4529.)

SEC. 48. [Notice of bail.]—When an appeal is taken by a defendant, in a bailable case, and bail is put in, it is the duty of the clerk to give forthwith to the defendant, his agent or attorney, a certificate under his hand and the seal of the court, stating that an appeal has been taken and bail put in, and the sheriff or other officer having the defendant in custody must, upon the delivery of such certificate to him, discharge the defendant from custody, where imprisonment forms any part of the judgment, and cease all further proceedings in execution of the judgment, and return forthwith to the clerk of the court who issued it, the execution or certified copy of the entry of judgment under which he acted, with his return thereto, if such execution or certified copy has been issued, and if such execution or certified copy has not been issued, it shall not be issued, but shall abide the judgment on the appeal. (Code, § 4530.)

SEC. 49. [Joint defendants.]—When several defendants are indicted and tried jointly, any one or more of them may join in taking the appeal, but those of their co-defendants who do not join shall take no benefit therefrom, yet they may appeal afterward. (Code, § 4526.)

SEC. 50. [Title of action.]—The party taking the appeal is known as the appellant, the adverse party as the appellee, but the title of the action is not changed in consequence of the appeal; it shall be docketed in the supreme court as it was in the district court. (Code, § 4531.)

V. OF THE TRIAL, DECISION AND EXECUTION.

1. In Civil Cases.

SEC. 51. [Assignment of errors.]—In all cases where an assignment of errors is necessary, the same should be served upon the opposite party or counsel at the time the abstract is filed. If served or filed later than herein provided, the assignment may, on motion, be stricken from the files, but the court in its discretion may waive the failure, but not without the imposition of terms if it appears that the appellee has been subjected to any inconvenience by the failure. An assignment of error need follow no stated form, but must, in a way as specific as the case will allow, point out the very error objected to. Among several points in a demurrer, or in a motion or instruction, or rulings in an exception, it must designate which is relied on as error, and each must be designated in a distinct assignment; and the court will only regard errors which are assigned with the required exactness; but the court must decide on each error assigned.

SEC. 52. [When notice required.]—(1) Motions made in a cause after judgment, or after the time assigned for the hearing of causes from the district from which it was appealed, will be heard only upon proof of service of reasonable notice of such motion upon the adverse party.

(2) All motions must be filed with the clerk and served, by copy of the same and of all affidavits or documents upon which they are based, upon the opposite party or counsel, ten days before the morning on which the causes for the district are set for hearing. Such opposite party shall then have five days to file paper in resistance to the same, copies of which must be served upon the other party or counsel, and no papers will be regarded which do not appear to have been so served. This rule shall not apply to motions the causes whereof arise after the filing of the abstract. But in such cases timely notice of such motions shall be given to the opposite attorneys.

(3) [Arguments filed and served before term.].—Arguments in support of motions, if any, must be filed in writing before the morning of the day set for hearing of the cause, and served by copy upon the opposite party or counsel when the motion is served, and arguments in resistance, if any, must be filed in writing before the morning of the day set for hearing of the cause, and served by copy on the opposite party or counsel when the papers in resistance are served. The above rule shall not apply to motions for continuance, as to time of service.

SEC. 53. [Oral and printed arguments.].—To entitle an appellant to submit his case either orally or in print, he must serve copies of his brief of points and authorities or argument on counsel for each of the appellees at least thirty (30) days before the day assigned for the hearing of the case. The appellee shall serve copies of his brief or argument upon counsel for each appellant at least ten (10) days before the hearing, and the reply, if in print, shall be served at least three (3) days before the case is to be finally submitted. Each party shall file with the clerk ten (10) copies of each brief or argument before the case is so submitted. A failure to comply with the above requirements will entitle the party not in default, unless the court shall, for sufficient cause, otherwise order, to a continuance, or to have the case submitted at his option upon the brief and argument on file when the default occurred. All briefs and arguments shall be prepared and printed as required by section 6 hereof.

SEC. 54. [When arguments shall be served.].—All arguments in addition to oral ones shall be in print; proper evidence of the service upon opposing counsel of printed matter in a cause shall be filed therewith; and the clerk shall note upon the docket the date of each service. All manuscripts and printed arguments shall be filed with the clerk, and he shall not transmit to the judges any paper not served and filed in time under the rules, nor shall any argument or brief be considered which does not go through the hands of the clerk. No cause shall be entered as submitted until the arguments are finally and actually concluded.

SEC. 55. Written notice of intention to argue a case orally shall be served upon the counsel of the opposite party ten days before the first day of the term, and failure to serve such notice shall deprive the party of the right to argue orally.

SEC. 56. [Limitation: number of counsel.].—Only two counsel will be heard on either side, and no oral argument shall exceed one hour in length, unless an extension of time is granted before the argument is commenced.

SEC. 57. [Which party opens and closes argument.].—When the appeal presents to the court only questions of law upon rulings of the court below, the appellant shall open and close the argument; but when the trial in the supreme court is de novo of questions of fact, the party having the burden of proof shall open and close, and, as to printed briefs and arguments, shall observe the rules requiring the filing of such briefs and arguments by appellants.

SEC. 58. [Calling causes.].—At the commencement of each term the causes will be called in their order, but no cause will be tried on the first calling:

SEC. 59. [Opinions of the court.].—The opinions of the court on all questions reviewed on appeal, as well as such motions, collateral questions, and points of practice as they may think of sufficient importance, shall be reduced to writing and filed with the clerk of the court.

All dissenting opinions must be written and filed in the same manner.

The records and reports must in all cases show whether a decision was made by a full bench, and whether either (and, if so, which) of the judges dissented from the decision. [Code, § § 143, 144.]

SEC. 60. [Opinions: when not reported.].—If the decision, in the judgment of the court, is not of sufficient general importance to be published, it shall be so designated, in which case it shall not be reported except by order of the full bench. [Code, § 145.]

SEC. 61. [Judgment which may be rendered.].—The supreme court may reverse or affirm the judgment or order below, or the part of either appealed from, or may render such judgment or order as the court below or judge should have done according as it may think proper. [Code, § 3194.]

SEC. 62. [Judgment against sureties.].—The supreme court, where it affirms the judgment, shall also, if the appellee move therefor, render judgment against the appellant and his sureties on the bond above mentioned for the amount of the judgment, damages and costs referred to therein, in case such damages can be accurately known to the court without an issue and trial. [Code, § 3195.]

SEC. 63. [Damages on appeal, if for delay.].—Upon the affirmance of any judgment or order for the payment of money, the collection of which, in whole or in part, has been superseded by bond, as above contemplated, the court shall award to the appellee damages upon the amount superseded; and if satisfied by the record that the appeal was taken for delay only, must award such sum as damages not exceeding fifteen per cent thereon, as shall effectually tend to prevent the taking of appeals for delay only. [Code, § 3196.]

SEC. 64. [To remand cause or issue process.].—If the supreme court affirm the judgment or order, it may send the cause to the district court to have the same carried into effect, or it may itself issue the necessary process for this purpose and direct such process to the sheriff of the proper county, according as the party thereto may require. [Code, § 3197.]

SEC. 65. [Restoration of money or property.].—If, by the decision of the supreme court, the appellant becomes entitled to a restoration of any part of the money or property that was taken from him by means of such judgment or order, either the supreme or district court may direct execution or writ of restitution to issue for the purpose of restoring to such appellant his property or value thereof. [Code, § 3198.]

SEC. 66. [Executions to issue.].—Executions issued from the supreme court shall be the same as those from the district court, attended with the same consequences, and shall be returnable in the same time. [Code, § 3215.]

SEC. 67. [Executions may issue.].—In cases in which the judgment below is affirmed in this court, the parties in whose favor the judgment is affirmed may have execution either from this court or the court below. In case of an execution from this court, if the process of garnishment is served upon the execution defendant, either principal or surety, the sheriff, in addition to his return, shall return a copy of the execution and his return to the district court from which the cause was appealed, and all issues of fact which may arise in said garnishment process shall be tried by that court.

SEC. 68. [When and how heard.].—The court shall hear all the cases docketed, when not continued by consent, or for cause shown by the party, and the party may be heard orally or otherwise, in his discretion. [Code, § 3204.]

SEC. 69. [Cause decided when opinion filed.].—No cause is decided until the opinion in writing is filed with the clerk. [Code, § 3205.]

SEC. 70. No procedendo, except in criminal cases, and in cases where petitions for rehearing have been overruled, shall issue in any case until the expiration of thirty days from the filing of the opinion in the case, except upon an order of one of the justices of the court, upon cause shown.

SEC. 71. Decrees to be entered in this court shall be prepared by the counsel of the parties in whose favor they are rendered. Copies shall be served on the opposite counsel and filed in the court within twenty days after counsel preparing them shall have received notice of the decision in the cause in which they are entered.

SEC. 72. When, by the decision of this court, a decree is to be entered in this court at the option of either party, such option shall be declared and a decree furnished under the above rule, within twenty days from the date at which counsel required to prepare the decree received notice of the decision.

SEC. 73. If a cause be remanded to the inferior court to be carried into effect, such decision and the order of court thereon, being certified thereto and entered on the records of the court, shall have the same force and effect as if made and entered during the session of the court in that district. [Code, § 3206.]

2. In Criminal Actions.

SEC. 74. [Docketing causes: precedence.—Appeals in criminal cases shall be docketed in the supreme court for trial at the commencement of that portion of the term which has been assigned for trying causes from the judicial district from which the appeal comes, which is twenty days after the date of the certificate of the transcript from the clerk of the district court, and if the appellant does not file his transcript by that time with the clerk of the supreme court, the appellee may file his and have the case docketed. They shall take precedence of all other business and shall be tried at the term at which the transcript is filed, unless continued for cause or by consent of the parties, and shall be decided, if practicable, at the same term. [Code, § 4532.]

SEC. 75. [Appearance not necessary.—The personal appearance of the defendant in the supreme court on the trial of the appeal is in no case necessary. [Code, § 4533.]

SEC. 76. [Informality not fatal.—An appeal shall not be dismissed for any informality or defect in taking the appeal, if the same be corrected within a reasonable time, and the supreme court must direct how it shall be corrected. [Code, § 4534.]

SEC. 77. [Assignment of errors.—No assignment of error, or joinder in error, shall be necessary. [Code, § 4535.]

SEC. 78. [Close of argument.—The defendant shall be entitled to close the argument. [Code, § 4536.]

SEC. 79. [Opinion of court.—The opinion of the supreme court must be in writing, filed with the clerk and recorded. [Code, § 4537.]

SEC. 80. [Court must examine record.—If the appeal was taken by the defendant from a judgment against him, the supreme court must examine the record, and without regard to technical errors or defects, which do not affect the substantial rights of the parties, render such judgment on the record as the law demands. It may affirm, reverse, or modify the judgment, and render such judgment as the district court should have rendered, and may, if necessary or proper, order a new trial. It may reduce the punishment, but cannot increase it. [Code, § 4538.]

SEC. 81. [Judgment on appeals taken by state.—If the appeal was taken by the state, the supreme court cannot reverse the judgment or modify it so as to increase the punishment, but may affirm it, and shall point out any error in the proceedings, or in the measure of punishment, and its decision shall be obligatory on the district court, as the correct exposition of the law. [Code, § 4539.]

SEC. 82. [Judgment of reversal.].—If a judgment against the defendant be reversed, without ordering a new trial, the supreme court must direct, if the defendant be in custody, that he be discharged, or if he be admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated, or if money be deposited instead of bail, that it be refunded to him. [Code, § 4540.]

SEC. 83. [Judgment of affirmance.].—On a judgment of affirmance against the defendant, the original judgment shall be carried into execution, as the supreme court shall direct, except as hereinafter provided. [Code, § 4541.]

SEC. 84. [Record of judgment and procedendo.].—When a judgment of the supreme court is rendered, it must be recorded, and a certified copy of the judgment be forthwith remitted to the district court in which the judgment appealed from was rendered, with proper instructions, and a copy of the opinion, in such time and in such manner, as the supreme court may, by rule, prescribe. [Code, § 4542.]

SEC. 85. [When jurisdiction ceases.].—After a certified copy of the entry of the judgment of the supreme court and its instructions have been remitted as provided in the preceding section, the supreme court has no further jurisdiction of the proceedings therein, and all proceedings which may be necessary to carry the judgment of the supreme court into effect must be had in the court to which it is remitted, or by the clerk thereof, except as provided in the next two sections [Code, § 4543.]

SEC. 86. [Certified judgments: when authorized.].—Unless where some proceedings in the district court, are directed by the supreme court, a copy of the certified judgment of the supreme court, with its directions certified by the clerk of the district court, to whom the same has been transmitted, delivered to the sheriff or other proper officer, shall authorize him to execute the judgment of the supreme court or take any steps to bring the proceedings to a conclusion, except as provided in the next section. [Code, § 4544.]

SEC. 87. [Deduction of imprisonment.].—If a defendant, who has been imprisoned during the pendency of an appeal, upon a new trial ordered the supreme court, shall be again convicted, the period of his former imprisonment shall be deducted by the district court from the period of imprisonment to be fixed on the last verdict of conviction. [Code, § 4545.]

VI.—REHEARING.

SEC. 88. [Time of filing.].—No petition for rehearing shall be filed after sixty days from the filing of the opinion of this court.

SEC. 89. Written notice of intention to petition for a rehearing shall be served on the opposite party and clerk of the supreme court within thirty days after the filing of the opinion, and if no such notice is served, the petition for rehearing shall not be filed after the expiration of such thirty days.

SEC. 90. [Argument—petition for rehearing.].—The petition for rehearing, if there be no oral argument, shall be the argument of the applicant therefor, and if the court think that such argument requires a reply, it shall so indicate to the other party, and he may make reply within such time as said court shall allow. If the petitioner desire to make an oral argument in support of his petition, he shall endorse in writing or print a notice upon his argument or brief, stating that he will ask to be heard orally, which shall be served on the opposite party and deposited with the clerk. The cause shall then be placed upon the docket for the next term, being not less than twenty days after the filing of the petition, and the petitioner shall have the right to be heard orally at the next term, or at

SEC. 91. [Shall be printed.]—All petitions for rehearing shall be printed as required by section 96 hereof, and a copy shall be delivered to the attorney of the adverse party, and, if there be more than one, to the attorney of each, and nine copies to the clerk of this court.

SEC. 92. The opinions announcing the decisions of this court in cases wherein petitions for rehearing are filed, shall be printed by the petitioners, and copies thereof shall accompany the printed copies of the petitions for rehearing filed with the clerk, or served on the opposite party. [Oct. 2, 1879, ordered that rule 92 be suspended in its operation in all cases wherein the opinions of the court are published in the Northwestern Reporter, before the petitions for rehearing are filed. Counsel in such cases being required to refer to the number and page of the Reporter, in which the opinions are printed.]

SEC. 93. [Shall suspend decision on procedendo.]—If a petition for rehearing be filed, the same shall suspend the decision or procedendo, if the court, on its presentation, or one of the judges, if in vacation, shall so order, in either of which cases such decision and procedendo shall be suspended until after final arguments. [Laws 1882, chap. 144, amending Code, § 3201.]

VII. OF COSTS.

SEC. 94. [Security for costs.]—The appellant may be required to give security for costs, under the same circumstances as those in which plaintiffs in civil actions in the court below may be so required. [Code, § 3210.]

SEC. 95. [Costs: taxation of.]—When the parties or their attorneys shall furnish their printed abstracts, briefs, arguments and petitions for rehearing, in conformity to the rules of this court, it shall be the duty of the clerk to tax a printer's fee at the rate of one dollar for every five hundred words embraced in a single copy of the same, against the unsuccessful party not furnishing the same, to be collected and paid to the successful party as other costs. When unnecessary costs have been made by either party the court will, upon application, tax the same to the party making them, without reference to the disposition of the case.

VIII. OF PREPARING TRANSCRIPT AND ABSTRACT, AND PRINTING ABSTRACTS, BRIEFS, ARGUMENTS, AND PETITIONS FOR REHEARING.

SEC. 96. [Form and suggestions.]—All abstracts, briefs, arguments and petitions for rehearing shall be printed upon unruled writing paper, with the type commonly known as small pica, leaded lines, the printed page to be four inches wide and seven inches long, with a margin of two inches, but the type in which extracts are printed may be small pica solid, or brevier with leaded lines.

The first page of the abstract, brief or argument, shall show the title of the cause, designating the appellant and the appellee, the term of the supreme court to which the appeal is brought, the court from which the appeal is taken, the names of counsel for both the appellant and appellee.

SEC. 97. The abstract must be accompanied by a complete index of its contents, and must show where the papers and entries therein mentioned may be found in the transcript as well as in the abstract.

SEC. 98. Abstracts of record shall be made substantially in the following form:

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF IOWA,
DECEMBER TERM, 187..

JOHN DOE, Appellant, }
 agt. } Appellant's Abstract of Record.
RICHARD ROE, Appellee. } (In "Equity," or "At Law.")

Appeal from the Judgment of the Van Buren District Court.

J. C. K., for the Appellant.
H. H. S., for the Appellee.

distrset court a

stating his cause of action as follows:

(Set out all of petition necessary to an understanding of the questions to be presented to the court, and no more. In setting out exhibits, omit all merely formal irrelevant parts, as, for example, if the exhibit be a deed or mortgage and no question is raised as to the acknowledgment, omit the acknowledgment.)

When the defendant has appeared it is useless to encumber the record with the original notice, or the return of the officer. Append to the abstract of each paper a reference to the page of the transcript on which it will be found.)

On the . . . day of A. D. 187.., the defendant filed a to said petition, setting up the following grounds:

(State only the grounds of demurrer, omitting the formal parts. If the pleading was a motion and the ruling thereon is one of the questions to be considered, set it out in the same way, and continue.)

And on the day of 187.. the same was submitted to the court, and the court made the following ruling thereon:

(Here set out the ruling. In every instance let the abstract be in the chronological order of the events in the case—letting each ruling appear in the proper connection. If the defendant pleaded over, and thereby waived his right to appeal from these rulings, no mention of them should be made in the abstract, but it should continue.)

And on the day of 187. . . . the defendant filed his

to the petition, setting up the following defenses:

(Here set out the defenses, omitting all formal parts. If motions or demurrer were interposed to this pleading, proceed as directed with reference to the petition.

Frame the record so that it will properly present all questions to be reviewed and raised before issue is joined. When the abstract shows issues joined, proceed.)

On the.....day of.....187...said cause was tried by a jury (or by the court, as the case may be) and on the trial the following proceedings were had:

(Set out so much of the bill of exceptions as is necessary to show the ruling of the court to which exceptions were taken during the progress of the trial.)

INSTRUCTIONS.

After the evidence and the arguments of counsel were concluded, the plaintiff (or defendant, as the case may be) asked the court to give each of the following instructions to the jury:

(Set out the instructions referred to and continue) which the court refused as to each instruction, to which said several rulings the plaintiff (or defendant) excepted at the time, and thereupon the court gave the following instructions to the jury:

(Set out the instructions.)

To the giving of those numbered (give the numbers) and to the giving of each thereof the plaintiff (or defendant) at the time excepted.

VERDICT.

On the.....day of.....187..., the jury returned into court with the following verdict:

(Set out the verdict.)

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL.

On the.....day of.....187..., the plaintiff (or defendant) filed a motion praying the court to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial upon the following grounds:

(Set out the grounds aforesaid for the new trial.)

On the.....day of.....187..., the court made the following ruling on said motion:

(Set out the record of the ruling to which the plaintiff or (defendant) at the time excepted.

JUDGMENT.

On the.....day of.....187..., the following judgment was entered:

(Set out the judgment entry appealed from.)

On the.....day of... ..187..., the plaintiff perfected an appeal to the supreme court of the state of Iowa, by serving upon the defendant and the clerk of the district court of Van Buren county a notice of appeal.

(If supersedeas bond was filed, state the fact.)

ASSIGNMENT OF ERRORS.

And the appellant herein says there is manifest error on the face of the record in this:

(Set out the errors assigned.)

(To the abstract of each paper and entry appended a reference to the page of the transcript on which it will be found. This will not be necessary when the case is submitted on the printed abstract without the transcript.)

This outline is presented for the purpose of indicating the character of the abstracts contemplated by the rule, which, like all the rules, is to be substantially complied with. Of course, no formula could be laid down applicable to all cases. The rule to be observed in abstracting a case is: Preserve everything material to the questions to be decided, and omit everything else.)

SEC. 99. [Preparation of printed brief and argument.]—The printed brief and argument shall state in divisions thereof, properly numbered, the several propositions of law claimed by the party making such brief or argument to be involved in the case before the supreme court, and the authorities relied upon in the support of the same. When an authority cited is an adjudicated case the brief or argument must show the names of the parties, the volume in which it is reported, and the page or pages containing the matter to which counsel desire to call the attention of the court. When the reference is a text-book, the number or date of the edition must be stated with the number of the volume and page.

SEC. 100. Transcripts of record prepared for the supreme court shall be made substantially in the manner following, viz:

State of Iowa, }
County of }

Pleas before the district (or circuit) court of Iowa, at a term begun and holden in the county of.....on the ...day of....A. D. 187..., before the Hon. J. H. G., judge of thejudicial district (or judge of the....circuit, in the judicial district) of the state of Iowa.

agt. }
 C. D. }

And now, on this day of, A. D. 187..., this cause coming up for hearing on the motion of the plaintiff for a new trial, it is considered by the court that the same be overruled (or, as the case may be).

(Then add the final entries of record, comprising final judgment, etc., and certificate of clerk.)

NOTE.—The foregoing form is only an example, and is to be varied according to the circumstances. The actual facts of the case will dictate what is to be done, but in all cases it is to be done substantially in like manner with the above, giving the proper order and date of the filing of papers and incorporating them at the proper dates into the proceedings of the court.

It will be understood that it is not necessary in all instances to send up the whole of the record, but the clerk may be guided by the directions of the appellant under section 3184 of the code.

SEC. 101. [Waiver or modification of rules.]—When, by reason of peculiar circumstances, the foregoing rules relating to the abstract, preparation, and argument of causes, ought to be waived or modified in any case, the party desiring such waiver or modification may, upon reasonable notice to the adverse party, apply to any judge of this court in vacation, or to the court in term time, for an order directing the waiver or modification desired. The application shall be in writing, shall set out the peculiar facts relied upon by the applicant, and shall be verified by the party, or a person having knowledge of the facts, and certified by counsel as being true and made in good faith. The order upon such application shall be in writing, and shall be filed with the clerk of this court. In no case will these rules be waived or modified upon agreement of counsel alone.

SEC. 102. [Distribution of abstracts, briefs and arguments by clerk.]—The clerk shall make the following distribution of all printed abstracts, briefs, and arguments received under the foregoing rules: one copy to each judge of the court, one copy to the state library, two copies to the law department of the state university, and one shall be filed in his office.

IX. OF THE ADMISSION OF ATTORNEYS.

SEC. 103. Examinations of applicants for admission to the bar shall be had at each term of the court.

SEC. 104. Each applicant for admission shall, before the first day of the term of court at which he asks to be examined, file with the clerk of this court a written request for examination in his own hand-writing and signed by himself, together with the proofs of his qualifications as to age, residence, character and time and place of study, required by section 2 of chapter 168 of the acts of the twentieth general assembly, all prepared and presented in the form prescribed by these rules.

SEC. 105. The court will appoint, on the morning of the day of the examination, a committee of not less than three members of the bar, who shall assist in the examination of applicants for admission.

SEC. 106. The justices of this court will prepare not less than thirty questions to be submitted to each applicant in writing or print, which he shall answer in writing. A proper and convenient room shall be provided for the use of the applicants, wherein they may prepare their answers without interruption. While so engaged they shall have access to no books and have no communication with anyone. The written or printed questions shall be varied at each term.

SEC. 107. Upon consideration of the oral and written examinations and the proofs of qualifications, the court will admit or reject the applicant.

SEC. 108. The proofs of the qualifications of the applicant as to age, character, place of residence and time and place of study, shall be by affidavit made before some officer authorized to administer oaths. When made before an officer not having a seal, other than a judge of the supreme court, district or circuit courts of this state, his official character and signature shall be authenticated by a proper certificate, attested by the seal of the clerk of a court of record.

The proof of the applicant's good moral character, residence in the state and age, shall be by affidavits of at least two witnesses, and the applicant shall also make affidavit of his age and place of residence.

The proof of his term of study shall be by affidavit of the member of the bar with whom he pursued his studies, and when he has studied at a law school, such fact and his term of study there shall be shown by the affidavit of one or more of the professors or instructors of such school. Such affidavit shall show that the applicant has actually, and in good faith, pursued the study of the law for the time prescribed by the statute, and the fact that the affiant is a practicing lawyer, or is a professor or instructor in the law school at which the applicant studied.

SEC. 109. An attorney admitted to practice in another state, before admission here, shall furnish proofs of good moral character, that he is twenty-one years of age, is a resident of this state, and has practiced law regularly for not less than one year in the state wherein he was admitted, by like affidavits provided for in the preceding rule.

When such affidavits are made before an officer not having a seal, the official character of the officer and his authority to administer oaths, as well as the genuineness of his signature, shall be shown by the certificate of the clerk of a court of record under the seal thereof.

Such attorney admitted in another state shall also file with the other proof required a copy of the record of the court showing his admission to the bar, which shall be duly proved as required by law for the authentication of the records of the courts of sister states when offered in evidence in the courts of this state.

SEC. 110. The graduates of the law department of the state university may be orally examined at Iowa City by a committee of not less than three members of the bar, appointed by the court. They shall also answer written or printed questions prepared by the justices of this court as prescribed by rule number 106, under the same restrictions and conditions as to being kept from communication with others and consultation of books. Upon the report of the committee as prescribed by the statute, and upon a certificate signed by the members thereof to the effect that the examination was fairly conducted, and the answers to the written or printed questions were prepared by the applicant without opportunity for consultation with persons or books, and upon presentation of the diploma of the applicant, together with his answers to the written or printed questions, this court shall determine upon the question of his admission to the bar, and if admitted the court may direct that the oath prescribed by the statute may be administered at Iowa City, and when done the fact shall be reported by the person administering the oath to the clerk of this court, who shall make proper record thereof.

SEC. 111. The proofs of qualifications as to age, good moral character, residence in the state and time and place of study, being required by the statute in cases of students of the law department of the university, must, in all instances, be presented by them upon application for admission.

SEC. 112. In estimating the time of study, a school year of thirty-six weeks spent in a reputable law school in the United States shall be equivalent to a full year spent in an office, and a fraction of a school year spent in a reputable law school in this state, shall be considered equivalent to the same fraction of a full year spent in an office.

X.—OF MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

SEC. 113. [Withdrawing papers.]—When the original papers in a cause in which final judgment is not rendered in this court are brought into this court upon an appeal or writ of error, either party desiring to withdraw the same can have leave to do so on filing a receipt for them with the clerk, and causing a copy to be made of those papers which constitute the record under section twenty hereof, and paying the clerk's fees therefor, which costs shall be taxed to the party failing in this court, and such copy shall be filed by the clerk and kept as a record in the cause. In cases where the costs of such withdrawal have not been charged in the first bill of costs, the clerk is authorized to charge them as costs of increase, and to issue execution therefor.

SEC. 114. [Docket.]—The clerk shall docket the causes as the same are filed in his office, and shall arrange and set a proper number for trial for each day of the term, placing together those from the same judicial district, and shall cause notice of the manner he has set such causes to be published and distributed in such manner as the court may direct. No cause shall be docketed unless the abstract required by the rules of the court is filed fifteen days before the first day of the term at which the cause is set down for trial.

SEC. 115. The clerk, immediately after the time expires during which causes may be docketed for trial at a term of court, shall make and cause to be printed, without delay, the docket for the term, which shall give all causes, whether continuances or appearances, for trial at such term, which shall designate the number, the party appealing, the court and county from which the appeal is brought, the counsel of the parties, the day each cause is assigned for trial, and such other matter for information of the court and attorneys as may be conveniently given. He shall forward to each justice of the court, to each attorney having causes at the term, and to the clerk of the district and circuit courts of each county, a copy of said docket.

SEC. 116. The clerk shall, with as little delay as possible, send to each justice of the court a copy of the abstracts, briefs and arguments, and other printed matter filed in each case docketed or set down for trial upon the docket of the term.

The following rule was adopted December 16, 1886:

SEC. 117. In all appeals taken in causes tried after the first day of January, 1887, the abstract therein shall be so prepared as to show the name of the judge who presided at the trial.
